GROUP SEEKS MEMBERS FOR THEFT GUARD

Protective Association Launched By Crockett Ranchers

PROPRATE COST Assess Members On Basis Number Head Stock Owned

Organization of a Crockett county Livestock Protective Association, which will take over the work of supervising and employment of a special sheriff's deputy to curb livestock thefts in the county, was launched at the meeting of the Commissioners Court interested ranchmen here this week.

Wayne West was designated president of the new organization and a sign-up campaign for contributing members is now under way. Members are to be assessed supporting fees of $1 per month for thousand head of sheep and $2 per month per thousand head of cattle. This system of pro-rating costs of the protective service was decided upon as the most equitable and adjusted to benefits received.

This plan will replace the one now in force whereby a group of volunteer ranchers, who contribute to a fund to augment county funds appropriated for the purpose. The county has made provision for employment of the special deputy until July 1. The new organization will take over on that date, payments of member membership to be in the hands of the president by that date.

T. A. Is Host To Pre-School Mothers Monday

What Parents Demand Of Schools Topic For Session

Mothers and children of pre-school age will be special guests of the Parent-Teacher Association at its regular meeting Monday afternoon in the High School auditorium. The program subject for the day will be "What a Parent Asks of the School for His Child," and will be under the leadership of Mrs. C. J. Watts.

A school program will be presented by the Kindergarten group under the direction of Miss Sophie Haug, teacher. The devotionals will be led by Mrs. Charles Williams.

Mrs. L. B. Cox will present a paper on the program topic, followed by a talk by Rex Johnston, Junior High principal, on "Teaching for Appreciation and Character Development." School highlights will be given by Mrs. Everett White.

Hostesses for the day will be Mrs. Charles Williams, Mrs. Bill Hoover, Mrs. George Montgomery, Mrs. Jack Holt, Mrs. Joe Patrick, Mrs. J. W. Johnigan, Mrs. Leslie Vance and Mrs. Hillery Phillips.

$3.30 TO MEMORIAL FUND

The Ozona Schools dispatched money order for $3.30 this morning to Governor James V. Hired as this school's "penny per pupil" contribution to the New London School memorial fund.

Miss Ernestine Watts, a graduate of Draughon's Business College, Abilene, has recently accepted a secretarial position with the Bradford Grocery Co., Abilene. Miss Watts is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Watts.

Local Entrants Win Places In District Meet

Essay Writer, Declaimers, Play Cast Are Winners

Honors in four divisions were brought back by contestants in the district Interscholastic League held in Fort Stockton the past week-end.

Ora Louise Cox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Cox, took first place in district competition in essay writing for class B schools in the district. It was announced from Fort Stockton yesterday.

The one-act play cast was awarded third place in the district contests, which drew a field of six entries. The local cast, under the direction of Mrs. A. W. Jones, presented the one-act play, "Stolen Fruit." Members of the cast included Howard Lemmons, Ele Bright Baggett, Max Schneemann, James Black, Crystelle Carson, Joyce Garrison, Mary Williams and Athleen Dudley.

Lela Mae Phillips, took second place in the Senior girls division of the declamation contests. Welton Bunger was awarded third place in the Senior boys declamation contest.

LEE WILSON OPENS BUICK AGENCY HERE

Former Dealer Gets Franchise On Buick And Pontiac

Lee Wilson, who until six years ago operated the Wilson Motor Co., Buick dealers for Crockett County, yesterday was awarded the direct dealer franchise for Buick and Pontiac automobiles for this county and will re-establish the business in Ozona on the same status as he operated before.

Announcement of his return to Ozona was made here yesterday afternoon by Mr. Wilson. For the past year Mr. Wilson has been salesman for the Schuch Motor Co. of San Angelo in charge of Crockett County sales under a branch dealer arrangement. Under the new set-up Mr. Wilson will return to make his home in Ozona and will have the exclusive dealership for both Pontiac and Buick cars.

A stock of three or four cars will be placed on display here at once, Mr. Wilson said. The company will offer complete service, not only for Buick and Pontiac owners, but for all makes of cars, with factory-trained mechanics in the service department, Mr. Wilson declared. A filling station with complete service is to be operated in connection.

"I feel that I am coming back home, back to live among home people," Mr. Wilson said on his visit here yesterday. "I have always felt, and told my friends, that Ozona has been home to me and always will be. I am most happy to have the privilege of returning and doing business with Crockett County folk as one of their again."

"It shall be my aim to become a citizen of Crockett County in the true sense of the word, and to equip my business to give the best possible service to Crockett County people. I intend to keep a stock of cars commensurate with needs of the field, to offer the highest type of service available and complete filling station facilities."

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson will move with their children to Ozona as soon as school is out to make their home.

Since leaving Ozona, Mr. Wilson has never left the Buick sales field. He was connected as salesman with the Buick agency in El Paso for several years before returning to this section to become salesman for the San Angelo agency.

TO BUILD NEW HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Henderson will start wrecking operations on their home next week in preparation for building a new home of native stone. They will live on their ranch home while the town house is being built.

LIFE MEMBER P. T. A.

Mrs. W. A. Kay, pictured, was awarded a state life membership in the Parent-Teacher Association at the Sixth District convention in San Angelo last week. Mrs. Kay has been a tireless worker in the local Parent-Teacher organization and served the association as president two terms, and is district secretary.

Mrs. W. A. Kay Honored By Home Group In District Meet

Mrs. W. A. Kay of Ozona, district secretary, who served the Ozona Parent-Teacher Association two terms as president and has for years been a dependable worker in that organization, was honored by the Ozona association with a state life membership at the Sixth District convention in San Angelo last week.

The state life membership, one of five awarded at the district convention, with one national life membership in addition, was formally awarded the Ozona leader during the convention session the end of the week.

Mrs. Joe T. Davidson, president of the Ozona P. T. A. and district publicity chairman, and Mrs. Kay attended the convention as delegates from the Ozona club and as district officials. Mrs. Davidson reported on activities of the local organization.

Conference Secy. To Preach Sunday Methodist Church

Rev. Wood Patrick, executive secretary of the Conference Board of Christian Education, will preach at the morning service Sunday at the Methodist Church. It was announced this week.

Rev. Patrick will be here two days and during his stay will conduct a number of workers' institutes.

Court Provides Office Quarters For County Agent

Dr. Fussell Will Move Dental Offices; Paving Contemplated

An order requesting Dr. J. A. Fussell to vacate quarters in the county courthouse to make room for office space for the new county agent and the county Soil Conservation board was passed by the Commissioners Court in session here this week.

The court's order recited the necessity for the additional space to take care of the new county agency, which has been in temporary quarters in the room used by the court for its sessions.

The court also gave notice of contemplated paving of the street east of the school buildings and to connect with the paving at the Baptist Church and also contemplated paving of the area between the courthouse and the Baptist and Methodist Churches at an early date. Committees from the court were designated to handle details of awarding contracts for this week.

