

Thanksgiving, 1621 - - 1953

More than three centuries ago, the Pilgrim Fathers observed a harvest thanksgiving, and this nation throughout its history has set aside a day to give thanks to the Lord for the bounties of the land. As America gives thanks in 1953, two Big Spring youngsters re-enact the Pilgrim Thanksgiving. They are Jake Glickman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Glickman, 700 Washington Boulevard, and Joann Durham, daughter of Mrs. Fern Durham, 1507-B Lincoln.

MRS. THOMAS C. NEWMAN

Vada Sue Milligan, Thomas Newman Wed

An archway of greenery and mums formed the setting for the wedding of Vada Sue Milligan and Thomas C. Newman in the First Baptist Church of Santa Anna Saturday.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Milligan of Santa Anna and the bridegroom the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Newman of Santa Anna.

The Rev. S. R. Smith of Brownwood read the double ring ceremony at 4 p.m. Sandra Shields, accompanied by Mrs. Virgil Priddy, organist, sang "Oh, Promise Me" and "Because."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a waltz-length gown of white lace over white satin. The fitted bodice was styled with long sleeves coming to points over the hands, a sweet-heart neckline and tiny covered buttons down the front. Her veil was waist length, and she carried white roses.

Mary Milligan, sister of the bride wore a waltz-length dress of pink lace over taffeta.

A. L. Freeman of Santa Anna was best man.

Kenneth Newman of Coleman and G. T. England, James Milligan and Charles Scarborough all of Santa Anna, ushers.

A reception was held at the church annex. The bride's table was laid with a silvery blue and white cloth brought by the bridegroom from Japan. White mums were also used in decorations.

Serving were Ruth Millig of Rockwood, Floyce Brown of Big Spring, Theola Stewardson of Santa Anna and Patsy Scarborough of Coleman.

Doris Newman, sister of the bridegroom, registered guests.

Griffith, assistant refineries manager; Rube Underwood, superintendent of the Duncan, Okla., refinery; George Janicek, technical service department; Glen Slocum, instrument engineer; J. R. Jackman, refinery engineer.

Otto Wetzel Jr. of Dallas visited the refinery offices Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jos A. Moss recently attended the Texas University homecoming celebration in Austin.

John S. Kelly was in Midland Thursday on company business.

Eli McComb and his father, Sam McComb, have returned from deer hunting near Llano.

Visitors in the organic chemicals division of the company Friday were Art Dobbins, Ken Seltzer, John Bradley and Larry Michel of the Godfrey L. Cabot Co., Pampa.

Mary Archer and Dorothy Westcott were in Abilene recently to attend the homecoming at McMurtry College.

E. B. McCormick will return to work Monday after a vacation spent in Indiana and New York.

A group of employees from the Sunray Oil Corp., Tulsa, visited the refinery during the week to inspect the platformer. They were R. W.

Mrs. D. S. Milligan and Mrs. D. T. Watson Jr. were also in the houseparty.

The bride is a graduate of North Texas State College and is employed as Howard County Home Demonstration Agent. The bridegroom attended Sul Ross at Alpine before serving in the U. S. Navy. He is now a student at Howard County Junior College and is employed at the VA Hospital in Big Spring.

The couple will be at home at 302 W. 6th, Apt. 4.

Central Ward P-TA Has Two Meetings

"Personality in the Making" was the topic for study at a meeting of the Central Ward P-TA Thursday. A tape recording made by Dr. Alice Keliher on "Growth and Development" and "Reading to Fill the Need" was heard by the members.

A report was made on the lecture given by Dr. WILMA A. Sutton.

Fathers' Night was held by the group earlier in the week. The program was presented by students.

Mrs. W. D. Duggan's first grade gave a poem, "The Frog and Fish."

Mrs. J. H. Fryer's third grade presented a folk dance, "Johnny."

Mrs. Alton Cook's 4th grade gave the devotion, "The Lord's Prayer."

Grace Mann's fifth grade gave a western theme program, "The Alamo." Mrs. Ruth Burnam's fifth grade presented a folk dance, "The Glowworm."

Miss Mann's room won the room count with a count of 57. Refreshments were served to 140 by Mrs. W. H. Bain, Mrs. G. H. Briden, Mrs. Charles Koberg, Mrs. Charles Fannin and Mrs. J. A. Horton.

