Pastor Resigns To Take Up Work As Evangelist

Rev. L. M. Gambrell Holding Meetings In Area During Summer

Beginning Sunday at the First Baptist Church at Sonora, Rev. Leon M. Gambrell of Ozona will conduct a two-weeks series of meetings and will be accompanied by his eleven-year old son, David, who plays the piano in accompaniment to his father's singing.

Following Rev. Gambrell's resignation of the local pastorate Sunday morning, he revealed that he will be engaged in evangelistic activity in this area during the summer months. Mrs. Gambrell will spend the summer in Haskell, Oklahoma. The local pastor's resignation will be effective on September 15 or at any earlier date when a succeeding pastor may be secured by the church.

Services at the Sonora revival will be held twice daily, evening meetings to be held on the lawn adjoining the Baptist Church building in Sonora.

The Ozona pastor concluded a week of meetings at Bakersfield last Sunday. He was accompanied by his pianist son, who played the piano in accompaniment to solo numbers by the minister.

Two meetings are scheduled by the Ozona pastor following the meeting at Sonora. In the near future he will conduct another meeting at Bakersfield and in September he will go to Monahan for a revival.

Because of the talent and enthusiasm of his son, the Baptist minister plans to take the youth with him on future meeting engagements. The Ozona boy, who is in the seventh grade of the Ozona schools, has manifested a considerable talent with the piano and has earned praise and many compliments for his playing, according to those who have heard him.

Four Thru Buses Daily Now Serve Western Section

New Schedule Gives 24 Hour Service To San Antonio, Back

Four buses are now passing through Ozona daily following a rearrangement of schedules in the Kerrville Bus Company line recently.

Formerly two buses arrived in Ozona daily, one west bound at 9 p. m. and another east bound at 1:45 p. m.

The new table received here and effective yesterday, reveals two west bound and two east bound buses in daily service. Leaving Ozona are two west bound motor buses, one at 9 p. m. (which remains according to the old schedule) and one at 2:05 a. m. Arriving at Ozona east bound are two buses, one at 1 a. m. and another at 1:45 p. m.

The new schedule created means of travel from this area into San Antonio and back in a twenty-four hour period, with the day spent in San Antonio.

Henry Schooler's Racing Frog Is Winner of Derby

"Oscar" Boxed In And On His Back When Barrier Broke

Henry Schooler, Big Lake Magnolia oil man, was the winner of the horned frog derby on the main street July 4.

"Oscar," hope of the Stockman office, primed and ready for the gun, suffered ill luck. At the crack of the whistle, the little Stockman harrier, was "boxed" in on the start. He might have won the race except that forty-five other toads sat on top of him and adding ill luck to misfortune, he was on his back.

"Oscar" thought there was to be a second race, and struck out ten minutes too late, but just in time to meet his fate under the wheels of a hit-and-run driver.

Buffalo Horn, Relic Of Past Age, Found On Henderson Ranch

Uncovered among the mountain rocks where it had rested for more than a half century, a tell-tale relic of an antiquated day was stumbled upon this week by a ranch man of the Pecos land who was surveying a two and three quarter mile tract of land on the divide this side of the Pecos.

The find was a buffalo horn. While surveying with others near a fence corner on the Henderson property, Lee Henderson came upon the curio and brought it to town yesterday. Since Mr. Henderson came to that area in 1887 and at that time there were no buffaloes in this part of the country, it was estimated that the horn is more than half a century old and possibly near to a hundred.

Erosion of the elements, together with the blistering heat of the sun's rays, has parched the buffalo horn and caused it to peel into a state of deterioration but the shape is preserved and the black hue of the horn point and its shape and size fixes the identity.

Why the horn had not been picked up sooner by hunters or ranch employees could not be explained by the finder. When found, the relic was uncovered. A flat surface on one side and a lighter color, indicated that the horn had lain in the same spot for quiet a while.

The Pecos rancher will keep the horn as a relic.