The salary of the courthouse janitor, Ernest Sparkman, was raised to $100 a month until further order from the court.

Tennis Courts May Be Ready In Two Weeks

School Improvement Work Rapidly Nearing Completion

New double tennis courts, now under construction by the Ozona schools adjoining the kindergarten building, east of the grade school building, are expected to be complete and ready for play within the next two weeks, Supt. C. S. Denham said this week.

The fill and caliche surfacing has been completed and erecting of backstops was expected to be under way this week-end. The final dragging and rolling of the surface will be completed soon and the courts will be ready for play.

The big fill, done for the most part with surplus dirt from the WPA street projects, is being held in place with a concrete retaining wall erected on the street side. A concrete curbing was also completed this week on the west side of the street and along the east edge of the school playgrounds between the two buildings. This curbing will prevent washing of the sodded expanse of playground and will minimize washing of the street. It is understood that plans are under way for paving the street which traverses the east side of school property.

AUTO MISHAP CLAIMS LIFE OF CAL. WOMAN

Mrs. Theresa Klage Succumbs To Accident Injuries

BLOWOUT BLAMED Son-In-Law Slightly Injured As Car Rolls Into Ditch

Mrs. Theresa Klage, 78, of Los Angeles, California, died here Wednesday morning as a result of injuries suffered Tuesday afternoon when a car in which she and her son-in-law, Robert E. Hubble, also of Los Angeles, were riding, overturned about 25 miles west of Ozona on Highway 27.

Mrs. Klage was brought to Ozona suffering from internal injuries and severe head injuries. She was given treatment at a local physician's office. She died about 9:30 yesterday morning.

Mr. Hubble emerged from the accident with only minor injuries. A blow-out in a rear tire of the car, a Ford V-8 sedan, was responsible for the accident, Mr. Hubble said. The car left the highway and turned over two and a half times. Mrs. Klage was thrown out through the top of the car and her body was badly crushed. She never regained consciousness.

The body of Mrs. Klage is being shipped to Los Angeles for burial after being prepared for shipment in the Joe Oberkampff funeral division.

The accident occurred shortly after 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. The injured woman and her son-in-law were brought to Ozona by an employe of one of the road crews working on the highway west of Ozona.

Mrs. Klage and Mr. Hubble were on their way to Elgin for a visit with relatives.

H. O. Word Hurt In Fall Of Horse On A. C. Hoover Ranch

H. O. Word, former Ozona resident, now ranching near Fort Stockton, was seriously injured Saturday when a horse fell with him on the Live Oak ranch of A. C. Hoover. Mr. Word suffered several fractures and displacements of vertebra and ribs, an examination here showed. He was paralyzed as a result of the injury but physicians are confident of his complete recovery.

The injured man was taken to San Antonio for treatment. Mr. Word was helping work sheep on the Hoover ranch.

Two-Town Team Wins One, Loses One Warmer Up

Fats Heatherly Signed To Plug Hole At Second Base

The Station A baseball team, joint entry of Ozona and Sonora in the forthcoming Permian Basin league campaigns for the current season, broke even in games over the week-end with a loss to the Iraan Oilers, Permian opponents, here Saturday and a win Sunday over the San Angelo Sheep Herders, Concho Basin entry.

The A squad will seek revenge when they journey to Iraan Saturday for a return match with the Oilers. Three pitchers, Trautham, Fields and McDonald, trying out with the combined crew, were badly used by the Iraan sluggers but will be better seasoned the coming week-end, if the management sees fit to keep them on the roll, and may not be so easily handled. SKELETONS OF ABORIGINES DUG FROM PECOS CAVE

By Ted White

The Pecos river and its adjoining hills still have hidden inside their bosom lurid history and numerous evidences of the life of our predecessors, the hapless Redskins. They roamed the hills and the valleys seeking food and shelter. Their primary purpose in life was to be comfortable and happy. From the many dwelling places and signs left therein, one may judge that they enjoyed more happiness than luxurious comforts.

From the Horsehead crossing on the Pecos to its mouth where it pours a constant stream of salty water into the Rio Grande, it is bounded by high hills and bluffs. Many of these bluffs raise their heads hundreds of feet above the graveled bed of the river. There are many shelves and caves in these bluffs which are now serving as a refuge for the thoughtful and sneezing goat that has been freshly shorn of his valuable coat. But back through the ages, the snakes and cats were crowded out by the American Indian, who sought shelter for himself and his family.

Many of these caves were used almost solely for workshops and others for burial grounds. The floors of these caves are covered with ashes and flint particles. In one cave which is being worked by Texas Tech classes the ashes are ten to fifteen feet in depth. In these beds of ashes may be found the best preserved evidence of Indian and earlier life. There is a strong and rather definite history written in each shovelful of ashes, telling of the clothing, food, hunting weapons and weapons of war of these aborigines.

Turns Skull Digger

Joe T. Davidson has turned his attention definitely and enthusiastically to unearthing many Indian and cave dweller relics. Last year a group of Ozonans including W. S. Willis, Joe T. Davidson, Joe T. Davidson, Jr., C. S. Denham, Rex Russell, Walter Kyle, and the writer dug up two skeletons and other articles which authorities dated as remains of a people which inhabited this section from three to five thousand years ago.

Last Saturday, April 9, Mr. Davidson, Tom Everett, Joe T. Davidson, Jr., and the writer made another exploring trip in the Pandale section with marked success. The party was supplied with shovels, screens (for sifting ashes), and dust masks. The group entered a cave on a bluff high above the river. The cave was found to be covered in ashes and burnt rock, traces of which were found in a rock slide extending almost to the vega a hundred feet below.

The cave is 165 feet in length, thirty feet back to the inner wall and in places thirty feet in height. It offered room enough for a whole tribe to evade the violence of the elements, but it is not to be considered a dry cave. It faces west and the ashes are most over most of the floor space. This caused the findings of the Ozona party to be in somewhat bad condition, and indications lead to a definite conclusion that many interesting articles once to have been found in the cave have long since returned to the dust. Pieces of matting which were uncovered turned to dust as they were touched.

Spirit of Past Grips

As the party ascended the hill, mounted on glass-eyed paint horses and mules, they were filled with the spirit of Pizarro and Cortonado. The wild aspect of the surrounding country conjured up in imagination a picture of wily Redskins lying in wait on the up-wind from some unsuspecting deer, followed the vision as the lithe buck raised himself soundlessly to draw an arrow across his bow, could almost hear the hum of the arrow as it sped to its mark in a vital spot, and then followed the Indian as he trudged up the hill

Screw Worm Control Supervisor Confers With Local Ranchers

Joe Clayton of Fort Stockton, district supervisor of the screw worm control program of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, who is assigned to work in Pecos and Crockett Counties, was here this week conferring with Crockett County ranchers relative to pushing the program in this county.

