Services For Pioneer Ozona Rancher, Merchant Here

DIED EARLY TUES.

Heart Attack Suffered Several Weeks Ago Proves Fatal

Funeral services were held from Methodist Church here at 2:30 p. m. yesterday afternoon for George L. Bunger, 71, retired ranchman and merchant, who died at his home at 1:30 Tuesday morning following an illness of several weeks.

R. A. Taylor, pastor of the Methodist Church, conducted the services at the church and at the graveside. Joe Oberkampff funeral directors were in charge of arrangements.

Mr. Bunger suffered a heart attack several weeks ago and had been lingering at the point of death since. He rallied on several occasions but hope of his survival was abandoned several hours before the end came.

Hundreds of friends of the stricken family gathered at the church to pay last tribute to the memory of the man who had been a resident of Crockett County thirty-eight years and had been prominently identified with the development of the community since taking up his residence here. Pallbearers were Max Schneemann, Paul Perner, Scott Peters, Houston Smith, Strickland, J. C. Montgomery, Ralph Peterson and John R. Bailey.

Surviving are two sons, Welton George Bunger, Jr., two daughters, Mrs. Joe North and Miss Ester Bunger, and two grand children, Welton Bunger, Jr., and Chris Bunger.

Born In Illinois

Mr. Bunger was born March 4, 1864, in Illinois, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bunger, both natives of Germany who came to this country in their youth. The family moved to Texas in 1889.

Mr. Bunger first entered the sheep business a short time later, near Allinger. Later he entered the grocery and grocery business in Ozona where he operated a store (Continued On Last Page)

RANCHERS ASK FUND TO PAY SLEUTH HIRE

County Shifts Part Of Burden Because Financial Straits

HIRE 4 MONTHS

County To Pay One, Producers Other By Popular Donations

Continuation of employment of two special deputies attached to the sheriff's department and assigned the duty of livestock inspection to prevent thefts was virtually assured following a meeting of a group of ranchmen with the Commissioners Court Tuesday afternoon when the ranchers agreed to make up a fund for employment of one of the inspectors if the county will pay the other.

The two inspectors were employed three months ago by the county following a mass meeting of ranchmen with members of the commissioners court. It was the sense of this meeting that this additional police force was necessary to cut down on thefts in this county.

The court reported to the group meeting Tuesday that the average monthly expense of maintaining the two men had been $200 each and advised that county finances would no longer permit their employment by the county. The court agreed, however, that the county could pay for one man and asked that the ranchers employ the other.

It was agreed that employment of the two men was necessary until after shearing, or for a period of about four months longer. With this objective in mind, a committee of ranchers was assigned the duty of getting subscriptions from producers over the county to make up a fund of $800 to pay the inspector's salary for that period.

The sign-up, starting with the group present at the meeting, had netted $320 yesterday. Commissioner E. R. Kinser was named to represent the court to work with the ranchmen in making the solicitation.

Contributions of $5 a month for the four months period are being sought by the ranchers committee, the four-months contribution, or $20, to be paid in full now and the money placed in a special fund subject to withdrawal by the county clerk for paying the salary and expenses of the inspector.

Bob Weaver Is Candidate For Treasurer Post

Young Ozonan Opposes Veteran Casbeer For County Office

Another contest for county office developed this week to enliven this year's political activities with formal announcement by Bob Weaver, native Ozonan and for the past three years bookkeeper and assistant manager of the local West Texas Lumber Co. branch, of his candidacy for the office of County Treasurer.

Mr. Weaver, a young man and a new figure in the local political field, seeks the office which Tom Casbeer has held uninterruptedly for approximately thirty years. The new candidate was born in Ozona, attended school here and for seven years was employed by the late W. E. Smith, drug store operator here. Before accepting his present post with the West Texas Lumber Co., he was employed on the ranch of his father-in-law, W. W. Childress. Among Ozona sport followers he is perhaps best known for his stellar performance on the baseball diamond as center fielder for the Ozona Giants and rated one of the best outer garden patrolmen in the Permian Basin League last year.

