ROCKSPRINGS DABS DIST. FLAG HOPES OF LIONS 12-0; BATTLE ELDORADO SAT. FOR 2ND PLACE

Eagles Invade Local Lot For Season's Last Contest

The Ozona High Lions, Coach Ted White's battling grid aggregation, after three straight wins in district combat, gave up their golden opportunity for a district championship last Saturday afternoon when they were overpowered by the huge Rocksprings Bulldogs 12 to 0 on the rock-strewn, wind-swept playing field in the Edwards County capital.

A high south wind and the plow-ed, boulder-littered playing field made it a miserable afternoon for both spectators and players. The bulky Bulldogs also contributed considerably to the discomfort of the Lions during the afternoon's soiree, Captain Leonard Freeman coming out of the fracas with a broken finger, D. A. Parker with a wrenched shoulder and others of the squad somewhat battered and bruised as a result of their vain efforts to halt the rushes of the mountain of flesh from the Edwards barrens.

The Bulldogs scored early in the game on a series of end runs by Earwood and Brown and delayed backs to the weak side of the line by Cloude. The second marker came in the second frame after a blocked punt gave them possession of the ball on Ozona's two-yard line. The bulky Bulldog backs were stopped dead at the line in three successive attempts at the lighter Lion line, but on the fourth try, a left-end run across the field netted the needed yardage to the pay stripe. Earwood failed to convert on each try for extra point.

Lions Uncork Aerial

The second half featured a series of passes by the Lions, the beautiful combination that laid the Sonora Broncs low showing itself as a serious threat to the championship hopes of the Bulldogs in that last half. The Lions made several long gains with their aerial attack, only to be stopped by interceptions. The Bulldogs were forced to use the boot extensively in the last half to keep out of danger.

With Rocksprings riding almost to a certain district championship with only Junction yet to be hurdled, the Ozona Lions and the Eldorado Eagles will battle it out on the local field next Saturday afternoon to decide second place in the district race.

The Eagles, 1933 champions, were 7-0 victims of the championship-bound Bulldogs in their recent contest. Except for the "break" of a blocked punt in the second quarter, the Lions would have stood off the Bulldogs to a one-touchdown margin. The Eagles, then, can claim only a shade of advantage from the "dope" standpoint in Saturday's contest here, and with the memory of that "penetrations" victory last year that gave the Eagles the district championship and left the Lions in second place still vivid, a thrilling battle is predicted. The game starts at 2:30. It will be the last game of the season for the Lions and a record crowd is expected to be on hand.

Chapter officials plan to wind up the local drive as early next week as possible. Workers have promised to complete their canvass by the end of this week and the final report will likely be ready sometime next week.

Ranch Hand Hurt In Fall Of Horse

Tom Carpenter Suffers Broken Jaw, Brain Concussion

Tom (Chunky) Carpenter, ranch hand employed on the A. C. Hoover Live Oak ranch, is in a serious condition in a San Angelo hospital as a result of injuries suffered late Monday afternoon when his horse fell with him on the ranch.

Carpenter was brought to Ozona Monday night and was given emergency treatment by Dr. H. B. Tandy. An X-Ray examination made by Dr. Tandy disclosed a fractured and dislocated jaw and a severe brain concussion. His body was also badly bruised.

Carpenter and a group of other employees were returning to the ranch when his horse tripped and fell, the rider being caught beneath the falling animal. He was conscious only at intervals while being examined here, but at last reports from his bedside yesterday, some improvement in his condition was noted. He had been employed on the Hoover ranch for a number of years.

Metz Bishop Is Victim Of Heart Attack On Hunt

Metz Bishop, 43, rancher, who is well known in Ozona, fell dead from his horse while on a deer hunt on the Sid Millsbaugh ranch near Kent Sunday. Mr. Bishop and a companion, Joe Seago, were returning to the ranch house after the hunt when the stricken man slumped and fell from the horse. His companion went for aid, a coroner from Kent examining the body.

