Allen W. Robertson, Young Crockett County Rancher, Meets Tragic Death In Ranch Accident; Funeral Monday

Funeral services were conducted at Cedar Hill Cemetery here Monday afternoon for Allen West Robertson, young Crockett County ranchman, who was killed sometime late Saturday afternoon while riding the range on his ranch about 35 miles southwest of Ozona.

Mr. Robertson left the ranch home about 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Becoming alarmed when he did not return home after dark, Mrs. Robertson walked about two miles to a windmill in search of him, and failing to find him returned to the ranch and then walked to Ernest Sparkman's, a neighboring ranch, some five miles distant, and turned in the alarm.

Neighboring ranchers searched for the missing man throughout Saturday night and Sunday morning. A telephone message to Ozona about noon Sunday brought a large number of men from this city who joined in the search. The body was found about 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon a few miles from the ranch home.

Members of the searching party who examined the ground near where the body was found concluded that Mr. Robertson's horse became excited when he slipped from a rim rock at the edge of a steep declivity and began bucking down the side of the canyon through the thick cedar undergrowth. The horse was found near by and the saddle was found on the ground along the path of the bucking horse, the girth strap broken.

Mr. Robertson's body was found in a small clearing, his head pillowed between two rocks and his shirt pulled half off and tucked up over a wound at the base of the neck, evidently caused by a snag, which severed the jugular vein. Death is believed to have resulted in less than five minutes.

Mr. Robertson was a 32nd degree Mason and a Shriner. Impressive graveside services were conducted by members of the Ozona Masonic Lodge, of which he was an active member.

Mr. Robertson came here shortly after the war and entered the ranching business for himself after working for a time for the late S. E. Couch. He was one of the most popular of the young ranchers in this county and the entire community was shocked by his sudden and tragic death.

During the war, Mr. Robertson served in the aviation corps and for a time after the war was attached to a border patrol squadron flying along the Mexican border in the Big Bend area. In this patrol squadron were also John Fogarty, who came here with Mr. Robertson and entered the ranching business at the same time, Capt. Jimmie Morrison, now stationed at Randolph Field in San Antonio and who flew here in an army plane to attend the funeral of his former buddy, and Major Doolittle, who recently broke the world airplane speed record.

Surviving are the widow, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Couch of this city, the father, W. T. Robertson of Gonzales, and a brother, Dr. Wilbur Robertson of San Antonio. Three cousins, Virgils Robertson, Mrs. Appel and Mrs. Dunning of Gonzales, were also here for the funeral. Mr. Robertson had celebrated his 34th birthday nine days before his death.

Pallbearers named by the family were Scott Peters, Boyd Clayton, Warren Clayton, Joe North, Houston Smith, Ed Bean, Ad Harvick and Ernest Sparkman. The Masonic order took charge of the funeral at the cemetery.

MISSIONARY BIBLE STUDY

An interesting Bible study constituted the program at the regular Woman's Missionary Society meeting at the Methodist Church Wednesday afternoon. Rev. J. H. Meredith, pastor, directed the study of the Ten Commandments. Another Bible study will be held next week and all women of the church are invited.

Gasoline And Matches Weapons Used To Rid Town Of Cricket Army

Business men of Ozona had to take time out Wednesday morning to sweep, scoop or shovel out millions of crickets from their doors before opening for business.

A horde of crickets swept into town Tuesday night and millions of the critters had gathered under and in the vicinity of the street lighting standards. The west wall of the Smith Drug No. 2 building was completely covered by the black insects and neighbors came to the assistance of Dr. Lewis with cans of gasoline and brooms to clean up the invaders so that his office would not be filled with them when the doors were opened.

At the variety store and Ben Lemmons corners, other fights took place to kill the pests before they filled the stores. Spraying them with gasoline and applying a match was found to be the most effective method of getting rid of the black army.

Red Cross Asks Membership Hike

Heavy Relief Demands Causes Emergency; 100 Local Goal

An emergency which is being faced by the American Red Cross, caused by the heaviest demands for relief since the World War, must be met by increased memberships in chapters all over the country, a telegram received Monday by Rev. M. M. Fulmer, chairman of the Crockett County Red Cross Chapter from F. A. Winfrey, national headquarters chairman at St. Louis, declares.

One hundred memberships is the goal assigned to the Crockett County chapter by national headquarters, the telegram said. The annual Roll Call drive will get under way all over the nation on Armistice Day, November 11, and will continue through Thanksgiving Day. Plans are to be made in the next few days for the Red Cross drive for memberships in this county, officials of the local chapter hoping to go over the quota of 100 members in less than the allotted time.

The telegram from Chairman Winfrey follows:

"Central committee meeting at Washington today adopted resolution asking all chapters for increased Red Cross membership, stating Red Cross facing emergency caused by heaviest demands for relief since World War. Relief on tremendous scale must still be continued this winter. In absence of separate Red Cross call for unemployment relief fund. Red Cross confidently looks to people for increased membership support in every community. Central committee therefore urges each chapter take steps assure increase called for by this emergency. 100 members assigned as your chapter goal."

Canning Project Is Endorsed By Woman's Club Meeting Tues.

