LOCAL LABOR EMPLOYED ON SEWER LINE

Nearly $500 Being Released Here Weekly To Workers

PLANT COMPLETED 9,000-Foot Line And Plant First Unit In City System

An average of thirty men are finding employment daily in digging the ditch for the big sewer main which is being laid to the new disposal plant south of Ozona. These men are now making an average of $3 a day, releasing approximately $500 in cash weekly in Ozona, according to information obtained from J. S. Barlow, engineer in charge of the work under the supervision of the County Commissioners Court.

Approximately ten more days will be required to complete the 9,000-foot sewer line, according to Mr. Barlow. The 10-inch line is being laid from the school building west to Avenue G and along Avenue G south to the disposal plant.

The school buildings, and all existing lines from the business section of the city now emptying into septic tanks and cess pools along the draw will be connected into the new line, construction of which is being financed by the county.

The new disposal plant and 9,000 feet of 10-inch mains will cost approximately $6,000, according to Mr. Barlow, this amount being around $3,000 under original estimates.

The disposal plant is built along the most modern lines, of capacity sufficient to take care of the needs of Ozona for many years to come, according to the engineer. The big main being laid to the plant is being placed at such a depth that it will form the first unit in a complete sewer system for the town, careful planning making it possible to drain every part of the city into the main.

Only local labor is being employed in digging the big ditch for the sewer main, Mr. Barlow said. Workmen are being paid according to the amount of work accomplished and at present the minimum daily earnings is $2 and the maximum $4. Hand digging of the ditch as opposed to a machine ditcher was decided upon in order to provide employment to local people and to keep as much of the money as possible at home.

Play Benefits Athletic Dept.

Mrs. Jones Directing Production To Be Given May 17

A three-act comedy entitled "Her Step-Husband," directed by Mrs. A. W. Jones, will be presented at the Ozona High School auditorium Tuesday evening, May 17, by a home talent cast, proceeds from the evening's entertainment to be turned over to the athletic department of the schools toward paying off an indebtedness.

"Her Step-Husband" is an hilarious comedy of situations written by Larry Johnson, author of "The Absent-Minded Bridegroom" one of the funniest plays ever presented here, which was staged at the Ozona Theater two years ago under the auspices of the Ozona Lions Club. This same play was later taken by the local cast to Fort Stockton where it was enjoyed by a big crowd.

Rehearsals have been under way several days under Mrs. Jones' direction and every character in the play is exceptionally well cast, according to the director. Further announcement of admission charges, ticket sales, etc. will be made next week.

Seniors Triumph With Presentation Of "A Kentucky Belle," Three-Act Comedy, In Auditorium Monday Night

By Margaret Butler

Monday evening, May 2, the Ozona High School auditorium was filled with patrons and friends to witness the presentation of "A Kentucky Belle" by the 1932 Senior Class of Ozona High School. The play marked a triumph for all members of the senior class. The play offered a simple story of life in the blue grass region of Kentucky.

Miss Mariah Douglas, owner of "Grass Lawn," wished her niece, Isabel Douglas, to marry Col. McMillan, Isabel and her friend, Marie Van Harlinger, ably played by Mary B. Vaughan, outwit Miss Douglas, while Col. McMillan had to be content with Miss Mariah Douglas. Isabel won John Cason Gordon, a famous writer on sociology.

Miss Mariah Douglas was well portrayed by Margaret Deland. Col. McMillan, who was old, stupid and deaf, was creditably played by Conley Cox. Berenice Bailey, the pretty, witty, and fascinating Douglas niece, lead the Colonel and Mr. Gordon, who was Vic Montgomery, an interesting race. Vic Montgomery entertained the audience with his presentation of the part of a wealthy young man, disguised as a telephone lineman.

Hop Hoover as Henry, the negro servant, brought laughs by his solo "Cindy Lou," and good imitation of the Southern negro. He was well supported by Cindy, played by Lois D. Adams, who "earned" a good applause for her acting. Other characters who incited favorable criticism were Marvin Rape, Luetta Powell, Aubrey Fussell, Ethard Glover, Philip Lee Childress, Joe S. Pierce, Ange line Patrick, Lowell Schwalbe and Chester Wilson.

Special numbers featured Mickie Couch in a tap dance, a group of high school girls in a chorus, Lorinne Townsend in a vocal solo, Tommy Smith as reader and Tommy Smith, Carolyn Montgomery, Totsy Robison, Ellen Schauer, Edna Billings and Hattie McKinney in a dance and chorus.

Miss Lucile Williamson directed the play and the class is most grateful for her untiring efforts to make the play a success.

