he has abandoned his plan of poisoning Marjorie Lauderdell so that her aunt, Maud Lauderdell, might gain her fortune. But lames, who thinks Charters has been double-crossing them, de-cides to get the girl's fortune for himself by marrying her. Enraged at his intrusion into her room, Marjorie scorns his offer to get her out of the home if she, will accept him. Nurse Jones appears and indignantly shows Cleveland James into the hall. Calming her jealousy, the nurse — secretly James' wife—agrees to provide poison so that he can put her out of the way and obtain Mrs. Lauwas taken from derdell's 10,000 pounds for himself. Stores Receive Payment for Candy Stolen Long Ago

An outbreak of consciou trickenness seems to have his Big Spring. Whether it is only one man who has suddenly, in these hard times, come possession of more money than can rightfully enjoy, or whether three individuals have decided on an unexpected form, the public is left to Judge. The story is that three Big Spring merchants have had en velopes thrown into their stores containing money for candy stolen in the past. These are Pingly-Wingly Grocery stores, Saunders Grocery Stores.

Mr. Pool. of the Piggly-Wigwiy, said that a messenger boy hrew the envelope inside his Main street store. He thought nothing of it until he datcovered the money inside, which was $150, and a note saying that it was payment for candy taken sometime ego. No name was
