MORE FUNDS FROM RFC FOR RELIEF WORK

County Gets Additional $800 For March Expenditure

PAYMENT HELD UP

To Transfer Funds As Soon As Money Situation Clears

An additional allotment of $800 for unemployment work relief in Crockett County during the month of March has been set aside by Reconstruction Finance Corporation, according to advices received yesterday by Hugh Childress, Jr., president of the Ozona Lions Club and chairman of the local work relief committee. The notice came from Lawrence Westbrook, who is acting on behalf of the governor in dispensing the relief funds in West Texas.

Receipt of the money allotted to this county for March expenditure is being held up pending the reopening of banks. Mr. Westbrook advised, the funds to be forthcoming as soon as facilities for transfer of the money are again available.

The allotment for April, which was made at the same time, is being withheld pending certain administrative adjustments. Mr. Westbrook advised. The local committee is expecting advices on the amount to be allowed for next month in the next few days.

Street work, which is being done here with the R.F.C. funds, was suspended the first of this week when funds for the January and February allotment were exhausted. The program as outlined by the local committee in charge of the work will be resumed as soon as the additional funds are available.

Following presentation of the trophy, members of the team presented their coach, Miss Norine Allison, with a compact in appreciation of her efforts in directing the team.

Mrs. Jones Miller was ill the first of the week.

Lions To Show Series Of Films

Three Pictures To Be Sponsored By Organization Here

A series of three motion picture programs to be given the first of each week for three weeks will be sponsored by the Ozona Lions Club in the near future, it was decided at the Monday session of the group. This move was decided upon as a means of raising funds for completion of the various projects undertaken by the club.

The shows, to be given at the Ozona Theater, will be sponsored by three teams appointed by the president, Royce Smith, John L. Bishop and J. H. Miller being appointed captains of the three teams, these captains to select their own workers. The three teams will select the picture to be shown, advertise it and at the conclusion of the session, the club will decide from the amount obtained which team has made the greatest success of its selection.

Gas Franchise Granted Here

Gorman & Baird Men Ask Right To Install System

A franchise to install and operate a natural gas plant to supply natural gas for power, light and purposes to the people of Ozona and others of Crockett County was granted by the Crockett County Commissioners Court in a special session Monday to M. G. Williams of Gorman, Texas, and H. H. Shaw and H. Loomis of Baird, Texas.

The franchise grant was made by the commissioners upon request of the three men, who spent three days here investigating possibilities of installing a gas system and gathering data on the proposed project.

The grant was not an exclusive franchise, the county being restrained by state law from granting such a franchise. The court's order gives the operators the privilege of right-of-way over roads, streets and alleys for the purpose of laying pipe lines and all other rights and privileges allowed by law. The franchise was granted for the "longest term provided by law and for the fullest powers and privileges permitted by laws of the state."

Messrs. Shaw, Williams and Loomis indicated to county officials that they intended pushing the project to conclusion if they found it at all possible. Gas for the distribution system would be secured from the Stanolind and others gasser on the Todd ranch 12 miles northwest of Ozona.

Woman's Club To Present Comedy

'Second Childhood' Offered March 16 At Auditorium

The Ozona Woman's Club announce the presentation of the three-act farce, "Second Childhood," written by Zillah Covington and Jules Simonson, on next Thursday evening, March 16, at the High School auditorium. This funny comedy during its highly successful New York run, won for itself the popular title of "Some Baby." Prof. Relyea and his pupil, Philip Stanton are attempting to find the Elixir of Youth. Experiments on an old dog convince them they have succeeded and they look around for a human being. They select General Burbeck, who is in love with Sylvia, the Professor's daughter, but has been refused because he is too old. The General's transformation from an old man to a little baby, the mama dog's change to a puppy, and Sylvia's drinking the Elixir of Youth, and the farcical complications that arise as one hilarious climax follows another leaves the audience weak with laughter.

The Woman's Club feels fortunate in securing the rare dramatic talent of Norris Greath and Jimmie Walker. Both young men have had unusual training in theatrical work and their interpretation of Professor Relyea and Philip Stanton are high lights in the production. Herbert Kittle makes a grand old general in spite of his sixty-nine years and three months.

