Gov't. To Buy 73 Cattle In County

Crockett Quota Set In Federal Canning Program For Relief

A quota of 73 cutter cows has been assigned for Crockett County in making up the necessary total in the government's beef canning program for the relief of unemployed and to stabilize beef cattle prices, local authorities have been advised.

Notice of the quota set for this county was received early this week by Scott Peters, cashier of the Ozona National Bank, from Walker Nesbit of San Angelo, district agent for the A. & M. College extension service. The quota will be prorated among local growers.

The government is buying the cows at prevailing market prices and the purchases are being made over the livestock producing area in accordance with the livestock census. A minimum of $1.75 per cow is to be paid for the animals. The cows will be slaughtered and canned at the government canning center in San Angelo, and sent from there to Austin to be distributed to the State's needy during the coming winter.

Crockett County ranchers who own suitable for this purpose may list what they have to sell with Mr. Peters and as the animals are needed, they will be called for and shipping arrangements made. Experienced cattle men will be on hand at the canning centers and the government reserves the right to refuse cows with poor flesh, crippled or diseased animals.

Mrs. Ira Carson, Mrs. George Bean and Mrs. W. J. Grimmer went to Sheffield Tuesday to assist the women of that town in the organization of a club along lines that would make it acceptable as a member of The Federation of Women's Clubs. The club is putting in application for membership in the federation with Mrs. Frank Friend, state vice-president, and are asking the Ozona Club and the Alpine club to recommend them for membership.

One Crime Begets Next In Queer Case

Jimmie McCoy Mrs. A. H. Bailey Mimos Doolittle

A chain of events, each the motive of the one that followed has resulted in two murders in San Antonio. To begin the weird series, Miss Mary Doolittle charged that Jimmy McCoy had attacked her. McCoy was no-billed by a grand jury. Shortly afterward Mimos Doolittle, Mary's brother, shot McCoy to death. Claiming that he avenged his sister's honor, Doolittle was set free. Now Mrs. A. H. Bailey, McCoy's mother, has killed Doolittle with a shotgun, revenging her son's murder. She is held in the Bexar county jail, where the photo was taken.

Appeal Issued For Used Toys

Lions Committee Head Asks Toys Be Given For Poor

An appeal for used toys which may be reconditioned and turned over to Santa Claus for distribution among the poor of the city at Christmas time was issued this week by C. S. Denham, chairman of the Lions Club committee to gather used toys for the club's annual Christmas Cheer program for the poor.

Boys of the manual training department of the school have volunteered their services in putting broken toys in shape and repainting them to brighten them up for their new owners. No matter what condition the toys may be in, if there is enough of them left to make it possible to repair them, the committee is anxious to have them.

"Anything from marbles to tricycles will be acceptable," Mr. Denham said. "Around every household where there are children, there are nearly always discarded toys that could be used to bring joy to the heart of some poor child. If you want to have a part in this worthwhile undertaking, leave your old toys at the school building, or call me and I will send for them." Mr. Denham earnestly requests that toys be turned over to him by the last of this week.

C. J. Watts, proprietor of Watts Service, the Star-Magnolia service station here, has found what he terms a happy combination in Star Tires and Stockman advertising.

On a special trade-in allowance of from 30 to 50 per cent, offered by Star tire makers, and advertised in the Stockman, Mr. Watts has enjoyed a brisk business in tire sales. The volume of business from the trade-in proposition is evidenced by a collection of non-descript tires, upon which the trade-in allowance was given, stacked at the side of the station.

Mr. Vaughn and Mrs. Bloomingdale suffered severe head wounds, both being almost scalped in the crash. Mrs. Vaughn suffered minor injuries and young Vaughn was only slightly hurt.

The injured were brought to Ozona where they received medical attention. They remained at the hotel Ozona until they had recovered sufficiently to return to their homes. They were on their way to El Paso to visit friends and relatives.

ASK APPROVAL CIVIL WORKS PROGRAM HERE

Dredging Draw, Sewer Extension, Street Work Included

APPLICATION SENT Terrace School Ground County Quota For Dec. Is 56 Workers

Dredging, deepening and straightening Johnson Draw through the city, street surfacing work and terracing and beautifying of the school grounds with material from the draw and extension of Ozona's sewer system to serve all parts of the city are projects which may be accomplished this winter through the Civil Works Administration.

