

Talbot Faces A Full-Scale Probe Of Job

By LEE GARRETT
 WASHINGTON, July 23 (AP)—A growing furor over the outside business interests of Secretary of the Air Force Harold E. Talbot erupted today into plans for a full-scale public hearing.

The Senate investigations subcommittee ordered the hearing as soon as possible, but set no date.

At issue is whether Talbot improperly used his high government post to promote his private interest as a special partner in Paul B. Mulligan & Co. He has said he gets more than $50,000 a year from profits of the New York efficiency engineering firm, but has defended his actions as "clean" and "not improper."

The subcommittee action, at a closed meeting, followed a letter from Talbot correcting testimony he gave Thursday. He said then he couldn't recall discussing renewal of a Mulligan contract with Sam Ewing, an attorney for the Radio Corp. of America.

General Gates Comes Under Official Fire

WASHINGTON, July 23 (AP)—The Air Force today charged a retired major general with accepting money in return for giving preferential treatment to insurance companies operating on the big air base which he commanded.

The officer is Maj. Gen. Byron E. Gates, who retired from active duty and command of Chanute Air Force Base, Ill., last May 30 after a 36-year career in the air service.

An investigation is under way, the Air Force said, to decide whether trial by court-martial is justified.

The charges, as described in the Air Force announcement here, are that Gates "accorded preferential treatment to and sponsored automobile and life insurance companies on the base where he served as commander, contrary to Air Force regulations; that he made an investigation in order to decide whether trial by court-martial is justified."

The alleged acts, an Air Force spokesman said, occurred sometime between late 1953 and early 1955. Gates had been commander of Chanute since 1949.

The announcement here made no mention of money, but at Chanute Lt. Col. R. H. Clark said Gates is charged with accepting $7,000 from an insurance company for service to be rendered by him because of his official position.

Col. Clark, public information officer at Scott Air Force Base near St. Louis, went to Chanute with Lt. Gen. Charles H. Myers, commander of the Air Training Command at Scott.

The officer said Gates is accused also of using his rank and position to influence sale of corporate stocks and insurance to military personnel, and misuse of both military and civilian personnel in connection with work on a housing project adjacent to the air base.

Among other things, the officer said, Gates is accused of giving a life insurance company exclusive rights to sell insurance in one area of the base, and of providing office space and making his files available to an agent of an automobile insurance company. The firms were not named. Gates, who now lives at Rantoul, Ill., close to the base, was not available immediately for comment.

Reviewing The Big Spring Week

With Joe Pickle

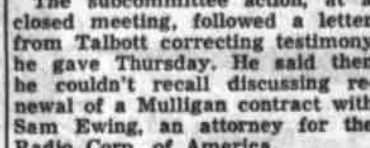

Probably two-thirds of our cropland came in for beneficial to soaking rains last week, enhancing our agricultural outlook. The hard-hit southwest sector mostly is still in that category. All in all, things look much brighter. Within a week you'll see a lot more green on the landscape.

One of the bright spots was the catch at Lake J. B. Thomas. The elevation is 2,247.37, which means that the lake contains right at 130,000 acre feet or 64 per cent of capacity. It also covers 9.1 square miles of surface area, one square mile more than a week ago. Increase in the level was nearly four feet, and water about 21,000 acre feet of a year's supply for the Colorado River Municipal Water District. The lake, incidentally, has caught 71,000 acre feet this year.

You might think the livestock market—particularly on stocker classes—would react on the heels of the rain. Not enough of the ranching area was affected for that. Too, the time for reaction was short, and still further the volume fell off, indicating that producers may have decided to hold some of their stock instead of going to market.

T&P Motor Transport drivers came in for a wage hike last week under terms of the new contract effective Aug. 1. Immediate gains will be from four to 12 cents per hour but over the three-year life of the contract city drivers will increase 51 cents per hour.

Gnat With A Nasty Sting

Here's one that won't brush off easily. It's Britain's smallest fighter, the Folland Gnat, ready to try out its turbo-jet on a maiden flight at the Ministry of Supply experimental station in Wiltshire, England. The Gnat, expected to reach supersonic speeds in later tests, has a wing span of only 22 feet, 2 inches. It is 23 feet, 9 inches long, 8 feet, 9 inches high, and weighs about 6,000 pounds loaded. Performance data still is secret. (AP Wirephoto).

Kilgore Council For Segregation

KILGORE, Tex., July 23 (AP)—The head of the newly formed Kilgore Citizens' Council said today his organization will seek to maintain segregation of white and Negro people in this city of 10,000 by "cooperating with those who cooperate with us."

"I don't like the term 'economic pressure' that has been used. Rather, I would say, if the Negroes refuse to cooperate with us, then the whites will refuse to cooperate with them," Dr. E. B. Masters, temporary chairman of the Kilgore unit, said.

Masters, who from 1935 until 1954 was president of Kilgore Junior College, said that he believed the Kilgore organization was the first Citizens' Council to be organized in Texas.

The councils, formed in Mississippi, Georgia and other southern states, have been the target of criticism from within the South as well as from other sections of the country. Those organizations have sought to preserve segregation through economic methods. These measures have included denying credit and employment and economically boycotting Negroes who have been identified with attempts to end segregation.

Asked if the plan of "cooperating with those who cooperate with us" would apply to white residents of Kilgore who favored compliance with the U.S. Supreme Court decision ordering the end of segregation in public schools, Masters said "we are not asking people how they stand on the matter. Everyone is entitled to his own opinion."

"I want to make clear we have not formulated any definite plan for carrying out our aims," he said. "That will be done at a business meeting to be held Thursday night."

Masters said the Kilgore council which is pledged to conduct its activities "lawfully and without violence, with no intent to harm anyone," has already enrolled more than 300 members and expects to have 1,500 members.

"There are some Negro councils in Mississippi which cooperate with the white councils. Some of our Negroes may wish to form their own councils. I believe the majority of the Negroes are with us and there wouldn't have been any trouble if it had not been for the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People and self-appointed social uplifters that come in to stir up trouble," he said.

Negro Leader In Parlay At Houston

HOUSTON, July 23 (AP)—Thurgood Marshall, general counsel for the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, was expected to arrive here tonight for talks and conferences with area NAACP officials.

He is expected to discuss a plan to reduce the unpaid fines and court costs owed through his office to $116.40, a report from Auditor Lee Porter to the commissioners court shows.

That's not including $23.55 owed by a former prisoner who has died since his release from jail.

Also still outstanding is a three-day jail sentence which was assessed on a theft charge. The defendant who hasn't completed his jail sentence owes $38.85 on his fine.

Another owes $48.85 on a fine and court costs, and one man still owes $25.85 on his penalty. The fourth defendant who still owes the county money was assessed a fine and costs totaling $96.55. He received $96 in "lay-out" credit before his release.

About $3,500 in old fines and court costs was outstanding Feb. 1 when Porter made a similar report to county commissioners. Slaughter said about $1,700 of this was in his safe at the time. He has collected most of the balance from about 35 persons who owed the fines and costs in February.

President Slates Talk Monday Night

WASHINGTON, July 23 (AP)—President Eisenhower will make a 15-minute report to the nation on the Geneva conference Monday night via television and radio, beginning at 10:15 p.m. EDT.

The White House announced that all four radio networks, ABC, NBC, CBS and Mutual, will carry the talk.

House On The Track, Smashed By Train

FORT WORTH, July 23 (AP)—A six-room frame house, stuck on the tracks was demolished by a Texas & Pacific freight train here early today.

Movers were hauling the house to a new location when a 60-foot steel beam caught on a dip in the pavement. Then the truck engine stalled and couldn't be started to pull the house off the track.

Wayne Criswell, one of the movers, was on top of the house when the train hove into sight. He dived through a hole in the roof and jumped out of a window just before the train struck.

Flees Prison Farm

HOUSTON, July 23 (AP)—Walter Roberson, 23-year-old Negro convict, escaped from the Clemens State Prison Farm in Brazoria County today. He is under a 25-year robbery sentence from Tarrant County. Prison officials said Roberson slipped away while assigned to a work gang.

Odessan Acquires Douglass Property

Transfer of ownership of the Douglass Hotel was announced here Saturday by Tommy Jeter, Odessa, and J. C. Douglass Jr., Big Spring.

Jeter acquired the four-story hotel from Douglass in a property trade. He said no cash was involved in the transaction. The trade was effective immediately and Q. M. Taylor, formerly of Camden, Ark., assumed charge as manager of the properties.

Jeter, who has extensive West Texas and New Mexico interests, said that extensive improvements were planned but the exact pattern would not take shape until he had developed some operational history on the project.

One of the first things will be to re-open the dining room at the earliest feasible time, he indicated. Modernization of the plant will follow.

Douglass, who has been engaged in trading and oil operations, said he planned no change in his activities. He has been dividing his time between Ruidoso, N. M., and Big Spring and has not been engaged in actual management of the hotel since 1950. In that year he had leaded it to Herbert Wilson, San Angelo hotel operator.

Jeter came to West Texas and Odessa in 1946 after he was graduated from Texas A&M the year following his separation from service. He developed a building company and lumber firm. He also acquired irrigated farming and other interests at Artesia, N. M., as well as property in other New Mexico places. He and Mrs. Jeter have three sons.

Taylor is a native of Oklahoma, where his father, Q. M. Taylor, was a hotelman. He has had 15 years experience as an operator and in 1946 established his own coffee shop at Okemah. He worked for Southern Hotels at Wichita Falls and from 1950-54 was manager of the Bluebonnet Hotel at Sweetwater. He put in six months in charge of the Artesia Hotel and then went to manage the Camden Hotel before returning to West Texas and Big Spring. He is a Mason, Baptist, and Rotarian, and when business is not so pressing is a horseman.

Big Four Agree To Future Conferences

Meeting Being Called Triumph For Eisenhower

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
 GENEVA, July 23 (AP)—They were saying all over Geneva tonight—in the press hall, hotel lobbies and bars where diplomats and newsmen gathered to total up the score—that the summit meeting was a victory for the West and a great personal triumph for President Eisenhower.

The judgment is backed by many points of the final agreement which the Big Four announced. But it overlooks Russia's major gain here. And it omits the fact that the size of the victory remains to be proved in future conferences.

Eisenhower himself stressed that sobering thought in his final statement to the gathering in the Palace of Nations, where other statements two decades ago grappled with issues of war and peace in the League of Nations only to find that the finest words rang hollow when they were empty of deeds.

"Only history will tell the true worth and real values of our session together," the President said solemnly. "The follow-through from this beginning by our respective governments will be decisive in the measure of this conference."

The most specific victory that the West won was an agreement by Russia to negotiate at the same time on the problems of German unity and European security. Premier Bulganin had wanted to give priority to his proposal for a new European security system, replacing the Western Alliance. The West had insisted that work on Germany come first.

Technically the decision to link the two was a compromise, but actually it satisfied the real aim of the United States, Britain and France in pinning Russia down to a promise to negotiate on Germany before new security safeguards are established.

The negotiations are to open next October in Geneva among the

JUNIOR WAS IN WRONG PLACE

TYLER, July 23 (AP)—There was monkey business going on in her chicken house and so for the first time in her life she aimed and fired a gun, Mrs. Emma Bounds told Judge Frank McClelland yesterday.

That's why Junior, a 30-pound rhesus monkey belonging to George McCrary, now has a face full of buckshot. And owner McCrary said it serves Junior right.

McCrary was in city court to answer a charge of permitting a vicious animal to run loose and Mrs. Bounds appeared as a witness.

"I was so excited over the fuss in the chicken house," Mrs. Bounds told the judge. "Hardly before I knew what I was doing I looked down the barrel of the gun and fired."

"Junior sure likes to kill chickens," McCrary testified. "And I don't blame Mrs. Bounds for shooting. I think Junior will be all right when we pick the bird shot out of his face."

"Case dismissed," said Judge McClelland.

Decisions Regarded As Favoring West

By PRESTON GROVER
 GENEVA, July 23 (AP)—The Big Four powers finished their historic summit meeting tonight in agreement on a quick-starting and long-range plan to relax world tension and improve confidence among nations.

Their decisions, reached after a week of tense but strangely friendly conference, called for an Aug. 23 meeting of the United Nations subcommittee on Disarmament to take up the proposals made here.

They directed their foreign ministers to meet here in October to work out a plan for reunifying divided Germany and giving Europe a security plan designed to calm those who fear another German holocaust.

The foreign ministers also were directed to study the results of the Disarmament subcommittee's work and to seek means of bringing about progressive elimination of East-West barriers.

The West believed it had won something of a victory in the negotiations. If victory it was, it looked so slender that it could not antagonize the Russians.

Weeks ago in Washington, State Department officials made clear they would consider the conference a success if they could come out of it with an agreement to discuss reunification of Germany jointly with a security plan covering all Europe.

The conference finished in a hum of racing motors and airplane engines. President John Foster Dulles raced directly from the conference to their planes and headed for Washington.

In the last conference session to-night Eisenhower voiced confidence that something had been done.

"In this final hour of our assembly," he said, "it is my judgment that the prospects of a lasting peace with justice, well-being and broader freedom are brighter. The dangers of the overwhelming tragedy of modern war are less."

Here is what the leaders accomplished at the summit:

1. They directed the foreign ministers to consider jointly the problem of German unity and European security, "taking account of the close link between the reunification of Germany and the problem of European security and the fact that the successful settlement of each of these problems would serve the interests of consolidating the peace."
2. They agreed to ask the Disarmament subcommittee of the United Nations to meet Aug. 23 in New York to study the several disarmament proposals made at this conference. This includes the Eisenhower blueprint swap plan.
3. They directed the foreign ministers to put experts to work independently and in conjunction with the United Nations to "bring about a progressive elimination of barriers which interfere with free communications and peaceful trade between people, and bring about such freer contacts and exchanges as are to the mutual advantage of the countries and peoples concerned."

The foreign ministers themselves were asked also to keep an eye on the workings of the U. N. Disarmament subcommittee.

Guardsmen Due At Home Today

Big Spring National Guardsmen broke camp Saturday morning at North Fort Hood and are to arrive at their home armory about 9:30 a.m. today.

Capt. T. A. Harris, commander, said the group will be dismissed about 11 a.m., after equipment is stored.

One member of the field artillery battery returned home Saturday. He was James Farmer, who was injured during the past week while attempting to change the position of one of the battery's 105-millimeter howitzers. He suffered a back sprain while tugging on the big gun.

Actually, the sprain may be an aggravation of an injury received a week earlier when a windstorm struck the National Guard camp. Farmer was thrown over one of the battery's tents as he attempted to secure it against the high winds. No injury was evident at the time, though.

Farmer was discharged home from the Fort Hood hospital Saturday by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Farmer.

The Big Spring battery and other units of the 36th Infantry Division completed the major part of their summer encampment Thursday, the last day in the field and on the artillery range. Friday was payday, and arrangements were made for the trip home Saturday. The Big Springers left Fort Hood about 9:30 a.m. Saturday and spent Saturday night in Abilene.

Giles Trial In Fourth Week

AUSTIN, July 23 (AP)—Trial of Bassett Giles for theft of state money will enter the fourth week Monday.

Giles, former land commissioner, is scheduled to return to the witness stand.

Declaring his innocence of the charges against him, the lanky 54-year-old former high state official said yesterday Gov. Shivers and Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd shares the responsibility with him for the administration of the Veterans Land Board accurately reflected the action taken and had been available for inspection by anyone at anytime.

Shivers and Shepperd have repudiated the minutes of some meetings on grounds that they incorrectly showed them acting on certain transactions.

The state has rested its case against Giles. The former land commissioner is accused of theft of acting as an accomplice to steal $5,800 of the funds he was charged with administering for the state.

Giles faces later trials in Bexar and Zavala counties on operations of the veterans land program, a 160 million dollar program voted after World War II to give veterans a chance to acquire land.

First Death Sentence In Pecos County

FORT STOCKTON, Tex., July 23 (AP)—Leonard L. Bingham Jr. was found guilty yesterday by a 12th District Court jury in the slaying of a Sonora, Tex. woman and was given the death sentence.

The verdict, returned by a jury of four women and eight men, was the first death sentence ever returned in Pecos County. Court officials here said they believed it was the first death sentence in Texas returned by a jury with women members.

Retired Minister Dies At Age 100

SAN ANTONIO, July 23 (AP)—The Rev. A. E. Rector, who celebrated his 100th birthday last April 25, died at his home this afternoon.

The retired Methodist minister, a life spanned slavery, Civil War, Indian raids and the hard life of a circuit-riding preacher whose annual pay was $145.00.

At 22 he became ill and was bedridden for six years. Rector decided to turn to the ministry during his long illness. He started as a circuit rider, covering three counties.

Father Of The UN, Cordell Hull, Dead

CORDELL HULL

WASHINGTON, July 23 (AP)—Cordell Hull, former secretary of state, an architect of the United Nations and champion of freer world trade, died today at the age of 83.

The Tennessee mountaineer, who served longer than any other man as secretary of state—and won a Nobel prize and the title of "father of the U.N."—died at 9 a.m. in U. S. Naval Hospital at nearby Bethesda, Md.

He suffered a stroke yesterday. There had been several others over the years. And blind thim lay a lifetime of frail health.

The funeral will be held Tuesday at Washington's National Episcopal Cathedral, where Mrs. Hull is buried. She died in March 1954. They left no children.

Hull in death evoked a flood of praise and expressions of condolences reminiscent of the sentiments voiced throughout the world when he retired from public life 11 years ago.

At Geneva, Switzerland, President Eisenhower interrupted the Big Four summit conference to mark Hull's passing with these words:

"His life was honored and his death is mourned by millions of men at home and in the far places of the earth by reason of his integrity of purpose, his high sense of obligation and his long and fruitful labors in the cause of peace."

Three administrations of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt, he held the post a record of nearly 12 years—from March 1933 to November 1944 when illness forced him out. Before that he had served 22 years in the House and 2 in the Senate. Earlier he had been a circuit judge and a state legislator in Tennessee.

He dabbled some in the officialdom of Democratic party politics, serving as national party chairman from 1921 to 1924. But one accomplishment which gave him most satisfaction was the development of the American axiom that politics stops at the water's edge—the tradition of a bipartisan foreign policy.

There were four other accomplishments which friends said he counted as his major contributions:

1. His role in founding the United Nations. It was for this that Roosevelt dubbed him "the father of the United Nations" upon his retirement in 1944. For this, too, he won the 1945 Nobel prize.

2. The "Good Neighbor policy" toward other nations in the Western hemisphere.

3. The reciprocal trade agreements program.

4. Efforts to raise standards of international morality—the idea that nations ought to live together in peace and friendship.

AUSTIN, June 23 (AP)—June retail sales in Texas totaled 3 per cent more than in May and were 16 per cent higher than for June a year ago, the University of Texas Business Research Bureau reported today.

Sales for the first six months of 1955 showed a 12 per cent increase over the first half of 1954, compared with an estimated increase of 8 to 10 per cent nationally.

'Master Magician'

Everett Duncan, billed as the "master magician," is one of the entertainers to appear in the electric fair to be staged in Stanton Monday and Tuesday as part of the annual meeting of the Cap Rock Electric Cooperative.

Electric Fair Again Features Meeting Of Cap Rock Co-Op

STANTON — The 1955 Electric Fair, a new rural show which has received considerable acclaim over the state this year comes here Monday and Tuesday in connection with the annual meeting of the Cap Rock Electric Cooperative. The business session of the electric cooperative is set for 8 p.m. Monday when members will elect directors and hear reports on the operations and progress for the past year. Directors whose terms expire this year are Mrs. Lee Castle, Big Spring, Paul Adams, Ackerly, and D. W. McDonald, Midland.

Headlining entertainment are Everett Duncan, master magician, and Jesse Sides, who is billed as the "clown prince of pantomime." Both are veterans of the show circuit and are appearing in the Electric Fair for the first time. Also on the program will be Larry Nix, Johnny and Malinda Crocker, and Eunice Freeman of Big Spring, in a variety of numbers of songs, whistling and tap dancing. A repeat from last year's show is the Willie Wirehand Quiz Contest with winners being chosen by correct answers to questions about the co-op and the sponsor, the local Frigidaire dealers and their products. This time there will be a cake baking contest nightly, also sponsored by the Frigidaire dealers and members of the co-op or their families may bring along cakes for entry in judging at 7 p.m. daily. Basis of judging will be 40 per cent for flavor, 25 per cent for texture, 15 per cent for lightness, 10 per cent for color and 10 per cent for content and moisture. Along the midway leading to the big-top will be a complete showing of electric appliances, farm equipment and new automobiles sponsored by dealers and manufacturers. Cap Rock Electric now serves more than 3,000 members and operates in Martin, Midland, Howard, Borden, Dawson, Andrews, Ector, Glascock, Reagan and Upton counties. Directors are Glenn Cantrell, Big Spring, president; J. D. McCreeless, Stanton, vice president; Arah Phillips, Big Spring, secretary-treasurer; D. W. McDonald, Midland, Mrs. Lee Castle, Big Spring, Paul Adams, Ackerly, Edgar Phillips, Big Spring, W. D. Howell and Douglas Cauble, Stanton. Judge Charlie Sullivan will call a docket of 13 civil cases for trial settings in 118th District Court Monday morning. A 60-member jury panel has been ordered for 10 a.m. Monday. Calling of the docket has been set for the same hour. To be called are six suits for damages, five for compensation, and one suit alleging debt.

Swedish Blonde Takes Title Of Miss Universe

LONG BEACH, Calif., July 23 (AP)—A tall, linguistic lady from Sweden, graceful in every motion and five different languages, reigned today as the new Miss Universe. Hillevi Rombin, 21-year-old blonde from the university town of Uppsala, became Scandinavia's second winner in the four-year history of the international beauty contest. Unlike her famous predecessor from Sweden — Greta Garbo — the Nordic beauty said she doesn't think she'll go home — at least not for a while. She is slated to begin a movie career Monday in the Universal-International picture, "The Benny Goodman Story." "It's too early to tell how I will like the movies but I will give it a try," said Miss Sweden, whose poise and knowledge of languages impressed all observers. She even acted as an interpreter for some of the other contestants. She is fluent in German, French, Spanish and English in addition to her native tongue. A regal 5-foot-7 and weighing 130 pounds, the blue-eyed Miss Rombin measures 36 in the bust and hips and 23 in the waist—almost classic measurements. But her fiancée of six months described her as "no ordinary superficial beauty queen." He is Lt. Nils Benkert, 28, a pilot in the Swedish air force. Miss Rombin said they plan to marry soon, perhaps within six months. "I'll see how my movie career goes," she said. Previous Miss Universe contestants have not met with any great success in the film capital. Myrna Hansen, Miss U.S.A. two years ago, was the last previous Universe contest beauty under contract. Her option was dropped 10 days ago, just before the contest started. But a top Universal-International executive said after seeing the statuesque Swede: "This is one girl that I think we can really do something with." The new queen is a graduate of Uppsala, located just a half-hour's drive north of Stockholm. In fact, one of the judges said it was her reserved bearing and her intelligence that helped win the title.

Rules Established For Livestock Show

Rules and regulations for the 1955-56 4-H and FFA show and contest were recently set up by County Agent James Taylor, FFA teachers of the county and other agricultural leaders. Classes of livestock to be shown are steers, lambs, pigs and capons. The main livestock show will be held around March 13, 1956, but the pig show is scheduled for October 3 and 6 of this year.

Rules governing each type of animal are as follows: Steers: No boy or girl will be allowed to sell more than one steer in the county show. Steers must be owned and fed by the exhibitor since September 1, 1955. There will be three classes of steers—heavy, medium and light, and no calf can have more than two full teeth. Only 30 steers will be sold at the county auction sale. Lambs: No boy or girl may show more than two lambs at the county show, and will be allowed to sell only one lamb in the county sale. Lambs weighing over 140 pounds will be sold at the 140-pound weight, regardless of actual weight. Any class with over 20 entries will be divided into a heavy and light weight class. Lambs will be shown in the following classes: 1. Fine wool; 2. Crossbred (all crosses except Southdown or Shropshire); 3. Crossbred (Southdown and Shropshire); 4. Purebred (Southdown or Shropshire). Capons: No boy or girl may show more than two capons in the county show and can sell only one of them. Any bird showing signs of having received hormone shots will be rejected. All capons must weigh at least six pounds, and there will be a heavy and light weight class, regardless of breed. Pigs: No boy or girl may show more than two pigs in the county show nor sell more than one, and only 30 pigs will be sold—the top 15 in each class. All pigs shown in fat classes must be barrows and weigh between 160 and 250 pounds. There will be two classes of fat barrows, one class of breeding sows and one class of breeding boars under one year. All entries in breeding classes must have registration papers. All pigs must be on feed by August 1 and be fed by owner until the show. The rules are almost the same as last year, except the limiting number of animals to be sold. The committee said that Big Spring merchants would not feel obligated to buy so many animals for the coming show as they had in the past. Judges and sifers for the shows will be selected for their ability and will live outside Howard County.

Navy Enlistment May Keep Boy Out Of Reform School

Enlistment in the Navy may keep a 16-year-old Coahoma boy out of the State School for Boys. The youth was halled into juvenile court Saturday after it was reported that he opened the door of his car, permitting it to strike the young son of Constable Odell Buchanan. The Buchanan boy was walking down a street at Coahoma at the time, and the other youth drove by in the car. He admitted that he opened the door deliberately, as he passed the young pedestrian. The youth has been in other trouble recently, and was fined in County Court on one occasion. He told Judge R. H. Weaver he has enlisted in the Navy and is scheduled to leave for Albuquerque, N. M., Monday. He was released to make the trip.

Oil Tank Fired By Bolt Of Lightning

HOUSTON (AP)—Lightning struck a 500-barrel oil tank owned by the Salt Dome Oil Corp. as a thunder-squall struck the Cotton Lake area 15 miles east of Baytown early today. Babers Hill and Baytown firemen extinguished the fire with the loss of about 300 barrels of oil.

Radioactivity Check

BONN, Germany, July 23 (AP)—The lower house of Parliament has voted to set up 50 observer stations to test for excessive radioactivity over West Germany.

Five Apply For Jailer's Post, None Quality

Five men have applied for the post of jailer for Howard County, Sheriff Jess Slaughter reported Saturday. He said he considers none of them qualified for the job, and that additional applications will be considered.

An arrangement for hiring a jailer for the county jail was announced last Monday by Gilbert Gibbs, grand jury foreman, after Slaughter was called before the jury for a brief conference. Gibbs said the sheriff and the county commissioners court had agreed to employ the jail custodian at an earlier meeting.

The job will pay $2,400 per year for a jailer and his wife, with the county also to furnish living quarters and food for the couple. The jailer will be in complete charge of the jail, including the booking of prisoners and keeping records on the time various inmates serve.

Much Ado About Mesquites

HCJC Students Explore For Uses For Lowly Mesquite Bean

The humble mesquite bean is hardly shown to be a piece de resistance, but experimentation at Howard County Junior College has pointed up some subsistence and commercial possibilities for it. More on a "fishing trip" for ideas than anything, James Bruce Frazier challenged his summer biology class to see what uses they could suggest for the mesquite bean. He got 35 demonstrable ideas, plus many other things that obviously can't be done with the distinctively flavored product of the mesquite bush or tree.

In this region the bean has been alternately praised by ranchers as a lifesaver for stock in dry years and cursed by agronomists who look with alarm upon the malignant march of this vegetation. Class members came up with a leaf meal, mesquite butter, candy, coffee, parched seed, bean meal, glue and others. Joyce Gound extended the idea by turning a gnarled mesquite root into a centerpiece.

