Sheriff Destroys Marihuana Patch

Weed Found Growing In Mexican's Yard; No Charges Filed

A small patch of marihuana, native Mexican plant, the leaves of which, when dried and smoked in the form of a cigarette are capable of producing a condition similar to intoxication from alcohol, found growing in the yard of a Mexican living in the Mexican suburb of Ozona Monday, was seized and destroyed by Sheriff W. S. Willis.

Marihuana cigarettes, made from a mixture of the dried leaves of the plant and tobacco, sell locally for 25 cents each, according to the sheriff. A number of "marihuana jags" noted among the Mexican population recently led Sheriff Willis to make an investigation of the source of the drug and discovery of the small patch followed.

It is against the law in this state to cultivate this plant but no charges were filed against the Mexican in whose yard it was found growing. He claimed that it had just grown wild in the yard and disclaimed any knowledge of its existence.

A half dozen or more plants were pulled up and destroyed by the sheriff. Measured at the prevailing retail figures, the lot was worth several thousand dollars, the sheriff said.

LET'S BANISH FERGUSONISM SATURDAY AN EDITORIAL

It is unspeakably tragic that the people of Texas are not permitted to vote for their governor on issues of state, on questions of public policy, on matters affecting the growth and progress of the state strictly as such. It is a shame and a disgrace to the great state of Texas that every two years voters of this state must arm themselves for another fight on Fergusonism, must shelve all issues of public policy and gird themselves for a battle against proxy government and all its proven evils.

It is inconceivable that a discredited politician, an impeached governor, a man who has been barred from holding any office of public trust in this state, whose very record is one of infamous treachery and shameful disregard of his obligations to a public trust should bob up every two years to urge a disgusted and sorely tried people to again place him in office in his wife's name, where he might wield the powers of governor and bear none of its responsibilities to the electorate.

In 1924 when Mrs. Ferguson first ran for her discredited husband for the governor's office, the big issue, of course, was the Ku Klux Klan, and she rode into office on the strength of the killing blow which the voters of Texas handed that organization. But in the speeches which Jim wrote for her during that campaign, and which she read at each place where Jim spoke, as is the Ferguson program, she pleaded with the people of Texas to elect her then to vindicate the name of Ferguson in Texas. You remember that vindication campaign. Her promise to the people was at that time that she wanted only vindication for her family name and that if elected she would never again offer herself for public office.

Now, this year, 1932, Texas is in turmoil for the fourth time as she tries to throw off the eternal threat of Fergusonism. That promise of Ma's was a typical Ferguson promise. Broken three times to date and unless the voters of Texas swat proxy government in killing fashion at the polls next Saturday, promises to be broken every two years from now until the end of time, or until a merciful providence delivers us from the shadow of irresponsible graft and corruption in office.

Fortunately, in their fight on Fergusonism this year, the people have an honest, an honorable and a capable champion in the person of Ross S. Sterling, seeking re-election to a second term in the governor's chair. Despite the irresponsible charges and the wild and unfounded assertions to the contrary made in Ferguson's weekly mouthpiece, (a mouthpiece, by the way, which netted him the neat sum of $43,218, according to the United States Treasury department, during the year 1925, the first year of proxy government in Texas). Ross Sterling has steered the ship of state with capable hands, has made government service mean something and has stopped many of the leaks and extravagances in governmental administration that saved the taxpayers of this state millions of dollars.

But if Ross Sterling were the blackguard that this impeached ex-governor has painted him in his unsupported and deliberately distorted statements, both from the stump and in his weekly newspaper, if Ross Sterling were all of that and more, he would still be infinitely more desirable as governor of this state than the infamous Ma and Pa combination. No one need tell you of Jim Ferguson's record as governor of this state. It is in black and white in the record of the impeachment trial before the Senate of Texas, sitting as a high court of impeachment. In that Senate were Jim Ferguson's personal friends and political friends. They heard the testimony and were forced to decide that their friend had betrayed them and the people of Texas. As for the record of proxy government in Texas, that too, is too well known to need repeating.

Fergusonism must and will be downed in Texas next Saturday. Proxy government in all its proven corruption must and will be repudiated by the people of Texas. If every voter who is entitled to a ballot in the run-off primary Saturday will go to the polls and vote, Fergusonism will be banished forevermore from Texas. Good government or rotten government—it's up to you. VOTE SATURDAY.

Mexican Held In Barnhart Slaying

Mexican Woman Admits Killing Another There Saturday

BARNHART—Paola Gonzalez, about 50, was taken to the county jail at Sherwood Saturday morning, charged with the death of Julia Naveretta, 70. She made a statement before E. E. Woodruff, justice of the peace here, admitting the slaying.

The body of the Naveretta woman was found here in the embers of a barn which had been set on fire early Saturday morning. She had been struck in the head with a pick, according to officers, and the body hauled from the Gonzalez house, where she was killed to the barn in a little red wagon. The residence was also burning when aid arrived but was not badly damaged.

The woman held in custody is the mother of 16 children. The Naveretta woman will be buried here beside her husband who died a few months ago. The women were said to have quarreled over a son of the Gonzalez woman.

The grand jury meeting September 5 will investigate the case. Officers said a lunacy investigation would likely be made. Glenn Lewis, district attorney, was here to investigate the case.

John H. Bowers has been transferred from the Abilene offices of the West Texas Utilities Company as bookkeeper for the local office of the company here, succeeding Miss Gracia Swanson, resigned.

Red Cross Flour Shipments Arrive

50 Barrels To Be Used In Relief Work Here This Winter

The first shipment of Red Cross flour, ordered through the national Red Cross organization by the local chapter for use in relief work here during the coming winter, arrived Tuesday, it was announced by Rev. M. M. Fulmer, chairman of the Crockett County chapter of the Red Cross.

The flour is being shipped over land by truck from Fort Worth, the truck lines making out a load with the flour on each trip to this territory. Several days will be required for transportation of the consignment to the local chapter.

