1932 VOTING STRENGTH TO BE NEAR 800

Record Number Pay Poll Tax; Auto Registration Declines

739 PAY POLL TAX

Final Figures On Property Taxes Are Not Yet Available

Crockett County's voting strength for 1932 will be the greatest in the history of the county, exceeding by more than 100 the record registration in 1930.

The county's total voting strength in 1932 elections will be in the neighborhood of 800, according to records in the office of the sheriff and tax collector at the end of the tax paying period February 1.

Poll tax payments here this year totalled 739, the collector's records revealed. This, with exemptions estimated at from 50 to 60, will bring the total to near the 800 mark. Poll tax payments exceeded by 112 the record of 1930 when 627 voters secured receipts entitling them to participate in choice of government officials and issues. Poll tax receipts issued in 1931 totalled 617.

Registration of automobiles at the end of the tax paying period, however, showed a decline over last year and the year before. A total of 606 motor vehicles had been registered up to the first of this week, against a total of 666 for 1931 and 739 in 1930. Of this number 430 were passenger cars, a decline of 76 from last year, and 176 were trucks, a gain of 16 over truck registration a year ago. Several hundred more cars will likely be registered during the next few months, the collector estimated.

No figures were available yet from the collector's office on the total property tax payments for the year. Figures are now being compiled and results will be available in the next few days. Tom Casbeer, county treasurer and deputy tax collector, declared, however, that tax collections were "better than expected" but just how much better the final check-up will reveal. Few local taxpayers took advantage of the new law giving them the privilege of paying half of their taxes before December 1 and allowing the other half to ride for six months without penalty. A few did, however, and such payments will reduce the collection totals. Estimates of this year's collections vary from 50 to 75 per cent of the total taxes due. Those who failed to pay county, state and school taxes before February 1 are subject to a 10 per cent penalty and interest until paid.

A. Gilbert Suffers Broken Leg When Kicked By Horse

Afton Gilbert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Gilbert of Ozona, suffered a compound fracture of the right leg, between the knee and ankle, on the John Williams ranch near Sheffield Wednesday afternoon, when he was kicked by a horse. He had started to mount the horse when the animal became unruly and whirled and kicked him.

Gilbert was brought to Ozona by D. K. McMullen, who happened to be passing the spot in his car. An X-ray photograph of the fracture, made here by Dr. F. T. McIntire, revealed a badly shattered bone, slivers of which had punctured through the skin. It will be necessary to operate on the leg to prevent complications. Dr. McIntire advised, and the injured man was taken Wednesday night to San Angelo where hospital facilities are available.

Bascomb and Vernon Cox were in San Angelo on business Saturday.

Johnigan Fourth In Assessor Race

Runner-Up In 1930 Announces Candidacy In 1932 Battle

The race for the office of tax assessor of Crockett County squared off to a four-way battle this week when W. M. Johnigan, runner-up in the three-cornered contest for the same office in 1930, officially announced his candidacy for the post, subject to the action of the Democratic primaries of 1932.

Mr. Johnigan is the fourth entry in the first heat, which will end with the first primary in July. Other participants in the battle royal include O. W. Smith, incumbent, Rusty Smith, another member of the 1930 trio, and C. W. Barbee, a newcomer in the biennial contest.

Mr. Johnigan entered the runoff against the incumbent in 1930, Mr. Smith nosing him out by a narrow margin.

Mr. Johnigan, a veteran in the public service of Crockett County, says that he is entering the race this year with a determination to put up the best fight possible for the office, basing his candidacy on his known ability to perform the services required and upon the issue of rotation of public office.

He is a pioneer resident of Crockett County. He served as justice of the peace here for many years and was deputy sheriff and jailer for eleven years, serving in this capacity under former Sheriffs Jim Moore, Charles Williams and W. H. Augustine. He was offered the post again by the present sheriff, W. S. Willis, upon the latter's election to the office in 1928 but declined.

"I am grateful for the support I received in the last election and I am going to do my best to come through a winner, with the help of my friends, in the coming elections," he said. You can tell them that Johnigan is on his way to the tax assessor's office."

Missionary To Speak Here Soon

Rev. R. S. Jones, Brazilian Missionary, At Baptist Church

Rev. R. S. Jones, missionary to Brazil, will speak Sunday morning and night, February 7, 1932 at the Baptist Church. Bro. Jones has had about fifteen years experience in Brazil and is thoroughly conversant with the social and religious conditions of this great South American Republic. In his tenure he has been stationed both at Rio de Janeiro, the capital city, and at Pernambuco, one of the most important cities of South America.