Most of the potential uses were merely touched upon with no detailed analyses made. For instance, Jeanette Hunt produced a light green meal by dehydrating and grinding green leaves. Frazier thought this might have its uses as a vitamin supplement in poultry feed since fowls don't possess a sense of taste (green mesquite leaves are bitter). Miss Gound exposed a batch of pulp and juice for mould possibilities. She produced a pulp which had qualities that indicated potentialities in parchment making. Shirley Ward came up with a butter from the beans, not bad at all, especially when vanilla and sugar were added. By adding sugar and molasses, Fred Pickett made a sort

Italian Girl, 23, Takes Charge Of Mamie's Villa

GENEVA, July 23 (AP)—Mamie Eisenhower was first lady at the President's Geneva White House, but a 23-year-old Italian girl named Toni was the unofficial second lady.

People around the President's lake-side Big Four home, said the petite housemaid practically ran the place. "I'm here for a vacation," Mrs. Eisenhower laughingly confided to a friend upon her arrival in Geneva, "and I don't plan to do a thing about running the villa."

That virtually put Toni in charge for she, as a servant at the Villa Creux-de-Genthod, was the only person around who knew anything about the place. Andre Firmenich, owner of the villa, was off in Sweden yachting. His tall, handsome Scottish-born wife was staying with relatives.

Advertising helped make the difference

AN EXCITING VIEW of the Grand Canyon was the high spot of the evening with an old-fashioned stereopticon. Today, the scene from our living room has been widened enormously. The whole world is on display. The magic of radio and television brings news and entertainment to millions of Americans.

But to mass produce millions of radios and television sets, manufacturers must be able to sell them by the millions. Only by advertising can a manufacturer talk to millions of people at the same time.

ADVERTISING TELLS the story of newer radios and television sets, and helps sell them. The more it sells, the more must be made — keeping the production lines and the jobs going. The result: newer, better sets at prices more people can afford to pay. Advertising helped make the difference — in radio and television, and in our American way of life.

DO IT YOURSELF Knick-Knack Shelf To Suit Any Room

By BILL BAKER
Do you have a "problem corner" in your home?
Do any of your rooms have a "blank wall" that distracts from the total beauty of your home?
If the walls are your problem—and you feel that you want something more than just a picture for decoration—today's do-it-yourself project will be of special interest to you.

My provincial knick knack shelf design is not only a decorative addition for any wall in your home, but it is also a practical and useful item of furniture that doesn't steal a single inch of floor space.
You'll find that almost every room in your home offers the right spot for the handy knick knack shelf that measures more than three feet wide by more than three feet high.

Your entrance hall, for example, might offer an ideal location. This would give you a perfect place to prominently display treasured family trophies or prized art pieces.
The living room or dining room might also offer ideal walls for the easy-to-hang cabinet. Fine dishes or cups, silver, or books will find ample space on the four wide shelves.

Here's how to get your provincial knick knack shelf pattern: send your name and address (clearly printed), together with only one dollar ($1) in check, cash or money order, to Bill Baker, (Big Spring Herald), P. O. Box 111, Los Angeles 53, California. Remember to ask for pattern number 129.

Your bedroom is another ideal location for the knick knack shelf. Often used items will always be handy then, and none of the valuable floor space in your room will be lost.

Smoothly rounded lines of the provincial design will add the right decorative note to any room where the knick knack shelf is used. Even the modern home will do well to take on this shelf, since it offers an ideal accent item.

Adding to the usefulness of the shelf are two handy drawers for the storage of small, often misplaced items.

Using by pattern package No. 129, you'll find the finished provincial knick knack shelf will be added to your home for only a few hours of workshop effort and a few dollars for materials. Easy-to-understand directions and a full

Dispensing Machine At Drive-In Damaged

A cold drink dispensing machine was torn up during pre-dawn hours Saturday at Toby's Drive In Grocery, police said.
A night attendant at a service station nearby stated that a car was parked in the grocery driveway from about midnight to 1 a.m. Several people in the car appeared to be drinking, the attendant said.
Officers found a beer bottle by the dispensing machine, and it was being checked for finger prints Saturday. Apparently nothing was taken from the grocery.

Hot weather and fishing, unlike the "old days," don't seem to go together much anymore. At least, that's what we gathered from talking with John Dibrell, local sporting goods dealer.

Cotton Gets A Drink

Troy Pierce, who farms the J. M. Peurifoy Estate place about six miles southwest of Tarzan, took advantage of run-off water from last week's rains to give his cotton an extra big drink. Pierce diverted the water into the irrigated field as it flowed past. The land has been leveled and water ran down the rows with little extra ditching. Pierce has been producing two and a half bales to the acre under irrigation. The workman in the picture is one of the many Mexican Nationals now employed on Martin County farms.

Water Usage Is Going Up Again

Water consumption in the 24-hour period ending at 2 a.m. this morning was expected to be back up in the seven million gallon area.

Consumption here has gradually increased in the past few days since the early week rains. In the 24-hour period ending Saturday morning at 8 o'clock, the use was 4,870,000 gallons.

This figure seems comparatively low, but it was much higher than any other gauge during the past week, when use on some days was down in the two million gallon classification.

Only a week and a half ago, on July 12, the use here was eight million gallons, even. This is the highest daily consumption ever recorded in Big Spring to date, and Water Superintendent Roy Hester said that he expects the record to stand for this year.

Water use is expected to bounce back between seven and eight million, however, because of the heat and the lawn care of the summer.

Speeding Charged

Four speeding cases were filed in Justice Court Saturday. Two charges were pending while one man paid an $11.50 fine and another paid $15.50.

Phone Rate Increase Due For Study By Commission

Southwestern Bell's request for higher telephone rates in Big Spring likely will be considered at Tuesday night's meeting of the City Commission.

VA Hospitals Have Nurse Jobs Vacant

Immediate jobs for registered nurses at higher pay rates recently authorized by Congress are open at the Veterans Administration Hospital here and at other points in the Southwest.

The hospitals are offering junior grade nurses $4,025 per year, with uniform allowance and laundry furnished. Nurses work a five-day, 40-hour week. Pay for higher nursing grades ranges up to $7,600 per year.

In addition to vacation, sick leave and pension rights, the VA medical service also offers opportunities for in-service training and professional advancement.

Jobs for doctors are also available with pay depending on professional qualifications.

Nurses or doctors interested in employment should write or contact personnel officers at Shreveport, La., Temple, Marlin, or Big Spring.

when he submitted the request that he would return at the next scheduled meeting to discuss the rates more thoroughly.

The firm is asking increases which range from 22 to 29 per cent of the present rates.

Changes requested are as follows: from $9 to $11 for a business telephone; from $4.25 to $5.50 for a one-party residence phone; from $3.50 to $4.50 for two-party service; and from $3 to $3.75 for a four-party line.

Texas Job Total At A Record High

AUSTIN, July 23 (AP)—Texas June employment set a new record with an estimated 2,754,400 workers, the Texas Employment Commission said today.

The figure is 12,500 over the previous high last December and a gain of 86,000 over June a year ago.

Unemployment also increased to 126,800, up 16,000 over the May total. Cause was said to be influx of school graduates and under-graduates into the labor market.

Alaskan Pedals Through City On World Journey

From Fairbanks, Alaska, to Big Spring can be a trip of a few hours or a few months. Depends on whether you're flying or riding a bicycle.

In the case of Carl Zola, it has taken almost four months, as he is traveling by bike. He is on the first lap of a trip around the world, which he plans to cover on his English-made lightweight bicycle.

Leaving Fairbanks on April 1 of this year, he came down the coast to Seattle, Wash., to Portland, Ore., and then to Los Angeles. He has followed Highway 80, and "with zigzagging trips on the side" has made about 4,500 miles.

Stopping Thursday night in Odesa, he reached Big Spring around noon Friday, and he planned to camp overnight here. He carries his own food and camping equipment—all in the weight of about 135 pounds—strapped onto the bicycle.

Rate of speed of the traveler is about 15 or 20 miles an hour, and the distance covered each day depends on his own inclination. He never travels at night. Zola doesn't notice the heat too much when he is riding, even though he came through some of the trip when the temperature reached 117 and 118 degrees.

From Fort Worth, he may go north to New York or he may go to Florida. From New York he will go by ship to Europe, on to Africa and then through the Holy Land. Again, he may decide to go to Mexico first and from there to Europe.

"It's an interesting life," but he wishes he could find someone to travel with him. He has hopes of finding a cycling companion in England or France. The trip, as he has planned it, will take about three or four years. On his completion of it he would like to lecture and he will publish a book which he is now working on.

Zola was born in New York, but he considers San Francisco his home. He is 37 years of age, unmarried, and is a photographer by profession. His trip is being made "on his own" in the interest of his writings and also to encourage the sport of bicycling.

New SCS Men Finish Studies

New employees of the Soil Conservation Service have just completed a week of range studies on ranches of this area.

On the Fisher Ranch south of Big Spring they were shown how to clip grass to determine the amount of forage on a pasture.

Under the supervision of Marion Everhart and Hershel Bell, they found that sample areas of the ranch produced 1,190 pounds of buffalo and three awn grass to the acre; white tridens 3,830 pounds; tobosa 3,230 and vine mesquite 6,600 pounds. The tobosa clipping left one third of the grass on the ground for cover; and silver bluestem which yielded 4,050 pounds was cut by leaving half on the ground.

They also took temperature readings at 10:30 one morning where a wide variation in soil warmth was found. On bare ground the soil was a sizzling 119 degrees; in poor grass, 104 degrees; in a fair cover of grasses it was 97, and in the shade of good grass, the soil was only 83 degrees.

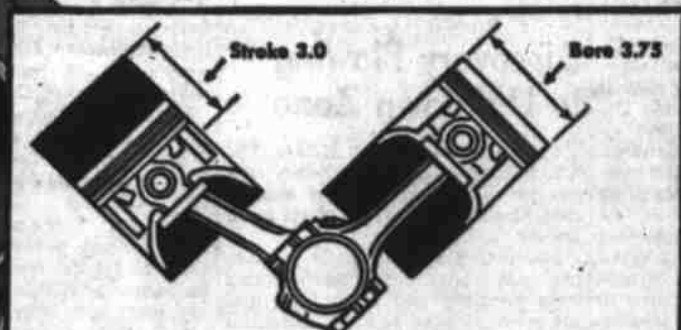

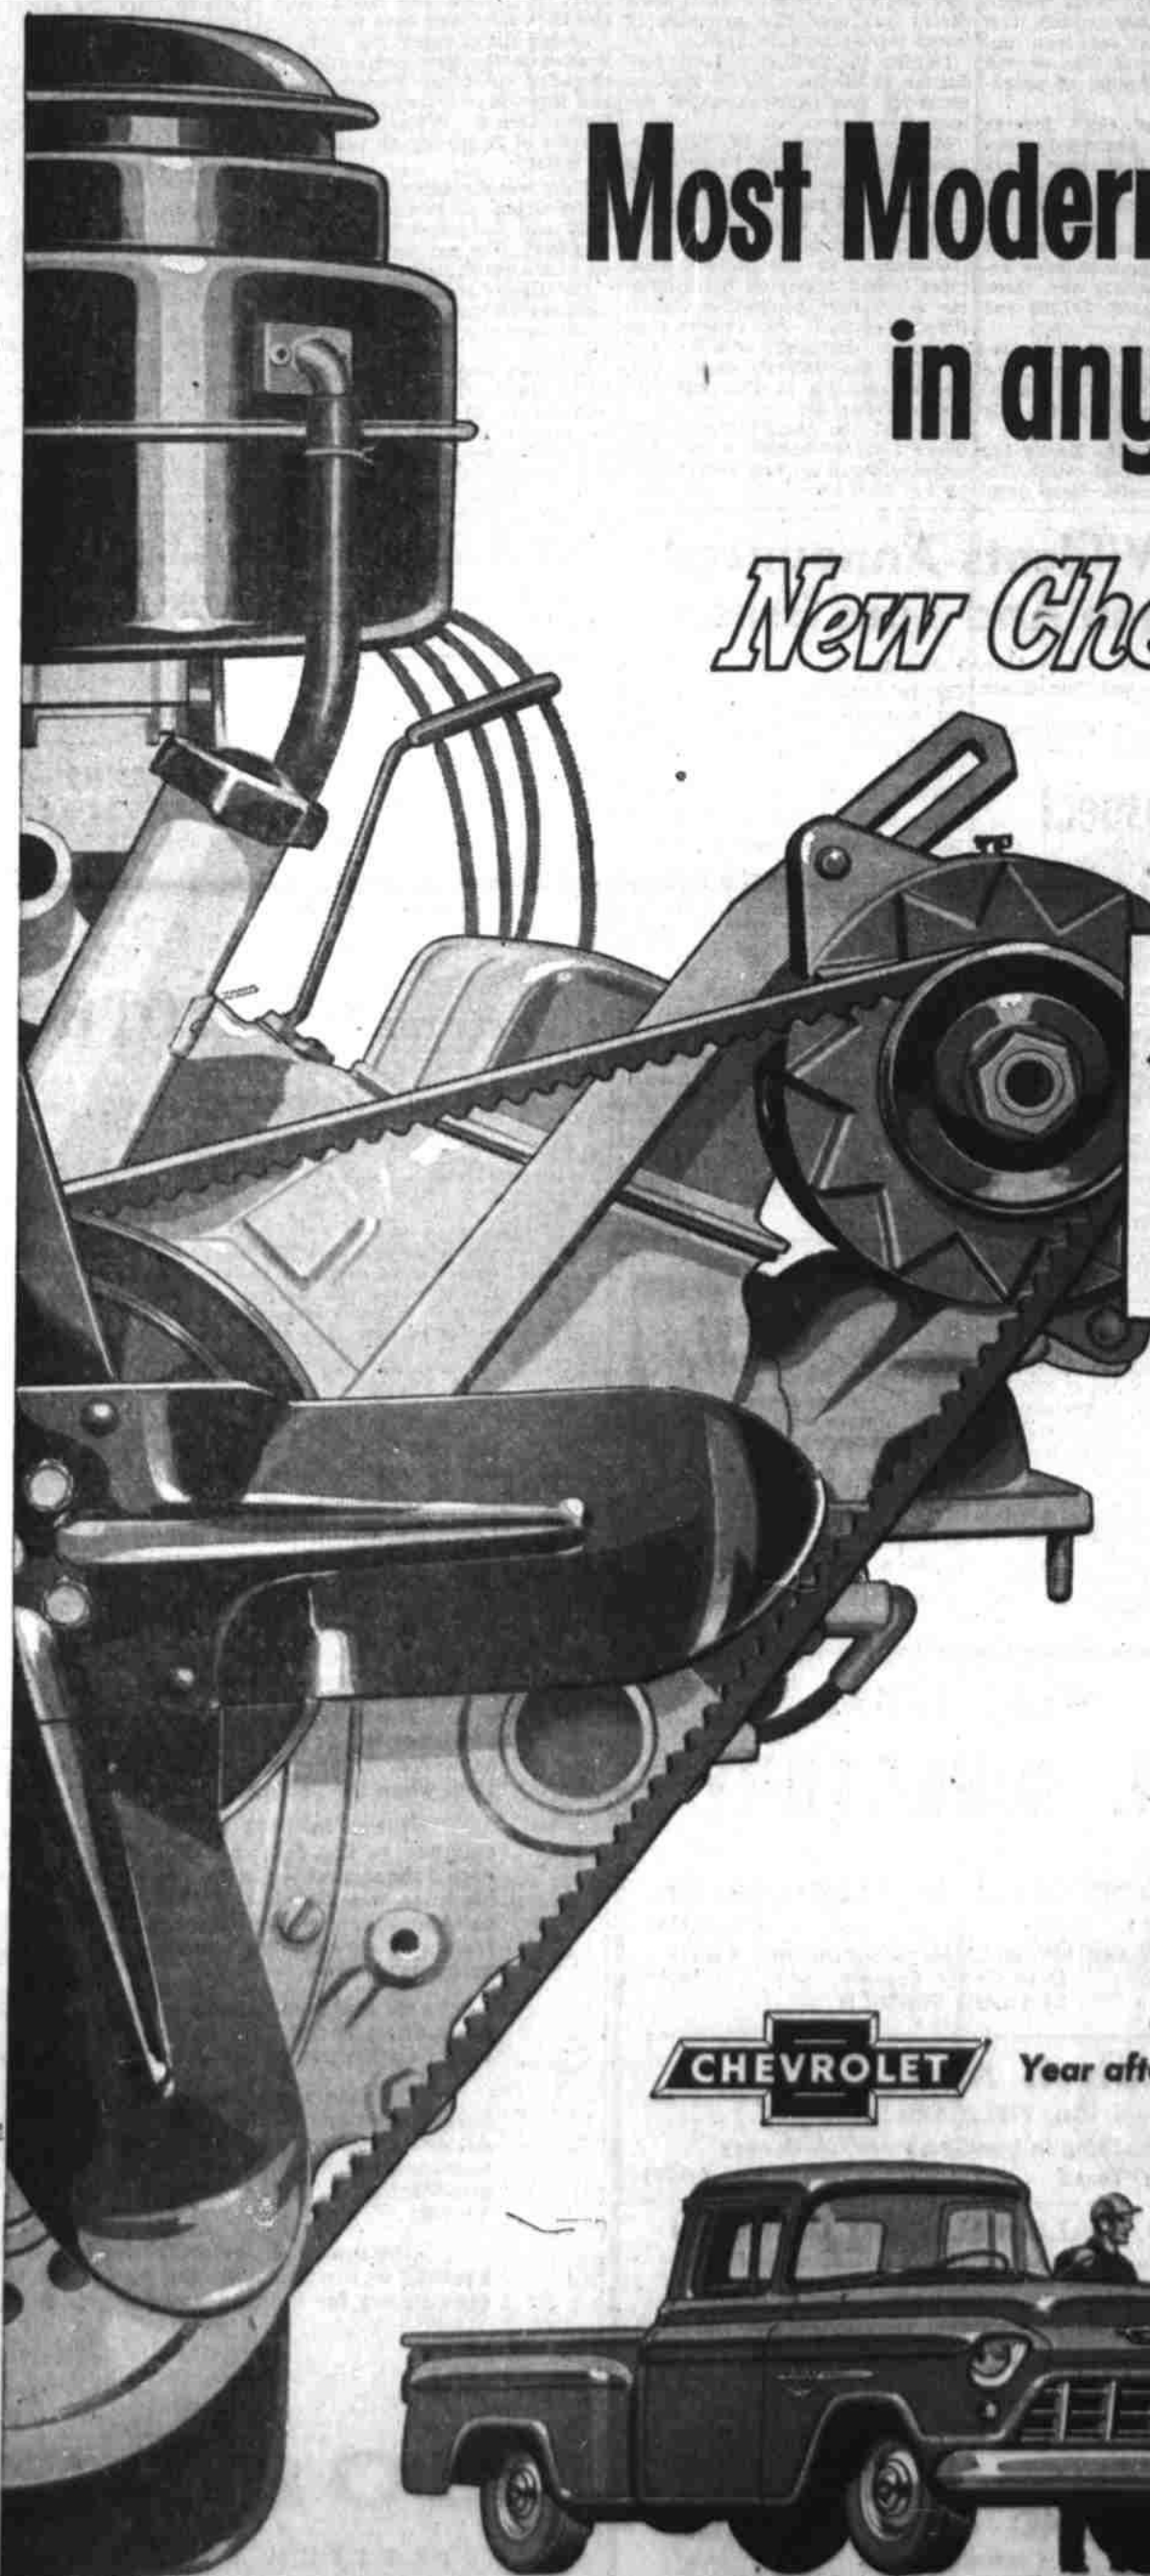

The results prove that a cover of grass keeps the soil cooler and enables it to retain moisture longer, according to Everhart. Also, a grass-covered range prevents water from running off and causes rainfall to be more effective.

Permit Filed For JC Student Union

A $3,000 building permit has been filed at the City Hall for the remodeling of the Howard County Junior College student union building and the conversion of a five-room apartment to a game room. The permit was filed Saturday.

Most Modern, Shortest Stroke V8's* in any leading truck!

New Chevrolet Task-Force Trucks

All Chevrolet truck V8's are of oversquare design, with an ultra-short stroke that's smaller than the bore!

Be sure you don't buy a truck V8 that's out of date! Here's the measure of a truly modern V8 engine—Chevrolet's advanced oversquare design. It means less friction . . . greater efficiency . . . longer engine life!

Here are more dollar-saving reasons why new Chevrolet trucks offer you the most modern V8's* your money can buy!

MODERN 12-VOLT ELECTRICAL SYSTEM
You get double the punch for quicker starting (up to 30 percent faster cranking speed) and more efficient ignition for finer performance. Also, you have a greater reserve of electrical power.

GAS-SAVING HIGH-COMPRESSION RATIO
With a high 7.5 to 1 compression ratio, Chevrolet's new V8 truck engines squeeze extra power—and work—out of every tankful of gas. Your ton-mile hauling costs go down with this modern V8 power on the job!

EXTRA-HIGH POWER PER POUND
The compact Powermatic features of these advanced V8's result in high power output

ADVANCED AIRCRAFT-TYPE VALVES
A completely new valve train design permits each valve to function independently—as in modern aircraft engines. Valve action is more positive at all speeds for finer, smoother performance.

FLOATING OIL INTAKE . . . FULL-PRESSURE LUBRICATION
Oil intake selects the cleanest oil for engine lubrication. Full-pressure lubrication system provides positive protection for vital engine parts . . . extends engine life.

*V8 standard in the new L.C.F. models, an extra-cost option in all others except Forward-Control models.

Contract Awarded On New Unit At Refinery

Contract for construction of a new platforming unit for Cosden Petroleum Corporation has been let to Procon, Inc. Cosden decided on the Reforming method and filed the Procon contracts Friday evening, R. L. Tollett, president, announced Saturday. This will call for an expenditure in excess of a million dollars. Labor cost in the job is estimated at $360,000, according to Tollett.

Completion of the 4,000 barrels per day unit is scheduled within 36 weeks and Tollett said it was hoped that it would be on stream no later than June 1, 1956. Cosden had given serious consideration to the Ultraforming process, licensed by Standard Oil of Indiana. The reforming operation is similar to one employed on Cosden's BTX plant, which, incidentally Procon constructed. Low octane stock is recycled for combination with the high octane yield through use of a platinum catalyst. Output will be a clear 98 octane product, which, when leaded, will exceed 100 octane rating. When this unit is put on stream, the BTX plant will be converted 100 per cent to aromatics. Currently, it devotes about two-thirds of its operating time to aromatics and one-third to a blocked out arrangement for platforming. Cosden will likely construct other previously announced improvements on its own, Tollett indicated. This would include revamping of the fluid catalytic cracking unit so that its coke burning capacity would be increased by 35 per cent. Also included are a uniting unit to desulfurize the charge stock to the BTX and otherwise remove elements which tend to shorten the effective life of the expensive catalyst. Some fractionating equipment also may be added to prepare feed stock for the Reforformer. Dan Krause, manager of manu-

Representatives Of Many Firms Drawn By Letting

During the week a number of visitors were at Cosden refinery in connection with bids on the catalytic reforming and fractionation facilities. Among them were T. M. Lumly, president, and Don Ferguson, process engineer, The Refinery Engineering Company of Tulsa; Carl Whyte, president, Procon, Incorporated, Des Plaines, Ill.; W. S. Nordburg, assistant manager of patent and development department for Standard Oil Company (Indiana), Chicago, Illinois; J. G. Eckhouse, commercial development department, Universal Oil Products Company, Des Plaines, Ill.; Charles McMahon, service department, UOP, Houston. C. F. Hauck, sales manager facturing operations for Cosden, and George Grimes, refinery superintendent, will leave Monday for Chicago to check final specifications for the Reforformer with engineers. They are also due to go on to Boston to confer with representatives of Badger Inc. concerning details of a proposed styrene plant, Tollett, however, said that there would be nothing definite on this project until around the middle of August.

Test Finals, Another Abandons In Dawson

Kerr-McGee has completed the No. 2-B Maberry in the Welch field of Dawson County for a 24-hour pumping potential of 108.45 barrels of oil, plus one per cent water. Gravity of oil measured 35 degrees, and the gas-oil ratio was 426-1. Perforations between 4,780 and 4,922 feet were acidized with 5,000 gallons of acid. Elevation is 3,116 feet, total depth is 4,925, the 5 1/2-inch goes to 4,924 feet, and pay top is 4,780. Location is C SE SE, 08-M-EL&RR survey, on a 160-acre lease. Ross Brunner has plugged and abandoned his No. 1 Curtis White, wildcat in Dawson County about four miles north of Ackerly. It had been spudded to 300 feet when operations were abandoned. Site of the project was C NE NE, 39-24-4n, T&P survey, on a 160-acre lease. It had originally been slated for depth of 9,300 feet.

Goldston Oil Company No. 1 M. E. Ooley was drilling ahead slowly Saturday with prospect that it may reach its objective in the Devonian before the week is out. Saturday afternoon the operation was at 9,505 feet in a hard formation, thought by some sources to be chert. This explorer missed production in the reef, although it had some shows of oil and gas along with water. Operator then continued to the Silurian-Devonian which produces two miles to the west in the Luther Southeast field, normally around 9,900 feet. Location of Goldston No. 1 Ooley is C SW NW 24-32-2n, T&P.

Mitchell Wildcat Is Making Progress

Brennan No. 1 Byrne, wildcat about 15 miles southeast of Colorado City, was drilling Saturday below 2,700 feet in anhydrite and shale. This Mitchell County prospector is slated for total depth of 7,600 feet. Drillsite is 660 feet from north and west lines, S2-12-H&TC survey.

Ooley Well Nears Zone

The No. 2-A Aldwell is 1,673 from north and 990 from east lines, section 27, block C, L&SV survey. Operations will begin at once on the project, which is 26 miles northwest of Big Lake. Production gauges had not been released. At last report this project had depth of 7,550 feet but was plugged back to 6,881. It has side of 990 feet from north and west lines, 23-36-4n, T&P survey. Orlando and Associates of Midland staked their No. 2-A Aldwell in the Spraberry Trend Area of Northwest Reagan County. It will be drilled to 7,800 feet.

Dry Holes Plugged

Two dry holes have been reported in Nolan County. Fletcher No. 1 W. W. Inkmann was plugged and abandoned at 6,500 feet, and Holland No. 1 Maggie Rawls Cutthrell was abandoned at 6,619 feet in the Pennsylvania.

Discovery Flowing In Unknown Zone

Caroline Hunt Trust Estate No. 1 I. B. Zappe, Rannels County discovery in an unidentified formation, flowed 182 barrels of oil in 12 hours. Production was through a quarter inch choke from perforations between 3,892 and 3,960 feet, and all recovery was new oil. Potential is now being taken. Location of the discovery, three miles northwest of Ballinger, is 467 feet from south and 2,183 from west lines, 169-ETRR survey.

NEW RECORDS

Cosden Tops $50 Million Gross Revenue Rate For First Time

Cosden Petroleum Corporation topped the $50 million mark in gross income for the first time last year and showed a 26 per cent increase in net revenue.

This was but one of many records reflected in the annual report which will be mailed Monday to all stockholders. Considering that R. L. Tollett, president, has been cautious about prospects for the year in view of a generally depressed price situation in the petroleum trade, the results were doubly impressive. Outlook for the fiscal year beginning May 1, 1955 is bright, the president said.

