Crockett Voters Approve Repeal By Three Votes

191 Ballots Cast In County; Ozona Box Polls 170 Votes

Repeal of the state constitutional prohibition against the sale of liquors was approved by Crockett County voters in Saturday's special election by the slim margin of three votes, the count being 97 to 94. Pensions for the aged carried in this county by a vote of 137 to 53 and the amendment which would have given free text books to children in private and parochial schools as well as those attending the public free schools of the state held a lead of nine votes in this county, one box being absent from this count. The vote on this issue was 88 for and 79 against.

Voters of this county voted for five of the amendments, pensions, temporary commitment of the insane, prohibition repeal, abolishing the fee system and the textbook amendments, and against two, constitutional amendments at special sessions and allowing defendants to be placed on probation. Absence of the count of one box in five of these totals might change only one result, that on constitutional amendments, which would result in a tie if the box voted its ten ballots sold for the amendment.

Voters over the state approved five of the amendments and they will become a part of the constitution. The two upon which voters turned thumbs down were that giving the legislature power to submit constitutional amendments at special sessions and that giving free text books to all children.

The total vote cast in this county on the seven issues was 191. The vote in the Ozona box was 170, the repeal amendment being the only one on which every voter marked a ballot, 87 for and 83 against in this precinct. Seven votes were cast at the Pecos Valley Power and Light Co. box, four at the Powell Field box and ten at the Owens box. No election was held at Howard Well.

Another Car Hits Bridge Railing On Bridge West of Here

Amid circumstances almost identical with an accident a week before, a Pontiac car, driven by a tourist party, collided with a concrete culvert on Highway 27 west of Ozona Sunday. The car was considerably damaged, but none of the occupants of the car was injured and continued on their way.

A week previously another Pontiac car, driven by a New Yorker and occupied by members of his family, was badly wrecked when it collided with a culvert on the same road. The driver was blinded by dust and lights of an approaching car. There were four persons in the car, all of whom were slightly injured.

Showers Here Serve To Break Heat Wave, .65 Inch Fall Here

Fall Livestock Trade Activity Noted In Area

Yearling Ewes Sell At $6, Mixed Lambs at 7 Cents Recent Deals

An active livestock market is noted in this section and buyers are bidding up the prices on lambs and yearling ewes, with goats and some calves coming in for activity. In addition to livestock sales, several local lease deals have been completed recently to occupy the interest of the industry.

On the heels of the reported purchase of about 2,000 mutton lambs by R. J. Ridley for an Ohio buyer, at 6½ cents a pound, Ad Harvick of Ozona this week purchased 4,000 head of mixed lambs at 7 cents a pound, for September 15 delivery. The lambs were from the flocks of Clay Montgomery, Ralph Watson and Joe Pierce, III.

Mr. Harvick also sold 2600 aged ewes at $3 a head, and 400 mixed calves to Jacobs Bros. of Kansas City at 7 cents a pound, to be weighed up November 1 for delivery.

Will Hill has been canvassing this section recently buying goats. A number of other buyers are reporting looking about the county for available stock.

Massie West bought 1600 yearling ewes recently at $6 a head and Sherman Taylor has purchased 1300 head of mixed ages at $3 a head, to stock 10-sections south of Ozona which he recently leased.

J. W. Henderson recently leased 23 sections to Watt Turner of Marathon at 50 cents an acre.

Softball Finale Delayed As Teams Plan Game Today

Methodists Meet Rinks To Decide Runner-up In Flag Try

Finale of the softball schedule in Ozona was delayed when the Methodists and Rinkeydinks failed to get together in a scheduled bout last Friday which would have determined whether the Rinkeydinks were to go into the season play-off with the Methodists or Baptists. Since Friday the two teams have parleyed and the game was left with frazzled edges.

Last Thursday the Baptists lost to the Rinkeydinks and thus the Rinkeys cinched a role in the final championship play-off. If the Methodists had won in the game that wasn't played Friday, the Methodists would have stood second in percentage and thus played the Rinkeydinks in the final play-off.

Yesterday, team managers of the Rinkeydinks and Methodists, Hartley Johnson and Shorty Wilkinson, agreed to put their teams on the field for the "unplayed" game today. Should Methodists win they gain the right (by second place standing in percentage of games won and lost) to play the Rinks in the flag series, which may be three games, five, or seven. The moguls haven't decided. Should the Methodists lose, they must then meet the Baptists to determine who will be competition for the Rinks in the play-off.