The Ozona Woman's Club met Tuesday in the club room in the High School building. The club endorsed the canning project being put on by the Red Cross.

An interesting program on International Relations was given. Mrs. A. C. Hoover gave a talk on "Progress of the World Court." "United States Relationships With Other Nations" was given by Mrs. Paul Perner in the absence of Mrs. N. W. Graham who wrote the paper. Miss Elizabeth Fussell told us "What is Being Done to Preserve Peace." The next meeting will be held October 11th, with the topic "Problems of United States Cities."

Tickets On Sale For Lions Play

Reserved Seats To Be Sold For Home Talent Show Oct. 6

Reserved seats were placed on sale this week at the Smith Drug Store for the Lions Club play, "The Whole Town's Talking" to be given at the High School Auditorium, Thursday evening of next week, October 6. The reserved seat section will include the most choice seats in the center of the auditorium, seats in this section to be sold at 50 cents each and in any other part of the building at 35 cents for adults and 20 cents for children.

"The Whole Town's Talking" is a hilarious comedy in three acts, presenting some of the most side-splitting situations ever developed in dramatic plots. Besides one of the funniest comedies ever presented here, the Lions Club has arranged for between-acts specialties that will be a show in themselves worth the price of admission, according to those in charge of the production. "Michael Mantusky" Ozona's own acrobatic clown, and his tumbling team, will present two complete between-act numbers that are described as a "whole show" in themselves.

Proceeds from this home-talent production will go into the community funds of the club, the organization hoping to raise sufficient funds from the play to finance its project of providing an operation for little Wanda Squyres to correct a harelip.

Members of the cast include Misses Alma Johnigan, Wayne Augustine, Carolyn Montgomery, Hester Bunker and Totsy Robison. Mrs. Hugh Childress, Jr., Mrs. Evert White, Hugh Childress, Jr., Glenn Rutledge, Jake Young, Richard Flowers, and Royce Smith.

Granite Monument Now Marks Resting Place Of Pioneer Preacher

A granite monument now marks the last resting place of Rev. C. H. Peele, Methodist minister, who died in Ozona April 3, 1895, while serving as pastor of the Ozona and Sonora Methodist Churches. Rev. Peele was buried in what is now Cedar Hill cemetery here and for a time in recent years his grave could not be located.

About a year ago, however, Jim Chapman, pioneer Crockett resident, definitely located the grave. Mr. Chapman dug the grave in which Rev. Peele was buried and located it following a visit of the widow here for the purpose of seeing her husband's grave.

Rev. J. H. Meredith, pastor of the Methodist Church, then busied himself in a movement to erect a marker over the grave and through his efforts the stone marker was recently installed. Mrs. Peele, who now lives at Polytechnic, Texas, paid a part of the cost of the marker, the local Masonic lodge donated to the fund and the balance was made up by friends. The stone was purchased from the Western Granite Company of Llano at a special discount and it was hauled here from Barnhart by L. C. Lynch free of charge. The West Texas Lumber Company here, through its manager, J. H. Miller, donated the sand and cement for the base. Rev. Meredith reports that the last payment has just been made to the granite firm for the stone.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY OBSERVES GUEST DAY

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church observed Guest Day at its meeting last week with a program at the home of Mrs. Paul Perner. About 50 members and guests were present.

Mrs. Mims Jackson, Mrs. H. E. Jackson and Mrs. L. S. Batchelor of San Angelo were here for the meeting. Mrs. H. E. Jackson addressed the gathering on the subject of Tithing and Mrs. Batchelor discussed missionary work. Mrs. Mims Jackson favored with a vocal selection.

The Devil's Shoestring

The "devil's shoestring," a heretofore Texas weed pest, is likely to serve a great good to mankind, reports the Department of Agriculture. The weed contains poisons fatal to insect life. Experts are now trying to extract the juices in quantities to be used as an inexpensive insecticide. If successful it will bring wealth to Texas and take the place of ten million pounds of pyrethrum flowers now imported each year.

Football Game Here Saturday

Lions Meet Sherwood In First Tilt Of Season at 3 p. m.

Coach Ted White of the Ozona High School will get an opportunity to pace his 1932 Lions football squad on the Powell Field gridiron next Saturday afternoon when the lads face their first contest of the season against a team from Sherwood High.

Coach White has built up his team from a preponderance of raw material this season, only four lettermen returning from last year's crack aggregation. But the boys have been through some stiff training since the opening of school and have absorbed a lot of football, according to members of the squad.

The Sherwood team is also playing its first game of the season, a recent Interscholastic League ruling setting October 1 as the opening day for the high school football season. Sherwood proved more or less of a set-up for the Lions of 1931 by reason of the fact that the locals were a more seasoned crew, but such is not expected to be the case this year. Although both teams are untried, the Irion County lads are expected to put up a good fight for Saturday's game and the Lions are primed for an engaging hour.

The game against Sherwood will not be a district championship engagement and although Coach White expects to offer the visitors as much competition as is available, he will use this game to test out his material and to help him in building up a stronger team for the more important engagements later in the season. He expects to use as many members of his squad as possible in the game Saturday to give them the practice and to help him in deciding on his first string line-up.

