Ozona Drops Double Header Bill To San Angelo To Take Third In League Standing; Game Protested

Hopes of the Ozona Giants for a place among the leaders in the first half race for the West Texas Independent League flag were momentarily dashed here Sunday afternoon when the hard hitting and fast fielding San Angelo Sheep Herders took two straight contests from the Giants in the afternoon's double bill.

Convinced that the umpires had their share in San Angelo's win of the first game, the local club management filed an official protest with Bloddy Cross, league mogul, and expect to get a play-off of the game. The protest was based on Umpire Childress' decision when Andrews sacked a high foul fly off the bat of H. Brown, second sacker for the Herders. Brown and his teammates contended the ball was caught in Andrews' uniform and thus was not a legal put-out. The rule governing this play, showing plainly that the batter was out, was quoted in the protest.

Loose fielding on the part of the Giants and failure to hit in the pinches accounted for the double loss of the locals. The first game went to the Herders by a score of 6 to 3, Ozona getting 10 hits to San Angelo's 11, and 4 errors to 2 for the visitors. Most of the stick work was done for the Herders by Holloway and Brown who got three hits each out of five times up, while Faught and Pitcher Peel were credited with two each.

In the second game, the Giants out-hit the Herders 7 to 4 and held the visitors on an even footing from the second inning through the sixth of the scheduled 7 frame

Plan New Features For Fair Program

Committees Working Out Novel Entertainment For Big Show

A number of new features on the entertainment bill of fare for the thousands of visitors expected here for the eighth annual Crockett County Rodeo, Race Meet-Stock Show and Sale to be held here July 3, 4 and 5, may be included in the program now being worked out by fair officials and committee heads.

The first step toward working out a new program for the 1934 show was taken Saturday night at a meeting of officials and heads of the various committees of the association at the Hotel Ozona.

A greater racing card, many novel features added to the usual daily rodeo program, greater prizes in the livestock show ring and some of the finest stock in America offered in the auction sales are broadly the plans of fair officials. In addition a big-time carnival company may be secured for daily entertainment of crowds and a number of typically western entertainment stunts are in the process of planning. Fair officials hope to have the program worked out in detail in the next few days.

Modern Hot Water System Installed At Hotel Ozona

Installation of a new water heating system, with a General Electric oil furnace water heating unit to furnish the heat, was completed last week at the Hotel Ozona, further modernizing this strictly modern hostelry.

The new water heating system gives an unlimited supply of hot water at all times of the day and night. It is automatic and requires no attention. Such a system is in operation only in the larger hotels of the state.

Another improvement contemplated by the hotel board of directors is the installation of ceiling fans in every room. If this is done, the Hotel Ozona will be one of the most modern hotels on the Old Spanish Trail.

John L. Bishop was in San Angelo early this week for medical attention. He plans to go back this week-end for further treatment.

Jim Brownriggs Recognizes Himself In 31-Year-Old Picture Of Freight And Oxen Team Published In Angelo Paper

At least one picture in the mammoth 50th anniversary edition of the San Angelo Standard-Times of May 3 proved of particular interest to Jim Brownriggs of Ozona, for it was a picture of himself 31 years ago. The picture showed a freighter's wagon loaded with lumber and drawn by three yoke of oxen, standing in front of a lumber yard in Ballinger. The picture was made in 1903.

That outfit belonged to Mr. Brownriggs and he appeared in the picture standing beside the oxen with a big bullwhip in his hand. Mr. Brownriggs still has one of the originals of the photograph, which was made at the suggestion of the lumber

Labor Conciliator To Make Report To U. S. On Shearing Controversy On Data Gathered In Conference Here

Investigating reported labor controversies between ranchmen and sheep shearers, Joseph S. Myers, member of the U. S. Conciliation Service, met with members of the executive committee of the Sheep and Goat Raisers Association of Texas in a called session here Friday afternoon for the purpose of gathering data on the issues involved.

The meeting was called by President T. A. Kincaid of the association in response to a telegraphic request from Mr. Myers, more than 40 members of the committee and interested ranchmen attending the gathering, held in the district court room.

Mr. Myers explained that he came in the role of a peace maker, seeking only to gather points on both sides of the reported controversy. The case came into his hands upon notification from the National Emergency Council, he explained.