Application for authority to start work on these projects with labor from local unemployed and relief rolls has already been filed with the State Relief Commission at Austin through R. O. Smith, Crockett County administrator, and approval is expected within the next few days.

Commissioners In Charge
If the projects are approved at Austin, the County Commissioners Court will be in charge of the contemplated work, with labor to be furnished through the local relief office. It is planned to dredge the big draw, to straighten its course and to deepen its channel. This work, it is thought, will go far toward preventing overflow of town property on occasions of heavy rains to the north of Ozona.

The bed of the draw will yield gravel and clay soil of ideal combination for street surfacing and terracing and the material thus dug out will be used on the streets and on the school grounds. Considerable other work about the school building is contemplated.

County Quota Is 56
Crockett County has been assigned a quota of 56 men to work on Civil Works projects for December. Only citizens of Texas are to be employed and Crockett County residents who are veterans of the World War with dependents are to be given first consideration for employment. Citizens of the county or veterans with no dependents are to be considered in the second bracket for consideration and veterans who are citizens of the state but not of the county are next in line. After these three classifications are cared for, any citizen of the state may receive employment on the projects. Those now on relief rolls are to be the first to be put to work on the Civil Works projects. Estimated expenditures on the projects out here amount to approximately $6,500.

Crockett Fleece Wins At Chicago Livestock Show

The superiority of Crockett County wool, grown from pure-bred Rambouillet sheep, was again demonstrated this week when two fleeces entered by Victor Pierce, Crockett County breeder of pure bred Rambouillets, won third place in each of their respective classes at the International Livestock Exposition in Chicago.

One of the fleeces was from a pure-bred Rambouillet ram and the other from a pure-bred Rambouillet ewe.

THE MERCHANTS OPPORTUNITY

Merchants and other business firms of this town are face to face with the opportunity of a lifetime, and we believe they realize it. The president's commodity price raising campaign has gone far beyond what he expected, and has become a matter of grave concern. It has brought the profiteers out in the open and they are gouging people to the limit, and the gouge is sinking deeper day by day. In a certain fair sized city a few weeks ago a popular brand of crackers were selling at nineteen cents a box. A few days ago the same crackers were priced at thirty-one cents a box—a price boost of more than sixty per cent.

That is just one small sample of what the profiteers are doing even this early in the game. We believe the business firms of this town are possessed of good judgment and a desire to be fair with their customers—they must of necessity make a reasonable profit on the goods they sell—they are entitled to that.

There is no excuse or justification for the sky-high rise in commodity prices during the past few weeks. That is most noticeable in the cities, where merchants appear to be going mad in their insane desire to "make a killing" in price boosting.

And therein lies the golden opportunity for the country town merchant. The buying public is going to become incensed and disgusted over the greed that has followed the president's invitation to raise prices. City merchants are not merely adding the increase in wholesale cost to their own retail prices. They are greatly increasing their standard scale of profits, thereby adding additional points of flesh at the expense of luckless consumers.

If our home merchants will refrain from such wild profiteering, and add only the increase in wholesale cost to their own retail prices they will find their selling cost far below the city. They will win the respect and gratitude of our townspeople and of the community adjacent to us, and that gratitude will keep trade at home that might otherwise go to some city.

Wise men take advantage of legitimate opportunities and plan for the future. Foolish men think only of the present and live penny in hand.—Democrat-Tribune, Carlin, Illinois.

THE MODERN NEWSPAPER

We believe with the Ute, Iowa, independent local newspapers were never so free from the trucking spirit, never so unqualifiedly devoted to the popular welfare, uninfluenced by hope of direct selfish gain, as they have been of late years and are now. That news paper makes this comment: "We frequently hear it said that the old-time independent spirit of the newspaper is gone; that its editorial policy is any subservient to the business end of the plant. Yet this is not true. There is more unselfish idealism in the average local newspaper than in any other business enterprise. It frequently speaks out in the way which it believes will be for the good of the nation and of the community, regardless of what the consequences may be from a business standpoint. This is more than the average business man will do or could do. Of course, the local newspaper is now on a firmer business basis than papers were back in the early days. This is why it is still improving from year to year, why it is giving its readers a constantly better newspaper and why it is increasing its influence for good in the community. And it does its boosting in most cases without any hope of material reward."—Herald, Wayne, Neb.

