Eleven Howard county 4-H club boys, accompanied by O. P. Griffin, county agent, and Norvin M. Smith of Gay Hill, were to leave Sunday morning to attend the Southwestern Livestock exposition at Fort Worth.

They will be in Fort Worth Monday for the observance of 4-H club day. Return trip is set for Tuesday afternoon. Funds were provided for the trip by the chamber of commerce and out of concessions at the district club boy livestock show here. The chamber gave $33 toward the trip and T. W. Ashley turned over an additional $19 from concessions. Due to make the trip were Wal-

WANT MORE MONEY FOR FLOOD CONTROL

WASHINGTON, Mar. 11 (AP)—Forty members of a house flood control bloc agreed today to ask presidential aid in boosting by $85,000,000 the budget bureau's recommendation of $110,000,000 for flood control next year. They declared that army engineers recommended expenditures of $195,000,000. The group also agreed that a representative from each state would form an informal committee to call on President Roosevelt in the interest of restoring the appropriation to the amount proposed by the engineers.

LARGE LAKE IN THE MAKING ON CURRIE RANCH IN GLASSCOCK

ONLY A RAIN NEEDED TO GIVE STEVE CURRIE ONE OF THE LARGEST LAKES IN AREA

GARDEN CITY, Mar. 11—Steve Currie is waiting for one of those big spring rains. There's little doubt about it. When that rain comes, as it eventually must in West Texas, water will roll off scores of sections of rolling range country into a series of creek beds, tuffable into Lacy Draw and swell that channel a few hundreds yards wide some 12 miles below Garden City. And that's right where Steve Currie has his dam, the biggest thing in these parts. Just give him that one big rain and he'll likely have the biggest private, man-made lake in mid-West Texas.

3,000-Foot Dam Stretching across Lacy Draw at one of the narrowest points on the ranch is a 2,000-foot dam. The structure, constructed with a big shovel and a young fleet of trucks, averages 16 feet in height, has a 4-1 spread giving it a maximum base width of around 80 feet in the center of the dam. Building it required the moving of 35,000 cubic yards of dirt. It will take a mighty big rise to ever damage the dam for it has a spillway capable of carrying a stream of water eight feet deep and 1,000 feet wide. The spillway is located at the west end of the dam where it makes a bend to the south. For 400 feet around the bend, the dam is rip-rocked, and for 100 feet at the end of the spillway section of the dam it is covered with rip-rock set in cement.

To Cover 200 Acres When full, the lake will cover approximately 200 acres of ground. However, Currie has employed an engineering trick to increase the lake size by some 80 acres without endangering the dam. He has a shallow spreader dam which spurs off from the main dam as it bends into the spillway. Should the water get too high for this, it would immediately collapse, allowing the surplus to rush down the spillway. Some conception of the size of the dam and lake is gained by comparison with the Big Spring lakes being constructed in southeastern Howard county. One of these lakes, which is to impound 800,000,000 gallons of water, covers only 141 acres and has a dam 1,500 feet long. The other, trapping 480,000,000 gallons, covers 144 acres and has a dam 1,600 feet long. Currie's lake, it will be remembered, has a dam 2,000 feet long and can cover a maximum of 200 acres. Both the Big Spring dams have a combined watershed of 55 miles. The Currie lake will impound waters from little less than a third of Glasscock county—a drainage area roughly estimated at 200 to 300 sections.

Supply From Wells Once it is filled, he all probability Steve Currie's lake will never go dry unless a phenomenal flood carries out the dam. The reason is that he has two wells of the greatest potential production of anything in this section. The one he now pumps on the east side of the lake has tested 1,000 gallons a minute. It is only 94 feet deep and Currie says that "if it were drilled another 25 feet I don't believe we would be able to exhaust it." The other well, located at the northwest end of the lake bed, is bottomed at 180 feet and there are indications that it may be a better well than the first. Should an unusually dry cycle of weather set in, Currie could turn his wells and supply enough water to hold the water level. Considering the size of his lake this may tax credulity, but anyone who witnesses good, living water gushing out of an 8 5/8 inch pipe hour on hour has no trouble believing that the lake level could be held. Power is a small item, for Currie operates one centrifugal pump with an automobile motor.

For Irrigation The rich, black soil below the dam would make an ideal spot for irrigation and Currie has run an eight-inch pipe through the center of the dam to make water available for that purpose. Because Lacy Draw drains into the North Concho river, the dam is ideal for flood control purposes. On the eastern banks of the lake basin, he has four tanks brimming with water to serve as a battery for his private fish hatchery. In one tank he has a stock of bass. Recently he placed 25 large crappie in another space and in a third he has a supply of brim. The fourth will serve another type of good game fish.

