Special Venire Of 75 Summoned For Trial Friday Of Mexican On 15-Year-Old Harp Murder Charge

A special venire of 75 men has been summoned to appear in district court here Friday morning for service as jurors in the trial of Salome Arios, alias Salome Alvarez, alias Jose Guerrero, on a charge of murder growing out of the slaying in this county 15 years ago of Jarvis Harp, rancher.

Arios, or Guerrero as he maintains his name is, has been held in the Crockett County jail since his arrest several months ago in Del Rio as a suspect in the Harp murder. He is believed to be the Mexican herder employed by Harp who was accused of the murder and who was the object of one of the greatest man hunts in this section following the brutal slaying of Harp in 1916. A number of men who knew the Mexican herder have identified the suspect as the man wanted, but the Mexican has so far stoutly denied his connection with the crime.

Shortly after the crime, another Mexican, also employed by Harp was captured and talked freely to his captors, declaring that the other Mexican, designated as Salome Arios and Salome Alvarez in court documents of the time, killed Harp and took the rancher's horse to make his escape. This Mexican, the only eyewitness to the crime, has since died and his testimony will not be available in the trial here Friday.

The Mexican suspect will be defended by M. C. Gonzales, San Antonio attorney and president of the Latin-American League, an organization fostering Americanization among the Mexican population of this country. Judge James Cornell of San Angelo will assist District Attorney Weaver Baker in the prosecution.

P. T. A. To Honor School Teachers

Reception To Be Held In Hotel Ozona Ball Room Sat. Night

All teachers in the Crockett County schools will be honored by the Parent-Teacher Association of Ozona with a reception to be held at the Hotel Ozona next Saturday night, beginning at 8 o'clock, it was decided at the opening meeting of the association held last Monday afternoon.

All patrons of the school and all parents interested in the schools are invited to the reception. Members of the faculty and officers of the P. T. A. will likely compose the receiving line.

The reception in honor of the teachers is being given by the P. T. A. as a means of permitting patrons of the schools to become acquainted with the new teachers and to welcome the old ones back, and to draw teachers and parents closer together in their common cause, it was pointed out by officials of the organization.

New Water Well Is Completed On Hill, Seventh In System

A new water well was added recently to the group from which Ozona secures its water supply with completion of a producing well on the hill for the Ozona Water Works.

This is the seventh well in the water works system. It was completed at a depth of 387 feet. Pipe being set this week and as soon as this is completed the well will be placed on the pump. No gauge of its capacity has been taken as yet, but it is believed to be as good as the other six.

Mrs. W. D. Barton, who recently suffered a paralytic stroke, was reported suffering from a relapse last week. Her condition is considered somewhat improved this week, however.

Sunday School To Enjoy Picnic Fri.

Annual Methodist Outing To Be Held On M. Montgomery Ranch

The annual Methodist Church Sunday School picnic will be held next Friday afternoon beginning at 4:30 in the Marshall Montgomery pasture about two miles west of town, it was announced Sunday by Rev. J. H. Meredith, pastor.

The outing has been held almost every year in the Live Oak grove about 35 miles on the Sheffield road, but in order to make the event more accessible this year, it was decided to hold it nearer the city. The picnic ground will be about a half mile south of the road opposite the Marshall Montgomery ranch home.

The picnic is to be an old-fashioned basket dinner and each family is expected to provide a basket. Transportation for all who do not have a way to the picnic will be provided by a committee headed by Rusty Smith as chairman.

Committees in charge of the event are as follows: General Director—Richard Flowers.

Publicity—Rev. J. H. Meredith and Evert White. Transportation—Rusty Smith, chairman.

Baskets—Superintendents of the several departments as follows: Mrs. Paul Perrier, Mrs. W. J. Grimmer, Mrs. W. R. Baggett, Mrs. Hugh Childress, Sr., Mrs. Bascomb Cox and Mrs. Vernon Cox.

Entertainment committees are divided as follows: Small children—Miss Elizabeth Fussell, chairman; Boys—John L. Bishop, chairman; Girls—Mrs. Evert White and Mrs. Hugh Childress, Jr.; Adults—Dr. J. A. Fussell, Mrs. Warren Clayton, Bascomb Cox and Mrs. Joe North.

Water, coffee, tea, ice, etc.—W. R. Baggett, Pon Seahorn and Paul Perner.

Sorrels To Open Bowling Alleys

Ten-Pin Alleys To Be Operated In Bunger Building

A new ten-pin bowling alley will be opened in the next few days in the Bunger Building by A. J. Sorrels. The alleys will be located in the half of the building until recently occupied by Mrs. Sorrel's Beauty Shop. Mrs. Sorrels having moved her shop to her home.

Mr. Sorrels has had two regulation alleys constructed and is installing all new equipment. The equipment is all ready for the opening except for the delay in arrival of the new balls, which are expected in Friday or Saturday.

Elevated benches have been constructed for spectators and the place has been equipped with fans for the comfort of players and spectators.

APPRECIATES RECEIVING "OLD HOME TOWN PAPER" "I am very much pleased with the service I have been getting in receiving every copy of the old Home Town paper," writes Chester Glover from Cross Plains. Mr. Glover, who has been receiving the Stockman at Albany, Texas, wrote to advise that he had changed his address from Albany to Cross Plains and asking that his paper be sent to him there. Mr. Glover says "it is a pleasure to read The Stockman." Thank you, Mr. Glover. Just a word from an appreciative reader now and then makes an editor's rocky road much easier.