J. R. Gray, 86, Is Called By Death

Body Of Confederate Veteran Shipped To College Mound

J. R. Gray, 86, a Confederate veteran and father of J. H. and A. L. Gray of Ozona, died at midnight Wednesday night following an illness of about a week.

The body was taken this morning to San Angelo where it will be placed aboard train for College Mound, near Terrell, Texas, for burial. Funeral services will be held sometime tomorrow.

Mr. Gray had lived in Ozona about three years, coming here from Coleman County to make his home with his sons. He was born in Lincoln County, Tennessee, July 19, 1845. When he was four years old his parents migrated to Texas, settling near Larissa, in East Texas. At the outbreak of the Civil War, he volunteered as a mere boy in Company K, W. P. Lane's regiment, Texas Cavalry. He was attached to Gen. Steele's bodyguard and after Gen. S. B. Maxey superceded Gen. Steele the bodyguard was retained and Mr. Gray remained with Gen. Maxey until about six months before the close of the war. He was at Prairie Dehan, Poison Springs, Jenkins Ferry and was with Gen. Gano when the Potawatamie Indians shot him and broke his arm, according to preserved accounts of his life.

Surviving are four sons, J. H. and A. L. Gray of Ozona, W. C. and S. A. Gray of Abilene, and three daughters, Mrs. Arthur McDowell of Fort Worth, Mrs. Arthur Breeman of Clyde and Mrs. H. K. Fox of San Angelo.

Lions Observe 4th Birthday

Birthday Cake & Program Commemorate Club Founding

The Ozona Lions Club observed its fourth birthday at its regular luncheon period Monday noon with a big birthday cake on which were four candles and a suitable program commemorating the event.

The program consisted of musical numbers furnished by Miss Alline Hampton at the piano, followed by a candle lighting ceremony by club members. The first candle was lighted by Rev. M. M. Fulmer, first president of the club and was dedicated to Lions International, the parent organization of Lions Clubs all over the world. Rev. Fulmer told of the relationship between the local Lions club and the International organization and called attention to some of the outstanding accomplishments of the Lions Clubs through out the world.

The second candle was lighted by Evert White, second president of the club, and dedicated to Lions of the past and especially to members of the local club who have passed on since its organization. Tribute was paid to Lion Nelson Hawkins, first secretary of the Ozona Club and a charter member, to Lion S. E. Couch, also a charter member of the Ozona Club and a director at the time of his untimely death, and to F. A. Gray, a faithful member during the time he lived in Ozona, his membership being withdrawn upon his removal to Rankin a short while before his death.

The third candle was dedicated to Lions of the present and was lighted by President John L. Bishop, who paid tribute to the faithful work that is being done by members of the club at present in the face of the most difficult period in the history of the club.

The fourth candle was dedicated to Lions of the future and was lighted by I. G. Rape. Lion Rape pointed out the many benefits that accrue to the community and to individuals from the service clubs and expressed hope that the Ozona club might thrive and prosper and become a greater force for good in the community as the years roll by.

Rev. M. M. Fulmer Will Preach Sermon At Methodist Church

Rev. M. M. Fulmer, pastor of the Ozona Baptist Church, will preach the Baccalaureate sermon to members of the 1932 graduating class of the Ozona High School at the Methodist Church Sunday morning, May 15, it was announced this week by Supt. John L. Bishop.

Local ministers take turns at preaching the Baccalaureate sermon. This will be the second sermon to be preached by Rev. Fulmer to a local graduating class.

Commencement exercises for the grammar school graduates will be held in the High School auditorium Friday evening, May 13, the superintendent also announced.

Lions Club Play Well Received By Stockton Audience

A good crowd of Fort Stockton people turned out last Thursday night to witness presentation of "Sun-Up," a home-talent play staged by the Ozona Lions Club under auspices of the Fort Stockton Lions Club. The play was presented in the High School auditorium and made a big hit with the Stockton audience. Nearly every former Ozona resident now living in that section was present for the play. Members of the cast and those in charge of the stage work, directing, etc. were highly pleased with the reception given the play by the Stockton people and were loud in their praise of Fort Stockton hospitality.

Members of the company were water-bound at Howard Draw more than two hours and reached Stockton barely in time to get things ready for the play. Mrs. A. W. Jones, director, and Miss Hester Bunker and Mrs. Glenn Rutledge, assistants, and Glenn Rutledge and Royce Smith, stage managers, accompanied the cast on the trip.

Junior-Senior Banquet Held

'Mock Commencement' Is Feature Of Novel Program

Activities of the Commencement of the 1932 Senior Class were well begun Wednesday evening, when the seniors and high school faculty were honored with a banquet, at the Hotel Ozona, by members of the Junior Class and their sponsor, Miss Ada Moss.