The net income of $3,545,709 was the equal of $3.42 per share. It was $731,861 more than for the previous year. During the year the $10,164 shares of outstanding common stock were increased on a 4-1 stock split to 1,626,322. The president and senior vice president exercised an option on 24,956 shares of previously authorized but unissued stock. Dividends amounted to $869,760.

Work was completed on the alkylating unit; crude unit No. 2 was revamped to double its 4,000-barrel capacity; the overall capacity of the refinery was upped to 27,000 barrels per day; petrochemical sales (counting toluene charged to av-gas blending) were up 12 per cent; crude reserves and production gained substantially; the number of employees rose to 678 and pay rates advanced approximately four per cent according to an industry pattern. Application of funds showed $1,452,815 to plant, property etc.; $141,300 increase in other assets; $84,323 to income tax for prior years; $207,527 to reduce long-term debts; $617,574 to increase working capital. By divisions, some of the highlights were:

EXPLORATION - Leaseholds rose to 109,147 and the crude oil reserve to $2,554,320, or an estimated 2,484,149 barrels for the year at a cost of about $1.15 per barrel. Of 59 wells in which Cosden participated, 25 were produced (10 wholly owned by Cosden, one three-fourths Cosden, and 10 one-half owned by Cosden). A new division office was opened in Corpus Christi during the year. PRODUCTION - Cosden had 198 producers on 74 properties at the end of the year, and five other wells making gas only. Cosden produced 922,414 barrels of oil, or 168,851 more than for the previous year. REFINING - The Big Spring refinery processed 8,517,833 barrels of oil, an increase of 10 per cent during the year. In addition, 1,613,846 barrels of charge and blending stocks were used at the refinery. The alkylating unit for production of av-gas (at a cost pegged in excess of $2 1/2 million) was completed and $800,000 of other improvements effected to the plant. Crude unit No. 2, built in 1951, was boosted to 8,000 gallons capacity. Through precision blending control, 49 per cent more natural gasoline was required (13 million gallons per month) during the year. PETROCHEMICALS - Dollar volume of sales was $2,973,341, down slightly for the year, but with $389,452 of toluene and xylene for blending in av-gas, the gain was 12 per cent. The para-xylene unit continued to be operated jointly with Phillips Chemical Co. A synthetic rubber and plastic modifier and a new furnace oil were developed during the year. Production of aromatic chemicals increased 30 per cent. MARKETING - Sales of all products was 10,290,116 (42-gallon) barrels, an increase of 941,854 barrels. Dollar volume of sales amounted to $47,720,157, a gain of nearly 11 per cent. Sales of aviation fuels to the U. S. Government was $7,362,135 or 15 per cent of total sales. TRANSPORTATION - Last year 17 1/2 per cent of products moved by rail, 77 per cent by transport truck, 5 1/2 per cent by pipeline. The 287-tank car fleet returned an operating profit of $41,716 for the year and the 15 transport trucks $118,095. EMPLOYEES - The number of employees rose to 678, a gain of 63 for the year. Hourly paid workmen were raised 10 cents per hour and other employees four per cent. Officers and employees were covered by $4,682,900 insurance and the pension fund accumulation rose to $1,091,553. During the year the Big Spring Hunting and Fishing Club, wholly owned and operated by Cosden employees, started a $75,900 club house on the lake immediately south of Big Spring.

HEARING TUESDAY MAY DECIDE IF GAS EXEMPT BILL POSSIBLE

WASHINGTON 28 - A hearing Tuesday may decide whether Congress acts during this session on a bill to exempt natural gas producers from federal controls. The House Rules Committee yesterday set the hearing on whether to let the House vote on the bill. Because of the likelihood of lengthy debate there has been some doubt the measure could be acted on before Aug. 7, planned adjournment date. Senate leaders have indicated they will not call the bill up this session unless the House passes it and perhaps not then. Chairman Priest (D-Tenn.) of the Commerce Committee, which approved the measure 16-15, has asked the rules group to clear it for House action.

Iranian Oil Cutting World Market Caper

By MAX B. SKELTON HOUSTON, July 23 (U)-Iranian oil is returning to the world market at a rapid rate after three years of idleness. Late figures for the Middle East country places crude oil production in excess of 500,000 barrels a day. This represents recovery of nearly half the production rate lost during the 3 1/2 years properties of Anglo-Iranian Oil Co. were nationalized. Production was averaging about 700,000 barrels a day in March, 1951, when the nationalization program was ordered. Daily output was less than 50,000 barrels last fall when the Shah of Iran approved an agreement that opened the way for resumption of operations. A consortium of eight foreign companies has promised Iranian crude exports the first three years of the agreement signed last fall will approximate 300,000, 400,000 and 600,000 barrels daily. There was no commitment but the companies expressed hope refined products exports the three years will run 120,000, 210,000 and 260,000 barrels daily. Under the agreement, Iran retains title to the properties. The eight companies serve as operators and buy oil from Iran for sale elsewhere. Iran was the Middle East's top ranking oil producer of crude. Today she ranks fourth. Since 1950, Kuwait has increased its daily output from about 300,000 barrels to over 1,100,000. Saudi Arabia has jumped from 550,000 to 970,000. Iraq has climbed from about 140,000 barrels a day to about 700,000. These figures comprise the major reason United States dominance of world crude production is declining. In 1945, the United States produced over 66 per cent of the world's crude. In 1953 it was 49.7 per cent. It was 46.53 last year. A recent survey by the Oil and Gas Journal indicates the United States had only 45.4 per cent of the world production last April. Despite the decline in Iran, production in the four Middle Eastern countries has nearly doubled the past five years. Middle East output in 1950 averaged about 1,750,000 barrels. At present it exceeds 3,300,000. Return of Iranian oil production alone can shove the area over the four million barrel mark. Compared to the Middle East, most United States oil fields operate under rigid production regulations designed as conservation measures. Industry officials also estimate the Nation's excess producing capacity at over one million barrels a day. In 1950 the United States produced 5,407,000 barrels a day. The average for the week ending July 15 was 6,326,400.

Iron Prospect Flows On Test

Flow was reported this weekend from a section in the Permian lime at Sinclair Oil and Gas Company's No. 1 Sammie H. Sugg, wildcat in Iron County. Logs were being taken at bottom of 9,920 feet at Sinclair's No. 1 Ella C. Sugg, wildcat 17 miles west of Merton in the same county. The No. 1 Sammie Sugg is testing from perforations between 1,647 and 1,653 feet, but no information is available on what is being produced. The section kicked off to flow after treatment with 50 gallons of mud acid and swabbing. Location is C NW NW, 83-L-H&TC survey. The project drilled to 7,676 feet in a barren formation and then plugged back to 1,720. The No. 1 Ella Sugg, C NW NE, 49-14-H&TC survey, is bottomed at 9,920 feet, and a drillstem test was taken from 8,990 to 9,920 feet. Recovery was 1,179 feet of very slightly gas-cut water blanket, 420 feet of clean water blanket, 270 feet of slightly gas-cut mud, and 270 feet of sulphur water. The No. 1 Ella Sugg previously flowed oil from a zone at 4,421-35 feet.

Pipe Set On East Howard Pair, Moore Outpost Is Taking Core

The 5 1/2-inch casing has been set on two Snyder field projects prior to completion attempts, and a core was being pulled Saturday on a venture in the Moore field. Paul DeCleva's No. 2 M. H. O'Daniel is one of the Snyder trys on which the 5 1/2-inch casing has been set. The pipe is bottomed at 2,708 feet, and operator was drilling out plug Saturday.

The No. 2 O'Daniel is 2,310 from south and west lines, 20-30-1n, T&P survey, about four miles southeast of Coahoma. It is on a 160-acre lease. G. J. Greer's No. 1 Susie Snyder, about nine miles southeast of Coahoma, is the other project on which casing was set. Bottom is 2,550 feet, and operator Saturday was waiting on cement to dry. Greer No. 1 Snyder is 330 from north and west lines, 38-30-1s, T&P survey, on a 240-acre lease. The core was taken at C. E. Russell's No. 1 Guitar Trust Estate, venture in the north extension area of the Moore field, about five miles west of Big Spring. Core was at 3,183 feet. The No. 1 Guitar is on an 80-acre lease, drillsite being 330 feet from south and west lines, southeast quarter, 2-A-Bauer and Cockrell survey. Duncan Drilling Company will move in tools Monday to commence operations at Eastland, Amador and White's No. 3-A M. H. O'Daniel in the Snyder field. Location is 330 feet from south and 990 from west lines, 34-30-1s, T&P survey.

5th Clear Fork Well Completes

The fifth Clear Fork completion has been logged in the Spraberry Trend Area field, and two old Spraberry producers are being plugged back for Clear Fork tests. Rowan Oil Company No. 1 F. A. Braden is the new completion. It extended the Clear Fork pay one and three-quarters miles west into Upton County. Potential was 220 barrels of 37-gravity oil plus trace of water. Flow was through an 18-64th inch choke from perforations between 6,469 and 6,479 feet. Gas-oil ratio was 650-1. The pay had been treated with 3,000 gallons of acid. Location of the No. 1 Braden, an old Spraberry producer, is 660 from south and west lines, 16-37-5s, T&P survey. The two projects to be plugged back are J. H. Elder's Nos. 1-C and 4-A L. C. Proctor. Both will be set for tests at 6,550 feet. The No. 1-C is a little over a mile southwest of the Clear Fork discovery. Site is 668.19 from south and 665.32 from west lines, southwest quarter, 22-37-5s, T&P survey. The No. 4-A Proctor is 2 1/4 miles south of the discovery, site being 665.67 from north and 2,094.2 from east lines, 34-37-5s, T&P survey.

West Sterling Field Gains Completion, New Location

One well was completed, another was started, and a third was spotted in the Parochial-Bade field of western Sterling County Saturday. Boykin Bros. and Roche No. 1-B Bade pumped 38.90 barrels of oil in 24 hours, plus 20 per cent water. Pay was from 1,141 to the plugged back total depth at 1,175 in the upper Queen. Operator fractured the section with 3,300 gallons. Location was 1,263 from the south and 330 from the east lines of section 22-22, 1&T.C.

Bade is slated for the lower Queen around 1,600. Location of this venture will be 1,263 from the east line and 330 from the south line of the west 200 acres of the south half of section 22-22, H&T.C.

Completion Total Still Shows Gain

AUSTIN, July 23 (U)-Another 218 oil wells were brought in last week in Texas, boosting the year's total to 8,308, the Railroad Commission reported today. This is 1,607 ahead of new completions for the comparable period a year ago. The report also showed 17 gas well completions for a total of 619 for the year, trailing last year's 699. There were 198 dry holes for the week. Wildcatting accounted for eight of the week's oil wells, two of the gas wells and 89 of the dusters. The average calendar day crude allowable as of today was 3,041,240 barrels, up 12,916 barrels per day from last week.

Duncan Spots Its Sterling Project

Duncan Drilling Company set pipe at 303 feet Saturday on its No. 7 L. C. Clark, venture in the Clark (San Andres) field of Sterling County. Operator was waiting on cement for the surfacing casing at last reports. Plans call for drilling depth of 3,000 feet. Location of the No. 7 Clark is 1,600 from south and 330 from east lines, 31-5-H&TC survey, about eight miles west of Water Valley.

15

This is the sixth in a new series of special Cosden presentations recognizing the long and valued services of those employees who have been associated with the Company 15 years or longer. Cosden is proud of its scores of workers who have contributed their efforts through so many years toward the success of the Company.

Roxie Dobbins came to Texas seeking a milder climate for his parents. In Cosden he found a wonderful working climate and has rounded out 15 years with the company.

Born and reared in Warsaw, Ind., he attended school there and at Leesburg, where he was graduated from high school in 1932. For a time he farmed until he got an offer to go to work with F. W. Woolworth Co. in Gary, Ind. While working there he got word that his father's health had broken and that the physician insisted that the elder Dobbins get out of the long winter belt. He returned home and came to Texas with his folks, working with Montgomery Ward as inspector and General Motors maintaining parts inventory.

The secretary-treasurer of Cosden, who shortly thereafter became president, R. L. Tollett, hired him on Jan. 18, 1940 as mail clerk. Later he moved to the IBM room and transferred to Big Spring in September 1940 when the company headquarters were moved here.

It was in 1942 that he enlisted in the Army Air Force and was assigned to Big Spring. After three months he put in for Officer Candidate School, and when he came up for physical examinations, an injury to his knee was discovered (the member had been severely injured in a softball game at Fort Worth) and as a result he subsequently was separated from the service. He returned to Cosden and has been engaged as an accountant since.

He had completed a special accounting course with the International Accounting Society. He had served continuously since 1950 on the Supervisory Committee of the Cosden Employees Federal Credit Union.

Dobbins was married on Feb. 18, 1944 to Miss Pat Davis, and they have one daughter, Beverley, age 9. They have their home at 1511 Tucson. All are members of the First Methodist Church. He has been active in a number of community affairs. Particularly the Lions Club. He served that organization in various official capacities, including that of president in 1953-54.

Dobbins is an avid athletic fan (he lettered in basketball, track and baseball in high school), and basketball is his favorite spectator sport. He goes strong for hunting and fishing, and is a confirmed golfer.

Hearn Pitches Near No-Hitter At Cincy

NEW YORK, July 23 (AP)—Jim Hearn, veteran New York Giants righthander, pitched 5 1-3 hitless innings today until pinch-hitter Chuck Harmon singled in the ninth for the Cincinnati Redlegs' only hit in a 2-0 Giants victory.

Harmon, batting for third baseman Mill Smith, worked the count to 3-2 before he lined the ball over shortstop Al Dark's head into left field for the single. Harmon broke his bat on the hit but it was a solid, clean blow.

Hearn had pitched a one-hitter against Pittsburgh in 1950 when Bob Dillinger, the first plate batter, singled and he retired the next 27 batters. The Giants have not had a no-hitter since Carl Hubbell beat the Pirates 11-0, May 8, 1950.

Hearn had retired 20 men in succession from the second to the ninth until Harmon broke the spell. He walked Johnny Temple in the first inning, his only pass, and hit Sam Mele with a pitched ball with two out in the second. After Roy McMillan forced Mele for the final out in the second, the 6-3 husky from Atlanta, Ga., moved them down.

Putting It Briefly

Jack Hutchinson Jr., pro at Glencove, California, believes in being comfortable on the golf course. Unlike most of the pros competing in the National PGA tournament at Meadowbrook Golf course in Detroit, Mich., Hutchinson prefers to wear shorts. He received special permission from PGA officials to wear his cool garb. (AP Wirephoto).

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Danny Reagan, a Philadelphia scout who visited here recently to watch Big Spring and Carlsbad tangle, gave an interesting insight on why the Phillies' Robin Roberts throws so many gopher balls and why the Brooklyn Dodgers give him so much trouble. . . . Robin is one of baseball's really nice people, says Reagan, who yields those home runs because he won't 'throw at the batters' . . . As animal as it may sound, most pitchers know they have to throw 'dusters' in order to keep batters from 'digging in' . . . Allie Reynolds did it and Vic Raschi is still doing it, which is why both hung on as long as they did in the big leagues. . . . Hitters like Roy Campanella and Gil Hodges go to the plate 'loose' against Roberts, says Reagan, because they know he won't intentionally throw at them. . . . Even on inside pitches, they lift an arm or back gently away, rather than 'hit the dirt,' secure in the knowledge that Roberts has good control and isn't trying to send them spinning with an intentional 'duster' . . . Raschi and Reynolds are 'nice guys,' too, but they knew baseball was their 'bread and butter' and wouldn't let fellows like Campanella and Hodges ever get a 'toe-hold' at the plate, which is the reason the New York Yankees usually won the big games in the World Series. . . . Despite his reluctance to chase the batters away from the plate, inspired partially by his fear of maiming someone, Roberts wins his 20 games every season. . . . Reagan says this fellow, Mayo Smith, who few ever heard of before he was named to the job, is doing a good job of bossing the Phils. . . . "He knows his baseball, the real mechanics of it," is the way Reagan states it. . . . The Phils haven't been a contender, Danny points out, because when the hitters hit, the pitching doesn't come through, and visa versa.

Is Brewer Too Light To Play Out Here?

If San Angelo's Sherwood Brewer is a good four inches shorter and 20 pounds lighter than Big Spring's Nick Cappelli, as the San Angelo paper claimed, following their recent fight, then the Kansas City Negro stands only 5-3 1/2 and tips the scales at 135. . . . In that event, it's dangerous to stay in West Texas, what with the high winds that blow. . . . Incidentally, in that free-for-all, Big Spring's Marcus Job is said to have gotten in the best and most telling flicks. . . . Kelly Seary, the Negro fireballer who was supposed to join Big Spring last spring but never did (although he was forwarded transportation money on two occasions), recently signed on with Mexico City of the Mexican League, where he'll probably be a sensation. . . . Seary has spent much of this season with Birmingham of the Negro big leagues. . . . Allen Siff, Artesia's new hurler, walked 131 batters in 187 innings for Crowley of the Evangeline League in 1954. . . . Managers had fairly steady employment in the Longhorn League last season. . . . Only two of the eight teams changed pilots during the campaign. . . . Incidentally, Big Spring had a manager only once in its eight-year Longhorn League history. . . . Rene Valdivia, a catcher who tried out here under Pat Stasey several years ago, hit .253 for Port Arthur in the Evangeline League last season. . . . Leo Roy M. O'Brien, Rosarion, wild and woolly hurler, who recently drew his release, walked an average of two batters an inning for the Rockets. . . . Leon Brinkopf, one of the Longhorn Leagues all-time great third sackers, recently was fired by the Shreveport Sports. . . . Lee Taylor, who handled wild and woolly hurler, Joe Childress and Troy Moody at Odessa High School, is job hunting after quitting over there.

Baylor May Have Best Football Crop

When Billy Capps, the Midland manager, played with Tulsa, his skipper was Roy Johnson, who has been scouting players in this area for the Chicago Cubs in recent days. . . . It is generally agreed that Baylor University did the best job of recruiting football players among Southwest Conference teams following last season. . . . Look for Baylor and the University of Texas to field two of the strongest grid lines in collegiate football next fall. . . . Baylor has the redoubtable Steve Owens to map its defensive strategy while Mike Michalske, tough as shoe leather, is planning the defensive fireworks at Texas. . . . Though he finished a dozen strokes off the pace, in an 11-week tie for 16th spot, Big Spring's Billy Maxwell earned $335 for his four days' work in the Milwaukee Open last week. . . . His year's winnings have now swelled past the $13,000 mark. . . . A Class A baseball league consisting of Corpus Christi, Harlingen, Port Arthur, Austin, Lubbock, San Angelo, Abilene and Amarillo is already being talked for next year in Central Texas. . . . How are the teams going to get around in V-2 rockets? . . . Half of the 32 athletes named to play in the Longhorn League's All-Star game the past week are former WT-NM hands. . . . Billy Jack Oliver, an Abilene grid star headed for Baylor University who always looked as big as Guarantua when he performed a stunt in the Big Spring High School baseball club, has ballooned up to 240 pounds and Baylor coaches are worried about it. . . . The Teen-Age Baseball Association people here are undecided about what to do about make-up games. . . . There's not enough time left to get in all the contests that have been called off. . . . Before Walt Fondren enrolled at the University of Texas, University of Oklahoma alumni held out hope they would get the Baytown flash because Walt's dad is a Sooner Ex-

List Of Merchants Giving DC Night Ducats Growing

The list of merchants and business men who will supply tickets for youngsters for Davy Crockett Night, to be held at Steer Park the night of Saturday, Aug. 13, is growing. . . . On that occasion, a pony, complete with saddle and bridle, will be given away to a local boy or girl.

Softball Meet Set Aug. 19

Local softball teams have been invited to compete in the Texas State Tournament, which will be held in Midland Aug. 19-24. . . . Entry fee is $25, which must be in the office of State Tournament Director L. C. Cobb not later than Aug. 16. His address is 3104 Delano Street, Midland. His phone number is 4-1181. . . . The tournament is to be double elimination and will be co-sponsored by the Midland Chamber of Commerce and the Midland Jay-Cees. . . . The state champion will attend the World's Softball Tournament at New Bedford, Ill., a city completely surrounded by the City of Chicago. . . . New Bedford has just completed construction of a new field seating 8,000 people. The Texas representatives will get $1,000 expenses for making the trip, with payment due after the team plays a game. . . . Two diamonds in Midland will be utilized for the tournament. One is the Major City field, the other the Church diamond. Both are located in Hogan Park. . . . Several 'big-name' pitchers will appear in the tournament, among them Red Denham, Roy Weeks and Boyd Reever. . . . Denham holds the record in World Tournament play, having hurled 46 consecutive innings without allowing a hit. . . . Weeks has been on the staff of seven state championship teams. Reever pitched two consecutive no-hit, no-run games in World Tournament competition. . . . All tournament games will be played at night.

Area Playoffs Set Monday

Area Little League playoffs will get under way on two fronts Monday, with eight teams eligible to compete for the crown. . . . Two of the contests will be unrecruited here and two in Midland. Midland's North Little League clashes with Midland's Southern Little League at 4 p.m. at Midland's Redfern Field. . . . Midland's Central Leaguers oppose Midland's Eastern Leaguers at 5:45 p.m. at the same location. . . . At 6 p.m. here, the local Texas Leaguers square off with the Midland Western club. At 8 o'clock on the local field, the Big Spring Americans and Big Spring Nationals have it out. . . . Both semi-final contests take place in the local park Tuesday at 6:00 and 8:00 p.m. . . . Should a Big Spring team go in to the finals, the championship game will take place here Thursday evening. Should two Midland teams emerge into the title round, the finals will be played in Midland. . . . The National Leaguers rule as favorites to beat the Americans here and should be major contenders in the tournament itself. . . . Winner of the tournament becomes eligible to compete in the District Meet at Lubbock Aug. 1-2. Sectional play takes place in Midland later that week. . . . American League all-stars who will compete in the tournament include: Buddy Newell, Flicks; Larry Moore, Flicks; Jerry Bowerman, Eagles; Mike Hughes, Flicks; Ronnie Cunningham, Cabot; Tommy Whately, Cubs; P. Myrick, Cabot; Jerry Dunlap, Cabot; Larry Holmes, Cabot; Mike Moorhead, Eagles; Tommy Clark, Cubs; Jerry Arrick, Cubs; Ken Billings, Cabot; Jimmy Hines, Cubs; and Fred Pittman, Cubs. . . . Managers of the team will be Roy Brooks and Gary Osborne.

Stafford's Wand Is Still Smoking

Dean Stafford's big bat continued to dominate the Big State League last week. The Corpus Christi outfielder upped his runs batted in to 112 and his home runs to 28 to lead the circuit in both departments. . . . Still on top in batting averages, however, is Lynn Vandehey of Texas City, with .371. Stafford is sixth. . . . Vandehey also is tops in hits with 127, and Ed Charles of Corpus Christi leads in runs with 89. Two-base hit leader is Hal Simpson of Port Arthur with 28 and the triples lead is a 3-way tie between Charles, Jim Kirby of Port Arthur and Keith Carpenter of Harlingen, with 11 each. . . . Rene Vega, Corpus Christi's ace, remains the leading hurler. He has won 21 and lost 2.

Two Handicaps Are Set At Ruidoso

RUIDOSO, N. M., July 23 (SC)—Two handicaps, one for thoroughbreds over seven furlongs, and the other a quarterhorse event down for 400 yards, headline a strong racing program at Ruidoso Downs today. . . . Such outstanding horses as War Tuck, Clear Day, Sierra, Valor 2nd, Diadem, Reno Upabout, Rosafavor and Mondes Bar are entered in the Thoroughbred Handicap. . . . War Tuck, belonging to Mrs. Norman Person, is top-weighted at 118 pounds, along with Ralph Lowe's chestnut gelding, Clear Day. . . . Five of the top horses running in the Quarterhorse Handicap have been assigned equal weights, 118 pounds each. . . . Top weighted, however, is Little Nippy, at 120 pounds. Little Nippy won the feature race here last Sunday.

Cops Defeated By Potashers

CARLSBAD, N. M., July 23 (SC)—Kosse Hill held Carlsbad at bay for six innings but the Potashers crashed through in the seventh and eighth to win a 6-3 verdict from the Big Spring Cosden Cops here Friday night. . . . Goidy Gholson led off the seventh with a home run and the Miners went on to score four tallies in that round. . . . Oliver Hardy and Steve Nunez followed with singles. After Ike Jackson forced Nunez, Don Fornall and Duke Henderson followed with singles and Jackson later scored on a wild pitch. . . . Darwin Chrisco had to come to the rescue of Fornall in the ninth, as the Cops rallied for two runs. . . . Frank Billings paced Big Spring at bat with four hits.

Diamond Work Is Upcoming Today

Managers, friends and players in the Little League baseball program here have been asked to gather at the park for the small-fray at 3 o'clock today, at which time the diamond will be made ready for the Area Tournament starting here Monday night. . . . The park took a beating from the recent rains and considerable work toward making it playable has already been contributed.

FIGHT RESULTS

FRIDAY NIGHT
SAN FRANCISCO—Ray Robinson, 180, New York, over Ray Castellan, 160, Cleveland, 10 rds., decision.

Record Ace Was Machine Made

John M. Pipes of 704 Tulsa Rd., acknowledged to be the world's leading golf architect, takes issue with an article which appeared in last Thursday's sports column in The Daily Herald "Looking 'Em Over," which stated that the longest hole-in-one ever made was a 435-yarder at the Hermitage Country Club in Richmond, Va., several years ago. . . . Pipes, whose voluminous files on the ancient sport commands much of the space in one room at his home, reveals that that particular ace was not made by an individual but rather by an Acushnet driving machine, which was being operated by a George Smith. . . . The machine, according to Pipes, was perfected to test the accuracy and the carriage of a golf ball when hit. . . . John says records show that the longest hole-in-one ever scored by mortal man occurred at Winston-Salem, N. C., April 11, 1939, when a Sunday linkster named George Cardwell walked a ball which carried 425 yards into a hole. . . . Cardwell's feat was recently verified in a letter to Pipes, written by Ken Ables, pro at the Hillcrest course in Winston-Salem course, where the shot took place. . . . Cardwell had carded an ordinary 45 his first time around the nine-hole course and his play showed no remarkable change until he reached the ninth tee his second time around. . . . The first 325 yards of the fairway at Hillcrest, Abel revealed in his letter to Pipes, are on level ground, the last 100 yards on a downhill lie. . . . Cardwell's tee shot, other members of his foursome stated, carried about 340 yards on the fly in a stiff wind, hit the stopping part of the fairway and bounced into the cup. . . . A 428-yard hole-in-one was recorded at Columbus, Ohio, Aug. 18, 1937. A brassie was used on that shot but the 'golfer' was another driving machine, owned by the manufacturer for the demonstration of their golf ball. . . . Pipes is still getting mail from persons who read a recent full-page article about him appearing in Parade Magazine, a Sunday supplement to many newspapers. . . . The story, written by Gene Gregston of Fort Worth, concerned his fascinating collections of news of his favorite sport. . . . A resident of Big Spring since 1939, John is still an active linkster, capable of playing with the city's finest players on his best days. . . . He grew up in Dallas and engaged such future greats as Byron Nelson and Ben Hogan, then Fort Worth caddies, in amateur tournaments in his home area. . . . He has been collecting items of unusual incidents that have been happening in the world of golf since about 1927 and has corresponded with people in far flung areas with similar interjects, for that reason.