DO SOMETHING ABOUT IT

A business man of Arkansas recently received a letter from the Federal Barge Lines, in a franked envelope, soliciting his business. He replied—and gist of what he had to say was that he would never ship anything over that subsidized line, and that he resented the free use of the mails for sales promotion efforts.

His views are shared by a legion of American citizens. The difference is that most of them do nothing about it. They watch the hand of the bureaucrat feel its way into more and more business— they see government go into the unfair kind of competition with existing private businesses—they watch taxes soar while tax sources grow smaller. They have some realization of the menace in those things—they know that it may be only a question of time before their business will be among those hit. Yet so far, their influence has been negligible in shaping and creating governmental policies. They are disorganized—while the friends of government-in-business are organized and active.

It's long past the time that American business should make itself felt in this. There is plenty of ammunition at hand. The Shannon report, made by the Senate some time ago, produced the fact that more than 50 industries are subject to tax-exempt and tax-financed government competition. Other surveys show amazing discoveries.

We can't have real recovery if industry is frightened, and if investors are timid. Nor can we achieve it as long as an extortionate share of the national income goes to the tax collector. Here's a problem for every citizen.

Not So Coy

A coy little applicant for a country school was being questioned by the members of the school board. Questions were asked by various members of the board and she answered them with satisfaction. "And now, may I ask you," put in the pompous president of the board, "what would you consider one of the hardest undertakings in teaching?"

"Oh, I suppose teaching flies to make question marks instead of periods wouldn't be any cinch," replied the coy one.

ODD — BUT TRUE

SCHOOLING AND SUCCESS

Every year a new crop of youngsters comes to that crossroad where they are forced to decide whether to go further with their education or stop. It is an important decision. We are not the ones to say that every boy or girl who decides he or she has had enough school is wrong. Some of them will do better to go to work—if they will go to work. Stopping school does not necessarily mean the end of education. If they think it is, their outlook is wrong and none too encouraging. Two or three of the most successful farmers we know are constantly studying—studying and changing their methods when it is wise to do so. It is the man who ceases to study that is in danger. So the youngster who cannot or will not continue school should immediately set about building the foundation for success in some endeavor. Honesty, industry and close application to whatever they attempt will win. It will keep them interested and happy. The most unsuccessful man we can think of is a fellow who has made something of a fortune but is so disgruntled and distrustful with everybody and everything about him that he hardly has a friend left. Success is possible without a protracted academic training—but the time never comes when people can afford to stop gaining new knowledge. Most of our youngsters will do well to continue school if they possibly can. It opens up a much wider field for them when they seek employment.—Republican News, St. Johns, Mich.

THOSE WHO BUY

The time is coming when those who buy goods over the counters of the nation will be asking some new questions. Not only will they inquire about the quality and price, which is important, but they will also want to know something about the conditions under which the goods were produced. If an article was manufactured in a factory where working conditions were poor, where men and women are paid starvation wages, where children wear out their lives, the consumer will know these things. If clothing was made in a sweat shop there may be some way of branding it. If the stores which sell the goods do not pay decent wages, maybe that fact will become known.

It is important that farmers get a fair price for their products. We all admit that. It is just as important that those who labor get fair wages. That is not only humane, decent, right, but it is to the advantage of every person in the nation. If people earn they can live and spend. If they do not, the depression continues. The United States will some day be upon a foundation of happiness and prosperity.—Record, Muskegon, Heights, Mich.

THANKFUL FOR HEALTH

The primary reason for the institution of Thanksgiving Day was health. We know how Governor Bradford called together the people, those few of them who were left after that terrible first year of death and disease, to give thanks to God for all his mercies.

We have come a long way since that time in the matter of health, but now one seldom thinks of Thanksgiving in connection with the health that we enjoy. Most persons have been so accustomed to having these advantages that they are scarcely given a thought until sickness makes its appearance.