"In seeking the support of Crockett County voters for the office of county treasurer, I realize my disadvantage in being new to the political field," Mr. Weaver said in making his formal announcement for office. "However, I feel that the county has discharged its obligation to the incumbent by favoring him with thirty years in office and, qualifications being even, that others should be given a opportunity to serve. As for qualifications, I am confident of my ability to handle the duties of the office and pledge myself to an honest and efficient administration if I am elected. I will appreciate every vote cast for me in the coming election."

Two more teachers in the high school faculty came down with the malady the past week. OZONA TO "GO WESTERN" AS IT STAGES GREATEST SHOW IN HISTORY ON JULY 2-3-4

Centennial Visitors To Texas To Be Given Opportunity To See Real "West" In Holiday Sport

Crockett County is going "western" for the benefit of Centennial visitors to Texas next summer on the occasion of its ninth annual Rodeo, Race Meet, Stock Show and Sale to be staged in Ozona July 2, 3 and 4, 1936.

This was the decision reached at a conference of stockholders, officers and directors of the Crockett County Fair Association and a group of interested citizens invited in by the fair group at the Hotel Ozona last Saturday night.

From the momentum gained at this initial meeting of backers of the annual celebration, it was freely predicted that Crockett County would stage the greatest show in its history here next July 2, 3 and 4. Victor Pierce and J. W. Owens, in charge of the sheep show and sale, told the gathering that producers of fine sheep throughout the nation are already manifesting keen interest in the coming Ozona show and that they expect more than 700 rams from the finest flocks in America at the 1936 show and sale.

Purses in all the rodeo and race events are to be nearly doubled in an effort to attract the greatest skill in these sports to be found in the nation. The race meet itself, an annual feature of the local celebration, is expected to attract some of the fastest stables in the country.

By unanimous vote, the administrative personnel of the fair association itself was left intact, with Wayne West again heading the organization as its president. Other officers are Paul Perner, vice president, Scott Peters, secretary-treasurer, and Roy Henderson, John R. Bailey, Joe Davidson and Joe Pierce additional directors. Mr. West was given authority to appoint committee heads.

Besides staging the outstanding sheep sale of the nation, which has been the case each year that Crockett County has presented its annual show, the 1936 event will present many new entertainment features that will attract still larger crowds to this, West Texas' premier western show in midsummer.

Among the added features of this year's celebration, to be made one of Texas' outstanding entertainments for Centennial visitors, will be a big opening parade depicting the West of yesterday and today and the present-day development of range production. H. B. Cox of San Angelo, former Ozonan, has been named to have charge of this feature of the local show. The entire community is expected to get behind the show plans and "go Western" for three days in big hats, boots, spurs and all accoutrements apropos of the occasion.

Mr. Black offers his record as commissioner during the past year as the basis of his candidacy for a second term in the office, pledging his best efforts toward a continuation of the court's policy of economical and efficient administration of county affairs. So far he is unopposed for re-election.

Other officers of the club chosen were: Mrs. Ira Carson, vice president; Mrs. Lowell Littleton, recording secretary; Mrs. Hillery Phillips, corresponding secretary; Mrs. W. N. Hannah, critic; Mrs. Lee Childress, parliamentarian; Mrs. L. B. Townsend, director and Miss Wayne Chapman, pianist.

The club will observe Junior Day at its next meeting, February 20, in the High School Auditorium. Various musical organizations in the schools will present the program.

IF ADVERTISING IS GOOD FOR OTHERS IT IS GOOD FOR YOU, TOO!

A small merchant gets the idea occasionally that advertising is all right for his big competitor, but "it is impractical for me."

This is not, however, the case. Because the big business man is building and holding good will in a big way, the small business man should be building and holding good will in a small way, or he will lose what prestige he already had gained.

If newspaper advertising is good for the other fellow, it's good for you, too. Good will is created by newspaper advertising and other intelligent methods.