The banquet table was in the form of a horseshoe for "Senior Luck." Massive crystal bowls of pink rosebuds decorated the center of the table. At each place there was laid a small rosebud and a cap novelty which opened with a "bang" and started genial merriment.

The programs were fashioned in the shape of black miniature senior caps with programs and menu printed in white ink. The program carried out the novel idea of a mock commencement, as follows:

"Program of The First Commencement" of "No Joke High School" Class Motto—"Me for a diploma" Class Flower—"Cactus." Class Animal—"The Goat." Class Colors—"White but Green." Invocation—John L. Bishop. Salutatory—Lee Dudley. Song—"School Days"—Tommy Smith, Carolyn Montgomery. Essay—"Weddings"—Totsy Robison. Class Poem—Joe Rape. Valedictory—Margaret Butler. Song—Senior Class of '33. Presentation of Diplomas—President of Board of Education—Buddy Moore. A three course menu was served.

O. E. S. QUILT TEA

The Ozona Chapter of the Order of Eastern Star will stage a "Quilt Tea" in the ballroom of the Hotel Ozona Friday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock. All persons who have quilts of special merit from the standpoint of age, beauty or novel design are asked to bring them for display. Patterns of various designs will be available and a silver offering will be taken during the afternoon.

DESCRIBES PASSION PLAY

A description of the Passion Play as presented at Oberammergau, Germany, by the original players was given by Mrs. W. E. West as a feature of the program of the Young Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church in regular meeting at the church Wednesday afternoon.

Baptists Observe 40th Anniversary

Combine Observance of Birthday & Mother's Day Sunday

The fortieth anniversary of the founding of the Ozona Baptist Church will be fittingly observed by the congregation in a combined Mother's Day and birthday program at the morning hour Sunday, Rev. M. M. Fulmer, pastor, announced this week.

The anniversary observance will be devoted primarily to doing honor to the pioneer members of the church. Committees have been named to provide transportation to all old folk who have no way of getting to church.

A brief account of the events leading up to organization of the church and the organization itself will be given by Mrs. W. E. West, the only living charter member of the church. R. J. Cooke, one of the oldest members in point of service, and the oldest deacon in point of service now in the church, will discuss some of the early experiences in the pioneer church.

Rev. Fulmer has announced as his sermon subject "What Hath God Wrought." Special music for the occasion will be devoted to the Mother's Day theme, including a vocal solo by Mrs. W. R. Bissett and special songs by the choir. Committees have been named to have charge of decorating the church for the occasion.

Ozona Beats Dist. Typing Champions

McCamey Team, Trans Pecos Speed Kings, Are Bested Here

By Margaret Butler

Some weeks ago the Commercial department of the Ozona High School planned to have a Typewriting Tournament at the local school on Saturday, April 30. Due to various reasons many of the schools invited were unable to attend and the tournament was called off but the McCamey team, accompanied by the typewriting instructor, came on anyway for a contest.

Mary B. Vaughan and Eugene Montgomery represented the Ozona school and made a net speed of 53 and 36 words per minute, respectively, on a 15 minute speed test, while the opposing team made a speed of 39 and 3 words per minute.

The McCamey team won first place in the Trans-Pecos Interscholastic League contest at Alpine and will go to Austin this week to enter the state contest. Ozona is unable to take part in this phase of the Interscholastic League work because the Commercial department was only begun this year and can not be affiliated with the state department of Education until after the work has been taught for one year.

SENIOR GIRLS PICNIC

The seven girls of the 1932 Ozona High School graduating class enjoyed a picnic and swim four miles out of town on the west road Friday afternoon. Pictures were taken and the picnic menu consisting of sandwiches, olives, potato chips, fruit salad and punch was served in plate lunch style. Girls enjoying the outing were Misses Bernice Bailey, Luetta Powell, Mary B. Vaughan, Angeline Patrick, Ethel Word, Margaret Deland and Lois D. Adams.

Flowers Grocery now has the local agency for the Wool Growers Central Storage Company and the Texal Wool and Mohair Company for distribution of wool sacks, wool twine and branding paint sold by these concerns.

OIL ACTIVITY LOOMS WITH 3 TESTS PLANNED

Shallow Test On Massie Seeks Gas For Todd Deep Test

DRILL ON INGHAM

Texas Co. Scheduled To Spud Deep Test Early This Week

Considerable oil activity in Crockett County is promised in developments during the past week when announcement was made of two scheduled deep tests in the county, one on the B. B. Ingham ranch and one on the J. S. Todd ranch, with a shallow test to be spudded in soon on the Robt. Massie estate ranch in an effort to develop gas for fuel for the Todd deep test.

