Lad Falls From Truck, Suffers Fractured Leg

Intestinal Trouble Complicates Case of C. J. Watts, Jr.

An intestinal obstruction, believed to have developed from an abdominal gunshot wound four years ago, added to the misfortunes of C. J. Watts, Jr., 11-year-old Ozona youth, who was taken to a San Angelo hospital Saturday night for treatment after he had suffered three fractures of his left leg when he fell from a milk truck late Saturday afternoon.

The obstruction, developing Tuesday, necessitated an operation late Tuesday afternoon, according to reports here. The lad was reported resting fairly well, however, despite this added complication.

Falling in his attempt to board the D. F. Parker milk truck late Saturday afternoon in the western part of town, young Watts fell beneath the rear wheel of the truck, the wheel passing over his left leg, breaking it in three places. The thigh bone was badly shattered half way between the knee and hip and the bones were broken in two places below the knee. The lad was given an X-Ray examination in the office of Dr. H. B. Tandy, the breaks being so severe that it was thought advisable to take him to a hospital.

Young Watts suffered an abdominal bullet wound about four years ago when a stray bullet from a .22 rifle in the hands of a neighboring boy, at target practice in his own yard a block away, struck him. The bullet perforated the intestines in several places and adhesions from this wound are thought to have resulted in the obstruction which necessitated the operation to clear.

Mrs. Joe Oberkamp and her sister, Miss Helen Chapman were in San Angelo for the presentation.

Of this total of loans outstanding, $1,230,900 represents Federal Land Bank loans and $152,200 in Commission loans. These amounts went to a total of 78 borrowers, 52 Federal Land Bank and 26 Commission loans.

- Jan. 13, "What We Believe as to The True God."
- Jan. 20, "The Scriptures."

They will be in the form of Bible readings and every one is invited to bring his Bible, note book and pencil. There will be no criticism of other beliefs or institutions. All these messages will be delivered at the morning services during January and February. They will not be in the form of "debate" which God ranks along with terrible sins, the pastor declared.

Crystelle Carson who has been ill with an attack of pneumonia in a San Angelo hospital for the past two weeks had a slight relapse and was unable to come home last week as was planned. She is improving and is expected home in the next day or two.

Each week two Scouts will be named to raise and lower the flag on the pole between the two buildings and see that proper care is taken of it. It will be raised each morning at 8:15 and lowered soon after 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Joe Haddon, local Scoutmaster, is in charge of naming Scout members to the detail duty each week. For the first week, beginning Monday, Clifton Taliaferro and Norman Rendall will have charge of the flag and John Childress and Grover Jones have been detailed for duty on the following week.

Scheduled Ordovician Now Drilling At A-round 1000 Feet

After a successful fishing job to recover a string of tools lost in the hole at 800 feet Saturday morning, the Humble Couch Ordovician test four miles west of Ozona, was drilling at around 1,000 feet yesterday.

Crockett Rancher Turns From Sheep To Chickens And Records Book Profit Of Nearly $1 a Head On 31 Biddies in 1934

J. O. Secrest Keeps Books On Flock Though He Didn't Sell Eggs or Chicks

The business of sheep raising in Crockett County may have hit skids and gone "pfflop!" like that, during the past year, but chicken raising sounded a different note to J. O. Secrest, ranchman and Ozona resident.

The ranchman kept daily booking on his back-yard flock in town as to feed eaten and eggs laid during the entire year of 1934 and when he struck a balance on December 31, he found that figures showed him how his flock of thirty-one had rendered him an equivalent profit of $25.80.

The ranchman smiled, because that was nearly one dollar return per head and he still had his chickens (except the five that went toward Sunday dinners, and they were on the credit side of the ledger).

When the chicken owner struck his balance for the whole year, the sheet looked something like this: Debit—feed, $32.20 (and that ended the debit). Credit—two items. One, eggs totaling 217 dozen and one egg over for the year, averaged at twenty-five cents a dozen, $54.25 (the eggs were eaten). Item two, five chickens that would have brought a total of $3.75 were likewise consumed. Total credit, $58 and the extra egg. Deducting the debit of $32.20 for feed, balance, $25.80 besides twenty-four hens and two roosters.

This is to be filed as a part of Mr. Secrest's annual income tax report and sent in to the government.

