Woodrow Wilson Captains Mines 1935 Grid Team

Former Ozona Boy Is Outstanding Player at El Paso

Woodrow Wilson, star gridiron warrior for Ozona High School a few years ago, and the last three years an outstanding player on the Texas College of Mines team at El Paso, has been elected captain of the Mines team for 1935.

A letter from his father, Lee Wilson, former Buick agent in Ozona, now a salesman of these cars in El Paso, received the past week enclosed a page from the sporting section of the El Paso Herald-Post containing a picture and write-up of Woodrow.

"He is sure making good," Lee writes with just pride, "both as a student and football player. He is quarter back this year and elected captain for next year. He will be 20 and much heavier next year. He is a triple threat man and can 'carry the mail' if I do say so myself. We are mighty proud of him and so is El Paso. He has a host of friends and followers there and thought maybe you might want to tell them what he is doing out here."

Bob Ingram, sports editor of the Herald-Post, in his column "As I Was Saying," glances back at the football season and in recounting the season's greatest football feats, gives Wilson credit for the greatest feat of punting in kick-

LEARNING TO SHOOT

An order requiring all New York policemen and police patrolwomen to report for target practice once every three weeks, at the precinct headquarters to which they are attached, indicates that the time is not far off when they will be armed while on duty with revolvers of at least .32 caliber. There are now in the department 105 policemen and 50 police patrolwomen. The photograph shows one of the patrolwomen on the range at police headquarters.

Crockett Ranchers Lose Wool In Big Warehouse Blaze

At least three wool producers of Crockett County were known here to have lost wool clippings in the fire last Friday morning which destroyed the plant of the Texas Stockmen's Supply Company of San Angelo.

Of the more than 400,000 pounds of wool which went up in flames, about 50,000 pounds belonged to Jones Miller, the same amount to Will Miller and 20,000 pounds or thereabouts was owned by J. B. Miller.

Insurance carried by the wool house will carry the entire loss at the current market price, it was told here. According to local information, it is possible that a price of twenty-two cents may be obtained for twelve-months wool.

Government Tax On Bank Checks Off January 1st

Law Making Special Federal Levy Expired Dec. 31

You can now write as many checks as you like—that is, so long as you have the funds in the bank to cover them.

At least, you can write them without groaning at the two-cent tax levied by the government for each check that goes through the bank and charged to you at the end of the month.

The law levying this special tax expired with the close of business December 31. Beginning with checks paid on January 1 and after, no tax will be levied.

RETURNS FROM COOLEGDE

Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Moody and children returned to Ozona Tuesday night after a week's stay with Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Allen friends of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Grimmer who reside in Coolegde.

KILLER WOLF IS CAPTURED

Hardin Traps Animal That Had Preyed For Years On Livestock on Ranches

The husky killer wolf that has roamed the Harold, Hallcomb, and all the Miller ranches for the past three years was trapped late last week and is now in a cage waiting death.

Gould Hardin, the trapper, received $65 for his trouble. The donor of the bounty was Jones Miller who has lost heavily from the killer's ravages while it has infested that area.

Ranchmen who have suffered losses estimate that the killer has destroyed approximately seventy-five sheep and goats on the several ranches. The killer's last big kill occurred in the pastures of J. B. Miller where seventeen sheep and goats were victims of the wolf's death dealing raid.

Junior Hi Library Gets New Volumes

During the past four weeks eighty-two books have been received in the junior high school library. Cataloging of the new volumes is now being carried on by Misses Myra Bishop and Grace McMillan, librarians.

The annual meeting of stockholders of the Ozona National Bank and the Ozona Loan Company will be held next Tuesday in the directors room of the bank.

1934 Rainfall Record Totals Of 108 Inches

Almost Half Of Year's Total Fell In 12 Day Period

Surpassing the year's precipitation for 1933 but not reducing the ranchman's feed bill to any degree, the total rainfall for Ozona during the past year was 10.8 inches. The previous year was recorded with a twelve-month total lower than this, being only eight inches. These figures are according to the record kept from the gauge in the Joe Oberkamp store.

