WOMAN'S CLUB DIRECT CLEAN UP CAMPAIGN

City-Wide Drive To Be Inaugurated Here Next Week

COUNTY TO ASSIST Commissioners Pledge Co-Operation In Campaign

A city-wide clean-up campaign which has as its objective the complete clean-up of every spot in the community, occupied or vacant, public property and private, will be launched next week under the direction of the Ozona Women's Club with the co-operation of the Crockett County Commissioners and the Court.

Plans for the campaign were completed in detail at the regular meeting of the club Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Paul Garner, when the committee from the club reported that the Commissioners Court had agreed to aid in employing trucks to haul off rubbish collected during the drive.

For the purpose of concentrated effort throughout the community, the city has been divided into several districts and a chairman named by the club to direct the clean-up in each district. The seven clean-up chairmen as appointed by the club president, Mrs. George A. E. Deland, Mrs. Paul Perrier, Mrs. Lee Childress, Mrs. Ira Robinson, Mrs. P. T. Robinson and Mrs. Scott Peters.

The club will urge that residents start the clean-up next week and get all cans, trash and rubbish stacked in readiness for the hauling to start by March 15. Thorough cleaning of premises, streets and alleys adjoining and vacant property in the city will be urged.

This being the ideal time of year to plant trees, flowers and shrubs for beautification, the committees in charge will assist any resident in planning such planting where requested. This being Texas Centennial year and the state expecting thousands of visitors for many celebrations, including Ozona's own show in July, the club and co-operating county officials are especially anxious that the people of Ozona respond heartily to the clean-up appeal and get to the spirit of the drive to the end that Ozona might put on its best dress for Centennial visitors.

The body of Joe S. Graham, 40, Crockett County ranchman, who lost a valiant battle against pneumonia in a San Angelo hospital at 9:45 last Thursday night, was buried in Cedar Hill Cemetery Saturday afternoon following graveside rites conducted by the Ozona Masonic Lodge.

Mr. Graham was stricken with the disease three weeks ago in San Angelo, where he had been at the bedside of Mrs. Graham, who also suffered an attack of pneumonia. The body was brought here in a Robt. Massie Co. hearse and Joe Oberkampf funeral directors had charge of local arrangements. Rev. Ira V. Garrison, pastor of the Baptist Church, conducted brief services at the home and assisted with Masonic services at the cemetery.

Mr. Graham had been engaged in ranching in this section since his youth. At the time of his death he was operating a ranch on the George Thompson place on the Pecos River in this county. He was born June 6, 1895, in Bandera County, the son of Sylvester and Mary V. Graham, who moved to this county thirty-eight years ago to engage in ranching. Mr. Graham senior died in 1908 and Mrs. Graham in 1920.

Crockett's Show Is Listed Among Centennial Fetes

Ozona Celebration Added To Official Calendar of Events

DALLAS, Texas, Feb. 25—The City of Ozona has been added to the list of Texas cities which are planning Centennial year celebrations, according to officials of the department of information for Texas Centennial celebrations.

The Ozona celebration was added to the official calendar of Centennial celebrations, following receipt of information from the publicity director for the Crockett County rodeo, race meet, stock show and sale, that dates have been set for July 2, 3 and 4 for the ninth annual Crockett county event.

The department of information is carrying on an extensive program of advertising and publicizing the state-wide Centennial celebrations and the State of Texas. The work is promoted through newspapers and magazines, radio, travel bureau activities, and club and school projects. It is nation wide in scope. Offices of the department are maintained in Dallas.

Ozona's celebration will be included in all publicity activities of the department.

More than 100 Centennial celebrations, planned in all parts of the state, now are included on the official calendar. Centennial year officially was opened last November with the "opening shot" celebration held at Gonzales. Several other celebrations have been held since that time and the others, including the Centennial Central exposition at Dallas, will be held at various times throughout 1936.

BOND FUNDING MOVE EFFECTS HUGE SAVINGS

$325,000 Road Bonds of Co. Refinanced at Interest Saving

$260,000 SAVING

2% Interest Cut Over 40 Year Period Is Saved By Move

Through a road bond funding deal just completed by the Commissioners Court, Crockett County taxpayers stand to save a total of $260,000 in interest over a forty-year period on outstanding road bond obligations of the county amounting to $325,000.

A contract with H. C. Burt & Co. of Dallas through which this company agrees to take up Crockett County road bonds at par, the county to pay accrued interest to date of call, and to refinance a new issue of bonds bearing 3 per cent interest instead of the 5 per cent which the present outstanding obligations bear, was approved this week by the court in special session.