The statistical-minded ranchman who has proved that chicken raising pays and did pay in Ozona, will tell you that he won't sell an egg or a chicken but might be persuaded to give away either. He adds that he yet has the pocketbook and money left at his chicken house one night about two years ago by some person who has failed to call for it. Unless the claimant calls soon, the finder says he will give the money to charity.

Twelve Civil Suits Filed Here In 1934

In comparison with a record of twenty civil cases on the 1933 docket, only twelve suits were filed in civil court here during the year just passed.

The usual small number of criminal cases held true for the year that has just elapsed. There was only one more case listed on the criminal docket of 1934 than in 1933. Three trials were held in 1933, and four during 1934.

Mrs. Charles Williams is confined to her home with an attack of the flu.

Joe Sellers Pierce had his tonsils taken out last Thursday. He is home and recovering rapidly.

Brown Is Winner Of Lions Club Gridiron Trophy

Sweaters Awarded To Players At Program Friday Afternoon

Fourteen players on the 1934 Ozona High School football squad, their business manager and Coach Ted White received their handsome new sweaters at a presentation program in the High School auditorium Friday afternoon.

A highlight of the program was the announcement and presentation of the Lions Club silver loving cup to the most valuable player on the Lions squad. This honor and award went to Vaughan Brown, end, whose performance during the season should have won him unanimous selection for all-district end. Brown's name was engraved on the cup, along with the winners of 1932 and 1933, Buddy Moore and Dub Westfall, the selection being kept secret until the award was made Friday afternoon by R. O. Smith, president of the Lions Club.

Brown was selected for the honor by a secret committee named by the club. Members of the basketball team are now competing for a cup offered by the West Texas Lumber Co. to the most valuable player, to be similarly awarded. Brown can not compete for the basketball cup, the company specifying that the award should go to another than the winner of the gridiron trophy.

Musical Program Preceding the presentation of sweaters, Joe Haddon, band and violin instructor, played a violin solo, with Mrs. Neal Hannah accompanying. Miss Nita Nelson,

OLD-AGE PENSIONS

Ft. Worth Star-Telegram: One of the factors contributing to the increased legislation is the removal this month from federal relief rolls of all those who may be classified as unemployable. Persons in this class have in the past made up virtually the whole group cared for by such agencies of public charity as old-age homes, poor farms, etc. Most of them are aged, so that the probability is high that there will result this year some national arrangement for old-age pensions in which the Federal Government will share to the extent of contributions of funds to the States.

Since 1931 no less than 17 States have enacted laws establishing old-age pensions, as compared with 11 States enacting such laws prior to 1931. The shift in public sentiment on the question is well shown in Ohio. In the Autumn of 1933 the voters of that State went 3 to 1 for an old-age pension law, whereas 10 years previously a referendum in Ohio had gone 2 to 1 against a similar proposal.

The 1930 census showed 6,633,806 persons in the United States aged 65 or over. They constituted 5 1/2 per cent of the entire population. Only one-third of this group was reported as gainfully employed, and this percentage has undoubtedly decreased since that year. It may be assumed, therefore, that there is at least 5,000,000 persons in the United States 65 years of age or older who are unable to support themselves. FERA recently estimated that approximately 3,500,000 persons now getting federal relief could be classified as unemployable.

The percentage of the aged in the population has been steadily increasing in recent decades, due to the increase in the average life span. And the percentage of the dependant unemployed among the aged has been increasing at the same time. Reasons for this are: The tendency of trade and industry to impose lower age limits for employment; the introduction of complicated labor-saving machinery has favored the young and active workers who may still be adaptable to new methods, with the elderly usually the first to be laid off and the last to be taken on; higher standards of living have resulted in later marriages and fewer offspring, so that there are fewer children to care for their aged parents or grandpar-

The traditional asylum of the indigent aged in the United States has been the poorhouse. Advocates of old-age pensions insist that the poorhouse is more expensive as well as socially less desirable than pensions. It has been reliably estimated that the cost of maintenance per poorhouse inmate ranges from $80 to $25 a month, with the average around $40. Thirty dollars a month is the maximum now being paid under the old age pension laws of the State.

It is obvious that the argument that a pension plan would cost the public less than the poorhouse system assumes that the number of pensioners would be no more than the number previously supported by public charity. This assumption seems likely to be radically inaccurate.

Some of the 28 old-age pension laws now in operation are manda-

CHANGE IT ALL AT ONCE

Abilene Morning News: The supreme indifference with which Texans regard the general election, except in years when Hoovercrats flourish or repeal is on the ballot, is little short of amazing.