No haphazard thing is the dam and lake project, for Currie enlisted the aid of the area water conservation authorities and has taken care of every small item, even down to providing for the correct type of water plants and dam sod. Overlooking the lake from the northwest is the Currie home, a beautiful structure perfectly kept and surrounded by beautiful trees and an attractive yard. It is near enough that Mr. and Mrs. Currie and their son, James Richard, are only a few minutes from the lake. It is near enough, too, that Steve Currie and James Richard can pull out the canoe a far-sighted San Angelo friend gave them and try it out on the lake when that rain comes.

ABUNDANT MOISTURE IN MOST OF NATION

WASHINGTON, Mar. 11 (AP)—The weather bureau reported today that the spring planting season would find abundant moisture supplies in the soil over most of the country. Only in the Great Plains region, it said, do conditions border on the unfavorable. There, the sub-soil was still dry. J. E. Kincer, the bureau's climatic authority, said recovery from the severe drought of the 1932-36 period continued this winter, due largely to one of the wettest Februarys of record.

SMALLER LAMB CROP FOR U. S. FORECAST

WASHINGTON, Mar. 11 (AP)—The agriculture department forecast today a slightly smaller early spring lamb crop than the large production of a year ago. The number of early lambs for slaughter before July 1 will be materially smaller than a year ago, the department added, because of a very poor condition of the livestock in California and Texas where a large proportion of the early crop was not expected to reach slaughter weight and condition by that date. In California, the most important source of early lambs, the present and prospective feed situation was said to be very poor, indicating that a large proportion of the lambs will have to be sold as feeders. In Texas, which last year ranked second in the number of early lambs marketed before July, weather and feed conditions were said to have been very unfavorable since the first of the year.

Farmer-Groups Taking Advantage Of FSA's Community Loan Plan

The Farm Security Administration announced this past week that more than 7,000 groups of small farmers had borrowed a total of $4,404,123 to purchase equipment and services for group use from the beginning of its Community Service Loan program in July, 1938 up to January 1, 1939.

William H. Gora, county farm supervisor, said there are 84 co-operators in the part of Texas included in Region XII of the FSA, with loans amounting to $30,829.30.

Such loans have enabled 128,856 farm families, composing 7,183 borrowing groups, to expand and improve the efficiency of their farming operations through purchase of equipment or services not previously available in their communities. These services include combines, silage cutters, pasturebred bulls, stallions, jacks and boars.

WERE talking about that friend of yours who owns a 1939 Buick—You've heard plenty from him, naturally, about the fresh-as-the-morning-breeze styling of his taut and trim new Buick—and the way it perks abody up just to look it over! You've listened while he sang the praise of a ride that's like a lullaby—soft and gentle as a tender touch, but sure, unwavering, steady, in cross-wind or at speed. No doubt you've sensed his joy at those eight eager Dynafash cylinders, that need only the gentlest sort of hint to hike you straight to the forefront—and the snug and reassuring steadiness of this low-slung, stable stepper's gait! All of which is well and good, and not to be disputed. But has your good friend told you this: ... That Buick's prices are easily the lowest prices for the value you'll find anywhere on automobile row? ... That this far-ranging great-hearted eight—with all the sky-larking life those extracylinders give it—still costs less than some sixes? ... That factory list figures run anywhere from $51 to $102 less than a year ago—and that they buy worlds more in self-banking Knee-Action, Handshift transmission, 15% softer BuicCoil Springing, visibility stepped up as much as 412 square inches, any number of so-called "extras" such as the Flash-Way direction signal? If he hasn't told you this, it's plainly time to do this: Get dollars-and-cents figures on what the model of your choice will cost delivered in your driveway! That will prove, we think, that Buick's the car and the value of the year. And we're certain sure it will tell you what your best friend may have forgotten—this shining star is in your reach, so why should you be without it?

FDR's Program Makes Headway Despite Obstacles In Congress

WASHINGTON, Mar. 11 (AP)—Two months and more of congress and the continuing battle between President Roosevelt and members of his own party have demonstrated that the chief executive, despite the setback of last fall's elections, is still a powerful antagonist.

His defense program is sliding through with scarcely a hitch, although accompanied by vigorous criticism of his foreign policy. A bill giving him power to reorganize the executive branch of the government has been passed by the house. His major nominations, some of them disputed, have received confirmation by heavy senate majorities.

On the other side of the scale, the chief executive was soundly rebuffed by the senate for not consulting Senators Glass and Byrd of Virginia on the appointment of a federal judge in that state. Economy advocates won the first round of a still unfinished bout over the amount to be appropriated for relief. And the nomination of Thomas R. Amle to the interstate commerce commission is facing opposition of such proportions there is talk it may be withdrawn.

At the moment, Mr. Roosevelt is simultaneously endeavoring to encourage the expansion of business by statements that he has no further plans for business legislation at this session and preparing to renew his fight with the economy bloc over the size of the relief appropriation.