Almost half of the year's rain fell here within twelve days time. On May 24 the rain which totaled 2.2 inches fell locally. The same amount and a fraction over fell again on June 4 to brighten ranchmen's hopes. But the remaining six months brought nothing but periodic light showers which together totaled 2.2 inches through December 31.

Miller Family Enjoys Annual Birthday Dinner

57th Wedding Anniversary Observed By Pioneer Couple

Carrying out a practice of many years' standing, Mr. and Mrs. Jones Miller were hosts to their six children and their wives and husbands with an anniversary-birthday dinner at noon New Year's Day at the Jones Miller home.

The annual dinner given last Tuesday was an observance by the family of Mr. Miller's seventy-seventh birthday and also the fifty-seventh wedding anniversary of the couple.

A feature of the annual observance is the drawing following the dinner in which a money prize is the award to the lucky person. This year the "lucky" attendant was Mrs. J. W. Owens who received a prize of ten dollars. Each of the others were also given envelopes containing five dollars in each.

Besides the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Jones Miller, those attending the dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Rob Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Will Miller, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Owens, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hallcomb and Mr. and Mrs. Pink Robison.

Hosts at the annual dinner next year will be Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Owens.

Mrs. T. A. Kincaid is recuperating at her home here following a severe heart attack suffered Christmas day.

COUNTY HEADS ARE SWORN IN ON NEW TERMS

3 New Faces Appear In Official Family Of County

OW SMITH RETIRES

Office Of Veteran Assessor Is Combined With Sheriff's

A new official family took over the administration of precinct and county governmental affairs here Tuesday morning.

Only three new faces appear in the official group, however, the rest being the same officers appearing in a brand new term. New officials elected at the recent general election took office January 1, with oaths administered by the county clerk to all at the time bonds were signed, and the clerk in turn taking his oath from the county judge.

Two new commissioners and a new justice of the peace for this precinct are the only new officers in the local line-up. Charlie Black and E. R. Kinser are the new commissioners, succeeding Chas. and Fleet Coates. W. M. Johnigan ascended to the post of justice of the peace, succeeding Bryan McDonald, succeeding Bryan McDonald.

With the start of the new two-year terms, one veteran officer who has served Crockett County more than fifteen years stepped out of public service into private citizenship. He is O. W. Smith, veteran Crockett County tax assessor, whose office was combined with that of sheriff and tax collector by adoption of a constitutional amendment by the voters of Texas two years ago. Incidentally, the sheriff assumes this added duty with the opening of his new term.

County officials who have been sworn in for another two year term are County Judge Charles E. Davidson, County and District Clerk George Russell, County Treasurer Tom Casbeer, Sheriff W. S. Willis, County Attorney N. W. Graham, Justice of the Peace W. M. Johnigan, County Surveyor C. E. Grimmer, and Commissioners Ben Ingham, J. W. Owens, Charlie Black and E. R. Kinser.

Census Of Farms And Ranches To Be Taken In Jan.

25,000 To Be Employed In Federal Agriculture List

EL PASO, Texas, Jan. 1 1935—Approximately 450 persons in West Texas and New Mexico will begin the task of enumerating Farms and Ranches in this territory today. Nearly 25,000 Federal Census employees will be engaged in this huge task of enumerating the six million Farms and Ranches of the United States, in what is probably the most important agricultural census in the nation's history, according to a statement released by Director William L. Austin, Bureau of the Census, Department of Commerce. Plans call for completion of the canvass before the end of January.

"The Fifteenth Decennial Census Act, approved June 18, 1929, directed that a mid-decennial Census of Agriculture be taken January 1, 1935, for the calendar year 1934," Director Austin said. "Because of the tremendous upheaval in the great basic industry of agriculture, due to the depression, drought and other factors new farm statistics are urgently needed in connection with the Government's vast recovery program."