Dorothy Driver To Be Honored At Tea

Dorothy Driver will be honored at a reception Nov. 29 by members of the Order of Eastern Star. Miss Driver was recently selected deputy grand matron, District 2, Section 5, Grand Chapter of Texas. The tea will be in the home of Mrs. Paul Carroll, 1803 Wood, from 2-5 p.m. All members are invited.

JUNE COOK Is Candidate

A 85,000-mile international tour may be waiting for June Cook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Cook of Big Spring.

Miss Cook is a candidate for the South Plains Maid of Cotton. She will be judged for the South Plains title Monday in Lubbock.

The winner of the Lubbock contest will go to Memphis, Tenn., for the national contest Jan. 5-6.

The national Maid of Cotton will have a month's stay in New York City before touring 30 United States cities. She will have a two-week tour of Europe and later a tour of Canadian cities.

Miss Cook is a student at Texas Tech.

Charles D. Butts, shows a golf ball to his sons, Robert, left, and Charles D. Jr. Mrs. Butts looks on, probably thinking of the days she will be a "golf widow". The Butts just recently moved here from Odessa. Practicing law with the James Little firm probably won't give Mr. Butts too much time to spend on the golf course.

Bride-Elect

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Montgomery, 805 Aylford, are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Darlene Marie, to A-JC Russell Elliot Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Williams, 1016 Stadium. The double ring ceremony will be Dec. 21 in the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. W. D. Rowland, 107 W. 21st. T. H. Tarbet, minister of the Benton St. Church of Christ, will read the ceremony.

Garden Club Will Hear Mrs. Rachell

Mrs. Hal Rachell, a nationally known garden expert and judge for flower shows, will speak on the preparation and arranging of dried material at the Big Spring Garden Club Tuesday at 2 p.m. in the music room of Howard County Junior College.

Each member will bring a dried arrangement of her own and discussion of the various arrangements will follow Mrs. Rachell's talk.

Wesley Methodist

Dr. W. A. Hunt will conclude his study of Jeremiah at a service at 8:30 p.m. at the Wesley Memorial Methodist Church this evening.

Crib Toys

By CAROL CURTIS
Soft, cuddly, washable crib toys are crocheted of bright wool yarn. Features are embroidered. The sleepy giraffe (he has his eyes closed) measure 13 inches in height and is made of yellow yarn; spots, tail and feet are of black yarn. The "lazy pup" — he is always in a sitting-down position—is crocheted of green yarn and trimmed with red. This pup wears glasses made of two one-inch white plastic rings. Very dignified and scholarly looking, this pup!

Former English Girl Now A 'Real Texan'

A fashion model-lovely English wife, two bright blonde sons and a typically tall Texan attorney-husband make up the Charles D. Butts family of 1500 11th Place. They are newcomers of a little more than two weeks. They moved here from Odessa.

Red-haired Mrs. Butts was wood and won when Mr. Butts was a 1st Sgt. in a B-17 outfit in England in World War II. She was from Stratford-on-Avon (Shakespeare's birthplace) and they met because her brother was a friend of Charles Butts' and had a great admiration for Texas. Sgt. Butts hailed from Wichita Falls.

After the war when Sgt. and Mrs. Butts became Mr. and Mrs. Butts, he enrolled at Texas Tech for pre-law and then went on to finish law school at the University of Texas. "Her biggest job," he says, "was holding me down in law school."

Mr. Butts is connected with the James Little law firm in Big Spring.

Mrs. Butts considers herself a real Texan now and "she wouldn't live any other place." However, she doesn't like to think she can't return to England occasionally.

She took the children to her native land for a visit about two years ago and was offered a job as a model while there. That is understandable when you see Mrs. Butts' willowy figure and interesting coloring.

The Butts' sons are Robert, 4, and Charles D. Jr., 8. The latter attends Washington Place School.

Part-time golfer that he is, Mr. Butts hopes to spend a little time on the local courses. Provided, of course, that Mrs. Butts doesn't mind becoming a golf widow and if his work will permit.

Although the Butts are used to Texas friendliness and hospitality they are both impressed with the friendly atmosphere they have found in Big Spring, they say.

Dale Fryars Name Son Michael Keith

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Fryar have announced the birth of a son, Michael Keith, Nov. 17 at Big Spring Hospital at 11:34 a.m. The baby weighed 6 pounds 11 ounces.