However, it is explained readily enough by the overwhelming democratic sentiment of the State. Nomination is tantamount to election.

As far as the State and National tickets are concerned, it isn't important that Texans vote in large numbers except as a matter of conscientious discharge of duty; but when you have grave questions of State interest on the ballot, such as the eight constitutional amendments voted on recently, you have a situation that calls for thought.

Why not have a constitutional convention, bring our charter up to date in one sweep, and let the people vote on it without confusion or distraction of side issues? The instrument is nearly 60 years old, and resembles a jigsaw puzzle in some respects. Piecemeal revision is unsatisfactory. What we need is a constitution framed in light of modern practices and the development of the State.

Wellington Leader: A London man simplified matters by leaving his estate to his lawyer in the first place.

Newark Ledger: A great executive is one who has sense enough to go fishing after hiring the right man to do the work.

Greenbro (Ga.) Herald-Journal: Some people are born mute. Then others get elected vice-president of the United States.

Frequently society editors refer to a marriage as being a "quiet wedding". What do they expect at a wedding—a riot?

Requests are being made that government officials stop Amelia Earhart from flying from Hawaii to California. We suggest the publicity seeking woman be allowed to go ahead and commit suicide. She has been a minor nuisance long enough. — "Prickly Pear" in Herald, Del Rio.

others are optional. Citizenship is a requisite, as also is a definite period of residence in the State, usually 15 years. All except four of the state laws have requirements as to income, or assets, or both; and most of them demand that the recipients have no relative able to support him and legally responsible for his support.

In the last Congress the Dill-Connelly old-age pension bill passed the Senate, only to be immediately rejected on reconsideration when the bill was alleged to be out of step with the President's social welfare program. The bill authorized the Federal Government to pay one-third of the total payments under acceptable state old-age pension schemes.

HOW TO AVOID PRISON

Abilene Reporter-News: Prisoners should have a pretty good idea how they might have avoided prison, so the questionnaire answered by 40 inmates of the Dallas county jail the other day should throw some dependable light on the subject.

Summed up, the rules for staying out of jail as given by the prisoners were:

1. Don't marry too young.
2. Don't stay out late at night.
3. Obey your parents.
4. Know the character of your associates.

There, you will agree, is a pretty sensible and safe pattern of conduct, sketched by a group of men who ought to know.

Evil companions probably lead more young men to prison than any other single factor. For that reason the prisoners' fourth rule is the most important. It might easily be combined with Nos. 2 and 3, since late hours and disobedience are the natural products of evil associations.

An interesting sidelight on the questionnaire is that 27 of the prisoners had gone through grade school and two were college graduates. The preponderance of the uneducated suggests the thought that poverty of economic strain plays a rather large part in the creation of criminals. There are educated criminals, to be sure, but most incorrigibles have somehow missed their schooling.

PEOPLE'S LOBBY

San Angelo Times: Creation of an official "people's lobby," so named by the authors, has been provided for in a bill drawn by the senate tax committee to be introduced in the January legislature.

The bill designates the state tax commissioner, the attorney general and state auditor as members of this lobby, and limits its duties to advising and assisting the legislature on all tax bills.

It provides the auditor shall furnish house and senate committees with statistical matter, the attorney general shall advise them on legal aspects of all bills, and the tax commissioner advise them as to policies, effects, revenues and administration of the proposed laws.

The people's lobby is called upon by the bill to sit in on all legislative hearings and committee review of taxation measures.

Chairman Arthur P. Duggan of the senate committee said this bill is the first step to give the general citizenship officials representation before the legislature on measures affecting it. Other senators are confident it will contribute materially to efficiency and constructive policy in tax legislation.

Another thing of greater importance would be for the folks at home to contact their legislators, take more interest in legislative proceedings and put up the stop signs when tax theorists seem to have the right of way.

Assistant Executive To Serve Boy Scout Troops Of Council

Additional Boy Scout service was assured Concho Valley Council this week when Jack Stone, former Assistant Scout Executive of Oklahoma City, was added to the executive staff.

Stone completed a four-day trip only Tuesday night covering every point of the Concho Valley area, accompanied by R. L. Billington, Scout Executive. He assumed his duties January 1st.