OZONA RESOLVES

Some New Year resolutions that Ozona might make:

1. To provide adequate fire protection for its millions of dollars invested in property.
2. To raise its voice in Austin to bring about completion of the highway program in this county, the surfacing of Highway 27 west of Ozona.
3. To put aside small-town bickering and jealousy and seek an understanding and sympathy with the problems of your neighbors.
4. To feel pride instead of contempt for the community of which you are a part and lend your effort toward making it a better place in which to live and rear your family.
5. To co-operate with business men, civic groups and public spirited individuals who are doing their part toward community development.
6. To patronize home merchants wherever possible, to pay bills promptly, to boost home institutions, private and public, to study the lessons of the past and profit from them in the future, to look ahead with optimism and take what the future has to offer with chin high and courage unbowed.

NEW YEAR'S DAY

Festivals and celebrations of the New Year have been traced back as far as 3000 B. C. to ancient Babylon. They may have been held long before that. Throughout the ages various people have observed various days as New Year's Day.

In view of the many calendars which have been employed to mark the passage of time, much confusion has resulted. Different people have counted the years from some real or imaginary event, and the length of the year has varied according to the calendar used.

The Mohammedan year, for example, is governed by the moon, instead of the sun, and consists of twelve lunar months, or only 145 days. The new Hebrew calendar consists of 354 days ordinarily but an extra month is inserted once in nineteen years making 384 days embolismic, as they are called.

The ancient Egyptian year has twelve months of thirty days each but five supplementary days were added in the end, making 365 days. Similar peculiarities marked the year of the various other people. At one time or another every day in the year has been considered New Year's Day according to some calendar or another.

Our present calendar is a modification of that established by Julius Caesar in the year 46 B. C. Augustus made some rearrangement of the numbers so that August, named for him, might have as many days as July, named for Julius, for original August had only 30 days. The calendar we now use was established by Pope Gregory in 1582.

So, when we observe New Year's Day we may understand that it does not mean anything in particular, except that it is the first day of the year arbitrarily established as a convenient means of reckoning in the flight of time.

ACCOUNTING FOR RANCH BUSINESS

By C. V. Bays, San Angelo, Texas

The business of ranching is no different from any other industry when it comes to keeping books of record. They are necessary to give owner and management a complete statement of operations and financial condition at regular intervals. Then, if you seek outside financial assistance, a complete statement is necessary. And we have come to the place where taxes are of major importance; we must have correct information for our Federal Income Tax Returns.

A set of books, properly kept, readily yields the information set out above. Making an analysis of operations and properly classifying Assets and Liabilities for credit purposes.

An ordinary loose leaf double entry ledger, with a Cash Journal can be designed to keep a complete set of ranch accounts.

A ranch business should be on an inventory basis. This not only makes for a more complete set of records, but properly reflects income in the year in which made and not all in the year in which large sales are made. The count of livestock is made at a date near the end of the year and range prices are placed on the livestock at prevailing prices in your area.

Commercial businesses, with capital investments of much less than ranching, have found long ago that systematic accounting pays good dividends. Agents of the Bureau of Internal Revenue are interested in facts; books are conceded to reflect facts where kept accurately.

WHAT, NO POCKETS!

"Passing Scene," Houston Post: Certain haughty men's tailors who cater only to Piping Rock and its aristocratic purlieus are advocating the abandonment of pockets in men's suits. This is a matter we shall report at once to the proper agency in Washington as soon as we can find the proper agency.

What, no pockets!

Why, the origin of pockets can be traced to the 15th century, and anything with a lineage like that is not to be ignored in lineage-loving America. Besides, this social superiority, pockets have their utilitarian value, too.

Without pockets where would a man carry the scented billets de amour sent by his latest lady? He would probably leave them lying around the house for the Little Women to discover.