The Texas company was reported planning to spud a deep test on the Ben Ingham ranch along the Pecos River early this week. This test will be approximately in the center of section 36½, I & G. N. survey about a mile east of the Pecos River. It is scheduled to go to a depth of 4,500 feet unless production is obtained at a lesser depth. The Texas Company has leases on a block of sixteen sections, slightly over 10,000 acres out of the Ingham ranch.

The Texas Co. location on the Ingham ranch is only about one mile east of the Pecos River, approximately 2½ miles southeast of old Fort Lancaster and about 20 miles southeast of the Yates field in Pecos County. About a mile and a quarter to the northeast is an Illinois Pipe Line Co. pump station. About a mile due north of the location and off the northwest corner of section 33, Lewis & McDaniel drilling 1-407 feet in the Pecos River bed without obtaining production. About 3½ miles northeast of the location the Barber Oil Co. in 1928 drilled a wildcat on the ranch of Howard B. Cox of San Angelo, in section I, D. Dickerson survey. It struck sulphur water in the lime at 2,008 feet and was abandoned. Stanolind Oil & Gas Co. within (Continued On Page 2)

Hi School Lions To Meet Junction

Beat Constock 11-2 In Substitute Game Here Last Saturday

The two-game series between the Junction High School Eagles and the Ozona High School Lions which was to have been played on the local diamond last Friday and Saturday but was postponed on account of rain will be played this week barring further rains. Coach Ted White announced this morning. Friday's afternoon's game is slated for 4 o'clock and Saturday's at 2 p. m.

When rains last week prevented the Junction nine from making the trip to Ozona, Coach White arranged a game with the Constock nine, the locals trimming the southern visitors 11 to 2 behind the airtight pitching of Conley Cox.

Conley did himself proud in the box against Constock Saturday, the visitors being able to account for but one scratch hit off his offerings. He struck out ten men. Babb, the opposing hurler, was nicked for six safeties and struck out nine batters. It was Babb who smeared Cox's chances for a no-hit game. Hits for the locals include two for Vic Montgomery, two for Joe Friend, and one each for Lowell Schwalbe and B. B. Ingham.

The local lads scored one run in the first inning, five in the fourth and five in the fifth. The visitors chalked up their two tallies in the fourth. The game went for seven innings by agreement.

OUTLAW THE GANGSTERS

The suggestion is made by the dean of Duke University Law School that legislators might well consider a revival of the old English statutes of outlawry, as a means of checking the activities of racketeers and gangsters.

Under those old laws, any person known to be a habitual violator of the laws, whether convicted under the rules of evidence or not, could be declared an outlaw—that is, without the protection of the law. It became the duty of every citizen, then, to kill such an outlaw on sight. His property was forfeited and his family prohibited from carrying on his name.

That was an effective means of dealing out summary justice. It has been used in the United States more than once in the past century and a half. The suggestion will make the tender-hearted shudder, but so did the kidnapping of the Lindbergh baby. The time is here for the tightening up of the criminal laws. As long as crooks can corrupt legislative bodies and courts, they will continue to flourish and imperil the lives and property of honest men. The taxpayers are paying too much now for the board and lodging of prisoners in jails. It might be a good idea to consider the more effective and economical way of ridding the nation of known criminals by declaring them outlaws.

J. H. McClure, manager of Smith Drug Store, spent the weekend in San Angelo. Mrs. McClure accompanied him here for a few days visit.

ENTERTAINS SENIORS

Mrs. Lee Childress entertained members of the Senior Class of the Ozona High School and their sponsor, Miss Lucille Williamson, with a luncheon, Tuesday. A two course luncheon consisting of chicken a la king, jelly, congealed fruit salad, mashed potatoes, English peas, hot rolls, iced tea, ice box cookies and brick ice cream was served.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Dugger have moved from the Kersey house to the George Harrell place on Powell Avenue.

Mrs. George Montgomery entertained the Friday Bridge Club Friday afternoon at her home, with only club members present.

Mrs. Boyd Clayton is here from her home near Fort Stockton for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Baggett, Jr.

Sen. B.F. Berkeley Asks Re-Election

Alpine Man Asks Voters To Return Him To Legislature

Senator Benjamin F. Berkeley has authorized The Stockman to announce him as a candidate for re-election to the office of State Senator from the 29th Senatorial District, which includes Crockett County, subject to the action of the Democratic primaries.

Senator Berkeley has been a resident of Alpine for thirty-five years. He has been president of a bank in that city for the past twenty-one years, giving him a very intimate knowledge of the needs of the people of this section. "I believe with a background of eight years, important committee appointments, wide acquaintance, a thorough knowledge of legislative procedure and familiarity with the various departments of state, together with a residence of thirty-five years in the district, I should be in a stronger position than ever to serve the best interest of this district," Senator Berkeley writes.