Mr. Bishop at one time ranched on leased acreage in Crockett County and was lately running a place near Sweetwater. Mrs. Bishop, who is county health nurse of Tom Green County, spoke at the Boy Scout Investiture ceremonies here last Thursday evening.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon from the Johnson funeral home in San Angelo.

IS THE VINEGARON POISONOUS? OLD CAMPFIRE DEBATE QUESTION MAY BE SETTLED IN TESTS IN SCIENCE LAB

The long-standing moot question of whether or not the vinegaron, that vicious looking whip scorpion, supposedly of Mexican origin, found in great numbers in the Southwest, is poisonous or not may be solved by experimentation in the science laboratory of the Ozona High School.

A "battle of the century" between a vinegaron and a giant centipede wherein the vinegaron emerged victorious, was staged in the laboratory yesterday, but the kill was made while watchers temporarily absent and the experimenters are still in doubt as to the methods used by the black fellow.

Coming into possession of both a live centipede and a vinegaron at the same time, Guinn Carruthers, science and manual training teacher

FIRST RAINS SINCE SPRING FALL IN AREA

Fall Light In Parts Of County But General Over West Texas

HALF INCH HERE

Over Four Inches In Angelo Area, Water Holes Filled

The mantle of gloom that had begun to settle over West Texas at the prospect of a continuation of the prolonged drouth through the winter months began to lift this week with general rains throughout West Texas, bountiful in some localities and lighter in others.

Falls of from a quarter inch to more than two inches were reported from various sections of Crockett County. A precipitation of a half inch was recorded in Ozona. To the south the fall was lighter, but to the north and east heavy falls were reported.

San Angelo and surrounding territory received the largest rains in many months, more than four inches having been recorded in that city. The drop in temperature here yesterday threatened for a time to dispel any hope for further moisture, but despite the stiff and cold west wind, a drizzle set up at intervals and continued through the night. The promise of more rain still is held out, unless a norther comes swooping down to scuttle the clouds.

For the first time in more than eight months, the draw east of Ozona which cuts through the town was flowing bank full Monday morning as a result of heavy rains at its head in the vicinity of the Dan Wills, Ray Piner and Jake Young ranches. The Johnson draw did not flow.

Last Half Payment Will Then Not Be Due Until June

Taxpayers of Crockett County who wish to take advantage of the split payment plan for paying their 1933 property taxes are warned in an announcement this week by W. S. Willis, sheriff and tax collector, that the first half payment must be made by the end of this month.

The last day for paying the first half of the split payment is November 30. Unless half of the amount is paid by that date the entire amount must be paid before February 1 to avoid penalty and interest. If the split payment is adopted, the last half payment may be made up to June 1 without penalty.

THURSDAY NOVEMBER 22 1934

AND THEY FOLDED UP THEIR TENTS AND DEPARTED

McCamey News: A carnival, scheduled to play here during the past week as an Armistice Day attraction, was closed down late Wednesday night by Sheriff W. C. Fowler and Chief of Police F. O. Senter, following a gang fight between carnival employees and customers who alleged they had been "gypped."

The brawl is alleged to have started over the winning of a $2 blanket by a local man, and on refusal of the carnival to pay off, a fight resulted. Eye-witnesses stated yesterday that it seemed that the supposed athletic show had been brought out on the midway, for fists flew thick and fast, and as soon as peace officers could bring the situation under control, the crowd was dispersed, and the carnival ordered to leave town immediately.

Such traveling "gypping institutions" as the one which was ordered out of town Wednesday evening, has no place in the amusement world, for rather than being a source of good clean amusement they are usually no more than one-sided gambling dens, that TAKE with pleasure, but DELIVER with pain--when they deliver at all.

It is true that the public should know better than to "play" such schemes, but true to that American sporting instinct, the "boys" gang up and go down to lake in the carnival. And the "gypper" is always ready, for just as soon as the suckers are inside the grounds and feeling around for some amusement, the "decoy" is rushed out from behind a wagon and starts playing. Strange as it may seem, the "decoy" always wins while the suckers stand by and look on, and after he has left, with his pockets bulging with cash, the suckers step up and get gypped.