Too, pockets are more practical than that. They are filling cabinets, perambulating safety deposit boxes, repositories for yellowed reminders that never reminded. Into them go smoking materials, knives, keys, wallets—somehow thin these days—also watches and that tooth the dentist extracted last September.

It frequently happens that pockets disgorge letters that should have been mailed a week ago, and they are a convenient place to conceal bills payable so that they—the bills payable—can be happily forgotten.

As to boys' pockets . . . There is no need of destroying the boyhood of America by abandoning pockets. Why a boy's pockets reveal his character and nine out of 10 give specific evidence that boydom is interested in all things from taxidermy and philately to petty larceny.

No, it will never do. We shall have to protect and file a petition for a writ of injunction if there is no other way. Why, pockets are important if for no other reason than that they are so firmly linked with the scheme of things and the habits of life that nudism is not likely to gain any great number of enthusiasts.

Mrs. F. A. Gray is expected to return to Ozona Saturday from a two-weeks visit in Fort Worth during the past holidays. She has been a guest in the home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Arthur McDowell, and will be accompanied home by her nephew, Leo McDowell.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Kincaid had as their holiday guests last week Mr. and Mrs. Marbury Morrison of Rankin and Mr. and Mrs. J. Bert Kincaid of Fort Stockton.

Miss Mildred Davis is enjoying a vacation trip to San Angelo and other points.

Ben Lemmons is in El Paso this week receiving medical attention.

Say "I saw it in the Stockman."

Dr. and Mrs. F. T. McIntire visited friends here Sunday and Monday.

Charles Williams will leave today to return to Snyder where he is employed on the Will Miller ranch.

JUST A SOFT SNAP

"One day a week job," say the observers of the activities of the country editor. I wonder. If I could edit the paper in accord with practices of other professions, here is how I could do it when the going is tough: As a lawyer, ask for a postponement; as a doctor, call a consultation; as a merchant, hold a sale; as a teacher, give a quiz; as a banker, cook up a legal holiday; as a housewife, go to a bridge party; as a farmer, reduce crops; as a preacher, stage a revival. As me, here I am at the typewriter.—H. R. Long in the Crane (Mo.) Chronicle.

13,000 Try To Get On State Pay Roll

AUSTIN, Jan. 2—Some 13,000 Texans have hopes—some bright, some forlorn—for jobs in the incoming administration of Governor-elect James V. Allred, according to unofficial reports about the capitol.

And the incoming governor, who has been spending three-fourths of every working day talking with job hunters, has, at most, only a few hundred jobs to give

—most of these subject to the approval of various department heads.

Observers here have pointed out that while Allred will have the appointment of several bureau heads during the coming two years, not all these bureau heads will have the authority to make new appointments.

Many of these are three-men boards, of which Allred's single appointee will be the minority member, and the majority of the board of bureau will control the appointments.

Numerous job hunters, some with legitimate claims—from the standpoint of political retaliation—have failed to understand why the incoming governor cannot get them jobs in departments over which he has no control.

Mail to the Attorney General averages 300 letters a day from those seeking work. One day's mail probably will more than fill every job the incoming executive could control.

I'd like to be a printer,
And with the printers stand;

I'd stab him with the towel,

THE NEW FORD V-8 FOR 1935

NOW ON DISPLAY

A New Ford V-8 That Brings New Beauty, New Safety, and a New Kind of Riding Comfort Within Reach of Millions of People

The New Ford V-8 for 1935 is the biggest and roomiest Ford car ever built. It is a strikingly handsome car, with modern lines and new, luxurious appointments.

But most important of all it is especially designed to give you smooth, easy riding over all kinds of roads—"a front-seat ride for back-seat riders."

This ease of riding is achieved by the use of three basic principles never before combined in a low-price car.

1. Correct distribution of car weight by moving engine and body forward eight and a half inches.
2. New location of seats by which the rear seat is moved forward, toward the center of the car—away from the rear axle and away from the bumps.
3. New spring suspension which permits the use of longer, more flexible springs and increases the springbase to 123 inches.

