1/4 OF VOTERS IN CROCKETT CAST BALLOTS

Pitiful Minority Vote On Issue Of Great Import To County

FAVOR LAND TAX

6 Against Measure That Would Bring $3200 Annually To Schools

Despite the fact that there was an issue on the ballot which would have meant an additional annual revenue of more than $3,000 to the schools of Crockett County had it been approved by the voters, the proposed constitutional amendment taxing University lands for county and school purposes, less than one-fourth of the qualified voters of Crockett County took the trouble to go to the polls and cast a vote in Tuesday's general election.

Less than 200 votes were cast in Crockett County out of a voting strength of around 800. Of the voters who did cast their ballots, they were practically unanimous in approving the University land tax amendment. A total of 159 votes were tabulated in the Ozona box. Of this number, 148 voted for the land tax amendment and six against, with five of the total vote being mutilated or not marked to show a choice on the amendment.

One "never-say-die" Republican voted the GOP ticket, the balance voting 'er straight. Unofficial reports from the Live Oak and Powell Field boxes gave an additional 14 votes to the county total, ten at Powell Field and four at Live Oak, all Democratic and all for the land tax amendment.

Latest tabulation of votes from over the state show all of the eight proposed constitutional amendments decisively beaten and the Democratic ticket swept into office with an overwhelming majority. The University land tax amendment received the largest vote of any in the list of amendments, 88,908 for and 138,332 against.

Scout Ceremony Plans Perfected

City-Wide Rally To Be Held At Auditorium Nov. 15

All parents and all adults in general who are interested in the future of the boy population of Ozona are urged to be present for the Boy Scout Court of Honor and Tenderfoot Investiture Ceremony to be held at the High School Auditorium Thursday evening of next week, November 15, starting at 8 o'clock.

Joe Haddon, local band instructor and an experienced Scout leader, has volunteered his services as Scoutmaster of the Ozona troop, now in the process of formation, and with this opportunity to secure experienced leadership for the boys, parents should rally to the support of the Scout organization.

Bob Billington, Scout Executive for the Concho Valley Council, Harold Broome and Mims Jackson, San Angelo Scouters, will be here to put on the Court of Honor and Tenderfoot Investiture, which will mark the official induction of between twenty and thirty Ozona boys into the great Boy Scout organization. Thirty boys, interested in Scouting, have been working under Mr. Haddon for several weeks perfecting themselves for the Tenderfoot tests and many have already passed their tests. Others will have passed the tests before the investiture and it is estimated that around 25 lads will be ready for induction into Scouting at the Scout ceremonies.

Adventure Is Ended, Back to Pop

When Ben and Joe Adamowicz of Brooklyn returned from Europe the other day not one newspaper man was on hand to welcome them and listen to their stories of their great adventure—an airplane flight from New York to Warsaw, Poland. So Ben and Joe quietly resumed their soda pop business. They sold their plane in Warsaw for $22,000.

Lions To Invade Stronghold Of Sonora Bronchos Friday Afternoon To Try For Third Straight Win In Dist. Conflict

Coach Ted White and his squad of fighting Lions, riding at the head of a procession of Ozona rooters, will storm the citadel of Sonora Friday afternoon after which the Lions will attempt to wrest their third straight District 17B victory from the Sonora Bronchos, Sonora High School's entry in the district melee.

Unbeaten in league combat so far and flush from what many considered a moral victory over the San Angelo Kittens at Cemetery gridiron in San Angelo last Saturday, the Lions are in fine trim for the Bronchos. The Sonora crew absorbed two terrific mailings from the Rocksprings and Eldorado squads, but is a much better club than the score in these two games indicate. Many dependable regulars were on the bench in those games for infraction of training rules and it is likely that Coach Adams will have a considerably bolstered team on the field to face the Lions.

Coach White's crew has been showing steady improvement since the opening of the season and if the Sonora hurdle can be taken successfully tomorrow the strong Eldorado Eagles and the equally if not stronger Rocksprings Bulldogs may look forward to some lively entertainment on the next two successive weekends.

The Crockett County chapter of the American Red Cross will stage its annual Roll Call drive starting next Tuesday morning as will thousands of other chapters in cities and towns of the United States between Armistice Day and Thanksgiving. Since Monday will be observed as a holiday by a number of business firms, it was decided to postpone starting of the campaign until Tuesday morning.