Bro. Jones is a Kentuckian by birth, but came to Texas for his college education, graduating from Baylor University at Waco. He is also a graduate from Southwestern Baptist Seminary in Ft. Worth. "I have known Bro. Jones for years," Rev. M. M. Fulmer stated, "and can testify to his sterling worth and forceful character. He is one of our most successful foreign missionaries. It will be a sad mistake for us not to hear him and get first hand evidence of the challenge of South America, and the marvelous things that God is doing there."

"We want the entire community to enjoy these blessings, hence he is to speak twice, using, however, different phases of the work at each service. Be sure to come." Services Sunday, February 7th, 11 a. m. and 7 p. m.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Williams of Ozona are the parents of a daughter born here Friday. Her name is Mrs. Williams is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Smith.

GEORGE RUSSELL

George Russell Asks Re-Election

Seeks Third Term As Clerk On His Record Of Service

George Russell, county and district clerk, made formal announcement this week of his candidacy for a third term in that office, subject to the action of the Democratic primary in July.

Mr. Russell was elected to the office of county and district clerk in 1928, defeating the incumbent, E. B. Baggett, Jr., for the office and since that time has not been opposed for re-election for a third term in the office.

"I want to express my appreciation to the people of Crockett County for their support of my candidacy in previous elections," the clerk said in making his formal announcement for re-election. "I appreciate the privilege of serving the people in this office and I invite the people of Crockett County to inspect the records and administration of the office at any time. The county books are open to the public for inspection. I will appreciate the vote and support of my friends in the coming elections."

Mr. Russell has had many years experience in the clerk's office. He was deputy for a number of years under Tom Nolen and was thoroughly conversant with the duties of the post before his election in 1928. Records of the office are now in splendid condition and he has rendered efficient service in the position.

Rev. E. C. Calhoun, pastor of the Methodist Church at Midland, will conduct a training class in worship at the Ozona Methodist Church beginning February 22 and continuing through February 26. It was announced this week by Rev. J. H. Meredith, pastor.

W. R. & J. M. Baggett Partnership Dissolved With Property Division After Existing Over Thirty Years

A partnership between brothers that has existed more than thirty years was dissolved here this week when the final details of the division of property was completed by W. R. and J. M. Baggett and a joint business that has proven profitable and agreeable for both brothers more than a quarter century is ended.

Dissolution of the partnership and division of the joint property was decided upon by the two brothers as the sons of each are reaching the age when they will soon be wanting to go in business themselves, it was declared. James Baggett is the son of J. M. Baggett and Billie Baggett is the son of W. R. Baggett. Both are nearing manhood.

In the dissolution of property agreement, J. M. Baggett gets the Hell ranch and stock and W. R. Baggett gets the ranch five miles northwest of Ozona. The agreement leaves both of the brothers on the ranches on which they now live and manage. Together they owned 41 sections of land fully stocked.

Sixteen Additions To Methodist Church Results From Meeting

Sixteen additions to the Ozona Methodist Church resulted from the ten-day revival meeting conducted by Rev. King Vivion, president of Southwestern University at Georgetown. The meeting closed with the services Sunday night.

Larger crowds than at any previous meeting in the history of the church were on hand for the services under Rev. Vivion. The pastor, Rev. J. H. Meredith, was particularly proud of the good attendance on the part of the men of the church, he said.

The choir, under the direction of Mrs. Bryan McDonald, furnished special music for each service and the music was a feature of the entire meeting.

An offering, taken at the concluding services of the meeting, will be used by Rev. Vivion to help a group of students in Southwestern University who are unable to pay their own expenses through college. This group, eight students in all, are being helped through college by the efforts of President Vivion alone.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Brooks returned Monday from Dallas where they went to visit John Fogarty, who is recovering from an operation in a hospital there to repair a badly fractured leg, suffered on his ranch near here recently when a horse fell with him.

NEW $170,000 SCHOOL BUILDING OCCUPIED BY HIGH SCHOOL WEDNESDAY

Ninety-six pupils and the entire faculty of the Ozona High School swelling with pride, marched without ceremony into the new $170,000 Ozona High School building Wednesday morning and took possession of one of the most modern and complete high school plants of its size in the south.

