The entire accumulation of the San Angelo Wool Company, the largest remaining supply of eight months clips, from 150,000 to 200,000 pounds was sold at a record high for 8-months wool of the season, 23 1/8 cents. The accumulation was all Crockett wool. Among the Crockett producers owning clips in this group were: West Brothers, Ira Carson, Ralph Watson, L. E. Cox, Jr., Clay Montgomery, Ele Hagelstein, Dan Wills, R. A. Harrell and Ray Piner.

Jones Miller and J. B. Miller sold 20,000 pounds of 8-months wool at 22 cents to an unannounced buyer in San Angelo Monday. Paul Halleomb received the same price for his clip.

Under the direction of a new management, the new theatre has announced a schedule of film showings with distinction among the coterie of cinema hits of the current year. "Flirtation Walk," featuring Dick Powell and Ruby Keeler, will be shown for the opening evening, Friday and again Saturday. ## Week-End Fishing Trip Enjoyed By Party Of Ozonans

A group of seven Ozonans made up a fishing party that enjoyed a two day outing and fishing trip on the Devils River Sunday and Monday. The party reported an excellent catch.

In the party were Rex Russell, Miss Ada Moss, Miss Lucille Williamson, Walter Kyle, Bob Weaver and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Dorley.

This remarkable photograph was made in the Texas panhandle as a dust storm whirled toward a small town. A few seconds after the picture was taken midnight darkness covered the scene and the air was filled with choking, stinging particles of dust.

Scoutmaster Lists Equipment Needed By Boys Attending Camp Louis Farr

In a letter to The Stockman yesterday, Joe Haddon, Scoutmaster of the Ozona Scout Troop, outlines the equipment that will be necessary for boys who plan to attend the week's camp at Camp Louis Farr starting next Sunday. A number of Scouts from the local troop are planning to attend the camp during the period assigned them. Mr. Haddon is now in San Angelo making preparations for the outing, during which he is to be an assistant to the camp director, Jack Stone, assistant Scout Executive for the Concho Valley Council.

Mr. Haddon will be in Ozona next Saturday morning not later than 9 o'clock, he advised, and will contact all boys planning to attend camp by 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Each boy will have to have a physical examination, which will be given Saturday without cost, Mr. Haddon said.

"Each boy must have sufficient bed clothing, cot, bathing suit, Scout uniform if possible, drying cloth, toilet articles, Scout Handbook, two bath towels, three suits underwear, two pairs stockings or socks, pajamas, handkerchiefs and other articles such as axe, etc., needed for week's camp," Mr. Haddon wrote.

"All parents are invited to attend the camp and the safety of their boys is assured through the protection of several experienced Scouters and outdoor men," the Scoutmaster said. Every precaution has been taken to safeguard the boys while on camp. A special chemical device has been used to destroy all poison ivy and, also, further precautions have been taken to kill out mosquitoes, etc. The boys will eat inside the mess hall food already prepared for them, and will cook only three meals for themselves during the week, this being furnished."

Giants Are Again Thrown for Double Loss By McCamey

Errors And Dearth Of Hits In Pinches, Again Spell Doom

Two more heart-rending ball games, both of which should have been won, but for errors at crucial points and weakness at the bat, were dropped by Ozona's Permian Basin entry here Sunday to the McCamey aggregation, the first with a score of 5 to 3 and the second, 4 to 3.

Hits were about even in both games, the Giants gathering seven safeties in the first encounter to McCamey's eight, and the tabulation being seven all in the last. But the Ozonans were unable to connect with runners on the bags, when hits would have meant tallies. Dorley's long home-run swat over the center field fence was the sensation of the first game. The bags were empty, however, as they were wont to be when Giant hits were registered.

Meyers, southpaw school boy, here for a try-out Sunday, replaced Nugent early in the first contest after four runners had already crossed the plate, and held the visitors to one run the balance of the contest. Peoples hurled a smash-up game for the Giants in the nightcap, striking out six batters, walking only one, and contributing one hit for his teammates.