The result is Center-Poise—which not only gives you a new riding comfort but adds to the stability of the car and its ease of handling. You can take curves with greater safety.

There are many new features in the Ford V-8 for 1935 which make the car still easier to drive. New brakes give more power for stopping quickly with far less foot pressure on the pedal.

A new type of easy-pressure clutch employs centrifugal force to increase efficiency at higher speeds. New steering mechanism makes the car still easier to handle. New, wider, roomier seats.

The New Ford V-8 for 1935 retains the V-8 engine which has demonstrated its dependability and economy in the service of more than a million owners. There are refinements, but no change in basic design. You buy premium performance when you buy this Ford V-8—full 85 horsepower and capable of 80 miles an hour. All Ford V-8 cars for 1935 come equipped with Safety Glass throughout at no additional cost.

We invite you to see this New Ford V-8 for 1935 at the showrooms of Ford dealers. You will want to ride in it—to drive it yourself. You will find it a new experience in motoring.

wheelbase of 112 inches. Spring leaf ends are tapered, giving smoother action over rough roads and softening their motion over highways. As a further aid to improved cushioning of the car, larger tires, with greater air capacity and added road contact are used.

The second principle utilized to provide the new 'center-poise ride' is that of weight balance and distribution. By moving the engine forward more than eight inches and by other changes in chassis design, the weight of the car with out passengers is nearly equal to each wheel.

Properly Balanced

Moreover, there is no excess weight on either the front or rear wheels when any number of passengers are carried, thus avoiding "front-end heaviness," so shunned by builders of racing cars. This contributes to proper balancing of the car, so that sharp bounce or jarring is eliminated.

The third feature included in the complete meaning of "center-poise ride" and one of major importance is the location of the passengers in both front and rear seats closer to the center of the car. The rear seat is well forward of the rear axle. Thus the comfortable "front seat" ride is now available to those on the back seat as well.

Several factors in the design of the new car are responsible for its road-ability and freedom from excessive side sway. The transverse springs, cross-steering, low center of gravity, the added stiffness of the frame, wider rear tread and balance of the entire car also contribute.

'Center-Poise' Is Riding Feature of New 1935 Ford V-8

Passengers Located Near Center; Smart New Appearance

Three major engineering principles combine to give to the new Ford V-8 for 1935 what Ford engineers term the "center-poise" ride according to W. J. Stevens, local Ford dealer, who is now showing the new models.

These principles are: Correct spring suspension, involving equality of front and rear spring flexibility.

Proper car weight balance and passenger weight distribution.

Location of passengers close to the center of the car.

Utilization of these in combination, as practiced by Ford engineers, achieves for the new Ford V-8 remarkable improvement in riding comfort without sacrifice of either safety or stability.

Better Suspension

In the new Ford V-8 car the well-known Ford transverse spring suspension has been newly applied. Both the front and rear springs are longer and more flexible. The wider front spring is now mounted ahead of the front axle, corresponding with the mounting of the rear spring back of the rear axle. This gives the car a "spring-base" of more than 123 inches, compared with its

Nature Makes Drouth, Man Makes It Worse, Says Gov't Weather Man

Excessive Cultivation, Over Grazing Man's Faults

Man can neither stop the rain from raining nor coax showers from an unwilling sky, according to J. B. Kincer of the Weather Bureau. His, however, is the responsibility for some of the serious effects of last year's drouth, Mr. Kincer said today before the American Meteorological Society meeting at Pittsburgh. Cultivating land that never should have been put under the plow and close grazing of range lands paved the way for excessive soil erosion and severe dust storms when lack of moisture made huge tracts of ground dry and powdery. This situation, climatologists believe, can be improved by restoring to the denuded land its native vegetation or by any device that will diminish the surface velocity of the wind and conserve moisture.