Sewer Co. Answer On Local Project Expected This Week

Final answer of the Southwest Sewer Company on the proposed installation of a modern sanitary sewer system in Ozona is expected sometime this week by county officials here.

J. S. Barlow, engineer employed by Crockett County in the sewer project, and J. H. Gehbauer, representative of the Southwest Sewer Co., who were here last week making a final check on facts in connection with the proposal, are in Dallas this week to present the final findings to J. S. Diggs, president of the company, according to a letter from J. G. Dees, member of the firm, received by Judge Charles E. Davidson Monday.

"Messrs. Barlow and Gehbauer have been preparing final data and estimates for Mr. Diggs during the time which has elapsed since their trip to your city and have them ready for discussion with Mr. Diggs," Mr. Dees wrote. "Mr. Diggs will return to the city on Tuesday or Wednesday of next week and get in communication with you after conferring with these gentlemen."

Committees For PTA Work Named

Organization Starts Year's Work With Fine Meeting

With more than 40 members and guests present, the Ozona Parent-Teacher Association inaugurated what promises to be one of the most successful year's work in the history of the organization with the opening meeting of the season at the school building Monday afternoon.

Appointment of all standing committees was announced by the president, Mrs. Welton Bunger and details of the year's work to be undertaken by the association were discussed. Among other worthwhile projects to be taken up by the organization this year will be the sale of tuberculosis Christmas Seals, it was announced. The P. T. A. has handled this sale here for the last several years and sales have been gaining each year.

All mothers are urged to become members of the P. T. A. in order that the best interests of the schools and the school children might be furthered. Those wishing to become members are urged to pay their dues to Mrs. L. B. Cox, Jr., before the next meeting date.

Committees named at the opening meeting are as follows: Program Committee—Mrs. Strick Harvick, Mrs. George Montgomery, Mrs. Claude Denham and Mrs. Tommy Hunter.

Refreshment Committee—Mrs. Ira Carson and Mrs. Bruce Drake. Hospitality Committee—Mrs. W. J. Grimmer, Mrs. Charles Williams, Mrs. Bright Baggett, Mrs. I. G. Rape, Mrs. Royce Smith and Miss Lucille Williamson.

Music Committee—Mrs. Bryan McDonald and Miss Norene Allison. Membership Committee—Mrs. W. A. Kay. Room-mothers will be appointed later.

Finance Committee—Mrs. J. M. Baggett, Mrs. Ernest Moore, Mrs. John L. Bishop and Mrs. Paul Perner.

Critic and parliamentarian—Miss Elizabeth Fussell. Regular meeting day for the P. T. A. is the third Monday in each month, at 3:15 p. m. Meetings are held in the auditorium of the high school building.

FIRST BIRTHDAY

Sammy Perner, small son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Perner, celebrated his first birthday Tuesday at a party given in honor of the event by his grandmother, Mrs. Mary Perner at her home. Cousins of the youngster were guests on the occasion. Ice cream and cake were served during the course of the afternoon.

Woman's Club Reports Clean-Up Campaign Making Satisfactory Progress; Mexicans Co-Operate

Satisfactory progress was reported this week by committees from the Ozona Woman's Club in charge of the quarterly clean-up campaign in progress here this week.

Committees were especially pleased with results of the campaign in the Mexican section of the city. A group of Mexicans working under the leadership of Sam Martinez is making a thorough clean-up of the draw which skirts the southeast edge of town and many truck loads of trash have been gathered from this area and hauled away or burned.

Two sanitary drinking fountains for the Mexican school grounds is the reward for which the Mexicans are working. To encourage a thorough clean-up of the draw and the Mexican section, Mrs. Scott Peters and Mrs. Joe Pierce, supervisors in charge of the Mexican suburb, promised that the drinking fountains would be installed at the school in return for the interest of the residents of that section in the clean-up and so interested are the Mexicans in the school that they immediately organized a large group of workers and are donating their time and effort to the job of cleaning up the draw.

Installation of the drinking fountains will be made as soon as the necessary materials can be assembled. Two sanitary fountains are to be installed on the grounds, one for the girls and one for the boys.

Committees were also pleased with the progress being made with the drive in other parts of town. Trucks have been busy since Tuesday hauling trash to the dump grounds and the club women have been authorized by the Commissioners Court to employ a crew of workmen to cut the high weeds along the draw and on vacant lots.

A number of the more prominent eye-sores in the town have already been cleared out and the work will continue through the balance of the week, during which time it is expected that one of the most thorough clean-ups ever carried on will be accomplished.

Residents are urged to get in touch with the district supervisor in cases where trash has been overlooked and trucks will be sent back to pick up all that was overlooked.

Markers Designating County Line And Spots Of Historic Interest To Be Installed By Lions On OST

Attractive stone pillars bearing metal plates on which will be engraved the name of Crockett County and possibly some of its outstanding points of historical interest will be erected at the Sutton-Crockett County line on the east and at the Crockett-Pecos County line on the west, along the Old Spanish Trail highway, if a project adopted at the Lions Club meeting Monday noon is carried to a successful conclusion.

Believing that such markers would add to the interest of tourists traveling along the OST in this section and that it would be of material benefit to travel on the highway, the club adopted this as one of its projects and will work toward its accomplishment.