A carnival is one place where the customer is always wrong, for if ever there is a benefit of the doubt, the carnival always wins, provided, unless someone starts a row, and then, may the best man win. Just who won Wednesday evening, 'tis difficult to say, for blows fell fast and furious, but if the truth be told, the citizens of McCamey won, for immediately the forces of the law stepped in, took matters in hand, and ordered the show to leave town.

Every few months such a traveling "gypping" institution hits this section and always they leave with their bankrolls swelled and all of the ready cash that might have gone to local merchants, goes with them, while those who were the victims have nothing to show for their money. Had that money been spent in McCamey, it might have returned in other channels to those who had spent it, sooner or later, but once you spend even a thin dime with a fly-by-night gang like the one ousted from McCamey this week, that dime is hoarded away in pockets that take all and leave nothing, but a stench in the nostrils of the citizens of a town, and the litter on a vacant lot upon which they set their apparatus.

The sooner the public will open their eyes to the fact that such organizations are unfit for law-abiding citizens to patronize, the sooner such "gypping joints" will steer clear of our city. Through the co-operation of the city council, the sheriff, the police department, and the public in general, such organizations can be forced to pass McCamey by, when they arrive in our section, and only just such co-operation as that will eliminate them.

Evidently the above editorial recounts the experience of the same carnival aggregation that spent a week in Ozona and "gypped" several hundred Ozona folk out of considerable hard-earned cash. If a citizen set up a gambling house, especially with the odds 100 per cent in favor of the house as these fly-by-night carnivals do, he would be jailed without delay, yet the "suckers" pack the grounds and "eat it up" when the gypers set up their gear.

THE CHANCE OF A LIFETIME

Los Angeles Times: One of the great, unsatisfied cries of the present day is to get back to nature, to live in the open close to the good soil; away from the artificial life of the city, to find some green, untouched and un-sullied paradise in a more primitive world. Many thousands have voiced such aspirations, especially since the bottom fell out of the stock market and inflation reared several of its hydra heads.

For those in earnest such an opportunity at last presents itself. The land of their dreams actually exists and it fills the specifications of the imagined earthly paradise. In the center of the huge island of New Guinea, shut off from the outer world by towering mountains, the Australian government has discovered a region of 5,000 square miles of verdant uplands, warm, fertile and healthful, unspoiled by civilization, unknown hitherto to the white man, and but sparsely populated with teachable aborigines. Rider Haggard, Jules Verne or H. G. Wells never imagined anything more ideal.

Five thousand square miles of dream land is large enough to accommodate a goodly portion of our artists, poets, nature lovers and back-to-the-primitive-ers. The question is, now that we have discovered it, what are we going to do about it? Are we going to merely talk about it like we do of the weather or the unfair distribution of wealth, or are we going after this rare chance to show what can be done in an ideal spot where we can have everything the way it ought to be?

It should prove a model colony for our latter-day Utopians if they really want to put their theories into practice. Think of a happy valley where nature provides everything needful and there are no taxes to pay! Imagine living in a country where every prospect pleases and where not even man is vile.

HOW O'CLOCK STARTED

How people in England first came to say "10 o'clock" instead of "tenth hour" or similar expressions used as far back in history as the Romans is explained by Dr. J. K. Fotheringham of Oxford University in a chapter on the ancient history of hours and days contributed to next year's volume of the Nautical Almanac, official publication of British governmental astronomers for the use of ships' captains at sea. About A. D. 1400, when the "o'clock" expression first was introduced, two different kinds of hours were in use. According to the older system, going back to ancient Egyptian and Babylonian days, an hour had no fixed length but was merely a twelfth part of that particular day or night, measured between sunrise and sunset. Since the lengths of days and nights vary from month to month during the year, daytime hours were longer in summer than winter, while night hours were longer in winter than summer. About the year 1300 mechanical time-measuring devices not unlike modern clocks began to come into use. These measured all the hours alike, just as clocks do now. Accordingly, everyone had to recognize two kinds of hours, just as people now need to distinguish between standard time and daylight saving time. One kind of hour was the old and familiar fraction of the day or night, lengthening or shortening slightly each day. The other kind was the new hour shown on the clock, always with the same number of minutes regardless of the seasons. To avoid confusion people stating time in the new clock system usually gave the hour and added "of the clock," later shortened