The box score for the double bill will be found on page five.

Cancel Crockett County CCC Quota

Crockett County's C.C.C. quota has been cancelled, according to advice received here by R. O. Smith, county relief administrator. In all probability the new quota for this county will be reduced from ten to one junior enrollee, the administrator said.

Under the new set-up for the C.C.C., 90 per cent of the allotment from each county must come from families on relief rolls.

New Manager Of Utilities Unit In Charge Here

J. O. Lusby Succeeds V. VanZandt As Local Manager

To take over management of the West Texas Utilities Company's unit here, J. O. Lusby, formerly manager of the Utilities plant at Merkel, arrived here Sunday night.

The new manager takes the place of V. VanZandt as manager of the Ozona office. Mr. Lusby has been connected with the West Texas Utilities for a number of years, having been at the Merkel post for the past three years and a half. Before taking up work at Merkel, Mr. Lusby worked with the company at Abilene, which is his home. He finished high school there and took up college work at Simmons University.

The new manager will bring his wife here in the next few days.

Wisconsin Man, Visiting Here, Dies Suddenly

Henry H. Crandall Is Victim Of Heart Attack Sunday

The victim of an apoplectic stroke Sunday afternoon following a heart attack Friday morning, Henry H. Crandall, 52, succumbed to the second attack Sunday evening at seven o'clock at the home of J. J. Armour here.

Funeral services were conducted from the Armour home Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock and the body was buried in Cedar Hill Cemetery, Rev. Leon M. Gambrell, Baptist minister, directing the services. A quartet composed of Mrs. C. J. Watts, Mrs. Hugh Gray, J. H. McClure and T. L. Gambrell sang two hymns, "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere" and "In the Garden."

Pallbearers were J. T. Keeton, O. W. Smith, Glyn Cates, John Fittit, Bill Littleton and J. H. McClure.

The heart victim was a brother of Mrs. J. J. Armour of Ozona. Mr. Crandall had been in Ozona seven weeks, coming here with his son, Frank, from Ashland, Wisconsin. He was born in Clintonville, Wisconsin, August 3, 1882. He spent a great part of his life as a navigator on the Great Lakes.

Death came unexpectedly to the Wisconsin man. He was not ill until the Friday attack.

Surviving are his mother, Mrs. Ida Crandall, Antigo, Wis., an only son, Frank Crandall, Ozona, and three sisters, Mrs. J. J. Armour, Aberdeen, Washington, and Mrs. L. R. Cook, Cedar, Wisconsin.

Voters To Pass On 7 Amendments To Constitution

Liquor Repeal and 6 Other Subjects Up August 24

Seven proposed amendments to the constitution of the state of Texas are to be voted upon by electors of this state on Saturday, August 24, at a special state-wide election for the purpose of passing on these proposed changes in the fundamental law, proposed by the recent session of the legislature.

Publication of these seven amendments, as required by the constitution, in the several counties of the state, begins this week. The amendments in full may be found on pages 2 and 6 of this issue of The Stockman.

The most widely known of the seven amendments to be voted upon, of course, is that repealing the state prohibition amendment. This amendment is known as Senate Joint Resolution No. 3. The repeal amendment outlaws the open sal-

Fulmers To Arrive Monday For Visit With Friends Here

The arrival of Rev. and Mrs. M. M. Fulmer and their two small children from Jackson, Tenn., has been delayed until Monday, according to word received here Tuesday.

The Tennessee pastor, with his family, was supposed to arrive in Ozona Wednesday for a few days visit with friends and relatives. The family moved from here to Tennessee last fall when the former Ozona Baptist pastor was called by the Calvary Baptist Church at Jackson.

The family will stop enroute here at Waco, where Mrs. Fulmer will take examination at Baylor University over a course she has completed by mail.

