School Choral Clubs Present Cantata Dec. 18

"Yuletide Memories" Title Of Musical Program

Approximately fifty voices comprising the combined talent of the Junior High Choral Club and the High School Choral Club will be heard in a Christmas cantata, "Yuletide Memories" by I. B. Wilson, in the High School auditorium Wednesday evening, December 18.

The cantata will be the high spot in the closing features of the school term for the Christmas holidays. The program, which is under the direction of Miss Elitabel Tillory, public school music teacher, is scheduled to start at 7:30 p. m. There will be no admission charge and all patrons of the schools and all interested are urged to be present.

Two readings, "Christmas for Sale" and "The Little Gray Cottage" by Mrs. Gerald Williams will precede the cantata.

BASEBALL PLAYER NOW MANAGES GROCERY STORE

Christmas Week Given As School Holiday Period

System To Close Dec. 20; Classes To Be Resumed Dec. 30

A full week's holiday period will be granted by the Ozona schools for the observance of Christmas, it was announced this week by Supt. C. S. Denham.

The Christmas holidays for local school-going boys and girls will start with the dismissal of classes on Friday afternoon, December 20, and classes will be resumed Monday morning, December 30.

Decision has been reached to continue classes as usual on New Year's Day, Wednesday of the week classes are resumed after the holidays, the superintendent said. By not granting a holiday on New Year, two may be given in the Spring, Mr. Denham pointed out, allowing for observance of Texas Independence Day on March 2 and San Jacinto Day on April 21, whereas only one of these days could be observed if the New Year holiday were granted.

Football fans among the student body will be granted a concession on New Year, however, Superintendent Denham announced. Classes will be dismissed a bit earlier in the afternoon of that day to permit students who desire to listen to broadcasts of the important grid classics in progress over the nation in the various "Bowls."

Limiting of the Christmas holiday period to one week was thought advisable in order to permit earlier closing of the schools in the spring.

Pupils Of Powell School To Present Program Here Friday

An innovation in inter-school activities in the Crockett County system will be the appearance Friday afternoon in the High School auditorium of a group of pupils of the Leon Powell school, in the northwestern part of this county, for a brief program.

The pupils compose a rhythm band and choral club directed by Mrs. I. N. Adams, teacher in the school. Mr. Adams, principal of the school, will be in charge of the group.

Business Session Precedes Program At PTA Meet Mon.

Important Matters To Be Discussed Starting at 2:30

A business session that will be of interest to the entire town will precede the regular program of the Ozona Parent-Teacher Association slated for next Monday afternoon.

The business session will start at 2:30 in order to allow time for the regular program, which will be devoted to the topic, "The Influence of Music and Art on Children."

Mrs. H. B. Tandy will be leader of the day's program, which opens with a program by the fourth grade pupils. Invocation will be pronounced by Clarence Nelson, after which Mrs. Ira Carson will discuss the main topic of the session.

"Creative Art in the Public Schools" will be discussed by Mrs. Ted White and "Public School Music" will be outlined by Miss Elitabel Tillory, public school music teacher in the local system. School news will be given by Mrs. Ben Robertson and the meeting will close with the singing of Christmas carols by the group.

Will Rogers' Steer Sold for Charity

On exhibit at the Great Western Livestock show in Los Angeles, Calif., "Old Jim," a 2,310-lb. Texas longhorn steer which belonged to Will Rogers and was considered one of his prize possessions, was sold to Los Angeles promoters at 30c per pound. The proceeds of the sale were given to the Salvation Army for charitable purposes at the request of Mrs. Rogers.

Many Visitors From Nearby Towns Are Expected Here For Christmas Cantata At Methodist Church Sunday Evening

Combined Chorus To Sing 'Christmas Messiah' from Handel's

The true spirit of Christmas as exemplified in Handel's great oratorio, "The Messiah," will be caught by Ozona music lovers when a combined chorus of Ozona musical talent sings "The Christmas Messiah," the Christmas portion of the original "Messiah," in a cantata at the Methodist Church next Sunday evening starting at 7:30 o'clock.

Through popular association of this great oratorio the name Handel has come to suggest Christmas and "The Messiah," so long has the work been used in praising at the Christmas season.

The cantata is being produced here by the Methodist Choir, assisted by voices from other churches of the city. A general invitation to the entire community and surrounding territory has been extended for the event. Mrs. H. B. Tandy, who is directing the production, has received notice that a number of visitors from surrounding towns are planning to be here to hear the cantata.

Perhaps the most famous portion of the "Messiah" is the "Hallelujah Chorus," the climax of the oratorio, and its closing chorus. When it was first produced in England by a mighty chorus, it is said King George I of England was so swept away with the power of the work that he rose to his feet and stood during the performance of the "Hallelujah Chorus."