The State Department of Health and county health organizations have labored for years to secure the measure of health protection that the public now enjoys. They give thanks for the methods that have helped in the saving of thousands of lives each year and look forward to the years to come for greater service.

Since the first Thanksgiving, the mode of transmission of many diseases has been discovered and in many instances the prevention has become common knowledge. Yellow fever, plague, and cholera have practically ceased to exist. Smallpox, diphtheria, and typhoid fever can be eliminated as a cause of death if a person would have themselves and children immunized. Malaria and many other diseases can be controlled if the public would demand that this protection be a part of the every day activities of the government and practice what is known in regard to prevention.

During the past fifty years the expectation of life has increased about fifteen years. This means that a baby born now can be expected to live fifteen years longer than if he had been born fifty years ago. We have much more to be thankful for now than our Pilgrim forefathers, so let each in his Thanksgiving, pledge to assist

MOULDERS OF CHARACTER

"When earth's last picture is painted and the tubes are twisted and dried," as Kipling says, the country newspaper editor, otherwise known as the small town editor, is going to be glorified. He is going to have a reserved seat in "Press Row" in the golden city and blazoned in light against the Jasper walls we will read, "Earth's Moulders of Character."

When you have finished reading this preface, dig out the current issue of your home town paper, that is if you live in a small town; turn to the editorial pages. In nine times out of ten you will read editorial comment on the vexed questions of the day which are masterpieces of journalism. The flow of language and the best and finest ideals are expressed. The country editor stands squarely behind a clean and wholesome community. He is the character builder of his community. As a rule he is not dominated by higher influences. He is unafraid and portrays the truth as he sees it.

Fifth and dirt find very little space in the small town newspaper. Here we find constructive thought put into print, fit for the boy or girl to read. This editor is an unassuming man, generally a mild mannered man. He is wise in the ways of the world; more frequently than otherwise he is a family man. His family consists of one wife and maybe several boys and girls. He gains a true perspective of life through watching the pit falls of others. He burns the midnight oil in an earnest endeavor to solve the problems of his community. He must of necessity be a veritable Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde; acquiring many roles as he mingles with churchmen and politicians, honest men and crooks. You might meet him in church or at the show his mission is for a given purpose. In the archives of his brain are collected all manner and sorts of information. This brain acts like a sieve, filtering out all the filth and dirt and rendering to the community wholesome and constructive thought.

Yes the small town editor is one of the nation's greatest assets, playing many parts in the affairs of men and fools, but to see the real man, you must meet him in his back garden on a Saturday afternoon, unshaven with a hoe in his hands and dressed like a hoboe; when like Puck he will say, "Oh what fools we mortals be."—Gazette, Inglewood, Cal.

Texas News Photo—United Press All Southwest Conference Team

Murphy, stellar Arkansas quarterback, and Clem rangy Arkansas end, as was Domingue of Texas A. and M. by Kitchen of T.C.U. and Witt of Rice. Domingue's fine playing in made the UP-TNP all-conference team last year, ran up against real competition this year and lost their positions to Petty of Baylor and Wilson of S.M.U. United Press Selects All-Southwest Conference Team; Razorback Quarter Is Unofficial Conference Champion

By Merrill E. Compton
United Press Staff Correspondent

DALLAS, TEX., Dec. 5.—(UP)—Tom Murphy, quarterback of the University of Arkansas football team, unofficial champion of the Southwest Conference, and Harold Clem, stellar tackle on the Baylor University team, were unanimous selections of coaches and sports writers for positions on the all-conference team of United Press.

Two players each were selected from Arkansas, Baylor, Texas Christian University, and Southern Methodist University and the University of Texas. One Texas Aggie back was named on the team. Consensus of opinion of the voting coaches and newsmen was the determining factor in selection of the players.

Only Rice Institute failed to have a man voted to membership on the mythical All-Southwest Conference eleven. Three Rice players, however, were named for second team, Arkansas and Baylor each placed two men on the second team and one each was named from the other conference members.

Murphy, senior and spark-plug of the victorious Arkansas eleven, was judged by the coaches and sports writers alike as the pick of the conference field general. His handling of the Razorbacks throughout the season was the determining factor in their string of victories.