HEAVY RAINS PUT DRAWS ON RAMPAGE HERE

Parts Of City Flooded As Draws Meet In Largest Overflow

1 1/2 INCH FALL HERE

Johnson And Gurley Draws Cover Highway Bridges

A torrential downpour here last night which lasted intermittently for two hours brought Johnson Draw down to flood heights to a level higher than has been since the bridge west of town was erected about three years ago and caused Gurley Draw east of town to swell into flood proportions and reach nearby residences.

One and one half inches of rain fell in the Ozona vicinity.

Back water from the Johnson ravine washed away gravel topping from the highway west of the bridge and cut water paths along the highway.

For more than an hour traffic was held up at the bridge because of the water flowing over it at terrific speed. A garage was washed down and the water ran above the floors of homes on the east bank of the draw, in one home taking away articles in the flow. Families along the edges of the draw evacuated their homes during the two hours of flood.

Not until six-thirty this morning did the west-bound bus leave for Sheffield, passengers arriving in the bus at nine o'clock last night staying at Ozona hotels.

Electrical disturbances preceded the water rampant here, throwing the switch at the West Texas Utilities unit here and leaving the town in darkness for ten minutes.

Several motorists who arrived here from Barnhart during the rain reported large hail stones in that vicinity and west toward Big Lake.

Where garden spots were in the swath of gushing ravines from the hillsides, damage was reported but others not flooded profited from the downfall.

Residents of last night's inundated area were up early this morning in search for yard articles which were caught in the water flow.

The sudden deluge brought further relief to the drought stricken Crockett area but water that was altogether welcome, hit in cloud burst fashion and was gone down the currents of the two draws in ironical swiftness.

A general rainfall which covered a wide sector in this part of the state gave the immediate vicinity of Ozona one and one-fourth inches of moisture last Friday afternoon.

Some hail, but of no consequence, fell with the downpour here.

8 Cents Offered For Yearling Steers Of Crockett Co. Rancher

Judge C. E. Davidson Get Season's Top Bid For Choice Animals

Judge C. E. Davidson, who ranges both cattle and sheep on his ranch land south of here, was offered eight cents for his yearling steers this week, it was learned here. This is top offering of this season in this area.

Whether or not the Ozona ranchman will accept the offer from the unannounced buyer, is not known. Mr. Davidson also maintains a feeding farm for stock in Iowa and his cattle bring top prices annually.

AND WE PAY THEM FOR THAT

Cleburne Review: When a man gets by with some particular shady deal and nothing is done about it, honest people have a stereotyped expression of disgust like this: "And they shot Lincoln."

The Terrell Tribune paraphrases the old saying and avers: "And for all this the people 'pay the freight,'" in enumerating freak legislation the country over.

For instance one legislator wants to put tail lights on all mules.

Another would classify all saxophone players as rogues and vagabonds.

One solon wanted school busses painted red, white and blue.

Another would force all teachers to wear red, white and blue.

Another would give all saxophonists 90-day sentences.

Another would prohibit wrestlers from making faces while in the process of bouts.

Another would declare three or more persons gathered together wearing less than the accepted amount of clothing "out of order."

And so on down the line.

So that's the type of statesmanship we have today!

T. W. Callahan, District Work Manager of the Texas Relief Commission, was in Ozona Monday and Tuesday in connection with relief work here.

JUST A TRUNKFUL!

THREE smiling young stowaways demonstrate the ample space available for luggage, golf clubs or trophies of a shopping expedition, found in the trunk compartment of the new Ford V-8 Touring Sedans, two of the new deluxe types recently announced by the Ford Motor Company. The trunk compartment—with 13 cubic feet of space—is an inherent part of the design of the Tudor and Fordor Touring Sedan body types. All the space is used for luggage, the spare tire being carried conventionally at the rear, while an inner compartment under the floor provides space for tools. The trunk compartments may be locked with the same key that fits the tire lock. The new touring sedans were designed to provide ample luggage carrying facilities for families doing extensive traveling who wish to utilize the car interior for passengers. They have proved thus far to be among the most popular Ford body types.

Thirty Million Miles of Ford Economy

MORE MILES. Faster miles. Greater economy . . . that is the story of the Ford V-8. There are conclusive figures from owners to show that it is the most economical Ford car ever built.