Although, it is understood, the entire building has not been formally accepted by the school board, satisfactory arrangements were completed at a meeting between the board and architects and contractors representatives Tuesday afternoon whereby the building,

FRESHIES THANKFUL FOR NEW BUILDING

The following open letter to the citizens of Crockett County was handed The Stockman this week by a committee from the 1932 Freshman class of the Ozona High School:

"Dear Citizens of Crockett County: We as the Freshman class think it is our duty to thank you for the new school building which is now completed. Since we are the first Freshmen to enter this new building, we think it is our duty to show our appreciation. We want to thank the citizens and the school board for their efforts in trying to get us in there earlier."

STOCKHOLDERS OF FAIR ASSN. MEET TONIGHT

Annual Meeting To Be Held At Hotel, To Elect Officers

DECIDE 1932 FAIR

Hear Reports Of 1931 Event And Plan For This Year

All stockholders of the Crockett County Fair Association have been called together for the annual meeting of the association to be held tonight (Thursday) in the Livestock Exchange rooms at the Hotel Ozona, for the purpose of electing officers for the coming year, checking reports of the 1931 fair and making plans for the 1932 event.

Notices of the meeting, with a statement of its purposes, were mailed out the first of the week by Joe Pierce, president of the association.

Scott Peters, secretary of the organization, will make his report of the financial outcome of the 1931 event. Despite general conditions of the country, last year's rodeo, race meet and stock show was one of the most successful in the history of the association. The splendid co-operation of Crockett County people with officers and directors of the association was credited by association heads as being largely responsible for last year's success. The event was widely advertised and the attendance was the best in years.

A definite decision on the question of whether or not a fair will be staged this year will be reached at the meeting tonight. Dates of this year's event will likely be July 4, 5 and 6.

Mrs. A. F. Fincher, Mrs. W. E. West and Mrs. Harold Baker and son Boyd, leave this afternoon for Houston. Mrs. Baker will be the guest of Mrs. Fincher. The boys planning to attend the Houston schools in the fall term. Mrs. Fincher will be in Ozona for a few weeks.

with the exception of the auditorium, could be turned over for use of the schools Wednesday morning.

Less than twenty minutes time was consumed in getting the students quartered in the new building, assigning classrooms and swinging into the routine work in the new surroundings. Announcement was made the previous afternoon by Superintendent John L. Bishop that the new building would be occupied the following day and at the usual hour Wednesday morning, the elaborate bell signal system controlled by a master clock in the offices of the new building, called the students to their new school home.

Students and faculty members alike were jubilant over the opportunity to use the beautiful new building and there was a systematic co-operative effort to smooth out the wrinkles and learn the new routine with a minimum of delay.

Beautifully finished, inside and out, the new building would be a credit to a town five times the size of Ozona in the opinion of school men. Careful attention has been given to every detail of construction and equipment, and every feature of the most modern school structure as recommended by authorities has been incorporated. Although called upon at present to accommodate less than 100 students, the building has been designed to take care of a total of 350 students comfortably.

Each student has an individual locker for storage of books, clothing etc. aside from the gymnasium and manual training lockers. Each teacher has been assigned a room with private desk and the superintendent and principal are quartered in convenient offices near the west entrance to the building. Classrooms are all well lighted and ventilated and equipped with comfortable desks for students, new desks and built in lockers for teachers and built-in book cases and filing cabinets. The gymnasium is one of the show places of the building, offering a roomy playing field, bleacher seats for spectators and elaborate shower rooms for both girls and boys.

The auditorium, one of the most elaborate of any building its size in the state, has not yet been opened. Various replacements and minor repairs are yet to be made and no information is available as to when this part of the building will be opened for use. Meanwhile, the high school is using the main study hall in the new building for general assembly. Formal dedication exercises are to be delayed pending completion of the auditorium and announcement of plans for this event will be made as soon as the information is available.

Other parts of the building still require some finishing work as to minor details and this work will go on as the schools enjoy use of the building.

HIGH CAGE SQUAD MEETS BARNHART IN NEW GYM

The first basketball game in the new High School gymnasium was played Wednesday afternoon, the Ozona Lions meeting the green and white lads from Barnhart in another practice game between the two teams. The locals were easy victors in the match, taking the game by a count of 21 to 0.

WE'RE COMING BACK STRONG

The economic depression from which the United States is just emerging is the seventh major attack of "hard times" that this country has been through in less than a hundred years. The people who are scared almost to death for fear that America can't come back are not a bit worse scared than were the same type of timid-minded folk in each of these previous panics.