SON TO McDONALDS

Mr. and Mrs. Bryan McDonald are the parents of a son born July 4. The newcomer has been named Donald Bryan.

Mr. and Mrs. Massie West and children, Ann and Joyce, left Thursday for Denver, Colorado. While away the Ozonans will tour the western states.

'Love Thy Neighbor' Good Religion and Sound Statesmanship, Opines Venerable Crockett Judge On His 79th Birthday

Philosophical Pioneer County Builder Finds Life Still Full of Contentment and Interest In Daily Public and Private Tasks

By Bill Gray

That he has never had difficulty in protecting himself against knaves but has lost "plenty on fools," was the philosophical resume of Judge Charles E. Davidson of Crockett County when interviewed Tuesday afternoon, on the eve of his seventy-ninth birthday Wednesday.

As he approached his birthday, the venerable county judge summed up his outlook on life in sentence philosophy, closing the interview with this statement: "Love thy neighbor as thyself is good religion and sound statesmanship."

The seventy-nine year-old man spoke as if he meant it.

Although Judge Davidson is passing this week off as he does most every week, at work, the week contains two noteworthy anniversary days in the life of the Crockett County builder and founder and West Texas pioneer cattleman and attorney. Crockett County, which the pioneering Mr. Davidson directed into existence, was forty-four years old Sunday, July 7—and yesterday the county maker himself had a birthday. He was 79. He took no time off from his work to celebrate either occasion but spent most of the time in Commissioners Court meetings where he granted the interview. At other times, the county judge will be found actively engaged in work, directing work on the lateral roads of the county.

Record Long Service

Perhaps a record, at least maybe in Texas, is the mark of the Crockett judge in years of service. He has served as Crockett County judge since his induction into that office forty-two years ago, with the exception of one term of office.

Judge Charles Davidson is not a politician and has never solicited.

Black Widow Spider Crowded Out Of Day's News As Spectators Watch Weird Battle Of Beetle & Vinegaroon, 'Cowboys' Bedfellow

The "black-widow" which answered curtains on the scene of newspaper fronts everywhere a few weeks ago has made its bow to readers and in the Ozona Stockman office there remains nothing of the local specimen but the shriveled body. The spider died from want of oxygen, food or reasons unknown.

The kleigs this week are focused upon another member of the zoological kingdom which also is reputedly venomous, the vinegaroon, or whip scorpion. A live specimen is on display at the Stockman office and was brought in by Mike Friend.

Its Things Like This That Make Reporters Dizzy

The item would be fit for Ripley, except that A. W. Jones is an Ozonan and a San Angeloan (which is still bewildering).

Lurrine Townsend Suffers Injury At Carnival Grounds

Lurrine Townsend, oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Townsend, escaped tragic injury last Friday evening while riding the ferris wheel at the show grounds when she was struck in the face by a sliver from a target bullet from a nearby shooting gallery. The lead piece which ricocheted from the shooting stand struck the girl in the face near the eye. The injury, which might have been serious, was not grave.

An anti-tetanus serum was administered following the accident.

GIANTS STAND TIED AT TOP WITH OILERS

Locals Take Holiday Thriller From Tex-on Powerhouse

SERIES ENDS EVEN

Both Teams Win League Game By Same Score of 5 to 0

Maybe not "the thrill that comes once in a lifetime" but certainly one that comes seldom enough was enjoyed by one of the largest crowds of rabid baseball fans ever to pack the local grandstand on July 4 when the Ozona Giants, playing airtight baseball behind the superb pitching of Sergeant Crostwaite, of the 46th aero squadron, Randolph Field, San Antonio, conquered the mighty Texon Oilers 5 to 0.

The day before, the Oilers had blasted away in usual fashion to beat the Giants by the same score, the first and second days games of the holiday series being designated as counting in league standing.

By virtue of this split of the two-game series, Ozona and Texon are tied for top-rung position in the Permian Basin League standing of clubs, each club having won three and lost one.