Bohn Hilliard, Texas halfback who was named last year to the United Press All-Southwest Conference team, was named quarterback of the second team. James, Baylor end, likewise failed to receive enough votes to place on the first team.

The mythical all-conference team includes brilliance of back strength and power from tackle to tackle on the line, seasoned wingmen and a powerful man at center. The consensus team follows:

- Ray Fuqua, S.M.U., LE.
- Charles Coates, U. of T., LT.
- Harold Clem, Baylor, LG.
- Bill Smith, Texas, C.
- Bud Taylor, T.C.U., RG.
- Bill Benton, Arkansas, RT.
- Jim Tom Petty, Baylor, RE.
- Tom Murphy, Arkansas, Q.
- Robert Wilson, S.M.U., LH.
- Charles Casper, T.C.U., RH.
- Clifford Domingue, Texas Aggie, Fullback.

Fuqua, lone senior on the S.M.U. first team, had a one point margin over Paul Rucker, Arkansas end for the first team position while his team-mate, Wilson, a sophomore, defeated Hilliard for a backfield position. Domingue was named as tribute for his playing in early season games, particularly against Tulane University.

The second all-conference consensus team follows:
Paul Rucker, Arkansas, LE.
Fred Lauterbach, Rice, LT.
J. C. Wetzel, S.M.U., LG.
Darrell Lester, T.C.U., C.
Fay Lagow, Rice, RG.
Wharton Jordan Tex Aggie, RT.
Frank James, Baylor, RE.
Bohn Hilliard, Texas, Q.

"Truthful History Of Confederacy" Is Need, Says UDC Head

FORT WORTH, TEX., Dec. 5.—(UP)—What the nation needs is a "truthful" history of the Confederacy, believes Mrs. Oscar Barthold, of Weatherford, past president of the Texas division of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

In making a talk here, Mrs. Barthold took her cue from the recent controversy at Rice Institute over the production of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" by the university dramatic club. The production was cancelled on objections of the U.D.C.

Mexican Presidential Aspirant Lives Life Of Exile In El Paso

EL PASO, TEX., Dec. 5.—(UP)—Gilberto Valenzuela, mentioned as possible presidential timber for Mexico, lives the life of an exile in El Paso, and keeps himself physically fit for politics by playing handball at the Y.M.C.A. He plans to return to Mexico.

Valenzuela won his political spurs in Sonora where at different times he was governor, supreme court chief magistrate, and speaker of the house of representatives.

He has served Mexico's ambassador to Switzerland, the court of King Albert of Belgium, and the court of St. James.

Valenzuela said he would not be a candidate for president of Mexico unless his nomination was approved by the convention of independent parties in February.

Story of Wars, Political Changes and Other Important Events In America Told In University Newspaper Files

Austin, Texas, Dec. 4.—Although few of the papers in the newspaper library at the University of Texas date prior to the American Revolution, it is possible to read in their columns of all wars, political changes, and other important events in the United States since then. Copies of the United States Gazette published in June, 1789, in New York, tell the story of the meeting of the first Congress. Many of the files begin about 1800. Papers published in Mississippi and Kentucky when those states were frontiers give facts of pioneer life about the beginning of the nineteenth century. Philadelphia, Boston, New York and Richmond publications cover the War of 1812. The stories of the Texas Revolution in 1836 and the War with Mexico in 1846 are told in southern newspapers of that time. The library contains several anti-slavery and pro-slavery publications, among them the Liberator, favoring the abolition of slavery, which was published in Massachusetts in 1832 by Mr. Lundy. During the Civil War most southern newspapers were suppressed; only papers from New York, Boston, Richmond and Philadelphia give the story of that period. Ample information for study of the Spanish-American War and the World War is available.