The game is scheduled to start at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerry Campbell left Monday for Chicago after a visit of several days here with Mr. Campbell's uncle, Judge Charles E. Davidson and family. Mr. Campbell, whose home is in California, is a student in the medical department of the University of Chicago.

Mrs. Mims Jackson, Mrs. H. E. Jackson and Mrs. L. S. Batchelor of San Angelo were here for the meeting. Mrs. H. E. Jackson addressed the gathering on the subject of Tithing and Mrs. Batchelor discussed missionary work. Mrs. Mims Jackson favored with a vocal selection.

CROCKETT CO. GAME PRESERVE IS APPROVED

175,000 Acres Go Under 10 Year Ban By Agreement

PART IN VALVERDE

Huge Tract In Southeast Part Of County Game Refuge

A huge tract of land in southeastern Crockett County, lying partly in Val Verde County also, has been set aside as a state game preserve, final approval of the project being given a few days ago by the State Game, Fish and Oyster Commission at Austin, according to O. Z. Finley, game warden for this territory.

The new game preserve contains approximately 175,000 acres of land and takes in practically all of the southeast corner of Crockett County and a few tracts in Val Verde County.

Henceforward for a period of ten years it will be a violation of the state game laws to kill any wild game animal or wild game bird within the boundaries of the preserve, Warden Finley stated. Conviction for violation carries a penalty of a fine of from $50 to $200.

"The Game Department of the State of Texas was created for the protection of the wild life of the state and for the pleasure and healthful recreation of the present and future sportsmen," Mr. Finley's statement said.

"The department is not a burden on the taxpayers, but is maintained by and through the purchases of hunting, fishing and trapping licenses. Buy yours and help preserve the wild game of your state. In many counties of the state, men are binding themselves to assist their game wardens by reporting game violations. Your name need never be made public unless you so wish."

Ranchmen who have signed their properties up for the state game preserve include Early Baggett, lands east of Johnson Draw, Ele Hagelestein, Jones Miller, east of Johnson Draw, Joe Pierce, Vic Pierce, east of Johnson Draw, Tom Smith, George Harrell, Claude Hudspeth, Crockett and Val Verde Counties, Mrs. Payne, Crockett and Val Verde Counties, J. M. Baggett, Phillips Bros., Sol Jones, Pon Seahorn, Mike Friend, H. J. Friend, Frank Friend, Madden Read and Joe T. Davidson.

Highway Worker Dies Suddenly

Floyd M. Wyatt Victim Of Heart Attack Monday

While hundreds of Ozona friends were paying their last respects to the memory of Allen Robertson at his funeral services Monday afternoon, death paid a second visit to Ozona, claiming the life of Floyd Manson Wyatt, 46, a resident of Lampasas, who was employed in the Cage Bros. Construction Co. crew working on the highway east of Ozona.

Mr. Wyatt died suddenly late Monday afternoon at the Cage Bros. camp. Death was declared to have resulted from heart disease. When he complained of feeling ill, Mr. Wyatt's son, Jake came to Ozona for medicine and when he returned to the camp he found his father dead. An inquest was held, the verdict being death from natural causes.

Mr. Wyatt and his son had been here for four days, coming here from Lampasas to work on the highways. The widow lives in Lampasas. The body was taken overland to Lampasas where funeral services were to have been held Wednesday.

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING BEST

Newspaper advertising is by far the best means for the retail store keeper to reach the buying public, according to Gertrude Owens, Minneapolis business counselor, in an address before Twin City Market Week visitors. "The best advertising medium for the retail store," said Miss Owens, "and the one which reaches by far the largest number of buyers and creates the most interest among the potential customers is the newspaper. The shrewd and progressive merchant will supply his community through the local newspaper with interesting and authentic information concerning both utility and fashion merchandise. A consistent policy of honest exploitation of merchandise by truthful advertising will increase business materially, establish recognition and prestige for the store among the potential customers and will promote confidence, respect and good will." That is a strong endorsement.—St. Peter (Minn.) Herald.

HOARDED MONEY BENEFITS NO ONE

A certain man during his eighty years of life saved up $40,000 which he hoarded in tobacco cans, hiding them about his shabby home. He denied himself the comforts of life, robbed his family of necessities as well as pleasures and real living, held himself aloof from his fellowmen, had nothing in common with neighbors, had no community interest. He just existed in a self-centered, sub-normal pursuit of more money, which as he used it, was not worth as much as a single smile, an apple in the hands of a hungry child, or a bit of finery for some worthy girl. Then his shack caught fire, and his $40,000 went up in smoke. Money is valueless if it is not used. Put your money in a bank, or invest it. Put it to use.—Kansas Republican, Newton, Kansas.

AUTUMN FOLIAGE

Over the greater part of the United States the forests are beginning to take on their autumn splendor. The turning of the leaves in the fall, from their uniform summer green to brilliant hues ranging from the palest yellows and browns to brilliant scarlet, presents one of the most gorgeous spectacles ever to be seen. We in America have become so accustomed to it that we often do not realize its beauty. It is a constant source of delight and wonder to European visitors, who have no such phenomenon at home. Our American autumn is something that we on this continent alone possess. The pleasant weeks between the first frost and Christmas, when the winter's cold and snow really begin over most of the United States, make a season in which outdoor life can be enjoyed to its utmost. There is as much inspiration in our autumn season for the poet as there is in the English spring, and far more for the painter.

