Cage Title At Stake In Tilt Here Tonight

Ozons And Eldorado To Battle It Out At 7 p.m.

Championship of the Ranch District basketball league for the 1941 season will be at stake here tonight when the Ozona High School Lions engage the Eldorado Eagles in the season's finale on the local gym court.

The Lions threw the district championship into a tie with the Eagles here Tuesday night when they defeated the Schleicher county crew by a count of 31 to 22.

The championship game is scheduled to start tonight at 7 o'clock. It will be the last basketball game of the season on the home court for the locals. Admission prices will be 20 and 35 cents.

George B. Armentrout looped the basket five times in the course of the evening Tuesday to emerge high score of the game and lead his team to the crucial victory. E. Spurgers of Eldorado was second with 8 points and Donald Wilson of Ozona was close behind with 7.

The local volleyball girls were also on the rampage Tuesday night, trouncing the Eldorado last.

League Ousts Big Lake From Dist. 7B Play

Team Assigned Berth In This Loop But Put In New One

Instead of the Big Lake high school's Owls moving into the district in which Ozona plays in school boy athletics, as contemplated in recent withdrawal of the school from the district to which it has been assigned for several years, and acceptance by this district for membership. Interscholastic League officials have decided that the Reagan school must move into a newly created district, No. 5, which includes part of the teams formerly composing the disrupted district.

League officials had given consent to withdrawal of Big Lake from District 7B, and the executive committee of District 8B, the number assigned last year to the district in which Ozona is located, approved entry of the school into this district. A shuffle by League officials changes the number of the Ozona district to 7B, puts Big Lake in 5B, an off-shoot from the district in which it was formerly located. The 1941 football schedule of this district had been made up by district executives to include Big Lake.

District 7B will contain the same schools as last year, including Ozona, Sonora, Junction, Rock-springs, Eldorado, Menard and Mason.

Notice of the change through which Big Lake was ousted from this district was contained in a letter from R. J. Kidd, in charge of athletics of the Interscholastic League, to C. E. Ellison, principal at Big Lake, a copy of which was received this week by C. S. Denham, superintendent here.

Services were conducted from the Church of Christ, with James D. Moss, minister, officiating. Burial followed in Cedar Hill cemetery, the Joe Oberkamp funeral directors in charge.

The surviving children are Allen McKinney, Mrs. Ernest Brownrigg, Mrs. Cally Capps, Mrs. Winston Cozby and Mrs. Ed Deland, all of Ozona, Sidney McKinney of San Angelo, Arthur and Francis McKinney of El Paso. Charge Mexican With Theft Of Wool At Mertzon

Ozona Officer Aids In Investigation; Angelo Buyer Named

Marion McBee, deputy here in charge of livestock thefts, and John Boyd, sheriff of Irion county, Friday night arrested a Mexican at Mertzon on a charge of theft of three bags of wool from the West Texas Wool and Mohair Co. warehouse at Mertzon. A San Angelo wool buyer was later arrested and charged with receiving and concealing the stolen wool.

The Mexican, Apolina Martinez, a former employe at the warehouse, confessed the theft and pointed out the buyer in San Angelo to whom he sold the stolen clips, the officers said. The three bags of wool were shorn lamb's wool. All the wool was recovered. One sack was scattered in a pasture near Mertzon, part of it was found in the creek near Mertzon, part in the Mexican's home and 211 pounds of it had been sold to the San Angelo buyer, according to the officers.

The two officers found the wool scattered in the brush in a nearby pasture and lay in wait three nights to finally arrest the Mexican in the act of gathering the wool.

Ed Baggett is in Dallas for treatment of his knee.

Willkie to Congress? . . .

The suggestion made by one of the chief Republican leaders in New York that Wendell L. Willkie be the Republican party's candidate for the Manhattan seat in Congress rendered vacant by the death of Kenneth F. Simpson. The idea behind the suggestion is not new. It was proposed, for example, that Alfred E. Smith, after his defeat for the presidency in 1928, run for the United States Senate. Later Alf M. Landon was proposed for Congress. On other occasions similar suggestions have been made. There is much to commend the idea. It not only seems, but it is, a waste of talent not to employ in our national councils men who have been supported at the polls by millions of voters. Students from abroad remark this when they study our system. Would it be too much of a come-down for a presidential candidate to take a seat in the House of Representatives? The answer is provided by the case of John Quincy Adams. Defeated in 1828 for re-election, the sixth President was elected to the House three years later from Massachusetts. There he served with ability and distinction for 17 years. Wendell Willkie was the choice of 21,000,000 Americans last November. A large portion of them, to say nothing of many who voted against him, would follow with deep interest his contribution of talent and devotion of democratic principles in our national legislative halls.—St. Louis Post Dispatch