Fifty barrels of flour, made from wheat donated from government stores to the Red Cross and ground free of charge by the mills have been consigned to the Crockett County Red Cross Chapter for relief work. The flour comes sacked in 24-pound sacks, 400 sacks to be shipped here. It is being stored in store rooms of the Flowers Grocery.

The flour will be dispensed by a committee named by the Red Cross executive committee. Applications will be thoroughly investigated and only those in actual need will be given flour from this source.

Gather Data On Fire Equipment

San Angelo Chief Offers To Demonstrate New Apparatus

All available data on fire fighting equipment most suitable for Ozona's needs is being gathered by a committee from the Ozona Lions Club with a view to providing fire protection for the town.

An inquiry directed to John Parker, veteran fire chief at San Angelo, seeking information about the best equipment for a town the size of Ozona and possible cost of such apparatus, brought an immediate reply from the San Angelo chief the first of this week. Chief Parker recommended a chemical truck which he claims is most efficient for small town use. He offered to come to Ozona at his own expense and at the convenience of the club committee to demonstrate this equipment and to be of any other assistance possible in helping Ozona to get adequate fire protection.

The chemical equipment mentioned by Chief Parker is of his own invention, and the entire apparatus, together with a truck, is sold at a reasonable price, he said. Parker pointed out that although he had perfected the apparatus, he realized no profit whatever from its sale and whatever work he did toward assisting in Ozona's efforts to get fire protection was solely in the interest of reducing fire losses. Chief Parker has been fire chief at San Angelo for more than a quarter of a century and is one of the best known fire chiefs in Texas.

Red Cross Asks Funds For Relief Of Storm Sufferers In Texas

Donations to hurricane relief funds of the American Red Cross for use in relief of storm sufferers in the path of the recent hurricane in southeast Texas are asked in a letter received by M. M. Fulmer, chairman of the Crockett County Red Cross Chapter, from the midwestern branch office of the national organization at St. Louis.

Survey of destruction wrought by the hurricane in Brazoria, Matagorda, Wharton and Fort Bend Counties, by representatives of the Red Cross following the storm, revealed the total destruction of 500 homes and partial destruction of 800 homes, with an almost complete loss of crop and personal property over a wide area, the Red Cross reported. Many lives were also lost in the hurricane.

Several local contributions have already been made to the hurricane relief fund and others who wish to make a contribution for this purpose are asked to leave the money at the Stockman office, designated by Chairman Fulmer to receive the relief funds.

Buy-At-Home Plan Proposed By Lions

Merchants Invited To Luncheon Monday For Launching Drive

Details of a buy-at-home plan evolved by a committee from the Ozona Lions Club will be outlined at the next meeting of the club at the Hotel Ozona Monday noon, when every merchant and professional man of Ozona who will accept the club's invitation will be a guest. Business men of the town have been invited to this meeting to hear the explanation of the campaign plans and all are urged to be present.

A co-operative drive to acquaint the people of Ozona with the facts concerning the business life of their town, the effects of each dollar that is spent out of town and the city-wide benefits that would result from an awakening on the part of the people to their opportunity to help themselves and their town by buying at home wherever possible, will be launched under the direction of Lions Club committees if the co-operation of merchants can be secured.

Every merchant and professional man in Ozona is urged to be present at the Lions Club meeting next Monday noon.

Superior Buys Cushing Lease

Powell Field In Crockett Sold; Plan New Tests In Area

Purchase by the Superior Oil Company of California of the holdings of the Cushing Gasoline & Refining Co. of Blackwell, Okla., in the Powell pool of Crockett County was confirmed at Dallas Saturday by C. A. Dore, vice-president of the Superior.

The deal involved the lease on 244 acres and all property on the tract, including three wells, two of which are now on production. The consideration was not divulged to the Associated Press.

The late P. H. Williams of San Angelo in 1927 drilled in a producer on L. P. Powell's land that extended the Powell field about two miles south. He soon sold the well and 244 acres to Cushing for $500,000, one-half cash, the remainder to be paid in oil. Cushing drilled two wells. Its No. 3 Powell, located in section 53, block BB, G.C.S.F. Ry. Co. survey, was completed in January 1930. A few more wells were drilled in the south end of the pool, since which time there has been virtually no development in the area.

75 ABSENTEE VOTES CAST FOR RUN-OFF

Record Of First Primary Beaten; More To Come In Mail

EXPECT BIG VOTE

Intense Interest In State Campaign May Break Records

If the absentee vote can be taken as an indication, the total vote in the run-off primary election in Crockett County next Saturday will top the record of the first primary vote of July 23.

At the close of the absentee voting period Tuesday night, a total of 75 ballots had been cast in the office of County Clerk George Russell. This total will be swelled by additional ballots that have been mailed out to absentee voters and have not yet been returned to the clerk. It was estimated that around ten additional ballots were out. These may be mailed in up to the day of the election for counting.

The absentee vote polled for the run-off election, so far accounted for, exceeds by 17 the vote for the first primary, 58 absentee votes having been cast for the July primary.

Interest in the governor's race in particular and a less intense interest in other state races, together with the local contest for the office of tax assessor between O. W. Smith and W. M. Johnigan will bring out another record vote in the coming primary next Saturday, in the opinion of local election officials.

The same election officials that presided in the first primary will conduct the election Saturday. Houston Smith, county Democratic chairman, has announced. C. C. Montgomery will act as presiding judge of the courthouse box, with John R. Bailey as assistant judge. Clerks and other election workers will be selected by these judges. The same officials will be on the job in other boxes of the county.

The polls will open at 8 o'clock Saturday morning and close at 7 p. m. With the shorter ballot for the run-off, results of the election locally are expected to be available shortly after the polls close.

FEDERAL OFFICIAL ORDERS LAMBING DELAYED 30 DAYS

From Washington comes a new candidate for a niche in the "Hall of Men With Unique Ideas."

He's the government bureau official who sent a message of advice to western sheepmen when they asked immediate payment of their share of the federal emergency feed loan which they were to use during the lambing and shearing season.

"The lambing season is here now and the funds must be forthcoming at once," the sheepmen declared, according to information received by Russell Thorp, secretary to the Wyoming Stock Growers Association.