Indiana Tourist Stops To Sample Famed Ozona Pie

New fields are being conquered and new fame is coming to at least one Ozona product—a certain delicacy known as a pecan pie, baked in the Flowers Bakery here.

Early this week a tourist stopped at Flowers Bakery and asked for ten of these pies, declaring that he had "heard" how good they were. The tourist came from Indiana.

Recently the bakery received several orders from a woman living in Washington, D. C., for a few dozen of the pies to be sold through delicatessens and cafes in the capital city. This woman became acquainted with the local edible on the occasion of a stop here while passing through on a trip from California.

Body Of Trapper Victim Of Heart Attack, Is Found

Henry Gobble Dies In Lonely Spot On Hudspeth Ranch

The body of Henry Gobble, about 40, a resident of Comstock, was found a few hundred yards from a sheep camp on the Claude Hudspeth ranch about 9 o'clock last Thursday morning by a ranch hand on the Hudspeth ranch. Death was believed to have been due to a heart attack.

Gobble had been trapping on the Hudspeth place. The body was found crumpled on the ground, the head resting on an outflung arm. The man had been dead approximately ten hours when the body was discovered. It was estimated by doctors summoned from Del Rio. The body lay in a drizzling rain for several hours.

Funeral services were held in Comstock. A Del Rio coroner rendered a verdict of death from natural causes.

Mrs. Mary Perner who has been ill for several months, has recovered sufficiently to be able to make a Christmas shopping trip downtown early this week.

STATE PLANS CONTRACT ON HIGHWAY SOON

Bids To Be Received Dec. 30 On No. 27 West From Ozona

TO LET 9.1 MILES

First Definite Assurances Comes From Department

Bids will be received by the State Highway Commission at Austin on Monday, December 30, for grading structures, stone base and triple asphalt surface of 9.1 miles of Highway 27 from Ozona west, it was announced yesterday by the department.

The Commission announced that bids had been advertised on more than a million dollars worth of highway construction in the state, the Crockett County project being among those listed.

Grading and drainage structures on Highway 27 have been completed more than two years in this county and the bids to be received this month marks the first move of the Highway Commission toward completion of the road west of Ozona. It is understood plans are being completed on other sections of the road west which may be let before summer.

Contract was recently awarded to Colglazier and Hoff, San Antonio contracting firm that built some of the roads in this county, for surfacing of 10 miles of the Ozona-Sonora road from the county line east toward Sonora in Sutton County.

Establishment of a resident engineer for the State Highway Department and his staff in Ozona to handle both these projects was considered likely with developments during the past week. Department officials were here the first of the week seeking office space and it is understood that final arrangements are to be completed soon for the engineering headquarters to be made here.

Vocational Ag. In Schools To Be Discussed

Fredericksburg Teacher To Meet With Local School Heads

A combined meeting of the Crockett County School Board and the Commissioners Court and other interested persons will be held in the High School auditorium Monday afternoon, December 23, to hear a discussion of vocational agriculture courses in High school to be given by Harper Rawlings, teacher of vocational agriculture at Fredericksburg.

Mr. Rawlings requested the meeting in a letter to members of the school board here that he might present his discussion "in behalf of vocational agriculture and the part it plays in the training of youth."

Located in the center of the livestock producing territory, Crockett County schools should find it profitable to both students and the industry itself to adopt the vocational agriculture training courses for its youths, in the opinion of those familiar with the plan. The federal government will cooperate with the schools in financing the operation of such a department and Mr. Rawlings will likely give local governing bodies complete information on the subject for their future consideration.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Littleton of Arlington, parents of Lowell and Bill Littleton of Ozona, visited their sons here over the week-end.

Miss Ethel Childress has returned from a visit in Dallas and a trip to California.

THE FIRST BELLYACHERS

Uncle Bill Kellis in Sterling City News Record—

Among the first bunch of bellyachers I ever read about, was the Children of Israel whom Moses led out of the Egyptian bondage.

These poor simps had served the government of Egypt for generations. They had been mal-treated so long by their masters, that their sense of pride and love of liberty had almost ceased to have a being with many of them.

Until Moses began to organize them and teach them of the blessings of freedom, and tell them about the "Promised Land," their mentality was little better than the oxen they drove. All they knew was to bow to the will of their cruel taskmasters or feel the lash of the driver's whip.

When Moses had awakened them up to realize their degraded condition and urged them to seek betterment by leaving Egypt and go to a land where every man could sit in peace under his own "vine and fig tree," they were ready to move out.

When the 40 years journey began everybody was well pleased until they reached the Red Sea where Pharaoh and his hosts threatened to destroy them, they set up a mighty howl against Moses for leading them to their destruction.