Giant Second Baseman, Hurt In Car Crash, Is Not Seriously Injured

Fats Heatherly Expected To Be Back In Uniform For Week-End Play

The victim of an automobile mishap last Sunday night which occurred on the highway between Sonora and Ozona, Fats Heatherly, second baseman on the Ozona Giants baseball team, sustained a fractured rib when the automobile in which he was driving collided with that of a Sonora driver. The Sonora man was reported not hurt.

Although confined to his bed the early part of this week, the hustling second-sacker is improved and is expected to be able to be in uniform for the week-end playing.

The automobile in which the Ozonan was driving was partially demolished. It belonged to Ed Bean.

Fall During Picnic Results In Broken Arm For Rev. Fulmer

Rev. M. M. Fulmer, former pastor of the Ozona Baptist Church, now of Calvary Baptist Church at Jackson, Tenn., suffered a broken arm in a fall while on a picnic with a group of young people of the church at Maury City, Tenn., recently, according to word received by friends here from the former pastor.

So severe was the break, in the right arm above the wrist, that it was necessary to make an incision to set the broken bones, friends here were advised. Rev. Fulmer was confined to the hospital ten days.

Two Crockett Wells Are Completed After Shooting, Treatments

The Stanolind No. 3 Powell, 1,600 feet from the south line and 233 feet from the west line of section 52, block BB, topped pay at 2,430 feet, drilled to 2,553 feet and plugged back to 2,534 feet. Its initial production rating was put at 239 barrels per day, pumping.

Fire Prevention Teaching Results In Key Rate Cut

Information in a letter from Fire Insurance Commissioner Raymond S. Mauk to Superintendent C. S. Denham of Crockett County Tuesday disclosed that the fire insurance key rate in Crockett County will continue the same in that fire prevention had been taught throughout the year during the last session of the Ozona schools. The fire insurance key rate here now is forty-seven cents. It was reduced from fifty cents when fire prevention was inaugurated in the schools here several years ago.

The fire commission has received handbooks on fire prevention which instruct teachers concerning the fire prevention subject and including rules to be observed in the school system if the cut rate is to be retained. Books are expected here in the next few days by the school head.

Remodeling of the Schwalbe home here is being planned by Homer Schwalbe. Work will begin soon.

GIANTS PLAN CHAMPIONSHIP SERIES DRIVE

Iraan Only Remaining Hurdle To Be Taken By Locals

FIRST GAME MON.

Championship Tilts To Open As Labor Day Feature At Texon

The Standings
Ozona --- 14 4 .778
Texon --- 12 6 .667
Crane --- 10 8 .556
McCamey --- 9 9 .500
Iraan --- 7 11 .389

With only one more week-end series between them and the second-half championship of the Permian Basin League, and it being necessary for them to win but one of those two games to cinch the flag, the Ozona Giants were shaping up campaign plans this week in preparation for the opening of the championship series with the Texon Oilers, first half winners.

Hurdling the McCamey obstacle the past Sunday by a double win, 8-2 and 3-2, with the veteran Slim Harris, pitcher-manager, doing an iron-man to cop both contests, the Giants now have to romp on Iraan crew in only one of the scheduled two games this week-end to finish a game ahead in the second half, and even that will not be necessary should McCamey topple the Texon crew once the coming end of the week.

Anyway, it looks like a cinch and negotiations were completed this morning for the opening of hostilities in the championship series during the Labor Day celebration at Texon Monday. It will likely be a seven-game series, local club moguls said. Details of the balance of the title series will be worked out after the clubs meet at Texon Monday. Al 'Fisher' will shoulder the load of the hurling duties in the opening fracas, it was announced this morning.

It was also announced this morning that the week-end series with Iraan will be a double-header, but it was not known whether the games would be played here or at Iraan. The contests are slated for Iraan, but efforts were being made toward an agreement to play here.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 29, 1935.

LET'S BRING SOME PRESSURE

During the past ten days two automobiles have met accidents on the highway west of Ozona. In both cases the drivers ran into low concrete culverts. In the first instance, the car was wrecked considerably and four persons suffered injuries. In the second, no one was hurt, only the car being smashed to some extent.