President Kincaid hastened to make it clear to the government representative that the Sheep and Goat Raisers Association was engaged in no controversy with the shearers and had not and did not intend to take any part in any controversy as an association. Attempts had been made by union officials to draw the association into the controversy, but its by-laws prohibit its taking any part were the membership inclined to do so, Mr. Kincaid said. The sole purpose of the association is to gather and disseminate information, to exchange ideas and to protect the membership from thieves, etc., Mr. Kincaid explained.

This fact being made clear, Mr. Myers asked if a group of ranchmen would not volunteer to meet in an executive session for a full discussion of the controversy that he might have more information on both sides of the question for his report. Meeting in this executive session were Weaver Baker of Junction, J. T. Baker of Fort Stockton, Abe Mayer of San Angelo, W. T. Noelke of San Angelo, Scott Peters of Ozona and W. R. Williams of the American Federation of Labor.

Following this session, Mr. Williams asked that the ranchmen form an organization apart from the Sheep and Goat Raisers Association to deal with the shearers union, citing that such action would be the only manner in which the ranchmen could meet the situation peacefully. No action was taken on Williams' request.

Union shearers have asked 6 cents for shearing sheep, while ranchmen have for the most part been paying the shearing captains 8 cents, the shearers customarily receiving half the amount paid the captain. Employment of union and non-union shearers has been about evenly divided in this territory, according to reports.

Appointment of a fire marshal, who is to make periodic inspections and reports to the fire insurance commission on fire hazards, and posting of the reward offer are terms laid down by the commission for the key rate reduction. The fire marshal will serve without pay.

Giants To Meet Station A Today

Locals To Warm Up For Double Header At Ballinger Sunday

Station A, season-long sparring partners for the Ozona Giants, will engage the locals in a practice game on the local diamond this afternoon starting at 5 o'clock, the club management announces.

Today's game with the Station crew will be in the nature of a warm-up session for the locals in preparation for their forthcoming league encounter with the Ballinger team in Ballinger next Sunday afternoon. The game in Ballinger will be for a decision on the cellar position in the present league standing. Ballinger now occupying the bottom rung with four straight losses and Ozona in the next position with one win and three losses, with one under protest.

The management of the local nine expects to have some new talent in the line-up Sunday, not especially in fear of Ballinger, but in preparation for a change in the completion of the league race the balance of the way. Lines that have been out for some time for an addition to the pitching staff are expected to bring results this week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Willis are taking their daughter, Adelia to San Angelo today for X-Ray examination of her leg. It is possible that it will be necessary to operate on the leg again, it was reported.

ECONOMIC HIGHLIGHTS

A few months ago most experts were inclined to be dubious as to the success of the cause of disarmament this year.

Now it looks as if the arms conference is to be even more of a dismal failure than the most pessimistic feared.

There are two very large flies in the disarmament, ointment. One is Germany, which is increasing its military budget, is arming rapidly, and is cleverly abrogating the arms provisions of the Versailles treaty. So long as Germany follows this course, France refuses to disarm—will, in fact, build up its defense forces accordingly. Both Germany and France blame each other for wrecking the conference.

The other fly is Japan, which has all the major powers worried. Events of last year—culminating in the withdrawal of Nippon from the League of Nations—have proven that Japan doesn't just talk, she acts. And she isn't in any mood to arbitrate.

The upshot of all this is that a world which hasn't been able to recover from the deleterious effects of the last war is again near or war than at any time since the spring of 1914. Unless there is a definite change of policy, every great power will follow a course of intense nationalism, as Germany, under Nazi rule, is doing now. Foreign trade will languish. Sky-high tariff walls, even complete embargoes, will be created. An armament race will begin—and if that happens, taxpayers of all countries will find out what heavy taxation really is. Nothing in the world is so expensive. The last war, for example, cost the world close to $400,000,000,000, according to the Carnegie foundation, and future generations will pay for it.

