Reed Still Seeks To Pass Tax Slash Bill

By CHARLES F. BARRETT
WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Reed (R-NY) called anew today for quick passage of his bill to cut income taxes and insisted it doesn't conflict with apparent go-slow signals from President Eisenhower.

A leading Democrat, however, chided Republicans as being "in considerable disagreement." Rep. Cooper (D-Tenn) added, "We Democrats have to wait and see if they get together and see what they come up with."

Reed, chairman of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, said he was "not at all disturbed" over Eisenhower's plea to Congress to put budget balancing ahead of tax reductions.

"There's no quarrel between us," Reed said. "I've insisted all along on balancing the budget. But we can pass my bill and balance the budget too."

Reed predicted the House Ways and Means Committee will approve his bill at a meeting called for Feb. 16. His proposal would advance by six months, to June 30, the presently scheduled lapse of an 11 per cent boost in individual income tax rates.

Eisenhower, in his State of the Union message to Congress yesterday, said it would not be wise to reduce federal revenues "until we can determine the extent to which expenditures can be reduced."

The President referred to spending cuts and budget balancing as "the first order of business" and "an essential first measure."

Rep. Cooper, senior Democrat on the ways and means committee, said it certainly didn't appear to him that Eisenhower and Reed were agreed on the issue.

"There is a conflict of opinion among the Republicans," Cooper said. "It will be interesting to see what develops."

House Democratic Leader Rayburn of Texas said, "I fear the President's speech will be disappointing in many parts of the country because he does not propose to immediately start reducing taxes."

Rep. Richard Simpson (R-Pa), a ways and means member who has been reluctant so far to call for early tax-cutting action, said: "I am convinced now that the budget can be balanced and taxes can be cut immediately—at this session of Congress. The sound policies outlined by President Eisenhower are bound to bring economy in government."

Senate GOP Leader Taft of Ohio already has said he personally favors balancing the budget before reducing revenue. He endorsed the President's views.

Sen. Byrd (D-Va), a finance committee member, said Eisenhower's "forceful discussion of our budgetary problems indicates a steadfast purpose to balance the budget by the elimination of waste and then reduce taxes."

Reed indicated he had moderated his earlier predictions of House passage of his bill this month. He said he still hopes for passage in February but he would go along with any "reasonable" delay.

Bedding Is Needed By Salvation Army

Quilts, blankets, sheets and mattresses are still needed by the local post of the Salvation Army.

Lt. Robert Hall, commander, stated that the bedding is needed for equipping the transient building. The building is being remodeled.

There are not enough mattresses for all the beds, Hall said. Only the half-size mattresses are needed for the single beds.

Hall stated that about eight quilts and two blankets have been contributed since an appeal was made about two weeks ago.

A new clothing storage room has been built at the Army headquarters. Clothing is now sorted according to types and sizes. Those in need can be furnished quickly and easily, Hall said.

Another phase of remodeling is near completion in the basement of the main building. A room has been enlarged for the Home League meetings. All that is lacking is the paint job.

Parsons Trial Begins; State Witnesses Talk

WICHITA FALLS (AP)—State attorneys began a parade of El Paso police officers to the witness stand today in their effort to prove their contention that Mary Jean Parsons murdered her bridegroom in cold blood.

The opening prosecution move came yesterday when a former El Paso sporting goods salesman, now in the Air Force, testified how he sold a .32 caliber revolver to the blonde Tulsa, Okla., socialite, Richard O. Parsons, 34, Pleasantville, N. Y., an Army lieutenant stationed at Fort Bliss, was shot to death Feb. 16 in the couple's El Paso apartment. They had been married only a few weeks.

A hearing found the 22-year-old former University of Oklahoma student and the trial was brought here. The defense has indicated it will seek to prove Mrs. Parsons insane.

The sanity hearing brought out that the couple had quarreled over assistance given them by her wealthy parents, Mr. and Mrs. Burthor Fleeger, Tulsa.

The 12th juror was chosen yesterday afternoon and testimony began immediately. The first witness was Airman William W. Henry, corporal stationed at Sheppard AFB here.

Henry, a salesman in an El Paso sporting goods store at the time Parsons was killed, said he sold a .32 caliber revolver and a box of cartridges to the pretty blonde Feb. 14, 1952.

He said she came in the store and at first asked to buy a pistol with a silencer. He pointed out it was illegal to sell a silencer and the store didn't carry any.

Questioned by El Paso Dist. Atty. William Clayton and cross-examined by defense lawyer C. C. McDonald, Henry said she told him she wanted the revolver for her father and paid for the revolver with a check.

Henry said he found nothing wrong in Mrs. Parsons' demeanor. The case reached testimony stage after C. E. Veros, 38, salesman, was chosen as the final juror.

Defense attorneys, without an allowable challenge left to have the state - accepted juror dismissed, waged a wild battle over his acceptance.

O. C. Fisher, Paris, one of five defense attorneys charged that 89th District Court Judge Allan B. Haley, watching the trial as a spectator, had influenced the state in accepting the juror. Haley was district attorney last fall when the trial was postponed twice and sat in with the prosecution.