The drivers give almost identical reasons for the accidents. In one accident, there were car lights ahead, and the driver steered wide, yet remaining "in the road". In the other case, the driver was blinded by a dust cloud and drove far to the EDGE of the road. According to the drivers, in neither instance were they OFF the road.

Either these two accidents are coincidental or else there is something wrong. Perhaps there is no visible warning at the culverts. Perhaps the road is too wide at the culvert approaches and thus drivers must drive to the "middle" of the road to cross. Perhaps the culvert or culverts are too narrow. Perhaps the drivers are careless. Or maybe the accidents were coincidence.

Whatever the peculiar conditions prevailing on the occasion of these two particular accidents, they have proven that the road in its present condition is dangerous to motorists. And that could be used as another argument to place before the state highway commission in support of Crockett County's plea for completion of this highway.

There is no good reason why that road should not have been topped at least a year ago. The grade is being damaged every day it is in use without the topping and it presents a constant menace to motorists who drive over it. Promises keep coming from the department of early action toward its completion but every new batch of contracts that are let fails to list the Crockett project. Some pressure should be applied in the right spot to bring about the needed work.

THE SILLY SEASON IS HERE

San Angelo Morning Times: Yes, friends, the silly season is with us in full glory; and it's not the heat, it's the asininity.

One hundred and eighty people volunteer to let Dr. Ralph Willard freeze them to the same sort of experimental cold storage death he tried on a rhesus monkey. Lindbergh for president. One-mill coins with a hole in them.

Tax proposals with even bigger holes in them. Dutch Schultz acquitted by a jury which draws a scathing rebuke from a New York judge.

Cleveland woman kills neighbor who, she said, was bewitching her with fireballs that had to be nailed to the wall. College geirl runs away to become side-show barker at Coney Island.

Whispering campaigns. Jacob Coxey, of Coxey's Army, for president.

Ohio man hangs bird cages with cats in them in cherry trees to scare away birds which eat his cherries. Congressmen and mysterious cigar boxes.

Viennese woman commits suicide because her pet canary flew away.

Oklahoma City brothers build their own coffins, upholster them luxuriously, exhibit them proudly. Is it hot enough for you?

SOME WOMEN ARE THAT SILLY

Pathfinder: A Washington woman has told us of something which is almost too silly to believe—and yet it is true. This woman found a very pretty dress in a store and the price of the dress was $4. She thought she would "shop around" a little, with the idea that she might find the same thing in some other store and get it cheaper. She went into another store—a store which caters to the "exclusive" trade. Here she happened to find the very same dress. And what do you suppose the price was? It was $25.

Everyone knows that the same articles are often sold in one store for considerably more than in another store—but this is the most extreme case we have ever run across. It shows how silly the rich women are. They would rather pay $25 for a dress and kid themselves into thinking they were buying something "exclusive" than to have the same thing for a fraction of that much. In fact the stores which cater to what is called the "exclusive" trade have found that their patrons prefer to be stung. These patrons would not look at anything that was "cheap" no matter how satisfactory it might be. They know that if an article is cheap it will be purchased by so many people that it will become too common. By going to the "best" stores and paying the highest prices, such people believe they are putting themselves in such a class that their superiority to the common herd will be unquestionable.

Malta Fever May Be Spread By Animals

AUSTIN, Texas, Aug. 27.—Undulant (Malta) fever is a disease which is transmitted to human beings by infected animals. Individuals may acquire the disease (1) as the result of direct contact with infected animals or (2) following the use of raw dairy products obtained from infected dairy cows. If the disease is due to contact with infected animals or their waste products, the germ gains entrance to the human body through the skin, stated Dr. John W. Brown, State Health Officer.

Persons who live on farms are more subject to undulant fever than those who live in cities. On farms, the disease is more apt to affect men due to the fact that men come in contact with hogs and cows to a much greater extent than do farm women. Farmers have direct contact with animals during loading and unloading for market. The handling of infected cows or sows and of the young at time of birth, represent hazardous types of contact. The danger of undulant fever may be reduced greatly by avoiding as much as possible, all forms of direct contact with animals which may be infected. The wearing of heavy gloves if contact is unavoidable, should aid in protecting the skin against exposure.