The refunding deal, considered one of the most advantageous made by any county in Texas, was made with the Dallas bond firm over three other bidders. The new issue of bonds, to be printed when the present bonds are recalled, are to cover a period of ten years, the final bond of $37,000 bearing interest at the rate of 2 1/2 per cent.

Under the present statute by which the state assumes a part of the outstanding road bond indebtedness of each county, the state assumes approximately 51 percent of this county's road bond obligations. Available sinking funds of both the state and county, both matching dollars, may be used to retire a portion of the present obligations when the refunding is completed, members of the court said. This move is contemplated to reduce the local indebtedness while the present state assumption statute is effective and the state is able to pay its pro rata share of the retirement.

Kitchen Chautauqua Talks

By Mrs. Johnetta Howard Lecturer, Ozona Stockman, Free Cooking School March 19-20

THE ROMANCE OF COOKING

A great celebration will take place on the day when dishes are invented that are inexpensive enough to be thrown away after one using, but still retain the virtues of china.

Until that time comes, however, our pride of ownership in good dishes will keep us at the daily cycle of clearing up the dinner table, washing the dishes and storing them away in the meantime also, many of us will continually be seeking for Mrs. Howard ways to lighten the task that takes us from table to sink to cupboard. There is really romance in cooking if we but look for it.

If we examine the processes in dishwashing, reduce if possible the time each takes and eliminate those which are unnecessary it is possible we may find waste motions and reduce the unpleasantness of an unavoidable chore.

First, all dishwashing should not be left until after the meal. Begin to reduce the after-dinner part of the work the first moment of meal preparation.

Clear Away As You Go Clearing away as you go along will simplify dishwashing unbelievably. Replace materials or containers as soon as they are used—the baking powder, the spice can, the sifter.

As you replace them determine whether or not they are in their most convenient location. Replacing is simple if it means merely reaching out to a shelf and arm's length away and not walking across the kitchen.

One meal process likely to create a confused and untidy kitchen is vegetable preparation. To avoid this all fresh vegetables such as lettuce, radishes and tomatoes should be washed as soon as they arrive from the green grocer and placed in the refrigerator ready for use.

This keeps the untidiness of wilted leaves and sandy sediment out of the kitchen during its busiest time.

Other vegetables refuse, such as potato parings, carrots scrapings and bean strings, can easily be kept out of the sink by paring or cleaning them directly into waste cans.

The large accumulation of cooking dishes during food preparation—measuring cups and spoons, mixing bowls, pans—all but the last minute cooking dishes, can be washed and rinsed with hot water.

Tray Is Big Help Say "I saw it in the Stockman."

Some housekeepers advise washing each dish as it is used, but there may be waste motion in that. A little easier system may be to clear away as one goes along but to have one washing during the last period of cooking.

When baking, a utility tray saves labor. Each tool as it is used is placed on this tray and taken with the soiled dishes on it in one trip to the sink to be washed.

The next step in cutting down waste effort in the handling of dishes after they come to the table is to have a systematic routine for them in the kitchen.

Extra space near the sink and a table placed conveniently near the sink where the dishes can be cleared and stacked as they arrive from the table are helpful.

It is at this point that a movable table of generous proportions makes its usefulness felt.

Dishes may be placed directly on the table in the dining room, moved to the kitchen cleared, washed, put back on the table and taken to the point of storage if the cupboards cannot be reached from the sink.

Ancient Archives Reveal Constant Alertness On Part Of Spanish Gov. To Guard Health Of Texas Colonists

Influenza & Smallpox Treated By Paternalistic Gov't.

AUSTIN, Texas, Feb. 25.—The constantly increasing control of individual and corporation rights by the Federal government is a subject of bitter discussion at present. Spanish Texans were so accustomed to their paternalistic form of government, that they look upon government control of public health, medical treatment, and hospitalization, as a matter of daily routine. Records in the Bexar Archives of The University of Texas show that the health of Spaniards in Texas received considerable government attention. On April 13, 1804 for instance, the King issued a royal order giving instructions for the safe performance of the Caesarean operation. A few years later another royal order was circulated explaining the method of preventing infantile paralysis. The dreaded scourge of World War days—Spanish influenza—was not unknown in Spanish Texas days. On March 21, 1808, the Commandant General wrote the Governor of Texas: "I have read in your letter that there is an epidemic of influenza in that town. Consequently I am hereby advising you to order Doctor Jayme Guza to draw up a simple method for checking the spread of the epidemic to other towns." By April 18, 1808, the epidemic had been completely controlled. Since there was only one army hospital in Texas and no civilian institutions of that nature, on April 17, 1809, the Commandant General issued a command permitting civilians to be taken to the squallid army hospital, where the mattresses on the forty cots were not changed until they rotted away.