And the "Unique Idea" man sent them his official order directing that, because of temporary delay in the appropriation, "lambing be postponed for 30 days."

The Superior last fall began buying leases in Crockett County that led this year to the most active play in West Texas. The company has acquired several thousand acres between Ozona and the Powell field, together with several hundred royalty acres under the J. S. Todd ranch, on which a unit wildcat is being drilled by Stanolind and others. It was reported from Big Lake that Superior plans to drill some tests in the near future and that N. P. Hickey, who has been production superintendent, and W. C. Kinard and Jimmie Williams, other Cushing employees, will continue with the Superior.

PLENTY OF GALL

The record of Joe Burkett as highway commissioner in Texas, with so many unsavory marks against him that Governor Ferguson had to ask his resignation, is too recent for Texans to forget in his race for congressman-at-large, place 3. He approved road contracts that permitted the American Road Company and others excessive profits, and Dan Moody, then attorney general, drew the sword of truth and honesty and went out to retrieve that which was almost lost.

Today, Burkett does not dare go back to the record. Instead he is circulating this section of Texas with a plea that West, South and Southwest Texas unquestionably is entitled to more membership in the national House. That is true by reason of the growth, but the good of the state as a whole must first be considered other things being equal.

Burkett has been for nearly everything that would get votes, and now he's covering almost as much territory in a sectional appeal. Get him in Congress and you couldn't pin him down on a program for any section of Texas. His record as road commissioner was too evidently a selfish one for him to aspire to public office again in Texas. The second primary ought to name some officers who can render the greatest good to the greatest number.

About the only thing that might be said of a man whose service to Texas was so poor that the governor was compelled to ask his resignation and who now comes back for public favor is that he is not lacking in gall.

There could be two said outcomes to the election, and one is that James E. Ferguson should become the proxy governor, and the other that Burkett would become a congressman.—S.A. Times.

(Quoting from the Bonham Daily Favorite): "Texas is in quite a serious condition as it is without increasing the seriousness by the election of an irresponsible Governor who has twice been tried and found sadly wanting. It is unthinkable that the people of Texas will turn the State over to the rule of Ferguson and Fergusonism."—Huntsville Item.

"The odds are all in Sterling's favor. But should Sterling lose the nomination to Mrs. Ferguson, Texas may elect a Republican Governor in the general election."—Gonzales Inquirer.

WISDOM FROM EDISON

"When the government enters business, it simply mixes a lot of politics with a little business." The late Thomas Edison said that.

The experience of the past few years has demonstrated the truth of this. We have seen government in the farming business, the printing business, the paint business and a multitude of others. We have seen it regulate and restrict others. The result has been a tremendous extension of the Federal bureaucracy—at the taxpayers' expense.

"Keep government to the business of governing" would be a good motto.

Let us replace that broken glass Glenn Rutledge—paint and glass headquarters.

WOMEN! DID SHE REPRESENT YOU?

Miriam Ferguson vetoed—after it had passed both House and Senate—the appropriation of $1800 for a Maternity Home enforcement officer—and with a stroke of the same pen she approved an appropriation of $2500 for an Assistant Supervisor of Fish Hatcheries.

You older mothers know of the unspeakable conditions that prevailed in negro midwife supervised maternity houses for unfortunate white women in 1926. Was Miriam Ferguson representing you when she cut off all hope of decent conditions for mothers and babies? WAS SHE?

Practically the first thought, if not the first words of every informed young mother when she regains consciousness after descending the valley of the shadow of death that a little life may come into the world is: "Did they put the drops in my baby's eyes?" She knows that 90% of blindness at birth can be prevented by silver nitrate or similar drops.

So imperative is this treatment considered that the Legislature passed a law requiring the Board of Health to furnish "such silver nitrate solution or other prophylactic drops free of cost to the poor of the State"—to the fathers and mothers unable to buy it—and prescribed a penalty for violation of the law by doctors, physicians, midwives, nurses, or those in attendance at child birth.

In 1925, Miriam Ferguson vetoed this appropriation of $500.00. At the same time she approved a yearly appropriation of $1,000.00 for the cultivation of oysters and improving oyster reefs.

Did she represent you, the women of this State, when she blue-penciled this pitiful sum that would have brought peace of mind to thousands of impoverished mothers and surely have saved the sight of some little unfortunate? DID SHE?

I wonder if the $500.00 thus snatched by Mrs. Ferguson upon the appropriation to insure the eyesight of new born babies went to the fund that Ferguson used to prevent the Attorney General forcing the American Road Company and the Hoffman Construction Company to bring back the $1,000,000.00 from Kansas City to Texas.

—A MOTHER.

SAPPING THE NATION

In a recent address, Harold McGugin, Representative from Kansas, held that taxes are draining the life blood of the nation.

In 1913 the total annual tax burden of the country was $2,900,000,000. At present, our ability to pay is less than it was then. Yet in 1930 the total burden reached $12,200,000,000, and it is appreciably higher now. Where, in 1913, the total public debt averaged $43.33 per capita, it now averages more than $255.00.

Congressman McGugin, like other qualified observers, lays the principal blame for exorbitant taxes on the continual widening of government activities. More and more billions are demanded for "relief"—for ventures into business, for subsidies for states. The great bulk of these appropriations can benefit but a small part of the country, and must be paid for by people who get little or nothing in return.

In concluding his address, Mr. McGugin quoted an editorial from the Galena, Kansas, Times, which criticized the habit of many persons, who are opposed to increased governmental activity in general, to ask for it when they believe it to be in their interest, and said: "Let every weekly newspaper in the United States express that thought and sooner or later the people in every nook and corner of this country will be awakened to the need of reducing these governmental activities. . . . That is true, and it should be remembered. The country papers of the nation are well fitted to lead in a campaign that will stem the rising tide of taxation and prepare the way for renewed industrial activity and stimulated employment."

"Jim Ferguson had two terms, Ma Ferguson one term. That is sufficient for any Texas family unless we are ready to adopt a dynasty." "The sooner such men realize that a fire, unless it is fanned by a breeze, dies of its own accord, the sooner will Texas be rid of the question of Fergusonism."—The Radio Post (Fredericksburg).