Urban residents have little or no occasion to come in direct contact with infected animals. Undulant fever acquired in city or town is due, as a rule, to the use of milk, cream, and butter which lack certain safeguards. Prevention of undulant fever, whether due to contact with infected animals or to ingestion of contaminated dairy products, is dependent to a further extent, upon the eradication of contagious abortion from farm animals and careful pasteurization of dairy products.

A DICTATORSHIP AT OUR DOOR

Kansas City Times: Not that any real American, bred in the traditions of the original 13 States believed it would come about, but there has been more or less loose talk about the possibilities of a National dictatorship. Germany has it, Russia has it; Italy has it, Russia has it; and our own elected representatives in Congress have been subjected to a bit of dictation.

Still we have kept our belief that we are a free people, and now that a safety valve has developed we have some encouragement. Huey Long has taken over Louisiana. He is dictating all over the Commonwealth lot. Limited though his domain is, he sits alongside Hitler, Mussolini and Stalin. He is telling the Louisiana legislature what to do and when to do it and, with enough laws so made, there shouldn't be any question about dictatorship in that State.

Germany, Italy and Russia have established censorship, and it is hard to get the real facts about them. But Louisiana is right here at home. We may load up the old bus with gasoline and drive into it to get first-hand information any time.

It is a wonderful opportunity for the remainder of the United States to learn about dictatorships. It ought to give us our cue for whatever may come. It may be tough on the citizens of Louisiana, but, after all, it was they who put Huey on the road to dictatorship and they seem either to like it or to be taking it lying down.

Oklahoma Editor Gives "Low-Down" On One of Ozona's New Citizens In Letter To Stockman; And, Of Course, The Secret Is Safe With Us

Whispering "over the backyard fence," as it were, the editor of the Tipton Tribune at Tipton, Okla., in a letter to the Stockman editor, has a few things to say about one of Ozona's newest citizens. In good old "backyard fence" confidential fashion, this editor isn't telling a soul. The letter: Tipton Oklahoma, August 26, 1935.

"Dear Striving Brother: "Ever since our little city was unfortunate to lose the Honorable James M. Camp to Ozona, I have been intending writing you and ask that you meet him and get good acquainted, so that between you two I might be able to get an invitation out there about next summer to go on a real fishing spree. Now you notice I didn't put that word spree in quotes or start it with a capital letter. So I just mean 'fishin'."

"Elder Camp resigned the position here at Tipton to accept the one at Ozona, and I want to take this opportunity, as a fellow publisher to recommend him to you, as well as the other citizens of your community, as a real fellow, a good citizen, a hard worker, a real sportsman and a Christian gentleman.

"I truly feel that Tipton's loss was Ozona's gain, and I am sure after you have become acquainted with him and have tried him out that you will agree with what I have said above. "I am not a member of Jim's church, but I learned to appreciate him as an all-around man while he was here.

"Now, no foolin' I have heard a lot about that country and especially about the fishing in that section, and of course knowing Jim as I do I would appreciate (if you are not too busy getting out rush jobs and over-seeing page and double page spreads) your dropping me a line and giving me a LINE on Jim and the fishin'. Of course, I trust Jim's word on most anything else.

Fraternally yours, C. A. "Chet" Holding.

Napoleon's Reverses Gave Spanish In Texas Respite From Agents' Intrigue

Bonaparte's Decline Revealed In Letter In Bexar Archives

Austin, Texas, August 28—At the end of 1813 the danger from Napoleonic agents was seemingly quite remote. At this time the Emperor's cause was rapidly gaining and he was so harassed in Europe that he had but little opportunity for intrigue in the Spanish Dominions in America. Nevertheless the royalists in Texas—with the resolute Arredondo at their head—determined to prevent any possible spread of the poison that had made it impossible to forecast what turn events might take and when mob psychology might unexpectedly flare up. So events in Europe were followed closely and spies kept close watch in Texas.

As a matter of fact, Napoleon was steadily losing ground before the victorious Wellington. Reasoning, perhaps, that a plant top upon the throne of Spain was better than a useless captive in France, he released Ferdinand VII from his imprisonment on condition that he drive the English from the Peninsula. Ferdinand was forced to sign the Treaty of Valency on December 13, 1813; but he was soon able to turn the tide of fortune in Spain in his favor.