Haley was called to the witness stand on defense insistence and testified that he did not know Veros (final juror chosen) and had never seen him before.

Fisher, in the bill of exception to the juror's selection, said he saw Haley hold a whispered conversation with the state attorneys while the juror was being examined. He also charged that Fisher smiled at the juror and the juror smiled back.

Judge Tipps, speaking from the bench, said he was watching the witness closely and did not notice him smile.

Meat Dealer Charged With Sale Of Horsemeat For Human Use

KERMIT (AP)—Tom Gordy, owner of the Kermit Provision Company, was free on $1,000 bond today after being charged with selling horsemeat for human consumption.

Gordy's company sells to retail dealers in Kermit, Lubbock, Big Lake, Odessa, Midland, Monahans, Pecos, Seminole, Andrews, Crane and a number of small towns in a wide section of West Texas. Disclosure that horsemeat was being sold in the traditional home of the beefsteak—West Texas—first came yesterday from J. F. Lakey of the State Food and Drug Bureau at Austin.

Gordy was charged with possessing horse meat for the purpose of selling, offering to sell or exhibiting for sale for human consumption and with transferring horse meat to another person that he knew or should reasonably have known would sell, offer to sell or exhibit to sell for human consumption.

Lakey said it was the first such horse meat case in Texas since 1948 when eight or ten persons were indicted in Houston. He would not say how the alleged violations were discovered.

County Atty. John R. Lee, who filed the charges against Gordy, said three Latin-American employees of Gordy were arrested last Tuesday by Texas Ranger Earl Stewart. Lee said the three made statements to Rangers and Dist. Atty. John Denison of Pecos.

Denison told Lee that he and members of the sheriff's Department had secured six samples of ground meat from the provision company and one sample from a cafe that bought its meat from the Gordy firm.

Denison said a report received yesterday from the State Health Department showed five out of six samples taken from the provision company contained horse meat. The sample from the cafe also contained horse meat, he said.

Lakey earlier said that the man who would be charged had had contracts to supply meat to public schools, but he added he did not know whether horse meat had gone to any of the schools.

The Food and Drug Bureau man steadfastly refused to say how he became suspicious of the Gordy firm.

"It's my business to be suspicious," he said. "If I told you how I found him, I'd never catch another one."

"But if anyone's got any fantastic ideas about operating a horse meat business in Texas," he added, "he might just as well get out."

Maximum penalty for illegal sale of horse meat is a $1,000 fine or two years in prison or both.

Deputy Rafael Contreras said Sonora will harvest 250,000 tons (950,000 bushels) compared to 150,000 tons (575,000 bushels) last year. Contreras said that if present plans to increase wheat acreage are carried out, Mexico will not need to import wheat by 1956.

THE GRUB LINE

With Franklin Reynolds

Among those from this area with animals entered in the El Paso Southwestern Livestock Show, Feb. 9-14, are:

Coahoma FFA: Jimmy Burkholder, Bob Garrett and Darrell Robinson, lambs.

Colorado City FFA: Tommy Walker, steer.

Martin County 4-H Club: Bobby Sale, steer.

Big Spring FFA: James Suggs, Dick Fort, Joe Spinks, John Dixon, Jackie Gilbert, Melvin Daniels and Calvin Daniels, lambs.

Howard County 4-H: James Caudle, Edgar Allen Phillips, Ann White, Darrell Robinson, Joyce Robinson, Sonny Choate, Delbert Davidson, Donald Denton, Leonard Smith, Bennie Joe Blissard, Franklin Williamson and Ronnie Davidson, steers.

This is not to be considered a complete area list, however.

One of the largest consignments of purebred Herefords in history will be led into the auction ring at the 35th annual Roundup Sale at Kansas City Feb. 23 and 24.

The sale will start each of the two mornings at 9 a. m. in the American Royal Livestock Building.

A record total of 736 bulls and 54 females from 197 breeders in Oklahoma, Illinois, Ohio, Missouri, Colorado, Iowa, Kansas, Wisconsin, Texas, Kentucky, Arkansas, Maryland, Nebraska, Georgia, Arizona, New Mexico, Tennessee, West Virginia and New Jersey, have been consigned.

Rex Voyles of the Herald's composing room staff, and who lives at 2104 Nolan, where he raises quail, pigeons, pheasants, bantams and other birds, is interested in getting with other persons having similar interests with the idea of forming a local bird raisers' group.

Voyles would like to have other bird raisers and sportsmen interested in the propagation of wild-life get in touch with him. He also extends an invitation to those interested to come out and look over his collection.

The area covered by the Big Spring unit of the Soil Conservation Service includes all of Howard County; that part of Borden County south of the Colorado River, and parts of Sterling and Glasscock Counties.

The technicians report that some 70 landowners in the area have expressed a hope they can build at least 250 miles of terraces this year as a part of their conservation program.

At the same time 33 farmers and ranchers have requested a total of seven miles of diversion terraces, while 41 have asked for stock tanks of an average of 7,000 cubic yards. The largest tank requested is one of 20,000 cubic yards and the smallest a 3,000-cubic yard tank.

We did some driving around over Sterling County a few days ago. The drought has hit those folks mighty hard, too.