Many of the important legislative acts affecting West Texas, passed by the legislature in the last eight years, have been sponsored by Senator Berkeley. Among the major bills sponsored by the senator are the West Texas land re-appraisal act, bill taxing University lands in West Texas for local purposes, cigarette tax, act setting up permanent machinery for appropriation for predatory animal control, appropriation for determining feasibility of dam site on Pecos River near New Mexico line, creation of several new courts in oil producing territory, vital statistics act, complete re-organization of the Health Department of Texas, appropriation to mark boundary between Texas and New Mexico, various water and reclamation bills and many other local district and state wide bills of great benefit to the people of Texas.

The senator's long experience has given him most important committee appointments, particularly the powerful finance committee of the Senate. "No corporate or other interest influences my vote but I am free to act for the best interests of my district and the state at large," he says.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY

A transportation committee composed of Mrs. W. R. Baggett and Mrs. Lee Childress to provide transportation for any members who wish to attend the district Missionary Society convention in San Angelo May 12 was appointed at the regular business meeting of the Methodist Women's Missionary Society Wednesday afternoon. Members who wish to attend the convention are asked to phone either of these women and transportation will be arranged.

OIL ACTIVITY—

A few days will spud a scheduled shallow test on the ranch of the Robert Massie heirs in north central Crockett County in an effort to develop sufficient gas for fuel for the wildcat to be started soon on the J. S. Todd ranch along the line of blocks UV and WX, GC&SF Ry. Co. survey. The deep test will seek the lime of Ordovician age from which flow the world's deepest wells, in Reagan county, about 30 miles to the northwest. Stanolind No. 1 Massie will be in the southwest quarter of section 47, block UV.

Gas or oil production also would perpetuate the leases in section 47 owned by several companies, which expire in June. Engineers are surveying for the location for Stanolind No. 1 Massie. It probably will be in the south half of the southeast quarter of the section. Stanolind owns the north half of the southeast quarter and Mid-Kansas Oil & Gas Co. the south half of the southeast quarter. Superior Oil Co. of California owns the northwest quarter and the north half of the northwest quarter and Empire owns the south half of the northwest quarter.

Known Gas Sand In Sec. 47

W. A. Moncrief of Fort Worth owns the southwest quarter of section 47. In it he drilled a test in 1929 that developed 3,000,000 cubic feet of gas and for awhile swabbed at the rate of about 15 barrels of oil daily but finally was plugged. It was 1,170 feet from the south line and 1,320 feet from the west line of section 47. With an elevation of 2,520 feet, the test struck gas at 1,198 feet, topped the lime at 1,135 feet, had a showing of oil and a hole full of water at 1,327 feet and set 5 5/8 inch casing at 1,340 feet. It had more gas and most of the oil from 1,417-20 feet, struck a hole full of water from 1,455-50 feet and plugged back to 1,442.

The test to be drilled by Stanolind in the southeast quarter of section 47 will be approximately one-half mile east of Moncrief No. 1 Massie. It may be carried to 1,500 feet. The Eppenauer Drilling Co. of San Angelo has the contract. The southeast quarter of section 47 is about two miles southeast of section 66, block UV, GC&SF Ry. survey, on which it has been rumored the deep test will be drilled by Stanolind and others. A location never has been announced and it may be in some section other than 66 but in the same vicinity. Unitization of the block recently was reported to be nearing completion. Section 47 on which Stanolind will drill primarily for gas is not in the unitized block.

Section 47 is nine or ten miles east of section 50, block WX, GC&SF Ry. survey, in the J. S. Todd ranch, where Joe Cook early in 1926 drilled a test that encountered an estimated 8,000,000 cubic feet of gas at 1,253 feet. The test also showed some oil.

Giants Lose To Texon On Errors

Locals Dish Up Visitors 4-0 Win On Ten Miscues

The Ozona Giants turned better-fingered, took a bad case of stage fright or for some other reason were way off form Sunday afternoon and as a consequence dished up on a silver platter a victory to the Texon Oilers on the local lot.

Ten errors, nearly all of them costly, accounted for the Texon victory. Only four out of the ten players used by Manager Cox weathered the battle without a black mark in the error column. These were Greer, Brown, Weaver and Grimmer. Grimmer, hurling for the Giants, pitched one of the best games of his career and had it not been for the rampage of errors the game would likely have gone for extra innings. Grimmer allowed the visitors five hits, well scattered. The Giants nicked the three visiting hurlers for a total of four safe taps.