In the meantime, however, Napoleon continued to fight a losing game, as will be seen from the translation of a letter from the Bexar Archives in the library of The University of Texas. This letter, written from Vera Cruz on January 14, 1814, by a certain Apalataque to a number of his friends thus describes the situation in Spain.

"This will inform you that, on the 27th of October, Pamplona surrendered and 38,500 Frenchmen fled across our battlefield. There were in addition, some 700 wounded in the hospitals. On November 1 the Spanish general took possession.

"On November 10th our army broke the enemy's battle line, stretching from Vera to San Juan de Luz. In this engagement 600 were taken prisoners and 2,000 were killed. As a result, our vanguard has reached the plateau of Bayonne—Velliton in San Juan de Luz and Lonya on the heights of Bayonne.

"Bonaparte has been defeated in Leipsig and along the line of the Elba and a retreat lasting a number of days has been effected with a very heavy loss. The vanguard of the Allied Army is in sight of Frankfort. A Berber General has marched to this place with 17 regiments of Prussians, Dutch, Swiss, etc. It is said that 13 additional battalions have started their march. The Empress declares that France will lose nothing if the Emperor decides to abandon the Confederation of the Rhine because these people are not worthy of his protection because they are ignorant and credulous. She also declares that Napoleon will have to defeat the massed armies of the British, the Basques, etc., because they are trying to devastate the country.

"All this was reported in the Corunna Newspapers, between the 10th and the 19th of November."

These reverses of Napoleon enabled Ferdinand VII to gain a decided advantage and to stir even greater devotion in the hearts of his subjects.

Ready-Broiled Bass In Waters of Kerr

The Highway No. 81 bridge now under construction at the foot of Sidney Baker Street, seems to have entered into cut-throat competition with local eating houses, according to a story told by Dale Hautington.

Recently, while workmen were joining steel girders, a flying rivet, red-hot from the furnace, went into its mark. Either the thrower's aim was faulty, or the catcher was busy scratching his ear, or the rivet changed its mind to start out on a life of its own, or . . . but, anyway, the hot little fragment of steel never reached its destination, never filled its purpose in the cosmos of holding together a modern bridge and saving countless numbers of people from watery graves.

It went out in an arc over the Guadalupe and plunged down to the surface. There, according to Huntingdon, a hungry and near-do-well black bass mistook it for a free meal, for some peculiar insect. The fish opened its mouth and, with greedy energy, jumped for the insect. Not being able to help himself he swallowed it, heat and all. Huntingdon says that before cooling off, this rivet browned the bass to a tasty turn, a palatable meal. However, no one knows who actually ate the fish.

She is director for region No. 1, which includes all New York state and Pennsylvania as well as New Jersey, Delaware, Connecticut, Rhode Island, Massachusetts, Vermont, New Hampshire and Maine. Her work will be to aid agriculturists to move to more fertile areas as the government takes over sub-standard land from production. Struggling farm families will be helped to rehabilitate themselves on land they own.

Retail Business In Texas Shows Gains For Month of July

AUSTIN, Tex., Aug. 28—Sales of Texas department and other retail stores during July declined less than the normal seasonal amount from the previous month and were substantially larger than during the similar month last year, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

"Reports from 89 representative Texas retail establishments show total sales 14.2 per cent greater than during July, 1934, the decline of 17.6 per cent from June comparing favorably with the average seasonal decline of 23.8 per cent," the Bureau's report said. "Aggregate sales during the first seven months were 4.5 per cent above those of the corresponding period last year.

"Cities with sales records better than the average for the State in comparison with a year ago are: Tyler, Temple, San Antonio, Dallas, Beaumont, and Austin. As between types of stores, women's specialty shops made the best sales gains. Next in order were men's clothing stores, large department stores, dry goods and apparel stores, and small department stores.

"Collections of outstanding accounts during the month also compared favorably with July last year, with an increase of 2.4 per cent in collections over the corresponding month last year. This fact is the more significant since credit sales in relation to total sales were 1.5 per cent greater than a year ago."

Rastus: "Simon can you explain the difference in remembrance and recollection?"

Simon: "Don' know, doubt it, but its sumpin' like dis: I see members lending you a dollar but don't recollect eber gitting it back."