But in one respect they are in much better shape than we are in a good part of Howard County. Down there they've at least got some rocks that won't blow away. And we don't know when, if ever, we've enjoyed a dinner more than the one served at noon Saturday in Sterling City Community Center by the ladies of the Methodist Church during the noon recess of the Sterling County Junior Livestock Show. The show was well attended, but there were probably more folks present for the dinner.

It was a full chine dinner and there wasn't any cafeteria style lining up, either. You went in and got a seat and were as gracefully and pourifully served as if you had been in a Sterling County home. All the world is all the richer because there is such a fine county and such fine people in it.

Ripps came through!

Or maybe Mrs. Ripps shoved him through.

Anyway, when he offered the Grub Line a mess of turnip greens, mustard greens, Chinese cabbage, Spanish radishes, endive lettuce, parsley and green onions, we came back with a counter proposition that since he was giving us the stuff anyway, if he would throw in a piece of salt pork we would trade.

A few mornings ago he delivered a big box of the stuff to the Herald office and in the center of it was a piece of salt pork wrapped in a paper upon which was written: "With the compliments of Mrs. Ripps."

Thank you both. It was certainly delicious.

Says Ripps: "I'm the kind of fellow who goes whole hog, or none. There ain't no use doing things half way. When I find a starving newspaperman I'll dig up some salt pork, too."

Beer License Of Cafe Is Suspended

Beer license for the Spanish Inn Cafe, 300 North Gregg Street, has been suspended for a period of 15 days.

Local Liquor Control Board officials stated that the suspension resulted from beer being consumed on the cafe premises after hours. The cafe is operated by Juanita and Antonio Rodriguez. The license will be suspended through Feb. 13.

Burkett, Harve Burkett, N. W. Weeks and O. H. Sires, all of the Welch Community; Bill Pearson of Pumpkin Center; Dennis Nix on his farm two miles north of Pumpkin Center; John Middleton, T. N. Middleton and S. C. Middleton of the McCarty Community, and Don Stewart, whose farm is located two miles south and three east of Midway.

Jess Jenkins, work unit conservationist at Lamesa, reports that D. L. Adcock Jr., has had SCS engineers assisting him in laying out a series of level borders on his farm in the Woody Community. Adcock has drilled some good irrigation wells on this farm and since the farm had been terraced in the past something had to be done, while terraced it could have been irrigated only by a sprinkler system.

If the terraces are torn down then the farm must be put in level borders to be irrigated effectively. Adcock is building these borders with his own equipment. The borders, Jenkins says, will not only permit efficient use of irrigation water but will hold rainfall similar to terraces.

Chiang Hails Lifting Of Ban On Operations

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek tonight hailed President Eisenhower's decision to lift the ban on Nationalist operations against the Red mainland as "not only judicious but militarily and morally sound."

In a formal statement, however, Chiang gave no hint of any impending action against the Communists.

He said his own plan of action will "necessarily form an important link in the general plan of the free world to combat world-wide communism."

He said the Nationalists will not ask ground forces of other nations to help "achieve our own goal—the liberation of China. China has never made such an appeal, nor has China ever cherished such illusions."

The leader of free China said he had opposed the shackles imposed on his forces by the U. S. Seventh Fleet ever since the Chinese Reds intervened in the Korean War in November, 1950.

"During the past two years," he asserted, "Soviet Russia and the puppet Peking regime have stepped up their aggressive actions and have thus made themselves the common enemy of the United Nations. It is time that we recognize that both in principle and in fact the... limitation on the operations of our armed forces should no longer be allowed to continue."

Cuba Probes Beating Of Newsmen

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—Acting on direct orders from President Fulgencio Batista, Havana Police Chief Rafael Canisares today investigated the alleged beating of two foreign newsmen — one an American.

The two journalists—Earl Copeland of Calhoun, Tenn., an employe of the Havana Herald, and New Zealand-born Ted Scott, a columnist on the Havana Post — said they were attacked by a policeman and another man last night as they left the home of friends after a party.

They said their blackjack-wielding assailants gave no reason for the attack. They added, however, that another guest at the party had a discussion earlier with a neighbor about an automobile parked in front of the neighbor's house.

Longshoremen Due Orders To Clean Up Or Get Out Of AFL

By ROWLAND EVANS JR.
MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The AFL Executive Council is determined to order its crime-infested longshoremen's union to purge itself of waterfront racketeers — or get out of the AFL.

This edict was not quite ready for public announcement but there was little doubt that angered council members meant business.

Some top AFL officials expressed doubt privately whether Joseph P. Ryan, longshoremen's president, would be able to cleanse the New York and Jersey waterfront of scandals and gangster tactics attributed to some officials of his 60,000-man union before the AFL convention next fall.

And in New York, an insurgent group of longshore leaders made it plain they would not be satisfied with any "phony reform program" by present bosses of the International Longshoremen's Association.

The insurgents said in a telegram yesterday to George Meany, AFL president, that "the present discredited ILA leadership" could not be relied on to clean up waterfront corruption. At the same time they offered to turn over additional information on the dock situation to New York investigators.