In addition to the county line markers, the club will also bend its efforts toward securing suitable markers for the many points of historic interest through the county along the Old Spanish Trail. These points include the ruins of old Fort Lancaster on Live Oak Creek, the historic Live Oak and Pecos River crossings, the stage coach route down the mountain side in the vicinity of Fort Lancaster which is the subject of many interesting stories, Howard Wells south of the highway and a number of other points

A. M. Fuller To Trial Next Week

Truck Line Operator To Face Charge Of Sale Of Liquor

A. M. Fuller, operator of a truck line between San Antonio and Ozona, who was indicted by a Crockett County grand jury about a year ago on a charge of violation of the liquor law, is scheduled to face trial in district court here Thursday of next week according to settings made by Judge Joe Montague when the criminal docket was called Wednesday morning.

The case of Hallie Hubert, local negro, charged with liquor law violations in connection with the same transaction, is also set for trial on Thursday. Fuller is alleged to have brought liquor here from San Antonio on his truck and to have sold it to Hubert.

Six cases charging theft of oil well casing, pending against J. G. Prichard, Fred Watson, B. J. R. D. and Berry Patton and Fred White are also scheduled for trial Thursday of next week. These men were indicted by the recent special grand jury impaneled here a motion to quash the indictments on the ground that there was no emergency which necessitated the special grand jury to indict the men was presented to the court Wednesday and argued by attorneys during the noon hour. The motion was overruled, however, by Judge Montague and barring further delays the men will face trial next week.

Dr. George Cox, former practicing physician here and a brother of the late L. B. Cox, suffered an attack of pneumonia at his home in Del Rio recently and has developed a severe heart attack as a result, according to word received here. He was taken to a San Antonio hospital recently for treatment. Dr. Cox was practicing here during the flu epidemic in 1918 and occupies a warm place in the hearts of residents here at that time.

Clark Barton is here from Austin visiting relatives.

2 INDICTMENTS ARE RETURNED BY JURY HERE

Swindling And Liquor Violation Charged In Bills

NO ARRESTS

Court Launches Into Work Of Term; Civil Cases Tried

Two bills of indictment were returned by the Crockett County grand jury this week after it had been impaneled for the regular September term by District Judge Joe G. Montague.

Both of the indictments charged felony offenses, one for violation of the liquor laws and one for swindling. Neither of the two defendants named in the bills have been arrested and their names were withheld by court officials.

The grand jury was discharged following its report. Members of the investigating body included L. D. Brooks, foreman, E. B. Baggett, Jr., George Bean, P. L. Childress, R. J. Cooke, Ira Carson, W. E. Dunlap, H. B. Friend, Roy Henderson, A. W. Jones, J. T. Keeton and C. C. Luther.

After impaneling the grand jury the court delved into non-jury civil matters. Two cases, damage suits, were transferred to the United States district court for the northern district of Texas at San Angelo. They were the case of P. H. Williams, et al, vs Cushing Refining and Gasoline Co., and W. M. Galloway vs Hartford Accident and Indemnity Co.

In the case of the Universal Film Exchange vs J. R. Kersey, a settlement had been reached and the case was dismissed.

Joe Perez was granted a divorce from Florence Perez, the only divorce suit to come before the court to date.

N. W. Graham was awarded judgment in two suits against Hugh Brown and H. D. Jobs, involving debt.

The court was in the midst of trial Wednesday and Thursday of a suit for compensation by S. W. Rice against the Texas Indemnity Insurance Company. The case is being tried before a jury and is based on an accident in which Rice was injured while working for the Magnolia Petroleum Co. on the Hoover lease in Crockett County.

Court is expected to be recessed Friday or Saturday until Thursday of next week. A special term of district court is scheduled to open in Rankin on Monday of next week and Judge Montague and District Attorney Baker will be in attendance there.

40 Members, Visitors Present For Opening Meet Of Music Club

The Ozona Music Club started its new year's work with a splendid meeting last Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Strick Harvick, with Mrs. Bright Baggett and Mrs. F. T. McIntire as assisting hostesses. Approximately 40 members and guests were present for the occasion.

The program was devoted to a study of the works of the Texas composer, David Guion. The program opened with a song by the club, "Texas, Our Texas," which was followed by the address of the president, Mrs. Joe Pierce. "The Life of David Guion" was discussed by Mrs. R. O. Smith. Mrs. J. M. Dudley substituted for Mrs. M. M. Fulmer with a piano solo, which was followed by a vocal solo by Mrs. L. B. Cox, Jr., and a piano solo by Mrs. Alvin Harrell. Mrs. Bryan McDonald made a big hit with two songs from the South, "Little Pickaninny Kid" and "Greatest Miracle of All." A piano solo "Southern Nights" by Mrs. Ira Carson, a piano "Jass Scherzo," by Miss Ne Allison and one by Mrs. Le-dress, "Sheep and Goats" ion concluded the program.

Co-operation of Lions Clubs in Sonora and in Fort Stockton will be sought by the local club in erecting the county-line markers, it was decided. The local club will place its proposal before the neighboring clubs and invite them to participate in the project and to secure plates to mark their side of the pillars. A report on the reaction of the neighboring clubs on the project is expected by the local club in a few days.

WHO PAYS?

Recently the head of an animal remedy concern made the statement that his payroll was over $2,000,000 a year. In his state are a number of other similar concerns which we believe are doing as large a business. Who pays for it?