Mr. Clayton will be at the service of ranchers in working out any problems they may encounter in connection with the battles against the screw worm menace, giving demonstrations in treating infested animals, giving information on approved methods and medicines for such treatments and control and otherwise assist ranchmen in minimizing screw worm losses and controlling the fly.

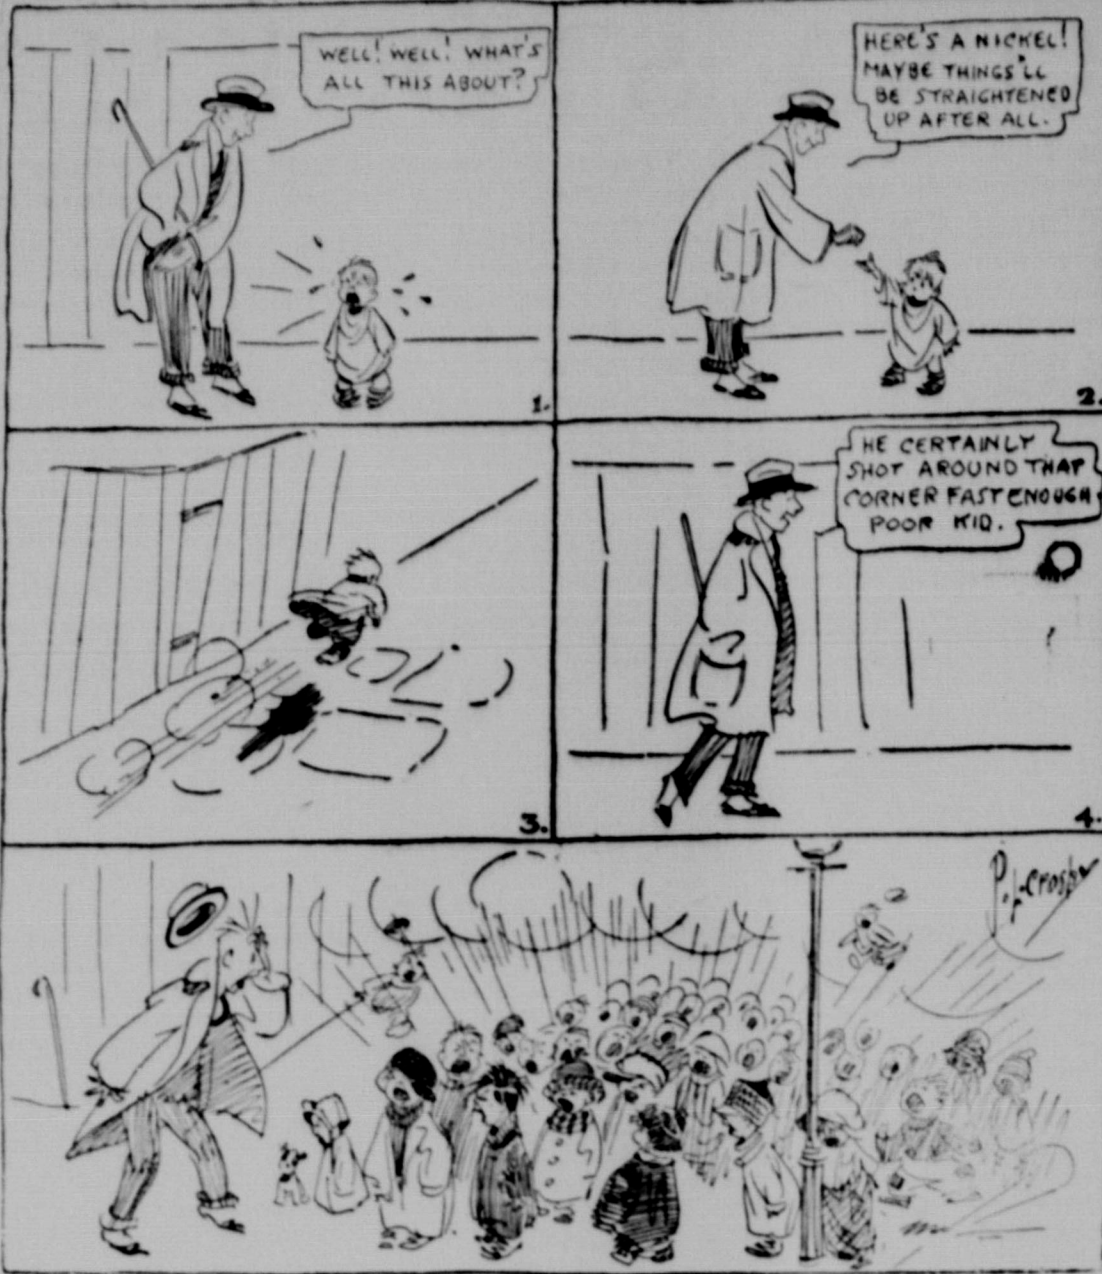

The government will give free of charge one quart of pine tar oil per 1000 head of sheep to ranchers who request it, Mr. Clayton said. County Agent C. J. Van Zandt will be in charge of distribution of this material, he said.

Bones, Scrap Iron New Source Revenue For Texas Farmers

Austin, April 7—Texas farmers are reaping a harvest selling bones at $10 per ton and scrap iron at $4 and $5 per ton, according to a survey just completed by the Texas Planning Board.

Most of the bones are being purchased for fertilizer, chicken feed and bone meal. The best grade bones are being bought up by sugar factories for use as a bleaching agent for pure cane sugar.

The scrap iron is being purchased by buyers representing Japan.

Texas farmers who "plowed under" thousands of head of cattle for the Government during the AAA cattle buying program are now writing a glorious end to this phase of the New Deal by digging up the bones of the slaughtered cattle and selling them for fifty cents per hundred pounds.

It is not uncommon to see scores of wagons scouring the countryside in some parts of the state for bones. In several West Texas towns huge piles of bones have taken the place of the usual scrap iron heap.

Mrs. George Montgomery entertained her contract club at her home Friday afternoon.

Mrs. J. O. Lusby was in Brady the first of the week as a delegate of the local Junior Woman's Club to the district convention.

Abandoned mines in the Central Texas mining area are now yielding a small amount of gold, according to C. W. Walker, Texas Planning Board mineralogist, who has discovered some individuals recovering from one ounce to two ounces of fine gold per week.

Texas Planning Board travel experts estimate that approximately 2,000,000 tourists will visit Texas during 1937.

Sounds a Little Difficult

It was on top of a crowded bus in Chicago.

"Low bridge!" shouted the conductor to the passengers. "Everyone keep his seat and face to the front."

A gay little flapper up forward turned around, smiled sweetly and said, "my dear, you know that can't be done?"

"I'll be frank with you," said the young man when the embrace was over. "You're the first girl I ever kissed."

