Over the yacht's radio telephone he said he was "profoundly grate-ful to our people for the over-whelming expression of their con-

He said the election, cleanest The Philippines has ever experienced, insured "that our free instituters will survive and flourish.

He thanked Quirino for his good wishes and called on all Filipinos to work together as one people

Magsaysay bolted President Quirino's Liberal party and resigned as defense secretary eight months ago after disputing with the Chief Executive over the conduct of the government's campaign against the Communist Huk guerrillas.

Magsaysay demanded firmer action against the rebels.

In Season's Big Test Friday Night

Here are the offensive starters of the Stanton Buffaloes, who play Sundown in their Homecoming Game Friday night in Stanton. A win by the Buffs would earn them a tie for first place in the circuit. ## Will Tigers Be Tough Foe? Hark Back To 1952 Game

Local football fans may be taking it for granted that Big Spring will have an easy time of it in Snyder Friday night, at which time they can clinch a tie for the District 1-AAA title by beating the Tigers.

These facts have been reported to the team by local scouts:

Jackie Grimmett is not only one of the top ball carriers the Steers of the ordinary safety, dangerous every time he gets the ball.

Reagan White is a fine, offensive will face all season, he is also one of the best line backers.

Southwest Conference football utilits took it easier Thursday after hard workouts in perfect weather Wednesday and planned only tapering-off drills Friday. Saturday's games match Rice with Texas A&M at Houston, Baylor against University of Houston of the Missouri Valley Conference at Waco, Arkansas against South ern Methodist at Dallas, and Texas with Texas Christian at Austin.

Here's the way they looked Wednesday: Arkansas—Coach Bowden Wyatt had the Porkers running through a long scrimmage in the formation he used briefly against Rice last Saturday when the Hogs were slaughtered, 47-0. ## Dykes Is Back In Business: Oriole Boss

By HERB THOMPSON BALTIMORE UP-Genial Jimmy Dykes, who lost his job as mana-ger of the Philadelphia Athletics a week ago, was back in business today at a new stand, working for his old boss.

He became the third manager on the rising payroll of the Baltimore Orioles after Marty Marion was fired late yesterdsy with a year still to go on the $30,000-a-year contract he had with the St. Louis Browns. Marion joined former Browns Manager Rogers Hornsby on the inactive pay list,

Altogether, the Orioles will pay nearly $100,000 for the three mana-gers and get work out of only one of them. Both of the surplus con-tracts expire after next season, as well as that of Dykes, which was bought from Philadelphia. Hornsby is believed to draw around $40,000 and Dykes $30,000.

Bigger Than Partisanship Is The Necessity Of Ascertaining Truth

The tempest, touched off by Attorney General Brownell's charge that former President Harry Truman promoted a known Russian spy after receiving a FBI report, continues to seethe.

It goes without saying that this allega-Hos should, in the interest of plugging loop-holes and alerting against possible repeti-tions somewhere down the line, be therpughly aired. Beyond this, the facts in the case should be known to fix responsibility. It may be skeptical to suggest that little legal action, if any is indicated, will result. A matter of this sort is best examined from all its angles so that lessons it presents can be clearly and tadelloiy

If, according to the allegation, Mr. Truman flagrantly advanced an individual known to have possessed subversive ties, he must bear the responsibility before his-tory for dangerous laxity or naivety. If subordinates were derelict in making re-ports, they should be singled out and exposed. If the FBI was careless in its sys-tem of reporting, it should be held to tem of reporting, it should be held to account. If Harry Dexter White was a Communist agent, as seems commonly accepted in the day by day chronicle of the matter, this story ought to be unfolded in detail in the public interest.

There are and will continue to be cries of "politics" hurled from partisan sources, ane certainly it is impossible to erase the er, is the necessity for seeking out truth,

If Young Men Are Apathetic, It's No Wonder Considering Examples

ican Legionnaires, National Commander Arthur J. Connell declared that public apathy to the dangers besetting America constitutes a slap in the face of returning veterans of the Korean War.