But, as we all know, America came back after every one of them and came back stronger than ever.

The first great financial crisis was in 1837, when practically every bank in the United States suspended payment, half of the property of the entire nation was sold in bankruptcy proceedings and there was no work for anybody and nobody had any money. But we came back so strongly that in less than twenty years our national wealth had been multiplied by three.

We came back from the crisis of 1857, went through a terrific and devastating Civil War and again much more than doubled our national wealth in the course of sixteen years. Then we had the panic of 1873, and that was followed by another great revival that again doubled our national wealth, until the panic of 1893. We came back from that one richer than before, and we did the same thing after the crises of 1907 and of 1920. Everybody knows how rapidly our wealth increased between 1921 and 1929, how prosperous everybody was in those fat years.

There is only one way to foretell the future, and that is by studying the past. It is as certain as anything can be that we are coming out of the present crisis toward a greater and more widespread prosperity than we have ever known. And if we have any sense we will take greater precautions against another depression than we did against this one.

"I AM STILL RICH"

We have passed through a panic, suffered from a crash on the stock market, and are now more than half-way through the depression, and I am still rich.

It may be true that I have much less to live on than I had a year ago, but it is certainly true that I have just as much as ever to live for. The real values of life are unshaken and solid.

The depression has not lowered the value of a single friendship. Neighbors still greet us in the same old cordial way, business associates believe in us, and our sons hold us in high respect. The wife's welcome at the close of the day has not depreciated in the least, and our daughters continue to lavish their affection upon us with the same old extravagance.

My faith in the goodness of the universe is unimpaired. By that faith I am emboldened as I face defeat and despair. The prayers my mother taught me and the faith in God instilled in me by a devout father remain as priceless treasures no depression can touch.

No nation becomes great by becoming rich. Neither does a man find enduring satisfaction in life by owning something—only by something. The most degrading poverty is that which results from killing the spirit that the body may be served.

This depression is a challenge, not a catastrophe. A generation that has conquered the air and sent giant planes circling the globe, which has plunged into the depths and departed on the ocean's floor, which has climbed above the clouds and lived in the stratosphere, is now faced with the challenge to rise above its dependence on mere things and seek an emancipation of the spirit of man.

The last six months have been for many men a thrilling spiritual adventure through which they have discovered their real wealth. Bereft of dividends and profits, they are discovering the sustain ing powers of a strong religious faith, the abiding values of courage, heroism, honor, charity, and trustworthiness.

A financial crisis can wipe out profits and bring business to a standstill, but character is beyond its reach. It can rob us of all we have, but it cannot affect what we are.

The deepest satisfaction of life—those which come from sharing and serving—remain secure.

I am still rich because I am independently rich—none of my wealth depends upon business conditions or market reports—Roy L. Smith, in the Hub (Saskatoon, Sask.).

THE COUNTRY EDITOR

(From Texas Commercial News)

And now comes the highbrow writer and "economist," ever and anon, to exercise his ponderous intellect, or for want of something else to write about, says the country editor is no more. Said country editor has gone from the face of the earth, has become prosperous and turned city editor, or in other words, completely "vamos."

Well, it isn't true. The country editor we have still with us, like the poor, and always will, thank the Lord for that. A distinct loss it would be to this Nation if ever such a day should come that we should lose the country editor.

Maybe some have turned city editor and forgotten country ways but very few. The country editor may be more prosperous, but even that is doubtful.

He is entirely too human to become prosperous. A man can't be human and make money. That is, get ahead any. He sees too many things that money needs to be spent for, to help others, and he always spends it.

The country editor may be a little better fixed in society. The Lion's Club has come to town, and he joined that. He joined it because he couldn't well get out of it. The boys needed the publicity he would give them, so he had to come in. He knew all the time there was going to be another raid made on his white space, but no matter. He's used to that.

He's most always late at the Lion's luncheon. The reason is that a customer always comes in just as he's about to start. And the country editor has to wait on his customers. Nobody else in the office can do that. It may be an advertiser who wants to change his ad, or a subscriber, strange to say, may want to pay his subscription. Or, maybe, a school kid wants a piece of cardboard cut just so. Anyway, this country editor business is a personal business.

Some will note that his clothes nearly always need pressing. That is, they need the conventional pressing. They are usually well pressed from sitting at the linotype by the hour, or leaning over a stone to make-up the forms. Being a country editor is more than writing heavy editorial and news "locals and personals."