A New York newspaper reporter was given an assignment to learn whether there is a family on Manhattan Island which keeps live chickens. Only one has been found to date and that one away up in the Bronx.

MR. COOLIDGE AND THE RAILROADS

Former President Coolidge has been asked to head a non-partisan commission to study the problems of the railroads. There is no question that the railroads of the United States are in a bad way, and we cannot think of anybody better than Mr. Coolidge to head up such a committee. Regardless of politics, there is probably nobody in whom so many Americans of all ranks have complete confidence as Mr. Coolidge. He is noted for his level-headed, common sense, and any report on the railroad situation which he might publish would be taken very seriously by the railroad people themselves, as well as by the general public. In accepting such a commission for public service, Mr. Coolidge furnishes a good answer to the old question: "What shall we do with our ex-Presidents?"

It is time to get at the roots of the railroad situation. It seems to us that they are either too much under government control or not enough; the present situation, in which they are not allowed to accumulate a surplus in good times to carry them through hard times, is unfair not only to the railroads, but to the public which depends upon them for service. Moreover, the whole railroad situation is changing. The traveling public is relying less and less upon the railroads for passenger transportation for short distances, while the airplane is threatening their long distance passenger business. Package freight is moving more and more by trucks, and every new mile of hard, paved highway cuts into railroad earnings. On the face of things, it looks as if there would soon be little business left for the railroads except heavy hauling of bulk freight. We understand that the commission which Mr. Coolidge is to head will look into the whole transportation problem, and we have hope that out of it will come a more intelligent and workable system of transportation control.

NO REVOLUTION

These are turbulent times. From almost every part of the United States we get reports of groups of distressed and indignant citizens taking the law into their own hands for various purposes. Bonus-seeking veterans march on Washington to demand relief from Congress. Farmers of the Middle West blockade the highways leading to the cities to maintain the price of farm commodities.

In this country we understand such manifestations. They occur whenever we have a serious industrial depression or whenever the return to the farmer for his produce continues below the level of profit for any considerable time. It does not take a long memory to recall the tobacco war in Kentucky when the "Night Riders" destroyed the seed beds of planters who would not join the equity. Coxey's Army of 1893, the Pullman strike of the same year and, going farther back into history, the "Molly Maguires" and their riots in the Pennsylvania coal and iron country, were alarming manifestations of unrest in their time.

European observers read reports of these things in the cable dispatches and conclude that the United States is on the verge of revolution. Revolution, to the European, means only one thing, the forcible seizure of the government by a desperate populace. What Europe does not realize is that in the United States, where every citizen has an equal voice in the government, it has never been necessary for any group with an honest grievance to resort to armed rebellion.

In one sense, we are in a constant state of revolution in America—that is in the sense that our governmental policies and methods are constantly undergoing change. One has only to read the political and economic history of the United States intelligently to realize that we have advanced, by this process of social evolution, faster and more certainly in the direction of universal liberty than any other nation has ever advanced by revolution.

On a recent day when a certain New York department store advertised extensively a big bargain sale, 25,000 persons were carried in the elevators of the store every hour for four hours.

THIRD SECRET OF SUCCESS

Having gathered together his organization, there remained for Jesus the tremendous task of training it. And here in lay the third great element in his success—his vast unending patience. The Church has attached to each of the disciples the title of Saint and thereby done most to destroy the conviction of their reality. They were very far from sainthood when he picked them up. For three years he had them with him day and night, his whole energy and resources poured out in an effort to create an understanding in them. Yet through it all they never fully understood.

In spite of all he could do or say, they were persuaded that he planned to overthrow the Roman power and set himself up as ruler in Jerusalem. Hence they never tired of wrangling as to how the offices should be divided. But Jesus never lost his patience. He believed that the way to get faith out of men is to show that you have faith in them; and from that great principle of executive management he never wavered.

Of all the disciples Simon was most noisy and aggressive. It was he who was always volunteering advice, forever proclaiming the staunchness of his own courage and faith. One day Jesus said to him, "Before the cock crows tomorrow you will deny me thrice." Simon was indignant. Though they killed him, he cried, he would never deny! Jesus merely smiled—and that night it happened. A lesser leader would have dropped Simon. "You have had your chance," he would have said, "I am sorry but I must have men around me on whom I can depend." Jesus had the rare understanding that the same man will usually not make the same mistake twice. From that time on there was no faltering in Peter.

The Bible presents an interesting collection of contrasts in this matter of executive ability. Samson had almost all the attributes of leadership. He was physically powerful and handsome; he had the great courage to which men always respond. Yet Samson failed miserably.

Moses started out under the same handicap. He tried to be everything and do everything; and was almost on the verge of failure. Then Moses took the advice of his father-in-law and associated with himself a partner, Aaron, who was strong where he was weak. Together they achieved what neither could do alone.