Go into other important livestock states and you will find somewhat the same story. Thousands of remedy peddlers, many of them with few qualifications other than a fluent vocabulary, are swarming the livestock sections of the country. Millions upon millions of farmers' hard-earned dollars are being taken in exchange for pills and liquids, many of which might just as well be poured into the sewer.

Many of these remedy peddlers have been known to make all sorts of unjustified claims for the products they sell. They will assert that their so-called "medicines" will cure diseases that are incurable. There are no known drug remedies for contagious abortion in cattle, hog cholera, influenza, tuberculosis, distemper, heaves in horses, bacillary white diarrhea in poultry, fowl cholera, roup, diptheria, chicken pox or blackhead in turkeys. Yet remedy peddlers often claim their products as cures for these diseases.

In some cases they will sell their products as a cure-all for everything. In other cases they will make a diagnosis or get the company's "specialist" to come out and make the diagnosis. Then they will produce the remedy. In too many cases the hired man is just as well qualified to make the diagnosis as the so-called "specialist."

There are high-class manufacturers of livestock remedies. But they are not likely to turn their products loose with just any high-powered salesman to be prescribed for any condition he may find. Consult a good veterinarian. If he says a remedy is good and worth the money, use it.

In times like this it is poor business to pour millions upon millions of hard-earned dollars into the pockets of unscrupulous remedy peddlers and manufacturers. Are you paying part of this toll?—Successful Farming, Des Moines, Iowa.

FRIDAY CLUB

Mrs. Scott Peters was hostess to the Friday Bridge Club last week at her home. A decorative theme of green and orchid was used throughout the home. Each one making slams, honors, and any extra plays were allowed a gift from a basket, that was beautifully decorated. A delicious refreshment plate was served to the following members: Mesdames Early Baggett, Joe Davidson, W. E. Smith, Joe Oberkamp, Judge Montgomery, Max Schneemann, Childress, Roy Henderson, Berce, Strick Harvick, J. W. ... as guest.

SCANDALS

By The Town Gossip

It's going to be hard on the Methodists and the Church of Christ membership, declared the town sage the first of the week when the announced list of the grand jury showed the names of five Baptist deacons.

The prize slip that passed in the night is credited to the Ilanti (Neb.) Journal:

"Next Sunday services will be held at 11 o'clock at the north end of the church, and at 3:30 o'clock at the south end. Infants will be baptized at both ends."

Many a miss is good for a mile, opines our handsome hero, Jack Sharp.

But after the first mile, he would give us no further information.

Ed Bean says the height of embarrassment would be to find a McTavish in a Murphy bed.

And we have it on good authority that John Rochelle is waiting to find out where the Merry Madcaps plan to go into winter quarters before settling down for the cold months.

Then there's the Scotchman who never had his palm read because he wouldn't give the little girl a hand.

Then, again, there was the absent-minded Scotchman who ordered asparagus and left a tip.

It is fairly well established now that the grand jury had nothing to do with Ad Harvick's departure this week. He was reported suffering from an ache in an upper molar.

Ray Woods says this high wind has certainly saved the dairymen during this extremely dry weather. It has kept the windmills pumping.

Maybe He'll Be Able to Keep Going Now — By Albert T. Reid

HARD TIMES AND MATRIMONY

From all over the country we get reports that there are more people getting married than there have been for a long time. Naturally, there are exactly as many women as there are men going in at this time for this justly famous experiment.

Some of the people who have noticed the increase in marriage licenses wonder how these young people have the courage to take the jump when jobs are scarce and none too secure. But we think the answer is to be found in the old saying that two can live as cheaply as one. That isn't literally true but it certainly is true that if both will do their share two people can live together more economically than the two of them can live separately.

We have been told of several cases where the young man lost his job and the girl kept hers. They had been engaged for some time but were waiting to get more of a stake together before hitching up. Perhaps they might have kept on waiting for years had not fate, in the shape of hard times, intervened. And in a great many cases, we are sure, marriage has been hastened because the young woman is out of work and no longer feels the sense of independence which she had when her pay envelope came along every Saturday.

On the whole, we think this getting married when times are hard is a good thing. We were beginning to fear that matrimony was going out of fashion. It is a long time since we had heard a man under forty boast that he had nothing but a fifteen dollar a week job and enough cash for the parson's fee and the first installment on the furniture when he and the girl teamed up for life. But we know many men of the older generation who give all the credit for their success in life to the fact that they married young and poor, and had to hold their noses right down tight on the grindstone while they were still young enough to acquire the habit of hard work.

For a while it seemed as if work, too, were going out of fashion. There are not so many youngsters complaining because they have to do something for their pay as there were a couple of years ago. Work is not something to be ashamed of any more. And we don't know of anything so well calculated to make a useful working citizen out of a young man—or a young woman, either—than to get married at a time when work is scarce and those who want to hold their jobs have to do a lot of it.

WAR CLOUDS DISAPPEARING

It really looks as if the war-cloud which has hung over the world ever since the Armistice were clearing away. For the first time since the early days of the last century, France and Germany are making friendly gestures toward each other. The French people are beginning to realize that the old days of Imperial ambition are a thing of the past in Germany, that the German people actually do control their own government, for the first time in history, and that they are just as human and peace-loving as the French themselves. And the Germans seem to be beginning to understand that France has been keeping up her big army, and building her line of frontier forts, because she has had solid grounds for fear of an invasion from beyond the Rhine at any moment. It has happened to her four times in a hundred years, and that's enough to make any nation nervous.