Mrs. Red Greer was ill the first of the week but is improved now.

Demand GOOD LIGHTING

NOT THIS WAY

Inadequate and improper lighting conditions cause near-sightedness and eyestrain in children.

BUT THIS WAY

The STUDY LAMP provides light of the right quality and quantity for reading or studying.

More than half the boys and girls who fail in their studies have defective vision!

That puts it squarely up to parents to provide proper lighting conditions for study and reading. For poor lighting is the chief cause of eye strain and near-sightedness, in children.

If your child holds his book abnormally close to his eyes when reading, or if he squints, or complains of headaches . . . beware!

To make sure that your child will have proper lighting when the duties of the new school year arrive, let one of our representatives make a free survey of your home. The sightmeter will tell you the results. Your local office will be glad to tell you when our lighting representative is available.

D. 1935, the same being the sixteenth day of September, A. D. 1935, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the eighth day of August, A. D. 1935, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said Court as No. 638, wherein Gladys Herrick is Plaintiff and Frank H. Herrick is Defendant, and a brief statement of Plaintiff's Cause of Action, being as follows:

Now comes Gladys Herrick, who resides in Crockett County, Texas, hereinafter called Plaintiff, complaining of Frank H. Herrick, whose residence is to this defendant unknown, hereinafter called Defendant; and for cause of action, Plaintiff represents to the Court that she is and has been for a period of twelve months prior to exhibiting the petition herein an actual bona fide inhabitant of the State of Texas, and has resided in the said County of Crockett for at least six months next preceding the filing of this suit; that on or about the 5th day of May, A. D. 1935 in Sutton County, Texas Plaintiff was lawfully married to Defendant, then a single man by the name of Frank H. Herrick, and that they continued to live together as husband and wife until on or about the 28th day of May, A. D. 1935, when by reason of the cruel and harsh treatment and improper conduct of defendant toward Plaintiff, she was forced and compelled to permanently abandon him, since which time they have not lived together as husband and wife; Plaintiff further alleges that she was kind and affectionate to him and always administered to his needs and desires by a dutiful wife should, but defendant unmindful of his duties and obligations of his marital vows, immediately after said marriage began a course of harsh treatment toward this Plaintiff, which continued until the Plaintiff was forced to abandon him, that Defendant was constantly drunk and often cursed and abused Plaintiff and applied to her vile epithets, without any cause or provocation whatever on the part of this Plaintiff and Defendant never at any time contributed anything to the support of this Plaintiff, that said marriage relations between the Plaintiff and Defendant still exist; that her name prior to said marriage was Gladys Thornberry.

Wherefore, Plaintiff prays the Court that Defendant be cited to appear and answer herein and for judgment dissolving said marriage relations and giving the name Gladys Thornberry, for cost of suit, and for such other and further relief, special and general, in law and in equity, and that she may be justly entitled to, etc.

NOBODY'S BUSINESS BY JULIAN CAPERS JR.

Austin, Aug. 28.—The first called session of the 44th legislature will assemble in Austin, probably by or before Sept. 15th, best-informed opinion here believed in the wake of the special election on constitutional amendments. Certain to require attention of the solons are:

1. Regulation of the sale of liquor and clarification of the confused local option situation. Many communities, dry by local option before the adoption of the constitutional amendment prohibiting liquor, are in doubt as to their status under repeal. Dry authorities hold that they are legally in status quo as of the effective date of statewide prohibition. Others hold adoption of the dry amendment wiped out existing local option regulations and all communities start from scratch again. At any rate, the legislature must lay down new local option regulations assess liquor taxes and license fees, determine who is to sell it, where, when and under what conditions. Interesting to legislators are rough estimates that taxes and licenses ought to bring to the state treasury $3,000,000 to $5,000,000 a year.

2. Enabling legislation to permit the state to take advantage of the federal old age pensions appropriation, allowing states $15 each for indigent aged persons on a matching basis. The enabling legislation is expected to fix rigidly the qualifications of those receiving such aid, setting age limits and requiring conclusive proof of need. Otherwise, raids on the state treasury running into the millions annually will result. Corporations and others interested in maintaining lower state taxes can be depended upon to bring pressure to bear upon the legislators in drafting this enabling legislation to keep down costs to the minimum. Sales tax advocates will doubtless exploit the futile hopes of many persons, misled by Townsend plan talk, into believing that a state-financed millenium is about to begin. They will seek to capitalize the pressure of these demands to force through a sales tax.