EMPLOYMENT INCREASES

AUSTIN, TEXAS.—For the first time since 1929, the number of workers employed in Texas in August exceeded that in the previous month by 0.7 per cent, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research. The 954 establishments reporting employment to the Bureau of Business Research and the United States Bureau of Labor Statistics had 58,688 workers on their payrolls on August 15 as compared with 58,307 workers on July 15. The number of workers in August was 16 per cent below that in the corresponding month a year ago. Of the ten cities shown separately in the report, Galveston continued to make the best showing as compared with last year, while in Austin, Beaumont, El Paso, Fort Worth, Houston, and San Antonio the number of persons employed by the reporting firms on August 15 increased as compared with the previous month. Average weekly wages per worker amounted to $22.77 in August; in July, the average weekly wages were $23.15.

TOWN BEAUTY AN ASSET

In spite of the apparent commercialism of the age in which we live, it is evident to any observer that the American people are developing a greater appreciation of the beautiful. This is not confined to the wealthier classes, but extends to the great masses in the towns and villages, and in the rural districts.

New towns and new sections of the older ones are being laid out with wider streets, with provision for larger lawns, more trees, shrubbery and flowers, and a more attractive setting generally. New houses show better architecture and greater harmony with their surroundings, while unsightly yard fences have largely disappeared. The net result of all these modern developments, is beauty. And aside from the satisfaction which it affords the eye, it pays in dollars and cents.

Beautiful cities, towns and villages attract people. They attract permanent residents, they attract tourists, and they attract trade. It is natural that a person selecting a trading center will choose a town that is beautiful and clean in preference to one that is unsightly and dirty, if other conditions are anywhere near equal.

Therefore, it behooves the authorities of any community, as well as each individual citizen, to make the most of their opportunities for improving the appearance of the place in which they live. Beauty and cleanliness are a town's best assets.—The Culver Citizen, Culver, Indiana.

On suburban trains to and from New York, 98 out of every 100 passengers will be seen reading a newspaper. New Yorkers are the greatest newspaper reading people in the world.

THAT'S ME—

I'm a fool for details. Let me start to tell a story, and before I am half through, you are worn out with the little minor details. But the real rub comes when you start to tell me something. I want to know the whole setting, and always notice some little conflicting detail and make you straighten that out. You see, I want it according to Hoyle or not at all.

FAITH BUILDS; FEAR DESTROYS

Among the most distressing results of the present depressed conditions and state of mind, thinking are the unjust and unfair runs on perfectly sound and solvent banks.

Ten, five, three years or one year ago a thousand people put $1,000 each into a commercial bank or savings bank. On their savings the banks have paid interest regularly because they have properly and as was expected put the money, less the legal cash reserves, into secured mortgages, bonds and other approved collateral, to be paid back at stipulated future dates at rates of interest, which show a reasonable profit over that paid the depositor, which is the bank's fair hire for many services rendered.

In the regular course of events, barring isolated cases of default, every depositor can get his money back any time he needs it.

But comes now a horde of unformed, ill-advised, fear-motivated depositors all in a day and demand their money "right now." This, as any thoughtful person knows, is financial suicide. A proper part of the deposits are out, as above stated, on properly secured loans and investments, and the bank could not possibly pay everybody at once. Result, close the bank; tie up everything; shut down business; break the depositors.

And does all of this hardship get one's money "right now"? It does not. One must be content to wait until the state banking department, through slow and expensive processes, can collect the outstanding accounts and pay back a little at a time just as the bank, had it not been forced could have done with profit to all.

Faith and confidence, two beneficial human characteristics, inspired the placing of the deposits in the banks when we were sane and normal. Good stewardship over happy years has built up sound and useful financial institutions. Fear and broken faith, twin enemies and destroyers—blindly, unintelligently, stupidly, tear them down in a day.—Spokane Valley Herald, Opportunity, Washington.

Famous King Ranch In Texas Larger Than State Of Delaware

By R. A. MacDonald in Kansas City Star: To indicate the bigness of the King ranch, the editor of the paper here wrote of its Texan vastitude, and he told a story of a tax man from Washington, new to Texas, who came here to check up the tax statement of the ranch. The next day he called upon its manager and said:

"I think I shall take a ride over the ranch and examine, personally, the 200 windmills which you report as having depreciated largely in value in the last year. Can you give me the exact location of each of them, so I may visit them?"

"How are you going to travel?" asked the manager.

"Oh, I shall engage a car for the day," he replied.

"For a day? Say, man, how long do you think it will take you to see each of those 200 windmills scattered all over this ranch?"

"I thought it might be done in a day, or, perhaps two days, at the most."

"Two weeks, you mean. And you'll need a camping and cooking outfit, and I wouldn't think of getting you start without a guide."

"A guide? For what purpose?"

"To keep you from getting lost and wandering for days on the prairie, unable to find your way out."

"Heaven, man, your place is not as large as that, is it?"

"Well," answered the manager, "it's larger than the State of Delaware. There are more than a million acres in it, more than a million and a quarter acres. You could start at the northeast corner of it and travel 150 miles through it before you came to the southwest corner."

"There are 75,000 cattle on it, scattered out so that it would take more than two weeks to drive around and inspect them all. These 200 windmills are scattered all around, too, over the million and a quarter acres. I doubt if you could get around to see them all in two weeks, and if you start out without a guide we'd probably have to organize a posse to go out and hunt for you."