The collection of southern newspapers is probably the largest in the country. E. R. Dabney, newspaper librarian said. The file of the Dallas Morning News is complete from the first number. The Dallas Herald, which was first published in 1849, when there were only twenty families in Dallas, was absorbed by the Dallas News in 1885. There are copies of the Galveston News from 1842 to 1873. The Austin Statesman was begun by legislators opposed to carpet-bagging in 1871 and has continued ever since. The Telegraph and Register began publication in Columbia in 1832. On one occasion when the Mexicans were approaching the town, the press, which was set to run the next issue, was thrown into the river. Later the paper continued publication in Houston until 1877. The library, established in 1915, is used mostly by students doing research work in southern and southwestern history, but it is expected to become more useful to the general student body when it is moved from its present quarters in Sutton Hall to the new library building.

SCANDALS By THE TOWN GOSSIP

Well, the Thanksgiving season has come and gone—with its football games, Turkey dinners, and Belly aches. Anent the Thanksgiving dinner, here is the latest thing—A certain Crockett sheep farmer, having been tossed pro and con by the depression has by force of necessity been on a strict diet of bean, (frijoles) for the past year or so. Beans for breakfast, frijoles for dinner and a combination of the two for supper. No exactly a balanced diet according to the way the books on such subjects read—somewhat lacking in vitamins X, and entirely devoid of vitamin Z, but serving the purpose admirably. Now this man came in for dinner (?) on Thanksgiving day, sat down at the table in an abstract manner, offered thanks in the same way, and reached for the bean bowl. His little girl, seeing comestibles in the offering raised a shout of delight which abruptly changed to one of questioning doubt. "Goodness, daddy mother has dropped something in the beans", she said. Our hero took a glance and sure enough, there right in the middle of the bowl, was ensconced a rectangular something which by all that was right and proper, should not have been there. "Say, wife—what in the world is this thing in the bean bowl?" "why, dear don't you remember, we used to have some of it in the beans every time that's Salt Pork, I just thought, being as how this is Thanksgiving day, we ought to have a little something extra."

Passed by A. J. Sorrell's new barber shop yesterday afternoon, looked in and hearing quite a commotion, stopped to see what was going on. To all outward appearances, A. The shine said—"Nothin, Mistah Sorrells just a shavin himself, an a tryin to talk himself into a haircut, a shampoo and a..."

Govt. Opens Bids On Canned Beef For Relief of Needy

Bids from 16 meat packing concerns, to furnish a total of approximately 25,000,000 pounds of canned fresh-roast and corned beef, were opened today by the Federal Surplus Relief Corporation at its headquarters in Washington, D. C. The bids ranged from 13.46 cents to 31.07 cents per pound. Awards will be made within a few days, according to Harry I. Hopkins, the corporation president and Federal Emergency Relief and Civil Works Administrator.

The canned products will be processed from a good grade of corner cattle, at least 60 per cent of which must be cows. The animals must be slaughtered after the date of the award. The meat to be canned under this schedule will include rounds and other expensive meats not usually canned.

It is contemplated that most of the bidders will be able to begin delivery about December 15 and will furnish the bulk of the product through January. All carcasses will be subject to the usual inspection by the Bureau of Animal Industry of the United States Department of Agriculture.

The purpose of the purchase of the canned beef is to provide additional wholesome food for distribution to the needy on relief rolls and to assist in stabilizing the beef-cattle market through the purchase and utilization of beef in excess of the normal requirements of the customary trade channels.

Improved Service

At a great deal of additional expense, your water company has recently installed larger mains, and made other expensive improvements to furnish better service to water users of Ozona. Late type fire hydrants have also been installed at strategic points in the city during the past year, to bring better fire protection to all parts of the town.

All these improvements, and others, have been installed at our own expense and at no additional cost to our patrons. These extra expenses and the economic conditions of the times, made it necessary for adoption of the strict 30-day service charge accounts under which we are now operating.

We have had splendid co-operation from our patrons in carrying out this policy with universal application, and we appreciate this co-operation.

To show you our appreciation and to help you avoid extra charges through oversight, we again offer you this monthly reminder that

Another 10th is Here

AGAIN we are allowing another "day of grace". Since the tenth falls on Sunday again this month, we have moved the deadline for settlement of accounts to Monday, Dec. 11. Pay your water bill on or before Monday and avoid a $1 service charge for renewing connection.