But that's what makes a country editor a country editor, writing up the news. When you read a country paper it isn't like reading a soulless, dead city daily. On a city paper the office force doesn't even know who the editor is, who writes the editorials, news. But with the country editor it is different. When you read that paper you have a picture of the editor in your mind, see him walking about, gathering news, getting ads, telling you about it in his paper. You can actually see him, hear him talking to you. His paper has personality, IS a personality. It is the personality of the country editor.

Outside of keeping up with civilization's progress (he's the most progressive man in town), the country editor in American life has not changed, and like the country minister, the country doctor, always ministering to man's wants without thought of self, he will always be with us, for we just couldn't do without our country editor.

Say "I saw it in The Stockman."

TREMBLING ON THE VERGE

The United States is a famous trembler. There has never been a time in its history when some one was not ready to announce that it was "trembling on the verge."

Washington despaired of it. Lincoln despaired of it. Many present-day prophets assure us that it passed over the peak in 1929, and is now definitely on the way down.

Yet within the past few months I have enjoyed some interesting experiences. I have attended the annual sales conventions of a number of major industries. Their business, when I visited them, was terrible. But what took place at the conventions?

In one of them, an electrical industry, the head of the research department revealed plans for a new household utility which promises to banish one disagreeable feature of housework. It is certain to have a tremendous sale.

In a furniture company, the "planning department" displayed a whole new line of improved floor coverings.

In a third, an optical concern, the scientists told us of work now going on which may give all of us better eyesight.

Everywhere I found men's backs turned upon present discouragements, and minds busy with better goods, better methods better ideas, better living.

I spoke to the head of one company about it. He said he had recently been holding a meeting of their English representatives. He told them casually that the company had hired an engineer and assigned him the task of making a world survey of their sources of raw materials for the next twenty-five years.

One of the Englishmen exclaimed: "Confound you Yankees! What English company would ever think of hiring a man to look ahead twenty-five years?"

Coming to the end of all these meetings, I concluded that it is waste of time to worry about the future of American business.

We have an asset more fundamental than gold supply, or raw materials, or electric power, or climate. That asset is a restless dissatisfaction with the past, a spirit of continuous improvement.

As long as we are inspired by that spirit I believe that our future is secure. We shall not go down to destruction.

No matter how often we may tremble on the verge.

THE MODERN CAVALIER

In the old days the man on horseback was a superior creature. At least, he regarded himself as such. In the feudal system the man on foot had no rights which the cavalier was bound to respect. It was up to the pedestrian to get out of the way. Here rode wealth, caste and arrogance; the peasantry must make way for the gentry.

The old tradition of the superiority of the cavalier died hard. It seemed so much more noble to ride a horse and give orders to men on foot than it did to follow a horse along a furrow, that there persists, even in America, the legend of "gentility" typified by the man on horseback.

There is something of the same sense of superiority manifested by many persons who drive automobiles in these days. They seem to have only arrogant contempt for people on foot, and to look down with scorn on those who drive shabbier or cheaper cars than their own. This is not true of the great majority of motorists, of course, but it is true of enough of them to account for a high percentage of the annual toll of deaths caused by the automobile. More than half of the 35,000 persons killed in the past year on the highways were pedestrians run down by cavalier motorists.

An old proverb reads: "Put a beggar on horseback and he'll ride to the devil." The automobile has brought power of life and death into the hands of thousands who are unfitted for it by training and intelligence. Even in the older days there had developed the motto "noblesse oblige," which signifies that nobility recognized its responsibility toward the lower classes. It would not do to run down the commonalty too recklessly. But there are thousands of motorists today who recognize, apparently no responsibility toward anyone, and who seem to become intoxicated by the sense of power as soon as they sit behind a steering wheel.

For such drivers, who are responsible for most of the highway accidents and deaths, there is but one remedy. To try to impress a sense of social responsibility upon such people is worse than useless; they simply don't know what you are talking about. Prompt and severe punishment for every infraction of the motor vehicle laws and regulations resulting in accident or death is the only deterrent. A mere fine is not enough for most of these law-breakers. Imprisonment without option, and revocation of the license to drive a car, once it is generally understood that these penalties will be enforced upon all like, may result in time in making our roads safe for the ordinary, law abiding citizen.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Baggett left the first of the week for Lubbock to visit relatives and to be at the bedside of Mrs. Baggett's sister, Mrs. Posey, who is reported critically ill.