BRUCE BARTON

...writes of "THE MASTER EXECUTIVE"

Supplying a week-to-week inspiration for the heavy burdened who will find every human trial paralleled in the experiences of "The Man Nobody Knows."

THE ETERNAL MIRACLE

WE are quite unmindful of chronology in writing this story. We are not bound by the familiar outline which begins with the song of the angels at Bethlehem and ends with the weeping of the women at the cross.

We shall thread our way back and forth through the rich variety of Jesus' life, picking up this incident and that bit of conversation, this dramatic contact and that audacious decision, and bringing them together as best to illustrate our purpose. For that purpose is not to write a biography but to paint a portrait.

We pass quickly over thirty years of Jesus' life, nothing only that somehow, somewhere there occurred in those years the eternal miracle—the awakening of the inner consciousness of power. The eternal miracle!

In New York one day a luncheon was tendered by a gathering of distinguished gentlemen to David Lloyd George. There were perhaps two hundred at the tables. The food was good and the speeches were impressive. But what stirred one's imagination was a study of the men at the speakers' table. There they were—some of the most influential citizens of the present-day world; and who were they?

At one end of the table an international financier—the son of a poor country parson. Beside him a great newspaper proprietor—he came from a tiny town in Maine and landed in New York with less than a hundred dollars. A little farther along the president of a world-wide press association—a copy boy in a country newspaper office. And, in the center, the boy who grew up in the poverty of an obscure Welsh village, and became the commanding statesman of the British Empire in the greatest crisis of history.

When and how and where did the eternal miracle occur in the lives of those men? At what hour, in the morning, in the afternoon, in the long quiet evenings, did the audacious thought enter the mind of each of them that he was larger than the limits of a country town, that his life might be bigger than his father's?

Likewise, when did the thought come to Jesus? Was it one morning when he stood at the carpenter's bench, the sun streaming in across the hills? Was it late in the night, after the family had retired, and he had slipped out to walk and wonder under the stars? Nobody knows. All we can be sure

PENSIONS

Out of all of the discussion of veterans' relief and bonus proposals some interesting and useful facts have emerged. They are worthy, it seems to us, of serious study.

Take, for example, the fact that in the great war the United States had less than four and a half million men mobilized on both sides of the Atlantic and had a casualty list of only 360,300 killed and wounded, but in his year's veterans' relief bill we have appropriated $1,072,064,527. That is 26.1 per cent of our total national expenditures for the year. Now contrast those figures with those of the other nations that had many times our number of men mobilized and proportionately much larger casualty lists. Germany had 13,000,000 men under arms, France 8,110,000, Great Britain 6,600,000, and Italy 5,615,000. Out of those 33,625,000 men the casualty lists of those four nations, dead and wounded, amounted to 16,331,862 or almost 50 per cent.

Those were the people who were hardest hit by the war, and they might be expected to be carrying a far heavier burden in the way of relief for the injured and support of the families of the killed, than we, with our comparatively trifling percentage of casualties. But on the contrary, the total amount provided for pensions by all four of those nations combined is smaller than ours alone, only $330,077,360. Veterans' relief constitutes only 5.8 per cent of British expenditures and only 17.5 per cent of the French budget.

We have been advised of the activities of the National Economy League, whose slogan is "millions for the war disabled and not one cent for political pensions."

Archibald B. Roosevelt is secretary of the National Economy League. Mr. Roosevelt was one of the four sons of Theodore Roosevelt who served in the World War. One of his brothers was killed and he himself is a war casualty. When he, representing a group of veterans and other citizens, presents a petition to the President and Congress for elimination of expenditures for war veterans who are not in fact suffering from disabilities incurred in service, and estimates that that would save the taxpayers of the United States $450,000,000 a year, at least what he says is entitled to a respectful hearing.

We do not think that any necessary relief should be denied to any former soldier, sailor or marine who was actually disabled as a result of his war service. We do believe it is time to call a halt on paying out the people's money indiscriminately to able-bodied men merely because they happened once to wear Uncle Sam's uniform.

SCANDALS

By THE TOWN GOSSIP

Pat K. Brian reports that Barber Brown, local campaign manager for Ma Ferguson has sold out his position as such for the price of a cigar. The five pieces of copper used in the purchase of the cigar were donated by A. W. Jones. Pat reports. Now, Gossip has no other authority for this announcement than Pat's word, and as Gossip sometimes gets his chin scraped under Brown's razor he wants it strictly understood that he is merely recording the statement of another.

Pat adds further that after making the trade and agreeing to step out of the exalted position as Ma's campaign manager, Brown was skittish of the cigar and after fingering it awhile, finally handed it to the shine boy. Thus he was silenced from further campaigning in Ma's behalf and had nothing to show for his trade.

Jake Young came to town early in the week with one eye swollen shut and one fist all puffed up. He reported that a wasp had stung him, but some said he was passing out Sterling literature and met a Ferguson man and still others said he was at a goat roping contest.

Dr. McIntire says he can qualify as a nerve specialist. The other day a fellow came to him for nerve treatments and after the second treatment the fellow tried to borrow $50 from him.

Mr. Kersey is sleeping on his rights by not engaging some of these fellows for a before-the-curtain argument on the burning Sterling-Ferguson question each night before his show starts. It would pack the house quicker than Greta Garbo in the role of Cleopatra.

The world today needs the advice of the sage who wrote: "If you get a dollar put it on or in yourself at once for there are no pockets in a shroud, and you are a long time dead."

"What's become of the pure and cleansing effect the women folks were gonna put into politics?" mused the village philosopher as he reviewed some of the salient points of the administration of Texas' only woman's governor.

After seeing some of these mushy movies, Gossip wonders why these actors and actresses call it WORK.

Well, there's one consolation after next Saturday, there'll still be Herbert and Franklin to argue about.