Crostwaite had the heavy slugging Oilers on his hip from the start, striking out six of them and allowing them but six well-scattered bingles in the nine frames. Hitting as if inspired, the locals jumped on Ritter, till then the leading pitcher of the Basin league, for twelve safe blows, every Giant save one hitting safely. Mangold leading with three out of four, Lenz getting two out of four, F. Russell two out of three, and the rest one each. Although the San Antonio hurler had the visitors helpless for the most part, some sensational fielding by the locals robbed the Oilers of several hits and rounded out a superior baseball club.

Two exhibition games following the holiday series, one Friday and another Sunday afternoon, proved a let down for local partisans. The erratic and ineffective pitching of Wetzel proved duck soup for the visitors, who took the Friday carnage by a count of 8 to 1 and Sunday's 11 to 6.

The Giants journey to Crane next Sunday for a double header series. Efforts were being made by club officials here this week to again secure the services of Crostwaite to pitch one or more of the Sunday series at Crane, but information was lacking today on the final outcome of the negotiations.

The following Sunday, the locals entertain the Cranes here in a double bill.

Thieves Take Five Cases Of Tomatoes From Webb's Truck

Five cases of tomatoes were stolen last week from the truck of E. H. Webb, vegetable store owner, whose truck was parked during the night beside his place of business. No trace of the thief could be determined by local authorities. Theft was blamed upon vagrant itinerants passing through Ozona simultaneously with the carnival shows.

SILLY CENSORSHIP

Cleveland Plain Dealer: The utter futility of press censorship, no less than its threat to political liberty, condemns it in the minds of thoughtful people the world over.

Mussolini expels from Italy a Chicago Tribune reporter and closes the frontier against the New York Times because the one wrote and the other printed reports supposedly unfavorable to the Fascist realm.

Thus Fascist and Nazi dictatorships, alike in their purpose to crush all free expression of thought, adopt similar means to keep men in ignorance of fact.

When the German Government refuses to give information as to the extent of the Reinsdorf disaster the world immediately jumps to the conclusion that the killed and wounded far outnumber the real casualties.

In the case of Mussolini and the American newspapers the same train of reasoning is set in motion. Conditions in Italy must, indeed, be bad if the head of the State is unwilling to have them described in newspapers of high rank.

How long any people will endure such senseless censorship the world may well wonder. The sad truth is that the Italian and German censorship, thus emphasized anew, is not more rigorous or more menacing than the censorship which exists over much of the area of the European Continent.

Democracy rebels at censorship. Freedom of expression is essential to popular government, and popular government is the best plan yet devised for the promotion of the greatest good for the greatest number of people.

Another alarming aspect of the inheritance tax-increase problem is the possible necessity of providing work-relief for the lawyers for whom big estates were an ideal share-the-wealth program under the old system.—Ft. Worth Star-Telegram.

Preliminary Work State Industrial Survey Under Way

Project To Aid State's Industries; Promote Employment

AUSTIN, Texas, July 11—Preliminary work of the Texas Industrial Survey got underway this week after conferences between Governor James V. Allred, Dudley P. South, Director of the Survey, and members of the executive committee.

W. M. Massie, President of the Fort Worth National Bank and Chairman of the State Planning Board, concurred with Mr. Youngblood in recommending the endorsement which was given unanimous approval on motion by Wilbur C. Hawk, publisher of the Amarillo Globe-News.

With the endorsement of the Planning Board and Governor Allred, request is being made for the use of about one thousand Texans who are now on relief rolls in gathering data for the survey.

Demo Platform Pledge "This will be a forward step in keeping with the Democratic state platform," the Governor said, "which advocated an accurate survey of the state's industrial possibilities and markets for industrial products."

"The survey is not to be considered as a cure-all for the ills of Texas industry. Rather it is to be an efficient means by which we may brush aside the cobwebs hiding the idle machinery, uncover markets and the tremendous possibilities latent in our natural resources, and thus focus the attention of ourselves and the nation upon the industrial opportunities of Texas."