The ILA secretary-treasurer, Harry Hasselgren, has been here several days seeking to convince the council that Ryan can be depended on to make his own waterfront cleanup.

Officials of about a dozen longshoremen's local unions along the world's biggest waterfront have been linked by the New York State Crime Commission to extortion and other dockside rackets which bleed the port of an estimated 350 million dollars a year.

Meany, leading the midwinter session of the 15-man council at the Hotel Monte Carlo, yesterday announced appointment of a three-man committee to make a report on the waterfront situation to the whole council.

This report is due in the next day or two. After study by the council, the recommendation to clean up — or else — is expected to be made.

MRS BAIRD'S BREAD

stays fresh longer

MRS. MOLLIE LOMAX

Pioneer Prefers Easy Life Over Early Days

Mrs. Mollie Lomax's first home in Big Spring was a tent near a large two-story house on the Cemetery Road and she has seen many changes in her 82 years, but she would not care to go back to the old days.

"We may be getting soft," she admits, "but I wouldn't want to go back to life like it was in those days—no washing machines, kerosene stoves, wood heaters."

Relatives and a few friends helped her celebrate her birthday quietly recently because she has been under the weather with a cold.

Mrs. Lomax was born Mollie Hill near Jewett in Leon County. She was married in Corsicana in 1897 to the late Lewis Edgar Lomax. They lived in Indian Territory for several years, later moving to Floyd County where they spent a year before moving to Big Spring.

When they arrived here on the last day of December 1905, there were no sidewalks and Mrs. Lomax recalls that pigs and chickens roamed in the streets. They camped in the tent for a few weeks until their home was built in the Moore community on land purchased from Sid Moore, who owned a ranch there.

Later the family moved to a ranch 17 miles southwest of Big Spring in a community now known as Lomax, named for Mrs. Lomax's late husband. After his death in 1940, Mrs. Lomax moved into town with her two daughters, Ruth, who died in 1947, and Twila, who lives with her mother now at 1306 Runnels.

The other two children, Mrs. H. A. Stallings and E. W. Lomax, still live in that community. Mrs. Lomax also has five grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Not as active as she used to be, Mrs. Lomax still enjoys life and has a keen mind and a sense of humor. She spends her days listening to the radio, conversing with friends who drop in and, on pretty days when she feels good, riding in the car. Only recently she and Twila, who taught a number of years at Moore, Highway, Knott and Lomax, went to Anson to help Mrs. Lomax's brother, Charlie Hill, celebrate his 86th birthday.

Mrs. Lomax had to give up sewing and handwork, once her favorite hobbies, after arthritis had stiffened her fingers, and the only thing she ever cooks now is cornbread.

"Twila thinks she can't make good cornbread," she laughs, "so when we have cornbread I make it."

But there's one invention this century of progress has brought that Mrs. Lomax will have none of. Asked if she had ever taken a plane ride, she replied firmly: "No, and I never expect to."

'Educate Hearts,' Chamber Banquet Crowd Is Urged

No doubt the longest, and probably the most stirring, message ever given a Chamber of Commerce crowd here drew applause and "I never heard better" comments at the annual Chamber banquet last night.

Dr. Kenneth McFarland, internationally-known educator and lecturer, spent an hour and 50 minutes telling more than 300 Chamber members and guests how and why they must return to the job of "educating hearts."

"We must rededicate ourselves to the basic principles of simple honor in our business, community and personal lives," he asserted in summing up the four qualities he listed as characteristics of an educated heart.

"Citizenship founded on nothing but an intellectual code of ethics isn't enough. It must have the emotional drive of a religious concept."

McFarland drew his greatest applause with the declaration that Russia should be kicked out of the United Nations.

"The quicker we can get them out of there and shut the door, the better off we'll be," he declared.

"It's treason to permit the Russians to hold a veto over every act of the Security Council while our boys fight Russia in Korea."

The educational consultant for General Motors listed the four characteristics of an "educated heart" in explaining why he thinks mere enlightenment of the head and hand isn't enough to meet the problems facing the community, nation and world.

These are (1.) the quality of honest, sincere, and automatic respect for the individual personality; (2.) an understanding of the difference between happiness and fun; (3.) enthusiasm about the things one believes; and (4.) the simple, straightforward belief in an infinite power.

"We must return to the task of educating hearts to rescue ourselves from intellectual enlightenment and lift the fog of confusion it has spread," he told the audience.

Dr. McFarland spoke following a "state of the community" address by Dr. R. B. G. Cowper, new Chamber president.

Dr. Cowper pointed out outstanding records of the Chamber, under leadership of the retiring president, Truman Jones, by listing accomplishments of the past year. Several long-standing projects were successfully culminated, he said, mentioning construction of a new office building, a new county courthouse, solution of a critical housing problem, promotion of a paving program, and the securing of an adequate water supply for many years to come.

He expressed an appreciation for the economic stability of the area.

our economic problem, all others will be eliminated. This is not true," he asserted.

"It is not a regimentation of economic forces, but a discipline of individual forces that is needed. It should be understood that other people are important. We've got to have one another."