Magnolia Announces New Refining Method For Its Motor Oils

DALLAS, Nov. 20.—Fred M. Lege, Jr., Vice President and Director of sales promotion of the Magnolia Petroleum Company, announced today that after long experiment and tests Socony-Vacuum and Magnolia have developed a new method of making motor oils by washing crude petroleum.

substance called chrysalis solution. The other is propane, a liquid many degrees below zero. Propane is a gas that under compression turns to an icy liquid. "Pour these two substances into crude petroleum and the result is very like settling the dirt to the bottom of a glass of water. The chrysalis solution dissolves and settles the impurities in the petroleum. The propane absorbs the lubricating particles of the oil. "The clear mixture is propane-oil which is drawn off. When this warms up to room temperature, the propane bubbles off in the form of gas, leaving a motor oil much superior to any other oil," Mr. Lege added.

"Two cleaning fluids, or solvents," Mr. Lege explained, "are used in this new method. One is a

ENTERTAIN MERRY MAKERS

Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Harris entertained the Merry Makers in their home Sat. night with four tables of bridge. Clyde Parry, who was awarded guest high for men on the occasion, was enrolled as a regular member of the club. Mrs. Willie M. Dunkin won guest high for ladies and Mrs. J. B. Westfall and Lesly Gentry won club high. Roy Davidson was awarded the Rambling prize. Refreshments were served to those above and to H. C. Dunkin, Mrs. Roy Davidson, J. B. Westfall, Mrs. L. V. Gentry, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. L. Q. Sparks, Miss Eloise Riney, Miss Frances Johnson and Miss Grace Gentry, of Stephenville.

Miss Grace Gentry of Stephenville is spending a few weeks with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lesly V. Gentry, here. Mr. Gentry is principal of the Barnhart High School.

D. I. Taylor returned Tuesday night from a week's business trip to Fort Worth and his farm near Fort Worth. Accompanying him on the trip were Wright Kilpatrick and W. C. Halcomb, employees of Mr. Taylor. Mrs. Taylor remained in San Angelo under the care of a physician.

Reports from Mrs. M. B. Magill of Barnhart, who underwent a very serious operation in Fort Worth several weeks since, state that Mrs. Magill is well on the road to recovery, but will not make the trip home for several weeks yet.

The Barnhart Dramatic Club last night reached a decision to postpone production of the play, "The Mill of the Gods" until December 8th.

Mrs. Bodie G. Owens entertained Monday afternoon with a birth day party honoring her daughter, June.

The Methodist Missionary Society entertained the Baptist at the home of Mrs. T. C. Harris Wednesday afternoon.

The young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Nesbitt, fell and broke her left shoulder while attending Methodist Sunday School last Sunday. She was carried to Big Lake for medical attention.

Both boys' and girls' teams of Barnhart defeated Sherwood in basketball games last Saturday. Barnhart has won 100% of the games played this season.

The Barnhart Baptist Missionary Society will present a Christmas pageant on Wednesday evening, December fifth at 7:15 o'clock. The public is cordially invited to attend. There will be no admission charges.

The proceeds from "The Mill of the Gods" to be presented December 8, will be spent in the following manner:

- $5 to repay money borrowed to pay for the play books.
 - $10 to pay on new stage scenery
 - $5 to pay for playbooks, "The Rugged Road" to be presented during first part of 1935.
 - 58 cents to pay indebtedness to T. C. Harris for money lent to the club last year.
 - Balance to be either divided between the Churches or paid on debt incurred for trophies presented by the club at Range County track meet of 1934 (last spring).
- Barnhart Dramatic Club, duced "an oil so superior as to save millions of dollars for motorists."