"Let us become industrially-minded and if, through this survey, we may make the country industrially conscious of Texas while gainfully employing many Texans now on direct relief, then the survey will have achieved its purpose."

Dudley P. South of Houston, who is in charge of the survey, comes from a distinguished line of educators and has crowded into his 37 years an amazing amount of practical experience in operating large and varied enterprises.

He thinks and talks rapidly, advancing enough facts within an hour's interview to set the interviewer's head spinning. He radiates activity and energy; yet his feet are on the ground and he has developed his own enterprises so successfully as to warrant a practical approach to business problems.

Aid Dormant Enterprises Mr. South told the Planning Board that the survey would seek to aid enterprises which are dormant because of limited contacts or lack of industrial research.

He was born in Austin. His grandfather, W. S. South, came to Texas from Kentucky in 1840 and taught school for several years in Bandera County. His father, H. W. South, was a member of the Texas A. & M. faculty and organized and coached the first A. & M. football team in 1896.

Dudley South left Rice Institute during the war and enlisted voluntarily in the Signal Corps. He went overseas as a private and came back with the rank of first lieutenant, Signal Corps.

He is a member of the Houston Engineers Club, the Houston Club St. Paul's Methodist Church, and Theta Tau engineering fraternity. He is married and has two children.

NOBODY'S BUSINESS

BY JEROME CAPERS JR.

AUSTIN, July 10.—The political picture in Texas has undergone swift and important changes during the past few weeks.

Atty. Gen. Bill McCraw and Chairman E. O. Thompson of the railroad commission, have each let it be definitely known that they are candidates for re-election to their respective offices next summer, "regardless of who else runs for what."

The appointment of a brother of the governor to an important post with the Federal Securities Commission regional office in Ft. Worth, is the tip-off. Folks who know how federal appointments are distributed know that Allred was not appointed without the endorsement of both Texas senators.

With Allred out of the running, Rep. Martin Dies, ambitious congressman from the 2nd district, has leaped into the limelight as the leading potential opponent of Sen. Sheppard. Dies is reported here to have hired press agents, set up a preliminary campaign organization, and he is actively at work, despite the fact that he has made no formal declaration.

Dies says he would relieve the depression by deporting the aliens leaving the jobs for American citizens. His speeches have frightened some ignorant aliens, to the extent that the U. S. immigration office in principal cities of Texas have felt called upon to issue reassuring statements, when floods

One of Dies' predecessors as representative from the second district, Congressman Box, stayed rather hot on the alien question for years but was never able to make use of the issue successful as a political lever.

Happiest Age to Wed Is Set at 33 for Man, Though 27 for Woman

A new chart showing the ages at which men and women should marry if they are to have the greatest chance of happiness is presented by Dr. Hornell Hart, professor of social ethics at the Hartford, Conn., Theological Seminary, in a recent issue of the Bombay, India, review, Marriage Hygiene.

Contrary to a common idea, early marriages are not the happiest, at least for the American populations to which Dr. Hart's data chiefly refer.

The ideal age difference between bride and bridegroom seems to be about five years, the happiest bridegrooms being about that much older than their brides.

In this zone are bridegrooms as young as 23 and as old as 47, marrying brides as young as 21 and as old as 38. Again, the ideal difference in age is about five years.

Flies, Spreaders of Disease, One of Man's Greatest Enemies

AUSTIN, Texas, July 11—Flies spread disease. They are reared in filth and through life make frequent trips from filth to food. Germs causing dysentery and other intestinal disorders are transported on the hairy feet of flies. These insect pests are regarded as having played a leading part in causing food-borne epidemics of typhoid fever, stated Dr. John W. Brown, State Health Officer.