Legislation to set up a system of compensating certain county officers in lieu the fee system, as this is mailed, appears to have been written out of the constitution by the electorate. The returns likewise indicate a respite from further constitutional amendments for at least another two years, the proposal to permit submission by special sessions apparently having lost.

Texas got the jump on most other states when the highway department, at the instigation of Chairman Harry Hines, began preparation two weeks ago of plans for a $4,000,000 farm-to-market road program, to be paid for by the federal government out of a special allotment of WPA funds. Secretary of Agriculture Wallace promulgated the requirements last week, listing as first consideration the availability of suitable relief labor and next the possibility of creating lasting social and economic benefits from the roads selected. A technical amendment to existing state highway laws, permitting the highway department to supervise construction of roads not a part of the state highway system, may be required, and probably will be another matter for the special session to handle. All of this work will be done by contract, which the highway department has found to be the economical and effective way to build roads, rather than the outworn political force-account or day labor system.

Oil circles of Texas have been greatly excited for two weeks over the probable implication of certain language contained in a recent decision of the state supreme court, interpreted by major oil companies who have long sought such an end, to mean that the railroad commission should take into consideration acreage, as well as potential production in prorating oil production. With millions of dollars of Texas school funds involved, and small independents asserting the plan means economic death to them, the commission postponed its August hearing for a week, and was to resume testimony this week. The commission obviously is against

Trying Out Real Warfare at Fort McPherson

This photograph shows a bit of exciting action in the mimic war staged at Fort McPherson on the outskirts of Atlanta, Ga. The pursuit and observation planes may be seen as they dived at full speed to strike troops on the ground. The latter, members of the regular Twenty-second Infantry, fought back with rifles and machine guns. The planes were down by the reserve officers under the command of Major Wiley R. Wright, and the infantry was under command of Col. F. S. Chalmers.

the plan, advanced by major oil company attorneys, to base the next prorotation order upon the acreage factor, unless positively ordered to do so by a court of competent jurisdiction. Here is the exact language of Chairman Ernest O. Thompson, which may be taken as a pretty good indication of what the commission is going to do about it, when the testimony is all in:

"The commission has been conferring about this question and wishes to make it absolutely plain that we are certainly going to follow the statute religiously, and certainly we are going to follow out the mandates of the court in their decisions, when we can understand them. . . . However, the extent to which this testimony has gone leads us to announce that this commission certainly is not going to stand for any share-the-wealth plan with reverse English, taking from those who do not have and giving to those who have. This testimony so far in the minds of the commission leads inescapably to the conclusion that small acreage will be of no value. . . . The commission does not believe that the legislature by its laws or the courts by their decisions, mean to drive the little man out of the oil business in Texas."

That paragraph may become historic in Texas. It serves to emphasize again that the railroad commission, in all its dealings with the highly technical and controversial question, must keep in mind that it is serving not only the giant major oil companies who have invested millions in Texas, but also the small independent oil men who have pioneered much of the new development, and most important of all, 6,000,000 Texas citizens whose gasoline bill goes up $8,000,000 a year every time gasoline goes up a penny a gallon at the pump.

Meter Readers Cause Quite a Buzz

The usual monotony of a day's work for Joe Clouse, meter reader for the Kerrville Water Works, was broken rather unexpectedly last Monday morning.

While making his rounds, he started to inspect the water meter of Mrs. Ola B. Gammon's home in Westland. To him it was to have been just another check-up on uninteresting integrals signifying nothing but one more citizen's water bill in the City Office.

"Evidently they're using a lot of water here," he thought, as a buzzing came from the meter. But as the noise continued, he found that another meter reader had reached the place before him.

Without further investigation, he proceeded to kill a four-foot rattlesnake coiled in the sunken meter box. The seven rattles and button found on the snake have created quite a buzz around town. —Kerrville Times.