These savings include less oil consumption, less carbon deposit, more gasoline mileage. This new type of oil virtually eliminates carbon in the cylinders as shown by 86,000 miles of test running. At the conclusion of these tests, the pistons of the test cars were clean of carbon.

"This new method of refining oil," Mr. Leg added, "is of great conservation value. Many sections of the country have been handicapped as oil producers because the crude petroleum they produced did not refine sufficiently by the old sulphuric acid process. With propane refining, these petroleum can be converted into the finest of oils."

Sorry Life Of Drug Addict Is Pictured In Court At Dallas

Dallas Journal: A vivid picture of the sorry life of the dope addict was painted in Federal court recently as defense attorneys in the Thaxton narcotic violation trial dragged from one after another the unwilling government drug habitue witnesses the various phases of their existence.

None of them had homes. They wander from place to place, it appears from their testimony, scraping together in devious ways enough with which to pursue their rat-hole existence, and, more important, to get the dope which is vital to their well-being.

And they must have dope regularly. Unwilling, bit by bit, they gave the revolting details of their physical conditions when they can not get it.

Loath to admit that they will do anything to obtain it, go to any lengths of vicious behavior, their replies to attorneys' insistent questions on this point was hesitant and evasive. Some finally admitted from the stand that they will do "practically anything," one or two maintained after tangled, hesitating sentences, that they would not; while others answered in the affirmative to specifically suggested crimes as possibilities in their behavior. Some reluctantly related instances of stealing and lying.

Lie, steal, betray their own mothers—some have not sunk yet to quite the depths of degradation, and others have.

Love is not for them. They have passing friendships born of their common affliction, and occasionally they marry each other—one man of the group of addict witnesses was married to one of the women in the bunch—but their drug-ridden systems are incapable of the greater or less degree of either spiritual or physical love.

In spite of their shabby exteriors topped by ruined faces, life is expensive to them, and because they are not wealthy, meeting this expense is a problem. They admitted on the stand how many 'shots' they have to have daily, and how strong.

One girl, whose perhaps stronger constitution keeps her from looking quite so racked yet as the others, said that she requires four injections a day of two grains each. At the price they testified they paid in the Thaxton clinic, $1 a grain, it cost her $8 a day to live from the standpoint of her affliction only.

How did they get started on lives which offer them so little? Most of them said it was by association.

"Association with other addicts I would go to a joy hop with them sometimes and then it got to where I had to have it and stronger and stronger. About eight years," answering the question as to how long she had been an addict.

A man's answer was "since 1917," another's "since '23."

Although earlier in their affliction an injection of dope gave them a "joy hop." Now it is necessary merely to keep them feeling normal. They must have regular injections in order to be able to be well and keep going like other people, they testified.

Mrs. Clay Littleton has returned to her home here after a visit with friends and relatives in Abilene.

Boyd Clayton is having some pairs made on the ranch here east of town before moving to it. Mr. and Mrs. Clayton have rooms at the W. E. Friend, home while the work is being done.

Mrs. C. M. Tandy was here several days this week visiting her son, Dr. H. B. Tandy and family. She returned yesterday to her home in Abilene.

tle was over and the centipede had joined his ancestors, his mortal remains lying lifeless in the container beside the evil-looking vinegaron. So far as he could discover, the centipede's body was not torn or battered, Mr. Carruthers said, but he could not be sure whether the vinegaron had slain his adversary with a poisonous sting or had merely battered him to death with his powerful claws.

Further plans for testing the prowess of the Southwest's most talked-of and possibly the most feared scorpion are being made by the science instructor. He plans to put a mouse into the jar with the vinegaron. If the scorpion attacks the mouse, the latter will be removed from the jar and placed under observation. If the bite or sting of the vinegaron is poisonous, the mouse should show the effects of his contact with the creature.