"I should like to emphasize with all the fervency at my command that a decline in public appreciation of patriotic services has always marked the first decline of any nation," Connell said. "National ingratitude can destroy patriotism! We need to re-establish service to God and Country as the highest and noblest aspiration of the Continuing, Connell said: "Today many of our young men who are drafted for military service regard it as an uncalled for imposition. They put on their country's uniform with the feeling they are entering a service in which the people have little interest—that they are joining a 'fraternity of forgotten 'men'."

That may very well be. With mature citizens showing cold indifference to such necessary things and civil defense, with politicians quarreling among themselves and at each other, with responsible leaders of both parties jockeying for advantage in next year's congressional elections, with half the nation absorbed in pursuit of the almighty dollar, it is small wonder our young men feel disinclined to take military service without complaint. defense is for, they can be forgiven in light of a similar ignorance of the subject among nany mature citizens, not to mention some in high places of responsibility.

There is one class of young men who know what the score is. They are those who have come back from Korea. They might have been ignorant of what they were fighting for when they went in, but when they came out they knew beyond peradven-ture of doubt. They fought for survival, not merely for themselves, but for their coun try, for everything free people cherish, and they fought against a foe who knows no mercy and no discharge from war.

Internationalism Is Causing Woes In Oil Producing States

LOS ANGELES - Some of the off-producing states, such as Texas and New Mexico, have tied their educational budgmexico, have tied their educational budg-et to the production of oil. The states gen-erally receive a one-eighth royalty. If oil is plentifully produced, the schools are plentifully provisioned. The present gen-eral reduction in oil production (allow-ables, as it is called) is imperilling school udgets in those states.

The petroleum industry of Texas, for Instance, provides 37.8 per cent of the available school fund; 54.4 per cent of the foundation school fund; and 58.5 per cent of the teacher's retirement fund. Obviously, a sharp reduction of oil production can cripple these funds. The present cut-down allowables is attributed to the import of foreign oil in an over-extended world ing the war years and has never adjust-

In California, there is a shortage of off production, but there is no pipeline between California and West Texas and the diacent oil producting areas. So Texas oil is shipped from Houston, through the Panama Canal, up to Los Angeles by tanker, a distance of 8,812 miles, which makes that oil too expensive for California. A pipeline would reduce the distance to 550 miles and is a less expensive way to move this product.

Oll for the West Coast comes from the Middle and Near East, Venezuela, Sumatra, Borneo, and from Texas in tankers. A recent development, not yet completed, is to bring oil from west Canada, by pipeline, to a refinery at Bellingham, Washington. Canadian production is in an early stage and does not yet amount to much, but the Canadians are hopeful that their fields will develop enormously and will expand far beyond Canada's capacity to ne oil, thus providing that country with another export product. Canada views its exports realistically, seeking always to p a favorable trade balance.

The Texas oil men naturally raise the propagandistic argument that California mers ought to prefer Texas to Canada, if for no other reason than they happen to be Americans just as the Call-fornians are. That used to be a good argument about anything, but in these days of nternationalism, it would seem to be a liability, because it is part of the current

The Big Spring Herald

do-good policy to favor foreigners at the expense of Americans. In fact, it has often been suggested in recent years that the way to solve this paradox of importing from abroad commodities of which we have much or even too much at home is to lower the tariff, to import plentifully from abroad and to give the American producer a dole. After all, the argument runs, we give a subsidy to the farmer not to produce, why not give the American businessman a subsldy not to produce? And why not give American labor a dole if it agrees not to

Some of those who are so enthusiasness'that might become distressed because of easy imports into this country, fought bitterly against doles for other segments of the population in distress. Although mere consistency is not a virtue, the record ought to be stated.

The anti-social character of their argument should be obvious, but it is not to the internationalists who are more concerned about Jordan, Iraq, Saudi Arabia and Borneo than they are about Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Louisiana. It is a theory of self-flagellation in the economic field and produces a self-righteous glow among those enormously important businessmen whose investments are universal and whose interests know no nationality.

Also, we have learned in two wars what the submarine can do and now we need to add the efficient airplane and the atom bemb and atom guns to the submarine. Therefore it must be assumed that in time of war, our safest course is to be as self-sufficient as possible. Certainly we need not import oil. It might ed that if production is reduced the United States and is increased abroad, the amount of oil available to the United States will be greater. But how are we going to bring oil to the United States in tankers across the Pacific Ocean, to say nothing of the Atlantic? What will the emy's schnorkle submarines be doing to Internationalism can do great mischief when we move away from grandlose phrases and get down to hardpan.