Guard Against Plague
The Commandant General was ever watchful for any danger to his subjects. On June 22, 1809, for instance, he wrote the Governor of Texas, saying, "Since it has been learned that bubonic plague is at present destroying the city of Vera Cruz, I am hereby warning Your Lordship to issue the strictest orders to the effect that any ship coming from that port to the coast of Texas is to be quarantined, and no person or article allowed to land." On July 6, 1809, the commandant at Trinidad reported that his troops were suffering bilious fevers and that there were "no soldiers available for service." The Governor sent Don Pedro Lartigue, a physician to Trinidad, and advised the commandant: "As soon as the settlers recover, you must try to clear the settlement of trees. I attribute to this cause the fever which is prevalent there."

Physicians and surgeons were extremely scarce in Texas. There was usually a midwife, who was compelled by law to post a large sign over her door, to take care of women's afflictions. Men generally had to rely on Don Jayme Guza, or his assistant, the only doctors in Texas. Sometimes the barber was summoned to bleed or operate on someone. When no one else could be found, the Spaniards appealed to an Indian medicine man. There is recorded in the Bexar Archives a case of a fight between two soldiers, one wounding the other with a small knife. A sergeant reported: "An Atacapa Indian, whom I sent for, sucked the wound on said Serbin, drawing some blood, and he has continued to doctor him with a certain herb, making me understand by signs that the patient will not die."

The most dreaded scourge in Texas both to Spaniards and Indians was small-pox. Part of a royal order dated May 20, 1804, reads:

Introduce Vaccine
"The King has had the gratifying news of the safe arrival on the American continent of the over-seas commission whose purpose is to disseminate among his beloved subjects of the Indies the marvelous discovery of vaccination, after having introduced it in the Canary Island and in Puerto Rico; and although I expect the director and the other individuals commissioned will carry out their obligations in which they undertake to make known its use in the principal cities of his vast dominions, in conformity to the method which they will explain; you will aid them in this important undertaking, in compliance with the circular of September 1st of the year just past."

A translation of an original letter, dated Chihuahua, March 11 1806, found in the Bexar Archives of the University of Texas, which deals with small-pox, follows:

"In order to furnish Your Lordship the necessary means for the distribution in that province of vaccine small-pox, I am herewith remitting a vial of pus and a paper sack of small-pox scabs, so that Your Lordship may make the necessary use of them.

"May God guard Your Lordship many years."

Nemesio Salcedo.
"P.S. The pus is packed in a small box, along with instructions for the use of the scabs."

Preservatives Found In Ground Meat Lead To Conviction, Fines

AUSTIN, Texas, Feb. 25.—During the past month the Food and Drug Inspectors of the State Department of Health have collected a total of 133 samples of ground meat, and of this number 48 were found to contain illegal preservative. So far, twenty-three convictions have been secured—the fine and court cost averaged about forty dollars per case. Other cases are yet to be filed.

The most common illegal preservative is sulphite of soda. This acts as a deodorant, preservative, and color restorer. Meat treated with this sulphite may look invitingly fresh even though stale, and its effect as a deodorant is such that it takes the smell of decomposition.

The Bureau of Food and Drugs has a field force of eight men whose entire time is spent in the inspection of food and drug establishments in order that articles not fit for human consumption are withdrawn from the channels of trade, and that products are properly labeled; also, that merchandise and places of business are kept clean and sanitary.

Nation-Wide Radio Broadcast Of N. Y. Texas-Exes Banquet

AUSTIN, Texas, Feb. 25.—"Texas Exes" throughout the country will tune in on a nation-wide radio broadcast, sponsored by "Texas Exes" in New York, as the significant feature of this year's March 2 celebration of former students of The University of Texas. For many years Texas Independence Day has been the occasion for universal reunion of ex-students of this institution, with the motto, "wherever two or more of us are gathered together, we shall break bread" and re-pledge allegiance to the University.