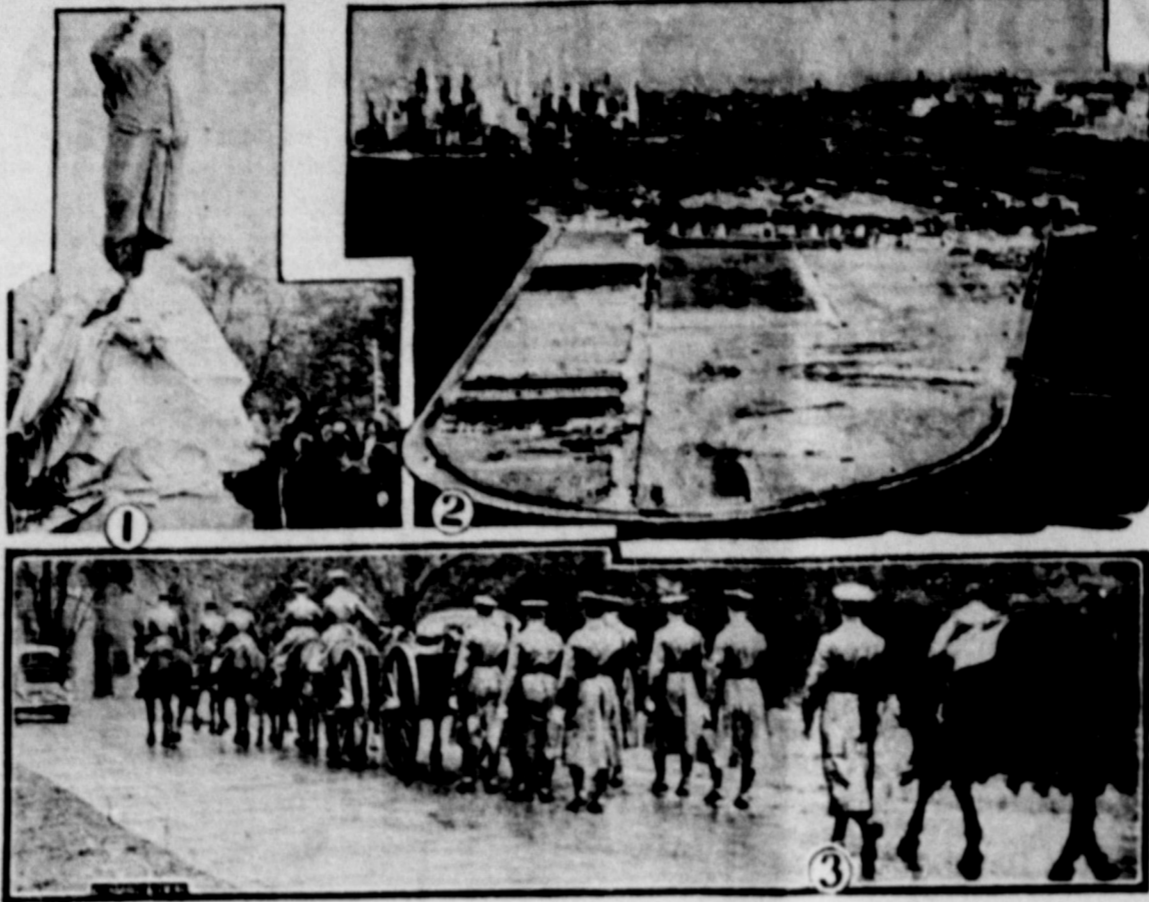

Oddly enough, the best hope for peace and disarmament is the depression! Most countries are pretty close to being broke. Their citizens are complaining loudly about taxation. There's not an economist of standing who doesn't believe that another war would lead to national bankruptcies, revolutions—that it would set civilization back a hundred years. And a good many lookers-on are of the opinion that memories of the last war are still strong in the minds of the common people, who bore the brunt of the struggle, even if they have been forgotten by premiers and chancelleries and high commands.

Most interesting international events are now centering in the far east. Japan's statement of policy—which was politely phrased, but said in effect, "We'll run China and everything else around here; you white boys better keep your hands off or else"—startled the world. And England's announcement that it would be necessary to protect her textile industry from Japanese competition has caused both powers to prepare for an intensive trade war which will be fought with tariffs now—and perhaps eventually with navies.

It's a serious situation—the fuse is laid, and only a match is needed to start it going. One encouraging phase of it is the general belief that the U. S. will let other countries do their own fighting, will keep absolutely neutral.