Thanksgiving Dinner Given By First Baptist TEL

A Thanksgiving dinner was held by the TEL Class of the First Baptist Church in the home of Mrs. Beatrice Mittel.

The dinner was served on a table covered with a white linen cloth and centered with white candles surrounded by pink and white mums.

Mrs. Theo Andrews offered thanks before dinner. A short business session followed the dinner. Mrs. C. E. Reed presided.

Mrs. R. D. Ulrey gave the devotion from Psalms 103. She closed with a poem, "Prayer of Thanksgiving," written by a former member, Mrs. Anna Ritter.

The class voted to fill a Thanksgiving basket for a community mission project.

Mrs. M. E. Harlan gave the closing prayer. Twelve members were present. Guests were Mrs. O. M. Donley of Pine Bluff, Ark., and Mrs. Andrews.

The next meeting will be a Christmas Party Dec. 17 at the church.

MRS. JOHNNY NOBLES

DRESS PARADE

The deep, rich red tone in an afternoon dress of Mrs. Johnny Nobles wears complements her brunette coloring. She made the dress herself of a fine silky cotton with an interesting textured weave.

Accents are a black velvet belt and black buttons, set with rhinestones, placed down the front of the yoke. Mrs. Nobles likes to wear rhinestone earrings and carry a black velvet bag with the dress.

In the receiving line at a reception at Ellis Hall, Webb Air Force Base, last night were Mrs. Newton Hagins, Mrs. William B. Jones and Mrs. Henry S. Tyler Jr. They and their husbands were honorees.

Mrs. Hagins wore an original gown of soft, brown taffeta, styled with a tiered, ballerina-length skirt and a yoke of cream lace. The skirt was draped across the front, forming an uneven hemline. Her jewelry was a pearl necklace and pearl earrings.

Silver accessories were shimmering accents to the gown Mrs. Jones wore. The skirt was white net and the bodice silver lame. The silver lame jacket had three-quarter length sleeves and, with the line of the bodice, formed a sweetheart neckline.

Fred Pitts To Wed In New Mexico

Announcement has been made of the approaching marriage of Mrs. Suzanne Oliver of Ruidoso, N. M., and Fred Pitts of Big Spring. Rites are to be solemnized during the Christmas holidays and relatives will be guests at the ceremonies in the Ruidoso Community Methodist Church.

Mrs. Oliver is a former employe of the Herald-Post in El Paso and more recently has been recording secretary of the New Mexico Tourist Industries Council. She has served as an official of highway associations and has operated Oliver Cabins in Ruidoso for a score of years.

Pitts, a brother of Mrs. Lina Fievelien, is a certified public accountant and has been in accounting here for the past score of years. After their marriage, they plan to divide time between Big Spring and Odessa.

Beauty From Paris

Lovely French Nicole Maurey, Bing Crosby's leading lady in Paramount's "Little Boy Lost," compares American and French girls in an exclusive interview with Lydia Lane.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

French Girl Gives Her Views On U. S. Modes

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD — After I had lunch with Nicole Maurey in her suite at the Ambassador Hotel, I understood why Bing had called his new leading lady a combination of Rita Hayworth, Marlene Dietrich and the farmer's daughter.

Nicole's long flowing hair is similar to Princess Rita's and she has the same broad shoulders and full bosom. In her manner she has the directness of Dietrich and of course a cute accent. What she has in common with the farmer's daughter is a basic attraction—sex appeal.

Because Miss Maurey was a brunette in "Little Boy Lost," I was surprised to find her blond now.

"I made it there way for a picture but in life I prefer it natural," she told me.

When I complimented her English she was very pleased.

"I have studied very hard. For six weeks before I start the picture I go to Berlitz in Paris two hours every day."

Nicole talked about what a pleasure it was to work with Bing who was so understanding and how thrilled she was to be chosen to be his leading lady in "Little Boy Lost."

"When the Paramount representative told me to go to see Mr. Pearlberg, Mr. Seaton, and Mr. Crosby," she said, "I thought they were considering me for the part of the flirt so I wore a sexy dress and made my mouth a little larger. I was the last to arrive and when they saw me they said right away, 'This is Lisa.' Nicole smiled, 'C'est la vie.' Who knows what their reaction would have been if she had tried to dress for the ingenue?

The waiter arrived with lunch. Nicole had calf's liver, a salad and chocolate ice cream, but I was surprised to see there was no wine.