The new Scout Executive will spend most of his hours in the "field," concentrating on the training of leadership, in the strengthening of troops and in giving a better program of Scouting to Concho Valley. He spent a year and a half in the Central Oklahoma Council, is a graduate of the Thirty-ninth National Training School for Executives at Mondham, N. J. and holds a Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of Oklahoma.

The newcomer to West Texas is a native of Oklahoma, having been born in the small town of McAlester. He reached his Eagle Scout rank in Oklahoma City and was awarded the badge by Col. Charles Lindbergh in 1928. His camping experience was gained in numerous Oklahoma camps.

VIGOROUS AUTO INDUSTRY

Houston Chronicle: Passenger automobiles in the United States showed an increase of 900,000 in 1934 over the preceding year, the first time since 1929 that an increase was recorded.

The total number of cars in operation this year is slightly greater than in 1928.

This year there were 21,505,007 passenger cars registered and 3,421,088 trucks. This was an increase of 4.6 per cent in passenger cars and 6 per cent in trucks.

Ten States have more than 1,000,000 cars each. New York tops the list with 2,010,000 passenger cars. California, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois, Texas and Michigan are the others in their relative order.

All of which indicates that the automobile industry is on the way back from the depths of depression. And it indicates that the public that buys the cars is in better financial condition than at any time since 1929.

Just Indians

A certain bishop tells many amusing stories of his work among the Indians.

On one occasion he was visiting a tribe, and it was arranged that after dinner, he and one of the chiefs were to go for a long ride.

"Will it be safe for me to leave my baggage here?" asked the bishop before they started.

"Yes," was the reply. "There is not a white man within forty miles."

21 Percent Of Population In Texas On Relief

Three Million Dollars To Be Spent In January In State

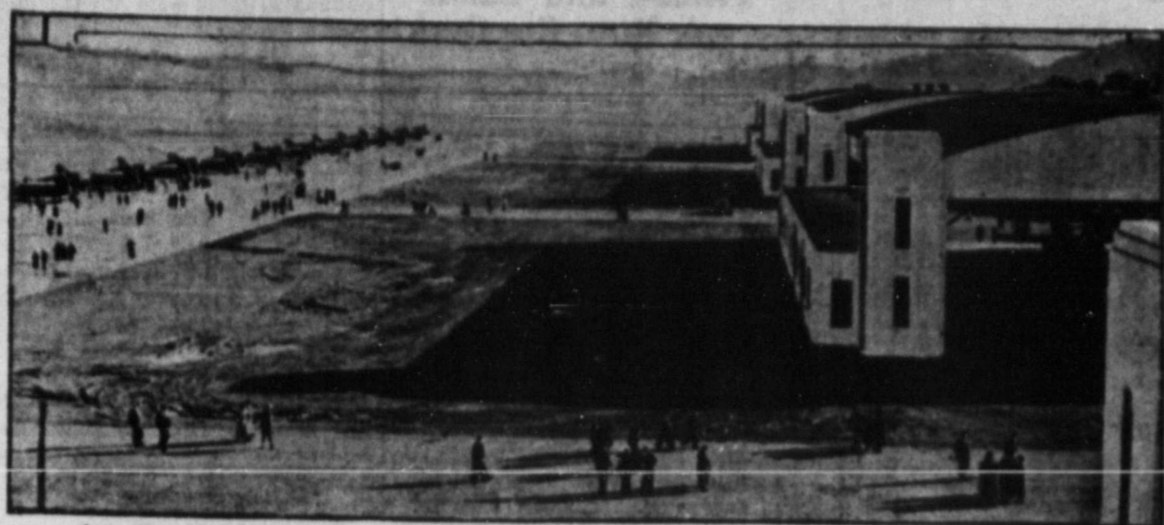

AUSTIN, Jan. 9.—Officials of the Texas Relief Commission were confronted last week by a relief case load of 300,667 as they began the new year's battle against unemployment. The figure represented an increase of 8.9 per cent over the December total of 270,595.

State Relief Director Adam R. Johnson attributed the increase to the winter season and to the fact that last summer's drought has left little opportunity for employment in the rural areas of the state.

"In view of the fact that our relief load now includes slightly more than 20 per cent of the state's population, we are hopeful that we have reached the peak load," Johnson said. "Our administrators have been cautioned to carefully inspect all new applications for relief and to require all applicants to testify under oath as to their true financial condition, as directed by legislative act. This ought to take care of all imposters."