Elizabeth Perner as Sylvia has a care-free, happy role and her interpretation of the Professor's daughter will delight the audience. Tessie Kyle plays the role of Marcella, a Spanish lady of supposed-to-be Aristocratic birth. Marcella's melodramatic tirades on the General furnish comic situations to the play that is already brimming over with fun. Jessie Conklin as Mrs. Vivert, who has a car but not five cents for a telephone call, portrays the character of a neighbor pest splendidly. Bill Conklin, as Judge Sanderson, an authority on the laws about children, visits the Profes-

Noah Roark, Dallas attorney, shot his landlord, Justin Stein, to death in his office, following a dispute over the rent. William McCraw, district attorney for Dallas county, 1929 to 1932, will defend Roark, while McCraw's successor, Robert Hurt, will represent the state. Asking that Roark be denied bond because his client is insane and dangerous, was McCraw's first move.

Fire Destroys Residence Here

House Occupied By R.C. Lindsay, Owned By A. W. Jones Burns

Fire, presumably started by a child playing with matches, destroyed a rent house in the southwest part of town owned by A. W. Jones of the Jones Saddlery Company and occupied by R. C. Lindsay and family Wednesday night. Mr. Lindsay is employed on the Stanolind well on the Todd ranch. The fire started about 8 o'clock Wednesday night in a closet of the home. The child had been in the closet and ran out screaming. Mrs. Lindsay ran to the closet and found it ablaze. Mrs. Lindsay had a narrow escape from burning when she fainted after discovering the fire and had to be carried from the burning home.

Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay lost practically all of their clothing and house furnishings. Two mattresses and some bedclothing was all that was saved from the flames. Mr. Jones estimated his loss at around $1200. The house was rented partly furnished.

The loss was partly covered by insurance. The policy covering the dwelling had been in force a little over a week. The insurance had been allowed to lapse and a little over a week ago Mr. Jones had the policy renewed by N. W. Graham, local insurance agent, and was congratulating himself this morning on the lucky hunch.

Locals Make Good Showing In Trans-Pecos Meet, McCamey

Saturday morning Ernest Van Zandt and Pauline Williams, accompanied by Miss Harrison and Mrs. V. Van Zandt, went to McCamey to compete in the annual Trans-Pecos District Typewriting Tournament, and won second place as a team; also, winning third place individual score, with Pauline Williams as contestant.

Miss Williams made the first 340 words or 1700 strokes of the test without an error, whereas the average professional stenographer averages only 200 words, or 1000 strokes without an error. Her net speed was 44.29 words a minute, with an accuracy score of 99.93 per cent, which was the highest per cent of accuracy in the contest, while her individual score was 134.22. This score was obtained by taking the percentage of accuracy plus the speed (net words per minute), the penalty

Squyres Child To Dallas Hospital

Lions Club Dispatches Youngster For Operation

Wanda Squyres, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Squyres, is scheduled to undergo an operation in the Baptist Hospital at Dallas this week to correct a harelip condition, the operation having been arranged and financed by the Ozona Lions Club.

The child was taken to Dallas the first of the week by Rev. and Mrs. M. M. Fulmer, who went in their car to attend the meeting of the State Baptist Board in session there. Mrs. Squyres accompanied them and will remain with the child until she has recovered sufficiently to return to her home.

The project to correct the child's deformity was undertaken several months ago by the local club and she was sent to the Dallas hospital for examination. Surgeons there, who had volunteered their services in performing the operation without charge, sent her back for a tonsil operation and for improvement in her physical condition before operating. Dr. F. T. McIntire removed the child's tonsils without charge and the club arranged transportation to Dallas and will pay all hospital charges while she is there.

BUSINESS AS USUAL DESPITE BANK HOLIDAY

Change Depots Established By Bank Officials Help

TO OPEN FRIDAY

Checks And Charge Accounts Take Place Of Cash Here

Business as usual has been the order of the day among Ozona merchants since the seven-day banking holiday got under way last week. Although there has been a dearth of cash in local business circles, the banking holiday has not operated to slow down business operations to any great extent.