"I don't drink wine here," she told me, "because the water is so good."

"That's a very tactful way of saying the wine is bad," I commented.

night with dinner and it is very good. In Paris the water has a bad taste—but I enjoy drinking it here; it tastes so good."

I watched Nicole butter a French roll and asked, "Do you ever get overweight?"

"Yes. And when I do I give up Dior's shorter hemlines."

"I think short skirts look ridiculous. I take from the collections what is good for my figure. Only a few women in Paris," she said in conclusion, "wear extreme designs. Only a few can afford to buy couturier clothes."

CAMPUS CHATTER

By Cecil Niblett

Vesta Harrison, Betty Hulsey, Cecil Niblett, Helen Russell and Joe Welch met Monday with Mrs. C. K. Sullivan to plan the Lass-O-club's socials for December. The annual slumber party and an exes party was planned for during the Christmas holidays.

The Sadies Hawkins' party was Tuesday night in the Student Union Building. Some Daisey Maes and L'il Abners there were: Doris Barter, Paschal Wickard, Joe Welch, Norman Dudley, Mary Ann Moore, Melvin Byers, Sue Hill, Elvon DeVaney, Kenda McGibbon, Glenn Bunn, Janelle Neal, Monte Paxton, Arlen White, Benny Welch, Charlie Howle, Rose Mary Lawson, Frances McClain, Oakley Hamment.

"No, no, no," Nicole insisted with animation. "I have wine the other bread, butter, potatoes and liquids with meals." Nicole complemented the figures of the American girls. "They are so beautiful with their long legs and they move so nice. The French woman has shorter legs and she does not like sports."

I asked Nicole to tell me any other impression she had of the American girls.

"I know the men better," she said frankly. "I like the attention they give a girl. You hear about the gallantry of the French men—it does not exist today. But the American man is gallant. I will hear about this when I get to Paris. They will not like it but it is true."

"I am sure you have ideas about the American girls," I insisted. "Won't you tell me?"

The publicity man from Paramount laughed and said, "Tell Lydia what you told me."

Nicole looked surprised. "I think the people I have met here are very friendly—I like all of them—even the girls in the shops are friendly. But a girl in France is brought up to please a man—they expect a man to make decisions, to tell her what to do. I think the girls here are more independent."

She explained that perhaps our system was responsible for this.

"My first wife was French," the publicity man said, "and Nicole is right. A European girl makes a man feel strong and important but the American girl is inclined to want to run everything."

Miss Maurey asked me the color of lipstick I was wearing. "I love the American cosmetics," she said. "I use something of yours at home. It is a mask for my face made of strawberries and it leaves the skin so nice."

"What is the most useful thing you've learned from us?" I asked. "Much to my surprise Nicole said, 'I take it easier here—your way of life is more relaxing. It is very pleasant to relax.'"

As Miss Maurey finished lunch she dipped her fingers in a finger bowl and sprinkled a little perfume on her hands. As I said goodbye, I noticed for the first time that Miss Maurey's skirt fell gracefully in the middle of her calf and I asked her opinion about Dior's shorter hemlines.

"I think short skirts look ridiculous. I take from the collections what is good for my figure. Only a few women in Paris," she said in conclusion, "wear extreme designs. Only a few can afford to buy couturier clothes."

Popularity

Would you like to be popular? You can be. Anyone can be. Actually it's simple. You just follow the easy A B C rules and it doesn't matter whether you're the vivacious, fire-ball, extrovert sort of person or the retiring, quiet type, you're destined for popularity and that's that.

Just three quality characteristics add up to popularity. Acquire them and you're set! What are these simple, magic A B C's? Appearance, Being interested in others and Cheerfulness. That's all. Because you make your first impression on people the moment they see you, it's important to be easy on the eyes.

Good grooming never hurt anyone. In fact, the neat, clean, attractive person just naturally attracts people and makes them interested in getting acquainted. A sloppy, grimy person just as naturally repels them.

It's not necessary to develop a sparkling line of chatter if you're the quiet type who finds conversation a real chore. However, in this category you're going to have to substitute an overdose of good manners to offset this lack.

Thoughtfulness, and words like please, pardon, and thank you will never get you on the wrong track.

Upon meeting someone concentrate on saying, "How do you do?" and "I'm so glad to meet you" like you really are. Develop a warm firm handshake. It's an indication of a warm personality and high character.