Then he told him of the herds of javelinas, or peccaries, ferocious wild hogs, that roam over the remote parts of the ranch, often attacking travelers.

Some thirty odd years ago there were 2 million acres in this ranch. The front door of the ranch house was then 50 miles from the nearest railroad station, at an edge of the ranch. In its wilderness of mesquite trees and open spaces so many thousands of cattle grazed that Mrs. King, its owner, did not know their number. Some say there were a quarter of a million cattle at one time on the ranch.

When Mrs. King gave 80,000 acres of her land for a railroad right-of-way, and several thousand more acres for the townsite of Kingsville. In doing so, she said: "Only 85,000 acres are so of and to get a railroad station and town within two miles of my front door! I won't even miss that little doodle of land."

In 1901 she was offered 6 million dollars for the ranch and did not even consider it.

They say here, that before the coming of the depression, the ranch was estimated to be worth 10 million dollars.

Miss America Favorite

All Philadelphia is backing Miss Roslyn Schuchman, 17, high-school girl, to win the 1932 Miss America title and national beauty contest at Wildwood, N. Y. Miss Roslyn eliminated 31 rivals in the Quakerstown finals.

They tell you here in Kingsville that it is the largest body of land under one ownership in the world, and that it has, almost in its geographical center, the largest, costliest and most magnificent ranch house. The owners and managers of the ranch do not give out estimates of the value of any of its property. I learned, that when I went to see one in authority to ascertain how many thousands of miles of wire fences were on the ranch.

A peculiar thing is that none of this fencing is of barbed wire. Mrs. Henrietta M. King, wife of the founder of the ranch and sole owner of it for 40 years after his death, was so fond of her myriads of cattle that she would not allow a fence of barbed wire on the place for fear her cattle might be maimed by the barbs. All fences are smooth wire strung through holes bored in the fence posts. Many of these posts are of ebony wood that grew on the ranch, and are so lasting that thousands of them that have been standing for more than 40 years, are as sound as the day they were put up.

When Mrs. King built the ranch house she stated that it cost $300,000. She died seven years ago at the age of 93 and her only daughter and her son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Kleberg, Jr., acting head of the family, and some other relatives live there now. The elder Mr. Kleberg is an old man and too feeble to be interviewed. Richard M. Kleberg, another of his sons, is a representative in congress from this district.

The ranch house of today is the third that has stood on the same site. The first was a wooden block house with loopholes through which brass cannons grinned defiance at the Mexican bandits who came on periodical raids against it. It was built in the late 40's by the founder of the ranch, Capt. Richard King. The story of his life is filled with adventure and romance. He had been a poor barefooted boy in Orange, N. J. He ran away from home and came West, was a cabin boy on a Mississippi River steambot and later a pilot, like Mark Twain. He came to Texas and fought in the war against Mexico and was a friend of the Texas heroes who were its leaders. When the war was over, he bought a steambot, traded up and down the Rio Grande, made a fortune and married Miss Henrietta M. Chamberlain.

Her life was romantic and adventurous, too. She was born in Booneville, Mo., the daughter of the Rev. Hiram Chamberlain, a Presbyterian minister, who went as a missionary to the Gulf Coast country of Texas. His family went with him, and in Brownsville his daughter, Henrietta, met the gallant Captain King. It was love at first sight and after their marriage, Captain King decided to become a rancher and cattleman. He bought 100,000 acres of land and named it Santa Gertrudes ranch. He and his bride went there to live in 1849 in the rude block house he built.

King had got his land almost for the taking. The highest price he paid for the first of it was 5 cents an acre, and thousands of acres he got for 1 cent an acre.

Captain King kept adding to his land, and when he died, in 1885, he left it all to his widow, with a provision in his will that she was to hold it intact as a home coming place for generations of his family yet to be born.

Strangers who visit this ranch house, and are permitted to enter it, are always astonished to find such magnificence and artistry in a home out here in the wide spaces of the Texas prairie. The house stands in a grove of fig, orange, ebony, palm, lemon, grape fruit and other semitropical trees. Some of the most famous architects and interior decorators in this country and Europe helped plan, build and furnish it.

Mrs. King lived on the ranch 75 years. She was its manager for 40 years after her husband died, and under her rule it was much like a feudal estate of long ago. The laborers were, and are, Mexicans, who live in clusters of small houses on the place. When she came to the ranch, longhorns were the cattle of Southern Texas. She was one of the first to see that, if the cattle business in Texas was to succeed, the longhorns must be bred out of existence, and pure-breds must take their place. She and her son-in-law, Robert J. Kleberg stocked the ranch with Shorthorns. They cleared thousands of acres of its mesquite brush, and planted the land to drought-resisting grasses from Africa.

Kleberg tried the experiment of crossing the native bred pure-breds with Brahma cattle from India, and from that cross he has established a permanent breed that dresses out 10 per cent more beef to the carcass, is tick-free, is not worried with flies, can stand greater heat, and is out feeding when Herefords and Shorthorns seek the shade. This breed is known as the "Santa Gertrudes." Last January he imported from Africa 16 bulls and 13 cows of the Afrikander breed, and turned them in with the other cattle on the ranch. He expects these to cross with native breeds and produce a larger beef animal, better adapted to the hot climate of South Texas than any native breed. A bull of this breed weighs 2,200 pounds.