A little cash coming in occasionally, but mostly the exchange of checks and charge accounts, has been the medium by which business operations were carried on through the period during which the bank has been closed. With the prospect of the re-opening of the local financial institution Friday morning when President Roosevelt's enforced holiday period will end, Ozona people and business circles were in a more cheerful frame of mind today.

The mandatory banking holiday was accepted here by business men and others in a spirit of co-operation, and good-natured railery took the place of complaint.

Change depots were established Friday morning when announcement of the governor's proclamation closing the banks was made. A meeting of business men of the town was called at 9 o'clock Friday morning at the Hotel Ozona and Scott Peters, cashier of the bank, explained the situation and a round-table discussion resulted in the development of plans for carrying on business as usual. Directors of the bank set aside a fund of $1,000 to be used in making change and this amount was divided and placed in two business firms of the town for convenience. No checks were cashed during the period except through an exchange of checks.

Persons employed in road work and on the oil well found it difficult to get their payroll checks cashed but local merchants cooperated with them in their transactions and nobody was seriously inconvenienced as a result.

With a special session of Congress to convene today, quick legislation is expected to re-open banks over the country. A system of currency expansion has been adopted to replace the scrip money plan as originally suggested, according to press dispatches, and conferences yesterday in Washington indicated that quick action will be had on prepared bills in today's session of Congress, which will permit banks to re-open under treasury restrictions tomorrow.

"A VISION OF TAXATION"

The following verse was sent to the Chicago Daily News by G. A. Haywood:

Each day you may see me out working on the farm.

I have a little forty, a chicken coop and barn.

I love to work upon the farm and keep it neat and clean.

But when I'm in my bed at night, I have such awful dreams.

I see taxes on the ceiling, I see taxes on the wall,

I see taxes in the kitchen, I see taxes in the hall,

I see taxes in the dining room, I see taxes on my plate,

I believe I can taste taxes in everything I eat.

I believe in paying taxes, I believe in being sane,

I believe these unjust taxes are taxation of the brain.

I see taxes on my children, I see taxes on my wife,

I see taxes on my income, I see taxes on my life.

The next bum rap that we predict with no other can compare: It's a meter on our windpipe, then tax us for the air.

NOW IS TIME TO BUILD OR REPAIR

Plenty has been said about the folly of building which took place during the boom years providing more dwellings than there was any need for. But now that several years have passed, this over production has been well averaged down.

A few years ago we were building several hundred thousand homes a year—undoubtedly too many. But last year we built only about 50,000.

Thousands of these newer homes, as well as millions of older ones, have been allowed to deteriorate to the point of needing extensive repair or replacement.

There never was a better time to do either, than now. Lumber, cement and other basic materials are selling at rock-bottom prices. So are electrical and plumbing and roofing supplies. There is an abundance of labor, skilled and unskilled. The citizen who builds a home today, or repairs the old one, not only obtains a bargain but strikes a blow at depression.

Money spent for construction and maintenance of property covers a wide area and alights in many pockets. It has a powerful stimulating effect on the national purchasing power.

If you're able to build a home and need one, do it now. If you aren't, you can probably spend a few dollars or a few hundred dollars on repairs and replacements. You'll save money, and you'll be doing your bit in the greatest war of modern times—the war against unemployment and distress.

Investment and employment are cheaper than charity.

Another St. Patrick Needed

SCANDALS

By THE TOWN GOSSIP

Avalook, girls—avalook—here's old T. G. in all his glory—caught in the act, you might say. Honestly though, the pose is premeditated—so many of my admirers have been crying for my photo that I have finally given way to the popular demand and for the next thirty days these beautiful works of art may be had for $10 each or if you prefer there are a whole dozen waiting for the fortunate people who can raise the price of a year's subscription to the Stockman—purple scrip preferred.

T. G. At Work

Must take time out right here and make a little explanation to the lady with literary inclinations who asked me what my favorite book is. At that time, I told her that it was my bank book—since the occasion of our conversation, I have changed my mind and must say that I find that the bank book is somewhat more than somewhat lacking in interest now.