Not everybody can become a lilt-ing conversationalist. If it's just utterly beyond you, so what? Become a good listener. There's an art to it and the world is mighty short on them. Just be sure you're listening attentively and not daydreaming.

Cheerfulness is the last of your prerequisites for popularity, but it's far from the least of them. There's too much gloom in this old world now and people are up to their ears in worries. They gravitate toward a joyous smile and thoughtful, happy words of contentment and optimism.

Appearance. Being interested in others and Cheerfulness. That's it. Popularity is yours for the asking. (Want Beverly Brandow's free booklet covering every angle of popularity? Write her in care of The Herald.)

Modern Woman's Stake In Oil Industry Discussed

Every woman struck oil when it was discovered in 1859, a panel on "Oil and Oil Industry" at the Modern Women's Forum meeting Friday brought out.

The group met in the home of Mrs. Hugh Duncan. Mrs. H. M. Rowe was co-hostess. Mrs. W. F. Taylor, program chairman presented the panel.

Main point of the program was that the accomplishments of the oil industry are responsible for so many modern conveniences every woman has a stake in the industry.

Mrs. D. C. Sadler spoke on "What does Oil Mean to Us in Our Homes?" Mrs. Clyde Thomas Sr. on its meaning in our community and Mrs. Ira Driver on its meaning to the nation.

It was learned that Cosden refinery is the largest inland refinery in the world.

Mrs. Rowe reported on the TFWC convention at Austin. She said that the Eighth District, which includes Big Spring, won the prize for having the most 100 per cent clubs in the state.

Refreshments were served at the meeting from a lace laid table decorated with an arrangement of bronze mums and autumn leaves scattered on the table. Appointments were silver. Mrs. Taylor poured.

Mrs. Orion W. Carter will be hostess for the Dec. 4 meeting when members' husbands will be honored.

A Christmas dinner on Dec. 3 at 1 p. m. in Mrs. Brown's Luncheon in Coahoma was planned by Vincent Home Demonstration Club women at a meeting recently.

Mrs. Dud Arnett was hostess and Mrs. F. C. Appleton gave the council report.

Plans were made for the exhibit at the Field Day at Howard County Junior College, and the bazaar and open house for the new courthouse were discussed.

Thirteen members were present.

Wesleyan Guild Will Have Study Monday

Mrs. W. A. Laswell will lead a study session of the Wesleyan Service Guild of the First Methodist Church at 7:30 p. m. Monday at the church parlor.

Each member is urged to bring a can of food for a needy family.

Hostesses will be Mrs. Laura Anderson, Eulalia Mitchell and Mrs. Doc McQuain.

At Art Program

Woman's Forum Has Guest Speakers At American Art Week Program

The six general shapes of floral arrangements were discussed in a talk on flower arranging by Mrs. R. H. Miller, guest artist, at the American Art Week Observance held by the Women's Forum Friday in the home of Mrs. Omar Jones.

Mrs. Miller demonstrated two of the different types and offered some of the "tricks of the florist's trade." She answered questions concerning preservation of flowers and specific problems in arrangement.

The forum was recently awarded first place for their observance of American Art Week in 1952. This marked the second time the group placed first. They have also won two second place awards.

Following the talk on flower arranging was a discussion on interior decorating by Mrs. Emmett

Miller. Her emphasis was on selecting the style for the home. She stressed the use of pictures in decorating and gave do's and don'ts in using them. She answered questions posed by members of the group.

During a business session Mrs. D. D. Dyer gave a report on the USO; Mrs. Joe Pickle reported on the book review sponsored by the forum this month and announced that Mrs. Gullford Jones would be the reviewer at the Dec. 10 meeting of the Thursday Review Club. Mrs. Willard Hendrick told of the recent convention in Austin.

It was announced that a Christmas party would be held on Dec. 18. Members are asked to bring white elephant gifts. Bridge and canasta will be played and Mrs. Lucian Jones will be hostess.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Omar Jones, Mrs. Arnold Marshall and Mrs. H. W. Kirby.

REPORT TO PARENTS

Purpose Of Juvenile Court Is To Help, Not Punish

"I was there only for three days, and during that time I lost faith in everyone and in everything."

These are the words of a 16-year-old girl who ran away from home, and was forced to wait in jail until the court could consider her problem.