"I'll be equally frank with you," she answered. "You've got a lot to learn."

Screw Worm Control Supervisor Confers With Local Ranchers

Joe Clayton of Fort Stockton, district supervisor of the screw worm control program of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, who is assigned to work in Pecos and Crockett Counties, was here this week conferring with Crockett County ranchers relative to pushing the program in this county.

Mr. Clayton will be at the service of ranchers in working out any problems they may encounter in connection with the battles against the screw worm menace, giving demonstrations in treating infested animals, giving information on approved methods and medicines for such treatments and control and otherwise assist ranchmen in minimizing screw worm losses and controlling the fly.

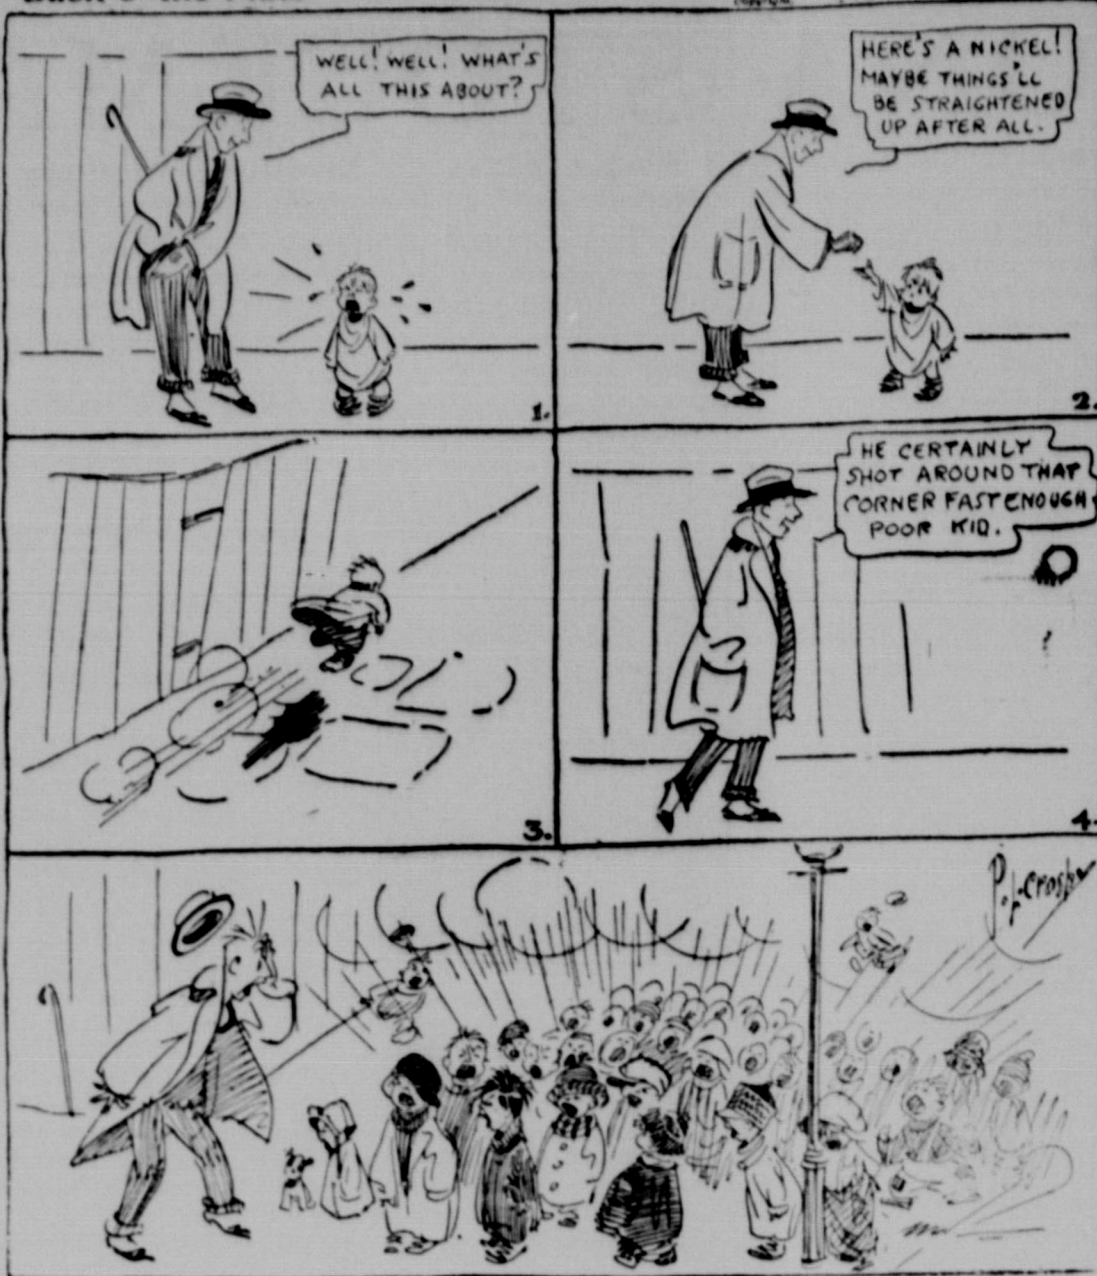

The government will give free of charge one quart of pine tar oil per 1000 head of sheep to ranchers who request it, Mr. Clayton said. County Agent C. J. Van Zandt will be in charge of distribution of this material, he said.

Bones, Scrap Iron New Source Revenue For Texas Farmers

Austin, April 7—Texas farmers are reaping a harvest selling bones at $10 per ton and scrap iron at $4 and $5 per ton, according to a survey just completed by the Texas Planning Board.

Most of the bones are being purchased for fertilizer, chicken feed and bone meal. The best grade bones are being bought up by sugar factories for use as a bleaching agent for pure cane sugar.

The scrap iron is being purchased by buyers representing Japan.

Texas farmers who "plowed under" thousands of head of cattle for the Government during the AAA cattle buying program are now writing a glorious end to this phase of the New Deal by digging up the bones of the slaughtered cattle and selling them for fifty cents per hundred pounds.

It is not uncommon to see scores of wagons scouring the countryside in some parts of the state for bones. In several West Texas towns huge piles of bones have taken the place of the usual scrap iron heap.

Mrs. George Montgomery entertained her contract club at her home Friday afternoon.

Mrs. J. O. Lusby was in Brady the first of the week as a delegate of the local Junior Woman's Club to the district convention.

Abandoned mines in the Central Texas mining area are now yielding a small amount of gold, according to C. W. Walker, Texas Planning Board mineralogist, who has discovered some individuals recovering from one ounce to two ounces of fine gold per week.

Texas Planning Board travel experts estimate that approximately 2,000,000 tourists will visit Texas during 1937.

Sounds a Little Difficult It was on top of a crowded bus in Chicago.