Eisenhower Throws Brakes On Drive By GOP After Ex-President Trumañ

President Eisenhower threw on the brakes and they skidded.

Given a sharp nudge by Eisen-hower, Atty. Gen. Brownell-who has far more experience in politics than the President—came up with a statement saying what he had left unsaid:

That he didn't mean to suggest Truman was disloyal when he said the ex-President promoted Harry Dexter White after the FBI sent the White House notice that White was a spy for Russia.

And Eisenhower pulled the brakes on Rep. Harold Velde (R-III), chairman of the House Un-American Activities Committee who had piled up headlines with his subpoena of Truman, Supreme Court Justice Tom Clark and South Carolina Gov. James F. Byrnes.

After Eisenhower told his news conference yesterday he would not have tried to subpoena Truman, Velde and his fellow Republicans on the committee went into a huddle to check signals.

In charging last Friday that Tru-man promoted White in spite of warnings, Brownell seemed clearly to be saying Truman was lax. But was he suggesting Tru-man was deliberately lax? He didn't say, and because he

Child's Death Sparks A Drive To Have All Dogs Vaccinated

The opinions contained in this and other articles in this column are solely those of the writers who sign them. They are not to be interpreted as necessarily reflecting the opinions of The Herald.—Editor's Note.

The rables death of little Temple Lewis III in Louisville has set off a controversy over the value of rables vaccine and a drive for the inoculation of ALL dogs against the disease.

We den't need any of the controversy. but Big Spring could do with a dog vaceinsting campaign. It has been estimated that only about one-fourth of the Big Spring canines have been given rables shots, despite an ordinance requiring ev-ery dog owner to have his pot vaccinated. The Junior Chamber of Commerce is pushing the vaccination .*rive *n Louisville, which means that ray civic group should feel free to undertake such a project.

If all pets were vaccinated against rables there would be no need for the controversy which alarmed Louisville residents last week following the death of four-year-old Temple Lewis. The youngster died because he was bitten by a rabid dog. and was not given the series of rables shots to prevent his taking the disease (they didn't know the dog was rabid). But after the tragic death, several Louisville doctors said they would rather risk contracting rables than take the series of 14 injections to prevent the disease. They intimated the treatment could be worse than the disease.

However, some other physicians jumped to the defense of the inoculation series. The rables vaccine is not harmful to persons in average health, one said.

He listed three possible vaccine reactions, stressing that they are only "pos-alysis, usually temporary. 3. Rarely, brain inflammation (encephalitis) which might possibly occur about one in every 500 to 1,000 cases, but which also can be temporary. Chances for a serious reaction are about one in 3,000 and for a fatal effect, about one in 10,000, the doctors said. Even with those odds, there's some apgument against promiscuously giving the rables series to human beings, Many times, a child or some other person is bitten by a dog which gets away and nobody ever knows whether the animal was rabid or not, or whether it had ever been vaccinated against the disease. So, if all kids are to be 100 per cent safe from rables or the possibly-dangerous shots, all dogs will have to be vaccinated, In Big Spring it is estimated that from 2,000 or 4,000 canines haven't had theirs, -WAYLAND YATES

Maine Senator Inquires About Status Of Her Anti-Red Bill

WASHINGTON - In the midst of the bombardment of statements and counterstatements on the burning issue of communism in government it might be well to ask what has been done in the past year and what can be done in the future about the basic goal to which all this must be pointed if it is to be anything more than an exercise in shrill and bitterly divisive politics. That goal is, of course, the continuing improvement of security within the government.

This question was raised by Senator Margaret Chase Smith, Republican of Maine, when she was asked to comment on the charges brought by Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr., against former Prestdent Truman, Senator Smith said she was deeply shocked by the accusation that Truman had promoted Harry Dexter White after the FBI had sent a report to the White House showing him to be a Soviet spy.

But Mrs. Smith went on to wonder, with a slight note of acerbity, what had happened to a bill she had introduced early in January calling for the outlawing of the Communist Party. That measure had been introduced by the Senator from Maine after long and careful consideration of the objections frequently raised against outlawing the party.