Relief Differences Early in the session he asked congress for $275,000,000 to keep WPA running from February to July. It responded with an appropriation of $725,000,000 and an invitation to Mr. Roosevelt to ask for more should that sum prove inadequate. The reduction was approved in the senate by a single vote. Promptly, the president asked congress for the $150,000,000 that was lopped off. He plans to send another communication to the capitol Monday on the same subject.

Linked with the controversy over the Roosevelt foreign policy is the neutrality act and an impending fight over amendments to it. Mr. Roosevelt said that in his opinion the law had made no contribution to peace, and might, in fact, have encouraged threats of war.

Texas Hiways Costing Over $6500 A Mile

Auditor Completes Check On Department's Books

AUSTIN, Mar. 11 (AP)—Construction of one mile of highway costs more than $6,500 and maintenance of that mile nearly $400 a year, State Auditor Tom C. King reported today in an audit of the state highway department's books covering five years ending last Aug. 31.

King said for the two years ending Aug. 31, 1938, the department constructed 8,842 miles of highway at an average cost of $6,527 a mile which figure did not include bridges and grade crossings.

The state was maintaining 21,466 miles of state highway on that date as compared with 19,913 on Aug. 31, 1934, King said. "The average cost of maintenance for the 1938 year was $390 per mile.

The audit showed department revenues for the year ending Aug. 31, 1938, were $40,181,816 as compared with $45,756,390 for the 1937 year and $46,006,542 for the 1936 year.

The decline was attributed to a decrease in federal funds from $22,226,449 for the 1936 year to $11,792,960 for the year ending Aug. 31, 1938.

King said income from the two cents a gallon gasoline tax increased annually over the years the audit covered. The other two cents tax goes to the school fund and to the retirement of road bonds.

Expenditures for the year ending Aug. 31 last were $40,529,870, classified as follows: Construction $29,990,216; maintenance $8,280,668; highway planning survey $421,239; highway patrol $692,048; Galveston-Bolivar ferry expense, less tolls $52,308; divisions operating expenses $245,399; administrative expenses $720,268, and other charges $58,026.

The department's balance sheet as of Aug. 31 last year reflected total departmental assets of $18,856,894, consisting of $11,258,047 cash and claims receivable, $104,066 loans, $1,058,996 in N.R.H. fund, $3,000,000 in highway investment funds, $1,044,555 in cost of materials and supplies, $2,388,739 in land, buildings and equipment, and $5,519 in deferred charges.

MRS. ROOSEVELT TO SPEAK AT DALLAS

DALLAS, Mar. 11 (AP)—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, wife of the president, will be honored at a luncheon here tomorrow before she speaks in the afternoon at Fair Park auditorium, where she will be introduced by Governor W. Lee O'Daniel.

Mrs. Roosevelt spoke tonight at Sherman, planned to return to Fort Worth after her talk there, and will drive here from Fort Worth with her son Elliott Roosevelt and his wife.

Governor O'Daniel planned to leave Austin shortly after his Sabbath broadcast ends at 9 a. m. Mrs. Frances Potter Hauser, who arranged for Mrs. Roosevelt to speak here said the governor would bring Mrs. O'Daniel, and his three children, with him.

POLICE CHIEF HAS TO PAY FOR PAL

HOUSTON, Mar. 11 (AP)—Police

Chief T. C. Brown ordered all the cops to cough up fines for friends they had stood good for in municipal court if the friends had failed to appear for trial. Imagine the chief's surprise when the court clerk called the chief's name as one of 22 officers who would have to pay up for a pal, who skipped when the chief released him on a misdemeanor charge. The chief glanced ruefully at the order and said he would either pay the fine or produce the friend in court.

School Areas Seek Help On Tax-Free Land

Want Money To Compensate For Tax-Exempt Loss

SAN ANGELO, Mar. 11 (AP)—Promised state aid equivalent to their losses of tax revenue six years ago but now approximately $270,000 in the red on the promise, 29 West Texas school districts plan to seek a law or a constitutional amendment compensating them for their school-tax free University of Texas endowment lands or enabling them to levy their normal taxes on the institution's acreage.

Plans for another effort to seek relief were announced today by H. G. Secrest, superintendent of schools at Rankin and chairman of the association to tax university lands. The six-year effort to compensate the university land districts culminated in flat failure this week when Attorney General Gertrude C. Mann ruled that a law intended to effect that and did not authorize the state superintendent to make the state aid allocations equivalent to the lost taxes.

The school districts, containing nearly 2,000,000 acres of university lands, had secured passage by the house—vote 125 to 10—of a bill submitting a constitutional amendment. But they dropped the amendment proposal then when their leaders were promised in senate committee hearings that state aid could be provided by simple statute to counteract the tax losses, Secrest said.

The bill which resulted, including federal forest land districts, too, stated that the superintendent should take into consideration "any loss sustained by" districts "by reason of location in said districts of university lands." But a clause mentioning only the federal lands was construed to mean that university land districts also should receive aid only on the basis of "facts and circumstances applicable to all other school districts." The 20 districts serve 20,000 pupils now as against 9,171 when the bill was passed six years ago, Secrest declared.