Plans for the drive were perfected at a meeting of the chapter early this week.

A. W. Jones, chapter chairman, named J. H. McClure as Roll Call chairman.

The town has been divided into districts, with the following workers in charge of the drive in the residential district: Mrs. C. J. Watts, Mrs. Geo. Best, Mrs. W. A. Kay, and Miss Hester Bunger.

The local quota has been set at 100 members.

The business section has been divided into two classifications, business and professional people, and committees named to make the canvass among these classifications and another committee has been named to solicit the ranchmen. The committee to solicit the ranchmen includes Hugh Childress, Jr., Richard Flowers, and Royce Smith. For the professional men, C. S. Denham and J. H. McClure will make the drive, and among the business houses the committee will be composed of J. T. Keeton, H. A. Moore, J. H. McClure and A. W. Jones. Trinidad Ramirez and Ed Vitela were appointed to make a canvass among the Mexican population of the town.

The annual membership fee is $1, half of that amount from each membership remaining in the treasury of the local chapter for local relief work, the other half going to the national organization. Contributions of more than a dollar all remains in the local chapter treasury save the 50 cents that goes to national headquarters.

Local workers hope to complete the drive by the end of next week.

Rev. Taylor preached his first sermon to a large audience at the church Sunday morning.

and to a larger than usual crowd at the evening hour. Members of the Woman's Missionary Society greeted the new pastor and his family with a "pounding," and a large number were on hand to greet them upon their arrival Friday afternoon.

Rev. Taylor was born in Limestone County "in the gay nineties," he puts it. He was graduated from the Childress, Texas, High School in 1915, took his B. A. degree from the University of Texas in 1919, his B. D. from Southern Methodist University in 1922, and did graduate study at Yale in 1927.

He joined the East Oklahoma Methodist Conference in 1920. From 1922 to 1926, he was in missionary service in Brazil. He was appointed to the Rocksprings church following the tornado there in 1927 and assisted in rebuilding the church. He was pastor of the Prospect Hill Methodist Church in San Antonio two years, was three years at Uvalde and one year at Victoria. He is a member of the West Texas Conference Board of Christian Education and a trustee of the Southern Methodist University. He was a member of the Lions Club at Victoria and is having his membership transferred to the local club from Victoria.

Beneficial Rains Spot Sections Of Crockett Co. Lands

Another promise of the only "drouth relief" that can relieve was made by the rain gods the past week-end when beneficial showers fell in scattered sections of this area.

Good rains were reported from some parts of the country to the south of Ozona, ranchers in that area reporting from a half to an inch and a half fall. The fall was light in Ozona, sufficient, however, to settle the dust for a few days and revive plants.

Confirmation of the new buying schedule was received by the local government livestock purchasing headquarters in a telephone conversation with Mr. Barnes this morning. Mr. Barnes declared in the telephone conversation that this county's quota would be 2,000 head. Official confirmation of this figure was expected by telegraph during the day.

One hundred thousand head of cattle will be purchased by the government in 74 West Texas and Panhandle counties, Mr. Barnes said in his announcement to the press. The new buying program will cover a thirty-day period.

Completion of the sheep buying program in this county is expected by the end of the present week. Only two or three more growers were left to be visited by the sorters and these were expected to be off the slate by the end of the present week. The goat buying schedule has already been completed and no additional animals are being signed up.

Senior Class Of Ozona High School Selects Class Ring

The Senior Class of 1934 met Wednesday evening with Mr. Wright, representative of the Star Engraving Company of Houston, to select rings.

After much debate and study, the rings were selected. They are to be of medium and heavy weight duogold. On each shank is to be a Lion, the school emblem, and on the peak is the initial O. The rings are heavier than the rings of other senior classes of Ozona.

The Seniors also report 100% cooperation in football and pep squad work, which preceding senior classes failed to have.

NO PLACE LIKE HOME

Louisville Courier-Journal: The National Safety Council has promulgated its annual list of "Don'ts" to protect life and limb in the American home...

Nowhere else, of course, do all the people resort. Statistics disclose that the home is not the place of security it was supposed to be...

The futility of warning is that so many household "Don'ts" are of common-sense origin. Where lack of skill is not to blame, the fault usually is doing one thing while thinking of something else.