A particularly interesting and complete report of costs comes from a national fleet owner who has owned 854 Ford cars which have run more than thirty million miles in business use.

175 were Model T Fords which were run 5,017,075 miles. 599 were Model A Ford cars which were run 24,041,632 miles. 80 are Ford V-8 cars which have been run 2,932,886 miles.

This owner's cost records show that Ford V-8 cars cost 12% less to operate than the Model A Fords and 31% less than the Model T Fords. And they covered more miles per month! The monthly average for the Model T Fords was 1509 miles. . . For the Model A Fords, 1866 miles. . . And 2571 miles for the Ford V-8.

Each year the Ford car gives you more in value and performance and costs you less to operate.

Actual Figures Show The Ford V-8 is 12% more economical than the Model A. and 31% more economical than the famous Model T.

What Would YOU Do

In a Case Like This?

A man comes to your door. You answer his knock. You don't know him, and he can't identify himself as a representative of one of the established companies you've come to know and trust.

Question: Would you open the door?

Answer: No. Not if you're like most of the women who keep house and buy things for themselves and their families in this community.

Reason: Experience has taught them that the greatest danger in admitting strangers is the danger of being sold something without a reputation.

Result: Women who know that a value is as much a matter of dollars and cents, buy through the ads in The OZONA STOCKMAN. They know they get double protection when they do.

NOBODY'S BUSINESS

BY JULIAN CAPERS JR.

AUSTIN, May 15—After a brief respite from the strenuous four-months' session of the legislature, just ended, Texas politicians will gird their loins and sail into another fight—the battle over repeal of the state constitutional amendment prohibiting the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquor in Texas.

The legislature adopted a double-barrelled prohibition repeal amendment which will be submitted to the voters. The first section, to be passed upon by the people August 24, 1935, simply provides for outright repeal of the prohibition amendment, leaving the matter of regulation of the sale of liquor to the legislature, if the amendment is adopted.

The second section provides that in the general election of 1936, the people shall pass upon the question of whether the sale of liquor exclusively by the state shall be permitted. Thus, the wets are actually given two chances. If repeal should fail in August, it might carry, under the state monopoly system, in November, 1936. If repeal carries in August, it is safe to say the state monopoly system probably will not be adopted by the legislature until the people pass upon that issue the following year. Probably a high license system, with possibly no sale except in unbroken packages, will be preferred by the law makers for a year's tryout. Hotel operators and others interested in profiting from the retail sale of liquor by the drink, will doubtless make a terrific fight against the unbroken package system, if the people sanction legal sale of liquor again in Texas. The first called session of the 44th legislature, which will be held in September—as predicted in this column more than a month ago—will be the scene of a memorable battle of lobbyists, as was the regular session.

Winning Fire Chief and His Trophy

Fire Chief E. E. Cureton of Owensboro, Ky., photographed with the plaque awarded him for winning the United States fire waste contest in fire prevention. The contest was limited to cities with population between 10,000 and 50,000.

ed in this column more than a month ago—will be the scene of a memorable battle of lobbyists, as was the regular session.

The legislature, despite widespread criticism of its dilatory tactics, passed oil legislation that will undoubtedly yield considerable additional revenue, and will aid the fight on "hot" oil, thus combatting attempts to impose federal control upon Texas' oil resources. In the closing hours, the tax on crude oil was slightly increased, and additional funds were allocated to the railroad commission for enforcement purposes, thus insuring more efficiency and a better pay standard for grossly underpaid employees of the commission's oil and gas division.

It also stopped forever the senseless waste of a great natural resource by making casinghead gasoline from "sweet" gas, and blowing the gas—amounting to a billion feet a day—into the air.

Tremendously important was final passage of the bill advocated by the attorney general to permit the state to confiscate and sell "hot" or illegal oil in the possession of owners and transporters. The state has been under a handicap heretofore. Its officials might know of the presence of millions of barrels of illegal oil, and know that this oil would be illegally put into the channels of commerce at the first opportunity by the owners, but they could do nothing about it, except try to prevent its movement. Now they can seize such oil, sell it, and appropriate the proceeds to the state. Trucks being used for movement of "hot" oil and its products are also subject to seizure and confiscation.