During those three days, she was desolated. The quarters were dingy and dirty, the food inadequate. Her "fellow prisoners" were older women hardened to the ways of lawlessness and too well versed in the seamy side of life.

The harm done to this young girl in that brief period—even if she never breaks the law—may very well never be undone.

Every year some 100,000 boys and girls spend some time in jail, some for a few hours, others for weeks. Some of the children are as young as 10. Yet many of these jails have not been approved by the Federal Bureau of Prisons as suitable even for adult prisoners who break Federal laws.

There are times in every community when it becomes necessary to keep a child in secure custody, until a court can act. He may have run away from home in a distant place. He may even be hiding to himself or to the community.

For whatever reason the child is held, a jail which houses adult criminals is no place for him. The purpose of the juvenile court is to help the child who has broken the law; not to punish him.

The Youth Service Center in Seattle, Washington, in providing detention facilities for children, seeks to follow good juvenile court practice that the treatment of children under the court's care shall approximate as nearly as may be that which should be given by their parents.

In the Seattle detention facility, windows are of glass brick without bars, to avoid prisonlike surroundings. The quarters are appropriately furnished and designed for the care of children. There are facilities for recreation and schooling.

Care is taken to provide suitable food and medical services. The center is staffed by trained probation officers, social workers and teachers.

This center is the outgrowth of support of many groups in the community—civil, religious, political and fraternal. These groups took positive steps to get children out of jail after a boy was beaten to death by other jail inmates in the county jail several years ago.

But communities cannot afford to delay providing suitable detention facilities for children until such dire circumstances occur. Holding a child in jail, or detaining him in other unsuitable quarters, too often adds to the difficulties that must be cleared up if he is to be helped to become a well-adjusted, law-abiding citizen.

Suggested Recipe For Cauliflower Waldine

Ingredients: 1/4 cup shelled walnuts, Few sprigs parsley, Large head cauliflower, 1/4 cup butter or margarine

Method: Chop the walnuts coarsely. Cut parsley fine. Break cauliflower into flowerlets and cook in large amount of boiling salted water until tender, about 15 minutes. Drain. Melt butter or margarine. Stir in walnuts and cook until nuts are lightly browned. Add parsley. Pour over cauliflower. Makes six delicious servings.

Wine At Mealtime

California table wines are meal-time beverages. Table wines are served with meals because they make meals taste better, and these wines taste better with meals. Burgundy and Claret are the primary types of red table wines and are most enjoyed when served cool, or at room temperature. Best-known white table wines are Sauterne and Rhine wine which should be served well-chilled for maximum enjoyment.

Moscow Has Sad Lack Of Mad Milliners

MOSCOW —Hold your hats — Paris, New York and London.

Here comes Moscow, a new competitor in the ladies millinery field. But, boys you won't break your necks craning. For in Moscow no woman minds if she passes another on the street wearing the same hat — for styles are all pretty nearly the same. And these pancakes or berets are not eye-catchers, even if an ordinary price is 100 rubles ($25 by the official rate).

But all this would change soon if G. Uyanov of the newspaper Evening Moscow has his way.

Soviet Premier Georgi M. Malenkov himself in a recent speech said there was no reason why Soviet women should not be provided smart and elegant, as well as serviceable, shoes and hats by their own designers.

Now Uyanov puts the blast on the local hat designers. He's no Lily Dache or John Frederics but he knows there's something wrong with Moscow chapeaux, especially their "melancholy and boring monotony."

Says Uyanov: "Autumn has arrived. And for a long time women shoppers have been going from store to store in a vain search for pretty, good quality hats. And finally the majority of them drop into milliners' establishments, where they can order hats not only to suit the season but also to suit their tastes.

"Are there really no hats in the shops?" Comrade Ivanov, director of the local industry department of the Moscow City Executive committee may ask.

"There are hats, Comrade Ivanov! And quite a lot of them. But to find a good style of hat is almost as difficult as finding a needle in a haystack. . . ."

"A huge quantity of spring and summer hats has already been sent back to the stores because they did not find customers. . . ."

"The directors of headgear factories completely ignore the tastes of their clients. Adopting the saying 'It is not the place that adorns a man, but a man who adorns the place,' they have evidently decided that it is not the hat which adorns the woman but the woman who should adorn the hat."