FEWER RAH-RAH BOYS

Christian Science Monitor: There is a saying that an American football coach with a 200-pound line and a backfield averaging 190 pounds sleeps well at night...

But what of the thousands of young collegians who weigh much less than 200 pounds? Until recently there were but two things for them to do: Play against men far heavier—something never permitted in such sports as boxing or wrestling—

Good news comes at last with the announcement of an Eastern intercollegiate 150-pound football league. Rutgers, University of Pennsylvania, Lafayette, Princeton and Yale are taking part in this forward step of getting more players into college sport.

Even though they don't care for singing, some fellows spend a lot of money on a lark.

NEW DEAL ON TRIAL

A few weeks ago eight black-robed figures walked slowly into an ancient chamber in Washington, D. C. They sank down in age-polished leather chairs, while a crier rapped his gavel and announced: "Oyez, oyez, oyez! All persons having business before the Honorable, the Supreme Court of the United States, are admonished to draw near and give their attention. . . God save the United States and this Honorable Court."

These eight men—the ninth was absent for opening day, due to illness—represent the highest power in the land. Theirs is the court of last resort—theirs is the power to settle, finally and for all time, arguments concerning the constitutionality of laws and judgments. Their combined age comes close to 600 years—yet, according to observers, all of them, including famed 88-year old Mr. Justice Brandeis, patriarch of the Court since the retirement of the venerated Mr. Justice Holmes, appeared to be in excellent health.

It seems that every Washington correspondent is speculating on what the attitude of the Court will be. No one knows—but there are grounds for making guesses. The Supreme Court does not deal with ordinary evidence, as do courts of inferior jurisdiction—it deals only with whether or not a law or ruling is constitutional.

Whatever the results, decisions of the Court will be final—and they will not be questioned. Senators, Congressmen and Governors are damned and reviled; even Presidents are subject to strong criticism. But the Supreme Court—whose members, in the words of Mr. Justice Holmes, "Take the veil," is above such mundane matters.

Shortly after opening, the Court made a decision which, while it did not affirm or deny constitutionality of any major Administration measure, is of wide interest. It threw out the case of an air-line which held that the government had illegally abrogated airmail contracts, and refused to review the decisions of lower tribunals.

His wife had determined to cure him of his bad ways, and with the aid of a sheet and an electric torch transformed herself into a very fair imitation of a ghost. Then she went to the drunk and shook him.

"Satan," came the reply in a sepulchral tone. "Shake hands, old horse, I married your sister."

Charley Davidson was wearing a bandage over his eye this week after removal of a particle of rust from an iron pipe which lodged in the eye. George Harrell also received treatment for a bit of foreign matter in one eye.

END OF THE WORLD

"Topics," New York Times: Professor Millikan still holds that the process of creation runs parallel in the universe with the processes of decay and death, but he is not so cheerful about the balance of power. He has recently come across some wicked blue rays capable of laying down a death barrage of hitherto undreamt-of voltage.

People nowadays take the ultimate doom of the universe much more to heart than people did 50 years ago. It is partly the effect of big words and big numbers. Somehow it is not so dreadful to speak of the sun losing its heat as to speak of the Second Law of Thermodynamics; but they mean the same thing.

the cosmos running down like a clock in the course of the next 5,000,000,000,000,000 years.

It is the vast numbers and the vocabulary that make us forget how quietly people once spoke about "the end of the world."

"ODIOUS ALTERNATIVES"

In an article in The Yale Review, Ralph Barton Perry says: "We are living in an age when non-democratic forms of government are being revived and modernized. But instead of weakening our allegiance to democratic institutions this should rather confirm our faith by presenting the odious alternatives in their stark reality."

The American people have been repeatedly shocked by events occurring in Europe, where the "odious alternatives" to democracy are being tried. They have seen, in the mirror of the news, the subjugation of the individual to the state; the iron-handed methods of dictatorship; the complete revocation of those principles of liberty and freedom for which the great humanitarians of all nations have fought.

No one believes that the United States—where democracy has come to its fullest flower—would accept this kind of government. But there is a definite danger that, in our effort to solve the vexing economic problems of the time, we may weaken democracy—which has as its guiding principle that the government shall exist for the people and shall be their servants, not their masters. Many clear-minded observers warn against taking the easiest path, by turning over to government, functions, duties and privileges which have always belonged to the people. That, let it be remembered, is the way dictatorship starts—and once started, it knows no limits to its ambitions.