Tigers, Devils Rack Up Wins

The Tigers and the Devils racked up victories in Junior Teen-Age Baseball League play here Friday night. . . . The Bengals counted eight runs in the third inning and went on to stink the Reporters, 10-3; after which the Devils outlasted the Rails, 9-5. . . . The Tigers sent 12 men to bat in the third inning and managed only one hit. That was by Allen Alexander. They benefited from four bases on balls, a hit batsman and two Reporter misplays, however. . . . Joe Bob Clendenin drove out three hits and Alexander two for the winners. . . . Wilson Bell was the winning hurler. He fanned seven and walked three. The loss was hung on Chubby Moser, who struck out five and issued eight bases on balls. . . . The Devils counted seven runs on three hits in the first inning on their way to their triumph. . . . Preston Daniels, the winning hurler, helped his cause with two hits. Tommy Roger was the losing tosser.

Fleck Is Ousted On 35th Green In PGA Tourney By Tom Bolt

Middlecoff Is Easy Winner

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
DETROIT, July 23 (AP)—Tommy Bolt, the hatchet man of the PGA tournament, wrenched off another champion's scalp and hung it on his belt today when he eliminated National Open champion Jack Fleck, 3 and 1 in the third round of the 87th championship.

Bolt, who figured he had it made when he knocked out three-time winner Sammy Snead yesterday, remained unshaken and superbly confident when he started badly and found himself 3-down after 14 holes of the 36-hole match. He cut loose a string of birdies on the finishing holes to end the first round all square, matched Fleck stroke for stroke and put for putt on the first 10 holes of the afternoon round, then spurred ahead to win on the 35th green.

Bolt's superb performance in a tense match that drew a large part of a gallery of 8,000 at the Meadowbrook Club, took the edge off Doug Ford's near-record feat of crushing Wally Ulrich, 12 and 10, and lopsided victories by Fred Hawkins—over 1954 Open champion Ed Furgol—Cary Middlecoff, and Lew Worsham.

Bolt will meet Worsham, the 1947 Open champion, in tomorrow's 36-hole quarter-finals, in the other quarter-final matches, Ford, the "pool table" putter who has given Meadowbrook's par of 35-36-71 its worst beating of the tournament, will meet Hawkins. Blonde Shelley Mayfield of Westbury, N. Y., will meet 25-year-old Don Fairfield of Casey, Ill., the only real outsider left.

Middlecoff, winner of five tournaments so far this year, will face another representative of the same Klamath Lake, N. Y., resort course, Jackie Burke. Jackie, shooting sub-par but not sensationally, closed out Marty Furgol of Lemont, Ill., 2 and 1.

Middlecoff crushed Mike Pavella of Washington, Pa., a veteran club pro, 3 and 2. Hawkins, who occasionally flashes red-hot rounds on the pro tour, threw a four-under-par 67 at Furgol on the morning round and closed him out 6 and 5. Worsham won by the same margin from swarthy Johnny Palmer of Charlotte, N. C.

Mayfield and Fairfield survived two of the day's closest matches, played almost unobserved by the crowd. Mayfield, 3-down after 15 holes against his old boss, Claude Harmon of Mamaroneck, N. Y., bounced back in the afternoon to win on the 36th hole, 1-up. Young Fairfield, pro at a nine-hole course in Casey, Ill., ousted another unknown, Brian Charter of Janesville, Wis., 2 and 1.

For superb golf today, it was Ford, whose re-shafted putter seemed to be equipped with radar. Hitting the long ones so often that even his frustrated opponent had to joke about it, Ford was 10 under par for 26 holes today and 21 under for six trips around the course, including the qualifying rounds.

Milwaukee Rallies To Trip Dodgers

BROOKLYN, July 23 (AP)—Milwaukee rallied with six runs in the seventh inning as Joe Adcock and Andy Pafko hit successive home runs on the way to a 11-6 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers today.

Jack Moore Leads Plainview Tourney

PLAINVIEW, Tex., July 23 (AP)—Jack Moore Jr., Duncan, Okla., led the way into the finals of the Plainview Country Club Invitation Golf Tournament today with a 62-60-133.

Jack Williams of Plainview was second with 66-69-135 and Melvin Best of Lubbock has 69-67-136. A total of 30 will be in the championship flight for the final 36 holes.

DR. C. W. DEATS

Local Trapshooter Marks Time For Vadalis Meet

By LaDOYCE LAMBERT
When someone mentions "clay pigeon" the words take on several meanings to most of us, but to Dr. C. W. Deats, 400 Virginia, they represent the object of a sport he describes as "the cleanest of them all."

The sport, of course, is trap shooting, a game of marksmanship in which a clay disk, or clay pigeon, is mechanically hurled into the air as a target.

Dr. Deats, a dentist here, is a long-time enthusiast of trap shooting and has fared well in contests all over the country during the 25 years he has participated in the game.

A state shoot in Wichita Falls in 1951 is recalled by Dr. Deats as being his most successful contest as far as a competitive score goes. He shot a perfect score of 100 straight that year. The most amazing thing about this feat was that he had not even shot a gun for nine months prior to this contest.

Dr. Deats has entered several Texas shoots as well as contests in New Mexico and Oklahoma. Presently, he has an average of 93 out of 100 at the state shoot last year in Fort Worth, and an average of 95 out of 100 which he earned in Great Falls, Mont., last year.

The grand daddy of all contests in the trap shoot, the Grand American Handicap in Vandalia, Ohio, is next on the list for Dr. Deats. This will be the first national shoot that he has attended. The National shoot, to be held this year from Aug. 18-27, is always open to anyone who belongs to the Amateur Trapshooters Association.

Dr. Deats calls trap shooting the cleanest sport of them all because no one tries to take any advantages and the winners are determined by their skill alone.

Gilbreath Hired As Engineer Aide

ATLANTA, July 23 (AP)—Byron Gilbreath, head coach at Austin College in Sherman, Tex., has been hired as full-time assistant basketball coach at Georgia Tech. He also will help out in football.

Athletic Director Bobby Dodd said Gilbreath will report Aug. 1 as assistant to head basketball Coach John C. Hyder.

Gilbreath was president of the National Assn. of Intercollegiate Athletic Coaches last year, and is president of the North Texas chapter of the Southwest Conference Basketball Officials Assn.

He is a former basketball star at Texas Tech. He became head basketball coach at Austin College in 1947. His basketball teams had a 51-45 record in Texas Conference play in eight years.

Amateur Golf Tournament against Hillman Robbins. The 36-hole windup in the week long meet is an all-Southern finale.

Merrins, 22, is the recent Colonial Invitation champion from Meridian, Miss. Robbins is the 1954 intercollegiate king from Memphis State.

In three previous match-play tournaments, Robbins has closed out Merrins. He did it 3-2 in 1953 at the Colonial, 2-1 in the 1954 Northwest at Meridian and 4-3 this year at the Northwest.

Championship showdown Robbins advanced to the championship showdown, starting at 9 a.m. EST tomorrow, by edging the host Rockford Country Club's Alex Weish, 3 and 1, in the double round semifinals.

Aussies Clinch Cup Playoffs

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 23 (AP)—Australian Davis Cup stock rose a little higher today as its crack doubles team of Lew Hoad and Rex Hartwig clicked again and clinched a final berth for the Aussies in the American Zone play-offs.

Hoad and Hartwig needed just 53 minutes to settle matters with Brazil's Bob Falkenberg and Ronald Moreira, 6-2, 6-4, 6-1, in the semifinals before less than 2,000 spectators at the Louisville Boat Club.

Webb Defeated By Reese, 9-2

Behind the all-right pitching and blistering hitting of Wycoff, Reese AEP shelved the Webb AFB Dusters 9-2 in a softball game at the base Saturday night.

Wycoff struck out 15 batters and then added insult to injury by belting out two home runs. He limited Webb to three hits, two of them by Bill Paschal and one by Tom Gonella.

Tom Reed started for Webb, but after being rocked with a second 3-run outburst in the third, he was relieved by John Thompson. Reese pecked away at him until Jack Long relieved in the seventh.

The same teams meet under the lights at Webb at 8 p.m. today. Score by innings: REESE 303 011 1-9 6 0 WEBB 200 000 0-2 3 5

Wycoff and Jewel; Reed, Thompson, Long and Herriman. HANDICAP WINNER INGLEWOOD, Calif., July 23 (AP)—Alfred G. Vanderbilt's Social Accident, making his second appearance at Hollywood Park, came from far back to capture the $110,500 Sunset Handicap today in a stretch battle with Rejected and Allion.

ies in the American Zone play-offs. Hoad and Hartwig needed just 53 minutes to settle matters with Brazil's Bob Falkenberg and Ronald Moreira, 6-2, 6-4, 6-1, in the semifinals before less than 2,000 spectators at the Louisville Boat Club.

The victory, following yesterday's singles wins by Hoad and Ken Rosewall, set up the semis with a 3-0 verdict in the best-of-five series.

The Australians will go against Canada next week end at Montreal, to determine the zone championship. They will meet Japan later and then, if they continue their winning ways, will take on the European Zone champs to decide the United States' foe in the challenge round next month at Forest Hills.

The Cardinals stamped to a decisive 18-1 victory over the Elks in a Senior Teen-Age Baseball League game here Saturday night.

LeRoy LeFevre, who hurled the win, struck out 16 batters in the six-inning contest. He walked seven. The Reds banked eight runs in the fourth and followed that with a seven run sixth.

UNEARNED RUNS COST LOCALS

CARLSBAD, N. M., July 23 (AP)—Marcus Job gave up only one earned run but Carlsbad rolled to a 7-4 victory over the skidding Big Spring Cooden Cops here Saturday night.

The Petashers scored three times in the first inning with the aid of four hits and two errors on the same play by Marin Saberi.

They got three more in the second on three hits and two Big Spring bobbles.

Big Spring scored all its runs in the third. With one out, Nick Cappell walked, Frank Billings singled and Luis Caballero followed with a one-baser that plated Cappell. Bob Martin singled to load the bases.

Tom Costello struck out but Huck Doe singled to score Billings and Caballero, after which Martin came in on a balk by Ken Schwartz.

Outfielders on both teams, Costello of Big Spring and Duke Henderson of Carlsbad started double plays.

The loss was the sixth in seven games for the Big Springers.

Job pitched nine-inning ball but had to accept his fourth defeat, compared to four wins. Saberi has now won eight and lost five.

The Cooden Cops move over to Hobbs to launch a three-game series this evening. They return home Wednesday to face Midland, at which time they open a five-game stand.

Trabert Wins Philly Match

PHILADELPHIA, July 23 (AP)—Tony Trabert, allowed considerably in the third set by a searing summer sun, found enough shots in his trick bag today to whip Hamilton Richardson 6-3, 6-3, 6-6 in a semifinal match of the Pennsylvania Lawn Tennis Championship at Merion Cricket Club today.

Wimbledon champion Louise Brough rallied in mid-match earlier to conquer Althea Gibson 1-6, 6-3, 6-1 in the finals of the 55th Pennsylvania and Eastern States Women's Lawn Tennis Tournament.

Richardson repeatedly came back in the deciding set, using a booming down-the-line forehand to partially offset Trabert's stronger set play and overall power.

But Trabert, ranking U. S. Davis Cup star counted on to lead his teammates in the upcoming challenge round of that international event, had just too much on the ball.

A passing forehand eluded Richardson as he rushed the net and that was the match.

Trabert will meet Vic Seixas, defending champion from Philadelphia and U. S. titleholder, in the men's singles finals here tomorrow.

Seixas bolstered his Davis Cup standing yesterday by whipping a stubborn Ed Moylan, Trenton, N. J., in the other best-of-set semifinal.

Here's why Record-Breaking Thousands Name Pontiac "America's Greatest Buy"!

It takes only one word to explain why today's Pontiac is the most popular Pontiac ever built. That word is VALUE.

Buyers from both ends of the price scale are finding that Pontiac provides just about everything any car at any price can offer. It's a matter of fact, not opinion, that Pontiac is the biggest, most powerful car at the price!

For size, Pontiac reaches high into the fine-car price range—and comes up with a long 122" or 124" wheelbase. This is size where it counts, because nothing beats wheelbase in providing solid comfort and stability on any road at any speed.

Pontiac's performance is strictly Pontiac's alone—and it stems from the most modern, most advanced V-8 in the industry! Its mighty 200-h.p. Strato-Streak V-8 with four-barrel carburetor* provides more power than any car within hundreds of dollars of Pontiac's modest price.

Another Pontiac extra value, so easily measured when you get behind the wheel, is the supreme ease of handling that keeps all its eager power and husky bigness under instant and practically effortless control.

And if you interpret value in terms of appearance—here again Pontiac's your kind of car. Its distinctive Twin-Streak beauty and Vogue Two-Toning will stay new and fresh for years!

And for the final value clincher—Pontiac prices fit easily into any new-car budget!

No wonder Pontiac sales are at an all-time high! Come in soon and drive this wonderful car. We're sure you, too, will join the big swing to Pontiac!

*Low extra-cost option; 180 h.p. standard

THERE'S NO POWER LIKE STRATO-STREAK POWER!

Here is the heart of Pontiac's terrific performance—the ultramodern Strato-Streak V-8! This masterpiece of engine design will deliver up to 200 h.p. with the 4-barrel carburetor, an extra-cost option. Come on in, take the wheel and see what Strato-Streak really means!

MEN'S WEAR OF CHARACTER

VA To Honor Anniversary Of Its Chaplain Service

The 10th anniversary of the founding of the Veterans Administration's chaplain service on a national basis will be next Sunday. Chaplains of all faiths who minister to the religious needs of sick and disabled veterans in VA hospitals will be honored. Chaplain Clark O. Hitt will be the subject of appreciation next Sunday at the Big Spring VA Hospital.

Chaplain Hitt was commissioned on May 10, 1941 and ordered to Lowry Field, Denver. A year later he went to England and North Africa as group chaplain of the 3rd Photo Reconnaissance Group. He returned to the states in 1943 and served as base chaplain at Randolph Field until 1946 when he was separated from active duty. One month later, he was appointed chaplain at the North Little Rock VA Hospital where he stayed until July of 1950 when he was transferred here.

Established Aug. 1, 1945, to provide the "best possible spiritual guidance, counseling and religious services" for sick and disabled veterans of all faiths, the Chaplain Service now functions in 176 VA hospitals.

Stamp For Scouts

OTTAWA, Ont., July 23 (AP)—A new five-cent postage stamp will go on sale Aug. 20 to mark the opening of a world Boy Scout jamboree at Niagara-on-the-Lake, Ont. The green-and-gold stamp depicts the Scout emblem between two hemispheres of the globe.

Shivers Vs. Morrow Feud Now Looming

By DAVE CHEAVENS

AUSTIN, July 23 (AP)—Strategy for holding their grip on the Texas party machinery and perhaps some feuding are on the agenda for a called State Democratic Executive Committee meeting here Monday.

Texas Democrats quarrel morning, noon and night and no one would be surprised if a battle developed between friends of Wright Morrow and Allan Shivers who have fallen out politically since they both bolted to support Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Shivers, seeking closer ties now with the national party organization that has in effect cast Morrow out as Texas national committee man, wants him to step out.

Morrow says bluntly he won't do it.

The potentially explosive situation has been kept fairly quiet behind the scenes at some recent past meetings of the 65-member state executive committee which includes friends of both Shivers and Morrow. Whether it can or will be this time remains to be seen.

The primary purpose of the meeting called by Chairman George Sandlin is to make plans for a precinct-by-precinct organization of the conservative Democrats to win control of the 1956 conventions.

The liberal branch of the Texas party, sparked by the Democratic Advisory Council, met a week ago in San Antonio and named Bob Sawelle as state organization leader to line up that faction's strength for 1956.

When Shivers ran for re-election to his third term last year, he said one of his primary objectives was to make sure that "middle-of-the-road leadership" continued in the Texas party.

Both party factions will battle it out beginning with precinct conventions next spring. They will precede the county conventions which name delegates to the May state convention.

The May convention picks Texas' delegates to the national convention at Chicago. Because 1956 is a presidential election year, both sides are getting an early start in their effort to have the loudest possible voice in the Democratic nomination.

Informal Rites Unite Howard County Couple

In an informal double ring ceremony Friday evening at 6:30, Vesta Jean Harrison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Harrison, 1104 E. 4th, became the bride of Jimmy Charles Shoultz, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Shoultz of Forsan.

The bride wore a street length dress of navy silk shantung with a full skirt and three-quarter

CRITIQUE

By Glenn Coates

The plight of the American legitimate theatre is treated both factually and harshly in the book, "How Not To Write A Play," by Walter Kerr. Himself a drama critic, Kerr gives those that would listen a few choice pointers on revitalizing the theatre.

One of the points he makes is advocating the return of the theatre to the people. His statements from the book are reprinted here:

"There is a risk of vulgarity in turning our minds toward what pleases the common customer and what pleases ourselves. . . . But I think the risk must be run, for two reasons. One is that the theatre must continue to shrivel if we do not do it. The other is that it seems to me on the available evidence to be a good risk. The theatre was not created by a minority for a minority. It was created — in its Greek, Roman, and medieval beginnings — by a crowd for a crowd. It has, since these beginnings, been at its healthiest when it was closest to the crowd. There is a favorable chance, with the crowd, of arriving at serious art."

I can think of no valid argument against Kerr's thesis. The quicker the industry adopts such a practice, the sooner the theatre will begin to attract paying crowds.

"N. Y., N. Y." by Will Oursler Attempting a cross-sectional view of the denizens of New York, Oursler's treatment is somewhat pale in relation to those books of a similar nature. The author's characterization is very good, but that is about the only thing that can be said for the book on the credit side.

His pilot, if such it is, is stringy and disconnected. At points it appears to break apart at the seams. The narrative includes just about every literary device known to the English language which thoroughly befuddles the reader.

After reading the book, one could easily come to the conclusion that Oursler wrote the volume in chapters, then jumbled them up, and finally strung them together in haphazard fashion.

The author gives the reader short looks into the lives of selected persons from various social levels. Occasionally, the lives of these persons touch for a moment but they split apart again. The characters appear to be very real and Oursler used great care in developing them. But it is not enough to make up for the shortcomings of the novel.

Periodically through the book there are short sketches which were apparently included to add atmosphere. They are complete failures. These sketches of smoke, honking horns, etc., only slow the pace of the action and hinder the reader who is probably trying to figure out which part of the jig-saw puzzle he will have to solve in the next chapter.

Oursler makes it very difficult for the reader to identify the group of persons he is referring to. As the novel progresses, constant referral to earlier chapters is a necessity. The book is not worth the trouble.

"Few Were Left" by Harold Rein This book reaches the last page at the point where the author's story should begin. Because of this, the novel reads like a prologue

Junior High VA Teacher Resigns, Goes To Amarillo

Big Spring Junior High School is losing one of its two vocational agriculture teachers. Roland Baumhardt, who has been teaching the ninth grade agriculture classes the last four years, is resigning to accept a position as agricultural teacher in the new Palo Duro High School in Amarillo.

Baumhardt was reared near Dimmitt. He attended Texas A&M College where he received his B. S. degree. Later he earned a master's degree in agriculture in Texas Tech.

He expressed regret at leaving Big Spring, but said he felt the new position was a promotion which he could not refuse. He will begin his new duties at the Amarillo school on August 1.

Contagious Diseases Infect 137 Persons

There were 137 cases of contagious diseases reported to the City-County Health Unit during the past week. Diarrhea, tonsillitis, and influenza appeared to be the most prevalent. In all, there were 11 different ailments reported.

Cases were diarrhea, 43; tonsillitis, 25; influenza, 21; upper respiratory, 15; streptococcal 12; gastroenteritis, 12; pneumonia, 4; gonorrhoea, 2; whooping cough, 1; tuberculosis, 1; and hepatitis, 1.

Coahoma Methodists Slate Youth Caravan

COAHOMA—The Methodist youth organization of the First Methodist Church is to sponsor the Youth Caravan here July 30-Aug. 5.

Four girls and the counselor from McMurry College will spend the week here in helping to plan and supervise activities for young people. The program will start at 6 p. m. daily and will include a supper, discussion, worship and recreation. All young people in this area are invited to take part.

Treva Ely, Dalhart, is to be the counselor for the visiting members of the Caravan. Others in the party will be Dorothy Bengston, Winnsboro, La.; Sue Ymore, Ames, Ia.; Mary Elizabeth Estes, Cape Girardeau, Mo.; and Agnes Beard, Dyersburg, Tenn.

Wolf Bounty Upped

VIENNA, Austria, July 23 (AP)—Wolves have become so numerous in Communist Poland they are reported roaming near and even entering cities. Authorities have increased the bounty on each wolf from 200 to 1,000 zlotys. By Polish reckoning, that's from $48 to $240.

G. B. Dealey

with no story following it. Arthur Temmer steps into a subway station in New York with suicide on his mind. Before he can throw himself in front of the cars, a terrific blast occurs, sealing him up in the tunnel, unconscious. When he revives, he finds others also trapped in the tunnel.

Although the author allows the reader to know that the city was hit by an atomic bomb, he withholds this information from his characters. Thus, the reader must sweat through page after page while the characters go to entrance after entrance (finding all of them caved in) until finally it dawns on them what has happened.

More and more people show up as the group travels through the subway tunnels living on robbed candy stands. Finally, they arrive at a large encampment where an organization has been set up to dig the entrance clear. Temmer immediately begins plotting against the leaders of the organization and successfully overthrows it. And there the story stops.

Meet Some Do-It-Yourselfers

Energy, enthusiasm and skill—all are needed in good proportion for a person to accomplish some of those do-it-yourself tasks around the home. This goes for furniture building, painting and papering, upholstery work or curtain hanging. But many people are combining these ingredients to turn out professional jobs, and ending up with home improvements that have the added attraction of being "something I did myself." There are many people everywhere applying themselves to such tasks. On this page are some typical "do-it-yourselfers."

READY-TO-PASTE PAPER — is a boon to the amateur paper-hanger in the opinion of Mrs. W. S. Goodlett Jr., 1802 Gollad, who has just finished papering the family bathroom. She admits that she did have "a little help" from her husband in papering the ceiling, but otherwise, all the work is hers. Mrs. Goodlett has had experience in hanging paper to which paste must be applied, and she considers the newer type much easier to use. The bathroom is done in a soft shade of pink tufted-effect paper with matching woodwork. She did the painting, too!

NEED OF MORE SHELF SPACE—spurred the efforts of Mrs. Roscoe Cowper, 902 Mountain Park, in planning, fitting and anchoring this convenient addition to a lavatory. The top is of formica, which she has finished with metal stripping, and the legs are of wood, which can be repainted quickly and easily. Besides this carpentering job, Mrs. Cowper has made cornices for some of the rooms of their home and has reworked other cornices which didn't quite suit her fancy. Bennett and Brenda seem to be apt pupils of their industrious mother.

A WILLING HELPER—makes light work as Mrs. Ervin Daniels, 705 East 15th, has learned, with her daughter, Judy, to lend a hand. Mrs. Daniels does a lot of upholstery work, which she learned in the City Home Demonstration Club, of which she is a member. She is an expert in the use of a set of saws, too, and she has made cornices for some of the windows of their home. Copper pictures and a planter made by this industrious housekeeper decorates the rooms.

TAKES TIME AND MATERIAL—to figure out the way of making cafe curtains, according to Mrs. Kelley Lawrence, 543 Hillside. She cut and figured and figured and cut, though, and finally wound up with the correct procedure for making them hang right. One big help in the task is her son, Ken, who can double for curtain hooks, even though he has an arm in a cast. These draperies, of brown and gold, will go into the room for the boys of the family.

A CORNER TABLE—made to match a coffee table is a source of pride to Mrs. Harvey Wooten, 2001 Runnels, since she made both from fixtures salvaged from materials in a building bought by her husband. The top is of a composition which can be sand-papered and varnished again and again to freshen it up. With Terry to hold the varnish can, Mrs. Wooten plans to finish this job and then put double legs of wrought-iron on the table. She is another worker who has sawed and hammered out cornices for the living room.

A Carriage Built For Two

Lt. and Mrs. Wayne Steele, 1503B Sycamore, try their double stroller for size for their seven month old twins, Jackie Jane, left, and Johnnie Wayne, right who is sleeping through the whole ordeal.

One-Half Of Steele Family Are Newcomers

Only half of a family makes the newcomers news this week. The family is Lt. and Mrs. Wayne Steele, 1503B Sycamore, who moved to Big Spring about a year ago, but have just recently been added to the newcomers' list. The other two Steeles, who have been here only seven weeks are twins, Jackie Jane and Johnnie Wayne.

A native of Dallas, Lt. Steele has been in the U.S. Air Force for four years. During that time he has been stationed in Georgia, Arizona and was in Korea for eight months. He is now an instructor at Webb Air Force Base.

His attractive brunette wife, Marion, is from Chicago, Ill.

"I was flying a cross country and stopped in Chicago and we just bumped into each other, and were married two years later," the lieutenant explained. They were the first couple to marry in the Webb Base Chapel.

Mrs. Steele says she likes Texas and thinks it is a wonderful place to raise a family.

"My husband told me that I would have to use his oxygen mask to clean the house after a West Texas sand storm," she remarked.

The Steeles are fond of fishing, hunting and all outdoor sports, but recently they have been confined to the indoor sport of taking care of the twins.

The arrival of two babies instead of one was quite a surprise to the Steeles, because there are not any twins on either family tree.

"When we found out that we were going to have twins, we had to take everything back and exchange it for two or add another just like it," the couple stated.

The boy is larger than his sister, but she is the lovelier of the two. Feeding on demand is quite a problem here, because they are never hungry at the same time, or both will be screaming together. But, they will soon grow up.

Talking Books

Magic talking books are a new way to teach Junior to read. The books have sound track on the cover and can be played on the phonograph as well as read. The story of Peter Rabbit, Hansel and Gretel, Black Beauty and other favorite classics are introduced to the juvenile audience through ear as well as eye.

Owenses Make Home Here After Marriage

Mr. and Mrs. Leland E. Owenses are now at home at 800 Douglass following their marriage July 16 in the home of the bride's parents, 2202 Runnels.

The bride is the former Ester Lou Stuteville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Stuteville. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Owenses of Big Spring.

The Rev. Ray Myers of the Baptist Mission Church, performed the ceremony before an arch of greenery and white carnations.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a ballerina length dress of eyellet embroidered organdy over white taffeta. Nylon organdy mitts pointed over her hands. Her small hat was white straw trimmed with pearls and a veil. She carried a white Bible topped with white carnations and sweet peas.

Maid of honor, Jan Gregg, chose a ballerina length pink eyellet organdy dress and pink accessories. Her corsage was white carnations.

Candlelighter, sister of the bride, Edith Carol Stuteville, wore a yellow organdy dress and white carnations.

Best man was Ike Rupert.

At the reception, the bride's table was laid with a lace table cloth centered with an arrangement of white carnations and green fern. Cake and punch were served by Mrs. Foye Gregg, and Mrs. Emmitt Randell. Mrs. Rubin Steadman was at the guest register.

The bride attended Big Spring High School and is now employed at Cowper Clinic and Hospital. The bridegroom also attended Big Spring High School.