SLUMBER PARTY

Mrs. W. E. Friend, Jr. and Mrs. Ashby McMullen entertained for Miss Beth Davidson, bride-elect with a gathering of intimate friends at a slumber party Saturday night at the home of Mrs. Friend. The evening began at nine with a hunt which ended at eleven with Mrs. Chas E. Davidson, Jr., and Mrs. Harry J. Friend, Jr., winners and Mrs. Dixie Brown and Miss Hester Bunger, second. A midnight supper was served and the rest of the night taken up with bridge, and other games. Breakfast was served at the end of the party. The guests were: Miss Davidson, Mrs. Chas E. Davidson Jr Mrs Dixie Brown Mrs Harry J. Friend, Jr., Mrs. Bob Weaver, Miss Hester Bunger, Miss Allyne Friend and Miss Tessie Kyle.

Billy Baggett entertained his friends with a chicken barbecue and watermelon feast at his ranch home Friday night. After games on the lawn, the evening was spent in dancing.

TO THE LAND

Here and there we run across a fact which shows that important social changes are working themselves out silently in a time like this.

For instance: The insurance companies are experiencing a rather brisk demand for some of the farms they have had to take over during the past few years.

So are the Land Banks. In one southern city a canvass of the unemployed revealed nine hundred families that had, formerly lived on the land. These people were moved out to vacant farms and are being helped to self-support.

The president of a charity organization in a middle western city came to see me, with figures showing the abnormal growth of our cities, and particularly of the negro population in northern cities, in the two decades between 1910 and 1930.

Said he: "In my own city we are feeding many thousand people, including almost the entire negro population. The negro is the first to suffer in a time like this, for the white man is likely to be favored in the distribution of jobs. The negro is a good farmer. On an acre of land he can raise enough food for his family. Our city could well afford to build cottages and settle a large proportion of its unemployed on the land. For no more than it will cost us to take care of them in town, another year we could make them permanently independent."

In the depression of 1873, the unemployment in our cities was almost one hundred per cent, but only a quarter of our people were in the cities; we were seventy-five per cent rural. The unemployed simply moved back to the land until the storm was over.

The expression "back to the land" is unfortunate; it seems to imply defeat in the city and subsequent retreat. I prefer "forward to the land," to a freedom and security the city too often fails to provide.

Certainly many men are now saying to themselves: "I should much rather have a roof over my head and potatoes and cabbages in the cellar than to be an ex-vice-president sitting on a cold curb stone."

Perhaps as a result of that thinking we shall find ourselves, one of these days, with a better balanced, less top-heavy social organization.

ECLIPSE long one due

The next total eclipse of the sun will be visible in most parts of New England on August 31 this year. The moon's shadow will pass across the face of the sun in the afternoon, about 3:28 o'clock standard time, and the total eclipse will last for almost three minutes. Most total eclipses last only a few seconds, so astronomers are looking forward to this one and hoping for clear weather in the expectation that their photographic instruments will reveal more than is yet known about the elements which exist in the sun.

Outside of the black disk of the moon's shadow which obscures the sun's face in a total eclipse, huge flames shoot out, sometimes as far as 100,000 miles, from the body of the sun. These are burning gases, the colors of which, as seen through the spectroscope, tell what they are composed of.

It is known that a large part of this flaming mass which we call the sun is iron, heated to a point where it vaporizes. Almost every other mineral found on earth has also been detected in these sun gases, but science is still trying to learn.

Whether the sun is getting hotter or cooler is a matter of great importance to all mankind. A drop of a few degrees in the average heat received by the earth from the sun would mean a return of the Ice Age, when glaciers a mile thick formed as far south as Kentucky; an increase of a degree or so in sun heat would start palm trees and sugar cane growing in Labrador.

FAT jazz king loses

A couple of years ago the fattest man in the public eye was Paul Whiteman, the famous orchestra leader, who weighed more than 300 pounds. I dined with the "Jazz King" the other night, the first time I had seen him for several years, and was amazed to find him weighing less than 200.

"I eat just as much as I ever did," he said, "but I divide up my meals differently. On the day when I eat starches, for example, I don't eat meat or fruit. One day I'll eat only fruit, another day only meat. It's the mixing of all kinds of food in the stomach at one time which makes fat."

Maybe it won't work for everybody, but the diet system that the present Mrs. Whiteman worked out—and made Paul adopt before she would marry him, by the way—certainly has had a great effect in his case.

WOOD worth fortunes

Ever hear of Andiroba? Or Castanheira? Those are the names of some of the new kinds of lumber that have been cut on Henry Ford's Brazilian rubber plantation, and which have been brought to the United States for use in cabinet-making. Other rare and new varieties of tropical woods which may be expected to come into use for making fine furniture because of their beauty of color and grain, and their hardness, are Muiraquitana, Abiu Branco, Massaranduba, Amargoso, Angelm Pedra, Sucupira Amarilla, Pau d'Arco, Jutahy, Uxy, Tatabuba and Itauba.

The pursuit of new and rare varieties of wood fit for the use of the cabinetmaker is one of the most interesting fields of adventure, in which hundreds of men are engaged. A single log which can be cut for veneers may be worth thousands of dollars; a shipload of certain South American woods would be worth a comfortable fortune.

There are still millions of square miles of forests which have never been explored, and the men who can discover in them new sources of fine woods can name their own price, almost, for their finds.

SOIL and soilless crops

They've been experimenting with "soilless" farming at the University of California, and have proved, pretty conclusively it seems, that most crops can be grown without any soil at all. All that is needed is water and fertilizer.

All that make one soil different from another is the kind and quantity of plant food—nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash—that each contains. Immense crops of celery, potatoes, berries, tomatoes and other vegetables are grown in some parts of Florida where the sandy soil contains naturally almost no plant food. Fertilizers—do the work.

It is hardly likely that the staple crops, wheat, cotton, corn and the like, will ever be grown commercially except on soils adapted to them but it is entirely possible that most of the vegetables and small-fruit crops of the future will be grown in wire baskets suspended in water, in which the essential plant foods in their proper proportions have been dissolved.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Pierce and children, Joe Sellers and Esther Kate, were in Lubbock last week completing arrangements for Joe Sellers' enrollment in Texas Tech next month. The 1932-33 term at Texas Tech opens September 21. Joe Sellers was graduated from Ozona High School with the class of 1932.