Counties containing university lands were authorized by constitutional amendment to tax the lands, the state paying the county taxes by a special appropriation.

When approached on his ideas in changes of the West Fifth and San Antonio street ballpark, directors of the local WT-NM baseball league club were surprised to learn that Tony Rego, apparent manager of the club affairs for the coming season, did not want the distance to the right field fence, now but 295 feet from home plate, lengthened or any barrier erected on the wall. . . .

Thus, it appears that, while major renovations are planned for the immediate future, that wall will be left strictly alone. . . .

Major improvement will probably be reconstruction of the grandstand. A hazard to a crowd's safety is the present arrangement. . . .

U. S. To Build Warships For Neighbors

S. American Aid Is Seen As Defense Of Hemisphere

WASHINGTON, Mar. 11 (AP)—A proposal that the United States build warships in navy yards for Brazil and other Latin-American nations—if necessary underbidding Europe—received the endorsement of the state department today, giving rise to the general assumption it was an integral part of administration efforts to tighten hemisphere defenses.

Acting Secretary Sumner Welles said the state department was heartily in favor of the general objectives of the proposal, put forward by Chairman Pittman (D-Nev.), of the senate foreign relations committee.

While the navy was non-committal, informed diplomatic quarters understood naval officials had been consulted.

Pittman announced he would offer next week a measure to authorize all Latin-American nations to build warships in United States navy yards "at the lowest competitive price."

Brazil, Argentina and some other South American governments have had warcraft built in Italy, Germany and England where labor and material costs in commercial shipyards are lower than in this country.

In addition to the ship-building proposal, there were informed reports the administration might conclude with other South American countries economic understandings similar to that reached this week with Brazil.

Welles explained to his press conference that specific legislation would be required to permit navy yards, busy now with the billion-dollar fleet expansion program, to undertake work for foreign governments.

Welles commented that the United States rearmament program should take precedence over other considerations.

Scout Health Work Talked

Common sense in health and safety programs for Boy Scouts was stressed by E. I. Vrendenburgh, assistant national director of health and safety, before a gathering of scout leaders here Saturday evening.

Vrendenburgh contended for a program of protection, education and service and pointed out many means by which boys can learn to do by doing.

Periodical inspection of meeting places, of equipment, means of transportation, of water supplies and milk were advised by the national commander. He laid particular stress upon physical examination of every boy that comes into scouting.

Practical safety tips were demonstrated by a group of Troop No. 3 scouts composed of Arvie Walker, Wofford Hardy, Bob Penrose, Big Spring, field executive, Don Peterson, Lubbock, field executive, Bob Shellburg, Lubbock, Texas Tech student, Phil Harvey, Wink, and George Melear, Nat Shick, Jack Hodges, Joe Pickle, B. Reagan, Harvey Morris, Dr. W. B. Hardy, and C. S. Blomfield, district chairman, of Big Spring.

Attending the meeting were Charles Paxton, Sweetwater, council president, Al Siles, Sweetwater, area executive, Jack Penrose, Big Spring, field executive, Don Peterson, Lubbock, field executive, Bob Shellburg, Lubbock, Texas Tech student, Phil Harvey, Wink, and George Melear, Nat Shick, Jack Hodges, Joe Pickle, B. street lights were turned on at noon.

The Hale Center storm was described as the worst for the section since 1935. Small buildings and windmills were wrecked in that section and farmers feared damage to fields of young wheat would be heavy.

Some observers said the winds were as strong as in 1934 and 1935, at the height of the drought.

A dust storm rolled into the Abilene section about 5:30 p. m., reducing visibility from two and a half miles to about 400 yards in ten minutes.

Dust struck Plainview before noon Saturday, increasing in intensity as the afternoon wore on. Motorists were forced to turn on lights as dust reached Electra and visibility dropped to one hundred feet. Visibility at Plainview at times was less than a block.

A 40-mile-an-hour wind brought dust to Wichita Falls and visibility was reduced to an eighth of a mile. Cooler temperatures began to dispel dust clouds which swept across the high plains of New Mexico to Clovis.

RIVAL UNIONS WORK IN OPPOSITION IN SHIPPING BERRIES

PONCHATOLA, La., Mar. 11 (AP)—Two rival farmer unions loaded strawberries today in separate refrigerated railroad cars a stone's throw apart as several thousand farmers milled about the depot.

There was an atmosphere of tension, but a week's rumors that the first carload movement of the 1939 Louisiana berry crop might be shipped amid violence were not borne out.

Members of the Louisiana Farmers Protective association rallied around a sound truck to hear music and speeches made by James H. Morrison, organizer of the union and an unsuccessful candidate for congress last fall.

Morrison charged that under the existing marketing system there has been a conspiracy for years to prevent the berry growers from making profits.