Whether anything will come of the latest proposal before the League of Nations, to put all the armaments and military and naval forces of all nations in the League under the control of the League itself, we are not sufficiently informed to guess. But on the face of it, it sounds as if even the serious entertainment of such a proposal is an indication that the war-like spirit no longer rules Europe and threatens the rest of the world.

LAS AMIGAS CLUB

Miss Helen Montgomery entertained Las Amigas Club Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles Schauer. Mrs. Richard Flowers was given a pitcher for club high and Mrs. J. W. North, a plaque for guest high. Mrs. Hugh Childress, Jr., received table numbers for second club high. Other guests present were: Mesdames Sherman Taylor, John Curry, May Dell Welch, Marshall Montgomery, Misses Mary Childress, Mildred North, Carolyn Montgomery, Berenice Bailey, Tommy Smith, Ethel Word, Jessie Ingham, Ellen Schauer and Wanda Watson. Boston cream pie was served.

Mrs. Chas. E. Davidson, Sr., Mrs. Bryan McDonald and Mrs. Chas. E. Davidson, Jr., were in San Angelo Tuesday.

ROWENA Rides The Rumble

BY ETHEL HUESTON

Rowena and Peter are employed by Rack Ruff Motors to make a coast-to-coast trip, advertising the roadster. They take Bobby along as chaperon but she deserts them in Colorado and they get married, in name only, so they can travel without criticism. At last, after many tiffs, they near New York. They discuss what they intend to do after obtaining an annulment.

Rowena was a little more touchy even than usual just at that time because she was having some trouble with her own work, and the fact that Mr. Rack had not been entirely satisfied with her last three stories had done nothing to improve her disposition.

When—the picture done Peter's way, in spite of her—he turned the roadster east once more, Rowena retired sulkily to the rumble seat.

In Richmond they received a long telegram from Bobby Lowell. It was "Prepaid." As Rowena said afterward, "We should have known from that they were married." As indeed they were.

"Darlings," exclaimed the telegram extravagantly. "We did get married and my gown was lovely. Carter was going to sue the railroad but the conductor took him off and apologized so Carter gave him ten dollars instead. Can't we fly down and meet you some place and finish our honeymoons together—even if yours isn't real?"

Peter said he thought he had better answer that telegram and he wrote very fast indeed without one pause for thought.

"Love, kisses and condolences I mean congratulations. As your honeymoon waxeth ours alas doth wane hence how could we twain ride opposite directions in one Rackruff? Anon."

"It doesn't seem to mean much," objected Rowena.

"It means plenty," said Peter firmly. "It means that our honeymoons aren't riding the same sky if I can help it. Carter'll understand."

They were increasingly quiet as they neared New York and the end of their adventure. Peter thought Rowena was troubled about the future because she often referred to things she might do and regretted her work had fallen off. "If I had kept up as well as I started I could land a good job on the strength of it," she said ruefully.

"You can, anyhow. Your work, as a whole, has been top-notch. You were good down to the last adjective. The trouble was that in the beginning you were so superlative you got them to expecting miracles. Never begin at the top," he advised her wisely. "It leaves no place to climb to. Anyhow," he added slyly, "you must have saved up enough on your expense money to keep the children in bread and milk for a long time—what with doing your own laundry and living on soup and cheese."

"Well—some," she admitted evasively.

"Do you suppose we'll ever be real good friends, Rowena? And never quarrel again?"

"I'm good friends now! I've been friends from the very first. I am really fond of you, Peter, but you're so darn mean the angels themselves couldn't get along with you."

"That's odd. Every one has always remarked what a good disposition I have. No credit to me," he added modestly. "I was born with it."

"People are so dumb," sighed Rowena.

"Do you think your judge will have any trouble getting the annulment?"

"No."

"How long will it take?"

"I don't know."

"When will he start?"

"He's started now."

"I wrote him the day we were married and told him to go ahead with the preliminaries so he could put it through with a rush."

Peter resented that. "I think it was needlessly insulting of you, Rowena! To spread the news like that the day we were married."

"Married! Oh, tis, tosh and even tush! That was no marriage."

"No. But it was nasty of you just the same."

"I'm sorry you feel that way about it, Peter," she said gently.

"I did not mean to be offensive. I assure you. I really thought I was doing the stitch-in-time sort of thing."

"Do you think you'll ever marry the judge?"

"I don't think I'll marry anybody. I hate men."

"What are you going to do when we get home, Peter?"

"Oh, work at something. I suppose. I don't know just what. Maybe I'll go to Paris."

"You can't go until we get that annulment. They will need you here to swear that we—we never were really married, or anything."

"How long will it take?"

"Why? Are you in such a hurry for your freedom?"

"No. I was just wondering."

"What do you intend to do first,

Rowena?" Peter asked.

"Oh, I really don't know. Write up those stories perhaps."

"No plans for the far future?"

"No. Maybe I'll keep house for Buddy when he gets through school. Maybe I'll get married."

"But you say you hate men."

"So I do. That's the only way to get even with them."

From Pennsylvania Peter wanted to cut through as quickly as possible into New Jersey and home that way. He said it was shorter and he knew the roads.

Rowena, on the other hand, wanted to go up through Pennsylvania.

She admitted it was a longer route but said she would try to endure a few more days of Peter's company for the sake of the scenery.