Readers of The Stockman look for your advertisement each week as a regular feature of the news, because they have learned through happy experience:

Baron Of Bastrop, Exile, Adventurer, Dreamer, Given Much Credit For The Success Of Austin Colonization Plan

Spanish Permission For Texas Settlement Given On His Word

AUSTIN, Texas, Feb. 11—Town above the elite of the "men destiny" who carved the republic of Texas from the crumbling empire of the Spanish empire—a forgotten man—Felipe Neri, known as the Baron Bastrop. Documents in the Bexar Archives of The University of Texas present the Baron of Bastrop as the man who made the colonization project of the Austin settlement possible. Without his aid, Texas would not have been settled during the Spanish regime. Supplementary documents from sources other than the Bexar Archives reveal this man as a daring refugee, a daring dreamer, a constant failure, yet an unselfish, persevering, and noble nature.

A refugee from Holland, he arrived in Ouachita in September, 1805. His commanding figure and fluency of language gave him access to Coronellet, Spanish governor of Louisiana. After a series of bold series of interviews and proposals, the Baron had persuaded the Spanish governor to enter into a colonization contract with him. By the terms of this contract five hundred families were brought into the province of Louisiana by the Baron. Twelve acres of land were granted him for the colony. The settlers were to be given supplies by the government for six months. He was given the privilege of building four mills, and a right of way 36 feet wide and 400 miles long. The Baron went to work diligently and a few months had secured about one hundred settlers. For a number of reasons, difficult to explain, his venture soon proved to be a complete failure. Wheat could not be raised in that region. The immigrants proved to be untrustworthy. And, worst of all, King in 1801 disapproved of the project.

Disappointed, but not embittered by his failure, the Baron followed the Spanish flag into Texas after the transfer of Louisiana to the United States in 1803. On September 1, 1805, he set out from Acacoches and arrived in San Antonio a few weeks later. Seeks Texas Permit

His dream of starting a colonization project had not died with his failure in Louisiana. On September 29, 1805, he asked permission of the commandant general to settle in Texas and to bring immigrants into the province. On October 18, 1805, he was given the right to settle and "to establish himself in this province on the lands and rivers between the Trinity and this capital, with a colony of seventy or one hundred families and the Choctaw Indians, faithful defenders of the Spanish dominions." The Baron had also applied for permission to take five hundred horses to Louisiana, but this petition was denied. As his first attempt, this colonizing scheme was never realized. He could not induce immigrants to come to Texas, and the Choctaw Indians preferred American to Spanish trading regulations.

On December 19, 1806, the Baron applied for permission to establish a warehouse in which he could sell goods to the Indians at New Orleans prices. The commandant general refused to grant his request.

His next move was to engage in freighting supplies from Monterey, Monclova, and other points, for the army post in San Antonio.

Slowly but surely the old Baron was gaining the confidence of the Spanish government. In 1809 nearly all foreigners were expelled from Texas because of the disturbance created by Napoleon Bonaparte in Spain. The Baron of Bastrop had been under strict surveillance for a long time, but his conduct had been such that he was never molested. By 1816 the Spanish government had become so well convinced of the good character of the Baron that Mariano Varela, acting governor, appointed him official interpreter and confidential agent for sounding out other foreigners. Between the years 1807 and 1820 very little has been recorded of the activity of Don Felipe Neri, but it may be assumed that he remained in good standing with the Spanish government since his name never appears in any court record. By the year 1820 he was well established as official translator and interpreter, with the additional honor of being second alcalde of San Antonio. It was during the last month in this same year that a momentous chance meeting occurred in the town square of San Antonio.