THE FAMILY DOCTOR

By JOHN JOSEPH GAINES, M.D.

OUR COMMON ENEMY

In these days of air-tight living quarters it seems so much easier to "take cold" than it was in the days of more liberal circulation of out-door air. Of course people contracted colds then, many of them due to, or complicated by, bacteria. But folks were hardier in the early day, better able to stand the vicissitudes of climate.

Once when a nostrum-vendor announced "cure your cold in one day," everybody took notice—and rushed to buy the nostrum. I knew those who had been coughing half the winter, who went to work assiduously to cure themselves in the one day provided by the quack. Of course the miracle didn't take place, but the quack grew rich just the same as if it had.

Let us not forget this advice: Go to work to break up your cold the moment its onset is felt. By just being prompt like that, you can cure your cold in one day. Why not learn how right now, and keep yourself rid of colds, better than any nostrum-vendor on earth can do it?

If you feel the cold coming on, with its sneezing, chilliness, slight sore throat, general depressed feeling, GO TO BED. Get yourself into a sweat as soon as possible. There will be a little fever following the chilly attack. Any family medicine cabinet should have the tablets provided by the family doctor, and these will reduce the temperature, relieve the congestion by getting the surface circulation active,—the cold is broken right then! A five-grain tablet of aspirin every hour till three or four are taken—till free sweat occurs. Nothing else needed, except to see that the digestive tract is not overloaded—a gentle but effectual laxative may be needed.

A quinine capsule, three grains may be taken every four hours for two or three days. That's all that seems necessary to break a common cold. No witchery about it; just promptness.

J. H. McClure and Les Harrell were visitors to San Angelo during the week-end.

LAS AMIGAS CLUB

Miss Helen Montgomery entertained members of Las Amigas Club, their escorts and guests with a tacky party Tuesday night. Miss Tessie Kyle and R. T. Taylor won prizes for the best costumes and Mrs. Marshall Montgomery and Hugh Childress, Jr., won high prizes at bridge. The guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Montgomery, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Childress, Mr. and Mrs. Ted White, Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Taylor, Misses Ethel Word, Mattie D. Ford, Tessie Kyle, Totsy Robison, Mary Childress, Wayne Augustine, Helen Schauer, Carolyn Montgomery, and Miller Robison, E. H. Hallencamp, Joe Sellars Pierce, Ed Hagelstein, Herbert Kittle and Bud Kincaid.

A Potato Substitute

Many persons like plain chestnuts served as a dinner vegetable. They may take the place of potatoes or be served instead of a second vegetable. The large Italian chestnuts look better, perhaps but the others answer the purpose. They should first be shelled by cutting them with a cross and putting them with a little cooking oil in a skillet and heating. After they are shelled, boil until tender. Mash and serve with butter and salt.

Croquettes

Chestnuts make a very good substitute for meat in the main course of the meal. Here is a rule for making croquettes that will serve as such a dish or that may be used as an entree. Shell about four dozen fair-sized chestnuts as described above and boil about a half hour. Put through the meat grinder or a vegetable press, and add two tablespoons of butter or sweet cooking oil and pepper to season. Add a cup of cream or rich milk and three beaten eggs and mix well. Now cook in a double boiler for ten minutes, stirring to keep from lumping. This should be a thick paste. If not thin enough add more cream. Allow it to cool, form into croquettes, dip in egg and cracker crumbs and fry in deep fat.

Muffins

Boil one quart of chestnuts until tender, remove the kernels and press through a colander. Add to this one teaspoon of salt, the yolks of two eggs whipped into half a cup of milk. Next stir in half a cup of flour containing one teaspoon of baking powder. Fold in the beaten whites of the eggs and bake in pans.

Good Nut Cakes

One-third cup butter, one cup fine granulated sugar, one and three-quarters cups sifted flour, two and one-half teaspoons baking powder, one-half cup milk, one-half teaspoon vanilla, three egg whites, one-half cup chopped nuts.

Cream the butter and sugar. Sift the dry ingredients together; add part of the creamed butter and sugar; add the milk and the remainder of the dry ingredients; beat thoroughly; add the flavoring and beat; add a part of the chopped nuts, cut and fold in the whites of the eggs beaten stiff. Turn into tin and add the remainder of the chopped nuts. Bake in a moderate oven thirty-five or forty minutes.