"The Master," he pointed out, "was only a carpenter, not a general manager. He was a Master among men, not over men."

McFarland condemned what he called the fun psychosis, the yearning for fun at any cost. People must be made to realize that it is more fun to succeed than to fail, even if they want only fun.

He criticized the short-look psychology, declaring that "the endurance boys are the ones that win happiness." Retirement shouldn't be the goal of life.

Blasting the security concept, he said the people who settled this country with a gun in one hand and an axe in the other never would have moved off the Atlantic seaboard if they had waited for government guarantees.

"We must earn our happiness and earn the right to keep it," declared the speaker. "We must not 'rust' on our laurels."

He pointed to a need for eloquent and enthusiastic living, with the citizen standing up to fight for the things he believes.

"The good people scare me to death — they stand frozen in their tracks for the right things," McFarland declared. "Indifference is the most deadly sin on the calendar."

In asserting the need for belief in an infinite power, the speaker said there is a growing conviction in this country that honor can be conditioned. It can't be done, he told a responsive audience. If you condition honor, you get trouble on the long look.

He stated the United Nations must be operated on the sound principles of honor. He lashed at Joe Stalin who "has more blood on his hands than both Hitler and Mussolini" but still holds veto power in the UN.

That should be taken away from Russia, said McFarland. Our whole foreign policy must be in support of the idea that government exists to serve the man on the street — and against everything else.

"Let Communism try to contain that idea, instead of the free world attempting to contain Communism," he advised. "Get our psychological war on the offensive. If we stand for something, we can look forward to the day when there will be no fear of war and evil."

Visiting Judge Refuses To Hear New Cases In Jim Wells County

ALICE (R) — Visiting Dist. Judge E. D. Salinas stalked out of district court here yesterday and said he would hear no new matters in Jim Wells County.

Later, back at his Laredo home, he said a full docket at Laredo caused him to leave the Alice court. The Laredo judge had been sitting as a substitute in a hearing involving Nago Alaniz, Alice attorney charged with murder and conspiracy to murder in the slaying of Jacob S. (Buddy) Floyd Jr.

Earlier yesterday, Salinas set aside an order transferring to Brownwood a corrected conspiracy to murder indictment against Alaniz. This indictment charged Alaniz with conspiracy to murder young Floyd's father, prominent Alice attorney and arch foe of South Texas political boss George Parr.

When the defense followed up with a motion to throw out the indictment, Judge Salinas curtly announced, "I refuse to hear any new matters in Jim Wells County."

The judge's action did not rule out the possibility he might agree later to hear further developments in the case.

Salinas came here for a hearing on a writ of habeas corpus obtained by Alaniz's attorneys. He said his set-aside order made the habeas corpus writ a dead issue because it was intended as a move to counter transfer of the indictment.

Salinas said that although he had a full docket of his own, he agreed to preside at the hearing for Dist. Judge C. Woodrow Laughlin because "it will be a sad day in Texas when a district judge refused to hear a writ of habeas corpus just because it will be inconvenient or unpleasant."

The hearing, he said, originally was scheduled Jan. 17, the date he admitted Alaniz to bail, and that at requests of attorneys he had delayed it as long as the law allowed.

"I decided that I could not sacrifice the cases in my own court to hear any new matters in Jim Wells County," he told the Associated Press.

Alaniz and Mario (El Turko) Sapat are charged with murder and conspiracy to murder in the fatal shooting of young Floyd Sept. 8.

A flaw was found in the original conspiracy indictment against Alaniz and he was re-indicted Dec. 22. Judge Salinas said that on Dec. 20 Dist. Judge Arthur Klein, Brownsville, ordered the corrected indictment transferred to Brownwood, where both Alaniz and Sapat are to be tried on a charge of venue from Alice.

He added that transferring the indictment to Brownwood would tend to encroach upon the rights of the defendant by working a hardship on him, since he would have to travel from Alice to Brownwood to seek quashing of the indictment.

KING-SIZED SMOKES ARE SCORING A BIG HIT HERE, SURVEY REVEALS

King-sized cigarettes are going over big in Big Spring. That's the opinion of several local merchants who retail smokes here.

A quick check recently of local dealers showed that sales of the king-sized variety had jumped considerably in recent months.

The sudden increase is attributed largely to the fact that some leading popular brand manufacturers recently added king-sized versions to their wares.

Two leading brands which formerly stuck to standard sized cigarettes are now marketing king-sized models.

One of these, which has been on the market for several months now, sells nearly as many king-sized cigarettes as standard sized smokes. Another popular brand added king-sized cigarettes to its line more recently and local retailers believe it will meet with the same reception. All local dealers contacted said that demands for the long cigarettes were brisk.

A majority of the merchants interviewed agreed that king-sized cigarettes in the "name" brands were selling at the rate of about one carton to every five of the standard length products.

Although some lesser-known brands have featured king-sized cigarettes for many years, entry into that field by the "name" brands is expected to increase the king-sized popularity substantially.

Ireland Newspaper Sends Greetings To Texas Group

DUBLIN, Ireland (R)—The Irish Independent used its news columns to send greetings to members of the Texas Daily Newspaper Assn.—and said a "dislocated Irishman" in Texas gave it the idea.