MAN MADE THE TOWN

by RUBY M. AYRES

At twenty-two the only thing Diana really desired was another man's husband. A nervous wreck from the excitement and strain London's gay life, she is taken by her aunt, Mrs. Gladwyn, to a famous specialist's office. The physician orders her to the country for a long rest. She rebels, but the doctor is handsome and sympathetic. She learns that he is not the great man himself but an assistant, Dr. Rathbone. "God made the country and man made the town," she tells her, and she agrees to go to a rural retreat.

Before she leaves she goes to Dennis Waterman's flat, where they are surprised by Linda, Dennis's wife, who takes the situation quite calmly. "I suppose she wants you to marry her?" she asks Dennis.

At the night club where she goes with Dennis, Diana collapses. She regains consciousness in a little country cottage, with a nurse, Miss Starling, bending over her. Dr. Rathbone's home was close by, Miss Starling told her.

After three weeks Dennis Waterman calls. He tells her he will have to go away, and his manner, as he leaves her, suggests that his love is waning. But Dennis has not been gone many days before Diana finds herself asking Miss Starling all sorts of questions about Dr. Rathbone.

THE STORY

"You asked me to come," he said. "You said it was something urgent."

"Yes... yes, it is." But for the life of her she could think of nothing to say, no excuse wherewith to justify her hurried letter.

He glanced towards the window if impatient to be gone, even while he drew out a chair for her. "When are you going away?"

"Early tomorrow morning." Her eyes grew unconsciously pathetic.

"For long?" "I shall not be away for very long. I am going to Paris. It's not a holiday, if you think that."

There was a note of wonderment in his voice as if he was asking himself why it was necessary to make this explanation at all. "It's a urgent case—one of my patients who is over there has been taken seriously ill."

He broke off, and Diana said in a queer voice: "Then you're going alone?"

"Alone? . . . Why, certainly I am going alone." He stopped, then asked slowly, "What do you mean? Why do you ask such a question?"

"Nothing . . . only . . ."

He asked rather abruptly: "What was the very urgent thing you wish to see me about?"

Diana flushed a little, but the flush quickly died away, leaving her paler than before.

"I've told you." "You've told me?"

"Yes . . . that I didn't want you to go away."

"You brought me ten miles to see me that?"

"Yes—at least, it's only five. Isn't it? Ten, if you count going back, I suppose . . . Oh, are you angry?"

"Are you ever going to learn self-reliance?" he asked whimsically.

"Self-reliance?" "I mean," he explained, "that it doesn't do to lean too hard on other people; there's such a danger of being let down."

Diana shook her head, a little averting smile on her lips. "You'd never let anybody down," she said confidently.

"You say that," he answered, "and yet you took the trouble to drive five miles through a scorching sun to find out for yourself something about me which you could not find out from other people."

She stared at him, fascinated. "I . . . how do you know?" she whispered.

"Because all women are the same," he answered ruthlessly. "You tell a man you believe in him, and directly his back is turned—"

He broke off, pulling his shoulders together as if in anger at his unwanted display of emotion.

"Well, I must be off," he said once again.

Diana barred his way to the door. "It wasn't that I—didn't believe in you," she said rather pathetically, "it was just—oh, I can't explain, but I think perhaps it was a queer sort of jealousy."

"Jealousy?" "Yes." Her heart was beating fast, but she kept her eyes on his face. "I expect you'll laugh at me, perhaps you'll be angry, but though I don't know why it is, I think I somehow love you. Not the sort of love I . . . like I love Dennis . . . you're so much older than I am, and than he is too, but you make me feel so—safe! You make me feel that no matter what went wrong, if the door opened and you were in, everything would be all right."

She put her hand over her eyes for a moment as if trying to make sure of her own thoughts. "Yes," she said after a moment, "that's how I feel about you. I love you because you're so safe. You're like a strong harbor to which—anything weak—like me—can go and be safe."

She smiled at him with a very sweet smile. "That's a very . . . dangerous thing to say to me, Diana."

"Dangerous?" "Hasn't it ever occurred to you that I am only just a very ordinary man?"

"No, because you're not; not not like the men I've met, anyway."

"In spite of . . . the thing you were so anxious to find out about me?"

"You won't forgive me for that? I never really believed it, even though—"

"And if it's true?" She came a step nearer to him. "Is it true?"

He moved back a little way from her and laughed. "Your faith is not so very strong after all, you see. Well, I must go."

So he would not tell her; she knew that he would never tell her. She put out her hand, and after the barest hesitation he took it.

And then he was gone.

CHAPTER XI

Rathbone was away four days. It seemed a long four days, and then, on the fifth morning, a letter came from Dennis Waterman. She took Dennis's letter with her out into the woods.

It was with a little sigh of reluctance that at last she opened it.