Flies multiply rapidly as soon as warm weather comes to stay. A female deposits more than a hundred eggs at a time in organic material such as manure or in an insanitary outdoor toilet. The life cycle from egg to larva (maggot), to pupa, to adult male or female fly requires but ten days. A week later, fifty females, under favorable conditions, are ready to deposit a total of 50,000 eggs. During the summer season, nine generations of flies may result from one female that laid the first batch of eggs in the spring. It is estimated that if the offspring of a single overwintering female were to survive through nine generations, descendants in the fall would number over five and a half trillion.

Fortunately, modern sanitation and knowledge regarding the life history and habits of the house fly render possible complete control over the fly nuisance. Proper disposal of human and animal wastes in urban areas and on farms will prevent the breeding and multiplication of flies. Practical suggestions relative to methods of fly control may be obtained from the State Department of Health and U. S. Department of Agriculture.

KNOW ANY BIGGER?

Pathfinder: Since snake stories are reasonable, writes A. C. Wolfe of Sultan, Wash. you might be interested in one told by my uncle back in the days when stories of the hoopsnake were rife in Midwestern States. My Uncle Jarve Crockett told of his experience in returning from the mill at Napoleon to the farm. He was then a young man (in the 80's) and had accompanied his father. A spirited span of colts were hitched to the wide-tire farm wagon. A cloud of dust approaching them down the road, proved to be a hoopsnake. My uncle was so frightened, nearly as much so as the colts, he gave the lines to his father. By keeping tight lines, the snake, all gold and silver, with its tail in its mouth, struck the wagon tongue, stung it and was then crushed beneath the wheels.

It was 12 feet long, a monster of its species. The snake was thrown across a rail fence, so it could die with the setting sun, and exercise the witches so the Crockett family would never again with hoopsnakes. Uncle and his father then proceeded homeward. They had not traversed a mile when they noticed that the wagon tongue began to swell as a result of being stung by the tail of the snake. The swelling tongue of the wagon soon became so heavy the horses had to be unhitched and the tongue rolled to one side of the road. Uncle Jarve and his father cut a pole tongue from the nearby forest and proceeded homeward. Next day, when the farm chores were done, uncle and his brother, Jim, took a yoke of oxen hitched to a mudboat to bring home the old wagon tongue. It had swollen to 16 feet in diameter and made eight cords of 16-inch cook stove wood, enough to supply the farm kitchen with wood an entire year.

INTRODUCING the Smallest Member OF THE BUDGET FAMILY

THE BUDGET FAMILY

My big brothers. TAXES. Food. Clothing and Rent, Grow great on the money they've caused to be spent. The biggest of all, brother TAXES, looks down --- "Electricity, it gets smaller," says he with a frown "It is always so handy: it works day and night. Politicians attack it with main and with might, But they don't notice ME -- the biggest of all. Electricity is tiny and willing, and yet I'm jealous of all the attention it gets. But, perhaps that is better for ME after all. For if I get attention, 'twill end in a squall Which will stop ME from growing, and THAT isn't all-- The voters will clamor to cut down MY size. So let Utility 'take it'--till people get wise."

Napoleon's Ascendancy In Europe Cause Grave Concern For Spanish In Texas As French Agents Flocked in for Trouble

Interesting Documents In Bexar Archives Reveal Intrigue

AUSTIN, Texas, July 10—The study of even the casual observer of events in Texas during the early 19th century, is impressed with the fact that the proud Spaniards had many heavy burdens to bear in the development and defense of the rich country that seemed to invite attack because of its very beauty and fertility, according to Mrs. Mattie Austin Hatcher, archivist in the University of Texas library. The ever-watchful Nemesio Salcedo was the first to take alarm as soon as he heard that, by the cessation of Bayona on May 5, 1808, Napoleon had gained complete ascendancy over both Charles IV and Ferdinand VII, rulers of Spain, had thrown his armies into the Peninsula and had announced his intentions of making his brother Joseph King of Spain and the Indies, including Mexico—and, of course, Texas. His fears were well-founded, for almost immediately a swarm of agents spread over the Spanish Dominions of America with instructions to stir resentment between the Gachupines, or Spaniards born in Europe, and the Creoles—or Spaniards and castes born in America. These agents were to convince the people of Mexico that he planned to make the Spanish-Americans free and to relieve them of the burdensome taxes imposed by the King and wanted nothing, in return, but the friendship of the people and the commerce of the country. Suspicion as to his motives was aroused by his suggestion that all those opposing his plans to chastize the tyranny of the King be removed from the world by the administration of poison.