The association opens its annual convention Thursday in Waco, Tex.

The Independent published a special air mail edition Jan. 18 to send to Texas. The paper said: "Independent Newspapers, Ltd., Ireland's leading newspaper group, today sends cordial greetings to an organization of important and influential newspapers in far-off Texas."

The story told of the TDNA's formation in Waco in 1932.

In a box with the main story, the Independent said: "The secretary-manager of the Texas Daily Newspaper Association is Mr. John M. Murphy, who describes himself as 'a dislocated Irishman who, somehow, through the tricks of nature, wound up in Texas.'"

"It was Mr. Murphy's letter to the chairman of the Independent Newspapers, Ltd., which led to this air-mail edition, thus forging a new link in the long chain of friendship that binds Ireland to the United States."

The Waco meeting will honor the only three founders of the TDNA still living. They are A. E. Clarkson, secretary-treasurer and the publisher of the San Antonio Express and Evening News, and Ward C. Mayborn, publisher of the Sherman Democrat.

Harlon M. Fentress, president of Newspapers, Inc., which publishes dailies in Waco, Austin and Port Arthur, and son of one of the TDNA founders, the late E. S. Fentress, will receive an award at the founders dinner Thursday night. The Waco News-Tribune and Times-Herald won honorable mention in a national contest last fall for observance of Newspaper Week.

An outstanding product for any car that uses SAE 20 oil!

HUMBLE

...a MUST for new cars

Prevents "4000-mile knock"

Detroit's automotive engineers have discovered that high compression engines need an entirely new type of motor oil. With conventional oils in the crankcase, the new engines have a tendency to ping, or knock, after four to eight thousand miles of driving.

This "4000-mile knock" is caused by combustion chamber deposits; these increase the compression ratio to a point where no commercial gasoline will give you anti-knock performance.

Humble Esso Uniflo, an entirely new type motor oil, prevents the formation of deposits that cause "4000-mile knock" in high compression engines if you begin to use it regularly in the first 1000 miles of driving.

Protects against friction wear and acid corrosion

Friction is the chief cause of wear in automobile engines. Moving parts in the new engines are so carefully machined that they fit very closely. This gives you much better performance from your car, but it also requires superior lubrication. Heavy oils and oils that "thicken" in cold weather don't flow readily between such closely fitting parts. The result is excessive wear from friction, and expensive engine overhauls... to minimize friction wear... again you need Humble's new Esso Uniflo Motor Oil.

Esso Uniflo has such an amazingly high viscosity index that it gives you the quick-flowing characteristics of an SAE 5W oil at 25° below zero Fahrenheit, and the sough, full body of an SAE 20 oil at 110° Fahrenheit.

Furthermore, the additives in Esso Uniflo are anti-acid—this new type oil cuts acid corrosion as much as 50%.

Uniflo Motor Oil gives such outstanding performance in reducing friction wear and acid corrosion that it is profitable to use it in any car—1951, 1952 or 1953—that uses SAE 20 oil or lower.

HUMBLE OIL & REFINING COMPANY

You need only one grade of Humble Esso Uniflo.

You use it year 'round.—Esso Uniflo meets all the specifications for SAE viscosity classifications 5W, 10W, 20W and 20. It is a heavy duty, detergent oil, recommended for API service classifications ML (light duty), MM (medium duty), MS (severe duty) and DG (general diesel duty). Its viscosity index is amazingly high.

Premium quality—premium price

Humble Esso Uniflo costs something more than most motor oils. But you'll agree that the small extra cost—less than one-tenth of a cent for each mile of driving—is cheap insurance against "4000-mile knock," friction wear, and acid corrosion!

A Word to Owners of Older Automobiles

If you use an oil meeting SAE viscosity classifications up to 20—you will find it profitable to change to Humble's new type Esso Uniflo. It will protect your car against friction wear and acid corrosion; reduce starting drag and extend battery life.

If your engine has just been rebuilt—change to Esso Uniflo. It will prevent the deposits causing "4000-mile knock"; it will protect against wear from friction and corrosion, reduce starting drag and extend battery life.

If you use SAE 30 or SAE 40 oil—Humble continues to recommend Esso Extra Motor Oil No. 3, a high quality, heavy duty, detergent oil with a viscosity index second only to that of Esso Uniflo.

LT. EDWARD CRIMP AND CAPT. J. G. CRIMP
... Happy Finish To Air Force Story

UN Raid Kills 300
Reds On West Front

By JOHN RANDOLPH
SEOUL (AP)—Raiding Allied soldiers killed an estimated 300 Chinese Communists in an attack on a hill east of Kaesong on the frozen
Western Korean Front today, the Eighth Army reported.

The raiders were supported by tanks, artillery and planes. There was no estimate of the number of Reds wounded in the assault. A
U. S. division officer said the bodies of 90 Communists actually were counted.

Earlier, Lt. Gen. Maxwell D.
Taylor arrived in Korea for a round of conferences prior to launching a personal survey of the Eighth Army, which he is slated
to command.