With over 200 bills and resolutions, rushed thru during the closing hours, on his desk to be acted upon during the next 20 days, Gov. Allred this week is facing one of the hardest tasks of his career. He will endeavor to pass upon the most important bills this week, and then, with Mrs. Allred, will seek respite from the tremendous pressure under which he has been working for weeks, by taking the tour of the south with the Texas Press Association's Centennial special train.

The train leaves Houston Sunday midnight, May 19, and will carry 125 Texans boosting the Centennial. The governor will present to President Roosevelt in Washington on behalf of Texas, the joint resolution adopted by the legislature, inviting the president and other Washington notables to the Centennial celebration in 1936.

The legislature apparently still believes that a new Constitution for Texas is not necessary, but that the people can rewrite the basic law by voting yes or no on a patchwork of amendments, from year to year. This time nine amendments were submitted. The voters have demonstrated their lack of confidence in this method of writing fundamental law by voting "no" on other long slates of amendments several times. Eventually, a constitutional convention will be convoked, and Texans will write a new basic law for governing the state in an orderly, efficient manner. Meanwhile, the glaring deficiencies of the present outmoded Constitution continue to hamper efficiency in state government, and attract many incompetent candidates for state offices. Some of them are successful in the elections.

The drivers' license law, the governor's bill to create a state authority for the Detroit-St. Louis gas pipeline project, the public utility regulation bill, and race track repeal were important measures that went down to defeat. These are certain to be issues before the special session, as will the matter of funds to continue state participation in relief work, as well as the general subject of the state deficit and taxation to wipe it out.

APPRECIATION

Life is forever changing us. We are here today and somewhere else tomorrow.

It is with a feeling of sadness that I leave the work among the good people of Ozona. My work has been most enjoyable because of the faithful cooperation of the patrons, the boys and girls and the members of the faculty. I shall miss you boys and girls of the Junior High School. We have had many good times together. We have worked and played and both have been a pleasure to me. I appreciate the opportunity of helping you in the solution of some of your problems, and you have helped me a great deal. My sincerest wish is for each and everyone of you success and happiness in the days to come.

To Mr. Denham, and other members of the faculty, to the Board of Education the many patrons of Ozona I wish to express my thanks and appreciation for the many kindnesses and acts of cooperation. My year in Ozona has been a most pleasant one.

Best wishes and good luck.

THE "NAW CLUB"

Bay City Tribune: The other day I listened to a man complain about the Chamber of Commerce, the Rotary Club, the Kiwanis Club the schools, the city, the newspaper, and everything else as a matter of fact.

"Are you a member of the Chamber of Commerce?" I asked him. "Naw," he replied. "You do not belong to the Rotary Club, do you?" "Naw," again was his reply. "You are not a member of the school board, you don't pay so many taxes do you, in the city or school?" Again his reply was, "Naw."

"Well, I know darned well you don't support your newspaper in any way, fashion or form. Yet you want all of these things to function and you don't support them with your membership or your financial assistance. You would not pick out a town without them, would you?" "Naw" again was his reply.

But he wouldn't help those that exist, he would not seek a town without these things in which to leech out a living, yet he expects them all to function just according to his own interpretation. I'll tell you what a man told me once when I was complaining about how this and that was run. He said, "Get in and see what you can do to help it work the way you have it mapped out." I have never forgotten that.

OZONA NEEDS A LIBRARY

Ozona, like all other progressive towns, needs a public library.

If Ozona had not kept abreast and ahead of other towns of the state much larger, in the educational march, there would be no provocation for the above declaration. But the progression of the town in a sense of education, has earned for it a reputation and a station in public education and thus justifies the statement.