"My darling: "You have not written to me, though every mail I look for a letter. I am always thinking of you and wondering how and where you are. New York is like a fiery furnace; the pavements seem to burn your feet. These lawyer fellows are keeping us hanging about, and Linda will not leave until everything is settled up, though I rather fancy I shall come home before she does, perhaps soon. Wasn't it some poet fellow who said that absence makes the heart grow fonder? Well, that's how I feel about you. There are times when the longing to see you again is almost unbearable."

Diana closed her eyes and tried to visualize how Dennis must have looked when he wrote those words. She knew every line of his face so well, and yet somehow she could not recapture them.

She went on reading: "Life is a queer thing, isn't it? It seems absurd that you and I are forced to be separated like this, when if we were together we should find perfect happiness. Do you still love me? But I know you do, and when I come home—"

Diana stopped reading, and hurriedly folded the letter. Somehow she felt she could not bear any more; it was the voice of the past coming back to claim her, when for a little while she had thought to have escaped from it.

A wood pigeon flew suddenly overhead with a great flutter of wings, as if something had startled it and looking up, Diana saw a girl standing on the narrow path before her.

She was standing very still, almost as if she were a figure in a picture and not a real person at all, and standing beside her was a big dog, a rough-haired Alsatian with a red collar round his shaggy neck.

They were both looking at Diana, and she looked back at them with an odd sense of unreality, as if this was something she was seeing in a dream, till the girl moved and spoke.

"What were you thinking about?" she asked.

"Thinking about?" Diana felt a little bewildered. "I don't know; just things."

The two girls looked at one another, and it was Diana who spoke next.

"I know who you are," she said. "Your name is Rosalie." Then she flushed and wished she had not spoken.

But the other girl only smiled.

FRESH BREAD IS ALWAYS SOFT! But—

Is "Soft" Bread ..... Always "Fresh?"

Had you ever pondered the question of why some bread feels soft several days after baking, yet tastes stale? City bakers who supply a widely scattered territory must have bread that will stay soft for days—else it will not sell. Every baker knows this "trick of the trade"—a few extraneous ingredients and the trick is turned—and a gullible public buys it.

Fresh bread, baked every day for the day's trade needs no artificial preservative to detract from its wholesomeness and nutritive value.

Two modern bakery shops in Ozona turn out fresh, wholesome, nutritive bread every day. Yet Ozona stores still offer their customers bread that is gathered up from San Angelo stores at the end of the day—bread that failed to sell—and sent to Ozona for distribution as "fresh" bread. How long will Ozona act as the "garbage can" for San Angelo bakers' left-over bread?

Man Made The Town

"Yes, my name is Rosalie," she said.

There was a little silence, then she asked, "Do you mind if I sit down?"

Diana moved a little to make room for her.

"Are you fond of music?" Rosalie asked suddenly.

"Yes—yes, I think I am," Diana said, feeling rather bewildered.

"Do you sing?"

"No."

"I do. Listen." And suddenly she began to sing, quite naturally and as if it were nothing out of the ordinary suddenly to start singing to a perfect stranger.

She had a charming voice, rather small, but wonderfully true and clear, and she sang a little song which Diana had never heard before.

"How we met, what need to say? When or where, Years ago or yesterday, Here or there?"

All the song is—once we met, She and I:

Once, but never to forget, Till we die

All the song is that we meet Never now.

"Hast thou yet forgotten, sweet?"

"Love, hast thou?"

The sweet voice stopped, and Diana was surprised to feel tears on her cheeks.

"That is very pretty," she said, hastily brushing them away.

"Yes, isn't it? Donald likes it too."

There was a little silence.

"When is he coming back?" Diana asked.

"I don't know; he never tells me. He just comes."

"I see."

The dog suddenly pricked up his ears and slowly started to wag his feathery tail as a man in chauffeur's uniform came along the winding path.

"It's time to go home, Miss Rosalie."

"Very well." She rose obediently, smiled at Diana, and was gone.

During the next few days Diana saw Rosalie twice. Once she met her being driven up the village street in Rathbone's limousine, looking out of the window with rather weary eyes, with the big shaggy dog sitting beside her.

Moved by a sudden impulse, Diana waved a hand to her, but she received no recognition in reply. Rosalie's mournful eyes met hers without interest, as if they had never seen her before.

One morning she had a bright idea.

"I'm going to send to London for my car," she informed Miss Starling.

The Creature looked up.

"To drive yourself?" she asked.

"To drive myself," Diana mocked her. "Why not? I've driven myself for years. I'm a good driver. Would you be afraid to trust yourself to me?"

"I should enjoy it very much indeed, but we must ask Dr. Rathbone first if it will be wise."

Diana frowned.

"I'm tired of being dictated to by him; besides—well, he hasn't been near me for ages."

She wrote to London that morning and then went off to the farm to see Mr. Shurey and ask about garage accommodation.