It has been objected that this would drive the party underground. But as the mountain of evidence piled up in recent years shows, it is already largely an underground apparatus. The legal and visible party has withered away so that it is a mere shadow of what it once was. The consitutional question is also raised in that to outlaw a political party would violate a fundamental American freedom. Senator Smith concluded that this objection would not hold inasmuch as the party has been shown to be not a political party in the American sense but a spiracy directed from Moscow. What seemed to the sensible lady from Maine so paradoxical was that a Communist or a former Communist cannot serve as a clerk in government under loyalty-security regulations. But a Commu-nist can run for President of the United States. In any event she hoped that her bill would result in public hearings which would air the whole question of communism above ground and under ground. Senator Smith's bill, along with more than 30 other measures dealing with commumism were referred to the Senate Judiciary Committee and in the normal procedure the committee sent them to the Department of Justice for consideration and recommendation. In the same way bills on agriculture go to the Department of Agriculture and so on. But since the Department of Justice did not respond during the session of Congress ending in July, no action was taken or any of the measures dealing with communism. On October 12, Senator Smith's office wrote to ask the department why nothing had been forthcoming. Ten days later the reply came that the staff was working hard on the bills.

Outlawing the party may not be the answer. The objections raised by law enforcement agencies should be duly considered. But there are areas in which funther steps must obviously be taken,

One such area is shown up in the latest report of the Senate Internal Security Subs committee. This committee, of which Sens ator William Jenner of Indiana is chains man, has under the direction of chief counsel Robert Morris done the most thorough and careful documentation of many phases of the Communist conspiracy both in and out of government. The report just released deals with Communist-dominated unions and the threat they offer to see

Last spring the National Labor Relations Board again certified the American Communications Association as a bargaining agent for Western Union in the New York area. The acting chairman of the board, Ivar H. Peterson, in a letter to Jenner pointed out that under the law the board had no choice after a majority of the employes had voted for the ACA and suggested that further legislation was

Several unions dropped from the CIO for being Communist-dominated are still the duly elected bargaining agent in industries where secret defense work is going on. One such union is the United Electrical Workers. Strategic telegraph lines from the Pentagon and the Navy Communications Center pass through Western Union's New York office. This also raises a delicate and difficult problem. That is to eliminate the hold of Communist-dominated unions in certain key spots without endangering free trade unions. Senator John M. Butler, Republis can of Maryland, has a bill in Congress to permit the Subversive Activities Control Board to take jurisdiction over unions found to be subversive. Butler is chairman of a subcommittee holding hearings in Pittsburgh on this proposal. But the ler bill is so crudely drawn as to jeopardize all unions, in the view of those who have studied it. Destroying the rats without burning down the house is more difficult

Knox Preached Fiery Sermons

Some months ago I had a chat with a First prize, he was told, would dentist of Scottish descent, and he asked me which leaders of religion I had written about in my column. I mentioned perhaps He'll have to get the eggs on the a dozen, including the Buddha, Mohammed and St. Francis of Assist. Then he in-"Have you ever written about John

> "No," I replied. "I have missed him, but I think his life story would be interesting to readers. Probably I shall write about him in due course." John Knox was a Scotsman. He was far from being a "friendly, cheerful man," but he played an important part in the religious history of his native land. Only a little is known about the boyhood and young manhood of Knox. He was born in or near Haddington, a town about miles from Edinburgh, His father was a farmer, and John shared in the work of the fields. We know that he had at least two years of university education, and that he took special interest in religion. At about the age of 30, Knox described himself as "minister of the holy altar." We are told that he was then a priest at St. Andrews, a small Scottish seaport, Much trouble existed in the field of religion at that time. Protestant churches were rising in several countries, with Lousands of persons breaking away from the Roman Catholie Church.

The fever of religious revolt spread to Scotland, and among those who accepted the new doctrine was George Wishart, a friend of john Knox. Wishart was captured, condemned as a heretic, and burned at the stake.

Knox fails to tell just what led him to join the Protestant movement, but the death of his friend must have played a part. With a feeling of bitterness, he joined the Protestants openly, and preached flery sermons in favor of his beliefs.

Tomorrows Knox and a Queen,