Officials were calculating budgets for the 253 counties of the state today based on their reported case loads. Relief authorities will assist about 1,225,000 persons this month, approximately 21 per cent of the state's population. Although the rolls are larger, it is believed the budgets for individual cases will be maintained at last month's levels because the legislature allowed $1,500,000 for relief purposes this month against

Rabies Is More Common In Cold Than Hot Weather

AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 9.—Rabies is commonly supposed to prevail only during the hot months, but is in fact more prevalent in cold weather, declared Dr. John W. Brown, State Health Officer. More dog bites occur from April to September, than from October to March in this climate, because dogs run abroad more freely at this season of the year, and many dogs are killed needlessly. However, the heads examined at the State Laboratory during the cool months show a higher number as having rabies.

Rabies is primarily a disease of dogs and in this way is transmitted to man. It is kept alive in nature mainly by the dog and the dog family. Rabies in cats and skunks is comparatively rare and is but occasionally transmitted to man.

The saliva of rabid animals contain the germ of rabies. Rabies may occur in persons with extremely small abrasions of the skin contaminated with infected saliva. The incubation period of rabies in man is usually from 40 to 70 days, but it may be longer up to a year. The average period in man is forty days, the this period is usually shorter in children or following bites on the face. The closer the bite is to the brain the more dangerous it is.

The disease may be controlled by means of intelligent measures directed towards the dog. It is mainly the stray dog that keeps rabies alive. Stray dogs should be impounded and ownerless dogs killed. All dogs should be licensed and required to wear a tag. Owners of such animals should be held legally responsible for damage inflicted by them. All cases of suspected rabies should be promptly reported to health officials.

Care should be exercised in killing a suspected rabid dog, not to injure the brain, for if this is done it is impossible for the Laboratory to make a satisfactory examination.

THE FELON AND THE QUAIL

(McAlester, Okla.—Matt Kimes, convicted bank robber-slayer, serving a life term in the state prison here, checked out of the penitentiary today in company with his attorney, presumably to go quail hunting. He obtained a six-day leave of absence from Governor Murray. Kimes is a hunting enthusiast.—Associated Press dispatch).

When the bob white's heard to whistle
Through the cool November day
Then's the time a man in prison
Feels the urge to get away;
Then's the time he craves his freedom
So he can a-hunting go,
For the lack of birds in prison
Keeps a felon's spirit low.

Hark! I hear the quail a-calling
In the nearby field, I do,
And the call can't be resisted
For it thrills me thru and thru
Warden, get my hunting raiment—
Fetch me, if you please, a gun!
For I hear the game birds calling
And I've gotta have my fun.

What! It might be held improper?
Warden, please don't be like that;
And my hunting shirt and hat!
Phone my lawyer if you're doubtful;
He'll convince you that it's fair

To provide the penned-in hunter
With the bracing woodland air.
Thanks! I knew that you would do it—

Ah, I had no doubt at all:
You're a real big-hearted warden
And you know the bob white's call;
Soon my counsel will be over.
What? He's bringing guns for two.
That will simplify the problem,
And I'm much obliged to you.

Here he is; I hear his auto
Honking for me at the gate,
Open my cell door quickly
For he hates to have to wait!
Oh, the joy of woodland tramping
As the timid quail we seek!
Do not worry, Mr. Warden—
I'll be gone about a week.

Lissen! . . . What's my counsel shouting
As he sits there at the wheel?
I can't quite make out his words,
sir,

But he's making some appeal;
Oh, I hear him now quite clearly
This is what he seems to want
Has the prison got a bird dog
It could lend us for the jaunt?

3½ Millions Of Federal Relief Funds To Texas

AUSTIN, Jan. 9.—Federal authorities have notified State Relief Director Adam R. Johnson of the allocation of $3,674,695 of federal funds for the relief of dependent persons in Texas during the month of January.

The allotment includes sums for various purposes as follows: General relief, $1,500,000 (to match a similar sum made available by the state); drought relief, $1,609,200; cattle program, $250,000; transient bureaus, $125,000; student aid, $63,195; emergency education, $127,300.

Mr. Johnson had not received a reply to applications for $779,046.98 for rural rehabilitation and $6,132 for workers' education programs. If total amounts of these applications are granted, the January total of federal grants to Texas would slightly exceed those for December, when $4,304,395 was made available to the state.