His next step was to send to the United States an agent, Desmoulin, who was, in turn, to send sub-agents over the country in every direction to bring on a revolution which would enable him to make himself master of the country.

D'Alvamar Held

As early as May, 1808, Nemesio Salcedo learned that Octaviano D'Alvamar, a Paris-born Italian, in the employ of Napoleon was on his way to Nacogdoches. In fact, D'Alvamar reached Nacogdoches in the summer of 1808 and threw the authorities into a panic. The story can best be told, Mrs. Hatcher pointed out, by a translation from the Nacogdoches Archives in the Texas State Library, a collection supplementary to the Bexar Archives in the library of The University of Texas. His letter, dated August 5, 1808, addressed to Governor Manuel de Salcedo, shows the boldness of Napoleon's plans.

"I have the honor to inform you of my arrival within the bounds of the province you govern in the name of his Catholic Majesty. Sir, I confess how far I was from thinking and how difficult it would be to imagine that what has happened to me would happen. I am detained and prevented from continuing my journey. Often before I have been employed among the Spanish people, I have been known to them a long time, having conducted negotiations in nearly all their colonies. I still have many proofs of this fact. This is the first time, I repeat, that I have been treated in this manner.

"I left France at the end of 1807. I had orders to go to the United States to await a commission. I tarried some time, traveling about and even thinking they had forgotten me, (although it is well known that his Majesty never forgets) when I received orders to visit his Excellency the Viceroy of Mexico. I did not myself know why. Then, suddenly a new order directed me to hasten. I started in advance of my retinue. I was obliged, to come like a mail rider, so to speak, or rather, like a fugitive, because my arrival was urgent and also largely because I was fearful of a break between France and the United States. Finally, I reached the Spanish frontier, where I expected to find protection and safety. I am scarcely noticed. And, in spite of the intimacy of the two nations in Europe, it seems that they are at war on this continent. I assure you very sincerely, Sir, that I never would have tasted the bitter cup offered me to drink if it had not been for the embargo by the United States. They tell me here that your seat of government is far distant, that the name of the city in which you reside is even more barbarous than the place in which I now am. I consider it useless to write to the commandant general, since his reply would probably not reach me in a reasonable time. As soon as possible I must communicate with Marques de San Simon who is probably viceroy of Mexico by this time.

"Your commandant insists that I enclose a copy of my passport. They refuse to understand, I repeat, that with or without a passport, it is all the same. Nevertheless, I furnish it, though with great personal objection."

Is your tank a stranger to Gulf gas? Then it's time you re-discovered it! Try it for 3 weeks. Let it tell you what a great new gas it is—as it recently told an army of other motorists.*

THAT GOOD GULF GASOLINE

Never too well Established to Advertise

You may have been here forty years and everyone knows you are here, but they don't think of you when they need merchandise.

Likely they think of the fellow who is constantly after them reminding that he has the goods and the service.

Here are some things that "have been here 40 years" until they quit advertising. Now they are either off the market entirely or sales are limited.

PEAR'S SOAP PEARLINE SAPOLIO FORCE RUBIFOAM LION COFFEE AGRI-COLA

And, dear reader, how many really meritorious articles can you think of that are off the market today, or practically so, because they quit advertising even if they "had been here 40 years?"

The moment a successful business ceases to be advertised it is headed towards oblivion.