Babe Phillips was not feeling as well as usual and he called in Dr. McIntire who looked him over and gave him some pills to be taken at bed time. Whiskey was also prescribed for the stomach, a small glass to be taken after each meal. About a week later Babe called on the doctor and said he was not improving a bit.

"Have you taken the medicine exactly as I instructed?" asked the doctor.

"Well, you see," explained Babe "I may be a bit behind on my pills, but I'm six weeks ahead on my whiskey."

Roy Parker has asked us the meaning of the word DISCRETION. Here is the best we have been able to find—Discretion is something that comes to a man after he is too old for it to do him any good.

When the banked closed the other day, T. G. was just exactly $108.60 in the red. I have written them enclosing a check for the amount and asking that they hold it for a few days.

What would you give for the Elixir of Youth? See "Second Childhood." High School auditorium. Thursday evening, March 16, 8:15 p. m.

HOLD ON TO YOUR SELF-RESPECT

"Am I slipping?" "Is my ability giving out?" "Has my resourcefulness dried up?" "Has my right hand lost its cunning?" "Is my will-power on the wane?" Such questions plague many men today. They won't down. In view of what has befallen, this is natural. But it is not logical. If you were the only person whose income had diminished, if yours were the only business that has become unprofitable, you would be justified in concluding that something had gone wrong with you, with your brains, with your judgment, with your capacity. The truth is, however, that not one man in a thousand, that not one business in a thousand, has escaped the devastating effects of events since 1929.

Ponder these facts: The total income of the people of this country is estimated to have fallen from approximately $90,000,000,000 to less than $50,000,000,000. One-fourth of all who were gainfully employed are now completely idle, and a still larger number are working only part-time; almost every high salary has been drastically reduced; the income of every investor has been severely curtailed; most wages have been cut. That is what has happened to individuals. The majority of companies are today paying not a single dollar on their common stocks. Examine the quarterly or other earnings' statements published day-by-day and you discover that it is unusual rather than usual for any net profit whatsoever to be shown. In a great many cases the losses run into very large figures. Since the panic there have been about 80,000 commercial failures. In addition some 4,750 banks have closed. Our foreign trade has shrunk from over $2,600,000,000 in 1929 to approximately $2,000,000,000 for this year.

Under all these circumstances why should we feel that we should have gone along as if nothing out of the ordinary has happened? How could we in reason have hoped to receive a special dispensation? If we still have a job—any kind of a job—we should realize that we are among the fortunate ones. If we have been able to keep our business going, even at a loss, we have reason for self-congratulation. Even those who have lost out completely, financially, workwise, businesswise, must not conclude that they have outlived their usefulness. Whatever befalls we must hold on to our self-respect. We must not indulge overmuch in neither self-blame nor self-pity. We must not surrender abjectly to fear, but lay fast hold on faith. Our heads may be battered and bloody, but they must not become bowed. We must fight, not faint. Remember that no man is defeated until he himself admits defeat.

Don't admit defeat!—The Forbes Magazine.

TIPS ON TAXES

AUSTIN—Many measures are pending in the Legislature designed to reduce the cost of government. They range all the way from simple resolutions to constitutional amendments. Legislators are giving attention to the problem of local taxation, as it is affected by State law, and bills are pending whereby local governing bodies will not be hampered in economy efforts by State law and constitutional provisions. The major share of the tax burden is for local purposes, cities, counties and school districts.

Senator Puri of Dallas has introduced a resolution providing for a constitutional amendment abolishing the fee system, except as to public weighers, notaries public and county surveyors. It is believed that vesting in Commissioners Courts the right to fix salaries for officials who are now compensated by fees would result in great savings to the taxpayers. Other legislation, similar in purpose, is being considered.

There seems to be a well-defined purpose to reduce the cost of the State government an average of 25 per cent. The House has already passed the judiciary supply bill, providing for that amount of reduction in salaries of district judges, appellate court judges and district attorneys. The Senate has not acted. Vigorous protests against the reductions have been made before the Senate committee, considering the bill.

Presidents and regents of teachers colleges are reported to be agreeable to a 25 per cent reduction in their budgets.