TALLEST CACTUS

This cactus, located on the desert nine miles from Phoenix, Ariz., is said to be the largest in the world. It is 40 feet tall, has 51 branches or "arms," weighs ten tons and is estimated to be some three hundred years old.

Things look dark for the already harassed pedestrian, no matter how agile he may be. Some nut in California has invented an automobile that can jump 50 feet.

APPRECIATION

The WEST TEXAS UTILITIES COMPANY is duly appreciative for the patronage and co-operation received from its customers and friends the past year.

Our aim has been to render a superior service at constantly reduced rates. In expression of our gratefulness for the patronage received, we have continued our policy of rate reductions. Our customers are now able to enjoy a dependable electric service at rates below the state's average.

Our hope of reward is in YOUR INCREASED USE of service. Your continued increase in patronage and your co-operative influence in obtaining full information so as to understand your power company's problems will combine our efforts in the future development of West Texas and reduced cost of electric service.

We feel that we have established a foundation by our past experiences and achievements for a greater public service. As we close out the year of 1934 and make our plans for service in the future, we pledge our entire organization—to the 160 towns and communities we serve—in a continued improvement of our service.

Economic Conditions Becoming More Settled As Confidence Of Industry Returning, Texas Research Head Finds

Cooperative Spirit Of Business And Government Hopeful Sign

AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 9.—Though uncertainty and fear still exist, economic conditions in the United States are becoming more settled, according to Dr. F. A. Buechel, assistant director of the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

"Business recovery appears to have entered a new phase in which the rate of gain is showing cumulative improvement," Dr. Buechel said. "Confidence among industrial leaders is being gradually restored. Business men and government officials are manifesting a greater cooperative spirit. The labor problem, although far from solved, is showing signs of clarifying; fears of monetary inflation have been allayed for the present; earlier apprehensions that the profit incentive was threatened have been largely removed, and the administration's plans and objectives are becoming more clearly defined than at any time in the past eighteen months."

"Nevertheless, uncertainty and fear have not entirely been dissipated. In fact, two events recently occurred which appear to have given a sharp set-back to the incipient spirit of cooperation which has been developing between business and government during recent weeks. The first was the reported unfavorable reception of the report of the joint conference for business recovery by certain high government officials; and, second, the reply of the chairman of the Federal Power Commission to the memorial presented by the president of Edison Electric Institute.

Divergent Views

"There is ground for belief that the first incident referred to represents only a temporary interruption in the growing good will between business leaders and the administration; but the second brings to a focus two points of view which superficially, at least, seem difficult to reconcile. One regards electricity primarily as a business, a source of possible profit. The other looks on it first and foremost as a commodity for human use. The first point of view is set forth in the memorial, which quotes from a Supreme Court decision: 'The slight gain to the consumer from lower rates is as nothing compared to his share in the ruin which would be brought about by denying to private property its just reward, thus unsettling values and destroying confidence.' The second point of view is exemplified in Senator Norris' recent descriptions of electricity as civilization's greatest blessing; with Tennessee Valley Authority Director David E. Lillenthal's picture of what electricity means to the farmer, the housewife, and the citizen; with the National Resources Board's emphasis on social value of a wide use of 'this great aid to life.'

"The question of 'production for profits' versus 'production for use' as a live issue is not confined to the field of public utilities. In a recent statement regarding the outlook for business during next year Leonard P. Ayres, vice president of the Cleveland Trust Company, repeats for 1935 the fourteen specific forecasts he made a year ago in connection with the outlook for 1934. His forecast last year, it might be mentioned, was not very optimistic. He makes the following reservation, however, with regard to its application to 1935: 'If we should make soon the readjustments in our political economy that would give most corporations such renewed confidence in their ability to earn profits that they would make the needed additions, betterments and replacements in their equipment, these forecasts would fall far short of being adequately optimistic.'

Congress Disturbs

"The coming session of Congress may for a time, at least, be somewhat disturbing to business psychology. When the measures that will actually be passed begin to assume their final form, however, there will probably be less cause for alarm. It is believed that the President will be able to control Congress, and his wishes will probably be followed in the majority of enactments. Aims of the administration appear fairly well defined as being focussed on recovery in cooperation with industry.

"The legislative program, it is expected, will be devoted largely to readjusting and refining laws already on the books. Forthcoming Supreme Court decisions on certain phases of government control of business and agriculture may require additional legislation, modifying them to meet constitutional requirements."