America Suffers Eighty Times Each Year From Major Disasters, Red Cross Reports

Statistics which date back a quarter of a century listing the disaster record of the American Red Cross show that an average of eighty major catastrophes, menacing life and property, occur each year in the United States.

The tornado is the most frequent catastrophe causing loss of life and property. These remarkable photographs show three stages of one of these storms which struck in Oklahoma.

When the Weather Bureau recorded 21 of these tropical cyclones. Five reached the United States mainland, striking between August 4 and September 15, 1933. For the first time in many years one of these tropical disturbances caused devastation as far up the Atlantic Coast as Maryland. In this latter storm the Red Cross aided 1,564 families, of whom 1,069 were in the Chesapeake Bay region.

In all, 32 states suffered some type of disaster during the year. The Red Cross aided 119,000 persons in those states and expended $1,567,943 in relief to them. Of this sum $647,268 was appropriated from the treasury of the national organization.

Similar international success is being rapidly achieved by Vicks Drops for nose and throat—which three years ago introduced a new idea for prevention of colds.

The immense success of this unique aid in preventing colds has quite naturally brought scores of imitations," President L. Richardson of the Vicks Chemical Company stated. Precautions Urged In Care Contagious Diseases In Homes

AUSTIN, Tex., Nov. 6.—Speaking of the precautions that should be taken in households, during and at the close of an illness from any of the "catching" diseases, which are prevalent at all seasons Dr. John W. Brown, State Health Officer, said recently: "Any plan for the prevention or control of this sort, depends upon the intelligent cooperation of individuals and communities with the medical profession and the health authorities for its success."

"Those who are in charge of persons suffering from influenza, pneumonia, tuberculosis, scarlet fever, measles, infantile paralysis or any other of the diseases spread by discharges from the nose or throat, are warned that these discharges are sources of great danger, and are urged to have the patient use paper handkerchiefs or soft cheesecloth, that can be disinfected or burned or otherwise safely disposed of."

"The sterilization of dishes and utensils used in the sick room, by boiling after each use of them, and of the patient's clothing, sheets, towels, and pillow cases, are equally necessary. Then, at the close of the illness, a thorough cleaning of the room, bedding and personal belongings of the patient, scrubbing the floors and woodwork, and opening the place to the fresh air and sunlight are urged as a final precautionary measure."

"Fortunately, the best disinfectants yet discovered are within reach of everybody. They are plenty of hot water and soap, fresh air and sunshine."

BARNHART NOTES

By BUSTER KILPATRICK, Correspondent

Mr. and Mrs. Waymond Turner are the parents of a nine and one-half pound girl born early Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Willie M. Dunkin, postmaster of Barnhart was confined to her bed Sunday and Monday.

Mrs. Clint Shaw is also on the sick list this week.

PTA BUYS PIECE OF PLAYGROUND EQUIPMENT

The Barnhart P.T.A. has purchased for the primary department of Barnhart Public School a "Merry-Go-Round" which has been set up on the school grounds during the last week. While the apparatus was bought especially for the primary children, those in high school seem to be having a great deal of fun riding on it.

COUPLE INJURED IN AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Moore were victims of an automobile accident about three miles out of Merton, on the Merton-Barnhart highway, last Sunday evening. It seems that the Moores, with Mr. Moore driving, were making something like forty miles per hour over wet and muddy ground. When Mr. Moore started to go around a truck he discovered a car stuck in a mudhole and in endeavoring to go between the car and truck, his car slid into the truck. Mr. Moore suffered several slight cuts and bruises about the face while Mrs. Moore only received one slight scratch on her arm. One light and fender on Moore's car was demolished and the windshield was broken.

Misses Eloise Riney and Francis Johnson were joint hostesses to the Merry Makers Club this week, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clint Shaw.

Mrs. L. V. Gentry entertained the Thursday Club last week, at her home here.

Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Owens were in Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, from their ranch at Flatrock, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Clint Ellis Owens of Sheffield spent a few hours Saturday visiting friends and relatives here.