Morrison cautioned against violence, but at his suggestion sympathizers of his group picketed the refrigerator car of the Growers' and Shippers' Cooperative Union with placards bearing such legends as "ship union, this is a scab," and "this is a scab car." There was no attempt to prevent the loading of berries.

Members of the association led by Morrison stopped berry trucks as they came to town today and asked the drivers to unload at the protective union's refrigerator car.

The Growers' and Shippers' Cooperative is headed by Marion T. Fannally, long one of the berry belt's leading shippers.

The Week

Hill Tuesday evening. Looks like it might be working.

New construction at the state hospital this year will amount to $50,000. Dr. George T. McMahon, superintendent, disclosed last week. In addition, $75,000 in equipment is to be installed within the next few months so that the hospital may open in May and utilize appropriations of $25,000 and $44,000 for salaries and operation.

The city offers its special residential irrigation rate for the fourth year. The $3.50 for 10,000 gallons saves $1.20. Anyone who uses 7,000 gallons can't lose on the rate. Anyone who has a pretty yard doesn't lose, either.

Practically finished last week was the first section of the WPA municipal airport project. The port now presents a nice picture, but there are indications that there is more than meets the eye wrapped up in recent improvements.

Someone ought to pin the "well done" sign on Billy and Russell Sadler, Martin county 4-H club boys who have accomplished outstanding records in livestock feeding this year. This section, as well as Mr. and Mrs. V. R. Sadler, should be proud of them.

There were two developments last week to offset rumors that city and county are at odds. First the city invited county commissioners to a dinner to discuss any mutual problems. By the end of the week, the two quickly got together in providing for two new case workers.

Rural Route Has Grown

Growth of Howard county's rural route No. 1—the first rural route in this part of West Texas—is traced accurately in figures compiled by postal employees here last week.

When service was inaugurated on the route on Oct. 1, 1907, only 28 miles were included on the itinerary. It was not materially lengthened until 1923 when it was extended to 58.1 miles. In 1937 it got another addition which ran it to 70.1 miles and then again in 1938 to 72.1 miles.

First carrier for the route was Marshall Ingraham who worked it until June 30, 1908 when H. S. Meekimen took it over to carry it for 23 years, retiring finally on June 11, 1931.

Garland Sanders became a temporary carrier, serving until Aug. 31, 1932. E. E. Fahrenkamp then took over the route for the remainder of that year.

Paul Blanke came from Plano to assume charge of the route at the start of 1933 and carried it until his retirement on Oct. 31, 1934. Eli E. Bryant transferred from Rising Star to carry the route until his death on May 3, 1936. Irvin Daniel served as substitute carrier until Weldon Bryant became temporary carrier on May 10 of the same year. Paul Attaway, who now carries the route, took it over on July 6, 1936.

OBSERVER KNEW OF NAZI AIR PROGRAM

WASHINGTON, Mar. 11 (AP)—A charge in congress that American military observers were caught napping by Germany's sensational development of air power brought disclosure today that Lieut.-Col. Truman Smith, attaché at Berlin, reported it 15 months ago.

Authoritative sources said Smith advised President Roosevelt and military observers in December, 1937, Germany already had outstripped France and Great Britain and warned against American "smugness."

During house debate on the $499,807,000 war department appropriation bill, Representative Collins (D-Miss) asserted the air expansion program was planned hurriedly because American military attaches in Europe had been "asleep on the job."

Quarters, which in rebuttal to Collins made public parts of Smith's report described it as one of several from abroad which kept the administration well advised.

Museum To Solicit Members

Plans Made To Enlarge And Add Equipment

Tentative plans for the expansion of the West Texas Memorial museum have been outlined by the head officials of the Museum association and are to be put into definite form in the near future.

Plans are being discussed whereby, with the cooperation of the district administrator, J. S. Allen of the WPA staff, the museum projects in Howard county and at large will be extended.

Allen has visited at the museum and consulted with City Manager E. V. Spence, President P. W. Malone, and Mrs. Mary Bumpas relative to future archaeological and historic research in this county and the West.

Due to changes in Washington, it has been made easier for small museums to share in the projects and activities throughout the state and will enable Howard county museum to share in the museum movement in West Texas.

Plans for a larger museum are believed justifiable, according to the officials, in view of the fact that the interest in the museum has assumed a wide area. Registration books show that more than 15,000 people have visited it since May 1 of last year at the new site in the city park. Representatives from 24 states, one-half of number in the Union, have registered with the museum more than once during the past 16 months.

The annual campaign for memberships in the West Texas Memorial Museum association will begin this week and continue until the canvass is completed. More funds than usual will be needed in order to carry out plans for more space and equipment for exhibits. The museum movement has become a part of progressive education in a large number of communities and officials are requesting the cooperation of the public.