Boiled Frosting

2 cups sugar
1/2 cup water
3 tbsps. syrup
2 egg whites

Put sugar, water and syrup into a saucepan and stir over fire until dissolved. Cover and cook three minutes. Uncover and cook (240 degrees F.) until syrup spins a long thread. Pour over stiffly beaten egg whites, flavor, set bowl in hot water and beat until thick enough to spread.

Forced Sales

Visitors to New York cannot fail to notice the enormous number of fire sales, bankrupt stocks offered and other types of forced sales being held there at all times. For a time it creates a feeling that half of the small business men here are on the financial rocks.

Instead of that, it seems to be a regular way of doing business. People in strange neighborhoods fall for the glaring signs just as much as visitors from other cities. It is only in their own districts that they are able to detect the fake sales. That many of them are fakes is plain. One only has to look at the dirt on some of the signs to realize that they were originally nailed up years ago. But it seems to attract trade.

Free Beer

One men's wear shop on West

42nd Street hit on a new plan recently to attract trade. It placed a picture of a foaming stein of beer in its window under the legend, "free beer." One goes in, gets a big glass of beer and a handful of pretzels without charge and then wanders around and selects items.

The place is doing a rushing business as a result. By the way, the beer is strictly legal, although a few steps down the street one can get the real article in a speakeasy.

New York is franker about its evasion of the prohibition law than any other big city in the country. Just ahead of the holidays some of the newspapers devoted a column or so to giving the current prices of Scotch, rye, bourbon whiskies, and gin and other liquors. Whiskey was quoted at from $1.50 a quart to $4 for the best imported, other prices being in line.

No places were listed by street number but intending purchasers used the list to prevent being overcharged—and the bootleggers themselves not only stood by the prices but, we learned, are the men who went around to the paper and named the prices.

Indirect Advertising

Quite a few bootleggers here have a novel scheme for advertising. They send men around who place a price list of liquors in your mail-box, nothing else being on the card or in that envelope.

But, and here is the catch, one finds in the same box another envelope, probably advertising an expensive French hand laundry, a place obviously too expensive for general patronage. But on it is the name "Tom's Place" or some other indication that one would never find on a laundry.

And that's one way New Yorkers discover where to buy drinkables.

City Kindness

Police Commissioner Mulrooney got a letter the other day in which he was told he was no good if he didn't call in Patrolman Christopher Mitchell and shake him by the hand. The letter told him exactly what he ought to do—and the Commissioner did it.

The whole thing was caused by the fact that the little daughter of the writer of the letter—a married man out of work with four children, met the Officer, practically a stranger to her, on Christmas Eve. The cop asked her what she was going to have to eat for Christmas. When she sadly told him nothing he took her by the hand, led her to a butcher's and bought her two chickens and then filled a huge basket with other things and sent her home, paying for everything out of his own pocket.

And so Patrolman Mitchell unexpectedly received the personal thanks of Mr. Mulrooney. And he's been promoted since, in addition.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Childress, Sr., have closed their town home and moved to P. L. Childress ranch.

Mrs. J. H. Meredith is ill this week.

H. T. Rutledge, employee of the Model Laundry here, visited relatives in Coleman over the weekend.

Professional discussions by two visiting and one local physician and passage of a resolution opposing passage by Congress of the Townner-Sheppard bill featured the monthly meeting of the Tom Green Medical Association at the Hilton Hotel last night.

Opposition to the pending legislation, which also would expend through the state governing bodies, was declared on the grounds that the proposal offered unwarranted regulation of the medical group.

Dr. Ben Buford of Dallas, read a paper and led discussions on the subject of common heart conditions, their diagnosis and treatment. Dr. F. T. McIntire of Ozona talked on dislocations of the ankle and Dr. Dewey Sutton discussed injuries of the spine.

Reconstruction Finance Corporation Will Help Business Conditions

By Caleb Johnson

Congress has agreed to President Hoover's proposal for the establishment of a Reconstruction Finance Corporation, to come to the aid of banks, railroads and other institutions which are suffering from "frozen assets." With two billion dollars—two thousand millions—at its disposal, what is this pool of capital expected to do, and how will it do it?

This is the most important move which has been made so far to relieve the depression from which everybody in the United States is suffering in some degree, and it is something we all ought to understand.