In widely scattered parts of the globe hundreds of banquets and many less formal dinners are held in commemoration of this "University Day." "Texas Ex" clubs have been formed in more than fifty Texas towns and counties, and in nearly a score of other large cities of the country.

Pension Seekers Must Be Able To Prove Citizenship

AUSTIN, Feb. 26— Assistance will go only to citizens, Orville S. Carpenter, executive director of the Old Age Assistance Commission, said today explaining the old-age assistance law.

"If the applicant is a naturalized citizen, he or she should be able to prove when and where naturalized. Naturalization papers will be required," Mr. Carpenter stated.

"An applicant should know the nationality of his or her spouse if not a citizen.

"Applicants whose parents were citizens by naturalization should be able to prove when and where they were naturalized," he said.

"In addition, any applicant, whether citizen by birth or naturalization, will be asked to tell whether he or she is married or unmarried, a widow or widower, and give the names of children, if any, telling offsprings' ages, occupations, and places of residence," Mr. Carpenter added.

PRAIRIE DOG NOTICE

The attention of this Court has been called to the fact that the Prairie Dog has been very well exterminated in Crockett County, but on many ranches a small remnant of this pest still exists. The court believes that these remnants may be entirely wiped out and therefore very strongly request (and possibly the law makes it the duty of this Court to order) every ranchman to destroy these remnants at once. It would not cost much and carbon may be obtained at the Drug Stores. The Clerk will have this notice published four times in The Ozona Stockman.

The LIVESTOCK SITUATION
by J. A. McNAUGHTON

ANGELES, Calif. Feb. 25. Increase of seven per cent in the United States cattle population as compared with five years ago, according to the United States Census Bureau January estimate. This increase demonstrates the growing importance of the business in this country and all the more remarkable when it is considered that more than eight million cattle and calves were slaughtered under the drought relief program. The estimate indicates a total of 49,409,000 cattle of all ages on U. S. farms as compared with 63,000,000 head on January 1st, 1930. Report indicates that a larger percentage of U. S. farms now have cattle than was the case five years ago, with a smaller average per farm.

Potential increase in cattle production is even greater because of a larger number of breeding cows on hand. This indicates that the production of cattle is likely to increase unless the higher prices should encourage the marketing of a large number of cows and heifers. Leads all states in numbers of cows, approximately 10.6 per cent in that state. California leads in far western states with 2,131,799 cattle against 1,800,000 in 1930.

There is a vast decrease in the number of swine in the United States. The present census estimates 37,212,967 against 56,000,000 on farms in 1930. The 1934 drought created a shortage of grain and pasture. Although there is a decrease of 34 per cent in the number of hogs, the government reports show that more farms are carrying hogs than was the case in 1930. Iowa ranks first in swine numbers.

The three Pacific Coast states, California, Oregon and Washington, report a total of 815,763 hogs, a decrease from 1,058,505 reported in 1930.

There is a sizable decrease in the number of sheep and lambs reported, with western range states showing the greatest decreases. However, a larger percentage of ewes is indicated. The sheep and lamb population is estimated at 48,357,506, of which 70.3 per cent are listed as ewes one year and over. In 1930, the total was given as 56,975,084, of which only 54 per cent were ewes. Six million animals in the decrease were in the western range states.

Texas leads in sheep population with 14.5 per cent of the United States total, Montana is second with 7.9 per cent, Wyoming third with 7.2 per cent, California fourth with 5.6 per cent, Utah is fifth with 5.1 per cent.

Thus the figures as released by the United States Census Bureau indicate a vast decline in hog numbers, a smaller decline in sheep and lambs and an increase in cattle including beef and dairy stock. Probably the total tonnage of meat animal output will continue for some time to be under normal. However, there is no question but that swine population will expand rapidly during the next two years. It may require some effort for the industry to merchandise increased amounts of beef at prices that will continue to prove profitable to growers, as the swine population increases and as greater volume of pork is available.

What It Means To Have a Registered Pharmacist ... Always On Duty ...

Few people realize that the present day tendency is toward a scarcity of Graduate, Registered Pharmacists and that a drug store, especially one in a town this size is offering them an exceptional service in keeping a Pharmacist always on duty every minute the store is open.

In 1924 there were 56,000 Pharmacy students in the U. S. In 1934 that number had dwindled to less than 26,000. In 1924 there was one Registered Pharmacist to every 11 drug stores. In 1934 there was one prescription man to every 25 drug stores.

We are going to considerable expense in maintaining this service for you—in addition to a full line of quality merchandise.