Pecos Medico Goes Fishing and Lands A Nice, Big Duck!

PECOS—Here's one for Mr. Ripley. Dr. James L. Kincannon of Pecos went bass fishing last Sunday and caught a duck.

Nope, it's not a fairy tale or a fish story but the plain truth. The way it happened was this:

Dr. and Mrs. Kincannon were fishing at Lake Leon, at Ft. Stockton last Sunday. Dr. Kincannon was casting far into the lake when a duck made a pass at his minnow as it whirled through the water. The duck got the minnow and the minnow hooks got the duck. Then ensued the battle of the century, so far as Dr. Kincannon is concerned. The fowl dived with the bait, tried to fly with it and generally raised Cain. Finally, Dr. Kincannon wrapped the line around a weed, went to his car and got his shotgun and killed the duck. And to climax the tale, Dr. Kincannon and his wife ate the duck Monday night.

I want him to get it, and don't pay attenshun to what his father sez. I'll handle him."—Altoona (Kans) Tribune.

Husband—Quite easily, my dear I accidentally dropped the half pound of butter in the fire.

Employment And Payrolls Still On Up In Texas

AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 9.—Reports to the Bureau of Business Research of The University of Texas from 1,578 Texas establishments on employment conditions for the week ending December 15 give a total of 80,853 employees, an increase of nearly 1 per cent over November and 1.6 per cent over the corresponding week in December last year. Payrolls for the week totaled $1,842,000, up 1 per cent from the previous month and 5.1 per cent above that in the corresponding week a year ago. Classes of establishments in which the increase in number of workers showed an increase greater than the average for all establishments were: Women's clothing manufacturing, furniture manufacturing, newspaper publishing and retail stores.

It's An Honor to Receive A Bill

INSTEAD of getting all riled up when the mail man brings you a bill or statement of account, you should be genuinely pleased for it is an indication that someone has faith in your honesty.

- When you receive a bill it indicates that your credit is good, and that someone is willing to take your word that you will pay.
- Credit is the most valuable thing a person can have. Money may be had by various means, but credit comes only from years of honesty and prompt meeting of bills when due. When you pay a bill, you are merely being honest.
- When you receive a bill, then, meet it if you possibly can. If you can't frankly tell your creditor why you can't. You'll find him more than ready to meet you half-way.
- Cherish your credit as you do your health, happiness, and other priceless boons equally rare and elusive.

Hollywood Sound Technician, Native Australian, World Traveler, Now Seeks New Interest In Crockett County Oil

L. K. Tregellas Worked 4 Years In English Film Center

By William Gray
Studio work on the talking picture lot is one of the most fascinating yet exacting of the entire professions," believes L. K. Tregellas, native Australian who has acted as technical director in both Hollywood and Elstree, cinema center of England.

Now interested with other California men in the Leslie-Hillier nest on the Todd Ranch, northwest of Ozona, the talking picture technician is residing at present in Ozona. His connections are not severed from Hollywood, however, for he is likely to receive a studio call at any time.

During a quintet of years in technical production work at the film centers of England and America, Tregellas has worked alongside such notable screen celebrities as Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Douglas Fairbanks, Sr., Leslie Howard, Charles Laughton and Paul Lukas. In each case he has found the stars likeable, friendly and admirable people.

"Only they lose their glamour away from the arrayed finery and background given them on the celluloid," says Tregellas.

Born In Australia
Born in the gold mining town of Bendigo, Victoria, Australia, Tregellas attended the technical school there studying electrical engineering. From assistant producer of the Melbourne Theatre Guild, he went to England and there began motion picture work at Elstree, thirteen miles north of London. During four and a half years he was employed in about seventy film productions.

Tregellas has picked up his knowledge that benefits him in production work from his travels in France, Switzerland, Spain, North Africa, England and recently in the United States. He observes closely customs, habits and dialects of peoples and architecture.

One of the last productions at Elstree in which the new Ozonan worked, was "Henry VIII" in which screen spectacle Charles Laughton was starred.

Tregellas came to Hollywood last July and acted as technical director for the latest screen play of the noted Hungarian star, Paul Lukas. His duty was to correlate custom, costume, architecture and to adjust a fitting background that would be convincing.