"Low bridge!" shouted the conductor to the passengers. "Everyone keep his seat and face to the front."

A gay little flapper up forward turned around, smiled sweetly and said, "my dear, you know that can't be done?"

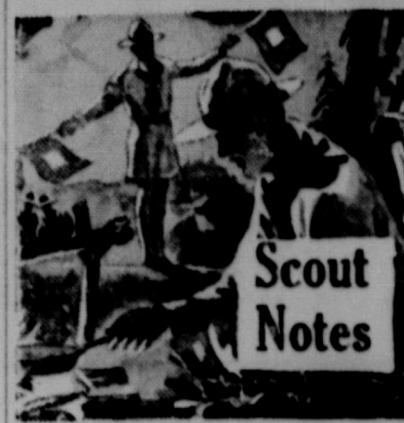

"I'll be frank with you," said the young man when the embrace was over. "You're the first girl I ever kissed."

"I'll be equally frank with you," she answered. "You've got a lot to learn."

TO WED RASKOB'S SON

Miss Dolores Horter of Reno, Nev., whose engagement to Robert P. Raskob, son of John J. Raskob, financier and former national Democratic committee chairman, was announced recently. The bride-to-be is a native of Reno and a graduate of the University of Nevada. Mr. Raskob has been in Reno for a year and a half looking after mining interests of his father. The marriage will take place in June.

The Court of Honor, which was postponed from April 1, was held last night starting at 7:30. The Court of Honor Board consisted of C. S. Denham, Bright Baggett, Rev. Eugene Slater, Guinn Carruthers and N. E. Rendall. About forty-five merit badges have been passed by the Scouts since the last Court of Honor.

Bobby Lemmons, Byron Williams, I. V. Garrison, Jim Dudley, and W. B. Robertson passed tests for second class badges.

Joe Williams was advanced to Life rank. His next badge will be Eagle.

Maurice Lemmons and Norman Rendall came up for chemistry merit badges, demonstrating the process of making nitric acid. Maurice Lemmons also came up for merit badge in music and Norman Rendall for interpreting. Jack Baggett came up for pioneering, scholarship and public health. Jim Dudley came up for merit badges in music, personal health, safety, pathfinding and firemanship.

Joe Williams came up for athletics, mechanical drawing, first aid, pathfinding, and safety; W. B. Robertson for personal health, firemanship, pathfinding, safety and public health; I. V. Garrison for woodwork, safety, pathfinding, bird study and first aid; Miles Pierce for safety, pathfinding, first aid and bird study.

All Second Class Scouts will start working on their First Class tests from 8 to 9 each morning.

Badges were not awarded at the Court of Honor but the Scouts have credit for them. The badges will be presented later. There were twenty-five Scouts and committeemen present at the meeting.

All the Scouts are looking forward to the trip to Devil's River.

Say "I saw it in the Stockman."

Too Much Credit Beggar: "Will you let me have a dime, mister?" Sailor: "I haven't any change on me, but I'll give it to you when I come back this way." Beggar: "Well, all right, but you'd be surprised at the money I lose giving credit this way."

Trees and brush being cleared out in the Texas state parks are being converted into charcoal for use by picnic parties, according to information received by the Texas Planning Board from the National Park Service.

Would you give 19 cents for 40 cents? Certainly you would. Turn to page 6, this paper, see our special offer on GLIDDEN JAP A-LAC, 4-hour enamel. This offer won't last long. West Texas Lumber Co.

In this column answers will be given to inquiries as to Texas history and other matters pertaining to the State and its people. Address inquiries to Will H. Mayes, Austin, Texas.

Q. Please briefly sketch the military career of Capt. Leander H. McNelly.

A. At 17 he enlisted as a private in the Texas Mounted Volunteers at the beginning of the Civil War, serving in Sibley's brigade. He was soon made a captain in Col. Tom Green's Texas regiment, attaining distinction for daring and leadership. In 1870 he was chosen by Gov. E. J. Davis to organize a company of 35 Rangers to cope with banditry on the Rio Grande border. He died at the age of thirty-three, and was buried in Washington County, where one of his admirers erected a tall granite shaft to his memory.

Q. How many miles of railway were in operation in Texas at the beginning of the Civil War and how many now?

A. When the Civil War began there were 361 miles of railway in operation in Texas; there are now approximately 16,660 miles of main lines in the State, with an additional 6,000 miles of industrial yard, and side tracks.

Q. What authority, if any, did Lafitte have for assuming the Texas governorship?

A. No papers were produced showing any authority for such action, but Lafitte formally installed a military commandant, secretary of state, secretary of treasury, administrator of revenue, notary public and mayor du place.

Q. By what name was the upper Red River designated in the old maps used in treaties made by the United States?

A. In the treaty made by John Quincy Adams with Spain in 1819 the Nelish map was used, and in the Guadalupe Hidalgo treaty of 1848 with Mexico, the Disturnell map, in both of which it was called the "Keche-ah-que-hono."

Q. How was the Greer County ownership dispute finally settled?

A. At the instance of Texas Congress passed a law submitting the controversy to the U. S. Supreme Court, which, in 1896, decided that the south fork of Red River was the boundary and awarded the land to Indian Territory.

Q. When was Starr county created and for whom was it named?

A. Starr county, on the Rio Grande, adjoining Hidalgo county, and across from the Mexican town of Mier, was created in 1848 and named for Dr. James H. Starr, a pioneer Texas surgeon, Indian fighter and secretary of the treasury of the Republic of Texas under President Lamar.

Q. What became of the records of the first Masonic Lodge instituted in Texas, Dec. 17, 1835, at Brazoria?

A. Meetings of the lodge were held in the second story of the old courthouse, the last in February 1836. In March, Gen. Urrea's Mexican forces entered the town, and burned the courthouse, including the records, books, jewels and everything belonging to the lodge.

Q. What is the early history of the State Insane Asylum at Austin?

A. The act of the Legislature appropriating $50,000 was approved Aug. 26, 1856; the site was selected by C. R. Johns of Hays County, E. T. Branch of Liberty County and Samuel Bogart of Collin County. Dr. J. C. Perry was appointed superintendent plans and construction; the first three units were built by Glasscock and Miller of Austin for $47,514; Dr. C. G. Keenan was the first physician and superintendent, from 1858 to 1862.

Q. How many Highway division offices are there in Texas?

A. Twenty-five distributed throughout the State.

Q. Where has a monument to the memory of Don Erasmo Seguin been erected by the Texas Centennial Commission of Control and what is the inscription on it?

A. On what is known as the Mead or Wiseman ranch, two miles northeast of Floresville and about 250 yards west of Highway 16. The inscription is: "Casa Blanca, home of Don Erasmo Seguin, who died here in 1857. By appointment of the Spanish government he inducted Stephen F. Austin into Texas. Texas deputy to the Mexico Congress 1824. On October 13, 1834, in a convention in Bexar he made the first effort to organize a provisional government of Texas. Erected by the State of Texas, 1936."