Shelled Pecans May Be Source of Spread Of Contagious Disease

Austin, Texas, Dec. 6.—Pecans, the favorite nut of thousands of people, may be a source for the spread of disease, according to F. C. Koerth, Director, Bureau of Food and Drugs. The pecan itself is not to blame, but the manner in which it is shelled and later handled is the cause for this warning.

The shelled pecan industry has assumed large proportions in the last few years and the shellers in other states have attacked the Texas product on the ground that the shelled nuts are not handled in a sanitary manner. The large packing houses that have the nuts shelled in their own packing plants maintain a satisfactory standard of sanitation. The evil of the shelled pecan industry is where pecans are taken into individual homes where no supervision is possible.

Many Mexicans, Negroes, and a few whites do this work at home, with at times the neighbors coming in to help them out. It is possible for the communicable diseases to spread by shelled pecans, and for that reason it will be to the public's advantage to ask where the pecans were shelled and under what conditions. The food inspectors of the State Department of Health have investigated the home shelling of pecans for hire and report that many homes where this work is done are most unsanitary.

All persons engaged in shelling pecans should have a health certificate the same as any other food handler. The purchaser should demand that the pecans they buy shall have been shelled by such a person and handled in a sanitary manner and under supervision to lessen the chances for the spread of tuberculosis, colds, dysentery, typhoid and other diseases.

COUGHS

Quite often the victim of a more or less frequent dry cough tells how he or she has done everything that is usually advised for a 'cold', but without relief. The favorite "sure cures" of neighbors and friends have failed to cure.

Now it is possible to have more than one cold during the season for colds. And anyone who develops a bronchitis is rather certain to cough. The ordinary attack of bronchitis, however, is somewhat self-limited. At first the cough is dry, perhaps painful. Later, as the course of the bronchitis tends to recovery, the cough becomes loose, or "productive," as it is called. The loose cough serves a useful purpose in removing material from the air-passages.

But it does not necessarily follow that everyone who coughs has a bronchitis, either acute or chronic. Nor does a cough that is more or less persistent, necessarily mean tuberculosis. For there are several causes of the symptom of cough aside from effections of the organs of respiration.

Varied Causes

Irritation due to the inhalation attempting to treat all coughs as though they were caused by "colds."

It is probably true that most coughs are the result of affections of the organs of respiration. The point is that these are not the only possible causes. It is obvious that treatment for a cold, aside from the rest which is usually advised, will not greatly benefit a weak heart. Nor is such treatment likely to bring permanent relief when a cough is caused by some irritation in the ear.

It is claimed that a bumblebee can pull 300 times its own weight, but what always impressed us was the malicious vigor of its push.

The following description is given in the Houston Press of the wedding of Miss Margaret Elizabeth Spotts and Dr. Jack Hollis Weaver, former resident of Ozona, which well known here. Dr. Weaver practicing dentistry in Houston. The young couple were married on Dec. 29.
A wedding which claimed outstanding attention socially, was celebrated last night in Christ Episcopal Church, when Miss Margaret Elizabeth Spotts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Robinson Spotts, was given in marriage to Dr. Jack Hollis Weaver, at an impressive service said by Rev. James Swayne Allen. Gorgeous array of white chrysanthemums and the decorative features, clustered in the altar space, under the luminous glow of ivory tapers and clusters of smaller blossoms, decked the pews reserved for the members of the families.
Proceeding the ceremony Harry Howard gave a program of organ music, modulating into the familiar strains of the Lohengrin wedding march to indicate the approach of the bridal party. While the young couple pledged their troth "The Prayer," from Stradella was softly given, the Mendelssohn march ringing out as the processional.
The bride, who entered with her father, wore an exquisite creation of lustrous ivory velvet, fashioned in princess silhouette, with heirloom duchess lace embroidered in and pearls applied at the draped neck line. The long sleeves were fitted from the elbow with loose fullness at the top and were attached to a yoke which extended in points over the shoulders. The waistline was closely defined in empire mode, and a pearl-embossed buckle ornamented the back of the bodice which was slit to the waist, the opening being outlined with tracery of seed pearls. The sheath-like skirt merged into a long pointed train and she carried a bouquet of cattleya orchids arranged with lilies of the valley and tied with tulle, and the dress and flowers were enveloped in an illusion, the sweeping veil being adjusted with a cap of duchess lace embroidered in pearls.