Judge Davidson—

ed a vote in his forty-two years of service, he says. In the early days of Texas, before the days of primary elections, he was delegate several times to the state conventions and represented a large part of West Texas. At the state conventions he was generally a member of the resolutions committee and was familiar with such figures as Joe Bailey, Swannee Robison and Governor Roberts. He has been acquainted with every governor that succeeded Governor Roberts.

Born in Nicholas County, Kentucky, Charles E. Davidson went with his parents to Henry County, Iowa and there as a farmer boy grew to manhood. He was educated in country schools and upon completion of the elementary grades, entered Howe's Academy at Mount Pleasant, Iowa. From there, the Kentucky youth went to Cornell University and thence to the University of Iowa. He later was graduated with the degree of law from the University of California with the class of 1882.

First Fee Fat One

Upon graduation, the law student was employed as an attorney for a firm in San Francisco which dealt in Texas lands and land scripts. His first attorney fee resulted in considerable cash and twenty-five sections of West Texas land. During the year of 1882, the attorney decided to come to Texas and make use of his newly acquired lands. He reached the state the latter part of June of that year and was not long in establishing a land and law office in San Angelo where he made his new home. Here, the successful land attorney found a profitable and pleasant business at a time when land offices brought lucrative returns. At one time he had exclusive control of Section 23 in the San Angelo vicinity which is now a part of the San Angelo town site. The land dealer mapped and surveyed part of the city of San Angelo and his name is upon maps and surveys in the Tom Green County courthouse files now.

The land and law office of the attorney was enriching at first and the firm owned at one time the lot now covered by the San Angelo National Bank building. Carrying on extensive trade in reality, the Davidson firm required the services of a large staff of assistants.

A year after arriving at the Tom Green County point, in 1883 the newcomer branched from realty business into the cattle business. It was that year that he bought the 7 HB cattle brand from the Georgetown Ranch Company, which company had acquired the brand from an Abilene merchant. Buying up cattle, the law counselor and land dealer soon found himself involved with a considerable herd on his hands and from that time until today—through 52 years—Charles E. Davidson has been known in West Texas ranch circles as a prominent cattleman.

County Created

In 1875, the area now known as Crockett County was created from the large outlying district which was generally known as a part of Bexar county. It was not until Charles Davidson and other pioneers took it upon themselves to form a county that such action came about. Petition for a charter was drawn up under the old live oak tree which yet stands within the shadows of the Crockett Court house. The county came into existence July 7, 1891, and the people of the county, many of whom were attracted here as clients of Mr. Davidson, named the "cattle king" to be their first county judge. He has held the position, with the exception of one term, continuously since—to within a few years of a half century and to Charles Davidson it has been an enjoyable half hundred years for the most part.

Today he owns 56 sections of patented land seven miles south of Ozona. The site of the Davidson ranch was once considered as a town site and was long a gathering place for cattle men traveling through this area. His residence is on his ranch where he finds time now and then to spend his while but most of his time is spent negotiating business of the county and directing road work.

He is the owner of the Ozona Water Works and his seven wells on the hill overlooking the town furnish Ozona with ample and a high grade of water.

Judge Davidson said frankly that he is not rich but agreed that he was wrong when corrected by a fellow commissioner.

"Yes, rich IN EXPERIENCE, that's right," said Judge Davidson.

"You can say that I am proud of my family, my town and my county," the veteran judge said. He has seven children and 15 grandchildren. Each of his children has attended college or university.

Optimistic Outlook

Charles Davidson maintains in his ripe years an optimistic outlook upon life, but long years of labor have given him a keen sense of things as they are. He educated himself and has been a great reader all his life. The native Kentuckian who has found success and contentment in a town that he for the most part founded, says that he is never lonesome.

His opinions are given frankly and are definitely decided in his mind and he is candid in expressing himself.

Claiming that he has always voted the Democratic ticket, he admits that he is "stupid" in comprehending the New Deal tactics. He admires John Garner as an outstanding Texan and American, and believes that Texas today has a good delegation in congress.