HEADLINER!
ANY WAY YOU LOOK AT IT!

EXTRA special news it was— when Buick wrapped up 3500 pounds of live-wire power-thrill in sixteen feet of eye-stopping smartness—and named it the Special.

Extra special news it was— when buyers put foot to treadle on the open road, and found the Buick Special nimble, eager, steady, smooth—as no car ever was before at $765* list price at the factory.

Extra special news you'll find it, when you pile up the miles, roll the weeks into months, and see how meager are its demands for gas and oil—how stubbornly it resists the siren call of the repair shop.

It's newsworthy for style, for power, for comfort, for safety. It's a headliner for thrift, for prolonged resistance to wear, tear and abuse. It will write family history in the new sort of satisfaction it gives you and yours.

But highlight of the news is that you can buy the Buick Special for a mere two or three dollars a week more than the lowest-priced cars. The new GMAC 6% Time Payment Plan brings down the cost of buying "on time," makes payments easy, removes the last cause for waiting to "step-up" to a Buick.

We'd like to show you the phenomenal Special, let you drive it, figure out the arithmetic on it. It's worth your while just to find out how little it costs to get a car that's big in more ways than its inches! When may we see you?

IT COSTS LESS NOW TO BUY "ON TIME"

The new GMAC 6% TIME PAYMENT PLAN reduces the cost of financing a new car purchase. Use these savings to get a better car—a car that's a joy to own, a thrill to drive—a safe, smart, new Buick that packs pleasure in every mile. We'll gladly show you the exact figures and how much you save.

Screw Worm Control Plan Of U. S. Bureau Under Way In Texas

BEAUMONT, Texas, Feb. 26—Educational work, carried on in C.C.C. camps, vocational schools, and farmers' and stockmen's meetings, features the winter campaign of the Screw Worm Control and Educational program in Texas. This work is under the supervision of the U. S. Bureau of Entomology & Plant Quarantine. Lectures on the screw worm pest and measures for its control, illustrated by a specially prepared film strip, are being presented before C.C.C. camp groups and vocational agriculture classes in South Texas.

Representatives of the Bureau will be present at livestock conventions and meetings throughout Texas, to bring information to stockmen and farmers regarding most effective control measures. Visitors attending the principal stock shows to be held in the state will find screw worm control exhibits on display.

"The screw worm control office at Beaumont, Texas," according to Mr. H. M. Brandrett, state supervisor, "is anxious to enlist the aid of all farmers and livestock owners in reporting any screw worm case that occurs during the winter to this office, so that we may, if possible, visit and treat the case and secure specimens. We shall greatly appreciate any worms that might be collected from wounds and sent or brought into the office, 303 Federal Bldg. Beaumont, Texas."

Keep In Condition To Avoid Illness, Is Doctor's Advice

AUSTIN, Tex., Feb. 25—"Keep your body in good condition," advised Dr. John W. Brown, State Health Officer. While colds, influenza, and pneumonia are different conditions, all three may be brought on or made worse by lowered bodily resistance, and all three may often be prevented in the same ways.

When these communicable diseases are prevalent, avoid crowds as much as possible and plan your work and recreation so that you will not overtax your strength and get tired out. Be sure that the room where you are is always well ventilated. Drink plenty of water and don't let your system get clogged up.

Sufficient rest, cleanliness of hands, mouth and teeth, fresh air while at work and at sleep, regulation of meals and bodily functions, wholesome food and freedom from anxiety will increase bodily resistance and avoid contracting the disease.

One attack of cold or influenza does not as a rule confer immunity. Individuals have been known to have several attacks during an epidemic. Segregation of the patient is desirable to avoid giving the disease to others.

If you develop symptoms of cold or influenza, consult your physician early and follow his instructions.

MOTHER! don't experiment with your Child's Cold

Just use VICKS VAPORUB

Often, "mere colds" have serious consequences. It is dangerous to neglect a cold—equally dangerous to experiment with half-way measures.

Feel safe! Use Vicks VapoRub—the proved external method of treating colds. No risks of constant internal "dosing," which so often upsets delicate digestions and lowers resistance when most needed.

DOUBLE DIRECT ACTION

Just rubbed on at bedtime, VapoRub fights a cold direct—two ways at once—by stimulation and inhalation. This combined poultice-vapor action loosens phlegm—soothes irritated membranes—eases difficult breathing—helps break congestion. Often by morning the worst of the cold is over.