DRAMATIC CLUB PRESENTS "THE MILL OF THE GODS" DECEMBER 1

Rehearsals began Monday night on the Dramatic Club play, "The Mill of the Gods" to be presented December 1, with part of the receipts to be used in paying old debts, and part to pay on new scenes for the high school stage. The following cast has been selected:

Lawrence Stanton—Clyde Parry
Kenneth Ramsey—Elsie Beeman
Philip Jefferson—Alvin Newman

Patty Jefferson—Irene Beeman
Golda Kane—Julia Dunkin.
Mrs. Jefferson—Alene Owens.
Selina—Kristine Shaw.
Terry—B. Kilpatrick.

The play itself is sheer drama, enlivened with comedy by Kristine Shaw as "Selina" the faithful old servant, a role which offers Miss Shaw the opportunity to sing (three songs) for the first time in a play. Clyde Parry as "Lawrence Stanton" offers a high ly dramatic study in swiftly changing moods from supposedly loving kindness to keenly vicious cruelty—from moments of tender love with "Patty", to brutal, bullying cruelty with "Terry". Irene Beeman, as "Fatty Jefferson," owns the gamut of emotions from love for "Kenneth" to hate for "Lawrence"—from buoyant gaiety to utter despair—laughter to tears.

B. Kilpatrick as "Terry" also offers a study in varied emotions—from charming insolence to naked eringing fear—from blazing anger to a desperate pleading for mercy. Julia Dunkin as "Golda" offers a study in cool hatred. Elsie Beeman as "Kenneth" plays a straight part. Alene Owens and Alvin Newman as Mrs. and Mr. Jefferson offer studies in age and varied emotions.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Oden and children were here last week from their home in Iraan for a visit with Mrs. Oden's father, R. J. Cooke.

EMPLOYMENT SHOWS LEAD OVER OCTOBER, 1933

AUSTIN, Tex., Nov. 6.—Reports from 1,691 Texas establishments covering the week ended October 13 showed practically no change in employment and payrolls from that of September, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research. In comparison with the corresponding week in October, 1933, however, the number of employees increased 2 per cent and the total payrolls increased 6 per cent.

HEAD OF A BIG JOB

The $38,000,000 irrigation and water power project, which is expected to turn Imperial valley into a modern "Garden of Eden," will be under construction soon.

WORLD WOOL MARKET SHOWS IMPROVEMENT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—Trading in wool improved decidedly in domestic markets in October following months of inactivity, and some improvement occurred in foreign markets, according to the Bureau of Agricultural Economics reporting currently on world wool prospects.

Improvement here is attributed to substantial government contracts for wool products, some increase in sales to consumers, and a proposal by dealers of a plan for financing and marketing stocks of the 1934 clip still held by growers. Improvement abroad is attributed to increased continental demand in the latter part of the London sales which closed October 3, and subsequently at sales in Southern Hemisphere selling centers.

The bureau says that any general advance in domestic prices probably will await improvement in the wool manufacturing industry here.

World wool production for the 1934-35 season is expected to equal that of 1933-34. Estimated decreases in production in the United States and the Union of South Africa are offset by increases in Australia and New Zealand. Commercial estimates put the Argentine clip at about the same figure as last year.

Texas' Struggle for Freedom Began 100 Years Ago

Centenary Recalls Parallels in History of Hawaii

By GEORGE TICHENOR

Exactly one hundred years ago of the civilized world in 1855. Le Perouse, the celebrated Frenchman who visited Hawaii in 1794, says that Gaetano saw these islands, "with their naked savages, coconuts and other as the 49th Star in the American Constellation, the event is of particular interest to Texans, for Texas shares with Hawaii, and only with Hawaii, the distinction of having been an absolutely independent and sovereign nation at the time of their admission to the Union. This attitude of courageous self-sufficiency indeed actuated both communities throughout the calm and troubled periods of their histories. In Texas, this spirit displayed itself at all times as an offshoot of the early Colonial spirit of America which adopted as a symbol the coiled rattlesnake, and the slogan "Don't Tread on Me!" Slow of speech and quick on the draw, Texas has never faltered when her name and honor were at stake!

Occasion is Significant The significant anniversary which Texas will be observing this year has a double significance because another State in the Union is in the process of becoming a State which has close kinship to Texas, not only by ties of race, but also by a heritage of common experience, which must evoke the sympathy of all who venerate the ordeals and glorious moments of Texas history.