Visiting over the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Pharr of Ozona were Mr. and Mrs. Don Benson and their two daughters, Wilma Faye and Juanita, of Paris, Texas. Mrs. Benson is the sister of Mrs. Pharr. Mrs. Pharr returned Tuesday with the Ozona visitors for a visit in Paris.

win the first game of Sunday's twin bill. The locals lodged three tallies in the opening frame when Manager Saxon of the Refiners, starting in the box, walked four men and allowed two hits, a single by Heatherly and a double by Bob Weaver, the latter scoring two men. One had been walked across previously. Another was chalked in the second on an error in right field on Cogdell's fly and a double by Heatherly. Still another was pushed over in the third on hits by Weaver and Montgomery. The fourth went scoreless, but Dorley, first up on the fifth, connected with one of Bill Duncan's fast ones for a home run over the centerfield fence, one of the longest balls ever hit in the local park. With two out, Weaver got his third hit of the game and scored on a single by Montgomery. The eighth score was crossed in the eighth when Weaver, on his fourth time at bat, with three hits behind him, walked, advanced to second when Montgomery walked, stole third and scored on Harris' fly to right.

The visitors scored two in the second on two doubles and an error, after which the Refiners did not seriously threaten.

The second game, a scheduled seven-inning affair, went eight when the score was knotted two all in the seventh. Both teams scored two in the third, the visitors on two singles and an error. A third potential score was cut off between third and home when the umpire ruled Van Landingham purposely interfered with Lenz' throw to Stuart to cut off the runner going home.

Giants Tie Count

The Giants tied up the tally sheet in their half of the third when Slim Harris lost one down the first base line for two bases and scored in successive singles by Lenz and Cogdell. Lenz scored on Heatherly's sacrifice.

The game had a surprise ending that caught many fans unawares. Lenz, up for the Giants in the last of the eighth, with one out, cracked out a triple down the first base line. Cogdell was walked, amid much delay on the part of Choate, McCamey hurler. As Heatherly came up to bat then and more dilatory tactics were adopted, Choate nonchalantly tossed the ball from pitcher's box to the second baseman, who was caught unawares and missed the chunk, the ball trickling out toward right field. Lenz, wide-awake on third base, raced home with the winning run to cap the series from the Refiners.

submitting proposals and upon the care of design and planning exercised by Texas sponsors that each section of the state must depend for its participation in the benefits of WPA. Unfortunately, many sponsors failed to plan carefully the early projects which were submitted to the state WPA office, consequently impeding their own progress and that of the entire program. It is hoped and believed that this type of delay will be avoided in the future.

With the Texas relief load composed largely of unskilled and semi-skilled laborers, projects offering work for this type of employe will find much favor. Roadwork, for example, is most easily adaptable to our available supply of man-power.

Replacement of rickety, worn-out culverts, erosion work on road ways, removing of sharp, blind curves, establishment of roadside parking places on scenic drives, and building of rock retaining walls on hill-country roads may be considered as typical road projects which will be welcomed by our examiners.

Possibly the best example of careful planning which has been presented for consideration is a Fort Worth school ground project which, although remaining well within the $600 per man-year expenditure restriction, anticipates a cost of a million and a quarter dollars. Replacement of gravel grounds and well-sodded, planted campuses and playgrounds is contemplated. Installation of side walks, retaining walls, drinking fountains, out-door theatre, seating arrangements for spectators, and fencing on 21 school grounds in that city reflect the result of intelligent planning.

School houses in many smaller

Texas towns are sadly in need of side walks, especially in rainy weather. Numerous proposals for side walks, gutters and curbs are expected from small towns.

Although our $600 per man-year expenditure restriction prohibits the construction of large buildings, WPA can do much improvement and modernization work on public buildings. County recreational projects, roadside parks, and similar projects may also be undertaken.

Sewer plant and water supply works, both needed in many small Texas communities, are expected to form a considerable item in our list of project approvals.

Often a neglected, stagnant pool or creek can be transformed into a parkway encircled by a smooth, pleasant drive with a small amount of labor. Civic-minded persons should study the potentialities of their own communities for projects such as this. Swimming pools and wading pools for children certainly can be assets to any town.

Useful surveys and research work providing jobs for white collar workers are acceptable but sponsors must offer proper management and supervision in order to secure state approval. Women's work, under the direction of Mrs. M. K. Taylor, will encompass such enterprises as sewing rooms, libraries, home hygiene, visiting housekeepers, and certain types of white collar work.