The House has before it a bill reducing automobile license fees one-third. Passage of this or some similar measure is regarded as certain.

A constitutional amendment, introduced by Senator Walter Woodward, would limit the total cost of the State government to $10 per capita per year. This proposal is unique in that it would compel economy by placing an arbitrary limit on expenditures. Approval of the amendment would place expenditures on the same per capita basis as 1927. In 1925 the per capita cost of State government was $8.50. The peak was reached in 1930 when the figures were $14. Last year the per capita was $12.50.

It is claimed for this amendment that it would provide an automatic check on taxation, which is now virtually without limit. Another claim is that it would compel the discontinuance of bureaus, commissions and departments once their usefulness had passed. Instances of government bureaus and services being discontinued are rare. It is argued that this amendment would require the abolition of less needed services when necessity for new ones arises.

other claim is that it would compel the discontinuance of bureaus, commissions and departments once their usefulness had passed. Instances of government bureaus and services being discontinued are rare. It is argued that this amendment would require the abolition of less needed services when necessity for new ones arises.

The general trend is for tax reduction measures, but several bills have been introduced seeking to tap new sources of revenue. The most far-reaching is the proposal to levy a three per cent tax on gross receipts from sales and professional services. Estimates of the amount that would be derived from this levy vary from fifty millions to 100 millions. It is certain that many businesses would be compelled to stand an increase in their State taxes from eight to ten-fold, and many lines who now pay no State ad valorem taxes would be heavily taxed.

Another new source of revenue is suggested in the bill providing for an income tax. The tax on individuals would begin on the first $1,000 of net income with a rate of one per cent and graduate up to seven per cent on net incomes above $11,000. The corporation rate would begin at two per cent on the first $1,000 and graduate upward to six per cent on incomes above $6,000. Deductions, similar to those of the Federal income tax would apply.

The belief, however, is that the two bills will be combined, and modified to carry some of the features of both. Few will predict, however, what the final fate of these new tax measures will be. There is determined opposition to both, based chiefly on the theory that there should be no new taxes levied but that the State budget should be balanced by economies in expenditures.

A constitutional amendment has been introduced for increase in salaries of a few State officials. The Governor's pay would be increased from $4,000 to $12,000; Attorney General from $4,000 to $10,000; Treasurer and Land Commissioner from $2,500 to $6,000. Many other State officials now receive much higher pay than these.

Crockett County Pioneer Couple Celebrate 57 Years of Married Life

BARNHART—Mr. and Mrs. Clint Owens, pioneers of Crockett County, passed their fifty-seventh wedding anniversary in their home here February 10.

Mr. Owens is a retired ranchman who was a participant in the sheep and cattle industry of West Texas for more than half a century. In 1927 he divided among his sons 13 of his 26 sections of range country, and retained for himself a 13-section ranch 30 miles west of Ozona in Crockett county. Since his retirement, two sons, Bode and Robert, have managed this ranch.

Mr. and Mrs. Owens were married in Hamilton County, Texas, in 1877. Mrs. Owens was Miss Belle Carter, a native of Hamilton County, and a daughter of Jim H. and Mary Carter who had come from Tennessee. Clint Owens was born in northern Illinois in 1853, a son of Wilson and Millie Owens, both natives of Illinois.

Mr. and Mrs. Owens are parents of ten children: Wilson Owens, who married Miss Timie Miller, and who is ranching in Crockett County; Mary, wife of Bud McCaulley, oil dealer in Oklahoma; Mitchell Owens, who married Miss Della Moore, and who is engaged in ranching near Barnhart; Ollie, wife of T. E. Autrey, ranchman of Crockett County; Maud, wife of H. A. Porter, who is a teacher in Austin, Texas; Lennie May, wife of Ernest Sprague, superintendent of the Shelly Oil Company; Tom Owens, who married Miss Ella Bolt, and who is ranching in Reagan County; Bode Owens, who married Miss Edith Coffman, and who is engaged in ranching in Crockett County; Clint Owens, Jr., who married Miss Stella Pittman, and is ranching in Pecos County; Robert Owens, who married Miss Evelyn Dudley, and who, with Bode, is managing his father's ranch.