The famed paratroop "jumping
general" of World War II flew in
from Tokyo shortly after outnumbered South Koreans drove off 550
attacking North Koreans on the frozen Eastern Front. The battle-line elsewhere was quiet.

Taylor will take over as United Nations field commander from retiring Gen. James A. Van Fleet.
He said the change in command
would come within a few days.

At a news conference, Taylor
described himself as "just a green replacement" but said he has a few days to go through a "course of sprouts." He said that would make for an efficient transfer of command.

"Of course any Army man
regrets that so fine a general as
Gen. Van Fleet is being replaced," Taylor said. He reported he would continue Van Fleet's planned expansion of the South Korean Army.

"That is a vital part of the Far Eastern program," he said.
A newsman asked Taylor
whether he brought any new instructions on conduct of the war
from President Eisenhower, with whom he conferred before leaving Washington.

"Obviously," Taylor replied, "I couldn't comment on that. It's no secret that we did talk about Korea."

Brief welcoming ceremonies
were held at both the airport and City Hall. The new commander called on South Korean President
Syngman Rhee.

"The American people are intensely behind our effort here," Taylor told newsmen. "I think

they will support any reasonable action."
Shortly before Taylor's arrival,
North Korean Reds hurled a battalion-sized attack across more than a mile of the freezing front against "Luke the Gook's castle"— a promontory northeast of the Punchbowl.

The Communist assault, accompanied by two small diversionary attacks to the east, was supported by 600 rounds of thundering artillery and mortar fire. The attacking Reds swept to within 40 yards of the main South Korean defenses in numbing, below-zero
cold.

Older Brother
Swears In, Pins
Bars On Officer

Being the recruiting officer at your own brother's swearing-in ceremony is news in anybody's book.

But when the former recruiter,
Capt. J. G. Crimp of Ellensburg, Wash., returned from Korea one week before his younger brother got his lieutenant's bars—and in time to pin them on—well, that really wrote a happy finish to an Air Force story.

Recipient of the new gold bars is 2nd Lt. Edward A. Crimp, also from Ellensburg. He received his commission Monday as a member of Class 53-A-2 at Webb AFB, Lt.
Crimp is slated to receive his wings on Feb. 16th. The new procedure within the Flying Training Air Force has cadets receiving their wings at two-week intervals but being commissioned as a class at one time.

It was June 29, 1951 that the newly returned officer swore in his kid brother, at Larson AFB, Moses Lake, Washington. Soon after, Capt.
Crimp left for a year's service in Korea, and Lt. Crimp entered the Aviation Cadet Program. He took his primary flight training at Goodfellow AFB, San Angelo.

After completing his primary instruction, Lt. Crimp was sent to Webb AFB for training in jet aircraft. He's just now putting the finishing touches to 13 months of intensive aerial instruction.

Capt. Crimp is home to stay for awhile. He's taking a well-deserved leave before reporting to his new station in Arizona. He was a bombardier in World War II. The captain's numerous decorations include the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Air Medal, and the Bronze Star.

UN Raid Kills 300
Reds On West Front

By JOHN RANDOLPH
SEOUL (AP)—Raiding Allied soldiers killed an estimated 300 Chinese Communists in an attack on
a hill east of Kaesong on the frozen
Western Korean Front today, the Eighth Army reported.

The raiders were supported by tanks, artillery and planes. There was no estimate of the number of Reds wounded in the assault. A
U. S. division officer said the bodies of 90 Communists actually were counted.

Earlier, Lt. Gen. Maxwell D.
Taylor arrived in Korea for a round of conferences prior to launching a personal survey of the Eighth Army, which he is slated
to command.

The famed paratroop "jumping
general" of World War II flew in
from Tokyo shortly after outnumbered South Koreans drove off 550
attacking North Koreans on the frozen Eastern Front. The battle-
line elsewhere was quiet.

Taylor will take over as United Nations field commander from retiring Gen. James A. Van Fleet.
He said the change in command
would come within a few days.

At a news conference, Taylor
described himself as "just a green
replacement" but said he has a few days to go through a "course
of sprouts." He said that would make for an efficient transfer of
command.

"Of course any Army man
regrets that so fine a general as
Gen. Van Fleet is being replaced,"
Taylor said. He reported he would continue Van Fleet's planned expansion of the South Korean Army.

"That is a vital part of the Far Eastern program," he said.
A newsman asked Taylor
whether he brought any new instructions on conduct of the war
from President Eisenhower, with whom he conferred before leaving Washington.

"Obviously," Taylor replied, "I couldn't comment on that. It's no secret that we did talk about Korea."

Brief welcoming ceremonies
were held at both the airport and
City Hall. The new commander
called on South Korean President
Syngman Rhee.

"The American people are intensely behind our effort here," Taylor told newsmen. "I think

they will support any reasonable
action."
Shortly before Taylor's arrival,
North Korean Reds hurled a battalion-sized attack across more
than a mile of the freezing front
against "Luke the Gook's castle"— a promontory northeast of the Punchbowl.

The Communist assault, accompanied by two small diversionary
attacks to the east, was supported by 600 rounds of thundering artillery and mortar fire. The attacking Reds swept to within 40 yards of the main South Korean defenses in numbing, below-zero
cold.