The bride's attendants wore gowns of velvet in a color scale of yellow russett, fashioned in close-fitting mode, with a high cowl neckline and soft folds of the material forming bretelles at the shoulder and extending to the waistline in the back, outlining the V decolletage. The skirts fell in molded lines to the floor, with a panel at the back extending into a short train. They wore capes of ostrich in colors to match their ensembles, and smart turbans, gloves and slippers of velvet. Their bouquets were arm clusters of Melba chrysanthemums tied with honeydew tulle. Mrs. Andrew K. Schwartz, matron of honor, and Miss Ethel Garie of New Orleans, maid of honor, were in rustina velvet, and in the bridesmaid group Miss Virginia Vinson and Miss Eula Goss wore costumes of Indian orange velvet; Miss Ann Heyek's and Miss Frances Boyle's ensemble were of colour de fresco, and Miss Katherine Henderson of Bryan and Miss Frances Sara Glecke wore mimosa yellow. Little Miss Jane Gwathmey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Brown Gwathmey, Jr., as flower girl, wore a hand-made frock of white velvet with a fagote yoke, tiny puffed sleeves and full skirt and a bouquet of the same lovely fabric.
Dr. C. M. Taylor stood with Doctor Weaver as best man and the groomsmen were Dr. Walter T. Newton, Dr. Donald C. Rathvon, Dr. Geston M. Platt, Randon Porter, Jr., Robert W. Knox, Jr., James Lawrence Davis and Albert E. Cunningham.
The bride's mother was in an ensemble of tea rose hammered satin, trimmed in Kolinsky fur with a corsage of mauve orchids, and the mother of the groom was in an afternoon gown of black crepe with sleeves of cut velvet, with which she wore a corsage of lavender orchids.
An informal reception was held at the home of the bride's parents following the ceremony. Yellow and bronze chrysanthemums were used in the decoration of the reception suite where the young couple welcomed their guests. Calla lilies and white chrysanthemums were used in the dining room, where the bride's table, frosted with rose point lace, was centered with a beautifully embossed wedding cake. Lilies of the valley in a crystal bowl and white tapers in crystal prism candleabra completed the adornment of the table where Misses Maude Bute and Jeannette Shaw had charge of the cake. The coffee table, placed in the solarium, was centered with an antique silver epergne filled with mints and nuts, and Mrs. Jack McDowell of Victoria and Miss Charlotte Williams presided at the services. Mrs. William Elkins, Miss Catherine Montgomery and Miss Lucy Hawkins registered the guests, and a large group of the bride's friends assisted in serving the sweets and ices.

The young couple left during the evening for a wedding trip, the bride traveling in a smart ensemble of brown wool crepe trimmed with brown fox fur, with which she wore brown accessories and a corsage of lavender orchids. Dr. and Mrs. Weaver will be at home at 1124 Banks after December 29.

Among the out of town guests for the wedding were Mrs. A. C. Weaver, mother of the groom; Miss Maxine Bosworth, and Mrs. Deanie Porter Dick, all of Dallas.

"WIMPY SUPPERS" ARE POPULAR AT T. C. U.

FORT WORTH, Dec. 5—"Wimpy Suppers" are the latest craze on the Texas Christian University campus.

The guests are invited to "come up to a duck dinner sometime—you bring the ducks."

Each guest brings his or her own refreshments. When the time comes to eat, the donations are pooled and everybody takes pot luck.

The system seems to work all right, but to date no one has brought any ducks.

Oyster Supper And "Baseball Game" Is "Round-Up" Feature

An oyster supper, cooked by the organization's own staff of chefs, was enjoyed by the Methodist Round-Up, an organization of men at the regular monthly meeting last Wednesday night. The ladies of the Missionary Society, who finished "eats" heretofore, were too busy with Thanksgiving plans, and the men provided their own supper.

After the banquet, a "baseball game," played with darts thrown at a charted "diamond," was enjoyed. Men of the Baptist church have secured the necessary paraphernalia for this game and expect to be in position to hurl a challenge to the Methodists in the near future.