HI--TALK

By Libby Jones

This past week has certainly been a full one for BSHS students. Six weeks' tests were given Monday and Tuesday, and our beloved friend, Dr. Willis Sutton, was here to speak to the students Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday. The Student Council gave Dr. Sutton a birthday party Thursday afternoon. Cake and ice cream were served. On the cake was inscribed, "To Our 17 Year Old Friend". When the Student Council members planned the party, they had no idea that Thursday really was his birthday—not his 17th, but his 74th. Jimmy Porter, student body president, presented Dr. Sutton with a tie clip and cuff links as a present from the Student Council. Our distinguished guest, who was responsible for the founding of the Student Council, gave the members a talk on that organization. The Junior High Council was also present at the party. The play cast for "What a Life" is hard at work getting the play shaped up.

The A Capella Choir under the direction of Harry Plumley will make its initial appearance before the student body for the Thanksgiving assembly Wednesday. Wednesday at noon the Master Singers will perform for the Lions Club. Friday morning the students were entertained with a musical assembly presented by Mr. and Mrs. DeCosta. Mrs. DeCosta played the piano accordion while Mr. DeCosta played a number of instruments including the clarinet, trumpet, oboe, saxophone, bass clarinet, flute, piccolo, trumpet, tenor saxophone and trombone. The Future Teachers of America held a convention at Seagraves Saturday. The delegates from the Big Spring chapter were elected at the meeting Tuesday night. Attending the convention were Nancy Conway, Laura Holland, Bernadine Reed and Wiley Brown. A pep rally was held in the gym Friday afternoon. Omar Jones president of the Quarterback Club, and Mrs. Frank Martin, a Quarterback Club member, gave talks. Pep talks were also given by Coach Coleman, Mr. G. T. Guthrie, Miss Colleen Slaughter, Ronnie Wooten and Joe Liberty. The Football Sweetheart was crowned Friday night at the Yuletide game. The sweetheart and her court of honor rode on the field in a convertible and they were escorted out on the field by co-captains, J. C. Armistead, Louis Stipp and Frank Long. The band formed a football and played "All American Girl." The sweetheart, Judy Douglas, was crowned by Frank Long; Louis Stipp presented her with a bouquet and she received the traditional kiss by her escort J. C. Armistead. Her court of honor included Ann White and Shirley Spero.

Three Officers And Wives Feted At Webb

As a farewell gesture to Col. and Mrs. Henry S. Tyler Jr. and a welcome to Col. and Mrs. Newton Hagins and Col. and Mrs. William A. Jones, a formal reception and dance were given at Webb Air Force Base Saturday evening. Wing Headquarters sponsored the event which was held at Ellis Hall.

A floor show, under the direction of Capt. John A. Thomas Jr., was presented during the dance. Wing Headquarters personnel and their wives were participants.

Scout Dinner Reservation Deadline Set

Reservations for a dinner honoring Lady Baden-Powell and a lecture by her should be made by Wednesday, Rex Browning, Girl Scout area field director has announced.

Lady Baden-Powell, chief guide of the World Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts, will speak at the Midland Senior High School Auditorium Dec. 12 at 8 p.m. Admission will be 50 cents.

The dinner will be at the Senior High School cafeteria at 6:45 p.m. Price will be $1.50.

Reservations may be made by contacting Miss Browning at the Girl Scout Little House, 1407 Lancaster, 4-9024, or by writing to Midland Girl Scouts, Box 2517, Station A, Midland.

The speaker is the widow of the late Lord Baden-Powell, founder of the world's Scout movement for boys and girls. She will speak on "Today's Boys and Girls — Tomorrow's Leaders."

The public is invited. Adults as well as girls may attend.

Mrs. R. W. Dolan Feted With Shower

FORSAN — Hostesses for a wedding shower for Mrs. R. W. Dolan recently were Mrs. Jim Woodard, Mrs. Doyle Dolan, Mrs. LeRoy Dolan, Mrs. Pat Lamb and Mrs. Ray Gish.

The shower was held at the church at Lees.

Dan Furse has been appointed to fill the unexpired term of school trustee in the Forsan School. He takes G. L. Monroney's place. Mr. and Mrs. Monroney will move soon to a home near the Codden refinery.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Lamb and Susie were Mr. and Mrs. Don Lamb of Wilson, Okla., and Harry Lamb of Sherman.