Q. How long have women been employed in State Departments at Austin?

A. Records show that when H. P. Brewster was Commissioner of Insurance, Statistics and History in 1885, he appointed his daughter chief clerk, the first woman to hold a position in a Texas State Department.

Q. When did the county demonstration agent system originate, where and how?

A. About 1903, Col. E. H. R. Green, son of the famous Hetty Green of New York, established a private experimental farm near Terrell, Texas, to combat the boll weevil, which had been destroying much Texas cotton.

Practical Cookery

Dept. Home of Economics
State College for Women

April 14—Spring is a season for many reasons to the housewife one of the important of these is the availability of fresh vegetables. Canned goods must be re-opened the year round, they are pleasing if not used too fresh foods are favored not for their characteristic flatness but also for their more desirable textures. Rhubarb, for instance, is frequently cooked too long in the necessary processing for preservation in cans, resulting in a mushy consistency. The same principle holds in cooking apples, fresh asparagus, string beans, fresh peas and young cabbage.

Rhubarb: Wash thoroughly. If skins are tough, remove toughest portions. If the rhubarb is crisp and tender do not remove more than half the depth of the stalk and bring to the boil. Remove from the flame and sweeten to taste.

Asparagus: Since the end of the stem is more tender than the stem, remove the tip by special treatment before cooking.

Method One: Cut off the tough ends leaving the bunch unseparated. Place the bunch on end in a narrow container. Add water to the only part way up the stems. Cook uncovered until the tougher part becomes softened. Then place a cover and finish by steaming the tops until done.

Method Two: Cut the usable part into one inch pieces. Cook the stem parts until somewhat softened. Then add the tips and finish cooking. This is the more practical method.

Creamed Asparagus and Egg on Toast: Cook the asparagus by the last method using sufficient water freely, slightly more than to cover. When the asparagus is almost done, season well. Break in as many eggs as servings desired. Cover and permit to simmer and steam until the eggs are somewhat firm. Place the eggs on slices of toast. To the asparagus and its cooking water, add a half cup of sweet cream to which sufficient flour has been added to make a medium cream sauce. This will require two tablespoons of flour for each cup of liquid.

New Beets: Wash thoroughly and cut off tops, leaving at least 1 inch of leaf stem. Leave roots also to prevent "bleeding." Cook in boiling water until tender. Drain off hot water. Cook with cold water and slip off the skins, which are easily removed. Cut beets in quarters or small pieces and heat with vinegar, butter, salt and pepper. A little sugar may be added, if desired.

North Motor Adds New Equipment In Service Department

The North Motor Co. has just completed installation of a new Alemite high pressure greasing system, the latest addition to the service department of the local Chevrolet and Oldsmobile agency, which brings it on a par with some of the largest garages in the state.

The new Alemite high pressure system is operated from compressed air, which at 125 pounds pressure develops a pressure of 6,000 pounds on the grease guns, insuring complete lubrication of all clogged joints under this terrific pressure.

The company recently installed a Bean wheel aligning equipment, which makes possible scientific adjustment for factory - perfect front wheel alignment and perfect tracking. Nearly $2,000 worth of new equipment has been added in the service department of the North Motor Co. since the first of the year, according to Joe North, manager.

Study Of Africa Missionary Topic

Study of a new mission book, "Out of Africa," by Emory Ross, was started by the Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church at its session yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Eugene Slater taught the initial lesson from the book. All persons interested in a study of Africa are invited to attend the society sessions.

Present for the meeting were Mrs. Paul Perner, Mrs. John Bailey, Mrs. Madden Read, Mrs. Eugene Slater, Mrs. Joe Haddon, Mrs. L. B. Cox, Mrs. J. A. Fussell, Mrs. N. W. Graham, Mrs. Welton

Bunger, Mrs. Tom Owens and Mrs. Charles Williams.

Next week, the study topic will be on the development of Africa from the standpoint of both the white and black races.

ADMIRATION AT THE COOKING SCHOOL

The first step in the making of perfect coffee consists of asking your grocer for a package of oven-fresh ADMIRATION! This reduces all hazards to a minimum. All you have to do is to follow the directions of the lecturer at the School of Cookery— one rounded tablespoon to the cup and one for the pot, and your coffee will be just what every perfect hostess should serve!

The secret back of this lies in the careful selection of the world's finest coffees which make up the ADMIRATION blend, and in the absolutely uniform roasting of these coffees to insure unflinching cup quality. Then, too, the ADMIRATION on your grocer's shelves is always fresh, rushed to him by fast truck delivery direct from the roasting ovens.

Of course, the lecturer at the Cooking School being conducted by this newspaper recommends ADMIRATION! She knows that its rich, winey flavor pleases the most exacting palate. She knows that it is packaged so that every bit of its flavor and fragrance are kept intact.

Denton, April 14 — Credit for Texas' high standing as a shipping state should not go entirely to the fact that the coast line is long and jagged, for its thirteen deep-water ports are all man-made. Age-old deposits of silt have made these excavations necessary.

The most man-made of them all, Houston, now ranks fourth in total commerce in the whole United States, exceeded only by New York, Philadelphia and Duluth-Superior. First in cotton exports and third in exports to foreign countries, Houston is also a major export point for crude petroleum and petroleum products. An enormous coastwise business both outbound and inbound, adds to the total.

Grandfather of all Texas ports is Galveston, whose island position and land-locked bay give it qualifications which were first recognized by Privateer Jean Lafitte. In 1934, 2,569,477 tons of cotton, vegetable and animal products, wheat and flour, crude sulphur, ores, and others passed through its docks.

On the Sabine Neches waterway are Beaumont, Port Arthur, Port Neches, and Orange, all of which export crude oil and products, timber products, rice, scrap iron and steel. Texas City is concerned mainly with the exportation of petroleum and cotton, doing a large import business in raw sugar.

Freeport sends out a great deal of crude sulphur, this being the center of the largest sulphur industry in the world. Corpus Christi's principal export is cotton, and petroleum leads in Port Aransas. Two recently opened ports are Brownsville and Port Isabel.

men, and 4-H club boys in reports of their cattle raising turned in to county agricultural agents.

Approximately 100 head of registered Hereford bulls have been purchased by ranchers in Reeves and Ward counties during the past two months. These bulls will supplement approximately 200 head of registered Hereford bulls purchased in 1936, and with this breeding stock it is believed that the area surrounding Pecos will soon be developing Hereford cattle of superior breeding.

Adam Wilson, Jr., Kerr county ranchman, has 114 calves out of 118 cows this year, or a little more than a 97 per cent calf crop. He attributes this record to the excellent care given during the winter and during the breeding season in March and April.