There are towns in the state, twice and three times the size of Ozona, that do not need a library. It is not because they have one already. The people have not fallen in into the march of progress in a civic-minded way and necessarily lack many things before they can think of a library. They lack, first, an adequate public school set-up, and to build a library would be like adorning ragged apparel with an attractive binding.

In educational outfitting, Ozona is one of the most adequately "dressed" towns in the state, and is unsurpassed for its size.

A public library, for the convenience of ADULTS as well as students, would bedeck the town "sensibly" as a finishing and appropriate touch.

Education does not stop with high school. With a library, it does not have to cease. Some adults have not had the opportunity of schooling that youth today has and there are those of that group that would like to add to their knowledge through the aid of a well-rounded library.

Besides educational value, a library has the value of recreation. It is a place where one can feast in pleasant repast on the finest heritage of the world, good books. From these volumes one can glean knowledge and find recreation in pleasant reading.

There is no more valuable asset to a town than a WELL ROUNDED library.

Ozona needs a good library.

WHAT OF YOUR NAME?

Castro County News: Once we heard a lady, in a public address, urge young men to safeguard their names, pointing out to them that it belonged not to them alone but to all others, widely scattered, who bore it.

In everyday life we have frequent occasions to meet new faces and unconsciously, we judge the stranger by the name he bears. Later, perhaps, we revise the initial valuation, but for a time, the worth of the name he bears justifies or condemns the unknown man.

The other day a lawyer in Castro County told us an interesting occurrence which illustrates the statements made above. Two strangers walked into the lawyer's office, discussing a matter, and before leaving turned it over to him for attention. As the lawyer required a retainer in advance, he suggested to them that they make inquiries as to his reputation.

The visitors said this was unnecessary. The lawyer then asked them who had sent them to his office. The answer was "No one." The curiosity of the lawyer having been aroused, he asked them the reason for their visit to him, when so many others were available. The answer surprised him.

One of the visitors said: "I was in the army and served under Captain ——. He was a fine man, straight as they make them. I saw you had the same name and I decided to come to you.

When you want to pass the car ahead, always wait until you are on a curve. It makes people think you are dashing, even if some of them would like to dash your brains out.

Always race for the intersection; it shows spirit, or at least the effect of spirits.

Blow your horn to let everybody know you are coming, whether you have any right to the way or not. It sounds important.

Use the middle of the road. It is smoother. You own it—you're a taxpayer. If anybody leans out and calls you a road hog, call him another. Both of you are likely to be right.

When the street is wet, clamp on your brakes. You may whirl around, but that makes the folks in the back seat squeal and this neutralizes the squeal of the brakes.

When a pedestrian is near the curb and there is water in the gutter, this is your opportunity to make a splash. Roar through fast. If you can bang through a dip filled with water you may be able to cover another car with slime.

Use your horn at midnight. It makes a wonderful door bell. This is a nold reliable custom.

Cut the corners. It gets you to the morgue faster.

By all means do everything you shouldn't and the thing you should do, forget!

"IT WORKED"

A parson, walking along the street, was attracted by some very strong and colorful language close by. Turning, he observed a man having difficulty in slipping the rim of his spare on the wheel.

"My good man," he said, "That kind of language won't help you. When you are in trouble, you should ask the Lord to help you."

"Well," replied the angry driver, "I've tried everything else so I might as well try that. So saying he bowed his head for a moment, then raised up, took the rim and slid it smoothly and easily on the wheel.

The parson looked, scratched his head. "Well, I'll be damned," he said.

Virtues And Vices Of Early Spanish Settlements In Texas Are Revealed By Document In Old Bexar Archives