During the 43 years that Mr. and Mrs. Owens lived on the Crockett County ranch, trips to town were infrequent, wagon loads of supplies being purchased when the trip was made. At one time, for a period of two years, Mrs. Owens did not see another white woman. Yet Mrs. Owens counts these years with her family in a country she loves, the happiest of her life.

Breeds Fine Herds

Mr. Owens built up his large ranching interests almost entirely through his own efforts and his pioneer determination to succeed. He entered the sheep and cattle raising business as a young man, his willingness to work and endure hardships being his principal assets. He has watched the development of the sheep and cattle industry from the days of the open range to the present time; and he has met the critical periods in the history of the industry with confidence, considering an adverse condition but temporary. Building for the future, Mr. Owens increased his herds in anticipation of a renewed interest in the stockraising business. For many years he has been interested in Rambouillet grade sheep and Hereford cattle, and has limited his herds to these breeds.

Mr. and Mrs. Owens number their friends by the hundreds. They are splendid examples of the pioneers who helped make

West Texas what it is today, a land of prosperity and comfortable homes.

ANOTHER FISH STORY

A fisherman spied a snake which had just caught a frog. Desiring the frog for bait, he tried unsuccessfully by prodding the other means to make release its prey; finally he pulled out a flask and poured a little liquor in the snake's mouth. The snake dropped the frog and slithered away.

Some time later, the fisherman felt a tug at his trousers, and found the snake, looking up expectantly—another frog in his mouth.

BIBLE . . . and its versions

The discovery in a school on Staten Island of a copy of the rare "Breeches Bible," printed at Geneva in the year 1560, has revived interest in the various versions of the English Bible. This particular version gets its name because it says that Adam and Eve made themselves "breeches" of fig-leaves, instead of "aprons," as the King James Version translates it. No perfect copy of the Bible has ever been printed, according to one of the officials of the American Bible Society. Misspelled words and other errors appear in every direction.

The Authorized Version of the Bible as it was first published in 1611 would be hard reading today. Modern Bibles follow modern spelling, but in the time of King James the Bible appeared with such spelling as "Forgive vs our dettes as we forgive our detters."

The simplification and modernizing of the Bible goes on steadily and at least two complete new translations have recently come out, but the stately phrases of the Authorized Version have become so much a part of the common speech of English-speaking people that it is unlikely the new phraseology will ever be so widely accepted.

TAXES . . . the Georgia way
What usually happens when the politicians in control of the reins of government find that there is a surplus of tax income over necessary expenses, is that they create a lot of new jobs and so find ways to spend more than the revenues. The city of Fairburn, Georgia, seems to be in the hands of a different sort of officials. Finding itself with a surplus of $5,000 in the municipal treasury, enough to run the city for a year, it has declared all taxes off for a year.

Did anybody ever hear of anything like that before? I never did.

BANKS . . . and social service

I was sitting in the president's office of the little country bank where I do business when the cashier came in. A village man who had had a lot of sickness in his family, and was being pressed for doctor's and other bills, wanted to borrow fifty dollars.

"He's honest?" asked the president. "Absolutely," the cashier replied. "Got a job?" "Works for the town."
"Find out how much he owes in all, and let him have what he needs to clean up, up to a hundred dollars," said the president. "Take his note and tell him to pay what he can when it's due and we'll renew the rest. And, John," the president added, as the cashier turned to go, "you can handle any other cases of the sort the same way."

That's real banking, because it's human banking. Big banks that have to delegate all their functions to clerks, and lay down rules which must not be departed from can't lend on anything but ill-digged listed securities, but the sound, small bank serves a social need which requires the personal touch of the responsible head.

MEASLES

Few persons reach adult life without having measles, and one attack is usually the limit. In view of these facts many people have the idea that one might just as well expose himself to it and be through with it, as he is bound to get it sooner or later, anyhow.

While measles is not a serious disease we never know what case may terminate fatally. Its general mortality rate is about 5%. Very brief exposure will communicate the disease to others; nor is it necessary to come into close contact with the patient.