All of the eight pastures and traps on the Wilson ranch run to the ranch headquarters where the cows are fed every morning in groups of 12 in the corrals. All of the cows are dehorned, so they eat peacefully together in the troughs where the feed has been weighed according to the number to be fed.

During the past season, 16 McCulloch county 4-H club boys exhibited a total of 65 beef calves at three major stock shows in the state and won 41 awards, totaling $754. These 65 calves brought these 16 boys $1,334.82 in net profits in addition to the $754 prize money.

William Curtis Henderson, 11 year old Coleman county 4-H club boy, sold four calves this year for a total of $425. Above feeding cost he cleared between $30 and $35 on each calf.

NOBODY'S BUSINESS

By JULIAN CAPERS JR.
— Entering the final week of the four-month legislative session, the 45th legislature has neared a crisis that may give a pretty fair idea of what is going to accomplish the senate took up the tax remission bill, which gives back to the counties all the constitutional state ad valorem levies for a period of five years. If the tax remission bill is passed, the state general fund will be substantially cut down, and the source of the state revenue, which has been pursued with a "watchful waiting" policy, is ready to begin work on the taxation program, now fully completed.

House Ends Tax Efforts
The house has passed and sent to the senate the 6-cent oil tax, a 1-cent gas tax increase, and last year's tax efforts by the Jones franchise tax, after drastically reducing its increase from 1200 percent to 700 per cent. The entire yield about $18,000,000 and of new revenue; with most

Would Inject Sales Tax

When the senate quit for the weekend—early, so its members could go to a baseball game—the sales tax advocates were seeking to tie up the tax remission bill with a constitutional amendment offered by Sulak of LaGrange, imposing a 2-cent sales tax for pensions. Clint Small and John Redditt proposed to make the county tax remission effective only if the sales tax amendment is adopted. Such action would release to the general funds about $10,000,000 of special taxes now allocated to the pension fund, thus maintaining about the present income for the general revenue fund.

House to Probe School

Aroused by the action of Rep. Jap Lucas of Athens, who summoned by collect telegrams, 800 school officials to pack the galleries while the house debated the deficiency appropriation to aid rural schools until the beginning of the next fiscal year, the house voted overwhelmingly to investigate expenditure of the rural aid fund during the last two years, directing its committee to ascertain truth or falsity of repeated charges that State Superintendent L. A. Woods has discriminated in expenditure of the rural fund, and has used it to build up a vast political machine. The criticism of Woods on the house floor followed lines similar to that voiced in a report of a senate committee which delved extensively into the state school setup, and recommended that the state superintendents office should be made elective by the board of education, instead of by the people, as at present. Woods is serving his third term as superintendent. Then the house passed and sent to the senate the rural aid bill, carrying an appropriation of $1,080,000 supplemental rural aid funds.

Race Repeal Doubtful

With the senate calendar seriously jammed, opponents of race horse betting repeal have failed in five attempts recently to get the bill, far down on the calendar, set for special order, and its passage by the senate now appears very doubtful. The senate, maneuvered into a vote once on the issue, voted 21 to 8 to repeal betting. The truth is, there are half dozen or more senators who, if forced into a vote, will vote to repeal betting because they know the people of their district demand it. But they are lending their aid to the lobbyists seeking to prevent the bill coming up again, because at heart, they are not repealists. It requires two-thirds vote to set the repeal bill for special order, and several senators who voted once for it, have voted with the anti-repealists repeatedly since, to prevent the issue coming to the floor again.

New Dealer Wins

Lyndon Johnson, 29, former N-YA director for Texas, and previously secretary to Congressman Richard Kleberg of Corpus Christi, was an easy winner of the 10th district congressional race, and succeeds the late veteran, James Buchanan Johnson's victory was interpreted as an overwhelming endorsement for Roosevelt and his supreme court reform plan. He was outspoken on the issue, and altho four other candidates endorsed the Roosevelt program with varying degrees of emphasis, Johnson ran far ahead of all. Polk Shelton and Sen. Houghton Brownlee, both of Austin, and both anti-court change candidates, trailed far behind. Johnson, youthful, vigorous, keenly intelligent and experienced in Washington, ought to be a valuable addition to Texas splendid congressional delegation.

Notes

Lieut. Gov. Walter Woodul hoped to get up his constitutional amendment, calling for a $3,000,000 appropriation to carry on a five-year national advertising program for Texas, in the house this week. The senate passed it, and, if approved by the people, many believe it will be the greatest factor in modern times to promote industrial and tourist development of Texas. . . . Doyle Settle, youthful house member from Lubbock-co, has told friends that he expects to be a candidate for state commissioner of agriculture next summer. Settle, highly regarded by his colleagues, is a past president of the Young Democrats of Texas. . . Passage by the senate of a hurriedly drafted bill by R. A. Weinert of Seguin to make participation in a sit-down strike in Texas a felony offense, drew the wrath and active protest of every labor representative in Austin. The representatives of A. F. of L. unions—which oppose the sit-down strike—declared Weinert's bill would deprive labor of every right it has gained in 50 years, including the right to strike, or to picket peacefully and lawfully. They expect to defeat the measure in the house, after present sit-down publicity has quieted somewhat.

to his cave home with his prize of the hunt.

The party climbed almost to the summit of the hill to find entrance to this cave home of proud hunters. There they entered the vast opening to gaze in wonder at the many signs of early life. The Indian writings on the wall set the party to pondering the significance of these symbols. A section of the rock wall had been treated with something to give it a glazed finish and the writings were indelibly stained on this surface. Perhaps to Tom Everett, a son of the Pecos and mild believer in such legends as that of the white mule that waters every moonlight night from the rocky bank of the river and then hastens back to guard the entrance of a cave filled with gold, it was not overly difficult to conjure up the spirit of the dead in this surrounding.

All about the floor of the cave and its entrance were metates and holes worn deep in the solid rock, where the Indians, and perhaps even their predecessors, had ground corn and other foods for centuries. A few arrow heads were found before the party had set to work in earnest. As they began to dig into the ashes, they found them filled with matings of dagger and other fibre plants which were evidently used for bedding.

Squaw Work Shop

Each screening of the floor of the cave disclosed hundreds of flint particles, flecked off by industrious Indian squaws and old men as they fashioned arrow points for the warriors and hunters. Many perfect arrow heads began to show up as the excavations deepened, and nearly every load yielded large chips of arrow points or spear or hide scrapers, many of them broken in the process of making.

The cursory excavations made by the party yielded about thirty perfectly formed arrow heads and more than a hundred broken or ill shaped pieces. Styles of points found ranged from small white saw tooth arrows for birds and small animals to large spear heads that were used for spearing fish from the river and in hand-to-hand combat.

In the first day's probing into antiquity, uncovered evidences of the food supply of dwellers of the rocky recess. Thousands of large mussel shells, fish bones and scales, bird bones, bones of small animals and deer bones fell into the screen. Blunt flint fashioned tools found in the cave were evidently used to scale the fish, and no doubt many of the spear heads were tied to long shafts and used in spearing fish from the river.