New Security Check Program Is To Be Set Up

By JACK ADAMS
 WASHINGTON (U) — The Eisenhower administration today began junking the Truman federal employe loyalty check system in favor of a new internal security program for everybody on the government payroll.

The plan was broadly projected in the President's State of the Union message yesterday as one to weed out "the disloyal and the dangerous." It sets up a new standard for hirings and firings on federal jobs, involving "a reasonable doubt as to security."

The present program acts instead on "a reasonable doubt as to loyalty."

Officials who have worked on the new plan say the revised screening will be much broader in scope than the old one.

They explain it is designed to cover the worker who may be wholly without subversive associations, affiliations or activities, but who has personal habits — for example, alcoholism, homosexuality or habitual over-talkativeness in public — which might endanger the national security.

Atty. Gen. Brownell, designated by Eisenhower as official adviser to all government agencies on the new personnel policy, called a meeting of representatives of each of the Cabinet-rank departments next Monday to discuss the details.

A spokesman for the attorney general said the President will shortly thereafter issue a new executive order, based on a 1946 act, covering the proposed operating procedure.

Among other things, the attorney general's office said, the program will do away entirely with the 30-man federal Loyalty Review Board, which has functioned for the last five years as a supreme court of appeals in loyalty cases. It will be continued only long enough to dispose of pending cases.

The revised plan calls for the head of each agency to be the final judge on dismissals, or refusal to hire, based on the "security" factor.

Extent Of Support For Chiang Is New Problem For President

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
 WASHINGTON (U) — By his order releasing Chinese Nationalist forces on Formosa to attack the Reds, President Eisenhower has closed one long and bitter dispute, but has almost certainly opened another.

For a major question which now confronts the Eisenhower administration is whether and to what extent the U. S. should support and assist Chiang Kai-shek in mounting sea and air raids — and more importantly in fulfilling his avowed determination to invade the Chinese mainland.

Secretary of State Dulles is reported to have told nervous French officials in Paris yesterday that Washington does not intend to support Chiang in any "reckless actions." All indications here are that Eisenhower intends (1) to let the Nationalists make whatever raids they can with present limited capabilities, and (2) to protect their island meanwhile with the Seventh Fleet.

Diplomatic authorities believe

Chiang will not be satisfied with this, and will begin pressing for large-scale American help to mount a major invasion of Red China—the return to the continent to which he has long pledged himself. Up to the advent of the new administration the disagreement here had been between those who wanted action by the Chinese Nationalists, and the Truman administration, which wanted no active war in that area.

Eisenhower resolved that one yesterday by taking the wraps off the Nationalist forces which, as far as they are ready for action, have been trained and equipped by the U. S. But he made no commitment to increase aid and authoritative informants said there was no plan now for any substantial increase.

Adm. Arthur W. Radford, the Navy's Pacific commander, at the White House for a conference with Eisenhower yesterday, said the Chinese Nationalists have "excellent Air Force personnel" and would be a strong striking power if given good equipment. Similarly, they require equipment for their small naval forces if they are ever to make a really big thrust.

Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, was asked on an MBS radio program last night whether Chiang's forces could attack the mainland without strong U. S. air and naval support. "Not right now," he replied. "Perhaps sometime in the future they may be able to do it by themselves if we increase the amount of aid we are giving them."

In the background of consideration of how much aid to give

AF Is Seeking Band Members

Air Force bands are now open to all qualified civilians without having to sweat out the usual waiting list.

Sic. A. M. Burt said today that bandmen can be sent into the service immediately. They must take basic training, Burt said, but they will then be assigned directly to a band.

All interested musicians can contact Burt at the local recruiting station, 3rd and Scurry.

Each of the musicians who apply must go before a Air Force band leader for an audition, Burt said. The band leader will either approve or disapprove the application.

Burt stated that bandmen from the area have a good chance of being stationed at Webb Air Force Base if they desire.

Regular enlistees in the Air Force have to serve out a waiting list, Burt said. Bandmen are sent directly into the Air Force and are not counted on the quota.

Burt said that bandmen would probably go through basic training at Lackland in a band platoon. Monday was the first day the bandmen set up has been effective, Burt said.

Musicians can audition before enlistment to assure a band position, he added.

Singapore Chiang Leaders Jubilant

SINGAPORE (U) — Jubilant at President Eisenhower's new policy toward Formosa, pro-Chiang Kai-shek Chinese leaders in this British colony announced today they would seek government permission to send Malay volunteer groups for any invasion of the China mainland.

These leaders, members of one of the largest colonies of overseas Chinese, said they planned Malay-wide celebrations keyed to the slogan, "A return to Shanghai in three months."

Chiang and what operations to encourage him to undertake lies a basic question: How much deeper should the U. S. risk getting involved in the Far East? Behind it is still another and more difficult policy problem. At the moment, reliable informants say, the U. S. government has no firm, long-range policy for solving the problem of Red China. Military leaders would like to know, and probably will press to find out from the new President and State Department, whether the U. S. should aim eventually at breaking China away from Russia, or should embrace some other long-range objective, such as overthrow of China's Red government.