VICTORY TO GO TO C. V. TERRELL SUPPORTERS SAY

Railroad Commissioner's Election Assured, State Reports Indicate

Carrying more than 185 counties, with ballot totals giving him an overwhelming lead over his closest opponent, C. V. Terrell is virtually assured of re-election as railroad commissioner, his supporters throughout Texas report. Mr. Terrell is seeking his second full term as a member of the important state body which has supervision of three billion dollars in properties and values in Texas. At present, he is chairman of the commission.

Following a strict program of ignoring personal attacks and draping none of his opponents with political mud, Mr. Terrell has made thousands of friends in this state.

During his term of office, the commission has returned to the general revenue fund more than $500,000.00. The commission has tried more than 15,000 cases with only four reversals. This is considered a record unsurpassed by any similar body in the United States. It has made a record in Texas by having heard more than three times as many cases as any previous railroad commission and in its course passed on 5,000 truck and bus cases with not a single reversal. The official record of the commission shows that since Mr. Terrell has been a member of this body more new line railroad tracks have been laid in Texas than in all other states combined.

Early in his career as state official, Mr. Terrell inaugurated the half-time plan in the state capital, which has enabled thousands of young men and women of all walks in life in Texas to earn their way through school.

Recently, Roy L. Tennant, who ran third place against Mr. Terrell in the first primary, announced publicly that he would cast his vote for Mr. Terrell in the run-off election.

UNEQUAL REGULATION IN TRANSPORTATION CAUSES DISORDER AND CONFUSION

The instability, confusion and disorder which unrestricted truck transportation has brought about is responsible in large measure for much of the distress in which all business finds itself today. Texas has moved to find a remedy and all concerned in the welfare of this state and its institutions should cooperate in the effort to restore stability and order to our transportation systems.

The Texas Railroads, in these advertisements, have endeavored to place before the people of this state some of the reasons why the existing laws, regulating motor transportation, should be upheld and enforced.

1. The railroads are necessary for the successful marketing of the enormous production of this state, which is used and consumed in every other state in the union.

Uniform, published, non-discriminatory transportation service rates are essential to the orderly conduct and welfare of business.

Unregulated truck transportation inevitably results in discriminatory charges and practices, rebating, unfair and unbusinesslike competitive methods, bringing about losses and commercial insecurity.

The wholesaler, jobber, retailer and local merchant suffer from the unfair competition of truckers and peddlers who, for the most part, are non-residents, pay no taxes and contribute nothing to the community welfare.

The farmer and agricultural producer must have at his command facilities adequate to transport crops and produce which move long distances in large volume, at low cost, by rail.

2. The railroads build and maintain their own roadways, pay heavy taxes for the support of state and municipal governments and institutions, and expend millions of dollars for payrolls, materials and supplies. Railroad workers are substantial citizens, home owners, and valued members of their communities.

3. Rail transportation is the most efficient and economical in existence for the movement of traffic in volume by land.

4. Texas highways belong to the people and are built and maintained at heavy cost. Their use for commercial purposes is a privilege, not a right. They should be kept safe for general use and not prematurely destroyed by heavy trucks.

5. The stability, security and orderly conduct of business require reasonable control and regulation of all transportation agencies.

A VOTE FOR STERLING IS A VOTE For Lower Taxes In Crockett County

TAX MONEY IS BLOOD MONEY.

IN THIS TIME OF DEPRESSION EVERY CITIZEN WANTS A REDUCTION IN HIS TAX BILL.

GOVERNOR R. S. STERLING IS THE ONE PERSON IN THIS CAMPAIGN THAT HAS OFFERED A PROPOSAL THAT MEANS LOWER TAXES FOR OUR CITIZENS.

This county has road bonds outstanding in the sum of $429,000, of which $272,369.70 has been spent on State Highways, according to records of our own County. Figured on the basis of present valuations and without allowance for earnings from bond funds, the necessary annual tax rate to retire the bonds would be 60 cents on the $100 valuation. Governor Sterling proposes that this county be reimbursed for the money it has spent on state highways, and that the state highway fund assume the payment of these outstanding road bonds of this county. If the legislature will follow this recommendation of Governor Sterling, it will mean a REDUCTION OF 38 CENTS ON THE $100 VALUATION IN THE TAX RATE of Crockett County. Gov. Sterling has called a special session of the legislature this month and will insist on adoption of this relief plan. This will mean a SAVING of approximately $23,000 ANNUALLY IN CROCKETT COUNTY.

The information contained herein is not given by anyone having a selfish interest, but it is given by citizens of this county who know the facts and want the people to have relief from high taxes.

Ferguson says he will put one-third of the Highway fund in the school fund (the schools now get one-fourth of the gasoline tax) and one-third in the General Fund, leaving only one-third in the Highway Fund. Under this arrangement, Highway building in Texas would be virtually paralyzed, and this county would have to continue paying tax to retire its road bonds without getting what we pay for—good roads.

What we need in this and in every other county in Texas is LOWER TAXES and not more money in the General Fund to be used to create new boards and bureaus. The voters and taxpayers of this county should carefully consider these two proposals in casting their ballot Saturday.

UNDER STERLING THERE HAS BEEN SUBMITTED TO BE VOTED ON IN NOVEMBER A CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT TO EXEMPT OUR HOMES FROM TAXES TO THE EXTENT OF $3,000 IN VALUE.

A VOTE FOR R. S. STERLING NEXT SATURDAY WILL BE A VOTE FOR TAX REDUCTION IN CROCKETT COUNTY, AND GOV. STERLING HAS TOLD YOU HOW HE IS GOING TO DO IT.

TEXAS WILL LOSE $15,000,000 Ifergusons Are Elected

The Federal Government has allotted to Texas for the year 1933, $15,000,000 to be used in the construction of Federal Highways. $8,000,000 of this amount is an emergency appropriation for the relief of unemployed and must be entirely spent before July 1st, next. EVERY COUNTY WILL GET A PART OF THIS $15,000,000, AND EMPLOYMENT WILL BE GIVEN TO THOUSANDS OF MEN. CROCKETT COUNTY will get its part of this $15,000,000 for building its 82 miles of improved highways now under construction.