Expansion of the cultivated area was not to blame for lack of rainfall last summer, however. In fact, Mr. Kincer says, in the early part of the century many people attributed the abundance of moisture in the Great Plains States to the sod breaking, now in disrepute as a cause of drouth. From 1900 to 1915, after an enormous increase in the seeding to small grains, many of the dryer parts of the West had more than normal precipitation. Nebraska, for example, had an accumulation of more than 20 inches above normal. But from January to August, 1934, Nebraska's rainfall was down to half the normal.

Nor, Mr. Kincer continues, has the drainage of small lakes, ponds and marshes any appreciable effect on precipitation. Getting enough moisture into the air is less than half the rain making operation. There is nearly always enough moisture in it to produce substantial rains, if the other part of the operation—getting the moisture out—is in good working order.

For instance, in July the air of southern California contains as much moisture as that of central New England. Yet New England averages 100 times as much rain as southern California in midsummer, Minnesota, though dotted with small lakes, has an annual precipitation 25 per cent less than Iowa, hard by, with only a few lakes. More specifically, April, 1934, brought above-normal rains to western Arkansas, while July brought only 4 per cent of normal. Nevertheless, Arkansas actually had 86 per cent more atmosphere moisture in July than in April.

Many more examples might be cited, Mr. Kincer says, to show that precipitation is halted by the failure of the second, rather than the first phase of the rain making process. To effect this second phase, Nature condenses moisture out of the atmosphere by air mass movements—an operation on a scale far too vast for man to emulate. Air from two main sources—the Poles and the Tropics—moves over the earth's surface in mass formation. Masses of polar origin are dense, heavy, and relatively cold; those of tropical origin are comparatively warm and light. When an air mass of tropical origin, moving northward, comes in contact with a polar mass, being lighter it naturally flows up over the opposing dense air, just as it would flow up the side of a mountain that might be in its path. As it rises it expands, thus being cooled down to a point where it gives up its moisture.

Last summer, Mr. Kincer points out, no dense, cool polar air masses moved down from the north until the middle of August. Then a more normal movement there began. This, in conjunction with more favorable air circulation farther south, brought drouth-relieving showers over the interior States.

Census Of Farms—

"The earnest cooperation of the farmer is necessary to the success of this census, for it is one of the federal activities designed primarily for his benefit. However, the welfare of agriculture affects all other industries, directly or indirectly, and the public generally. The statistics are necessary not only for the ordinary transaction of governmental business, but also for allotment programs. The programs range from the allocations of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration to the Federal Emergency Relief and Farm Credit Administrations. Indeed, the benefits expected to be derived from this Census are incalculable and will have a marked influence on the future welfare of agriculture and the country as a whole. At the completion of the canvass every effort will be put forth to make preliminary tabulation reports available at the earliest possible moment.

"Due to the splendid cooperation of newspapers, farm publications, radio broadcasting stations, state and county farm agencies and organizations and educational institutions in disseminating information concerning the importance of this farm census, more than a million copies of the sample schedule have been distributed to farmers. Those who do not have sample schedules are urged to write, phone or call at the farm census headquarters in their district, procure a copy, study the questions and have their records ready when the enumerator calls.

"The headquarters for the First District of Texas is in the Federal Building at Amarillo; the Second District is in the Federal Building at Lubbock; the Sixth District is in the Chamber of Commerce Building at El Paso. The First District of New Mexico is in the Court House at Albuquerque; and the Second District of New Mexico is in the Federal Building at Clovis.

Only sworn employees of the Census Bureau have access to the files. Section 9 of the Fifteenth Decennial Census Act provides penalties for failure to answer questions asked by enumerators or for giving false information.

"Enumerators are legal residents of the districts which they canvass. Some, if not all, of the farmers residing in an enumeration district will know the enumerator personally and they will do well to see that an accurate report is returned for their district. We believe in the year 1935 to the extent of buying a new truck and employing a number of new men.