American designer's pattern

IN RICH FABRIC

Pert Jacket Transforms Charming Dance Frock

For the party dress of the season we turn to Ceil Chapman, famous designer for movie stars socialites and the woman with an eye for fashion smartness. Her popularity is well founded... her designs easily recognized for their special chic and intricate handling of material and lines.

Today's pattern clearly scores a point with the drape-like effect of the front bodice. The skirt is simply a mass of magnificence. A trim and pertly cut jacket is an added bonus, transforming a charming dance frock into a costume suitable for late afternoon wear, dinner in town or the theater.

Bridesmaids at informal weddings would do well to make note of this costume. Mrs. Chapman likes the ensemble best in rich fabric, or very starched taffeta.

When selecting your pattern size, please use the guide below which represents the designer's own measurements:

Size 10, bust 34, waist 24, hips 33 inches; size 12, bust 35, waist 25, hips 36 inches; size 14, bust 36 1/2, waist 26 1/2, hips 37 1/2 inches; size 16, bust 38, waist 28, hips 39 inches; size 18, bust 39 1/2, waist 29 1/2, hips 40 inches.

Size 12 requires 5 1/2 yds. of 50-inch material for the dress and one yard of 39-inch material for the lining and interfacing.

To order Pattern No. 1160, address Spadua Syndicate, Inc., P. O. Box 535, Dept. 164, G. P. O. New York 1, N. Y. State size. Send $1.00.

Altmall 25 cents extra. Pattern Booklet No. 9, including over 100 designs, available at 15 cents.

Henry And Barbara

Jerry Brooks, left, and Peggy Hogan will become Henry Aldrich and Henry's girlfriend, Barbara, when the Senior High School Junior class presents "What a Life," Dec. 3 and 4.

Tickets On Sale For High School Comedy

Tickets are now on sale for Clifford Goldsmith's "What a Life," the all-school play sponsored by the Senior High School Junior class.

The "Henry Aldrich" play will be presented Dec. 3 and 4 at 7:30 p.m. at the high school auditorium. Tickets at 50 cents each are being sold by junior class members. Plans are to present the "Henry Aldrich" play Dec. 4 at 7:30 p.m. at the high school auditorium. However, if the bi-district football game is scheduled for Dec. 4, the play will be given Dec. 1 and 3 instead.

Henry, the main character, who just can't memorize history dates, in desperation "borrows" answers for his examination, only to be found out. His girl friend, Barbara, expects him to take her to her first formal dance, so to raise money for the tickets he tries to sell anything he owns.

Meanwhile, the band instruments are stolen and Henry looks like the guilty party. To top his troubles off, Henry's mother is determined that he will go to Princeton in spite of the fact that Henry's talent is drawing.

Jerry Brooks and Peggy Hogan head the large cast of about 20 students. Dell McComb, speech teacher, is directing the play with the assistance of Janice Anderson, student director.

Plays Leading Role

As "Marguerite" in Gounod's opera "Faust," Susan Houser, a soprano, will have the leading feminine role in this tragic story. The opera is being presented here by the Opera Workshop of North Texas State College on Nov. 30.

Susan Houser To Sing Here In Opera Nov. 30

Susan Houser, daughter of Mrs. Ann Gibson Houser, will sing the lead role of "Marguerite" in the opera "Faust" which will be presented here by the North Texas State College Opera Workshop on Nov. 30 at the City Auditorium at 8 p.m.

Under the direction of Mary McCormick, former opera star and a member of the NTSC School of Music staff, the opera will be presented under the auspices of the Big Spring Concert Association. It will be the second of a series of four concerts.

Seventy-three young musicians and dancers will be featured in the opera which will be conducted by Dr. Walter H. Hodgson, dean of the NTSC School of Music. The principal cast and chorus will be composed of approximately 33 voices and the symphony orchestra will be made up of some 40 musicians.

Special costumes have been designed for the characters in Gounod's tragic opera and special scenery constructed.

Miss Houser is a junior voice major at the college. She has sung the lead role of Mimi in "La Boheme" and has done solo work with NTSC A Capella Choir. It has been announced by the Concert Association that season memberships may be purchased at the concert. Individual tickets cannot be sold since the Association is a membership organization. The purchase of a membership will entitle the holder to attend "Faust" and the next two concerts: the Dallas Symphony on Feb. 18 and the Boys Choir on March 1, 1954.