These international events have rather obscured the doings of

Scenes and Persons in the Current News

1—Unveiling the monument to William Jennings Bryan in Washington which was erected by congress. 2—View over Governor's island showing the part of the East river between the island and Battery park which may be filled in to form an airport site. 3—Funeral cortege of Maj. Gen. Hugh L. Scott, famous Indian fighter and former chief of staff, as it neared the grave in Arlington National cemetery.

Congress, so far as headlines are concerned. But it's been a busy body. Most important act, in the light of its effect on industry, was the passing of the stock exchange bill by the House by an astonishingly heavy majority. It now goes to the Senate where there will be more opposition, though it is believed that enough votes will be forthcoming to put it through. In an attempt to placate industry, which doesn't like the bill at all, the securities act will be made less severe.

Both Senate and House have okayed the new revenue bill, designed to bring many millions more into the treasury. Its main feature is higher taxes for big incomes, lower taxes for small incomes. Gifts, corporations, and individual holding companies will be soaked harder. The bill contains numerous stiff guards against evasion. The ten per cent additional tax clause for 1935 was stricken out.

There hasn't been any silver law passed yet—but white metal advocates are jubilant. They recently conferred with the President—then predicted that a bill would be enacted to back thirty per cent of the nation's money with silver.

The Senate passed a new air-mail bill, and the House will undoubtedly follow, as the bill has Administration backing. Under it the I.C.C. will fix and determine public convenience and necessity for all air mail routes and establish rates.

AN EYE TO THE UNIVERSITY

Houston Chronicle: An organization calling itself the Texas Tax Relief Committee is already in a campaign to defeat all the constitutional amendments to be voted next November.

That is rather far in the future, nevertheless the people must not be misled concerning these amendments by particular organizations or groups, regardless of the position they take on them.

Particularly pernicious is the effort to defeat all the amendments because it is conceived that one or two are bad. The Chronicle is not now prepared to state which of them it will approve, and which it will oppose, but it can say emphatically that all of them should not be defeated. And it can say with still more emphasis that any campaign based on a plea to defeat them all, or approve them all, as a group, should meet with instant rebuff from the intelligent citizen.

One of the amendments, doubtless of less importance than some of the others—and one which the Texas Tax Relief Committee would simply lose in the shuffle—has to do with collecting evils incident to the ownership of large bodies of tax exempt land by the University of Texas in certain

West Texas counties. The friends and officials of the university should themselves take the lead in seeing that these injustices are eliminated. They would thereby add much to their reputation for fairness, and real interest in the people, especially in the schooling of the youth. For the injustice applies particularly to school children.

As matters now stand there are counties in West Texas where the university holds rich oil land. Its development has brought hundreds of families there. The children of these families must be educated. Yet not one penny of revenue from this oil land can be had to pay local school costs.

The county tax situation has been relieved by the constitutional amendment adopted three years ago which remits in state taxes to these counties the sums which the university lands would pay if they were privately owned. There is reason to find fault with this system, inasmuch as it means that every time the university's holdings in these counties increase in value the taxpayers of the state are assessed a heavier tax on them. Nevertheless, the counties in question have had their financial plight relieved in so far as strictly county expenses are concerned, including road building. But the school districts are not helped at all. At the same time they have had imposed on them a large increase in school costs necessitated by the coming of many oil field workers and their families. These districts have the further reason to complain in that no public school lands were ever set aside for them, as was the case with the older districts of the state.

It is hard to conceive a situation more indefensible. It does not affect a great many people, but the injustice of it cries out just the same.

The state would like to hear from the university spokesman on it.

RIPE FOR HANGING

New Orleans Tribune: A bank burglar who finished a term in the penitentiary about a month and a half ago for a robbery in New Orleans, walked gaily into a Vicksburg bank this week, threatened the cashier with a pistol for failure to hand over the money in hand, and fell into the clutches of the police because the cashier was lucky enough to reach the burglar alarm.

This sort of thing is essentially murderous offense any way you look at it. Every holdup of like character has intent of murder in it whether murder results or not. For the outcome naturally to be expected in the event of resistance is murder—not only the murder of contending parties but the murder of innocent bystanders.

A dozen men and women have died in the past five or six years as the result of the cold-blooded heartlessness of murderers of this type. When they reach that stage they are as confirmed in crime as a gar is confirmed in his beastly habit of grabbing at any reachable prey.