'ROUND TOWN

With Lucille Pickle

We had the best visit with Mrs. Albert Fisher Sr. who lives in St. Louis, Mo. but who spends so much time here that it seems she never left home. She lived here for many years and her husband operated an outstanding department store. It's nice for her son, Edward, to be back in the merchandising business at The Little Shop. Mrs. Fisher came here early in the week to see her other son, Albert, who was here from his home in Corning, Calif. She planned to leave this morning by train for Corning where she will make an extended visit with Albert and his wife. She tells us that two years ago she and a St. Louis friend made the same European trip that Mrs. Betty Ratliff and Colleen Slaughter are now making.

Frances Crabtree and Mrs. Allan Holmes have left on a vacation trip to points in Mississippi and Georgia where Allan Holmes is in ROTC camp. Little 17-month-old Glenda Holmes is staying with her grandmother, Mrs. Edward Crabtree, and her aunt, Mrs. Glenn Cantrell.

Jean Rogers of Colorado City is visiting with Glenna Coffey. She studied at the University of Texas for the first semester and plans to enter Abilene Christian College in the fall. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Rogers, are former residents of Big Spring. He is now farming out of Colorado City and Mrs. Rogers operates a cafe in Westbrook.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Tom Coffey of San Antonio visited here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Coffey last weekend. He is doing pre-med work at St. Mary's this summer and hopes to enter medical school in Houston this fall. Mrs. Coffey plans to teach in Houston.

Mr. and Mrs. Tracy Smith and Robert have returned from Los Alamos where they visited with their daughter and her family. Mr. and Mrs. George Ragsdale and son, Walter Tracy.

The Adolf Swartzes are all back home again. Sandra has returned from a visit with a friend at Neuilly-on-the-Seine, France, and has a very striking new French hair cut. Her parents have recently returned from Long Beach, Calif.

Here it is only the middle of July and merchants have been thinking about fall all summer. The Kid's Shop is really getting a face lifting. All the furniture is being painted a beautiful pink in preparation for the fall season.

Furniture man, O. G. Burns, manager of Wheat's, and David Elrod, are to be in Dallas this week for the furniture show. The Elrods plan to leave here early Sunday morning in time for church in Fort Worth.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Gilliland, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Woods and their mother, Mrs. Annie Henderson, spent this weekend in Guymon, Okla. where they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Henderson. Mrs. Annie Henderson has been visiting with her daughter and son, Mrs. Gilliland and Mr. Woods, for two weeks and after her Oklahoma trip will return to her home in Dallas.

Mrs. Alice Riggs has been visiting with her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Anderson, in Odessa, and her son, Jack Riggs and family, in Midland. Susan Sherer was the name given to the newest little daughter of the Riggses. She is now one month old.

Mr. and Mrs. John Stanley Jr. were to return tonight from a weekend trip to Amarillo. They recently spent a week in Ruidoso.

Some folks are just always getting overlooked and Mrs. John Stanley Sr. says she's one of them. When the Morning Peeper came peeping around her neighborhood, everyone got mentioned but her, and it wouldn't have been so bad but she was mowing the lawn and that she would like for people to know. Mr. Stanley has risen to his defense to say he was just up from an operation.

Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Horton are expected here soon from their home in Alexandria, La. Their son, Tommy, has been here several weeks and is staying with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Dyer, on their farm near Ackerly. The Hortons will visit with her sister, Mrs. Dortha Adams.

Mrs. John P. Miller of Houston left today after visiting a week in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Shepherd, in Coahoma. Her two children, Butch and Phyllis Ann, will visit here with their other grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Abe Bailey, until August. Mr. Miller brought his family here last weekend and had a short visit with his grandmother, Mrs. J. B. Nail, and other relatives. He is with the General Electric Corp. in Houston.

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Blair had as guests this week, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Liles Sr. of Truth-or-Consequences, N. M.

Billy Martin just has six more weeks on his job in Wytheville, Va. before he comes back home to visit with his folks, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Martin. He attended school at Howard Payne last year.

Mrs. C. E. Read will accompany Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Read and their daughters, Cheryl and Cathy, to Austin where she will visit with her sister, Mrs. J. L. Gray. The Ellis Reads will continue on to Houston where they will be the guests of their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Ellis. They plan to be gone a week.

Mrs. James Clayton and children, Tara, Julie and Jim, and Ben Richbourg, have been visiting here with her sister, Wilrena Richbourg, from their home in O'Donnell. The Clayton's farm received six inches of rain and a complete new layer of top soil from the neighboring farms.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Phillips are taking their daughters, Carol, Linda and Marilyn, on a sightseeing tour through South Texas this week. They plan to visit several cities and will go all the way to Brownsville.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Clark and daughter, Jackie and Barbara left early Sunday for Carlsbad, N. M. where they will go through the caverns. Later they plan to go to Parsons, Kan., where they will vacation with her parents. The girls will remain for several weeks after their parents return here.

Miss Moore Is Wed To Donnie W. Rowland

Before an altar arch of candelabra flanked with baskets of white flowers and palms, Mary Ann Moore, Route Two, became the bride of Donnie W. Rowland, Denver City, at 8 p.m. Saturday.

The parents of the bride are Mrs. L. E. Rosser, Route Two, and A. B. Moore, Gall Road. Mr. Rowland's parents are Mrs. Vernon Hart, Marshall, and W. D. Rowland, 107 W. 21.

T. H. Tarbet, pastor of the Fourth and Benton Church of Christ, performed the informal double ring ceremony at the Trinity Baptist Church.

"Wedding Prayer" and "Because" were sung by Jackie Shirley who was accompanied by Mrs. H. M. Jarratt.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a waist length white chantilly lace over tulle and taffeta dress. The bodice which came to a point at the waist had a scalloped V-shaped neckline accented with seed pearls. Long sleeves came to points over the hands. The fingertip veil of nylon tulle was attached to a Juliet cap covered with lace and taffeta with seed pearls. She carried a white Bible topped with white feathered carnations.

Maid of honor, Claudette Moore, sister of the bride, chose a princess line dress of pink crystalite. Bridesmaids, Becca Sewell and Mrs. Lewis Overton, wore identical dresses of aqua crystalite. All attendants carried pink colonial bouquets.

Bob Eisler served as best man. Robert Mitchell and J. D. Rowland were groomsmen and ushers.

Candlelighters were Sarah Jane Woods, cousin of the bride, and Rufus Don Rowland, brother of the bridegroom.

At the reception in the church parlor, the bride's bouquet served as the centerpiece on the refreshment table, laid with a lace cloth, the three tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, was served by Norma Blount, Mrs. Bob Eisler, Mrs. S. D. Tarver and Mrs. Claudia Carter. Mary Beatrice Low was in charge of the register.

When the couple left for a wedding trip to Ruidoso, N. M., the bride wore an avocado linen duster over matching silk print dress. Her accessories were black.

A graduate of Forsan High School and Howard County Junior College, the bride was formerly employed by the Pioneer Builders Construction Company.

Mr. Rowland is a graduate of Marshall High School and Daniel Baker College in Brownwood. He is now with the Texas Oil Company in Denver City, where the couple will make their home.

Wedding guests from out of town included Miss Blount, Fort Worth; Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Tarver, Colorado City; Mrs. Vernon Hart, Marshall; Bill Robertson, Colorado City, and Mr. and Mrs. Overton, Odessa.

Friendship Class Has Social Meet

STANTON — Mrs. Clyde Miller was hostess recently to the Baptist Friendship Sunday School Class for their monthly social. Mrs. Walter Graves was cohostess.

Mrs. J. W. Weddel appointed a nominating committee of Mrs. Graves, Mrs. Leo Adkins, and Mrs. N. I. Sorrels.

Mrs. Waymon Etchison, teacher of the class, brought the devotion, followed by a prayer offered by Mrs. Claude Nowling.

Games were played under the direction of Mrs. Nowling. Refreshments were served to sixteen.

Miss Clanton Becomes Bride Of Mr. Welsh

In a semi-formal double ring ceremony at 6 p.m. Friday, Doris Clanton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest L. Clanton, Gall Route, became the bride of Stephen Welsh, son of Mrs. Freida Welsh, Guymon, Okla.

The ceremony was performed by the uncle of the bride, the Rev. Paul Clanton of Roswell, N. M., on the lawn of the bride's home.

Piano wedding music was played by Martha Summerford of Ralls. She accompanied Mrs. Deryl LaMunyon of Laverne, Okla., as she sang "I Love You Truly." The bridegroom sang "Because."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a ballerina length gown of white crystalite over satin. The bodice featured a high neck with a round collar trimmed with white daisies and cap sleeves. The full skirt was scattered with white daisies also. Her shoulder length veil was attached to a satin cap covered with seed pearls. She carried an arm bouquet of red roses.

Her only attendant, Thelma Clanton, maid of honor and sister of the bride, wore a ballerina length blue dress and carried a colonial nosegay of blue carnations.

Larry Welsh of Guymon, Okla., served as his brother's best man. Flower girl was Evelyn Jo Clanton, sister of the bride, and Kenneth Clanton, brother of the bride, was ring bearer.

At the reception in the home of the bride's parents, the refreshment table was covered with a white lace cloth centered with a red rose bouquet. The three-tiered wedding cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom. Mrs. Merv Ringener of Big Spring and La Vonna Webb of Guymon, Okla., served the punch and cake.

Sister of the bridegroom, Margaret Welsh from Guymon, Okla., was in charge of the guest register.

For traveling to New Mexico, the bride chose a charcoal gray suit with white accessories.

The bride is a graduate of Ackery High School and worked for Thomas, Thomas and Jones, attorneys, before attending Apostolic Faith Bible School at Baxter Springs, Kan. Mr. Welsh is a graduate of Guymon High School and has served two years in the U.S. Army. He also attended Apostolic Faith Bible School. The couple plans to enter evangelistic work.

Out of town wedding guests included the Rev. and Mrs. Charles

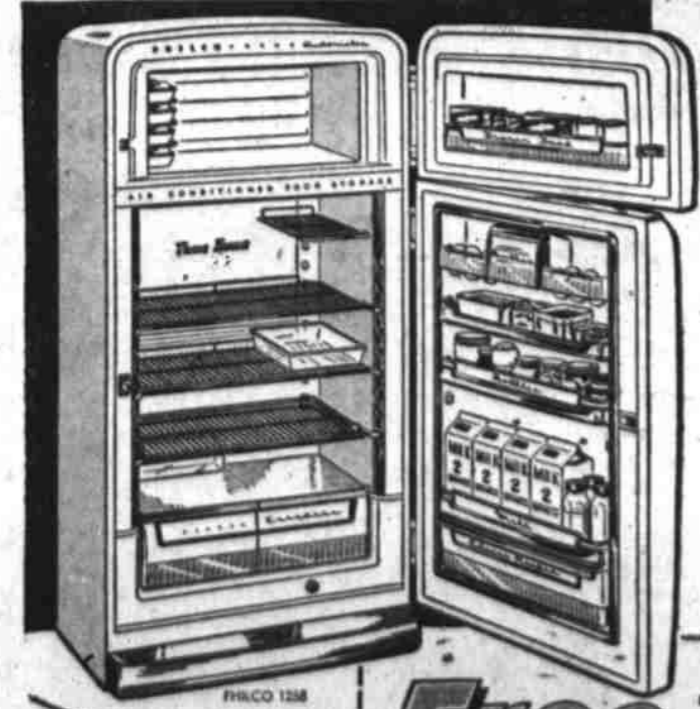

O. Mahan, Wichita, Kan.; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Morris, Hardesty, Okla.; the Rev. and Mrs. Doyle Wiles, Laverne, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. Elton Clanton and family, Seminole; Veda B. Welsh, Austin Morgan, Guymon, Okla.; Odessa Summerford, Ralls; Shirley Fish, Balbo, Okla.; Martha and Janice Ferguson, Dumas; Mrs. Bill Parker, Ackery; Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Regier, Snyder; Mrs. H. E. McBeth, Seagraves; Ruth Edna Busch, Rockdale; Mrs. Hardy Hughes, Lamesa; and Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Hughes, Knott.

Texas Size Squash

Mrs. Nellie Barton, 606 E. 16th, proudly displays the giant squash that she has grown in her back yard.

Mrs. Barton's Squash Is Grandpappy Of All

By JOYCE CONNAWAY

A giant squash, Texas size, is on a huge vine at 606 E. 16th, and what's more, it is still growing! The owner and cultivator of this yellow watermelon looking vegetable is Mrs. Nellie Barton.

A spry little lady of 80 years old, Mrs. Barton explained that she received the squash seed from her son-in-law, J. E. Barber of Big Lake. A man in Fort Worth had given him the seed and told him that they were "something fine."

Mrs. Barton does not remember just when she planted the seeds, but does recall that they were just peeping through the ground when Big Spring had its last hard freeze and the plant was killed back. Then following the spring rains, the plant made quite a comeback.

The two squash plants cover a backyard area of approximately nine yards by five yards square. Looking through elephant ear size green leaves are many yellow squashes. The granddaddy of them all measures 24 inches long and 18 inches across.

When Mrs. Barton discovered this squash, it was rather large, so she decided to let it grow and just see how big it would really get.

Of course it is too large and old to eat, and besides, if it were good, the Bartons would be eating squash for a year. She does plan to keep the seeds, though. "Some people say they are banana squash, but they certainly don't taste like bananas," she said laughingly.

Also in her garden, Mrs. Barton has okra and onions. Gardening is her favorite hobby. She used to live in the country where she really grew lots of vegetables. "My garden gives me something to live for," she explained.

IT DOESN'T ALWAYS PAY TO BE BRAVE...

Adults too often will put on a show of courage with a "cold," rather than retire and rest—and call the Doctor. Pneumonia sometimes attacks such stalwarts.

Do not try to be brave with a "cold," however simple. Follow the well-established guidance—rest, eat a well-balanced diet, and drink plenty of water and fruit juices. If symptoms persist, call your Doctor promptly, while there is still time for treatment of the current illness and prevention of possible hazardous complications. If medicines are indicated, we will be happy to render the best in Pharmaceutical service in filling your Doctor's prescriptions.

HI--TALK

By Mary Sue Hale

It's "Youth Week" next week at the First Methodist Church and the young people of that church will show their skill in the participation and leadership of much of the work and responsibility of that church for seven days. Activities are being planned for each night beginning at 7 which will include eating, recreation programs of worship and other church activities. You are cordially invited to attend any or all of these programs.

Posters of the revival meeting to be held July 24-31 by the East Fourth Baptist Church were made by volunteer workers from the YWA group of the church. Paty Reaves, Francis Rice, Neida Williams, Anna Belle Lane, Maxine Stocks, Mollie Henson and their sponsor, Mrs. C. A. Tom make up the organization.

All Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y members planning to attend the annual Hi-Y training camp have signed up, and the three sponsors have been decided upon. George Oldham will be in charge of the group with the assistance of June Day and Dorothy Cauble.

The San Antonio "Y" Camp, which will be held August 21-25, will be attended by Jacqueline Smith, Richard Engle, Bennie Compton, Gary Tidwell, Sue Barnes, Mary Sue Hale, Carroll Glenn, Cecelia McDonald, Wesley Grigsby, Buddy Barnes, Danne Green, Mary Lane Edwards, Judy Cauble, Clyde McMahon, Jerry McMahan, Dennis Jones and Franklin Williamson.

The group met Saturday afternoon at the YMCA for instructions and a group discussion. Best wishes to Patti Bond and Bobby Phillips, who were married Thursday evening. The will live here until fall, then move to Fort Worth, where Bobby will enter a seminary there.

Bettie Anderson holder of the state office of Grand Service in the Order of Rainbows for Girls, will be a traveling companion of Neida Pittman of Midland, who holds the state office of Grand Immortality in Rainbows. They will attend banquets and meetings with other grand officers from various Texas towns in Houston, Beaumont, Baytown, Galveston and Port Arthur. An all-day swimming party in the Shamrock Hotel swimming pool is one of the main events Bettie and the other girls are looking forward to. Bettie left Friday and will return to Big Spring next Saturday.

Bobby Blum, Joe Daws, Linda Nichols, Sue Boykin, Jerry Graves, Luan White, Gerald Lackey, Marylee James, David Dibrell, Bettie Anderson, and Richard Engle are of the members in the Senior Department of the First Methodist Church who were feted with a Mexican supper in J. T. Baird's back yard Tuesday night. The group sang Mexican songs and played Mexican games to carry out the theme completely.

The Life-Saving Course being offered at the City Swimming pool is being taken by Annette Boykin, Kathy McRee, Cecelia McDonald, Jackie Johnson, and Nancy Smith. Olen Puckett instructs these hour classes from 5:30 to 6:30 on week day evenings. Certificates will be awarded after 15 hours of active swimming have been completed.

Don Rogers of Vernon visited Charlene Lansing Saturday and Sunday. Don is a graduate of Vernon High School.

Julie Wainwater returned to Big Spring last Saturday after spending about 10 days fishing near Lake City, Colo., with a group of other Big Springers.

A few of the couples on the M.Y.F. of the First Methodist Church's hayride Thursday, 8-11 mean shrouded paper ride, were Sue Boykin, Jerry Graves; Marylee James, David Dibrell; Luan White, Gerald Lackey; Richard Engle, Melva Turner; Adrienne Smith and Preston Mason.

School teenage group. Socials will continue to be provided on Thursday evenings throughout the summer by various groups of young people.

All senior girls will be notified by staff members of El Rod-o to make an appointment with Barr's Photocenter at their earliest convenience during the next three weeks for their next year's school pictures. If for some reason you are not contacted, you are expected to make the appointment and have your photograph made anyway. Sophomore, Junior, and Senior boys will be photographed following the opening of school in the fall.

Some of the young people of the Trinity Baptist Church will be leaving Monday morning for the Silver State Youth Camp in Englewood, Colo. Included in the group planning to make the trip are Patsy and Corky Deal, Annette Minor, Frankie Brown, Tony Hampton, Larry Stevenson, Patricia James, Jimmy Allen, Dixie Todd, Darlene Kennedy, Michael Robertson, Kenneth Hammack, Charles Nance, Mary Ivey, Barbara Davidson, Patsy Hayworth, Judy Davidson, T. L. Kennedy, Boyce Sneed, Tommy Matthews, and Carol Hanson. The group will travel by bus to the camp, where they plan to stay for a week. There will be many inspirational services and recreation will be supplied in abundance.

Picnicking, swimming and quite a bit of shopping are being enjoyed by Barbara Coffey in Waco. She has been there for about 8 days and plans to remain until later on in the week.

A former hometown is being visited by Barbara Shields. She left yesterday for Guymon, Okla., and she and her family will probably go on to Red River and, then to Mexico before coming home August 7th.

Londa Coker is vacationing with her family in several parts of California. She is planning to stop and visit Sheila Sutphen if her home is on the route to their destination. Grand Canyon will be visited by Frances Reagan, as the Horace Reagans are on a 10-day vacation trip through Arizona and New Mexico.

A group of high school boys consisting of Jerry Graves, Jerry Barron, Lefty Reynolds, Bounce Covert, Ronnie King, Riss and Ross Roberts, and Brick Johnson spent Saturday and Sunday fishing at Lake Phantom at Abilene.

Youth Night is at the First Baptist Church every Friday night. A variety of entertainment is planned for Intermediates, Seniors, and Young People beginning at 7:40. Included is volleyball, shuffleboard and other active games, table games, singing, food, occasional films, hayrides, etc. Join in on the fun and fellowship and a benefit for you is guaranteed.

Play Table Tip

An ideal base for juvenile activities is a rubber topped play table. It's easy to renovate a beat-up coffee table by covering with rubber tile, impervious to dents, spilled ink, paint, glue. Scrape off the table's finish. Lay out rubber tiles in desired pattern and glue tiles in place with a special rubber adhesive. You may also cut them into desired shapes with a flooring knife.

New Travel Soap

A new travel soap is packaged in tiny bags for washing hands and lingerie while traveling on planes, trains or in an automobile. The bags may be discarded after each use.

ELEGANT SIMPLICITY

Princess Line Dress Has Contrasting Panel, Bow

Jo Copeland is one of America's top designers of elegant frocks. An illustration on this is her latest design 1227.

Here is an uncluttered princess line dress that is very effective with a front panel and bow of contrasting fabric. Even in one color, many flattering combinations are possible by using dull fabrics with satin for contrast.

This pattern is cut to DESIGNER MEASUREMENTS, not Standard Pattern Measurements.

Size 10, bust 34, waist 24, hips 35 inches; size 12, bust 35, waist 25, hips 36 inches; size 14, bust 36 1/2, waist 26 1/2, hips 37 1/2 inches; size 16, bust 38, waist 28, hips 39 inches; size 18, bust 40, waist 30, hips 41 inches.

Size 12 requires 4 1/2 yards of 39-inch material for dress and 1 1/2 yards of 39 inch material for contrast.

To order Pattern No. 1227, address SPADEA SYNDCATE, INC., P. O. Box 535, P. O. Dept. B-5, New York 1, N. Y. State size. Send $1.00. Airmail handling 25 cents extra.

Ann Crocker Feted With Tea, Shower

A bridal tea, given Thursday evening, was a pre-nuptial affair for Ann Crocker, bride-elect of Bill Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Crocker, she will be wed on Aug. 13.

Hostesses for the party, which was given in the Lawrence Robinson home, were Mrs. Robinson, Mrs. C. M. Weaver, Mrs. Gene Smith, Mrs. Harvey Wooten, Mrs. R. R. Nobles, Mrs. Bob Satterwhite and Jean and Jane Robinson.

Mrs. Robinson greeted guests and presented the honoree and her mother, Miss Crocker wore a cotton dress, princess-style, of aqua. It was fashioned with V-neck and a long-torso bodice, attached to a full skirt. Her accessories and pumps were white, and she wore a white carnation corsage.

Mrs. Smith registered guests at a table decorated with an aqua chrysanthemum, the chosen color of the bride.

The refreshment table was laid with a white organdy cloth, floor length, trimmed with aqua ribbons. Centered with an arrangement of aqua chrysanthemums in combination with a bride figurine underneath a parasol, the table held crystal serving appointments.

Mrs. Nobles and Mrs. Weaver, Mrs. Wooten and Mrs. Satterwhite alternated in serving. About 32 guests called during the party hours.

Presbyterian Women Plan Outdoor Party

COAHOMA — The Women of the Presbyterian Church met in the home of Mrs. A. D. Shive for the regular Bible study recently. Mrs. Lin Crossman gave the opening prayer and a business meeting followed. A lawn church supper was planned for August 10th and each family is asked to bring a basket lunch.

Mrs. H. L. Stamps reported that she had ordered fourteen more place settings of the silver, which will make a total of thirty eight. Also she urged the ladies to continue to bring their coupons on this as the church needs fifty settings.

Mrs. C. H. DeVaney was leader of the Bible study from Romans 1:17. Theme "Faith and Spirit" and "Let's Talk About It" was the subject chosen by Mrs. H. E. Fowler. Mrs. Dick Copeland gave the closing prayer. Refreshments were served to eight members and a visitor, Mrs. Dick Copeland.

Mr. and Mrs. George Warren recently visited in Oklahoma on vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Greenfield are vacationing in South Dakota.

Mrs. Rachel Morgan is spending this week on vacation in Ruidoso, N. M.

A Bible Thought For Today

The sun shall be no more thy light by day; neither for brightness shall the moon give light unto thee; but the LORD shall be unto thee an everlasting light, and thy God thy glory. (Isaiah 60:19)

Editorial

Study-And, We Hope, Action

We were fortunate in more ways than one by reason of Tuesday's rains. Had the pattern been reversed — as it was in May of 1954 — Big Spring would have experienced another severe flooding of its western lowlands. Fortunately, the southeast part of town caught the brunt of the thunderstorm this time, permitting the excessive runoff to flow off without having to go through all of the city. Most of it was out of the way before the relatively modest overflow from the west came down the draw. You might call it luck, too, that our city did not experience anything such as the rains at Lamesa (five inches or more) or eastern Dawson County (where 10 to 12 inches were reported).

Only recently the matter of taking action to mitigate or solve the problem was revived from the sweet repose to which it had been consigned for an entire year. The City of Big Spring and Howard County got together and agreed to call in an engineer to make a survey and come up with recommendations. This is hardly what one would call lightning progress, but at the same time it is far better than letting the project die of complete atrophy.

It is our hope that the engineer will be put to work forthrightly and that both the city and the County will be diligent in calling for progress reports to the end that this study will drift into the cobwebs behind some drawing board.

If we seem to place a degree of urgency upon this, we do so not alone out of a feeling that it is important, but even more out of a premonition that projects which offer only negative returns (costs inflicted to prevent losses) are more easily orphaned than those which offer more positive results (such as visual civic improvements or production of offsetting revenues).

The matter of dealing with floods in Big Spring and surrounding lowland areas bids fair to be the best studied and debated public issue in quite some time. Perhaps within this year the groundwork will have been laid for some concrete, systematic action.

Hollywood Review

Groucho Gets New Studio

HOLLYWOOD — Groucho Marx tells a fabulous tale about how NBC is building a film studio for him.

This will no doubt cause consternation all the way up to Pat Weaver, but the Grouch doesn't care.

The story is this: Groucho has filmed "You Bet Your Life" at the NBC studios since the show's inception. The unions don't ordinarily allow filming at a live TV studio, but an agreement was reached to allow an exception.

The agreement was running out, and the network looked around for an alternate site. A couple of places around Hollywood were considered. The brass came to Groucho with the proposal of filming the show at those spots.

"No," replied Groucho. "I want to work at NBC."

"But that means we will have to build a whole new studio for filming," they protested. "It will cost $15,000. We can't do that."

"Okay with me. Luckily I have saved my money. You can get another boy."

"But Groucho..."

And so they built the brand new studio for Groucho. His reasoning is: "If they can spend fabulous amounts of money on big shows with hundreds of dancing girls, they can build me a new studio. Those shows sometimes don't get much of a rating, but the old man on the stool has been among the top five or seven shows since he went on the air."

Military Alliances Among Roadblocks To Peace

GENEVA — If a demonstration had been needed of how long and difficult is the road to any real settlement between East and West it has been provided early at this conference. Stretching far beyond the week-long meeting, that road may prove ultimately to be impassable. But given the resolute optimism of President Eisenhower on the one hand and the Russians on the other, it seems certain to be explored at much greater length.

That is why reports, which have the "Eden Plan" rejected by Soviet Premier Bulganin and the conference "deadlocked" while true are in a sense irrelevant. The same old roadblocks loom up as in the past but they are seen today from a different perspective. It is the perspective of men who are saying not that they have said before that this is hopeless, but that somehow these obstacles must be removed.

As anyone with the slightest knowledge of the past might have foreseen, the two principal roadblocks are, first and most obviously, reunification of Germany and second, the frozen military pattern of alliances. The latter, of course are NATO in the West and its synthetic counterpart, the pact of Warsaw which is in essence the Soviet Union with its satellites held in an official embrace in the East.

American preparation for the Geneva Conference included a careful presentation of NATO as defensive in character and peaceful in intent. American officials from Secretary of State Dulles on down proclaimed to each other that NATO, with its offspring, the Western European Union, was the greatest instrument for controlling and limiting armaments that had ever been seen.

With some qualifications of modesty this was the appeal that Eisenhower made, as one soldier to another, to his old comrade, Zhukov. But this appeal was not successful for reasons inherent in the history and the nature of NATO.

Bulganin promptly pointed out that Russia had asked to join NATO and had been refused admission to the club. And while it is not literally true that Moscow stood on the doorstep asking to be let in, the suggestion was raised after the Berlin conference of 1954 and it was perfectly apparent that Russia would have under no circumstances been accepted.