Some years ago Kleberg and his son, Robert J. Kleberg, Jr., and "Dick" Kleberg introduced a herd of purebred Jersey milk cows on the ranch, and there have multiplied until now there are 400. All the experimental work on the ranch is done in cooperation with the agricultural department of the College of Arts and Industries of Texas, which is here in Kingsville.

When Mrs. King died the ranch estate was placed by her will in the hands of a board of seven trustees to handle. The business offices of the ranch are here in Kingsville, and the man in charge of its financial affairs is John D. Finnegan. There is not a relative of the King family on the board. Her intention in this was to carry out the wishes of her husband, founder of the ranch, that it should be kept intact as a homecoming place for the members of the King family, for generations to come.

Association Studies Five-Year Plan For Tuberculosis Control

AUSTIN, TEXAS—The Executive Committee of the Texas Tuberculosis Association met in Waco recently at the home of Mrs. W. O. Wilkes to consider a "Five Year Plan for the Study and Eradication of Tuberculosis in Texas." The plan was submitted by Dr. Elva A. Wright, Houston, chairman of a state wide committee appointed last May for the purpose of developing such a program. It was adopted as submitted.

Among other provisions, the plan outlines a suggested procedure for the examination of all school children in Texas for the detection of the early, or childhood, type of tuberculosis. Some 25,000 children in various sections of the State have already received this examination and it is believed that five years of intensive work among children throughout the State will result in greatly reduced death rates from tuberculosis.

Dr. John Potts, President of the Texas Tuberculosis Association, appointed a committee of three physicians to work out a uniform examination card to be used in the examination of children. Appointed on this committee were Dr. W. F. Hoehn, Waco, chairman, Dr. Henry Meyer, Houston and Dr. John G. Young, Dallas.

The co-operation of other state and local agencies in carrying out the Five Year Plan has been requested by the Texas Tuberculosis Association. Commenting on Plan, Dr. J. C. Anderson, State Health Officer, stated: "I wish to reiterate what I have often said in the past, that the National and State Tuberculosis Organizations have put over a very valuable piece of work during the last decade, and after looking over the plan, I feel that it will bring even greater results in the next five years than have been accomplished during the five years in the past. Speaking for the Texas State Board of Health, I wish to advise that the entire health department is behind any plan or program which has for its object the control of tuberculosis."

The Five Year Plan has also the endorsement of Dr. J. B. Mc-

Knight, Superintendent of the State Tuberculosis Sanatorium, who states that he thinks it is good and will get results.

The plan also has the approval of Mr. C. N. Shaver, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, who pledges the co-operation of the members of the State Department of Education.

The Executive Committee of the Texas Tuberculosis Association authorized the use of funds raised by the annual sale of Christmas Seals to finance the Five Year Plan for the Study and Eradication of Tuberculosis in Texas.

Members of the Executive Committee are: Dr. John Potts, Fort Worth, President; J. W. Butler, Galveston, Secretary; H. A. Wroe, Austin, Treasurer; Mrs. W. O. Wilkes, Waco; Mr. Murray G. Thames, Beaumont; Dr. Z. T. Scott, Austin, Managing Director, and Miss Fanny Nichols, Austin, Executive Secretary.

CHECKING UP ON SPORTS

By Jack Adams

Concluding the greatest men's tennis tournament in the history of American lawn tennis, H. Ellsworth Vines, Jr., of California, defeated Henri Cochet, of France, recognized as one of the greatest players the game has produced. For the fourth time in seven years the men's singles championship title was competed for by a Frenchman. In 1926 Rene Lacoste defeated Jean Borotra—both of Paris—to win the American championship. The next year Lacoste defeated Wm. T. Tilden to win the title. Cochet defeated Francis T. Hunter in 1928 to take the title.

Henry W. (Bunny) Austin, England's No. 1 Davis Cup player, startled the spectators at Forest Hills when he strode out on the center court clad in flannel shorts and wearing one of those floppy, white duck hats.

There is one football team here in the East which will play all of its games at home and for a very good reason. That is the team representing Sing Sing prison. This team has suffered from "graduation" of some its star players like other teams.

The New York World-Telegram scared up 217 golfers in the metropolitan area who at some time in their lives had made a hole in one. They were each given five shots in an attempt to repeat the accomplishment. They shot for a 128-yard hole. One golfer came within two feet, one inch, of the cup but not one holed out in one.

When John L. Sullivan defeated Jake Kilrain back in 1889 they fought 75 rounds before a decision was reached. They fought with bare knuckles.

Spectators paid $2,650,000 to see Gene Tunney and Jack Dempsey fight in Chicago in 1927. That established a record for fight gate receipts.

Famous Joe Wood pitched 14 straight victories for the Boston Red Sox in 1912.

FOODS TASTE BETTER...

When They're Cooked Electrically

It is common knowledge that foods cooked in their own juices are far more tasty and more healthful than when flavors and vital food elements are boiled away as in old-fashioned cooking methods. Obviously, then, wouldn't it be wise to investigate a modern method of cookery that offers full-flavored, healthful meals—and that makes possible substantial savings every month in the year!