THEN, TOO, DEMOCRACY WAS IN PERIL

Never was time more fitting that we should stop for a moment to think back upon a winter at Valley Forge . . . 160 odd years ago. Then too, democracy was in peril. Men everywhere heard the call and rallied to fight this peril. They were not afraid, for they possessed a weapon, mightier than all the Blitzkrieg forces of modern warfare; A COMMON CAUSE, A CLEAR COURSE. Today this peril shows itself again only to be once more defeated. Our cause is won, our course is to defend it; and defend it we shall, for liberty-loving men will never pause to place a value on sacrifice.

"Primer for American"

There's a new book for the women of America. It has red and white stripes close to a smart, spiral binding and a field of star-spangled blue as a background for its provocative title. In 77 fascinating pages it tells the story of the American way of life in simple, everyday language.

Just why is this country different from any other country in the world? And why is our way of life worth preserving, even if it means sacrifice? What part do we, as women, play in the scheme of things, and what would happen to us and our children if it should ever come to pass that people in this country believed that individuals exist for the sake of the state instead of the state existing for the sake of individuals?

These, and a thousand other vital, immediate questions are answered in "Primer for Americans," a book prepared by the well-known writers Omar and Ryllis Goslin and sponsored by the Women's Division of the National Association of Manufacturers.

The Primer was prepared, not because the Goslins wanted to write a book, but because they were commissioned to do so. Everywhere throughout the length and breadth of this country, were requests for new study material that would help women to understand what America means to them and to the world, and this is the answer.

Although arranged primarily for the study of women's clubs, the primer is more than just a study outline. It is fascinating reading for individuals of all ages and for men as well as women. With its many drawings, charts and quizzes, children love it. Teachers will doubtless recommend it and public speakers will find it rich in quotable material.

It is a book that not only explains our type of representative democracy but it will give any one who reads it new courage to face whatever difficulties the future may offer. It closes with a section called "The American Adventure" in which we find these challenging lines—typical of the tone of the whole book: "As the descendants of great pioneers who had the courage not only to explore and settle new land but to plant there a great new idea, we have a tremendous responsibility. At a moment in history when self government and freedom are challenged, we can demonstrate again the power and truth of the American Way. We stand at the threshold of a new era. As modern pioneers, pushing ahead on a thousand frontiers, we can achieve an ever-expanding horizon for the life and liberty of our people."

Just a Reminder . . .

During the late campaign Mr. Roosevelt made many peace pledges. We remind him of them. We remind him that he said at Hartford, Conn., on Oct. 30, these words: "I notice that for seven and a half years, nearly eight, the United States not only has remained at peace, not only has remained free from any entanglements, but the United States today is at peace and is going to remain at peace."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Girls Of Homemaking Class Culminate Child Care Study Unit With Party For Seventeen Children Of Kindergarten

Culminating a unit, "Being Satisfactory Friends of Children," girls of the Homemaking Class 1B of Ozona High School, under Miss Allena Kinney, instructor, "learned to do by doing" when they recently carried on practical work along with their study of child nature and needs by entertaining the 17 children of the kindergarten class with a play period and luncheon.

Objectives of the Homemaking class study of children had been set out by Miss Kinney as follows: 1. To develop interest in understanding children and assisting with their care and development; 2. To recognize the characteristics of a healthy child; 3. To acquire ability to make use of common materials found in the home in providing play equipment for children; 4. To gain the ability to guide children in worthwhile activities; 5. To develop judgment in the selection and use of play equipment for young children; 6. To realize the value and use of pictures, stories and music in the child's development, and 7. To recognize the effect of surroundings and associates on the child's development.

Several weeks were spent in preparation for the final phase of this study unit. The girls made children's clothes and toys, and prepared food especially for children. Toys made included stick horses which were made with broom sticks and plywood, with wool thread manes, rubber ears and real leather bridles. Other toys provided were a rocking saw, picture books, peg boards, can nests, simple jig-saw puzzles, and colored blocks.