NATO, as everyone knows, was an outgrowth of the Marshall Plan, formed to enable Western Europe with the cooperation of Great Britain and America to build a military counterweight to the Soviet's vast armament. NATO's success is one reason this conference could take place. British and American troops are in Soviet territory only as a token barrier to Soviet expansion, and NATO forces with American equipment have at least in part filled the vacuum of power that was so appallingly evident at the end of World War II.

So now Russia proposes, in effect, joining the NATO and Warsaw alliances. And in his opening speech French Premier Faure said he saw no reason why a "fusion" of these forces could not take place. This suggestion caused considerable irritation in the American delegation, since such a fusion would constitute at least tacit acceptance of the status of the satellites.

But there is another reason why the reaction to this suggestion should be hostile, and that is the fact that NATO today is in the midst of something like an internal crisis. Although the facts of this crisis are surely known to Soviet intelligence, every effort has been made to conceal the dilemma confronted by the commanders of the Western Alliance.

As learned by this reporter, the facts in broad outline are as follows. In late April, just before the May meeting of NATO Foreign Ministers, General Gruenther, Supreme Commander, presented a report on capabilities that was sharply critical of the failure of most of the NATO powers to live up to their commitments to the alliance. After a considerable controversy Gruenther agreed that this report should be temporarily set aside and not circulated among governments of the member countries for fear that it would cause serious political repercussions. As a compromise it was tentatively decided that NATO defense ministers would hold a special meeting in October when they would be confronted with the facts of life and told that they must make a greater effort to live up to their commitments.

Whether this meeting will be held is still uncertain. There are pressures to put off such an unpleasant showdown.

But with a direct bearing on the discussions at this conference and the prolonged negotiations presumably to follow, the issue of Western strength is sharply raised. As Dulles has so often said, the reality of Western strength made discussion on more or less equal terms possible. But if that strength has reached its peak and it is in fact declining—as an example, take the dispatch of French units from NATO to North Africa—to try to put down the rebellion there—the West has a very immediate reason for negotiating a settlement. And if NATO is faced with an internal crisis while the Warsaw pact is held together by Russian authoritarian controls, then fusion from the viewpoint of the West would be an unwarranted hazard.

Western ambassadors in Moscow, here for this conference, have never suggested that it was internal weakness which compelled the Soviets to come to Geneva. It was not weakness which persuaded the leaders of the West to make this trial of a possible peace. But also it is true that both sides are suffering under the fearful continuing burden of armaments, nuclear and conventional, and both sides understand the import of another world conflict. That is the common ground on which they stand at Geneva.

-WHO REFUSES TO STOP AND REST-

The Sleepy Driver—

J. A. Livingston

Ike Helped At Geneva By Nation's Economic Strength

President Eisenhower's great strength at the Geneva conference was a chart — a chart of America's postwar prosperity. The President didn't have to hang it on the wall or put it on the table. It was imbedded in the minds of all "at the summit," and, particularly, the Russians.

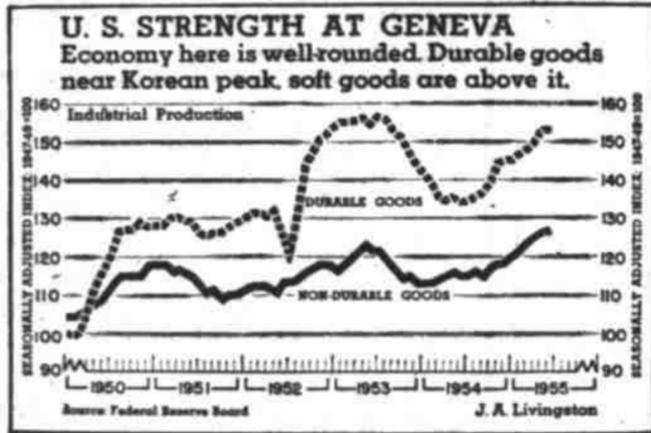

This country's economic expansion has become a wonder of the world — admired and envied. To the Russians, it is a surprise, an upset of their calculations and predictions. When World War II ended, Russian economists confidently expected a major depression similar to that which followed World War I. Russian economic literature was full of it.

Reasoned the Russians: Prosperity in capitalist countries depends on exploitation of the workers — sales of goods at high prices. When sales of consumer goods slip, because workers are bought up and have no money, depression follows. Then corporations are driven to find foreign markets. Inevitably, this leads to competition, economic conflict, and war between capitalist nations.

An American depression, gloated the Russians, would demonstrate to France and Italy, countries in which Communist parties had a political strength, the instability of capitalism. It would raise the dead hand of Karl Marx in victory.

For a month or two in 1947 and for longer spells in 1949-50 and 1953-54, this baneful prophecy seemed about to come true. American production dropped. Indeed, in 1949, European countries, oppressed by a dollar shortage, curtailed purchases from the U. S. The American colossus was pulling down the world. But none of these declines got far. No bingo for Marx.

Worse, early in the postwar era, Dr. Eugen S. Varga, the Soviet's foremost economist, declared the Marxist theory of capitalism outdated. At least, it didn't apply to eras being exploited by the American capitalist. Labor was becoming powerful and influential in U. S. politics. It wasn't oppressed. Moreover, a postwar American depression, which would upset the world, wasn't a sure bet. American world economically production of goods and services has just reached an all-time record — $383,000,000,000, an impressive 10 per cent above a year ago. And it isn't because the heavy industries — the war industries — are setting records which would fit the Marxist notions.

Actually, durable goods production, because of short strikes in steel and automobiles during June, are below the peaks in 1953. But nondurable goods — chemical and petroleum products, paper and printing, goods and beverages, yes, and even textiles — have been pushing up (see chart).

Just when America is doing so well, the new rulers of Russia are coping with Stalin's legacy. Agricultural output is not sufficient to meet the country's needs. Satellite countries have been forced to seek wheat in Canada. Yet, Russia, over the years, has been an exporter of grain. In the face of such troubles, Premier Bulganin, Foreign Minister Molotov, and Party Czar Krushchev must win acceptance. It's a task for titans — and time.

The Russians were brought up to adore Stalin. The frontispiece of the first reader for children pictures a benevolent Stalin behind a bank of roses. A beautiful child holds out her hand to touch the flowers. She dared go no closer to this wondrous man! Beside the girl is a boy, equally transfixed in idolatry.

Ponder this: A Russian agricultural mission visits the Midwest. The Russians want to find out how Americans produce such abundance that the government, to help the farmer, has to buy up wheat and corn.

The Russians want butter. Under Stalin, the emphasis was on guns — building up heavy industry. Now, the new rulers are putting out feelers for a world economic conference. They need a breather, a lift, for the Russian people. And the need will persist long after the secretaries and subsecretaries pack the protocol kits at Geneva.

Bible Words for Today

MATTHEW 6:11—"Give us this day our daily bread."

Startling words at the center of the Lord's Prayer. "Give us... daily bread," physical sustenance. All too much religion in the Western World proclaims a split between the spiritual and the material. This was not true with Jesus. The material was an evidence of the spiritual and He kept them together. The abundant production of the earth is evidence of God's concern for physical life. He can produce enough for the need of every human life. The millions who are hungry in this world is the result of man's ingratitude to God. Thus we are unable to find constructive ways to distribute daily bread.

Here is where we should begin to defeat Communism. We can think and be thankful. Then, we can find the way to extend His kingdom of love for all men and the whole of their lives upon this earth.

Around The Rim Accomplished Musician Becomes Band Librarian

Note that somebody would like to start a symphony group in Big Spring. I cherish a hope to get in on such a thing, but a certain reticence holds me back.

You see, it is one of the darker aspects of my life that I once tooted a saxophone. I suspect that this does not qualify me for symphonic work.

However, I can claim some versatility in a thwarted musical career. This started at the piano, but after a couple of years even my dotting Mother concluded that nothing whatsoever could come of this. She was wrong. I still play Chop Sticks with one finger.

But when the ghost was given up on making me a Librarian, a compromise was effected whereby I might aspire to the Colorado Municipal Band. This was a sharp organization in those days, responsive to the graceful baton of one M. Samuel Goldman. Well, I blew and squeaked my C Melody for some months, and one night mustered up the courage to ask for a position in the town band. I think about the second or third night of rehearsals there came a little two-measure solo passage for my part. Everybody else came to his pause, and Maestro Goldman turned to me, an anticipatory smile upon his countenance. I got red in the face, lost my breath and finally came out with a couple of shrieking sounds. Bad reed in the sax, you know. Maestro Goldman stood it as long as he could, then announced the band should turn to No. 37 and forget the piece we were just working on. Next meeting, he called me aside and said it was nice to have me in the organization, but wouldn't I like to be the band librarian?

Well, I got on to college, and managed to get myself enrolled in the Hardin-Simmons Cowboy band. This, too, was an up-and-coming aggregation, given to traveling to various and sundry points around the world. You had to be pretty good to get to make the trips.

Prof. Dewey Wiley was the director on this one. He quickly got me shifted off the C Melody for a B-flat tenor, thinking, I suppose, that this would make less noise. I was even given an opportunity to play in a saxophone quartet, a specialty act, no less. I came to learn later that the quartet disbanded when the other three members refused to play if I appeared. And after a few months, Prof. Wiley and the band manager came to me and said it was nice to have me in the organization, and wouldn't I like to be the band's publicity manager?

I settled for this, but I want proudly to record one other item—and this gets down to my versatility. The bass drummer in the band in those days had a fine habit of turning up sick on the morning the Cowboy band had its longest parades. Can't say as I blame him. But when he failed to appear, there was nobody else around to shoulder that drum. I did it. I have marched, by actual count, 3,342 miles down the main streets and side streets of such assorted cities as Little Rock, Birmingham, Tampa, Washington, D. C., Chicago and Paducah, Texas, as a drummer with the Cowboy band. And me, all the time, a saxophone player!

But back to this local symphony. I have pondered the fact that I took a turn at the piano, the saxophone and the drum, not to mention a few side swipes at the clarinet, and this ought to qualify me for a chair in the symphony.

Personally, I would go for the cymbals. Every time I ever saw a symphony orchestra, the man with the cymbals worked about one minute out every two hours. Could even sneak out between clashes, for a smoke and a bit of fresh air.

But, if I live to, I could settle for the post of librarian, or publicity manager.

Norman Vincent Peale Magic Words That Can Change Your Life

Sir James Barrie, author of "Peter Pan," is also famous for a great address on courage. In it, he tells the story of William Ernest Henley, the poet, who was threatened with the loss of a foot as a result of infection.

Henley had gone from doctor to doctor, hopefully. Then he heard of the work of a man named Joseph Lister, a doctor who was using the discoveries of Louis Pasteur to make surgery more antiseptic. Lister was practicing in the old infirmary at Edinburgh and Henley went there hoping Lister would accept him as a patient.

Lister did and Henley spent twenty grim months in that old hospital under the great surgeon's care. He had a very difficult time, but ultimately his foot was saved.

And do you know what Henley was doing during all those desperate months in the hospital? He was writing poetry! And one of those poems many of us learned in school, the one that ends: "I am the master of my fate, I am the captain of my soul."

I have been reading both Barrie's "Courage" and Henley's poem, which is titled "Invictus," in a new book, "The Compact Treasury of Inspiration," a collection of stories, articles, poems and hymns gathered together by my friend, Kenneth Gliniger.

I was asked to write an introduction for this book and, in writing it, I thought about something that happens to me almost every day. Someone comes to see me in my office or speaks to me in a public place. "Things were going badly for me," he may say. "I was unhappy, discouraged, afraid." Then he will reach into his wallet for a faded clipping or into a pocket for a dog-eared book. "But, somehow, I happened to read this — and everything changed for me."

"This" usually turns out to be a verse from the Bible, a poem, a newspaper column, a short story, a book or some other work of inspiration. It may not always be great writing, but it will always have what I like to call a "magic" inspirational quality — the power to change someone's life for the better.

Living words that give you inspiration, courage, confidence, faith, hope, consolation and serenity when you need them are not the property of any one writer or any group of writers. You can find them in many places; but the words that inspire you may not necessarily inspire your neighbor. As fine as they are, their capacity to inspire can be limited.

But there is one class of words whose inspirational power is unlimited — they are dynamic and creative words which can change the life of everyone who reads them and lives by them. We know this is true because we have seen it happen so often — and for thousands of years before our time the life-changing power of the words of the Scriptures have been demonstrated.

A man complained of being "half dead." His energy was low, his creative faculties had gone stale. I gave him a number of Scripture passages to commit to memory and suggested that he saturate his mind with them, letting them soak into his consciousness. He did this and over a period of months had a literal rebirth. He came alive again. He is now a great spiritual influence in his city.

Are you unhappy? Are you depressed? Are you discouraged? Are you really investing your life? Do you feel a need for a great change in yourself? Turn to your Bible and read its healing words. Memorize them and live by them. They will renew your spirit and change your life for the better.

David Lawrence First, Russia Must Have A Free Government

The men who rule Soviet Russia have listened to the fine, friendly words of their colleagues at Geneva and have been wined and dined by them, but the Soviet answer is just the same — the North Atlantic Treaty and the Paris accords drawn up by the West must be scrapped and a new organization established in which Moscow wants to exercise a veto power.

Few persons outside Geneva who are familiar with diplomatic history are surprised by the bold and defiant maneuver which negatives all the words of conciliation that have been uttered before, but again few persons in Geneva probably are surprised either.

For the world's balance of power doesn't change because of a conference of all heads of governments. Nor are the facts of mutual distrust and fear removed by negotiation.

Perhaps the biggest story of the last few days isn't in Geneva at all. It's down in Buenos Aires, where the ferment of discontent is slowly but surely forcing a dictatorship out of power. Previous attempts to remove President Peron have failed, but the murmurs have not been stilled. The fires of revolution are being kindled anew.

Argentina points a lesson to Soviet Russia. For, sooner or later, the people find high up in the armed services men who force the issue and compel the dictators to step down.

It could be that the seeds of revolution in Soviet Russia are being sown by the news emanating from Geneva. For it will be evident to the peoples of the Soviet Union and of the satellite states that there can be no hope of peace and no real relief from the threat of a nuclear war while a dictatorship rules in Moscow. It is being clearly demonstrated that the Communists are vetoing world peace.

The heart of the problem of European security is not in the treaties or proposals for mutual consultation but in the kind of governments that have the responsibility for maintaining peace. The form of government may seem to be an internal matter but the moment any government becomes an external menace the problem is not confined to any one country — it affects a whole continent and perhaps the whole world.

Whether Argentina is a dictatorship doesn't affect world peace, and hence what has been happening under Peron in Argentina is, theoretically, an internal affair, while the Communist government in Moscow is not content to confine its activities to the Soviet Union. It reaches out into all other countries with its plots and subversive activities.

The example of Argentina, however, is significant. For a determined effort prevails there to avoid bloodshed, as the heads of the Army and Navy are engaged in a heroic attempt to restore constitutional government to the people.

When there is a truly free government in Soviet Russia, the signing of an all-European collective security treaty such as Bulganin has proposed would be acceptable to everybody. The words of the proposed text are, with some few exceptions, applicable to a system of European security to which all nations in the West could subscribe — if there were mutual trust. Bulganin, however, has forgotten the main point — the importance of the authority back of the government which is to perform the acts specified in the 50-year treaty.

If there is no authority other than the tyranny of a few men — an oligarchy which rules by force and can start an aggressive war at any moment — then the treaty loses any value it might otherwise have as a means of assuring peace.

If the treaty is backed by a freely elected parliament with constitutional guarantees to the individual citizen, then it could easily become a substitute for the North Atlantic Treaty and the Paris accords when Germany is reunified and has its own national government freely chosen by the people.

There probably is widespread disappointment at the turn of events in Geneva, but the fact is Geneva developments have cleared the air and pointed the real way to peace — through the action of the people of Soviet Russia led by those men who know that the continuance of a dictatorship keeps alive the threat of war, but that the birth of a free government means the death of war.

Years Rest Lightly On Early Day Settler

By ANNE LEFEVER
"When you get to be as old as Methuselah, it's time to stop having birthdays," said Mrs. J. L. Henderson Friday in speaking of her birthday which she was celebrating. Judging from her perky manner and quick wit, you'd never think it was her 94th!

"The birthday girl" was born in Comanche County on July 22, 1841 and was married there to J. L. Henderson when she was 22. Eight of her nine children were born there; one was born in Big Spring, but she did not live long.

Mrs. Emma Franklin of Lamesa and Lee Henderson of St. Anne are two of her children who had arrived for the birthday party. Expected during the day were West, who lives in Big Spring, and Mrs. Minnie Smith of Comanche County.

There are 27 grandchildren, with 31 great-grandchildren. She also has several great-great grandchildren whom she has never seen.

Mrs. Henderson makes her home with two of her sons, Nathan and Ted. She said that Nathan is the cook for the three of them, and "he can beat Betty Crocker at the job!" Especially does Nathan's "banana pudding" hit the spot, according to his mother.

Coming from Comanche County to Mitchell County, where the Hendersons first settled, "took days and days" by ox-wagon. Mrs. Henderson just couldn't remember how long the trip was. After they began their farming and sheep raising, they used the oxen to plow with.

One thing that stands out in her memory is the way she had to plant cotton by hand. It was before her marriage, and she pulled a sack of cotton seed and planted for two farms. Corn was planted in the same way. During the first year or two in Mitchell County, the family lived in a half dugout, but on coming to Howard County they soon had a house—"the first new house in this part of the country." She still lives in the homeplace, about four and a half miles out on the Snyder highway.

Hospitality was always the main thought with this pioneer family, and Mrs. Henderson still remembers how neighbors came from over the county to the dances that were held in their home.

"We had dances regularly," she reminisced, "but I was brought up in the church, and I never danced a step!" Among the good fiddlers, she numbered her husband, Joe, who was also quite a dancer, Jim Winslow, George Rice and Jody Nix.

Friends could always be assured of a good meal, too, and strangers were welcomed. In fact, she insisted that I stay overnight, since it was "getting on toward night." Although it was four-thirty, I assured her that I could make it to town before dark.

"At one time I knew everybody in this country as it was very thinly settled," Mrs. Henderson continued, "and I remember what a time we had with the school."

Most farm families were not able to send their children in to Big Spring for schooling, since it meant boarding them in town. A school was started just east of the Henderson farm with 18 pupils. It was called "Dry Hollow School" as a nickname, but it was really named Henderson—after the family.

Some years later, the school was moved to a new location and was named Center Point. Mrs. Henderson still recalls that a Mr. Nelson gave the school its new title.

During her earlier years, she was quite good at quilting, but now her eyesight doesn't permit that. She enjoys listening to the radio and thinking back over her life, which she says has been a wonderful one. One reason for this is that she "was never contrary" and never allowed herself to get in debt.

"By squeezing her diaphragm" (being thrifty, to you) she has made a home for her children and has kept it free of debt. And, now, her independent spirit still shows when members of the family try to help her get around. As she says, "they all start grabbin' and pullin' at me, and I just want to be let alone!"

Happy Birthday!

Made by one of the granddaughters of Mrs. J. L. Henderson, the birthday cake has a professional look in the gaily colored frosting which tells her age and uses flowers and greenery as decoration.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Fleming Singleton of O'Donnell announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Amanda Ann, to Lt. Byron Morris McKnight. Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Averett and Sue attended funeral services in Coleman of her grandmother, Mrs. E. N. May, who was 101.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Stephenson and Jerry Lynn are on vacation visiting in Wichita Falls, Nocona and Lake Texoma.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Zak of Midland visited her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Chambers. The Zaks will move to Big Spring this week.

From Fairview, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Oglesby and children were guests of his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Oglesby and Albert.

Cheaper By The Dozen

Perhaps it's the first dozen years that are the hardest. The Bureau of the Census says the average American woman has been married about 13 years to the same man. The report also shows that of about 27 1/2 million married women 15 to 59 years old, who were living with their first husbands at the time of the 1930 census, nearly 5.8 million had been married 25 years or more.

Mrs. M. M. Hines has visited with friends in Monahans for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Ledford and Johnny of Sterling City visited friends here Thursday.

Mrs. Mattie Shoultz has returned from Clovis, N. M., where she was the guest of her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Joiner. The Joiners celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary while she was there.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hicks Sr. visited their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hicks Jr., in Odessa.

Visitors here during the week were Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Boyd and children of McCaney at HCJC this past week was a huge success, having 185 students enrolled for it. The class was jointly sponsored by the college and the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce.

Richard Hood, now employed as an asphalt inspector for the Texas Highway Department, dropped by the stand one day of last week. You've probably seen him buzzing around town in his new two-toned (buckskin and white) Ford.

A great many Jayhawkers were very thankful for the rain we had last week. In fact, most of our Aggies have new prospects of good crops this year as a result of it.

I haven't heard if the Lamesa flood affected Dee Phillips or Dennis Phillips in any way, but I'll let you know as soon as I find out.

A home-town buddy of Homer Lucas stopped by the news stand on a recent visit to Big Spring. He reported that Homer is still working for the Highway Department in Lorraine.

Last night Mary Ann Moore took on a new name: Mrs. Donnie Rowland. Another Jayhawker, Carroll Cannon, was married last Monday evening.

Lela Fletcher got a letter from Bobbie Jamison last week. Bob is now working at the Clovis, N. M., National Bank.

Mack Richardson and John Garrison are working for the Texas Electric Service Company; James Day at Hardisty's Drug; Bobby McDonald at S&M Lumber; a d Billy Jenkins at Hamilton's Optometric Clinic.

That's about all the news I have for this week. Soon I will have some information on the annual Lass-O Club summer slumber party, to which all Lass-O's, exes, and girls planning to attend HCJC this fall, will be invited.

'The Seven Little Foys'

Bob Hope Stars In 'Little Foys'

Eddie Foy was not much of a family man. His idea of fulfilling his family obligations was to buy a big house in the country for them and send regular checks to cover the bills. The life of the immortal Eddie Foy and his seven 'little Foys' is the basis for the Ritz opening today: "The Seven Little Foys" starring Bob Hope in Technicolor and VistaVision. Eddie Foy was only a struggling song-and-dance man in a small vaudeville palace, when he met Madeleine Morando, played by Milly Vitale. Eddie cut into a sister act with loud humor which started him on the road to success. But, he had to sign up with the sister act. Although a confirmed bachelor, Eddie fell in love with the beautiful ballerina. He held out as long as possible, but finally married her. Then, with overwhelming regularity, the seven little Foys make their appearance. Eddie once more accepted a single billing in the vaudeville of the day. During his performance in a Chicago theater, a fire broke out and Eddie continued the performance in order to avert a panic. For this act of heroism, he received national recognition and success was officially connected with his name. But he rarely saw his family and his wife, lonely but understandingly, refused to let him know that she was very ill. When Eddie returned to his home-town as a guest of honor, George M. Cohan, master of ceremonies, competed in a challenge dance with him. When he got home, however, he found that his wife had died. The death of his wife was a great shock to Eddie. As a result, he gave up his work and took charge of the seven little Foys, giving them everything he could afford. But the need for money finally drew him back to the stage. In order to keep an eye on the kids, he took them into his act. After he whipped them into shape, their act was a huge success. This film gives Bob Hope a chance to show his acting ability. It is perhaps his first chance to act a really dramatic role, although it is fairly light in spots. The little Foys are remarkable actors and certainly live up to their real-life counterparts. James Cagney steps into this film as Cohan, a part he played exceptionally well in the picture, "Yankee Doodle Dandy." Newcomer to Hollywood Milly Vitale is both dancer and actress in this film, doing both superbly. The picture starts today and plays through Tuesday.

CINEMA COMMENT

By Glenn Coates

There are essential differences in western films. Most of them follow the same pattern as their predecessors, with a familiar plot, but varying in the nature of the action. There is a better type of western though, that is typified by a current picture at the Ritz, "The Man From Laramie." Although it is a better film than the average western, it too, has had other westerns before it that more or less set the pace. But these pictures will rank with the very best pictures of any type to come out of Hollywood. (The others, referred to here, would include "High Noon" with Gary Cooper, "Shane" with Alan Ladd, "Gunfighter" with Gregory Peck, and "Shotgun" with Sterling Hayden.)

In these better type of westerns, Hollywood depends not so much on plot and action, but on development of character. It is this character portrayal that gives American films an edge on producers in other countries. The drama of the taming of the west during the 1800's tells, perhaps, better than any other way, the difficulties which were faced by the early settlers. It is the story of a classic individualism that formed the basis for this country's ideas of freedoms and rights. Thus, some western pictures are more than "just another cowboy picture." They are a short lesson in the cultural foundations of this nation.

Although his reputation as a comedian ushered Bob Hope into the successful ranks, it was his singing voice that got him his first chance at stardom. His warbling in "Roberta" won him his foothold in Hollywood. His latest picture casts him as Eddie Foy in the picture "The Seven Little Foys." He sings nine songs in this one. James Cagney also appears in the film for a brief interlude. He recreates his Academy Award winning role of George M. Cohan to do a short dance with Hope. Cagney is an excellent dancer and the picture "Yankee Doodle Dandy" was one of the better of Hollywood's musicals.

The top ten film moneymakers for the month of June, as reported by "Variety," are:
1. "Strategic Air Command."
2. "Love Me Or Leave Me."
3. "Soldier of Fortune."
4. "The Seven Year Itch."
5. "Cinerama Holiday."
6. "The Sea Chase."
7. "This Island Earth."
8. "Davy Crockett."
9. "This Is Cinerama."
10. "Marty."

Not considering the Cinerama pictures, only "Seven Year Itch," "This Island Earth," and "Marty" have not appeared in Big Spring. However, each one of them will be shown here in the next few weeks.
Horse Race Drama Stars Lloyd Bridges
"Pride of the Blue Grass," a track drama in gorgeous color, will play at the Terrace Drive In Saturday night. The movie stars, Lloyd Bridges, Vera Miles with Margaret Sheridan.
The show tells the story of a race horse that is badly injured his first time on a track, but is brought back to top racing condition by the determination of the girl who owns him.

Western Thriller At State Friday
An exciting western feature, "Treasure of Ruby Hills," starring Zachary Scott and Carole Mathews, is on the bill Friday and Saturday at the State.
The show deals with two warring ranchers who have trouble over the water rights of the range. In the fast-moving story, Scott is a long figure plunged into the midst of a raging range war between three factions.
The movie re-creates the lawless days when rival cattle barons, backed by hired gunmen fought for the grazing lands of the West.

At State

Angela Stevens and Richard Denning star in "Creature With Atom Brain" today through Tuesday on a double feature program.

'Angela' Is On State Program

A cross and a double-cross complicate the murder situation in "Angela" at the State Wednesday and Thursday. The suspenseful film stars Mara Lane and Dennis O'Keefe and was filmed in Italy. O'Keefe falls in love with Angela when he first sees her and later happens into her apartment just after her boss was supposedly died of a heart attack. O'Keefe agrees to get rid of the body so as to avoid a scandal. Before he can do so, Angela's husband, an ex-con, tries to kill O'Keefe and get rid of both bodies at the same time. O'Keefe is too smart for this however, and kills the husband sending both bodies down to the

'Yellow Mountain' At Terrace In Color

Howard Duff, Mala Powers, and Lex Barker star in "The Yellow Mountain" at the Terrace Thursday and Friday. The Technicolor picture concerns the rush and battles for gold in the early mining days of Nevada. Barker and Duff play old pals who meet in Nevada with time flying because of an old grudge. But, they quickly decide that they are good friends in spite of their differences and join hands to hunt for a gold mine.