Describes Process
The new comer to Ozona described the sound process on the picture set simply:

"A 'mike' hangs as nearly as possible above the center of the artists performing on the set. This is connected with a 'mixing booth' where the volume of sound is controlled. From here the sound is conveyed to a bank of amplifiers and is 'stepped up' and relayed to the recording machine.

"Sound is recorded on film and the picture is also recorded on a separate film. The two are synchronized by a minutely arranged interlocking system which is electrically controlled. At the director's 'shoot' both films start unrolling simultaneously."

Frank Capra, rising from a tattered Italian immigrant boy to an eminent director in Hollywood, is the ascending figure in directing circles now and may rank with Thalberg, Lubitch and DeMille, according to Tregellas.

"The job of technical director is a ticklish one," the film technician will tell you in an accelerated "Down Under" accent that is more than strikingly contrasted to the Texas "drawl."

Earl Deland, Ozona trucker, was carried from here Tuesday to Brownwood where he is to receive medical treatment. He has been confined to his bed here for the past few weeks. Accompanying were his wife and mother and Harry Joslin.

Interscholastic League Offers Wider Range Of Contests

The Interscholastic League of this county offers the schools this year a wide variety of contests, according to C. S. Denham, recently elected Director General of the organization for the current school year.

Friday, March 8, has been tentatively set as the date for the Crockett County meet, Mr. Denham announced.

"No other extra-curricular activity," he said, "engages the interest and stimulates endeavor along helpful lines more than the contests which are scheduled for the county meets. Here we have an activity for practically every child. There is opportunity for participation in fifteen different fields, both athletic and literary, ranging from the third grade on up to the last year in high school."

"We are advised from the State Office that the Constitution and Rules is ready for distribution and that applications for membership are coming in from schools in all parts of the state."

Last year nearly six thousand schools joined the League and participated in its work in 220 different counties. There are contests arranged for every class of public school, including rural, ward, and both small and large high schools, and all-round championships are decided in each of the divisions at the county meet."

Friday, March 8, is the tentative date set for the Crockett County meet, Mr. Denham said.

Final Exams For First Semester Now In Progress

Final examinations covering the first semester work were begun Wednesday and will continue through Friday in both high and junior high schools here, according to announcement of superintendent C. S. Denham.

Reports recently filed in the office of the superintendent revealed that 325 pupils are enrolled in the five white attended schools in Crockett County at present. Enrollment at the local Mexican school showed 162 but a membership of only 118. Current membership in the other schools fell only fourteen below enrollment.

There are at present twenty-one teachers employed by the county in the six county-maintained schools. The smallest school in the county is the Fort Lancaster unit which maintains one teacher and has enrolled thirteen pupils.

Scout Executive And New Assistant Are Ozona Visitors

Scout Executive R. L. Billington, and Jack Stone, newly appointed to the executive staff of the Concho Valley Council, stopped in Ozona last Friday and conferred with the local scoutmaster, Joe Hadden. It was an introductory trip for the new scout head to meet leaders of scouting throughout the council area.

Plans and arrangements are now under way in San Angelo for the Annual Meeting of the Concho Valley Council which is to be held there on Thursday, January 24, at the St. Angelus Hotel. The local scoutmaster will go from here to attend the conclave and probably will be accompanied by the troop sponsoring committee here.

According to Haddon, Ozona's unit, Troop 53, is growing rapidly. Many of the scout members already have uniforms and ten boys have passed the second degree test, and about ten more are preparing for the test. The troop has a registration of thirty-two and several other boys are attending regularly.

METHODIST CHURCH NOTES

The second Sunday in January is College Day this year in the Methodist churches. Mention will be made of Methodist Schools in Texas. At 11 o'clock the pastor will preach on "A Spiritual Program of Economic Recovery."

The night sermon will be on "Union With Christ." Officers of the Missionary Society will be installed at the morning service. The prayer meeting next Wednesday night will finish the studies in Characters and Events in Methodist History.

Indianapolis Star: The Dionne quintuplets will plan their own lives, say the parents. That should mean at least five different cigarette and cosmetic endorsements.

Consistent Values....

Win Consistent Customers

We strive to win your good will and your consistent patronage by giving you, day in and day out, consistent value for every dollar you spend—taking only a fair margin of profit, buying judiciously to get the best values in our own purchases, and maintaining always a high standard of merchandise and service.

You may be baited with "seconds"—you may be hoodwinked for a time with false values, but the intelligent buyer will in time realize the advantage of consistent fair prices.