Then came a period of excitement and anticipation at the kindergarten for the class sent invitations over to the group of seventeen five-year-olds to come to a party in the homemaking department from 11 to 1 o'clock. The children, under the guidance of their teacher, Miss Frances Sprawls, very solemnly discussed proper etiquette for young guests, and the next day went very quietly, hand-in-hand, to the party.

The first 45 minutes were spent in play with the toys made by the homemaking class. At first the children were shy, hesitating to be their natural, active selves, but curiosity gradually got the better of timidity and they had a wonderful time. The older girls had the opportunity to observe the characteristics about which they had studied. They saw at first hand that the normal child is active, noisy and curious, loving dramatic play, and had the opportunity to guide the children in use of their play equipment.

After the play period, the girls told the children stories which had been written and illustrated by members of the class, were easily understood by the youngsters, could be dramatized and were carefully worked out to come within the child's age and interest.

The visiting tots then set their own tables, which were of suitable size. The menu consisted of meat loaf, creamed potatoes, buttered spinach, carrot sandwiches shaped as rabbits which the children especially liked, cinnamon apples, animal cracker muffins and cocoa with pink marshmallows. After lunch, each child was given an animal balloon.

"The girls in that high school class have learned through practical experience enough of the needs of small children and how to care for them to make them more useful in their homes now and more perfect homemakers in the future," it was explained by Miss Kinney in pointing out the objectives of the demonstration. "The kindergarten children, too, gained much of social value by the actual practice given them of being good guests and in expressing appreciation for kindness shown them. This is the sort of integration we are constantly striving for in our modern schools."

Mr. and Mrs. Scott Peters this week moved into their recently completed new home.

Do you have to "TUCK YOUR CAR IN" at night?

Not if it's One of these Four New Additions to the BUICK SPECIAL Line that Compact Automobiles Bigness into Fewer Bumper-to-Bumper Inches

HERE of late the modern automobile has been giving a pretty good imitation of a man getting up in the morning.

It has stretched and s-t-r-e-t-c-h-e-d—until today you almost have to have a shoehorn to get a car of any size tucked away in the family garage.

We thought something ought to be done about that.

So today in Buick dealers' showrooms you'll see four new models, additions to the 1941 Buick SPECIAL line.

They are typical Buicks on every count—steady, tireless travelers with a big 115-hp. Buick FIREBALL straight-eight under their bonnets.

But by the simple step of compacting all this ability, goodness and value on a 118-inch wheelbase, we've trimmed inches off the over-all length—and dollars off the cost.

We're passing those dollar savings on to you, which makes three reasons for going to see these honeys now: You'll go for their ability—your wife will go for trim size and easy handling—and both will stand up and cheer for the easily-reachable price.

Hurst Meinecke Opens New Grocery

The Meinecke Grocery, long a name familiar in the business life of Ozona, came into being again this week with the opening of a grocery store here by Hurst Meinecke. Mr. Meinecke is a son of the late Chris Meinecke, pioneer Ozona merchant, who operated a general store here until his retirement a few years before his death. The new store is located in the smaller of the two Meinecke buildings on the east side of Powell avenue. A new stock of groceries has been installed and Mr. and Mrs. Meinecke opened for business Wednesday morning. A meat market is to be operated in connection with the grocery.

Four Ozona Recruits Sent To Fort Brown

Four young men from Ozona who are taking their year's hitch with Uncle Sam's training army, members of the contingent of volunteers who made up this county's quota under the Selective Service act for January, are stationed at Fort Brown at Brownsville are doing fine, according to a letter from one of the group received this week at the local draft board headquarters.

The communication was from Tom Adams. He and Hess Leon Manley, Hector Vargas and Albert Tijerina, all volunteers, made up the January contribution of men from this county. All like the army life, according to Adams.

Four men are to be sent from this county this month. Two already have reported. They are Andres Aguirre, Jr., and Ismael Najjar. Two others, one a replacement for a volunteer turned back in the January call, are to go next week. The first call for March, received by the local board early this week, makes no demand for men from this county.

UNUSUAL DISPLAY

The picture above is proof that weather has little bearing on the popularity of a popular drink.

In the stack of R. C. COLA and other popular NEHI drinks shown above in the J. H. WILLIAMS AND SONS grocery are 144 cartons of six bottles each—ready for the housewife who is the gracious hostess and who prepares for the unexpected guest with a carton of ROYAL CROWN always in the ice box. It's a drink that's appreciated by everybody—winter or summer.