FUTURE ATTRACTIONS

"The Seven Year Itch" with Marilyn Monroe and Tom Ewell.
"Not As A Stranger" with Olivia DeHavilland, Robert Mitchum, Frank Sinatra, Gloria Grahame, Broderick Crawford.
"Daddy Long Legs" with Fred Astaire.
"Escape To Burma" with Barbara Stanwyck and Robert Ryan.
"Violent Saturday" with Victor Mature.
"Duel In The Jungle" with Dana Andrews and Jeanne Crain.
"The Assassin" with Richard Todd and Eva Bartok.
"The Informer" with Victor McLaglen.

'So Big' Features Hayden, Wyman

Sterling Hayden is the star of "So Big" at the Terrace tonight and Monday. The picture, which co-stars Jane Wyman, Steve Forrest, and Nancy Olson, is centered around the struggles of a farmer and his wife who try to make a living on inferior farm land. Hayden makes an excellent portrayal of the farmer who gets cheated at the market every time he goes to sell his products and Jane Wyman is good as the country school teacher who teaches him arithmetic and finally marries him. They have a son who Jane calls "So Big" and he takes over the farm when his father dies. Improvements to the land make the farm a much better producer and "So Big" earns enough money to attend college. His success after graduation is almost marred when his various love affairs draw him away from his chosen field, architecture.

Warning: Keep Off!

Alex Nicol warns James Stewart to stay off the Barb Ranch in this scene from "The Man From Laramie" at the Ritz starting Wednesday. The film is in CinemaScope and Technicolor.

AT RITZ

Stewart Seeks Vengeance As 'Man From Laramie'

Stewart's problem is to find a man he has never seen. When he arrives at the Barb Ranch, the owner Donald Crisp, the foreman Arthur Kennedy, and Crisp's son, Alex Nicol immediately fear his quiet presence. None of them know why he is there and he is dragged through his own campfire by the sadistic Nicol when he first gets to New Mexico.

In spite of the many attempts on his life, Stewart maintains his search and finally corners his man. But the vengeance he was looking for is much harder than he suspected, for he cannot kill the man in cold blood.

"The Man From Laramie" stars James Stewart at the Ritz starting Wednesday and playing through Saturday. The film is in CinemaScope and Technicolor.

Stewart plays a man who traveled a thousand miles to New Mexico to hunt the man who was responsible for the death of his brother. The hunted man had sold guns to the Apache Indians illegally and the resulting rampage of the savages included the death of Stewart's next of kin.

Kingsville Man Gets Presbyterian Post

WACO (AP)—Dr. S. Brooks McLane Jr. of Kingsville was named moderator-elect for next year's meeting at the Texas Synod, Presbyterian Church U.S. closed its 100th session yesterday. Plans for a $5,525,000 financial campaign were accepted.

'Betrayed' Stars Gable, Turner At Lyric Today

"Betrayed" is the Lyric offering today and Monday. Filmed in color, the picture stars Clark Gable, Lana Turner, and Victor Mature.

The film is a war picture about the plight of the Dutch during the last war. Mature plays an underground agent known only as "The Scarf." He is practically bullet proof as he commits sabotage against the Germans. Gable plays the chief of the Dutch underground with headquarters in England.

Gable sends beautiful Lana Turner to Holland to act as a liaison between the English and Dutch. Shortly after she contacts Mature, his forces begin to fall into traps. Their missions are hampered by the fact that the Germans are expecting them to show up and lie in wait. Mature begins to lose most of his valuable men.

Treachery is expected and Gable comes back to Holland to find out what the trouble is. He suspects that Lana Turner is slipping off Nazi. She is in love with Gable and cannot understand why he suspects her. While investigating the treachery, Gable is led to believe that Mature might be the one that is giving the secrets away.

Then Mature is captured by the Germans and the suspicion is placed once again on Lana Turner. The suspense mounts higher as the audience gets a chance to figure out who is the one that is "betrayed."

The combination of stars in this picture make it a very good one. Gable is his usual best and Lana Turner appears in the picture as a brunette instead of her natural blonde. As the heroic guerrilla leader, Mature has one of his very best roles to date.

'Sinbad The Sailor' Picture Returns To Jet Theatre

"Son Of Sinbad" makes a return engagement to Big Spring tonight and Monday at the Jet Drive In. The picture was filmed in Technicolor and SuperScope around an exciting story of the man who first used the "Greek Fire" in war time.

Stars in the film are Dale Robertson, as the colorful son of the famous Sinbad and Sally Forrest, as his romantic interest. Other stars are Lili St. Cry, Vincent Price and Mari Blanchard. The picture was produced by Howard Hughes, the same man who gave the theater so many spectacular and controversial films.

This picture too has become controversial, being banned in a number of cities throughout the country. The Legion of Decency put the picture on the "forbidden" list. The action takes place in the palace of the Khalif inside Baghdad. The city is besieged by the forces of the mighty Tamerlane and the Khalif is afraid the city will be over-run. About this same time, Dale Robertson is caught visiting the Khalif's harem one time too many and sentenced to the dungeon.

He strikes a bargain with the Khalif, however, and to gain his freedom, he agrees to bring back the legendary Greek Fire to ward off the invaders. The Khalif agrees, and Sinbad, the younger sets out to free the city with forty thieves, but unlike the thieves of his father's time, these are all women. They are, however, the daughters of the original forty thieves.

The excitement does not let up until the final scenes. Of course, the females are just added to liven up the scenery. It is really Vincent Price, playing Omar, the tent-maker, who assists Robertson to obtain the Greek Fire.

WINGS OVER BIG SPRING

Rains Pit Runways At Hamilton Field

The recent rains were not so welcome at the Municipal Airport for two reasons. One, the rain kept most of the flyers grounded, and two, the heavy downpour washed big holes and ditches in the runways. The runways at the air field are little more than cleared ground, according to Barney Edens, manager of the airport. Edens has been busy all week with his tractor grading the runways back down smooth enough for aircraft activity.

Transient traffic passing through Big Spring has picked up quite a bit in the past few weeks, Edens said. The airfield has averaged servicing about two per day.

A new airplane has been hanged at the field and two more have left Big Spring. These changes drops the total of permanently based private aircraft to 17.

The new plane is a Sky Ranger and is owned by B. E. Canant. The plane is a two-place, 85 horsepower, fabric-covered craft. Canant went to Irving to buy the plane and returned with it last Sunday. Canant is a civilian employee at Webb AFB.

The two pilots and their aircrafts leaving Big Spring are also Webb AFB men. They are Tom Benton and R. B. Hewison. Each of the men is being discharged from the Air Force and returning to his home. Benton has already taken his Cessna home to Louisiana. Hewison is leaving Monday for New York in his Luscombe.

Plenty of hangar space is now available, Edens said. All locally owned planes at the field can be kept inside now, he said.

The Blue Angels Flying Club is having its share of aircraft trouble. One of its planes was severely damaged in a hail storm a month or so back. The members pitched in and have been recovering the craft in spare time.

Last week, the engine in the other plane began to give a little trouble and the membership had to do a quick repair job on it. Plans are to overhaul the engine as soon as the first one is ready to fly.

Author Thomas Mann Ill In Amsterdam

AMSTERDAM, Netherlands, (AP)—Illness today forced author Thomas Mann, to cancel a vacation at Noordwijk, Dutch seaside resort. Mann, 70, returned with his daughter Erka by plane to Kloten, near Zurich this morning. He was brought to the airport in an ambulance. The nature of his illness was not made known.

Ike Has One Of These

The Aero Commander pictured here is similar to an aircraft that was hanged at the local field most of last week. It belonged to the Refining Engineering Company of Tulsa. The firm had representatives here visiting at Couden Petroleum Corporation. President Eisenhower is also the owner of a Commander, having bought the craft a few months ago. The plane is distinctive for its low passenger area and high swept tail. It will carry six persons at a cruising speed of 200 miles per hour. Each of the twin engines develop 200 horsepower.

CASPER, DIDN'T YOU INVITE COL. HOOPER TO YOUR BIRTHDAY PARTY TONIGHT? MY HELL FEEL HURT!

LET HIM FEEL HURT, TOOTS-- I'M SORE AT HIM!

HE'LL FEEL TERRIBLY SLIGHTED, DEAR-- I'D BETTER CALL UP KATILKA AND SEE IF THERE ARE ANY MESSAGES FOR US!

KATILKA SAYS COL. HOOPER DROPPED BY OUR HOUSE THIS NOON AND LEFT A PACKAGE FOR YOU---

GOSH, THAT WAS NICE OF HIM--- THAT PUTS ME ON A SPOT-- I FEEL CHEAP FOR NOT ASKING HIM!

COLONEL, I WANT YOU AND SOPHIE TO COME TO MY HOUSE TONIGHT FOR A LITTLE PARTY-- SORT OF A LAST MINUTE AFFAIR--

THANK YOU, CASPER! WE'LL BE THERE!

I'M GLAD YOU CHANGED YOUR MIND AND INVITED COL. HOOPER

I MIGHT HAVE KNOWN THERE WAS A CATCH TO IT-- THIS IS JUST A BATCH OF TOOLS HE BORROWED FROM ME LAST WEEK!

HERE COME THE HOOPERS AN HOUR LATE! THEY SURE GOT IN ON A FLUKE! WATCH ME TELL HIM OFF!

I'LL RECEIVE THEM, DEAR! YOU DIDN'T GIVE THEM MUCH NOTICE, YOU KNOW!

CASPER, YOU ALWAYS ADMIRER MY BINOCULARS, SO I'M GIVING 'EM TO YOU FOR YOUR BIRTHDAY!

WHY, COLONEL, THEY'RE YOUR MOST TREASURED POSSESSION!

TOOTS, COL. HOOPER SURE IS A WONDERFUL GUY! HE'S THE SALT OF THE EARTH!

INJUNS!

THE STAGE HIT A ROCK AND OVERTURNED. THE TRACES BROKE AN' THE HORSES KEPT GOIN'! THOSE MUDDERIN' REDSKINS MADE OFF WITH THE STRONGBOX.

WERE YOU A PASSENGER?

YES! I'M ON THE WAY TO VISIT MY SON. HE'S THE INDIAN AGENT IN RED ROCK, AN' WHEN HE HEARS OF THIS--

THEN YOUR NAME IS NADE!

YOUR SON AND I ARE FRIENDS! I'LL TAKE YOU TO HIM!

HORSES OF CROOKS WEAR IRON SHOES! THEM NOT INJUN HORSES!

BUT I SAW THOSE ATTACKERS! THEY WERE INJUNS!

GOOD WORK, BOYS! A FEW MORE JOBS LIKE THAT ONE AN' WE'LL HAVE THE WHOLE U.S. ARMY TAKIN' ACTION AGAINST THE INJUNS!

MEANWHILE, IN THE OUTLAWS' HIDEOUT.

AS YOU WERE SAYING...

Beat the Rugs. Not Your Husband

WHEN I HEAR stories of marital quarrels, I often recall an incident that happened when I was visiting my grandmother many years ago. While we sat on the porch, Grandmother kept glancing at the house across the street where a short, plump woman was engaged in feverish activity. Carpets were hung across the clothesline, mattresses were spread out for airing, curtains were taken down, windows washed, porches scrubbed.

Finally Grandmother said, "I wonder what Henry's done now. Enemy sure is mad." She explained that whenever her friend became exasperated by her husband, she took it out on the dirt. By the time she had everything spic and span, she had worked off her anger and was too tired to be mad at anyone!

Family Philosophy: Pray Together

"The family that prays together, stays together." We brought out this simple truth in our family when the children were very young. We taught them to say Grace at meals, to give thanks at the close of each day, and to realize that God hears our prayers no matter how insignificant they may be.

We also taught our children to bring us all their troubles, large or small. When these troubles seemed insurmountable and we couldn't solve them, we took them to the Lord through prayer. And He was always there to help us. It has been a wonderful philosophy and it really works.—Mrs. Thomas Graham, Florence, Colo.

The Wise Young Shoppers

When my children were young and I took them on shopping trips in town, I would give each one a certain sum of money to spend as he or she chose. On their first shopping expedition, they spent it all on their first choice, and for the rest of the trip they could only look and wish. But they had learned their lesson, and on subsequent trips they looked first and then bought.

This practice throughout the years has taught my children the true value of money. By the time my daughter reached her early teens, I could confidently allow her to go to town alone to buy her clothes.

And I am proud to admit that for the amount of money she had to spend, I myself couldn't have chosen better.—Mrs. G. E. Errington, New Paris, Pa.

Those Who Do Least Complain Most

About the only ambition some people have is to shirk responsibility. Perhaps the greatest offender is the person who doesn't bother to vote but always criticizes the policies of the party in power.

Or it may be the father who constantly complains about what his children learn or don't learn in school. But ask him to serve on the school board and what answer do you get? "No, I'm too busy."

It's bad enough that these people evade responsibilities, but they certainly have no cause to complain and criticize.—Mrs. M. B., Rockford, S. D.

A Book Filled with Happiness

"Don't forget your 'happiest events'," said my friend to her 12-year-old daughter who was going to visit an aunt in a neighboring town. I asked the woman what she meant by "happiest events."

"Each night," she explained, "every member of our family is expected to tell the happiest event he or she experienced during the day. Then we write it down in a special notebook.

"Sometimes so many happy events are reported that it is hard to make a selection. But occasionally the day has been so uneventful it is hard to find something worth remembering.

"Those days when life seems a monotonous business are actually the reason for our 'happiest events' book. We are trying to teach our children that no day is without its moments of beauty or laughter or bits of excitement or adventure. And truly, since we started our 'happiest events' book a year ago, all of us have found many more things to be happy about."

This family's idea seemed so wonderful that I thought other families could benefit similarly from such a book.—J. R. D., Albany, Ga.

I was just thinking...

... I'D BETTER eat a few words. They aren't going to be tasty, but here they are:

Anyone who writes an anonymous letter or makes an anonymous telephone call is a dirty rat.

Before I bring forth my bowl and spoon, I'd like to explain that I got an anonymous letter today from a wonderful woman. I have no idea who she is, but she wrote a fine letter. She must be wonderful.

Still, she's an exception. Most of the unsigned letters I've seen are usually the work of the ivory-tower boys who view with contempt the fools we mortals be.

I've read unsigned letters from mothers who had given away their children and written, in fits of spite, to disclose the children's true identity. I've seen billet doux from psychopaths who threatened mankind with damnation. I've seen perfumed notes from jealous women who tattled on the neighbors. And I've seen them from gossips out to wreck a reputation.

I'm not without my waspish moments, but I believe anyone who makes a telephone call or writes a letter is inflicting himself in one way or another on someone else. The recipient has a right to know the arrow which strikes him. Even in the days of the old West, the dirtiest villain of them all played ring-around-the-rosy to keep from shooting his victim in the back.

It seems to me that, if I had a viewpoint to express, I'd either put it into words and sign my name and mail it after due deliberation or else I'd blow my fused frustration anonymously and mail it in the trash can with the garbage.

Some people look for the signature first. If there is none, there's no reading. We have a different method in my office. We all read the anonymous letters and then we laugh like crazy. It helps to digest both the letter and the lunch.

But now, if you'll pardon me, I must find my scissors. I have to cut out the second paragraph of this column and crumple it up pretty fine. I did say I'd eat it, and all because of one woman; but it isn't going to be easy, just newsprint and ink.

Penance, anyone?

The picture of Audie Murphy on today's cover isn't just another Hollywood publicity pose. Audie actually lived such scenes during his days as a combat infantryman in World War II. Though he would be the last to admit it, Audie was probably the "fightingest" GI of the whole war. At least, he was America's most decorated soldier. You'll enjoy the feature about him and his new movie on page 9.

It's that DIAL feeling – you never worry about odor!

More than a feeling, it's a fact: with Dial Soap you never worry about perspiration odor. You see, normal perspiration has no odor until skin bacteria go to work on it. And ordinary soaps just can't get rid of bacteria effectively. But Dial Soap does. It removes up to 95% of these odor-causers, because Dial is the one leading soap with AT-7 (Hexachlorophene). There's nothing else as good for keeping odor away. Dial's AT-7 clings to your skin, so it protects you all day – and several days if need be. That's why folks who use Dial every day say they just don't feel as clean with any other soap. Dial stops odor before it starts.

Aren't you glad you use Dial Soap? (don't you wish everybody did!)

"They said I was

WATCHING ME play center field for the Boston Red Sox, you might think I was the healthiest human ever born. But I have been ill mentally—desperately ill—and I'm not ashamed to admit it.

I spent six weeks in the Westborough (Mass.) State Hospital. Now, with the help of God, and an understanding doctor, a patient wife, and sympathetic friends and fans, I am cured.

Perhaps I can encourage and give hope to others who have suffered the way I have. That's why I wrote "Fear Strikes Out."*

Looking back beyond my illness, I realize that I grew up under severe pressure. My father was a house painter in Waterbury, Conn., and when he worked he made a good living; but he was idle much of the time.

More than anything in the world, Dad was determined that I should be a professional baseball player. He made me study the game as a science, not a sport. Before I could write my name, I knew what a batter should do in a given situation.

I looked to my father for approval of everything I did, but he demanded perfection, especially in the way I played ball. He had a quick temper, and both my mother and I lived in fear of displeasing him.

Mother suffered such a severe nervous reaction from conditions at home that she spent ten years in and out of a mental institution. Then, when I was 17, my father had a heart attack and I became sole support of the family.

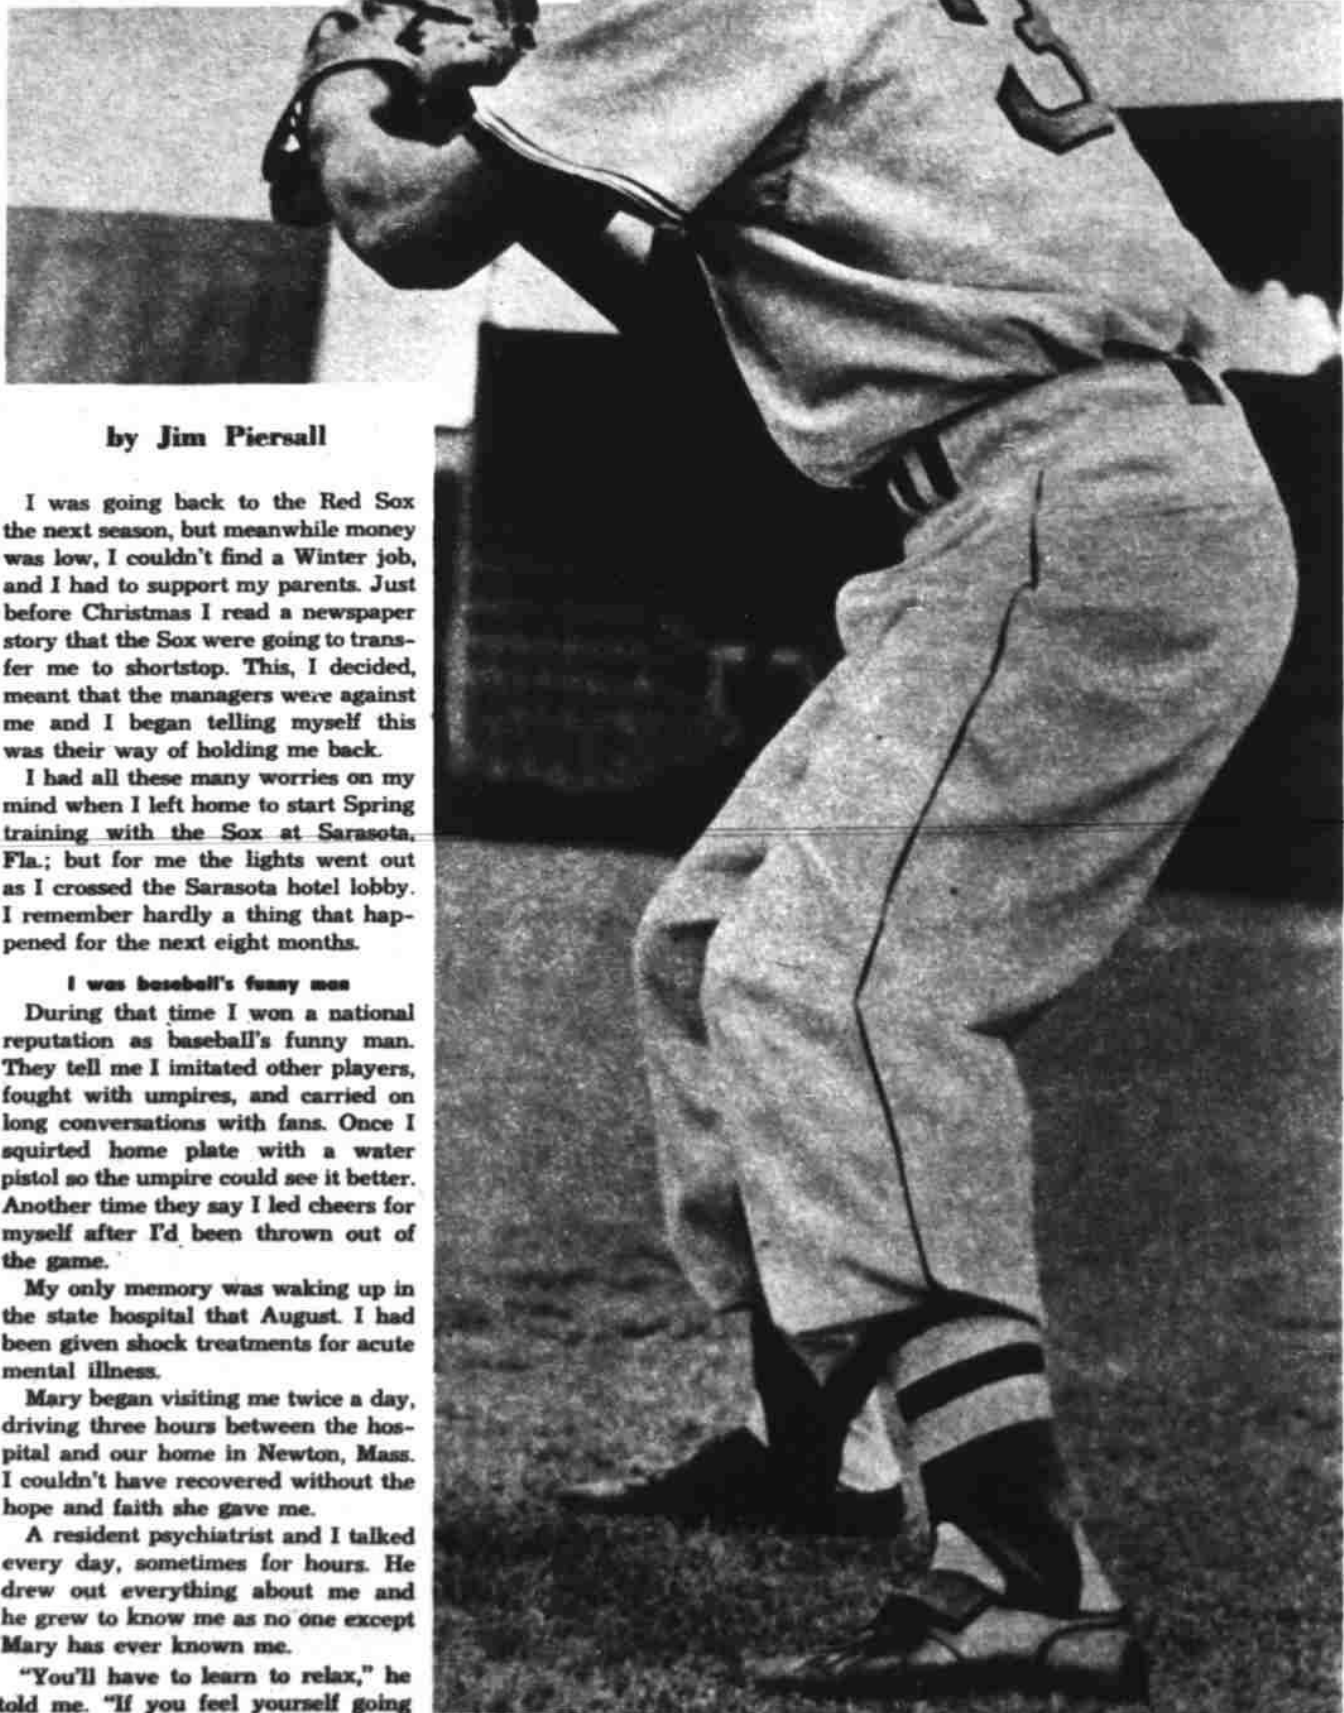

My start in baseball

After working at various jobs, I was lucky enough to win a berth in minor-league baseball. Soon I met Mary Teevan. I thought she was the most beautiful girl I'd ever seen, and before long I told her about my mother's trouble and my dad's temper and my search for release from the pressures that plagued me.

In 1949 we were married, and right after Christmas Mary told me there was a baby on the way. But we lost the baby and Mary was critically sick for a long, long time.

In 1950 I got my chance with the Red Sox, but I sat on the bench until the last week of the season, so I asked to go back to the minors. I had a great season in '51, playing center field and hitting .346.

*Copyright, 1955, by Atlantic-Little, Brown.

by Jim Piersall

I was going back to the Red Sox the next season, but meanwhile money was low, I couldn't find a Winter job, and I had to support my parents. Just before Christmas I read a newspaper story that the Sox were going to transfer me to shortstop. This, I decided, meant that the managers were against me and I began telling myself this was their way of holding me back.

I had all these many worries on my mind when I left home to start Spring training with the Sox at Sarasota, Fla.; but for me the lights went out as I crossed the Sarasota hotel lobby. I remember hardly a thing that happened for the next eight months.

I was baseball's funny man

During that time I won a national reputation as baseball's funny man. They tell me I imitated other players, fought with umpires, and carried on long conversations with fans. Once I squirted home plate with a water pistol so the umpire could see it better. Another time they say I led cheers for myself after I'd been thrown out of the game.

My only memory was waking up in the state hospital that August. I had been given shock treatments for acute mental illness.

Mary began visiting me twice a day, driving three hours between the hospital and our home in Newton, Mass. I couldn't have recovered without the hope and faith she gave me.

A resident psychiatrist and I talked every day, sometimes for hours. He drew out everything about me and he grew to know me as no one except Mary has ever known me.

"You'll have to learn to relax," he told me. "If you feel yourself going

Left: Jim Piersall, who conquered mental illness in his struggle to become a big-league ballplayer, reads his fan mail. The Boston Red Sox center fielder played in the All-Star game last year.

off the deep end, stop whatever you're doing so you can calm down. First you'll have to work at it. Later it will come naturally, like catching and throwing a baseball."

The doctor handed me some letters. One said: "Please get well so that I'll be able to watch you play again next year." Another fan wrote: "Stay with it, Jimmie. We're all pulling for you." Letters like that helped me to get back on my feet.

The Red Sox sent me and my family to Florida that Winter, and when Spring training time rolled around again I was back in shape. Still, I felt uneasy out there in the field until one day when we were playing Cleveland.

A loud-mouth fan called me a screwball and yelled: "Look out for the man in the white suit!" I knew my recovery was complete when I laughed and yelled back:

"How'd you like to make the money this screwball is making?"

I made some good catches that year and hit .272. And last season I played with the American League All-Stars.

Today I feel that I am a healthy, happy, well-adjusted person who can face anything life may dish out. The fears that caused my collapse have long since faded away. And I believe that if I was able to escape the shadows of mental illness and walk in the sun once more, anyone can do it.