Some straws in the wind are: the President's recent visit to Hawaii which focussed the attention of the rest of the country upon the great strides made by our fellow-countrymen in the Pacific; the large commercial enterprises of the Islands (Hawaii pays more internal revenue than 16 mainland States); the fact that application for Statehood is a live political issue in Hawaii, and that Joseph R. Farrowing, Editor of the Star-Bulletin and son of a former Governor, has made it the principal plank of his platform, as candidate for the Territorial Senate.

Compares With Hawaii For more than four hundred years there have been certain significant and deeply interesting historical parallels between the Lone Star State and these Islands, which, thanks to New England missionary zeal, first turned in friendship toward the United States in 1820. Both were discovered by Spain. Juan Gaetano, a Spanish captain, brought the first record of discovery the community, but Americans in 1855 began the planting of sugar cane, in the face of labor troubles, insecurity of land tenure, inadequacy of machinery and intense competition from countries employing cheaper labor.

While Americans were working within and for the Hawaiian monarchy in the early days of the last century, the Mississippi River proved no barrier to the resistless surge of emigration westward from the southern States into Louisiana and Texas.

would re-enact an absolute monarchy. Her cabinet refused to ratify it. In the meanwhile, a "Committee of Safety" was organized and led by Americans. They decided that the only solution for existing evils was to annex the islands to the United States. It became a contest between the Committee of Safety and supporters of the queen. The committee became the government, took possession of the Government Executive Building and proclaimed the abolition of the monarchy.

Hawaii's New Government The Provisional Government of Hawaii followed the precedent of Texas. Sanford B. Dole, "Hawaii's Grand Old Man," was proclaimed President of the new Government, with John H. Soper as general of the provisional armed forces, on January 17, 1892.

The long struggle made by Texas to join the Union came to a close in 1845 with the passage of a joint Congressional resolution on February 28, promptly approved by President Polk the next day. On October 12 it was ratified by a Texas general convention, and with the President's signature on December 29, the brave and venturesome republic yielded her sovereignty to become the Lone Star State.

War Brings Annexation As in the case of Texas, it required war with a foreign power to bring two American communities under the same flag. When the United States became involved in the war with Spain, Hawaii rendered service to our country by furnishing supplies and rest for the fleet en route to the Philippines. Negotiations proceeded rapidly, and on August 12, 1898, the Hawaiian Republic was formally annexed to the United States. Two years later, Congress passed the act which made the Hawaiian Islands a Territory. This act went into effect on July 11, 1900.

Two antagonistic cultures came into increasingly sharp conflict, a conflict that could end only in open and decisive warfare. Santa Anna, overthrowing the liberal Mexican government in 1854, established himself as a virtual dictator, and decided to have no more nonsense from the troublesome and too independent Anglo-Saxons who were inundating Texas. He called a conference at which Stephen F. Austin, Mexican generals and Mexican secretaries-of-state were present. Independence was flatly denied to the land north of the Rio Grande, but at this meeting—held on October 5, 1834—Santa Anna stated that he "viewed with the greatest regard" his unruly Texan subjects. But he decided that his esteem for this stiff-necked and rebellious people needed some reinforcement, so he sent General Mejia with 4000 troops to keep them happy.

The embers of rebellion smoldered and then burst into flame. The legislature of Coahuila, early adepts of the spoils system, sold off huge tracts of the public domain of Texas to distant speculators at prices as low as one and one-half cents an acre. Texans saw themselves economically despoiled and tyrannically ruled. Captain Dimit led the troops and citizens of Goliad in signing a Declaration of Independence on December 20, 1835, and while this document never came into actual effect, it did focus attention on the advantages of complete independence. The story of Alamo needs no retelling here. The blood of Travis, Crockett and Bowie is peculiarly a Texas heritage, but their grim heroism has rightly become a national tradition.

Brutality of Santa Anna Santa Anna, seeking an excuse to use a firing squad more often, passed a law that any alien entering Texas armed was no more than a pirate and should be treated accordingly. This gave a mere color of legality to his practice of shooting prisoners of war, a practice of unspeakable brutality which failed completely to bend in submission the stiff knees of the rebels.