The behavior of this particular bandit in Vicksburg, with the odor of the Louisiana penitentiary still on him, is merely another exemplification of what is going on all over the country all the time. That is a sufficient reason why our criminal law should not regard this class of criminals like ordinary criminals. It should put them out of existence at every convenient opportunity.

INDIGESTION

Indigestion is a term to describe a variety of dissensations and symptoms in the region of the stomach. It means that there is a disturbance in the process of digestion. But when it comes to just exactly what is indigestion is a rather vague term.

Underlying Causes Indigestion, however, chronic indigestion means that there is a definite disease of the organ. Ulcer of the stomach, chronic appendicitis, and disease of the pancreas are among the frequently occurring causes. Moreover, cancer of the stomach or of some other abdominal organ gives rise to symptoms of indigestion. This is more likely in the case of indigestion in the elderly.

Life Immunity To Diphtheria Can Be Furnished By Toxoid

AUSTIN, May 16.—Make sure that your child is immune from diphtheria, warns Dr. John W.
Brown, State Health Officer. Children need not have this disease if proper steps are taken and these are very simple.

If parents would have their family physician administer toxoid to their child as soon after it reaches the age of six months as possible, much suffering and many deaths could be prevented.

The administering of toxoid is a very simple procedure and causes the child very little or no discomfort and there is an interval of three weeks between doses. In approximately ninety per cent of the children receiving toxoid, there will be established a life time immunity to this disease.

TO BE SURE. Four to six months after the final dose of toxoid, the child should be Schick tested so that parents will know definitely whether their child is immune. The test consists of just a few drops of diphtheria toxin between the layers of the skin. If the child is immune no reaction will be noticed. If not, there will appear redness at the sight of the test that reaches its height the third or fourth day.

Birmingham News: On a Sunday you can get the same effect by placing a spare tire in front of your chair and watching it all day in the body, more than correct diet and good hygiene is usually required for its cure. For it is only through treatment directed at the cause that one can expect to obtain permanent relief.

other low-priced car

WHY do you suppose Chevrolet keeps repeating, in all of its advertising, "Drive it only 5 miles"? Here's the reason: Chevrolet engineers have tried out all the various makes of cars in today's low-price field. And they have proved, to their complete satisfaction, the same things that hundreds of thousands of Chevrolet owners are proving in their daily driving: How much more smoothly a car travels with genuine, fully-enclosed Knee-Action. How much more comfortably it handles, with shock-proof steering. How much more restfully you ride, in a Fisher Body car. How much more safely you drive, with cable-controlled brakes. And how much finer performance and better economy are secured from an overhead-valve Six! In other words, Chevrolet engineers know for sure that the Chevrolet ride simply can't be matched by any other in the low-price field. They know it—thousands of owners know it—and now we want you to know it too, before you make your final choice of a low-priced car. CHEVROLET MOTOR CO., DETROIT, MICH.

Where Maryland Will Hold 300th Birthday Party

The post office shown here is the "new one" at St. Marys City, Md., the town that was established 300 years ago and which will be the spot where the state of Maryland will celebrate its three hundredth birthday this summer. The mail truck, really as large as the post office, is driven through southern Maryland every day by Harry C. McClees of Washington.

Mystery Notes And Missing Food Worry Pecos Co. Rancher

Mysterious notes, in a scrawling handwriting with confusion in use of personal pronouns, resulted last week-end and Monday in extensive searches and investigations by officers and special possees on the Floyd Henderson ranch 23 miles southeast of Fort Stockton.

Will Adams, who lives on the Henderson ranch, thought food was missing, in small quantities, for several days. Finally a note was found, unsigned, reading, "Take tobacco." A few days later another read "Me kill meat, me hungry."

Friday the notes were brought to town and officers of the sheriff's department investigated. Friday night, with an officer on guard, no sign of the marauder was discovered. The next day, though, after a posse of several men was formed and used in a thorough search of surrounding country, another note was found, as follows: "Me see lot men. Me scared. Be careful!"

Monday night a note concerning bread was found. Tuesday a group of 55 men went to the ranch and with about a dozen mounted, and with the assistance of Ray Baumgardner's plane, the group combed the entire country for miles around, finding no sign of anyone.