Fibre Cuds

One of the interesting discoveries were many cuds of what appeared to be lechuguilla or some other type of fibrous plant which had been chewed into great balls of fibre string, according to the theory of the exploring party. These cuds were found in varying sizes, some to fit the dainty mouth of an Indian maid of sixteen summers and others that could have been but for the mouth of some toothless old warrior who was still able to "gum" away the juice and pulp of the plant to leave the fibrous string.

together from pith or sotol blades came to light along with pieces of fibre string twisted neatly together. A bone awl with a very sharp point was picked up in screenings from a depth of about three feet.

The second day the party of skull diggers returned to the site after enjoying the hospitality of the Rufe Everett home for the night. After digging briefly in the same spot as the day before, operations were moved over a few feet. In this new excavation, one of the first things of interest to be uncovered was an almost perfect mesh bag, measuring about five by six inches. Naturally the whole party was a-dither until the bag could be opened, and then disappointment was keen as the bag was found empty. "The old chief was broke," opined Joe Davidson.

Child's Skeleton Found

As digging progressed, a piece of the same woven matting was uncovered, and beneath it the skull of what appeared to have been a small child. The matting beneath the skeleton had almost entirely rotted away and all of the bones save the skull were in dust. The position of the skull and other bones convinced explorers that the body had been placed in its matting wrappings and buried face downward.

Another spot being selected for digging, the excavating and screening process continued. A few feet east and flint flecks of perhaps five thousand years accumulation, revealed the prize find of the exploration—skulls and other bones of nine skeletons, mingled together in an unorganized heap. After careful excavation, nine skulls were removed, three of them falling apart as they were touched. In addition, several sacks of other bones from the skeletons were removed and brought to the High School museum.

The only semblance of order in arrangement of this heap of remains of a primitive race was that every face was turned down with one exception, this being turned toward the wall and buried under a small jutting ledge of rock. An arrow point was found between the shoulder bones of one skeleton, the point slightly chipped. An other arrow head was found between the leg bones of another unfortunate, and a third was found in the heap after removal of the skeletons. One of the skulls showed a deep dent in the frontal bone, and a hole over the eye socket into which the arrow point could be fitted almost perfectly.

Skull Crushed

Another skull was broken in the back as if it had been crushed by a blow. In several skulls there were no signs of jaw teeth, other showed black and decayed teeth, which no doubt added materially to the surly temper of these early men of the West. Some mouths showed full rows of teeth, and all showed signs of wear from vigorous chewing. Many of the rows of teeth were worn almost to the gums.

Leg bones were estimated to fit a man of six feet or more in height. Two of the skulls were almost a quarter of an inch thick, leading one's thoughts to records of a few Africans who were said to have been lost among the Indian tribes.

Thigh and hip bones, discovered in this spot no larger than six feet square, were covered with the fibre matting, leading to the belief that this material was in use as a loin cloth or girdle. Crumbling remains of a large bow was found in the hole, extending across several of the bodies. It was so badly deteriorated, however, that it was necessary to remove it in sections. Several small pieces of a kind of reed and light sticks, probably used for arrow shafts, were found, along with pieces of rabbit fur and small bones.

That the cave was the dwelling place and workshop of tribes down through the centuries was apparent to the explorers. There were enough ashes, shells, bones and bits of flint to require many years of accumulation. All in all, this delving into relics of a dead age is tonic to the imagination, a fascinating pursuit, and—don't be misled—back-breaking work.

Mrs. Tucker's Texas Made Shortening Is Choice Of Experts

Mrs. Browne, Stockman Cooking School Demonstrator Recommends Tucker's

Mrs. William A. Browne, who will direct the Ozona Stockman's Cooking School here April 22 and 23, has selected Mrs. Tucker's Shortening for exclusive use in her cooking school because she has found it to be the ideal all-purpose cooking fat. First, on her list of requisites for a good shortening, she places digestibility. Second comes creaminess; third, freshness; fourth, adaptability to frying; and fifth, economy. And after years of testing, she has found Mrs. Tucker's answers every one of these requirements.

This famous cooking expert depends on Mrs. Tucker's shortening as a highly digestible product because it is made from choice vegetable oils, which, through the years, have proved most healthful. She knows that her breads, pies, cakes and fried foods prepared with Mrs. Tucker's will digest quickly and easily; and therefore be good for the families of those to whom she lectures on cooking. In this day of modern ranges, refrigerators and other conveniences, housewives are continually looking for equipment and products that will lessen their work in the kitchen, and to these smart women Mrs. Browne recommends Mrs. Tucker's Shortening because it is triple-creamed at the factory in Sherman, Texas, to eliminate much of the hard work from cooking. On the cooking school stage and in the home, this expert finds that there is no need for tiresome, extra creaming when Mrs. Tucker's is used. This shortening is so velvety-smooth that it mixes readily when stirred with the other ingredients, and the triple-creaming process gives the shortening the perfect consistency necessary to stand up under all weather conditions. Another innovation in shortening production is credited to Mrs. Tucker, because she pioneered and developed the 'Cellophane' sealed carton, which is used exclusively by her to protect the shortening from heat, dirt, germs and other contamination. The use of this "Cellophane" seal is expensive, but Mrs. Tucker knows that only by its use can she guarantee the freshness and purity of her product. Mrs. Tucker's shortening is so factory-fresh, sweet and pure that every package brings the housewife Mrs. Tucker's personal guarantee, which reads as follows: "If for any reason, you are not satisfied with my shortening, you may return the unused portion and your grocer will refund the full purchase price."

The noted expert who will conduct this school further recommends Mrs. Tucker's shortening because it is perfect for all kinds of frying. By special exclusive processes, Mrs. Tucker's shortening is refined and prepared so that it heats to higher temperature without smoking or burning. It contains absolutely no moisture; therefore it will not pop nor splatter; and as it is neutral in flavor, and will not absorb the flavors of foods fried in it, Mrs. Tucker's shortening can be strained and used over and over again for frying. Adding high digestibility to these qualities, Mrs. Tucker's shortening is much in demand for the preparation of all fried foods.

"Economy in shortening is not to be preferred over the above mentioned qualities," says Mrs. Browne, "but Mrs. Tucker's shortening not only gives the housewife all the desirable qualities of a perfect shortening, it is most economical to use. It contains a higher percentage of oil and should be used in quantities. By constant use over long periods of time, I have found that we must use less Mrs. Tucker's in our recipes. There is no waste. There is no need for caution housewives when switching to this brand for the first time to adjust their recipes to the economy of this shortening."

Mrs. Tucker's shortening made in her plant in Sherman, Texas, which is always available to visitors. The Dear Old Mother known as "The Mother Southwest," invites the who attend this cooking school and all others to visit her whenever they are in Sherman.