Austin's Plan Refused

On the afternoon of December 23, 1820, Moses Austin arrived in San Antonio. Without the loss of time, he appeared before Governor Antonio Martinez and set forth his colonizing scheme. The kindly but quick-tempered Spaniard listened impatiently to the impertinent foreigner for a few minutes and then ordered him to leave the province as quickly as possible. Weary, dejected, and disappointed Moses Austin was slowly walking towards his pack mules in the square when a tall and dignified old man approached him. Although 23 years had elapsed since their chance meeting in a tavern in New Orleans, the two old men at once recognized each other. Moses set forth his plans to the Baron. The Baron immediately invited him to partake of the frugal hospitality of his lonely home. On a rough-hewn and shaking table, straining their fading eyes by the light of an old Spanish candle, the two old kindred spirits tenderly prepared their plans and maps—the swaddling clothes of the vigorous State of Texas.

This was the third and last colonizing scheme of the old Baron. It was his ever-present dream. On December 29, 1820, Bastrop presented Austin's colonization plan to Don Antonio Martinez. The Spaniard liked the plan and forwarded it to the commandant general with his recommendation for approval. And the story of the colonization of Texas from then on is well known.

Usually most of the credit for the success of colonization is given to Austin. It should, nevertheless, be recalled that the Spanish governor approved the plan only because of Bastrop's influence. One should also remember that Bastrop always served as intermediary between the colonists and the Spanish and Mexican government officials. On July 16, 1823, Bastrop was appointed commissioner of Austin's colony. On August 3, 1824, Stephen F. Austin and the Baron of Bastrop were at the house of Sylvanus Castleman, near the present town of Columbus, and there issued land titles to the colonists. On August 4, 1823, Bastrop conferred the title of lieutenant-colonel on Stephen F. Austin. In 1824 Bastrop was elected elector of the colonists to the Assembly in Bexar. On May 10, 1824, Bastrop was elected representative for Texas to the Coahuila and Texas legislature. The Baron, as the representative of the Americans especially, worked unceasingly for religious toleration, and for the admission of slavery. He favored the establishment of a primary school in San Antonio, the establishment of a seaport at Galveston, the appointment of a political chief for Texas, and the establishment of a uniform colonization law. Many of these ideas he succeeded in carrying out in spite of much opposition.

The arduous tasks of the colonists finally took their toll on the old man, now over 80 years of age. On January 3, 1827, he became ill and left the legislative halls of Saltillo, never to return. On February 23, 1827, the noble and unselfish old man took his last breath.

Died Penniless

The man was gone but his body and his memory remained. In his carefully written will he listed much property in land and personal goods. When a check was made, however, it was found that he only worldly possession he really owned was a small rock house and a lot in San Antonio. He had left no funds even for his burial. He had not accumulated enough funds for the purchase of one suit of clothes.

Some of his friends took up a collection and obtained a fine suit of clothes in which to bury him. While the solemn and dignified ceremonies were being held, a curious and depraved Mexican was hovering about the funeral home. His mind and heart were not touched by the solemnity of the occasion, but his greedy eye was caught by the fine quality of the clothes holding the body of the deceased Baron. The legend continues, taking the Mexican to the grave of the Baron of Bastrop at midnight. With cowardly yet feverish thrusts of the shovel, the thief dug up the coffin of the old Baron. He proceeded to disrobe the massive frame, and seemed to be succeeding when, unexpectedly, a heavy arm fell on his neck. The Baron's spirit evidently had revolted at the sacrilegious theft. The Mexican fled in terror and confessed his sin to the nearest priest. The following day at midnight, the priest was again called upon to administer another sacrament to the depraved one: this time it was the sacrament of extreme unction.

When a foreigner could elicit praise from a Spanish official, no one has reason to suspect the least trace of dishonesty or raciality in that foreigner. Therefore, there is no more fitting epilogue to a sketch of the Baron of Bastrop than a translation of an original note, written by a Spanish dignitary, found in the Bexar Archives of The University of Texas:

"The Baron of Bastrop, native of Holland, has been under the protection of the Spanish government for 27 years. He has spent seventeen years in the province of Texas. He has always observed an irreproachable conduct; he has performed an infinite number of acts of kindness towards these settlers; and he has served in many capacities, requiring the strictest confidence, for this government. Inasmuch as he has sworn allegiance to the independence of the Mexican empire, I consider him worthy of the utmost consideration of the nation. In witness whereof I have given this signed statement in the capital of Bexar on the thirtieth day of January, 1822."