Floating Clouds Of Blouses Add Lightness And Color To Spring's Fashion Firmament

Beading is back in blouses for spring. Here it is hand-crocheted, threaded in black velvet ribbon and used to rim the high-neckline and puffed sleeves of a fine Swiss batiste blouse. The yoke is tucked.

By ADELAIDE KERR
AP Fashion Editor

Blouses make one of the most lustrous constellations in the spring fashion firmament. The great vogue for lingerie touches, the midwinter use of evening blouses and the variety of spring suits have combined to make them more important than they have been in years, fashion "astrologers" say.

Brightest cluster of the blouse stars is a group of sheer frilly, white lingerie designs, frothy as a cloud and feminine as Venus. Most of them are made of organdy or lawn, finished with shirred bands and eyelet embroidery or with a cascading jabot and frilled lace edge. Beading has come back, too, and, threaded with dark ribbon, bands, necklines and sleeves. Tucks and trim tailoring, however, keep the blouses from giving a too-frivolous effect.

News in their designs lies in the fact that their backs are treated as carefully as their fronts—indication that, for the first time in years, designers regard them not simply as accessories to wear under a jacket, but as part of a costume which will often be on view when the coat is removed. Hence backs are often tucked and sometimes lace-trimmed. Necklines generally are fairly high and sleeves often are puffed. Among the talked-of designs is a round-necked batiste "baby blouse" sometimes finished with a lace frill and tucking in a manner reminiscent of a baby's dress.

So strong is the sheer blouse vogue that new silps have been designed with lace-trimmed camisole tops to wear under them.

The rest of the spring blouse news lies in a number of glorified shirts of polka dotted chiffon, surah and striped silk shirting, designed with tailored collars and wide bishop sleeves. Blouses of plain and gingham taffeta designed to wear outside skirts are also shown.

Paul Kelly, Tough Guy Of The Screen, Nice Guy In Real Life

By MARY WHALEY

Paul Kelly is a "tough guy" only in the movies. When I talked with him Saturday morning he was most pleasant to interview.

Word from a faithful follower sent me scurrying across the street in a 90-mile gale to find Mr. Kelly with a carload of friends getting gas for their car before continuing to California from New York.

Accompanying Kelly were Frank Berlin, theatrical producer of New York and Mike and Steve Belloise. Mike and Steve Belloise are fighters that Mr. Kelly is managing and one had a broken jaw received in a recent bout. Far from getting any sympathy, all the injured man got was good-natured sipping because he couldn't talk "for publication."

They are all camera fiends (not fans) and took pictures of each other, their beards which were really fierce looking, and even one of me interviewing Paul Kelly, so according to his friends, "it will make him look important."

The actor who can cut down the celluloid villains by that out-of-the-corner-of-his-mouth talk, seems to talk that way naturally but the trait is not nearly as noticeable in person as it is on the screen.

Kelly, who has played the part of reporter in several of his pictures look great delight in crossing me up and mixing his statements. But just when I got impatient he would straighten me out and laugh, "just a smart guy."

The group are en route to the Kellymac ranch in Chatsworth, Calif., where "the wind doesn't blow and there aren't any sandstorms" and despite an invitation to stay, they were anxious to push on toward home.

Bob Taylor, Wallace Berry Starred In Action Drama

Stand Up And Fight' Is Attraction At Ritz

That campaign to make a he-man of Robert Taylor continues in a bang in the release of an action drama, "Stand Up And Fight," which headlines the Ritz program for today and Monday.

Taylor has co-starring support in an actor who has never had a leading role in being classed in tough characterizations, Wallace Berry, in the new picture is said to have been the elements of Taylor's "Crowd Roars," and Berry's "Man of Brimstone."

Unique in that it combines authentic historical background of a hot and locale hitherto uncharted in motion pictures with a sort of rapid-fire pace that is the western of silent days so essentially popular, "Stand Up and Fight" seems likely to be the forerunner of a cycle of stories of the kind, so sure in its hold on audience, who demand motion above all in their motion pictures.

Taylor's role of the bankrupted Maryland aristocrat changed into going to work for the George Barn line gives him an opportunity to combine romantic appeal with the he-man type of characterization which won him his first big role in "A Yank at Oxford" and "Crowd Roars." Berry's role is the hand-droit, often unscrupulous manager of the Bulletin Line, another natural, a typical Berry character played to the hilt and comparable with any of his finest.

For Florence Rice the feminine lead is a sure augury of great success to come for she handles this, her first major assignment, with a sure touch and appealing charm. Her greater advantage than in the past is the bonus of the "Crowd Roars" comedienne Helen Broderick is at her sardonic best, while Bickford and Barton Macno are as villainous as could be shed of a "heavy." Clinton Rose and embodies all the paths of a negro slave, and Charley Chapin, John Qualen, Robert Seidler and others lend memorable support.

Besides keeping a fast-moving story straight as a bullet in its objective, Director W. S. Van Dyke has combined a warmth atmosphere with the roughness his backgrounds to a remarkable degree.