Peter didn't argue with her. He just turned off and went over the Water Gap into New Jersey. Then they realized they were nearing home, for New Jersey was their neighbor and Peter recognized every road and landmark. The signposts began to give mileage to New York—seventy-five miles, sixty miles and then fifty.

2 full ounces in every Tin No other tobacco is like it —AND THE PAPERS ARE IMPORTANT, TOO. The perfect combination for home-rolled cigarettes: P.A. for filler and OCB for wrapper. The world's finest papers, made at the famous Bolloré mills in France expressly for R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company. Book of 150 leaves for 5¢. Buy OCB's with good old P.A. and you're all set to be satisfied

OPEN a tidy red tin of Prince Albert... sniff the delightful fragrance of the tobacco. It's the grandest aroma that ever floated out of a package of smoking tobacco. Then spread a cigaretteful in a paper and see how quick and easy it rolls into a trim cigarette that burns evenly and stays put. No fuss or muss or spilled tobacco... because P.A. is crimp-cut. That's why it rolls so smooth.

Now light up!

You'll have to admit that no other home-rolled cigarette ever had so much to recommend it. Prince Albert is simply better tobacco, Gentlemen.

Have you tried a pipe lately? Men who thought a pipe was not for them have changed their minds after the first load of P.A. This friendly tobacco just wouldn't think of biting your tongue or parching your throat. Take my tip... get out the old pipe and give it a new deal.

“Why
My Next Car
will be A FORD”

WHEN you buy a Ford there are two things you never have to worry about. One is reliability. The other is long life. Here's an interesting letter from a Ford owner in North Carolina:

“My Ford was purchased May 8, 1928, and has been run 121,767 miles. It has never stopped on the road for repairs of any kind whatsoever except punctures.

“The brakes were relined at 101,000 miles. My gas mileage averaged 21 miles to the gallon, and on tires, 19,000 miles per tire. I travel over all kinds of road conditions—mountainous and flat.

“I consider this a wonderful record and I assure you my next car will also be a Ford.”

This is just one of many tributes to the reliability and long life of the Ford. A Ford owner in Iowa tells of driving his Ford 73,000 miles in a single year. Another writes of 120,000 miles of good service.

Think ahead when you are considering the purchase of an automobile and consider what it will be like after thousands of miles of driving. Will you still be satisfied? Will you still say “it's a great car”?

If it's a Ford, you know everything will be O. K. It will be taking you there and back in good style, just as it has always done. And you will have saved many important, worth-while dollars in cost of operation and up-keep and low yearly depreciation.

CAR OWNERS DEMAND VALUES—not Claims!

MOTORISTS are finding the Greatest Values in Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires. Ever since Firestone and Firestone Dealers began advertising the true facts about tire quality and construction and actually demonstrating the Extra Values in Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires, distributors of special-brand mail-order tires have grown bolder and bolder with misleading claims and comparisons in the desperate effort to interest car-owners.

Car owners bought more Firestone Tires in May, June and July, than in any like period in history. This clearly shows that car owners are interested in Firestone Extra Values and are not interested in comparisons based on an almost obsolete tire size—confusing laboratory analyses—meaningless definitions—impractical challenges with unfair claims of twenty-five per cent savings—and deceiving price comparisons.

Why risk a tire of unknown manufacture when you can get the Extra Quality, Extra Strength, and Extra Safety of the special patented construction features of Firestone Tires—Gum-Dipping, and Two Extra Cord Plies under the Tread?

You get these Extra Values—plus our Service and the DOUBLE GUARANTEE of Firestone and ourselves—at no more cost!

Drive in today.—We have sections cut from Firestone Tires, special-brand mail-order tires and others.—See the evidence.—Take nothing for granted.—Judge for Yourself.

THE PLANO TUNER SAYS
By Fred Wilson

Something is always bobbing up to remove what little joy there is left in this life.

Now the bureau of labor statistics comes through with a report that all foodstuffs, except onions, have taken a rise of anywhere from one to nine per cent within the last thirty days.

Onions fell off twelve per cent. Can you imagine an effort to force your uncle of the star spangled pants and flowing gaiter to a straight onion diet? The ear marks are that it is Mussolini propaganda to put onions in the U. S. A. on a parity with garlic in Italy as a national dish.

If this comes to pass, and it probably will as we have accepted every fool thing from the Einstein theory to Eugenia hats recently, "Cocklebur" Bill Murray of the more or less great (it was great until I was escorted across Red River) state of Oklahoma will be the only one of our 122,000,000 population not affected.

Bill thrives and fattens on onions.

In fact, it is rumored among his most intimate friends that he was weaned on onions. That was back in the pre-volstead days when weaning a baby, like weaning a calf, required weeks of skillful effort. Nowadays all the fond mother has to do is tell the nurse to fill the bottle with home brew and the trick is done. The little fellows take to it like a duck to water. Bill was elected governor on the strength of onions. If you are familiar with the effects of that particular garden truck you know that when a person is full of onions they suddenly become intimately talkative and every time he would button hole a tax payer and begin to electioneer him the guy would promise to vote for him poco pronto in order to escape with his life.

It will be different next campaign because the people are wised up and buying gas masks in advance.

When the governor spends a night at home his family take their bed rolls and go to the stock yards for fresh air.

Several years back, when Bill was recruiting a colony to settle in Bolivia, I decided to enlist with them and went to his home at Tishomingo to confer with him about the project.

I arrived just as luncheon (it's dinner at Bill's house) was announced and naturally was asked to partake. The table was creaking under its load of palatable viands but he of the handle bars was content to consume an armful of solo green onions.