When Moses lifted up his trusty rod and God caused the waters to stand up like a wall for them to pass over without them getting their feet wet, they still howled because they said: "What is to keep the Egyptians from coming after us?" Then when the Egyptians undertook to follow, Moses again raised his rod and the waters closed over them and gave the fish a banquet of choice Egyptian meat. When the Israelites saw this, most of them rejoiced because they had been saved. But the grouchers among them said: "That wasn't anything to brag about. Moses did not do anything except what he should have done."

At Horeb, the hosts of Israel were about to perish for want of water. Of course they blamed it all off on Moses because he had led them to a drouthy country. They griped so much about it that Moses got mad.

The Lord had told him to hit the rock of Horeb just once with his rod, and there would be plenty of water, but those bellyachers had riled the old man, and he struck it more than once. Out gushed a stream of cold water and everybody and his stock had plenty of water. While some had sense enough to be grateful, there were others who criticized Moses because he got mad and hit the rock more than once and brought on the displeasures of the Lord.

Then the grub got low and they beefed and longed for the cucumber and fleshpots of Egypt where they could eat their fill. They forgot all about the bullwhips that had raised whelps on their fool backs. Notwithstanding the misery they dealt Moses, he again called on the Lord for help, and He sent them quail and manna. As before, most of them were mighty glad to get them and said so, but others complained that while the manna was a good eat when fresh, but it would spoil if kept very long.

This bunch of beefers and bellyachers kept Moses and his people on that journey through the Wilderness forty years, when today, with a Ford, one can make the same trip in less than a day. Only for those howlers and beefers, Moses could have made the trip in six months, to say the least.

It is the howlers and gripers that hold back progress today. They don't know enough to do things themselves, and they will not let the fellow who does know, do his work in peace.

The depression that has been so long upon us, would have been fixed long ago, only for the bellyaching obstructionists who are industriously hampering the good work with their doleful jaw.

There has been put forth every effort to lift the depression by offering jobs to men who have no jobs. While most of them are glad to get these jobs, yet, there are some who imagine that they are doing a great service to the public by condescending to work.

I heard Amos Pokeasy the other day discussing a road job with Snotty Jerkbasket. Amos said, "I tell you, Snotty, us workin' fellers can't make any money at the wages they are offering. Seven hours a day is too long for a po' laborin' man to work anyhow. I guess you and me will have to take the job if they will give us a boss that will suit us. I would take a job on a ranch, but that is wors'n a road job. On the ranches they jump a feller out at daylight and make him hit the ball all day. These ranch fellers and the government is sure givin' us po' work in' fellers a mighty hard deal."

I wonder what these grouchers think they have done for themselves, their families and their country that they are entitled to any more consideration than they are getting from the taxpayers or the boss who expects them to earn their wages by doing good honest work? But they are with us and since the days of Moses have always been with us and will always be with us. Hell is full of them.—Uncle Bill.

Production Record Set By Chevrolet On New 1936 Model

DETROIT, Dec. 9.—Chevrolet Motor Co. today reported a production total of 108,876 units in November, exceeding the previous record for any November in the history of the company by more than 60,000. The extraordinary increase in a period that heretofore has been one of the industry's low production months is credited by the company to the effect of this year's introduction of new models in November, instead of in January, as has been the practice.

Besides breaking all November records, last month's total of 108,876 units also exceeds by more than 17,000 units the highest January record in Chevrolet history, thus setting a new high total for the first month's production of newly introduced models.

Reports from dealers so far received are sufficient to indicate that November will set a new record in retail sales by a large margin.

The 108,876 units built during November included the production of the company's 10 assembly plants at Bloomfield, N. J., and 4279 cars built at Oshwa, Ont., for the Canadian trade.

NOBODY'S BUSINESS

BY JULIAN CAPERS JR.

AUSTIN, Dec. 11.—Harry Hines, chairman of the state highway commission, took his stand square by alongside Gov. Allred against the highway engineer's policy of by-passing small towns in re-rout-ing state highways Tuesday night at the annual C of C banquet in Longview. Said Hines:

"Highways are, after all, a community enterprise and are largely constructed for the use of citizens in the county where such roads are constructed. They are the people's roads, thru their lands and towns and paid for with their money. Naturally, they should have something to say about where such roads are built. It is my personal view that in most cases it is economically and socially wrong to by-pass our towns. Towns, on the other hand, should give every co-operation toward the matter of parallel parking or banking of cars next the curb and rigidly prohibit double parking on highway routes. Of course, I am only one member of the state highway commission and I cannot speak for the commission, but personally, and as chairman, I am definitely opposed to by-passing our towns. I think there is something more to life, even in highway construction, than building suitable racetracks between big cities. I believe that communities built up largely on transportation, where investments have been made, should not be forgotten."

With the governor and Chairman Hines definitely on record, observers here were expecting a show-down soon that will result either in a change of highway policy by the department's engineers, or a shakeup that may cause some heads to fall in the highway engineering staff.