There is one thing in the New Deal which drew comment from the judge with his own coloring. He opposes federal "soup pails." The Red Cross, the church and organized municipalities can handle the relief problem, he thinks.

He does not believe that prosperity will come as promptly through Federal legislation directly favoring labor and labor unions as through direct legislation favoring industry and agriculture. Through this, he thinks, labor will be cared for meritoriously.

The county judge says that he used to talk a good deal but has decided that nothing is cheaper and sometimes more disgusting than ordinary "jaw bone." He is confident that constant "plugging away" will bring desired results to anyone.

"And this," added the Kentucky youth who has found happiness and contentment on the prairie land of West Texas and health at the full age of seventy-nine, "Love thy neighbor as thyself, that is good religion and sound statesmanship anywhere."

Methodists Again Hammer Baptists In Softball Set

Loop Leaders Are Still Strong After Holiday Rest

Admirable account of themselves in fielding the ball and a like display at using the stick amounted to another ball game for the Methodist softball crew Monday afternoon when they tucked the jinx ridden Baptists away to the melody of 13 to 8.

Emmet Sapp steamed one out in the seventh chucker that carried him around the circuit and threw a scare into the opposition which had tallied nine up to that instance while the home run ran the Baptist scoring to seven. But there was only one more run in the two innings following the circuit clout for the Baptists.

A near home run, which was really a three-bagger, was slapped out by Vick Montgomery. In trying to stretch the three base hit into a home hit, Montgomery was tagged out.

Royce Smith was hit fifteen times and M. Montgomery of the Methodists allowed eleven hits. The Baptists went to bat 43 times while the Methodists had 52 opportunities.

The two men pleaded guilty and were not brought to Ozona for appearance in court. The charges were filed here July 2.

A Mexican girl, Ramida Ramirez, paid a fine in the justice court on a vagrancy charge.

Nineteen-Year-Old Paper Gives News of Early Ozona Events

A glimpse into the yellow leaves of an Ozona Stockman published July 22, nineteen years ago, hurries the old-time Ozonan's mind into retrospect. The editor was Will C. Easterling, since deceased. The front page reveals a tragic occurrence, the death by drowning of two former Ozonans. At a river outing near Juno, Mrs. L. B. Adams became helpless in deep water and B. C. Flowers, attempting a rescue, was drowned also.

Announcements for political offices were: For sheriff, B. I. Mauldin, Charles Williams and Collins Coates; for tax assessor, S. W. Westfall and Frank M. Holmsley; for county judge, Chas. E. Davidson; for district clerk, Tom Nolen; for county treasurer, Tom Casbeer; for justice of the peace, W. M. Johnigan.

The death of W. W. Gazaway was announced. A personal item said that Mrs. W. P. Hoover and daughter, Mabel, were visiting in Kansas City.

Editorial comment said, "We earnestly hope that Ozona will have an oil boom." Outside of local news happenings, the important news of the day was in the activity of Pancho Villa along the Rio Grande.

LOST—Two packages, one containing dresses and the other toys, dolls, etc. Lost last week between Ozona and Juno. Reward for return to R. Riojas G. Box 384, Sheffield, Texas.

"I Never Heard of That Brand Before"

How often have you discovered what you thought was a bargain on a grocer's shelf and made that comment after examining it closely?

Of course, there are good items of merchandise that have not been extensively advertised, but of one thing you can be certain, that the advertised merchandise, the brands you have "heard of," is uniformly dependable. You get the same quality every time—and it has to be good to stand the spotlight of advertising and the test of consumer trial.

We have many opportunities to buy "off brands" or cheap "seconds" at a little less money, but we know that discriminating buyers want food of known goodness. They may be fooled for a while, with these "leaders" to give the appearance of cheapness, but the thoughtful buyer will soon discover that he is not only not saving anything on the poor quality merchandise, but that he is being taken to a glorious "skinning" on other items.