Previous to the battle between the centipede and the vinegaron, Mr. Carruthers placed a common green lizard in the container with the centipede. The latter at once attacked the lizard, wrapping its body around that of the lizard, its poisonous clawed feet clamped to the little reptile's body. After two hours of this tenacious struggle, the two were separated and the lizard removed. A day after his experience, the lizard was apparently in the best of health and suffering no ill effects whatever from his contact with the known poison of the centipede's feet, Mr. Carruthers declared.

Many lurid tales have been told in the great Southwest of the fatal effects of the bite or sting of the vinegaron. But a specific case of the death of a human being from the bite of one of these creatures is generally lacking. One of the most famous stories is that of the cowpuncher

Sunday school meets at 9:45 a. m.

Baptist Training Services at 6:30 p. m.

Our missionary organizations are beginning to function in a fine way. The Royal Ambassadors, boys of junior age, meet each Monday evening at 7 o'clock. Joe Billy Keeton and T. L. Gambrell are leading.

The Y.W.A. meets with Miss Louise Crowder next Monday evening at 7. They have been having some very fine meetings. Monday evening they have a covered dish luncheon followed by their missionary program.

The Junior Y.W.A. met last Monday evening with Jeanetta Willis with twelve members present and several visitors. After an interesting program, refreshments were served.

Sunbeams meet regularly each week and the Intermediate G.A.s are to meet this evening with Crystelle Carson. Junior G.A.s will get going this week also. This completes the whole family of missionary organizations and, although very young, they are all doing nicely.

The Men's Bible Class will have who was bitten on the big toe by a vinegaron while riding the range. Miles from the ranch house, the puncher hauled out his knife and severed the toe at the joint, pitching the venom-laden member to the ground, and riding back to the ranch, where he received treatment. After his recovery, so the story goes, the puncher returned to the spot where he had discarded his toe, and thru curiosity, examined the severed digit with the end of his riding switch. Afterward, continuing his ride, the cowboy, in a moment of abstraction, placed the end of the switch he had used to examine the toe in his mouth and died a few hours later from the effects of the poison.

Many other wild stories of this character have been told on the vinegaron, but various scientists have declared that the vinegaron is much maligned, that his bite is in fact harmless. But nobody in the Southwest, it is safe to guess, is going to place enough faith in the word of the scientists to fondle one of the creatures, to be found under stumps, rocks and other hiding places in these parts.

Billington Outlines Benefits To Be Derived By Ozona Scout Troop From Its Affiliation With Concho Council

Some of the benefits to be derived from affiliation of the Ozona Boy Scout troop with the Concho Valley Council were outlined by Bob Billington, Scout Executive for the Council, in a letter this week to Ben Lemmons, chairman of the local Scout committee, who is heading a financial drive to insure this troop's affiliation with the council.

Mr. Billington's letter in full is as follows:

Mr. Ben Lemmons,
Ozona, Texas,

Dear Mr. Lemmons:

"In accordance with our conversation this morning I am listing some of the benefits Ozona will receive from active affiliation with the Concho Valley Council.

"1. A monthly visit by the Scout Executive with the Troop Committee and Scoutmaster.

"2. The Council will furnish such record cards and credentials as are necessary to maintain the advancement of the Scouts in the troop and will furnish the following badges: Tenderfoot, Second Class, First Class and Eagle badges.

"3. The Ozona troop will be privileged to participate in all district and council activities such as rallies, jamborees, camporees and the such.

"4. The Ozona troop will have as its Council representative the Chairman of their troop committee. He and another member of the committee will become members of the Sonora District Committee which is an administrative branch of the Concho Valley Council.

"5. The Ozona troop will be privileged to enjoy the facilities of Camp Louis Farr on the same basis as other troops of the council. This is one of the best equipped Scout camps in the west.

"6. Ozona Scout leaders will have opportunity from time to time to attend Scout leaders training conferences and schools within the district and council.

"I believe that your committee can assure the citizens of Ozona that this affiliation will be entirely satisfactory and will mean much to the future of Scouting and the boys who are members of the troop there. Of course one of the most valuable features of the affiliation will be the opportunity