Active enforcement of production by "Cap" Stanley, chief of the railroad commission forces in East Texas, and excellent co-operation from federal oil control authorities there, who have been vigorously prosecuting hot oil runners, have reduced the flow of hot oil in Texas to the lowest point in history, spokesmen for all factions of the industry agree in reports reaching Austin. Some major estimators, who have always been pessimistic about hot oil now estimate the daily total of illegal oil at less than 16,000 barrels—or considerably under a barrel a day average for East Texas' 19,000 wells. Firming of the crude market, in preparation for a price increase, effective probably after the January special session is over is seen by many market observers.

Him: "Well, I suppose you're plenty angry because I came home with this black eye last night."

Her (sweetly): "Not at all, dear. You may not remember it, but when you came home you didn't have that black eye."

The LIVESTOCK SITUATION

By J. A. McNaughton

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Dec. 10.—Having just returned from a trip which carried me through the middle west and a visit to the great International Livestock Exposition at Chicago, the writer is convinced that the livestock industry is on a more prosperous footing than has been the case for several years. The middle west had good crops for the most part; there are more cattle in feed lots than for a good many years, consumer buying power is on the upgrade and trade opinion generally is that we are in for several years of good times.

The middle west has a great deal of "soft" corn, due to the late planting period last summer and early frosts in the fall. About the only thing that can be done with this corn is to turn it immediately into beef cattle feeding. The result is that a good many middle western cattle are expected to come on the markets rather early. This probably will mean that the markets will continue to be supplied with a vast amount of mediocre beef, while prime, long-fed cattle will be scarcer than ever during the winter months.

There is a feeling in the middle west that cattle were laid in too high for comfort of feeders. However, feeds are plentiful and relatively cheap and most of the middle western farmers believe that beef production will pay a fair price for crops that would otherwise have little value. The California barley farmer could learn a valuable lesson from the middle western farmer—the idea of marketing grain through the medium of pork, beef and lamb instead of speculating on the highly fluctuating grain markets. Meats are staple and price trends do not begin to fluctuate to the extent that is true with barley.

The attitude of those attending the International Livestock Exposition was optimistic. There is a broad demand for high quality breeding stock and the great array of registered beef cattle, swine and sheep attracted wide interest.

Director warns Against Chiselers Posing As Agents for Aged

AUSTIN, Dec. 11.—State Auditor Orville S. Carpenter, recently named Executive Director of the Old Age Assistance Commission effective February 14, declared this week that no one, regardless of race or color, would be discriminated against, and stated that old people will be able to get pensions without assistance from agents.

"Many inquiries regarding our policy toward negroes and Mexicans have been received. Inquirers have asked whether or not members of these races would receive the same amount of pension as members of other races. We want it clearly understood that there will be no discrimination against anyone because of race or color," Mr. Carpenter declared.

"No attorneys, unofficial agents, or firms will be needed to help old people obtain pensions. Applications will be handled thru local agents. These have not been named.

"Old people will be able to get their pensions July 1, 1936, if funds are available. Application forms will be prepared February 14, 1936, and will be given to local agents. All applications will be handled through local men; however, the law provides that an applicant can appeal to the Commission if he or she is turned down.

"Pensions will be given those who are entitled to them if and when funds have been provided. The new law does not go into effect until February 14," State Auditor Carpenter explained.

Mr. Carpenter expects to visit Washington this week and have the Texas pension law approved by the Social Security Board. From Washington he will travel to New York and study the state pension system there, which is the largest and one of the oldest systems in the United States.

Pneumonia Causes 4,700 Deaths In Texas Each Year

AUSTIN, Dec. 11—According to Dr. John W. Brown, State Health Officer, pneumonia causes over 4,700 deaths each year in Texas. It is more prevalent during the winter and spring months.

Pneumonia is usually caused by a germ called the pneumococcus, which many of us have lurking in our throats ready to start trouble when our resistance to it is lowered. We can keep up our resistance by avoiding undue fatigue and avoiding unnecessary exposure to extreme weather conditions. When we go out into the cold, additional wraps should be sufficient to protect us. Keeping the temperature of our homes as low as is consistent with comfort will greatly lessen the difficulties encountered in adjusting ourselves to the cold when we go out.

Another measure of prevention in pneumonia is not to neglect a cold, for the common cold often results in pneumonia when neglected. A person with a severe cold should stay at home and call his physician as a precautionary measure. Then he should follow his physician's advice until the cold has disappeared.

The successful treatment of a pneumonia case often depends upon beginning treatment very early. That is why a physician should be called at once in such cases. A patient may really have beginning pneumonia when he thinks it is only a cold. If the physician's advice is sought for the cold he will have an opportunity to start treatment early if pneumonia occurs in such cases.