That is the reason I didn't go to Bolivia. When Bill was in congress, the first time, he introduced a bill to adopt "When It's Sweet Onion Time In Bemuda" as the national anthem and it received one vote.

At that it is better to be full of onions than to be overflowing with Bull, Bunk and Boloney like most alleged statesmen and some piano tuners

METHODIST NOTES

Next Sunday is the closing Sunday School year. All the pupils will be promoted to either the department or class next in order for them. This necessitates a general reorganization of all the classes, and it is important that every pupil and teacher be present. The Promotion exercises will be at 9:45, the Sunday School hour, and all the classes will then go to their respective rooms and receive the literature for the next quarter. A good program has been arranged, and all will enjoy this service.

Preaching at the usual hours Sunday morning and Sunday night.

Sunday night, October 11th, Rev. S. L. Batchelor will be here and hold the last quarterly conference for the year, he states that it is impossible for him to give us a whole Sunday on this last round.

10 More Producing Cows Added To Our Dairy Herd

In order to take care of the ever-increasing demand for our milk, we have added in the last week ten head of producing cows to our herd. Yes, the dairy business is good. REASONABLE PRICES and a QUALITY PRODUCT have made it so.

You can't sell an inferior product even at a low price. People want quality at a reasonable price. Our milk is bound to be good or we wouldn't be selling every drop we can get every day—even at 10 cents a quart. It is good and you'll say so too when you taste it.

And there's the added satisfaction of knowing it is from health-inspected cows and that it is milked and handled under the strictest sanitary rules. Come see for yourself—anytime of the day or night.

They had luncheon at a lovely little wayside place near a cool blue lake and Peter said if Rowena would excuse him a few minutes he wanted to call up some people in New York.

"Gosh, but you're in a rush to get in touch with everybody," she protested irritably. "I suppose you'd like me to call up the judge and ask him to have the papers ready for us to sign tonight."

Peter didn't say anything, but went on into the telephone booth. When he came back his face showed a little white under his summer's tan and his lips were grimly locked.

"I suppose she had another date," said Rowena disagreeably. "And I'm glad of it."

Peter had nothing to say, but when they had reached the next town he said he hoped Rowena wouldn't mind waiting as he had a little shopping to do.

"Shopping!" she ejaculated. "Shopping within forty miles of home? What do you want? Is it anything I can lend you?"

"Oh, no, nothing like that," said Peter vaguely. "Just some odds and ends—little souvenirs—presents, you know—nothing much."

"You would go through Yellowstone and the Rocky Mountains and buy your souvenirs in New Jersey," she remarked coldly.

When he came back his arms pretty well filled with stoutly tied bundles. Rowena and Constantine were under the umbrella in the rumble seat.

"For heaven's sake—" he began impatiently.

"It's a sort of sentiment with me," she said. "I would never feel that we had a grandstand finish unless we breezed into Times Square in our regular traveling order. You can put your souvenirs in Bobby's place."

Rowena slumped lower and lower in the rumble as he drove swiftly along the heavily shaded roads. She did not feel at all well. In a way, she almost believed she was sorry it was over. It had been fun—all except Peter. It would have been great—glorious—without Peter. Rowena certainly was not feeling well. Her heart was leaden within her. Two large tears forced themselves under her hot lids and through the silken lashes. Rowena closed her eyes and pretended she was asleep.

"If Peter thinks I've got anything to cry about, he's crazy," she said stoutly.

At a sudden lurch of the car she opened her eyes. Much to her surprise she saw that they were far from the state highway, and following a narrow dirt road through a thick piece of woods. She tapped on the window.

"Peter, you're off the road. This isn't the way to New York."

"I know it. It's a short-cut."

Rowena sighed. "I knew I should watch you," she said resignedly.

Presently he turned off from the dirt road into a narrow wood lane, no more than a cow-path it seemed. Rowena knew instantly it would never take them any place at all. She knocked on the window again.

"Peter, you're lost. This road doesn't go anywhere."

The cow-path turned abruptly up a sharp and jagged hill and ended abruptly at the foot of an immense boulder in the very heart of the forest.

"It's a dead end," said Rowena. "What did I tell you?"

Peter got out of the car and went back, very slowly, to stand beside her, folding his arms rigidly on the rim of the rumble. She noticed immediately how very grim he looked, how his pleasant eyes had narrowed and his lips set.

She stared deeply into his eyes, her lashes still wet with tears, and waited for him to speak. "Get out, Rowena," he said at last thickly. "This is our last stop."

"Why, we can be in New York in two hours!" she protested faintly. "We've had our luncheon—there's nothing here to stop for."

"Get out," he repeated doggedly. "We're staying here tonight."

Rowena looked at him wonderingly and put out her hand, slender and sunburned, pink palm upturned and fingers curling. Peter ignored the silent appeal of it.

"Rowena," he said, his voice grown low and strange, "you've made a damned fool of me day after day the whole summer. You've made me the laughing-stock of reporters and hotel clerks and automobile mechanics from coast to coast—not to mention the kick your friends in New York are getting out of my predicament. Well it's my turn now. You may get an annulment, you may get a divorce, you may get anything you damn please, but you're my wife—you're married to me—"

"But—not really married—Peter—"

"Well, you are going to be, and pretty damn quick," he said decidedly.

With a wave of his hand he indicated a little log cabin, deserted and still, that showed above the boulder in the thick of the forest.