David Kalakaua, the last Hawaiian king, elected by the legislature, died in 1891 and his sister, Queen Liliuokalani, assumed the crown. She tried to put through the legislature a new constitution which bring two American communities under the same flag. When the United States became involved in the war with Spain, Hawaii rendered service to our country by furnishing supplies and rest for the fleet en route to the Philippines. Negotiations proceeded rapidly, and on August 12, 1898, the Hawaiian Republic was formally annexed to the United States. Two years later, Congress passed the act which made the Hawaiian Islands a Territory. This act went into effect on July 11, 1900.

Along agricultural lines Hawaii has pioneered both from the scientific angle and from the standpoint of cooperation. Today, when a limited degree of cooperation is being forced on mainland agriculture in its own defense, we find that the Hawaiian sugar plantations have been drawn together into a closely knit and intelligently progressive organization since 1895. Domestic association, they pay their labor a higher wage than the national average, provide year-round rest, and assume a degree of social responsibility that is entirely unknown and impossible under conditions of unrestricted cut-throat competition.

But, today, this does not mean that Hawaii is allowed to sell the sugar to the rest of the United States. Under the Jones-Costigan Act, the Secretary of Agriculture strives to shove the islands into a "insular possession," or into a quota for the production of a major product—sugar. Strangely and seriously, Hawaii's sugar and sugar is Hawaii.

In Hawaii the sugar crop yields a full eighteen months. Diminishing the production is no matter of turning a handle or giving an order. Though the sugar restrictions are sufficiently burdensome in themselves, the significance of the Act itself is the motive of the Hawaiian Sugar Planters' suit. The claim that it shows discrimination against Hawaii in favor of foreign nations and insular possessions, failing utterly to recognize the fact that Hawaii by the treaty of annexation is an integral part of the United States, and thus entitled to domestic consideration and treatment. The situation would be a parallel if the Government would laid down cotton restrictions which were generous in Louisiana and rigid in Texas. Hawaii does not want to avoid her just share of the economic burden, she merely demands that just share, whether heavy or light. She demands her rights to be treated like any mainland State and viewed in that light, her lives become patriotic rather than commercial. High principles were of note in this the 19th applicant Statehood!

International Co-Operation Necessary for World Peace, Peter Molyneux, Texas Editor, Tells Political Scientists

NEW YORK CITY, Nov. 7.—Peter Molyneux, editor of The Texas Weekly, told a group of political scientists gathered here for the annual dinner of the Academy of Political Science at New York Wednesday, November 7th. The dinner was presided over by Owen D. Young, president of the Academy. The two speakers were Mr. Molyneux and Newton D. Baker, Secretary of War.

The subject shared by Mr. Molyneux and Mr. Baker was "The Outlook for World Peace," and Molyneux, Texas' best known economist in the East, emphasized that a policy of economic cooperation between the United States and the world was necessary for international peace. "The immediate task in relation to the prevention of war," he declared, "is to check the process of disintegration which had its origin in World War and to begin the work of world reconstruction through persistent international cooperation."

The Texas editor warned that a tendency toward narrow economic nationalism in the United States and other countries was aggravating conditions of suspicion, unrest, and declared it was essential for the United States, the richest nation, to assume leadership in guiding the world beneath the menacing clouds pursuing policies to promote pathetic understanding between nations through economic channels of trade.

Mr. Molyneux reminded, however, that these policies must be based on the American people themselves and that leaders in the United States must educate the people to that end. "There will never be a permanent public opinion in the United States in support of a program of international cooperation unless the American people become convinced that such a program is essential to their welfare," he told a large audience. "There must be a conviction that only through a program can genuine recovery be attained in the United States and economic and social progress be resumed."

Mr. Charles Coates and small Charles Collins have spent the week in Temple where they intend to have the child's tonsils removed.

Local Study Of Texas Historic Spots By Students Urged As Means Securing Data To Be Used By State In Marking

AUSTIN, Tex., Nov. 2.—Teachers of history in the schools of Texas are being requested to make a class project of the points of historic importance in their community and county by the Texas Parks Association, according to Fred M. Herndon, Secretary.

The last called session of the Texas Legislature authorized the State Parks board to gather this information and to mark the spots of historic interest but made no appropriation whatever to carry on this stupendous task, Herndon said.