ON A MAN-MADE STRETCH of land jutting out into Lake Michigan stands one of Chicago's most famous show places—the Adler Planetarium and Astronomical Museum. The oldest such institution in the Western Hemisphere, the Planetarium has just celebrated its 25th anniversary. Visitors to the Adler Planetarium can marvel at the wonders of the firmament—even in broad daylight—by means of the ingenious planetarium instrument. A marvel of optical engineering that is actually a mammoth stereopticon, the planetarium projects a picture of the heavens onto the dome of the building. It can reproduce all 9,000 stars visible to the human eye under perfect viewing conditions, and it can show the skies as they were thousands of years ago, as they are today, or as they will be thousands of years hence.

One of the world's finest collections of antique astronomical, mathematical, and navigational instruments makes up the museum portion of the Planetarium. Many of the 800 instruments, which include astrolabes, globes, sundials, and early telescopes, date back to the 15th century. All are in working order.

Since it opened in 1930, the Adler Planetarium has drawn 7,500,000 visitors to its door: literally a stellar attraction of Chicago!

Here comes ice cream in one of its most dramatic roles—as Baked Alaska!

BASE RECIPE

1½ pts. ice cream (such as vanilla, chocolate, or strawberry)

Set in refrigerator to chill thoroughly

1 No. 2½ can sliced pineapple (8 slices)

Cover a baking sheet with two sheets heavy paper or set out a wooden board.

While pineapple is draining, prepare meringue. Beat until frothy

5 egg whites

1 teaspoon vanilla extract

¼ teaspoon salt

Add gradually, beating well after each addition

Continue beating until rounded peaks are formed.

Pat the drained pineapple slices dry with absorbent paper. Arrange on the baking sheet or wooden board. Quickly place a scoop of the firm ice cream in center of each pineapple slice and completely cover with meringue. Bake at 450°F 4 to 5 min., or until meringue is lightly browned. Serve immediately.

8 servings

Surprise Baked Alaskas

Follow Base Recipe; substitute individual sponge shortcakes for the pineapple rings. Set out 3 tablespoons prepared chocolate sauce (not chocolate sirup) and 3 tablespoons chopped walnuts. Spoon about 1 teaspoon of the chocolate sauce and 1 teaspoon of the walnuts into the cavity of each cake. Proceed as in Base Recipe, being sure ice cream and cakes are completely covered with meringue.

Note: Sponge shortcake may be stored in the freezer or freezing compartment of the refrigerator. It is not necessary to thaw before using for Baked Alaskas.

Ham-Asparagus Roll-Ups

BASE RECIPE

A double boiler and a baking sheet will be needed.

For Roll-Ups—Cook according to directions on package

3 10-oz. pkg. frozen asparagus spears

Gently break apart blocks of asparagus with fork or spoon while cooking.

Set out

8 slices "boiled" ham, cut about ½ in. thick

When asparagus is tender, drain, if necessary. Place 4 or 5 cooked asparagus spears in the center of each ham slice. Fold slice around asparagus to form a roll as in photo; secure with a wooden pick. Place roll-ups on the baking sheet and heat in a 325°F oven 10 to 15 min., or until ham is thoroughly heated.

For Sauce—While ham is heating, melt in the double-boiler top over low heat

2 tablespoons butter or margarine

Blend in

¼ teaspoon salt

Heat until mixture bubbles. Remove from heat. Add gradually, stirring constantly

longer. Remove from heat and vigorously stir about 3 tablespoons of hot mixture into

2 egg yolks, slightly beaten

Immediately blend into mixture in double boiler and cook over simmering water 3 to 5 min. Stir constantly to keep mixture cooking evenly. Remove from heat and blend in thoroughly

1 tablespoon lemon juice

Carefully transfer roll-ups from baking sheet to a warm serving platter and remove wooden picks. Spoon or pour sauce over them.

Sprinkle with

Grated Parmesan cheese

Peppercorns

Garnish with parsley and serve.

Ham-Broccoli Roll-Ups

Follow Base Recipe; substitute broccoli for the asparagus. Remove and discard outer leaves and cut off tough ends of stalks from 2 lbs. fresh broccoli. Cover with salted cold water and let stand 20 to 30 min. to remove any small insects and dust. Wash and drain, discarding liquid. Split heavy stalks about ½ in. The stalks together and stand up in a deep saucepan. Fill saucepan with boiling salted water (1 teaspoon salt per quart water). Boil uncovered 10 to 20 min., or until broccoli is just tender. Drain. Cut the larger stalks into halves lengthwise. Proceed as in the Base Recipe.

Does a hot day wilt you? Then cheat the heat with these Family Weekly recipes. They are designed for maximum eating pleasure and minimum cooking time.

"Boiled" ham slices 'round tender asparagus spears is a winning combination!

Fried turkey leads the fashion parade with its perfect accessories—fragrant, buttery-rich bread and pickled eggs.

Herb-Buttered Bread

Herb Butter may be prepared in advance and put in the refrigerator. Before using, soften at room temperature.

For Bread—Place on a baking sheet 1 unsoftened loaf white bread

Make parallel crosswise cuts about $\frac{1}{4}$ in. apart to within $\frac{1}{4}$ in. of bottom. Separate slices slightly. Put in a 325°F oven for about 30 min., or until cut surfaces become slightly crusty. Remove from oven. Increase oven temperature to 400°F. Spread one side of each bread slice with

Herb Butter (allow about 1 teaspoon per slice)

Return to oven for 3 to 5 min., or until butter is melted and bread is thoroughly heated. Cut into slices and serve hot.

For Herb Butter—Put into a bowl and soften with a wooden spoon

$\frac{1}{2}$ cup butter

Blend in

Blend in one of the combinations listed below. Cover the mixture and set in refrigerator to allow flavor of seasonings to penetrate butter (at least 1 hr.).

Zesty Herb Butter

$\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon ground sage

Few grains salt

Fragrant Herb Butter

$\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon crushed sweet basil

$\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon crushed tarragon leaves

Few grains salt

(Each butter mixture yields about $\frac{1}{4}$ cup.)

Pickled Eggs

Prepare, peel, and cool

1 $\frac{1}{2}$ doz. hard-cooked eggs

Cut off root end and thin slice from stem end of

Peel, rinse, and cut into thin slices. Put onion slices into a saucepan; add

$1\frac{1}{4}$ cups white vinegar

$\frac{1}{4}$ cup water

3 tablespoons brown sugar

$\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon salt

$\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon garlic salt

5 peppercorns

Few dill seeds

Place of ginger root

Set over medium heat and bring to boiling. Reduce heat; simmer about 5 min.

Put the eggs into the jars. Pour one half of the vinegar mixture into each jar. Cover, cool, and set in refrigerator. Before serving, let eggs stand for several hours or overnight to acquire flavor. They may be kept in refrigerator up to two weeks.

If desired, insert a whole clove into each egg. To serve, arrange on a plate or in a bowl with colorful relishes.

$1\frac{1}{4}$ doz. Pickled Eggs

Wilted Lettuce

Using a sharp-pointed knife, remove core from

1 large head lettuce

Let cold water run into core cavity to loosen leaves; drain. Gently separate leaves; pat dry. Put into a large bowl, cover, and set in refrigerator.

Dice

Put bacon pieces into a cold skillet. Cook slowly, frequently moving and turning bacon pieces with a spoon or fork, until evenly crisped and browned. Pour off and reserve fat as it collects. Set bacon aside. Put into the skillet $\frac{1}{4}$ cup of the reserved bacon fat and

$\frac{1}{4}$ cup water

3 tablespoons sugar

$\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon salt

Heat mixture to boiling, stirring well. Stir in the bacon. Immediately pour vinegar mixture over the lettuce and toss lightly to thoroughly coat lettuce leaves. Serve at once.

6 servings

Zippy Barbecue Sauce

Mix thoroughly in a saucepan

1 cup water

1 cup ketchup

$\frac{1}{4}$ cup cider vinegar

$\frac{1}{4}$ cup firmly packed dark brown sugar

$\frac{1}{4}$ cup finely chopped onion

1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce

2 teaspoons dry mustard

1 teaspoon salt

$\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon pepper

$\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon ground thyme

Bring mixture to boiling; reduce heat and simmer 25 min.

About 2 cups sauce

To Freeze Barbecue Sauce—Prepare sauce and cool quickly. Pour the sauce into freezer containers with straight sides. Seal, label, and freeze.

To Prepare Frozen Barbecue Sauce for Serving—Remove sauce from freezer and run cool water over container or set in a bowl of cool water until sauce slips out of jar easily. Turn into a saucepan and heat slowly to boiling.

The wise homemaker will prepare more fried turkey than her family can eat at one meal and freeze the remainder for use in the future.

A zippy barbecue sauce is always a welcome addition to turkey taken from the freezer. This sauce freezes well, so prepare a generous quantity when time permits and store for future use.

Follow recipe directions for preparing frozen fried turkey and barbecue sauce. Just pour the hot sauce over the hot turkey and serve.

Barbecued Frozen Turkey

Fried Turkey

Clean, rinse, and pat dry with absorbent paper

1 4- to 5-lb. fryer turkey, ready-to-cook weight (or use young-turkey pieces)

Disjoint and cut turkey into about 12 serving-size pieces. (If turkey is frozen, thaw according to directions on package.)

Coat turkey pieces evenly by shaking 2 or 3 pieces at a time in a plastic bag containing a mixture of

$\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt

$\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon paprika

$\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon pepper

fat (or use cooking oil) to at least $\frac{1}{2}$ -in. depth

Starting with the meaty pieces of turkey, place them skin-side down in skillet. Put in less meaty pieces as others brown. To brown all sides, turn pieces as necessary with two spoons or tongs. When turkey pieces are evenly browned, cover skillet lightly and reduce heat; cook slowly 50 to 60 min., or until tender. Uncover for the last 10 min. of cooking time to crisp skin. Serve immediately.

About 6 servings

To Freeze Turkey—Cook according to directions; after cooking, cool quickly. Assemble turkey pieces in amounts needed for one meal. Wrap in moisture-vapor-proof freezer material or pack in freezer containers. Seal, label, and freeze.

To Prepare Frozen Turkey for Serving—Remove turkey from freezer and from wrapping material or container. Place pieces in a shallow baking pan. Put in 325°F oven, uncovered, about 60 min., or until heated thoroughly.

Jesse Hibbs, director of the film, confers with Audie Murphy and Col. Michael Paulick, Audie's World War II battalion commander.

by Peer J. Oppenheimer

Type Casting:

Audie Murphy as Audie Murphy!

"TO HELL AND BACK" marks the first time in motion-picture history that a war hero has portrayed himself on the screen, reliving the epic events which brought him world fame.

Just ten years ago, on August 9, 1945, on an airstrip near Salzburg, Austria, Lieut. Gen. Alexander Patch, Commander of the Seventh Army, presented 1st Lieut. Audie Murphy with the highest award the U. S. can bestow, the Congressional Medal of Honor. Winner of 24 decorations, Audie thereupon became the most decorated soldier of World War II—and he wasn't old enough to vote!

Three years later, urged on by hundreds of ex-GIs, Audie began writing a book about his war experiences. He had plenty of time for the project. After having been signed to a movie contract, then dropped, he got along for two years on $34 a month disability pay.

Yet poverty itself was not a new experience for Audie. One of nine children, he was born 31 years ago on a farm near Kingston, Texas. The father, a cotton sharecropper, deserted the family when Audie was in his early teens. Audie is neither ashamed nor proud of his childhood poverty. "It was simply fact," he says, "so why argue with it?"

Audie quit school at 15 and worked first as a farm hand, then as a clerk in a combination grocery and filling station. When his mother died and the three younger children were placed in an orphanage, Audie moved to Greenville, Texas, where he worked in a radio repair shop. A year later, war broke out and Audie enlisted in the infantry, the Marines and Paratroopers having rejected him because he was underweight.

Audie is so reluctant to discuss his war exploits that even his wife, Pam, knew little about them until she happened to find a record of his citations.

After the war, Audie had a hard time finding work although he was offered plenty of jobs. He turned them down because he felt people wanted to capitalize on his record.

When he was signed to a movie contract, he thought his worries were over; but after his first picture he was dropped. Then came two years of hardship, until Universal-International signed him to a long-term contract in 1951.

He made a series of horse-operas, laboring under what he described as his only drawback to becoming a good actor: "No talent."

His self-appraisal was too severe. Under John Huston's expert direction, Audie gave an outstanding performance as the sensitive young soldier in Stephen Crane's "Red Badge of Courage." Then, in the remake of "Destry," some critics declared his portrayal of the gun-shy young sheriff was a better interpretation of the famous Max Brand character than Jimmy Stewart's.

Ever since Audie wrote "To Hell and Back," seeing it on the screen has been his greatest ambition. But he turned down several offers for the screen rights because the producers had low-budget "quickies" in mind. Audie insisted on a major production, and he wanted a hand in it, to assure retaining the book's realism. He got both.

His was not a superficial job, giving a word of advice here and there; it was an intensive eight-month grind. He worked on the script, scouted location sites, took a hand in casting, assisted even in such details as spraying shell craters with the proper amount of char. As a result, "To Hell and Back," which will have pre-release showings in Audie's home state next month, is probably the most authentic war film since the memorable "All Quiet on the Western Front."

Audie still holds a captaincy in the Texas National Guard, though his status, by virtue of his absence from Texas, is inactive. Nevertheless, at his own expense he attends Summer training for two weeks every year.

In 1951 Audie married former airline stewardess Pamela Archer. They live with their two boys, Terry Michael, 3 years old, and James Shannon, 1, in a $30,000 home in the San Fernando Valley.

The son of a Texas sharecropper has come a long way!

Palmer

Magazines are hoisted shipward for their journey overseas. By using Army post offices, New York and San Francisco residents can mail magazines at a reduced rate.

Headquarters for "Magazines For Friendship" are at Occidental College, Los Angeles, Calif. Here, volunteer workers sort and box magazines in readiness for shipment.

Our magazine illustrations, articles, and advertisements present the American way of life to politicians, workers, students, and professional people in other lands.

Old periodicals are bringing the true story of life in America to millions of people overseas.

by Jan Kerr

"EVERY AMERICAN home contains ammunition for democracy more potent than an atomic bomb!" says Prof. Albert Croissant of Occidental College in Los Angeles, Calif.

The ammunition he refers to consists of American magazines, whose illustrations, articles, and advertisements reveal American life as it actually is.

In 1947 Professor Croissant discovered that sending American magazines abroad was an effective way to combat misinformation about the U.S. The magazines went to editors, politicians, professors, students, artists, workers, and inmates of "DP" camps.

The response was amazing. Before long, the professor was receiving 100 letters a day.

"American magazines convinced us that democracy, not Communism, is the answer for Japan," said a Tokyo student.

"Our English is not good, but from our hearts we say thank you," wrote a Bulgarian shoemaker's family.

"Send us many more magazines," pleaded an Egyptian doctor. "It is impossible to send too many!"

So Professor Croissant asked students and friends for help. Their enthusiastic response marked the birth of "Magazines For Friendship," the official organization sponsoring the campaign. Headquarters are at Occidental College.

Today, "Magazines For Friendship" is a nation-wide movement. The State Department offered the use of Army Post Offices in mailing magazines, making it possible for persons in the New York and San Francisco areas to mail a 20-pound package of magazines overseas for 46 cents. And a nickel sends a digest-size magazine anywhere in the world.

Five cents so spent purchases a thick slice of international good will, because "Magazines For Friendship" is exporting America's most valuable commodity—democracy!

Lamb Kabobs

For a most tantalizing flavor, marinate lamb at least 24 hours.

1 1/2 lbs. boned lamb shoulder or leg
Cut into 1 1/2-in. cubes. Cover lamb with Marinade and set in refrigerator for at least 24 hrs., turning meat several times.

For Marinade—Mix thoroughly

- 1/4 cup tarragon vinegar
- 1/2 cup salad oil
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1 bay leaf
- 1/2 clove garlic

For Kabobs—Set out six 8-in. skewers.

Cut off root ends and a thin slice from stem ends of

Peel, rinse, cut into halves from top to base, and set aside.

Wipe with a clean, damp cloth, remove stems from, and set aside

(Mushroom stems may be used in other food preparation.)

Wipe with a clean, damp cloth
6 chicken livers

Cut into halves and wrap around chicken livers

3 slices bacon

Thread onto each skewer in the following order: lamb cube, onion half, and mushroom; repeat, ending with chicken liver and mushroom. Do not crowd pieces.

Brush meat and vegetables generously with

Melted butter or margarine
Arrange skewers on broiler rack.

Set temperature control of range at Broil (300°F or higher).

Set broiler rack in broiler with tops of kabobs about 3 in. from heat source. Broil 15 to 20 min., turning kabobs several times and brushing with melted butter or margarine. Test for doneness by cutting a slit in lamb cubes and noting color of meat.

Sprinkle kabobs with a mixture of

- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper

Serve kabobs at once.

Peppermint Chocolate Balls

These delectable cookies won the delighted admiration of every member of this contest's taste-testing panel.

Set out cookie sheets.

Crush and set aside

- 3 5-oz. peppermint candy sticks
(or enough to yield 1/2 cup crushed candy)

Put into a large bowl

- 1/2 cup hydrogenated vegetable shortening or all-purpose shortening

Add and beat thoroughly

- 1 egg yolk
- Thoroughly mix in the crushed candy.
- Stir in the contents of 1 pkg. prepared devil's food cake mix

Work with hands, squeezing dough until well blended. (Dough will be crumbly.) Form dough into balls about 1 1/4 in. in diameter and place about 2 in. apart on cookie sheets.

Bake at 350°F about 10 min., or until almost no impression remains when cookie is touched lightly with finger tip.

While cookies are baking, finely chop and set aside

- 1/2 cup (about 3 oz.) walnuts

When cookies are baked, remove immediately to cooling racks. Sprinkle with

- Prepared instant sweet-cream mix (or use sifted confectioner's sugar)

BEAUTY

YOU MAY HAVE a dressing table crammed with all the newest cosmetics and still be depriving yourself of an effective aid for loveliness—the beauty bath. But that's easily remedied by turning your daily sudsing session into a treatment that helps you forget small worries, pampers every inch of your skin, and leaves you feeling happier and looking lovelier.

Fill the tub fairly deep with comfortably warm water. If too hot it tends to dry and roughen the skin. Use bath salts to soften hard water; then add water-solvent bath oil, a new preparation that delicately lubricates the skin and makes lotion daubings after bathing unnecessary.

Wear a cap to protect your hair, even though it probably won't get wet. The dampness discourages waves and curls.

Before "lathering up," lie back in the water and relax. Don't limit your bath to the usual five frantic minutes, but take

After enjoying that "rag-doll" feeling for a while, you're ready for soaping. Work up a rich lather with a rough bath mitt (substitute a face cloth or synthetic sponge if your skin is sensitive). Scrub vigorously, using circular movements and paying special attention to fingers and toes. A bath brush, pumice stone, or nail brush works wonders on elbows and heels.

After a thorough going-over, rinse yourself, being sure to remove all trace of soap. If it's not bedtime, massage yourself with the bath mitt, soaked in cold water from the faucet. This stimulates circulation, and braces and refines the skin. Now towel yourself briskly and finish your bath to perfection by using an extravagant amount of scented dusting powder.

For an additional beauty booster, cleanse your face after tubbing. The warm, steamy atmosphere will have opened the pores, allowing soap and water or your favorite cleansing cream to do a better job.

Just try it and you'll see how a beauty bath a day chases fading looks away.

Sanctuary for Congressmen

by Jerry Klein

The nation's lawmakers have a new haven of peace and quiet on Capitol Hill.

ALL DAY LONG, the halls of the nation's Capitol in Washington roar with the noise of sight-seers, lawmakers, and favor-seekers. But just behind the main rotunda members of Congress now have a haven of peace for prayer and meditation. Opened this Spring, it contains a few chairs, a simple altar, and a stained-glass window reminding our country's leaders of the God who "hath made and preserved us a nation."

No organized religious services are conducted in the chapel, but every day Senators and Representatives come to spend a few quiet moments in individual meditation.

The chapel was first urged in 1952 by Senator A. S. Mike Monroney of Oklahoma and Representative Brooks Hays of Arkansas. Final approval by Congress came in August, 1954.

Congress' intent to make the prayer room nonsectarian was indicated in the clergymen's committee named as advisers: The Rev. Frederick Brown Harris and the Rev. Bernard Braskamp, chaplains of the Senate and House respectively; Rabbi Norman Gerstenfeld of the Washington Hebrew Congregation, and the Rev. Edward J. Herrman, assistant chancellor of the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of Washington.

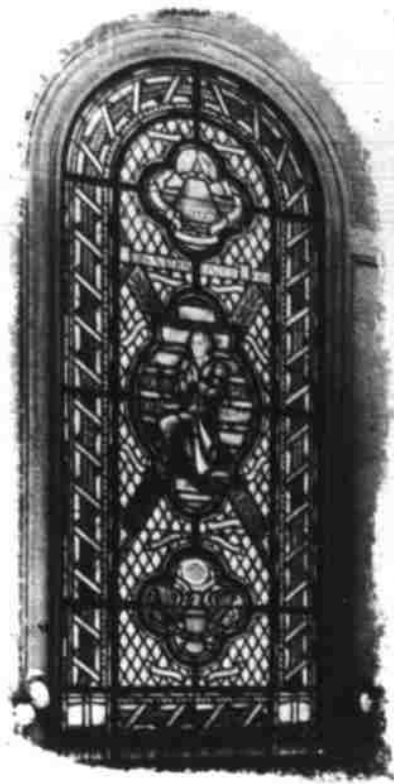

The room measures about 17 feet square, is painted in soft blues, and has the national flag in one corner. Seven-branched candelabra, with kneeling benches at their feet, flank the altar. The altar Bible, containing both the Old and New Testaments, lies open to the 23rd Psalm.

Behind the altar is a stained-glass window donated by an anonymous group of Southern California craftsmen who gave the window "as a thank offering to this country, to dedicate it to those men who have in the past sought God's guidance and to those who presently determine the destiny of this nation by the inspiration of their decisions."

The Great Seal of the United States and all the state names appear in the blue-and-wine stained glass. The window's central medallion shows George Washington kneeling in lonely prayer at Valley Forge and beside him the first verse of the 16th Psalm: "Preserve me, O God, for in Thee do I put my trust."

Washington's presence in the room is fitting. In his first term as President, he declared that our form of government "has no sense unless it is based on a deeply felt religious faith."

Representative Richard H. Poff of Virginia says the new prayer room is no "large assembly hall through which demagogues and hypocrites can parade their religion," but rather "a small, simple, sanctified retreat to which the elected representatives of the people may repair for meditation."

In sharp debate on the floor of the House or Senate, members may occasionally suggest the absence of a quorum. "In the prayer room, a quorum is one—and God."

Dear Miss Barrows:

I am writing to tell you a true story on myself. One day at school we were having a Social Studies class. We were studying about the Spaniards and where they live. One boy told the teacher he was reading about the vineyards and I asked in all seriousness, "Where do the vineyards live?"

Then the whole class went wild with laughter including the teacher. Was my face red!

Dear Miss Barrows:

A few summers ago when I was visiting my cousin, we discovered that the farm cat was going to have kittens. We prepared a bed in a bushel basket and put it behind the barn.

Later we went out to see if the kittens had been born yet. Much to our surprise, the old mother dog was sleeping with the kittens! We searched the whole farm for the mother cat, but could not find her. The next day we did find her, dead in the field. So the mother dog took care of the kittens till they were old enough to go on their own. They are still on the farm and they are doing fine!

Paper-Plate Pendulum Clock

If you would like to make a clock like this one, turn a plain white paper plate face down and make a small hole in the center of it. Draw two clock "hands" on a piece of cardboard and cut them out. Attach them with a brass paper fastener. Draw numerals around the edge of the plate's raised surface, just like the numbers on a real clock. Run a yarn loop through a small hole above the number 12, so you can hang your clock on the wall. Then thread a long piece of yarn through the same hole so two long ends hang down like the cords on a pendulum clock. Attach real pine cones for weights.

If you want to, add a design of dark-blue flowers around the rim, or draw a single flower in the center (before you put on the "hands") as in our drawing; and put gilt paint on the pine cones. Then your clock will look like old Delft!

WHAT BIRD IS IT?

by Ruth Dixon

Who is this bird from New Zealand's giant fern forests? This timid, hairy bird runs fast but can't fly at all. He scratches a burrow with his strong claws and calls to his wife with a strange cry, "Ki-wi! Ki-wi!" When he hunts for his dinner, he goes sniff, sniff. His favorite foods are snails, insects, and worms. His scientific name is AP-

TERYX MANTELLI. What's his everyday name?

They're "TOPS" in Losing WEIGHT!

by Dorothy Reed

Mrs. Esther Manz

WITH OVERWEIGHT a major health problem, a unique organization, "TOPS," is growing as rapidly as its individual members are shrinking. TOPS stands for "Take Off Pounds Sensibly," and its 30,000 members each lost an average of 15 pounds last year.

Each member has a special diet, prescribed by her physician. Members aren't permitted to swap diets or prescriptions, but they can swap low-calorie recipes.

There are TOPS chapters in every state in the U.S. and in seven foreign countries. Each group meets once a week. Every meeting starts with a weighing-in. Those who have gained weight are fined ten cents a pound, those who have lost receive small awards.

TOPS was founded in 1948 by Mrs. Esther Manz, a Milwaukee housewife. Mrs. Manz and four plump neighbors decided one day on a reducing contest. Spurred by the competition, Mrs. Manz was able to stick to a diet—something she had never been able to do before.

She told her doctor about TOPS, and he told a newspaper reporter. A short news story brought 300 would-be dieters to the next meeting in Mrs. Manz's small house! The wire services picked up the story, and TOPS spread from coast to coast.

The Backward Women of "OPERATION SKYWATCH"

SOME AMERICAN husbands think their wives are tops at doing things backward. The Continental Air Defense Command thinks so, too—but not for the same reasons. At the filter center in Columbus, Ohio, the CADC is testing a new vertical plexiglas plotting board on which the housewives—Ground Observer Corps volunteers—are learning to write symbols, figures, and letters in reverse so those who monitor the information can read it correctly from the front of the 8-by-8-foot panel. The American housewife is the backbone of the Ground Observer Corps, which on July 14 marked its third anniversary and its expansion into all 48 states. With 400,000 civilian volunteers already enrolled, "Operation Skywatch" has set a goal of a million members to man filter centers and ground posts throughout the U.S.

The Old Way: This is the former plotting method used by the Air Defense Command and Ground Observer Corps volunteers. The system employed a huge "billiard table" board replete with multiple phone connections and numerous indicators which were hard to learn.

You probably know this about Kellogg's All-Bran: it's the original whole bran cereal, scientifically milled to bring you natural food bulk in its most effective and appetizing form. But did you know this? Kellogg's All-Bran served with milk is a fine aid to fitness. This delicious, wholesome dish supplies 9 body-builders you need daily. Besides this, All-Bran can improve your "Intestinal Tone" (often below par when diets lack bulk), so essential to comfortable, regular elimination. So why not enjoy the natural benefits of these two fine foods, All-Bran and milk, for fitness and regularity? Be sure you get the original, the one and only, Kellogg's All-Bran. It really works. Double your money back if a daily dish of All-Bran and milk doesn't have you on schedule within 10 days. That's a promise from Kellogg's of Battle Creek, Michigan.