WE GRANT you that Buick looks expensive—smart things usually do! We grant you a lot of people think of it in terms of a $1500 automobile because Buick used to cost all of that—and some still do.

But give us a chance, and we'll show you in cold figures how to own a Buick for little if any more than one of the lowest-priced cars would cost you.

We'll show you a big car with a small car operating cost. We'll show you roominess and comfort and safety, with a freedom from repair bills that makes costs-per-mile hit a new low. We'll show you how to get a luxury car—on a brass-tacks budget! There's no mystery to it—no trick figuring. Buick simply licked the problem of building first-class quality in a low-priced car. Now we've got some interesting figures that will change your ideas about automobile values.

Don't resign yourself to small-car comfort, small-car ability until you find out how very little per week it costs to own a Buick.

LOWER FINANCING CHARGES

The new Buick 6% TIME PAYMENT PLAN not only simplifies financing but actually cuts the cost of buying a car on time. Use these prices to get a better car... list prices of the new Buicks begin at $765 at the factory, subject to change without notice.

Safety Glass included as standard equipment... Standard and special accessories extra.

Applicants For Pensions Must List Property

$7500 For Married Person, $5000 for Single Legal Limit

Carpenter, who will be Executive Director of the Old Age Assistance Commission, said today concerning the new law.

"Each applicant should be able to describe all personal property, including jewelry, furniture, automobiles, and live stock, in addition to his or her real property," Mr. Carpenter explained.

All applicants should have the following information available:

- (1) Original purchase price and date of purchase of all property.
- (2) Description of property from the county tax assessor telling block number, etc.
- (3) Amount property rendered for on tax rolls.
- (4) Name of lien holder and amount still due on mortgage, as well as total equity in property. Also date and amount of lien.

Applicants will be able to get blanks in their own locality February 14. These forms may be filed as soon as filled out by applicants.

MUSIC GOSSIP ROMANCE

FUN, FROLIC, FRIVOLITY

This beautiful scene will be the setting for the royal court of King Frivolous XIX, the climax to Galveston's annual Mardi Gras February 21-25, the first of the Texas Centennial Celebrations planned for this year—five days of fun, frolic and frivolity. More than 35 socially prominent young women will represent as many cities as duchesses to the King's Court. Three Texas beauties are shown in the insets, Miss Shirley Lege, duchess of Dallas, upper right; Miss Dorothy Lou Culton, duchess of Corpus Christi, lower left, and Miss Adelaide Polk, duchess of Fort Worth, lower right.

Historic Treasures Of Texas Sought For Centennial Display

DALLAS, Texas, Feb. 11—In any Texas community may be historic treasures that would bring a big price from collectors who will be watching for rare documents and relics at the Texas Centennial Exposition at Dallas next summer.

The most interesting items reflecting life in Texas from first exploration in 1519, through colonizing and development to 1900 are being assembled for the Exposition by Prof. Herbert Gambrell, of the historical division. Information and full description of letters or diaries that tell of an earlier day in Texas; early books or newspapers, or implements, furniture and particularly clothes showing period costuming should be sent to Professor Gambrell. The Exposition will protect items accepted for display with insurance from the time they leave the owner until they are returned.

At the close of the Texas Centennial Exposition, November 29, such items from the historical exhibits as may be for sale will be called to the attention of prospective buyers.

Every encouragement is being given to the assembling of historical displays in communities and county seats. Professor Gambrell said the best materials shown in these exhibits will be eligible for the state-wide exhibit in the million-dollar Texas Hall of State at the Exposition.

Are You a STRANGER In Your Own Home?

It's a funny thing—but most people don't half see their own homes. We pass by both the fine points and places that need fixing, without a glance, without a thought.