Men With Veiled Women At Night Were Subject To Fines

AUSTIN, Texas, May 14—The transfer of Louisiana to the United States focused the attention of the Anglo-Americans on Texas, it is apparent from documents in the Bexar Archives in the University of Texas library. None were more interested in the new acquisition than President Jefferson who was determined to know the truth—the whole alluring truth—about the country just beyond the Mississippi, the Arkansas, the Platte, the Red and the Sabine rivers. This interest was shared by his agent, Major Zebulon Montomey Pike, of the United States Army, who actually succeeded in making a trip through this jealously guarded region. Pike, however, lost his way on the Red River, was captured by the Spanish authorities of New Mexico, was conducted to Santa Fe and thence to Chihuahua, where Nemesio Salcedo, the vigilant commandant general stood guard. The venture some traveler was finally sent back to the United States via Bexar and Nacogdoches, and had an opportunity to study all the settlements on the way. He considered San Antonio de Bexar the most delightful place he visited in all New Spain and his Journal, printed in England and in the United States and translated into French and Dutch, brought this hitherto unknown capital to the attention of the world. Here for the first time foreigners got an intimate glimpse into the manners, morals, and customs of its pleasure loving people of whom in speaking of their kindness and hospitality, Pike wrote:

"Those reasons have induced me to omit many transactions and to draw a veil over various habits and customs which might appear in an unfavorable point of view at the same time that I have dwelt with delight on their virtues."

Pike admitted that the people were of roaming inclinations and delighted in the chase—buffaloes and wild horses particularly tempting them to this pleasurable and profitable pursuit. His favorable impression is thus summarized by Bancroft:

"In this small, rough community there was not wanting somewhat of the amenities and even refinements of civilized society. This was to be found among the Spanish residents, many of whom had come from leading families in Spain, or from the viceregal court. The upperclass enlivened social intercourse by dinner-parties and balls at which refinement of manners was noticeable and cheerful, bright conversation gladdened the entertainments."

He claimed that this infused a degree of politeness into the Creoles and half-breeds, modifying the tendency to ruffian bearing and coarseness which are the products of wild frontier life and isolation from the world.

There were others, however, as is shown by translations from documents in the Bexar Archives in the library of The University of Texas, who tore away the veil of concealment and held up a mirror to the gross faults of the people.

For instance, Juan Bautista de Elguezabal, Governor of Texas, felt impelled to correct some of the more serious irregularities and early in 1802 issued a proclamation, which embraced fifteen points, one more than the famous Wilson peace program. It is interesting to contrast and compare some of these items with current day problems and practices.

He decreed:

"All vagrants without regular employment beneficial to the country shall be obliged to find an employer and by personal labor to secure means of subsistence. They shall find said employment within a week, and those failing so to do within the specified time shall be condemned to labor on such public works as the government may think most proper.

"All women, married or single, who have not the means of subsistence shall likewise find work within the aforesaid period of time. If they do not they shall be held and their children put to work that will be profitable both to the mothers and to the government.

"All parents shall be required to have their children at home by 8 o'clock at night, under no pretext shall they be permitted to go out alone to dances or to other places of amusement. Notice is hereby given that parents who fail to obey this regulation in the slightest, shall be subject to fine and the children to the punishment due such reprehensible conduct, which will result in their remaining in ignorance, and, at the same time, in their falling in excessive vices.

"All owners of ranches who go on round-ups to catch unbranded stock without informing the government of all the meet and tallow they bring back, as well as of all the animals they capture, shall be subject to such corporal punishment as the government may think proper to impose and shall, in addition, be required to pay a fine. Above all, it is to be understood, that they are to ask for permission to make said round-ups.

"Neither shall said owners of ranches be allowed to employ any person whatsoever without the knowledge and express permission of the judges. Any person violating this provision shall be subject to the punishments named above.

"Expeditions in search of unbranded stock are absolutely prohibited between March 1 and September 1. This is permitted, however, from that date until the end of February.

"All owners of milk cows, calves or hogs shall keep them in pens so that they may not cause any damage. Persons failing so to do shall have their stock seized and shall, in addition thereto, have a fine imposed upon them.

"Those owning lands and water rights must make use of them every year. If they fail to do so, they shall be deprived thereof for a period of three years, said possessions being conferred upon others who shall have possession for this said period of time.

"Vendors of lard, candles, tallow, bread, and other commodities must, without any excuse whatsoever, observe all the regulations that may be posted upon the doors of the municipal hall by the ayuntamiento. No exception will be made to this rule.