More Than "Skin-Deep"

Most people think of measles only in terms of the rash, whereas the disease is much more than skin-deep. The changes in the mucous membrane lining the mouth, nose, eyes, throat and bronchial tubes are just as much a part of the disease as are those of the skin. There is virtually always a marked inflammation of these parts, which causes all the complications and after-effects that go with measles. And the unfortunate part of it is that these complications occur mostly in children under four, who are the least able to cope with them.

The most common complications are broncho-pneumonia, inflammation of the bowels, disease of the ear, and membranous croup. The most dangerous of all is, of course, pneumonia—which occurs most often in children under two years of age.

Measles, as a rule, develop gradually, the first symptoms being those of a "cold in the head"—redness of the eye-lids, watering of the eyes, aversion to light, sneezing, and "running" of the nose.

This so-called invasion period lasts three or four days, and is followed by the appearance of the rash, which is first seen behind the ears, on the neck, and at the roots of the hair along the forehead. The next day the rash shows up on the face, front of the neck, upper part of the chest, and the back. On the third day the remainder of the trunk is covered and scattered spots appear on the extremities. By the time it has fully covered the limbs it has started to fade from the face, and it continues to fade in the order of its appearance.

"Prosperity" is just around the corner. Come to Ozona Theatre March 27 and 28 and see "Prosperity" with Marie Dressler and Polly Moran.

The Ozona play will be presented Friday evening, March 31, the first evening of the tournament series. Midland presenting the first play of the evening and Ozona following. Ballinger and San Angelo will present their entire Saturday night.

The cast of "Jazz and Minuet" includes Miss Toley Robinson as Mrs. Van Hayden, Miss Carolyn Montgomery as Eleanor Prudence Van Hayden, her daughter, Miss Tommy Smith as Prudence Van Hayden, her great-great aunt, Gene Montgomery as Richard Townsend and doubling as Robert Trowbridge, and Miss Helen Adams as Nettie and doubling as Lucy, maid in the Van Hayden homes at the present and 150 years ago, and Ben Williams as Milford Devereaux, an infamous wastrel and feared duelist of Colonial days.

The play has a setting in the present and in Colonial days, the present-day Prudence taking the character of her great-great aunt to re-enact a bit of family history of the Colonial days. One of the scenes in the flash-back is a sword duel between Devereaux and Trowbridge in which real foils are to be used by the players.

Fun Night Draws Capacity Crowd

Second Annual Event Is Enjoyed By Big Audience Here

The stands in the High School gymnasium were packed to capacity Friday evening for the second annual Fun Night program sponsored by the athletic department of the Ozona High School. The big crowd was lavishly entertained for nearly four hours with a rapid-fire series of basketball games and stunts of various kinds interspersed.

The tradition of the Fun Night program was firmly established as an annual feature of the season with the second annual event Friday night. The first Fun Night last year was in the nature of a dedication of the handsome new gymnasium and was so successful that it was decided upon as an annual affair.

The evening opened with a spirited basketball contest between teams representing the Junior High and High School Freshmen, the Junior High studies taking the contest by a count of 11 to 5.

Battle royals and rope climbing contests, where in contestants climbed hand-over-hand up the ropes to grab a hanging apple in their teeth and descend, were then featured as between-games numbers.

The Mythical Princesses and the Butterfly Sextet, town ladies teams captained by Miss Velma Richardson and Mrs. Ruth Rutledge next tangled in a battle to a draw, the count standing 10 all when the smoke of battle had cleared.

Next the Senior girls team took the Junior girls to a 14 to 9 cleaning and the faculty men drubbed the town men 18 to 10 in a thrilling go.

Wrestling contests, tumbling acts, boxing and stunts prepared and executed by members of each of the High School classes enlivened the evening. Miss Elizabeth Perner performed gracefully on the rings to the delight of the audience as another between-games feature.

The most thrilling event of the evening was saved to last when the Senior and Junior boys paired off for a grudge battle on the basketball court. This was easily the hardest fought game of the evening and rival rooting sections kept up a continuous din as they urged their favorites on to even greater effort. The spirited battle ended with an 18 to 14 victory for the Seniors.