Yes, we all do this—until some day we decide to look around and really discover the place we live in... Let's start with the living room. That couch seat—how dingy and dull it looks. And there's a rough place where the cat sharpens his claws. The little rug in the hall is ragged and frayed. (Why, that's a disgrace!) And that table top certainly must be done over. The mantel looks positively bare, since Ted broke that lovely green vase. And all those magazines and papers—what we need is a good-looking stand to hold them.

You see the point. Lots of little things need doing. And it doesn't take lots of money to do them, one at a time... Just make a list of what's needed and then keep watching the advertisements in this newspaper for good buys at low prices. Now's a fine time to find all sorts of good things for the house (February for furniture), and things you've been needing a long time, maybe, things you can have now without spending too much.

New Home for French Embassy in Washington

This is a view of the John Hays Hammond mansion, at 2221 Kalorama road, N. W., Washington, that has been purchased by the French government at a reputed price of $400,000 to serve as a new home for its diplomatic legation. Reported that Ambassador and Mme. Andre de Laboulaye will move into the new quarters soon, forsaking the old quarters on Sixteenth street that has served for 30 years.

Knee Action Proved Its Advantages Over Kneec-Hummocked Road

DETROIT, Feb. 11—Thousands of motorists this winter have discovered the full benefits of the knee action ride for the first time, as pointed out today by D. E. Oldsmobile, vice president and general sales manager. These drivers are those who have ever drive off pavement. Their driving is limited to city streets or smooth paved highway. At the cold winter, which has rutted and bumpy of ice and snow formed on all heavily traveled roads, has demonstrated the advantages of knee action wheels, which move up and down independently of each other and soak shocks through big coil springs. Knee action definitely gives an improved ride on even the smoothest streets," Mr. Ralston pointed out. "This has been proved to motorists all over the world who have driven a car with knee action and one without over the same route under the same conditions and compared the comfort. "But the rougher the road the more noticeable this difference is. And the cold winter, producing bumps of ice and snow on even the smoothest highways, has accentuated the difference between the ride in a knee action car and the car without this improvement. "Owners of knee action Oldsmobiles have discovered that even over the roughest of these roads their cars ride smoothly because the independently acting front wheels absorb the shock without transmitting it to the car and passengers. "And, in addition, center control steering, possible only with knee action, has made the 1936 Oldsmobile much easier and safer to handle on icy, snow hummocked streets."

STICKERS ADVERTISE TEXAS CELEBRATIONS

AUSTIN, Texas, Feb. 11—All Texans who buy motor car licenses in 228 of 254 Texas counties this year will receive Centennial windshield stickers. The stickers are being furnished to the tax collectors in 228 counties by the department of information for Centennial celebrations and will be distributed by the tax collectors or deputies to all who want them. A request from the department to tax collectors, asking their cooperation, brought replies from 228 of them. The stickers are small, square in size, printed in red, white and blue colors and contain the words, "1836—Texas—1936, Centennial Celebrations."

Joe Graham, Crockett County rancher, who has been critically ill in a San Angelo hospital from pneumonia the past week, was reported slightly improved today but still is in a grave condition. Mrs. Graham has just recovered from an attack of pneumonia. Mr. Graham was given three blood transfusions during the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Finnigan and two daughters were here from San Antonio to spend the week-end with relatives.

Mrs. J. C. Kirby, who has been suffering from a heart attack recently, is reported still improving this week.

two years. He moved to Ozona in 1898 and opened a similar store here. He operated the business here until 1915 when he retired to re-enter the sheep business. He again went into the mercantile field four years later, operating the business until 1926. He and his sons were associated in the operation of a 15-section ranch 45 miles southwest of Ozona, the sons being in active charge since his retirement several years ago.

Mrs. Bunger preceded her husband in death a little over a year. Her death occurred here January 7, 1935. They were married February 9, 1899, in Ozona, she being the former Miss Elgie Williams.

Mr. Bunger was a member of the Methodist Church and at the time of his death was a member of the board of trustees of the church. He was a member of the Odd Fellows Lodge and the Woodmen of the World. He served Crockett County as commissioner one term.

Joslin has been receiving treatment from a local physician.