"Each resident shall be compelled to keep the portion of the street belonging to him in the proper condition. He shall not permit the accumulation of piles of refuse which are often seen and which are sometimes burned to the great inconvenience of the occupants of the near-by houses. The same thing shall hold true of the open irrigating ditches.

"All kinds of gaming in the streets at night is prohibited under the severest penalties. No exceptions will be made in favor of any person whatsoever.

"Notice is hereby given to all operators of public houses under royal permits that, whenever objectionable entertainments are noted, said houses shall be publicly posted and their owners as well as those frequenting them shall be punished and made to pay fines.

"All persons, of whatsoever class they may be, who shall be found upon the streets after night accompanied by women wearing veils, shall, without exception, be confined in jail. They shall likewise pay a fine in addition to the jail sentence. This regulation shall be enforced even though the veiled woman in question be the wife of the delinquent, due to the scandal caused among those who are ignorant of this fact.

"The Alcaldes and constables whose duty it is to enforce these regulations shall take turns at keeping watch at night. They shall permit no cause whatsoever to prevent them from so doing. They are charged with the responsibility of preventing and correcting all disorders in contravention of public peace and lawful procedure.

"The judges shall make every effort to induce parents to place their children in school, forcing them to do so by imposing heavy penalties for disobedience when necessary. This is a duty of the greatest importance to religion and to the mother country. The carelessness of parents who, thru misguided affection, may take upon themselves the responsibility for the worthlessness and evil conduct of their children, is regrettable."

Pike's interesting descriptions served to draw settlers, travelers,

Recently an inspector of city high schools came before a class of girls. He wrote on the blackboard "LXXX." Then, peering over his spectacles at the good-looking girl in the first row, he asked: "Young lady, I'd like to have you tell me what that means." "Love and kisses," the girl very promptly replied.

 loon and gives the legislature the power to regulate the liquor traffic, including the power to establish a state monopoly on the sale of distilled liquors. The amendment also provides for local option, and leaves intact the 3.2 beer laws now in force.

Another of the amendments is that abolishing the fee system of compensating district officers and county officers in counties of less than 20,000 population. This amendment was defeated last year. Submission of constitutional amendments at special sessions of the legislature under extraordinary conditions would be permitted under House Joint Resolution No. 48. Under existing laws, constitutional amendments may be submitted only at regular sessions of the legislature.

Another proposed change would authorize courts having original jurisdiction in criminal matters to suspend imposition or execution of sentence assessed by juries and to place defendants so convicted on probation in their discretion. The state would be authorized to furnish state official textbooks free to every child of scholastic age in the state, regardless of whether the child is attending a state supported school or not, under Senate Joint Resolution No. 24 which proposes to make this provision in the constitution of the state. House Joint Resolution No. 19 proposes a constitutional amendment giving the legislature power to provide for old-age assistance not to exceed $15 per month per person and giving the legislature the power to co-operate with the federal government in the matter of old-age pensions.

Witnessing the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Fleet Coates, parents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Powell, Miss Luetta Powell, Pink Beall and Mrs. Charley Coates, aunt of the bride.

The bride was a member of the 1935 graduating class of Ozona High School, receiving her diploma in the Thursday night exercises. ### Baptist Men Turn Back Methodists In Softball Fracas

The Methodist Men's softball team engaged the Baptist men in a five-inning game Monday afternoon on the Powell Field here. The Baptists turning their opponents back in a "fun fracas" by 10 to 10.

Curtain opener for the season of the gentle sport here, Monday afternoon's affair was a farce in every act in which several Ozonans ceased to be office automatons for an hour and settled down to the business of catching, hitting and missing the oversized baseball.

Lee Patrick was the successful hurler, tossing for the Baptists, while Hugh Childress, Jr. and Shorty Wilkinson, jointly, hurled for the losing Methodist aggregation. The losing team attributed the loss to the early scoring spree of the opposition in the second inning in which something akin to ten points were tallied.

Say "I saw it in the Stockman."