"We're honeymooning here till Monday."

Rowena blinked her lashes very fast indeed. She fumbled around in the pocket of the rumble until she found rouge, powder and lipstick and painstakingly repaired the ravages of travel. After that she looked at Peter and laughed.

"You—you're good-natured about it," he said.

"Of course," she declared gaily. "This is an accident. Accidents never make me mad."

"Well, save up as much good humor as you can," he told her. "You're going to need a lot of it between now and Monday."

Rowena looked about her. The little cabin was tucked away snugly in a huge cleft of great rocks and about it on every side towered broad-branched trees, beginning to show gold and blood-red with the touch of autumn. Somewhere near a noisy brook chattered down-hill over the stones. And there was no sight of other habitation or wandering woodsmen in all the length and breadth of the forest.

"It belongs to a friend of mine," said Peter. "That's what I phoned about—to say we were tired and would appreciate the use of the cabin for a few days."

"Are—are we to be quite alone here?" she inquired casually.

"Quite alone."

"It—it will make it—difficult—about the annulment."

"That," said Peter haughtily, "is up to your friend the judge."

Rowena put her hand on his arm.

"Peter," she said gently, "don't do anything rash. You'd better think it over."

Coach White's Lions Smother Sherwood In Opening Game Of Grid Season; Rankin Here Sat.

Coach Ted White's High School Lions showed the new gridiron mentor they were no bunch of old circus lions on the local lot last Saturday afternoon when they smothered a raw team from Sherwood High by a score of 33 to 0.

Although the visiting team was playing its first game of football as a team and most of the members of the squad were playing their first game, they showed considerable courage and on a few occasions made it necessary for the locals to hump themselves to break up an attack or to push through for gains. On the whole, the Sherwood lads played remarkably good game against the more seasoned Lions, considering the fact that the game was entirely new to most of the members of the team and that they have had but little time for practice this season.

The competition being so weak, Coach White's proteges had little opportunity to show much form in this opening encounter, but the occasion furnished an opportunity for the boys to get some needed training and a thorough workout of the entire squad. Every man who was in a suit was run into the game by Coach White and all had a chance to get a taste of play this season.

A stubborn line and some fleet backfield men showed up in this practice game. A line that averages around 170 pounds held the visiting team to practically a standstill in its attempts through that route and the coach is hopeful that this department will continue to show improvement and prove its mettle against more formidable opponents.

Joe Chandler showed up as a dependable ground gainer in the back field, and George Vic Montgomery gives excellent promise of becoming a heady field general in quarterback position. Two newcomers, the Westfall boys, also showed up well in the backfield, furnishing plenty of power for those final line plunges that mean touchdowns.

One noticeable weakness in the local machine will probably be corrected as the season progresses. This was in the defense against passing. New as the Sherwood team was, it completed a number of passes, most of them short, but a few for considerable gains. This attack was put to good use by Coach White to drill his lads in defense against the over-head game and he expects his proteges to have something in store for the next team that takes to the air.

One of the high spots of Saturday's game was a 60-yard run by Joe Chandler with perfect interference, always at his elbow, run by George Vic Montgomery. This spectacular run was made following a punt by the Sherwood team and although Chandler loped over the goal line, the referee ruled it a dead ball and the play was brought back with no count. It was a pretty piece of work, however, and showed the fans what they might expect in the event this team breaks loose.

There were some twenty or more men out in uniforms and each had his time in the game. The team as a whole showed up good for so early in the season and local fans are hopeful for a successful season with the material on hand. Conley Cox, one of the regular backs, was not in uniform because of injuries, but will be back in the game next Saturday barring further mishaps.

Next Saturday will not be such a soft berth for the locals, if the dope is correct. Beginning at 3 o'clock next Saturday afternoon, the Lions will entertain the Rankin High lads on the Powell Field grid for their second encounter. The Rankin squad last week battled the heavy Eldorado aggregation to a 6-to-6 standstill and as the Eldorado team is considered one of the strongest in this half of the district, Coach White is doing some earnest training this week to get his lads in shape for the expected stiff competition.

A movement is under way here to get the business houses of the city to close their doors during the game Saturday afternoon as a gesture of encouragement to the team and its coach. But anyway, a large crowd is expected to be on hand Saturday afternoon to witness the encounter with Rankin, which promises to be a real football game.

EVANGELIST TO LECTURE AT CHURCH OF CHRIST

Evangelist H. F. Oliver of Austin will deliver a lecture tonight at the Ozona Church of Christ on "Christian Character," it was announced this morning by church officers. Services will begin at 7:45 p. m. All members of the church and the community in general are cordially invited to hear the lecture.

Mr. Oliver has been in the service of the church as an evangelist for many years, and is considered one of the most capable lecturers in the church organization. There will be no admission fees. This will be the only service to be held here by the evangelist.

EXPERT TAILOR HERE

A representative of the Churchill Tailoring Company, one of the foremost concerns in the country making tailor-made clothes, for men, will be at the Lemmons Dry Goods Company Monday and Tuesday of next week to establish the local concern as agents for the tailoring company. The factory representative is an expert tailor and will take the measure of any person who wishes to place an order for a tailor-made suit at this time. A special low introductory price is being made on this line to introduce it in Ozona. The company representative will be equipped with a full line of samples of the newest fall and winter materials and styles.

Mrs. J. C. Littleton of Abilene is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Ingham, this week.