Several theories are being advanced, with many local people of the opinion that it is a hoax, planned by an unknown person for some undetermined purpose.— Ft. Stockton Pioneer.

THE DOG POISONER

Somebody poisoned my dog today. Though he never did anyone ill. And so he is through with his canine play. And his waggly tail is still. No more shall I walk in the fields with him. Along at my side to jog. And—I don't care if my eyes are dim— Somebody poisoned my dog.

He was homely, I know, as a dog could be, And only a mongrel, too; But I loved the old fellow and he loved me, As people and dogs may do. He craved to my side and licked my hand, And then with a gasp he died; And—though some people can't understand— I patted his head and cried. —Anonymous.

Tax Evasion Law Nets 4 Millions

Gas Tax Revenue Up 20 Percent First 12 Months

AUSTIN, Texas, May 16.—The new Texas gasoline tax enforcement law rounded out its first full year of operation with a smashing 20 per cent increase in revenue to the state during the first quarter of 1934, the Texas Good Roads Association announced today from quarterly figures of Comptroller George H. Sheppard.

Combined gasoline tax collections for the months of January, February and March exceeded the total for the same period last year by $1,269,872, the comptroller reported. This brought the full 12 months' recoveries to more than $4,250,000 above the previous period.

It was on March 21, 1933 that the potent new law was written into the statute books as an emergency measure. Scores of remote refineries were humming day and night, turning out motor fuel of which the taxing authorities had no knowledge. Thousands of tank trucks were radiating out on the very highways whose income they were stealing, carrying bootleg, tax-free gasoline to every corner of Texas.

Every gallon of it which was sold deprived the common school fund of one cent, the bond-referendum fund of one cent and the highway fund of two cents.

A new law was proposed making bootlegging a felony and giving the comptroller adequate funds for enforcement. The Texas Good Roads Association and the Texas Gasoline Tax Committee, which backed it, voiced the belief that this lawless traffic was robbing the taxpayers of at least $4,000,000 yearly. Actual recoveries have exceeded this figure. During the nine months it operated in 1933, the law "picked up" more than $3,000,000.

Miss Alberta Kay entertained a few of her friends with a slumber party at her home Wednesday night. The guests were Valla Freeman, Willena Wyatt and Laveria Simpson.

Have You Seen the Frigidaire '34?

End your refrigeration worries the modern electrical way!

The safe preservation of foods, according to food chemists and medical authorities, require a temperature below 50 degrees... constantly maintained.

Modern Electrical Refrigeration assures this necessary low temperature... automatically. When the temperature in your Electric Refrigerator rises to 50 degrees, the freezing unit is automatically turned on... when it has been brought down to the correct level, the unit automatically switches off.

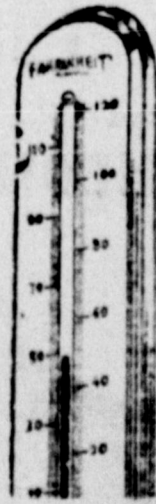

Moderate first cost and low operating expense are added considerations suggesting the immediate purchase of a new model Frigidaire.

The Frigidaire '34 operates quietly and with amazingly small amount of current, has automatic ice tray release, automatic defrosting and many other important features.

This is the "Electrical Age." A Frigidaire will be another step to your All-Electric Kitchen.

Your increased use of electric service is billed on a surprisingly low rate schedule and adds only a small amount to your total bill.

Warns Traffic Law Violators

Sheriff Says Fines To Be Imposed If Rules Not Observed

A new warning to Ozona motorists to respect the laws governing traffic on Ozona streets was issued this week by Sheriff W. S. Willis.

The sheriff called attention to the rules governing driving on the downtown streets in the area of the traffic signal buttons and stop flags. These rules were fully explained when these signals were installed, but in the last few weeks drivers have shown a tendency to become careless in their observance, Sheriff Willis said.

The sheriff particularly warned against "cutting" the center buttons in the streets. All traffic should keep to the right of the buttons, he said, and in making a turn at the corner the turn should be made around and to the right of the signal. Left turns in the middle of a block is a traffic violation.

The stop signs at street intersections mean just what they say, Mr. Willis declared. People have become careless in the observance of these regulations also, he said, and he warned that fines would be imposed for these violations unless the regulations were more strictly observed.