CHAPTER XII

That evening Dr. Rathbone called. He told her how well she looked.

"Do you realize," he asked her, "that you will soon be back in your beloved London?"

She looked at him quickly.

"Why do you call it that?"

"Well, isn't it?"

"It used to be."

"And will be again. You'll see. Once you have said goodbye to the country—" He stopped, and she asked:

"What then? I suppose you think I shall forget all about the weeks I've been here and never want to come back again?"

"Where Values Reign Supreme"

Ozona, Texas

Sprites And Flowers Dance And Sing Before Throne Of King And Queen Of The May In Gay May Fete Festivities

Ozona people were given a real treat Tuesday evening in the form of a May Fete given by the pupils of the first seven grades and the kindergarten. Nearly 200 children took part in the colorful spectacle, staged on the lawn in front of the school building.

Following the introduction of King Billy of the house of Hardeberger by Supt. John L. Bishop, Margaret of the house of Drake with her attendants came into view. Advancing from the center of the outdoor stage, the attending maids and their escorts formed lines leading to the throne. Alighting from her carriage, Miss Drake mounted the throne where she was crowned Queen of the May by the King of Festivities.

Then the sprites and flowers came to perform for her royal majesty. The brownies with their unique stunts were followed by a dance of the roses. Little white daises then came to honor their queen with a dance. Red tulips added a song and the buttercups were attractive in their folk dance. The demure violets skipped daintily before the court and the butterflies and bees flitted and buzzed among the flowers.

The last group to enter was the May Pole people dressed in pink, white and green and they danced around May Poles of pink, white and green. All then, joined hands and sang a farewell song for the royal court. Mediaeval-costumed heralds announced each group.

Miss Norene Allison and Miss Alline Hampton had charge of the evening's program, furnishing music for the dances and songs. They were assisted by Misses Sophie Haug, Elizabeth Fussell, Mary E. Webb, and Patti Raiza and Mrs. R. O. Smith, Mrs. Claude Denham and Mrs. Tom Hunter.

P. T. A. Moves Last Meeting Date From May 16 to May 9

The last meeting of the Ozona Parent-Teachers Association, originally scheduled for May 16, has been moved up to May 9 in order to allow teachers time in which to put up their exhibits and to take them down before final examinations. Mrs. Welton Bunger, president, announced this week.

Exhibits of the work of each grade in school covering the entire year, installation of officers for the coming year and musical numbers will constitute the program for this meeting. Everybody is invited to the last meeting of the 1931-32 season of the P.T.A., Mrs. Bunger said.

The day's program will be as follows:

Musical Program—Miss Patti Raiza.

Installation of officers. School exhibits.

Social Hour—Mesdames Welton Bunger, S. L. Butler, L. B. Cox, Jr. Pon Seahorn and Freeman.

METHODIST NOTES

At the Second Quarterly Conference held at the Methodist Church last Saturday night Rev. S. L. Batchelor stated that the Ozona church had the best all round financial report of any church in the district.

Rev. and Mrs. J. H. Meredith will attend the District Conference at Paint Rock this week. This is a semi-annual meeting and will be attended by all the preachers of the district, as well as representative laymen.

While we are not making any elaborate preparations for the occasion, we expect to observe Mother's Day next Sunday. You will either wear a red or white flower in honor of your mother next Sunday. Let's pay a tribute to our mothers next Sunday by attending church.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Watts and Mr. Watts' mother, Mrs. L. D. Watts, visited Carlsbad Caverns last week-end.

Mrs. Mike Couch is confined to her home on account of illness this week.

Home Economics Dept. Serves Dinner For Board And Faculty

The Home Economics Department of the Ozona High School honored the Board of Education and members of the faculty with a dinner Wednesday evening, April 27 at six-thirty at the Ozona High School. The girls of the department managed the serving of the dinner in a most creditable manner, while their teacher, Miss Ada Moss, took her place as a guest.

A three-course dinner was served. John L. Bishop acted as toast master and gave the word of welcome. Throughout the dinner Mr. Bishop entertained the guests with humorous stories. Judge Charles E. Davidson responded to the welcome. Tommy Smith and Carolyn Montgomery gave a short one-act comedy. Miss Maxine Murdock played a piano solo.

The tables were decorated with bowls of rosebuds and red full blown roses made nut cups.

Mother's Day, May 8

Give CANDY!

When you give Mother a box of candy as a remembrance on Mother's Day, it becomes more than a mere box of candy to her. Although it is sometimes difficult to realize how much mothers appreciate the little extra thought, it's true such a small thing as a box of candy becomes a symbol of your deep affection for her. And at the same time it recalls much of the traditional glamour that a gift of candy has always had.

This year, give her candy!