To begin with, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, which probably will be popularly referred to as the "R. F. C." will get its capital by offering bonds for sale to investors. As these bonds will be guaranteed by the United States Treasury, they will be as secure as Government bonds, and therefore it is expected that there will be no trouble experienced in luring timid money out of hiding and putting it to work by this means. We can take it as assured that there will be two billion dollars, or as much of it as may be needed, speedily available for the work of the R. F. C.

There will be a board of directors of seven men to manage the R. F. C. They will include the Secretary of the Treasury and the Governor of the Federal Reserve Board, together with one other high Government official and four men not connected with the Government, but selected because of their banking and business knowledge and experience. President Hoover has already intimated that the two Democrats who will be appointed to these posts will be Bernard M. Baruch, who was chairman of the War Finance Corporation, and Edward N. Hurley, who was chairman of the Shipping Board and a member of other important commissions during the war.

The War Finance Corporation is the model upon which the R. F. C. is based. It served after the sudden end of the war to carry great industrial enterprises over the sudden slump due to the cancelling of war orders. The principal difference is that the R. F. C. is larger, just as the present economic situation is more serious than it was then.

With its two billion dollars available, and its management on the job, the R. F. C. will come to the rescue, in the first instance, of banks which are unable to make loans because so much of their assets is tied up in securities for which there is no market at present, or the price of which is so much below the original cost that to sell would be suicidal.

A big bank has, say, a million dollars of assets, but half of this is in real estate bonds, secured by mortgages on property of undoubted value but which nobody has the money to buy, and on which the owners find trouble in paying the interest, let alone paying off the mortgage. It does the bank no good to foreclose, because it then has an unsalable piece of property on its hands, while its customers—business men, merchants and manufacturers—are clamoring for cash loans with which to keep their businesses going and so keep men at work.

The R. F. C. will take such "frozen assets" off the bank's hands, advancing money to the extent of the real value of the property involved, which the bank will agree to pay back within five years. The R. F. C. is secured by having a first lien upon the "frozen assets." These may be loans based on real estate, or upon commercial securities which cannot be realized on quickly.

Every kind of bank, commercial banks, savings banks, trust companies, may borrow thus on long terms from the R. F. C., and its facilities will also be available to building and loan associations, insurance companies and similar financial institutions, as well as to the railroads and clearing house associations. It is specifically provided that agricultural and livestock credit corporations may be aided also.

One of the paramount features of the R. F. C. plan concerns loans to the railroads, the only industry which would receive benefits independently of financial institutions. The railroads are made special exceptions because of the widespread ownership of railroad bonds by insurance companies, savings banks, national banks and trust companies, and individuals. Next to the construction industry, the railroads represent perhaps the largest single concentrated unit for purchasing materials and employing labor; and their credit position is an extremely important item in the national structure at the present time.

The R. F. C. is an emergency measure, and is not expected to continue in operation after the emergency has passed. Any institution which needs its help must apply within one year from the date of the President's signature, although the President may, by proclamation, extend this period to two years. Loans will be made for an original period of three years, which may be extended to five. At the end of five years the non-officetaking directors are to be dropped, but the R. F. C. may continue in existence for another five years, to give time to dispose of any of the "frozen assets" it may have left on its hands. After that it is to turn over whatever it has left to the Treasury and the final liquidation will be up to the Government.

There is every reason to expect that the establishment and operations of the R. F. C. will accomplish the two things which all financial leaders agree need to be done. These are to provide a market for securities of banks and railroads which are now unmarketable, although of great value, and to restore confidence, the unreasoning lack of which, in the face of the really solid foundations on which our economic situation stands, is the basic cause of our present business stagnation.

There are other factors in the general business situation, of course. The worst of them, at this time, is the European financial situation. Little that can be done by legislation at Washington can have any direct effect on that, but a great deal can be done to strengthen our situation within our own borders. The Reconstruction Finance Corporation plan is the first of the President's major recommendations to be acted into law. Congress still has before it his plans to strengthen the Federal Land Bank System to create a system of home-loan discount banks, to enlarge the discount facilities of the Federal Reserve Banks and to create a $150,000,000 corporation to aid depositors in failed or insolvent banks.

In addition, the President seeks action upon proposals to revise the transportation laws so as to restore confidence in railroad bonds, to revise banking laws to safeguard depositors and to curtail national expenditures sharply, with a view to helping balance the budget.

All these plans must be speeded through Congress, in order, Mr. Hoover states, to re-establish confidence, to restore the functioning of our economic system and to re-building of prices to values and to quickening employment.