Then call in at our Merchandise Showroom and ask one of our trained representatives to tell you the vital story of modern Electric Cookery. He will show you how an Electric Range will save money for you... how it will produce finer, more attractive and more healthful meals... how it will give you new leisure every day... how it will end hours of hard kitchen slavery. He will explain these important Electric Cookery advantages—and produce actual figures that will show you what one of these modern Electrical Servants will mean to you!

Now's the Time to Buy

Prices never were lower... the need for economy, health and leisure never greater. You deserve the immense benefits of modern Electric Cookery without delay—so why not make your investigation now... TODAY?

We have General Electric Hotpoint ranges to fit every need and every pocketbook. And the terms can be arranged to fit the most modest budget. Take advantage of this SPECIAL OFFER... It has been made in order to give you the invaluable aid of a modern Electric Range!

Call us for an individual investigation of your use of electric services, to determine the cost of cooking by electricity in your home. You may be surprised to know that there are many cases where electric cooking actually decreases the total of electric and gas bills.

...origin of belief... When the Romans invaded Britain they found in the northern part of that country a race of diminutive people called the Picts...

A British scientist who has been studying the subject says that the widespread belief in a race of fairies, harmless little folk who live in the wilds, undoubtedly has come down through generations of tradition about this extinct tribe of earth dwellers.

American naturalists have rushed to the defense of these distinctively American creatures. Our robin is, they admit, a variety of thrush—but so is the English robin! As for the grey squirrel...

Nobody knows much about the origin of these strange people. The name "Gypsy" is derived from their supposed origin in Egypt...

...the newer concept... Professor Robert Millikan, world famous scientist, makes the surprising statement that among scientific workers religious faith is more manifest among the younger men than among the older.

Dr. Millikan argues from this that the wave of doubt which swept over the religious world, when modern science began to discover unquestionable facts which were not in harmony with some religious dogmas, has about spent itself.

The God of the scientist, Dr. Millikan says, rules the universe by set, definite laws. The only religious idea that has been demonstrated by science is that of a God of

Local Centennial Sponsors Named To Work For Amendment

Houston Smith and Miss Wanda Watson have been named by the state organization sponsoring approval of the constitutional amendment making possible a state-wide Texas Centennial Celebration in 1936.

One of the nine constitutional amendments to be voted on at the general election November 8 gives the state legislature authority to provide for a Centennial celebration in 1936.

The amendment itself, it is pointed out, does not provide for the Centennial celebration but merely makes it possible for the legislature to provide for the celebration by legislative act should it see fit to do so in 1936.

Do you want the secret of such vitality? It isn't what you eat, or any tonic you take. It's something anyone can do—something you can start today and see results in a week! All you do is give your vital organs the right stimulant.

A famous doctor discovered the way to stimulate a sluggish system to new energy. It brings fresh vigor to every organ. Being a physician's prescription, it's quite harmless. Tell your druggist you want a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin. Get the benefit of its fresh laxative herbs, active senna, and that pure pepsin. Get that lazy liver to work, those stagnant bowels into action. Get rid of waste matter that is slow poison so long as it is permitted to remain in the system.

The new energy men and women feel before one bottle of Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin has been used up is proof of how much the system needs this help.

Get a bottle of this delicious syrup and let it end that constant sorry about the condition of the bowels. Spare the children those bilious days that make them miserable. Save your household from the use of cathartics which lead to chronic constipation. And guard against auto-intoxication as you grow older.

Texas Wool Industry

By W. E. TALBOT

Editor's Note—This is the third of a series of articles dealing with the possibilities of the wool industry in Texas. Colonel Talbot, managing director of the Southwest Industrial Development Bureau, is an acknowledged authority on the subject of industrialization for Texas.

Copyright, 1932, Southland Life Insurance Co.

In the past when wool and mohair were selling at a profit there was little thought of industrialization and the manufacture of the finished product in Texas. But in the last few years wool and mohair have been sold at considerably less than the cost of production and today it requires the wool from twenty sheep to buy a moderately priced suit of clothes, and this has brought untold hardships upon the growers.

In addition to this the prices on mutton and lamb are comparable today to the prices received in the early days when Texas was just beginning to develop. The sheep and goat raiser today is confronted with a problem that can be solved only by our own people. No legislation, no act of Providence, no chance is going to rehabilitate this industry. The only thing that can help it is to bring to these growers and the people of Texas the sums of money they are entitled to through the development of this raw material into the finished product. Since Texas today produces more than 80 per cent of the mohair produced in the United States and about one-sixth of the wool, is there anyone who can say she has not the right to take advantage of the full profit accruing from these crops?

Towns like Kerrville, San Angelo, Brownwood, New Braunfels, Del Rio, Dallas, San Antonio and Fort Worth should get busy and get organized to develop this industry. These cities are close to the source of the raw material and could manufacture into the finished product.

With the advantage of freight rates against going to New England and back that dominate the entire Western market on price, with the aid of home consumption, there is no reason why numerous concerns in these different cities could not, with proper management and ample capital, develop Texas as a wool center of the United States on both cloth and the finished product.