The Bureau of Public Roads WITHDREW all Federal Aid from Texas as a result of failure of the last Ferguson Highway Commission, first, to pay promptly the estimates of contractors on Federal Projects; second, to properly maintain the Highways on which Federal money had been spent; third, to provide funds for new contracts. Federal Aid was not restored to Texas until Governor Sterling, then Chairman of the Highway Commission, made a personal trip to Washington to satisfy the Bureau of Public Roads that, under his administration, Federal Highways which had not been properly maintained by Ferguson, would be reconditioned and that contracts would not be made unless the funds were available.

Walking through the Grand Central station the other noon, I saw a group of men and women come out of the station exits laughing heartily. Shortly a man came walking out who was plainly mad through and through. He had no shoes. They had either been stolen during the night on the train or lost by the porter. He had to get out. Fortunately there is a shoe store in the station.

There is a labor union here made up of house wreckers. And every one of them is a Russian.

There are more bootblacks on the streets of New York than ever before. These men anticipate what they will receive for a shine by the quality of the men's socks. The usual charge for a shine is a nickel, but more frequently a dime is paid.

Unemployed artists—there are hundreds of them here—have received permission to sell their paintings on the streets of the city.

The depression has hit the business of going to New York. Nearly 6,000,000 fewer persons visited New York during the past 12 months than during the previous year.

New Yorkers are supposed to be very nervous people. The explanation given is the constant noise in the city. New York, recently, maintained what was known as a noise abatement commission. It even proposed to put rubber tires on wheelbarrows.

Well, well, New York hat shops are selling colored Panama hats. They come in all colors.

Over on Sixth Avenue there is a sign in a gypsy fortune teller's window which reads: "Have your head read by this great woman who studied for ten years in Jerusalem."

Strict Sanitation In Production Of Milk To Prevent Disease Spread Is Urged In Paper By Dairy Expert

STEPHENVILLE, Texas, Aug. 17.—Importance of the proper care of milk to prevent disease is stressed in a recent paper by H. N. Smith, professor of dairy husbandry at John Tarleton Agricultural College.

Mr. Smith's discussion of "The Production of Pure Milk" follows:

Milk produced under unsanitary conditions may carry practically all contagious and infectious diseases. Tuberculosis and typhoid fever are the diseases most commonly spread through dirty milk. About 85 per cent of all human tuberculosis is of bovine type, and approximately 85 per cent of human tuberculosis is contracted when the person is less than 12 years of age, or during the heaviest milk-drinking period. It is significant that in areas where tuberculosis has been eradicated from cattle the new diagnosed cases of human tuberculosis have decreased 50 per cent or more the first year.

All cows producing milk for human consumption should be given the intradermal test for tuberculosis by an accredited veterinarian. The healthiest-looking cow in the herd may be tubercular. The test is safe, accurate, and inexpensive. Milk from cows showing any sign of garget or other udder infections should not be used. Before a cow is milked all visible dirt should be brushed or washed from her flanks, thighs, tail, and belly, and her udder should be thoroughly washed and then rinsed in clean water containing some good chlorine disinfectant. Long hair should be kept clipped off the udder, flanks, and rear part of the belly.

Health Exam Urged

Every person who comes into contact with any of the dairy equipment should have a thorough health examination at least every six months, and any sickness that develops on any premises from which milk is being sold should be reported to the health officer immediately. Milkers and any other person handling milk should wear clean clothes and keep their hands and nails clean at all times. It is a good habit for a milker to wash his hands after milking each cow in water containing a chlorine disinfectant.

Dairy barns do not have to be expensive to insure production of clean, safe milk. They should be so constructed as to admit the maximum of sunlight and fresh air and yet exclude flies and dust. The floors should be of concrete and sloped enough to permit thorough draining while scouring. The barn drains should empty into a septic tank sufficient distance from the barn to prevent any chance of contamination to lots or water supply. The wells and ceiling should be easily cleaned and should be painted every year or whitewashed every six months or oftener. Feed rooms should not open directly into the milking barn, as the air in the barn should be kept free of dust. The barn floor should be washed or limed after each milking. The lots surrounding the barn should be kept clear by removal of manure each day and by adequate drainage.

A separate milk room and washing room not opening directly into the milking barn should be provided. Entrances into this room should be doubly screened to keep out flies, and windows should be so arranged as to let in the maximum of sunlight. The concrete floors should be sloped enough to insure rapid, thorough draining, and should be kept clean at all times. The milk room should not open into any room used for domestic purposes, and should be large enough that the different operations carried on in it will not contaminate one another. It should have a screened sun shelf or window on the south so that clean milk vessels and bottles can be subjected to the direct rays of the sun without being contaminated by flies and dust. Walls and ceiling should be of such construction as to permit easy cleaning, and should be painted every year. Under no conditions should milk house or milk room be used for any other purpose than handling or storing of milk or milk products.

Sanitary Equipment

All utensils or containers used in handling milk should be made of non-absorbent material, as near seamless as possible. They should be kept in good repair with all joints and seams soldered flush. Milk pails should be of small-mouth design. Bottles and utensils should be scrubbed inside and out with fiber brushes with hot water containing a good washing powder and rinsed in clean water containing a good chlorine disinfectant. Metal parts of containers and parts of the milk house equipment with which the milk comes into contact should be exposed to live steam for two minutes and placed on the sun shelf to sun. Milk bottles cannot be steamed but should be placed neck down in crates and sunned several hours.

As soon as the milk is drawn it should be carried to the milk house and strained through absorbent cotton pads to remove any fine dirt that may have gotten into it. Immediately afterward it should be aerated and cooled to below 50 degrees Fahrenheit. After the milk is cooled it should be thoroughly stirred and immediately bottled. Large dairies should use an automatic filler and capper, but small fillers and hand cappers are cheaper and can be used in a sanitary method if no part of the clothes or person is allowed to come in contact with any surface with which the milk comes in contact. No overflow milk should ever be sold for human consumption. Hand capping is usually prohibited in the sale of Grade A milk. Caps should be bought and stored in sanitary tubes so that there will be no chance for their being contaminated. The first cap from each tube should be discarded as it is exposed and will be contaminated.