MR. TAYLOR GETS TOUGH

Robert Taylor is a rough and ready citizen again, in a new production titled "Stand Up And Fight," playing today and Monday at the Ritz theatre. Another rough and ready citizen with him is Wallace Berry, and the chief feminine role is filled by Florence Rice.

Crime Story Offered At The Queen

Humphrey Bogart Is Starred In 'King Of The Underworld'

In his first starring role since making his mark in Hollywood as a featured player in "Angels With Dirty Faces," "The Amazing Dr. Chatterhouse" and "Crime School," Humphrey Bogart, filmdom's ace gangster, will star in a new picture, "King Of The Underworld," which is offered today and Monday at the Queen.

A Warner Bros. picture and featuring Kay Francis as a surgeon, the cast includes James Stephenson, John Eldredge, Jessie Busby, Arthur Aylesworth, John Ridgely, Harland Tucker and Charley Foy, and was directed by Lewis Seiler. The picture marks Humphrey Bogart's rise to starring ranks — a fact welcomed by his fans.

Although "King of the Underworld" is a crime picture, it is not without its humorous twist. The capable Bogart, possessing a Napoleonic complex, really thinks he is the king of Crime—so much so, that he kidnaps a young novelist, Stephenson, and commands him to write a biography, glorifying the exploits and achievements of "Red" Gurney, which is Bogart's character name.

Red Gurney's philosophy of life, his inordinate vanity and his dictatorial treatment of his underlings are said to be highly amusing. But he fails to take into account the surgeon's feminine ingenuity and her complete knowledge of drugs which eventually proves disastrous to the gang chief.

The story, by W. R. Burnett, who wrote the famed "Little Caesar," which starred Edward G. Robinson a few years ago, was adapted for the screen by George Bricker and Vincent Sherman.

SHIRLEY — PLUS COMEDIANS

Little Shirley Temple is at the Lyric again today and Monday, to sing and dance and smile her way through an unusual story called "Just Around The Corner," wherein the usual entertainment efforts accompany some sort of message about prosperity. Bert Lahr and Joan Davis have the principal comedy roles in the supporting cast.

Has Written 350 Programs To Tell Of The Travels And Experiences Of Radio's 'Grandma Beale'

Three hundred and fifty programs—each one done to perfection and wrapped in a package that seems to please even the most casual listener. That is the enviable record of Jack Mathae, the young director who has dramatized the true life story of Grandma Beale. He never seems to have any trouble in finding the right people for Grandman to help out of trouble—and true, her experiences have taken him from Michigan to Texas. He is always right at home, having traveled extensively himself.

A few of the many air shows with which he has been associated include, "Betty and Bob," "Don Winlow," "Today's Children," and "A Tale of Today."

You will hear Mathae's current dramatic hit, "Grandma Travels," daily except Saturday and Sunday at 10 o'clock over station KBST.

DRUG TALK
Shine Phillips, well-known Big Spring druggist, will be heard in a brief talk over KBST and the Texas State Network from 6 to 6:05 o'clock Monday afternoon. Phillips' microphone appearance is one of twice-weekly broadcasts over TSN under sponsorship of the Texas Pharmaceutical association dealing with legislation before the state legislature affecting druggists. Phillips' talk will originate in the KBST studios and will be fed to the 23 stations of TSN.

From 6:05 to 6:15 Miss Mary Vance Keneaster, KBST program director, will present a ten-minute piano interlude which also will be broadcast over the entire TSN group of stations.

NEW TIME
"Piano Impressions," one of KBST's oldest and most popular programs, moves into a new time slot on the station log tomorrow. Heard for more than two years from 10:15 to 10:30, "Piano Impressions" will be heard each week-day morning, beginning Monday, at 9:45.

The time change is made necessary for a feature Texas State Network program which begins on the network and KBST March 20th. During the coming week, and until the commercial program gets under way, "Georgia Crackers," a fiddle band from Mutual, will be heard at 10:15. "Grandma Travels" heard for the past seven months at 10 o'clock Mondays through Fridays, will not be affected by the program time changes.

Shirley Adds Her Charm To Lyric Film

'Just Around The Corner' Given Return Engagement

The queen of the cinema—Shirley Temple, of course—is the attraction at the Lyric theatre today and Monday, as she returns to add her heart-warming appeal to an unusual story, "Just Around the Corner."

This story, developed by H. P. McEvoy, the writer who has written some nice things about Shirley, concerns the hilarious but happy consequences which arise when Shirley confuses a wealthy old banker (whose name is "Uncle Sam" Henshaw) with the lean and bewildered gentleman who is the symbol of our national character.

Production Chief Darryl F. Zanuck has surrounded his No. 1 star with a fine cast, including Charles Farrell, Joan Davis, Amanda Duff (a newcomer to films about whom you will probably hear much more later), Bill Robinson, Bert Lahr, Franklin Pangborn, Cora Witherspoon, Bessie Bartlett and others.