Lights." Fifty per cent of the net proceeds from the two-days performance will go into the troop fund.

Twenty Ozona Scouts re-registered last month, Scoutmaster Haddon reports.

The new Ozona troop committee is composed of Bright Baggett, Vic Pierce, C. S. Denham and Hugh Childress, Jr.

Troop 53 is making plans to attend the Texas Centennial Celebration in Dallas sometime in August.

This is Scout Week, observed internationally. Ozona Troop No. 53 attended special Scout services at the Baptist Church last Sunday night to hear a special Scout sermon on the subject of the Scout motto, "Be Prepared," delivered by the Rev. Ira Garrison, pastor.

Scoutmaster Joe Haddon is laying plans for a comprehensive Red Cross Life Saving course to be given to Scouts desiring the training this summer. A part of the time of each Scout meeting is being devoted to laying ground work for this course.

Ozona Scout Troop 53 needs a Scout Cabin. An ideal cabin would be one constructed of native rock—and the cost of such a structure would be negligible. And a fine investment it would be in building the boy of today into the man of tomorrow.

Laughing Around the World

Absolutely Replete With Thrills

By IRVIN S. COBB

WHEN Opie Reed, the writer, was a printer down in Tennessee many years ago he worked on a small weekly paper and boarded with the keeper of a small general store.

"My host," said Reed to me, "was the most inveterate checker player in the state, and his wife was the best cook that ever lived in any state. The house was right next to the store and the place where

I worked was just across the road. One day the dinner horn blew, and I broke for the store to pick up the old man and hustle for the table. I was as hungry as a bear, and as I came across the road I could smell fried chicken and other good things; and I fairly dribbled at the mouth.

"The husband was sitting at the back of the store playing checkers with another old chap. These two were the checker champions of the county. I told him dinner was ready and begged him to come on, because I knew his wife wouldn't put the dishes on the table until he showed up; but he was right in the middle of a close game and he only shook his head.

"I stood there waiting, getting hungrier and hungrier every minute and madder and madder! That dinner was bound either to scorch or get cold—and maybe do both; but there sat that old pair of fossils silent as mummies and still as the grave. Neither of them moved an inch for fifteen minutes. Finally my host scratched his head for a couple of minutes—it seemed hours to me—reached over deliberately, picked up a counter, held it poised in the air for another minute and then put it back in its original place and said, half to himself: "Well, this is excitin'!"

"It was at this juncture," said Reed, "that I hauled off and kicked his blamed old checkerboard clear out of the front door!"

Angelo Show To Exhibit Cream Of Fat Lambs

Record Number Expected In New Division March 7-11

SAN ANGELO, Feb. 12—San Angelo's Fat Stock Show, the fifth version of which will be produced at the Fairgrounds here, March 7-11, has built up the most extensive fat lamb division in Texas. This year's performance is expected to exceed all records, including its own, of exhibition of fat lambs since this stock division has been added to the registered Hereford cattle and beef calf departments.

Anticipating growth in the fat lamb display, the Board of City Development, sponsors of the show, has constructed a new sheep barn for the 1936 exposition. The new structure is 56 feet by 210 feet and will accommodate pens for 1,500 animals.

Show officials are extremely pleased with entries to last night. Carload groups have already been entered from Mertzon, Bronte, Rocksprings, Sterling City, Menard, San Angelo and Tom Green county, Garden City, Eola in Concho county, and Ballinger and Winters in Runnels county.

The above entries represent the "cream of the crop" in a dozen counties. Others are expected. Besides the carload lots there will also be singles and smaller groups from these counties in addition to Reagan and Uvalde and several other counties.

Cash awards in this division total $383.

The judge for the lamb show will be A. K. Mackey of Texas A. & M. College, College Station. Mr. Mackey is considered one of the best judges in the Southwest and his opinion of animals is held in high regard by breeders and buyers.

The majority of the fat lambs will be offered in the fat stock auction on Tuesday, March 10. Col. Earl Gartin, Greensburg, Ind., will be the auctioneer.