Neither the parks board nor the association has ever had any funds to even carry on the parks work, yet Texas today has 72 state owned parks comprising 258,405 acres which have been donated to the people of Texas without cost to the tax payers.

Under these conditions it will be impossible for the parks board to place suitable markers at historic spots but the board and the association are working together to secure information necessary to do the marking which must come when funds are available.

School teachers of Texas are in position to make school work projects of local history and send their thesis or stories to the State Parks Board, Austin, Texas, for compilation by counties for reference when funds are available for marking.

There is hardly a county in Texas but which has a background rich in historic interest, Herndon said. But without funds the board or the association can not gather this much desired information.

"The school teachers of Texas can render valuable assistance in this work, and at the same time aid their communities and counties, and bring home to students the rich heritage which is theirs through the sacrifice and pioneering work of their forebears," Herndon said.

Officers of the board and the association will gladly continue to give of their time and ability in this work if they may have the cooperation of the school teachers of Texas, Herndon said.

With Huey Long and Bilbo in the Senate, Ringling Bros. will have to change slogan as "biggest show on earth."—Carey Williams in Greensboro (Ga.) Herald Journal.

Mrs. J. C. Montgomery was hostess to her bridge club Friday afternoon at her home on the ranch.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Clayton have returned from Fort Stockton where they have resided since their marriage, to make their home on the Clayton ranch east of town.

Mrs. Wayne West will return from Marlin Sunday. They have been there the past two weeks taking the baths.

Brazilian Missionary Writes Of Work Among Indian Tribes On Amazon River

The following interesting letter was received the past week by A. W. Jones of the Jones Saddlery Company here, from E. A. Nelson, missionary to Brazil, who is being maintained at his post on the Amazon river in the South American jungle by contributions from the Ozona Baptist Church. Rev. Nelson has visited several times in Ozona and will be remembered by a number of Ozona people. His letter follows:

Manaos, Oct. 24, 1934.

"Dear Bro. Jones,

"Many thanks to the Stockman you sent. Giving notice of the coming of your new pastor, Leon Gambrell. Glad you got a good and tried man. I did not know Bro. Fulmer had left till I arrived from up river a few days ago, as I saw from a Ky. paper that he had located in Jackson, Tenn.

"I have been writing him of our work and wrote while up the country, and of course he was gone. So you have no knowledge of our latest work. I desire therefore at this time that you inform the church the following.

"You know of us having three launches. One down at Scurtarens 500 miles below here. Our own old "Buffalo" as good as new. And one given for Indian work up the main tributaries of the Amazon Rio Maderia. The Brazilian Home Board sent a man to work on the Amazon among the wild Indians. A branch of them being civilized by a man friendly to the Gospel, his mother being a Presbyterian, and living with him. So I gave the launch to that board and as the man was not acquainted with the work, I took him up to where the Indians are. He has opened up a school of more than 48 pupils and seems to do well. He lives on the launch for the present.

"Then I took a steamer, and went on up the river, visiting Porto Vellev Church. Also took the train and went to the upper end of the Maderia Mannore Railroad, where we have a little church. You may have heard of a man by the name of Jesse Rhodes, who I helped buy some property at Guajara Mirino some years ago. Working independently at his own charges, he took sick, went home, and was killed in California by a truck. His brothers asked the Richmond Board to buy the property, they could not do it. So the heirs asked me to take charge, but gave me no legal authority. The Brazilian government took charge and sold it at public auction. I borrowed the money, went there and prepared the buildings for services. A two story adobe building, and our preacher there, also making his own living, lives in the upper story, the lower serving for hall, a good location, the best in the town. The preacher is from entire strength of Ozona's fandom is expected to be on hand for the game at Sonora. School officials and pep squad leaders are laying plans for a colorful demonstration by Ozona rooters upon arrival in Sonora before the game. Every car making the trip to the neighboring town is to be decorated in the school colors of purple and gold and as many of them as is possible to assemble will be led through a parade of Sonora streets upon arrival. Everybody who is planning to make the trip and who does not have a car load is asked to communicate with school officials or with pep squad leaders, Esther Kate Pierce or Willie V. Coose, in order that as many students as possible will be provided with transportation to the game.

A last-half rally that all but dumped the San Angelo Kittens off their feet was staged by the Lions in the game on San Angelo soil last Saturday afternoon. The Kittens emerged victorious 13 to 7.