It is said that Zanuck first got the idea for a new kind of Shirley Temple story when, some months ago, he foresaw a general upswing in our national economic life. Together with McEvoy he discussed the general outlines of a story in which Shirley's miraculous talents would be focused on the commendable purpose of helping to restore Uncle Sam—both figuratively and literally—to his former, prosperous self.

McEvoy discussed the idea with other writers at the studio, one of whom—Paul Gerard Smith—presently turned in the original story treatment.

To Irving Cummings, who directed "Little Miss Broadway" and two of Shirley's other pictures, Zanuck entrusted the direction of "Just Around the Corner," and Walter Bullock and Harold Spina were assigned to write the new songs.

Shirley herself is said to have enjoyed working in "Just Around the Corner" more than in any of her previous pictures—and for a variety of reasons. Chief among these is that her part calls for an occasional outburst of that somewhat better-skelter young humor that is so characteristic of her irrefragable spirit outside the studio. For another thing the picture marks the initial screen appearance of her favorite pet, a Pekinese named "Ching-Ching" who has a small bit part and, thanks to Shirley's astute business sense, even gets paid for it. And finally, any picture in which she can dance with Bill Robinson—the man who taught her most of what she knows about dancing—is bound to be lots of fun for Shirley, as well as for everybody else!

Women At Work Knows The Value Of Insurance

Because insurance helped her when she needed assistance, Mrs. Jim Black became interested in the business to the extent that she decided to make it her job. At the time of life when most people are beginning to coast along, Mrs. Black became representative for Southwestern Life Insurance company here in Big Spring.

Following the death of her husband, Mrs. Black, who had three children, felt the need of something to do and a job to fill, and, as she expresses it, "because insurance helped me get on my feet and become adjusted, I felt that maybe I could help others when they needed help."

So without any previous knowledge of the business, Mrs. Black got her rate book, a few days instruction from a supervisor, added an enormous amount of determination to make good, and set out to make a career for herself.

Being in the business, according to Mrs. Black is "being your own boss" and the only limitation set on an agent is that determined by his own initiative, energy, and ability. In other words, there are no fixed hours for Mrs. Black's business and no set place to transact it as she makes her own calls and writes her own policies. But, on the other hand, since there is no one to say "do this" and "do that," it is awfully easy to get lazy, according to the agent.

Other than her insurance job, Mrs. Black has held only one other job and that was the position of bookkeeper which she filled for her husband for four years.

This was a new type of work for her but as she phrases it "I make so many nice contacts that, even if I don't sell a policy, I have made a friend."

One of the most amazing of all Mrs. Black's records is the fact that during her six years in the business she has had only one death claim. This remarkable record she knows no answer to except the fact that she must know "the healthiest people."

Of all types of policies that she writes, Mrs. Black enjoys most writing family income policies. She believes in this because she can see her own experience in each contact she makes of this kind.

Listening to Mrs. Black talk and watching her enthusiasm over her job, one is convinced of her sincerity and determination to succeed, the factors of success in any work.

The Seashore Is Quite A Place To A Girl Who Seldom Sees Rain

By NANCY PHILLIPS
AUSTIN, Mar. 11—I've been to the seashore! Last weekend I was busy listening to the ocean roar and break on Galveston beach. It was a welcome change—in my native open spaces, God's country to you and me, my ears are over-developed from straining to hear water drip in the sink. Of course, periodically, we stick our heads outside, sniff, and predict rain, but we only do that to amuse ourselves. My Dad used to predict rain by a few empty clouds lying near the edge of the horizon—called it a "Sailor" sign. It never rained. He got a barometer for Christmas. It still didn't rain. Oh well.

I have a much more accurate way of knowing when I am approaching water—my hair falls. Now to a woman with hopes and aspirations that is a calamity. I had hopes. It was dark when we drove into Galveston and we knew we wouldn't be able to see the water well until we got to the seawall so, in our anxiety, we stuck our heads out the window and tried to smell it. In some places that worked too well so we rolled up the windows and waited until we got to the seash. Four excited girls in a coupe have never been known to be safe so we climbed, crawled and jumped out. We stood together in unnatural silence as the orange moon rose between the waves and they washed its beams toward us on white foam. One in our party had never seen so much water in one place before and wasn't satisfied until she had tasted both the water and the sand.

The following day Frederick Koerber took us through parts of the Medical school. The anatomy laboratory impressed me more than anything else—the walls were lined with parts of the human body in bottles. I am a much wiser girl. That night we attended a fraternity barn dance. Our corsages consisted of carrots, beets, string beans and radishes surrounded by spinach. The dance floor was littered with decorations in bales of hay, spring wagons, live pigs and donkeys, and everyone was dressed in rural garb. Of course it was fun—informally always is.

We saw the sea—and Medical school.