Milk should be maintained at a temperature of less than 50 degrees Fahrenheit from the time it is cooled until delivered to the consumer. All vehicles used for delivery of milk should be so constructed as to protect the milk from sun and from contamination, and should be kept clean.

During warm weather coarse cracked ice should be packed around bottles in the crates to hold the temperature below 50 degrees while delivering. Milk should be delivered as soon as possible after milking.

Forty-four cents of each dollar spent for food by the average American family should be spent for milk and milk products, according to nutrition experts. At present less than 20 cents of each food dollar goes for these easily digested and highly nutritious foods. Every child should drink at least a quart of milk each day, and every adult at least a pint, in addition to the milk used in cooking for the family.

POLITICAL PROMISES

How often have you censured the politician who made glowing promises of what he would do if he were elected to office; who painted graphic pictures of the benefits the people would enjoy from his election; and then, after his election, promptly forgot his political promises and followed the same old political groove?

"His word is as good as his bond" is an expression familiar to everybody. That description is one of the highest compliments that can be paid a man. It means simply, that he will keep his promises. It means that what he tells you for the truth he believes to be the truth, else he would not have told you. It means that it is not necessary for him to sign his name to an agreement in a business transaction to feel that the terms of the agreement are binding upon him—if he gave his word, he will stand by it, whether his name is on the dotted line or not. It means that his reputation for honesty, truth and integrity means more to him than material gains. It means that if he tells you he will do a thing, he will do that thing whatever the cost might be.

"His word is as good as his bond!" The world will dip its knee in homage to such a man. A proud heart is his that guards so zealously his honor and his integrity. Great is the satisfaction of the knowledge that his fellow man will trust him at his word in all things great and small.

Had you ever considered your CREDIT as your WORD? What else could it be unless you sign a note? When you buy merchandise from your merchant you give him your word that you will pay him at the end of an agreed period of time. If a merchant does business on a 30-day credit basis, which is the usual custom, you agree to pay for the merchandise you buy within 30 days. You give your word, spoken or unspoken, when you take the merchandise.

Can your merchant say of you—"His word is as good as his bond?" Do you see to it every month that you keep faith with your merchant by paying him promptly as agreed? Do you consider it worth it to you to sell your honor for a few dollars? Isn't your reputation for honesty, truth and square dealing among your neighbors and friends worth more to you than all the money you could hope to get by "beating your bills?"

Reputations, good or bad, are built upon a lifetime of averages. You may not always be able to pay what you owe the day it is due. But if you are concerned about it enough to consider it an obligation to go to the man you owe and explain to him why you can not pay and to let him know when you expect to be able to pay him, and then make an honest effort to carry out your renewed promise, your reputation has not suffered.

Friends can guard your reputation against slander—but only YOU have the power to guard it against ravages of the truth.

Pay Your Bills Promptly!

Australian Method Of Eradicating Prickly Pear Be Tried Here

A demonstration of a method for prickly pear eradication used with considerable success in Australia will be made in Crockett County sometime next week by R. M. Roberts of Berkeley, Calif., who has had a wide experience in eradicating this plant in Australia according to a letter received the first of the week by Victor Pierce Crockett County ranchman, from Mr. Roberts.

The letter to Mr. Pierce follows: "Dear Mr. Pierce: "I have received a letter from Mr. J. M. Jones of the Texas Experimental Station stating that you are actively interested in the eradication of prickly pear, and suggesting that I get in touch with you during my visit to Texas this month. As I expect to be in the locality of Ozona and Sonora during the latter part of next week, I would greatly appreciate some of your time on Saturday, August 27, if it would be convenient to you.

"As my wife and two friends are making the trip by automobile the exact time of my arrival will be a little uncertain, however, with normal conditions it should be on or before that date, and if upon my arrival I can get in touch with you I would deem it a favor. "In respect to the eradication of prickly pear, I have been intimately connected with this work in Australia in its various phases primarily chemical, and am desirous of becoming acquainted with the conditions of this serious problem in Texas. I am bringing apparatus with me similar to that used most successfully in Australia and should like to make some tests on the pear of your locality.

"Very Sincerely Yours, R. M. Roberts.

Twenty-seven years residence in Ozona should make it unnecessary for me to review my qualifications. I believe the people of Crockett County know my record both in public and private life. I ask your vote for Tax Assessor on my record as a citizen and in the public service. W. M. JOHNIGAN, candidate for tax assessor.—Pol. Adv.

PAINT LIGHT STANDARDS

The street light standards around the square in the downtown section of Ozona this week received a new coat of green paint, applied by Ed Lockhart of the local West Texas Utilities Company office. As a courtesy, Mr. Lockhart also applied a coat of the same color of paint to the iron standard supporting the big "Ozona" sign at the corner of Broadway and Powell Avenue.

Rev. M. M. Fulmer returned Tuesday from a nine days series of evangelistic meetings at Imperial in Pecos County. Bro. Fulmer reports a splendid meeting, good crowds and good interest. Seven members were added to the Imperial Baptist Church as a result of the meeting, six being by baptism. The Baptizing was in the Pecos River near Buena Vista. Rev. Loyd Miller is the pastor at Imperial.

Miss Marie Glover of Austin is the guest of her brother, Clinton Glover.

McIntire, and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Baggett and Mr. and Mrs. George Harrell, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Harrell, Mr. and Mrs. Early Baggett, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Smith and children, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Pierce and children, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne West and children, Mr. and Mrs. Will Baggett, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Coose and children, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Deaton and son, Miss Vicky Pierce and Miss Bernice Bailey.

I am in the race for Tax Assessor because I need the office, because I feel that I am capable of administering its duties and because I believe that a great many voters in this county feel that the incumbent has had the office long enough and favor giving another a chance. I will appreciate your vote. W. M. Johnigan.—Pol. Adv.