The stock of NEHI drinks shown in the picture, taken at the J. H. WILLIAMS AND SONS store, represents the largest single order ever delivered here for cartoned drinks. A good merchant is on his toes to meet the needs of his customers and Mr. J. H. Williams, Troy and Ben Williams are making certain that NEHI drinks will always be available for their customers. And they recognize the growing popularity of these delicious drinks, hence the big order illustrated above.

DRINK WITH THE WILLIAMS BOYS

Inviting you to come "have a drink" in the above photo are Ben Williams, left, ready with order pad for anything else you might need. And to the right is Troy Williams relaxing with a bottle of ROYAL CROWN COLA. In the background are the men who see to it that your merchants are supplied with plenty of these delightful drinks—S. P. Snow, A-1 sales and service man, on the left, the man who delivers the goods; and right, Arnold Farrington, field supervisor for this territory who calls periodically on your merchants.

Formal Opening Of West Texas Woolen Mills At Eldorado To Be Celebrated Feb. 27; Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel To Speak

All-Day Celebration Marks Opening Of New Industry

ELDORADO, Texas, Feb. 19—Marking the realization of a new industry for West Texas — the manufacture of woolen products from Texas-grown virgin wool, an elaborate program is being worked out for the formal opening of West Texas Woolen Mills at Eldorado, Thursday, February 27. The Eldorado Lions Club, the Ladies' Auxiliary of Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association and other civic clubs are sponsoring the event that will attract thousands of people from all parts of the state to this West Texas town.

Governor W. Lee O'Daniel has been invited to be principal speaker on the program and formally dedicate the new institution.

Held in connection with Eldorado's annual livestock show, formal dedication of the mill will highlight a full day of entertainment that will include music, a free barbecue lunch, horse show, parade, livestock exhibition and inspection of the mill.

Housed in a building of native stone, located on Main street in Eldorado, the new woolen manufacturing plant is now in operation weaving blanket material, yarns and batting that will be displayed on the opening day. Two of the first blankets made on an initial run of the machinery in November will be presented to the Governor and sent to President Roosevelt.

The day's program will be started with a horse parade, including some of the finest horses in West

TO DOG POISONERS
by ArmentROUT

What is man's best friend? This is a question which has been disputed ever since man could reason things out. I suppose. But the majority of the animal lovers will agree that a dog is the man's best friend.

A dog to a boy is a toy-machine; a dog to a woman is protection and guidance; but a dog to a man is a thing to be loved with the love only equalled by the love of two young people.

I had a dog not very long ago, alone. One morning this innocent dog was found laying on the ground, struggling for dear life. This dog had been poisoned!

I tried to relieve the intense pain by feeding the poisoned dog salt, but to no avail. The dog, with a gleam of misunderstanding and of fear in his eyes, died in my sight. I wonder if the person who poison innocent animals have seen one of their victims struggle for life-a-losing battle? I wish that the "originators of death" to dogs could see a pitiful sight like that I have just described.

A person of this sort is a coward to do so selfish a deed. What is the difference in killing a man or in killing a dog? There is not a bit of difference in my eyes in the two murders. I believe serenely that a person low enough to kill dog, no matter how, is a person who would commit cold-blooded murder if he thought that he could "get by with it."

I wonder just how far the poisoner of dogs will get in the world to come? —O-H-S—

Editor's Musings

By ADELE KEETON

When we think of sportsmanship, we usually think about being a good or bad loser at a game of sports. This time I am writing about a game of life. During life there are many things that confront us which are not agreeable. There are few people who can bear them with a smile. Some people can bear the trivial things of life, but when it comes to the harder things they are ready to cease living. Likewise, there are people who like to tease others, but can not stand to be teased themselves. I have seen people who seem to exist by teasing others; yet, when they are teased, they wear long faces, are very disagreeable for a week or so or may never recover entirely. A person such as this is very hard to live around. Although we all have a tendency to try to overcome it, and leave a streak of sunshine everywhere we go, by looking for the brighter side of life. Everyone likes a good sport, but a poor sport has few friends.

I suppose that some of you, upon reading this, think that I am going to say something bad about the teachers, but that is the least of my thoughts. From corresponding with students of other schools, I realize that it would be very hard to have a better set of teachers. Our teachers are not only thorough with their teaching, but they are very good to the students. Of course, they give us detention every now and then, but I wonder if we are ever given more than we deserve. Some times they may not give us quite as good grades as we think we should have had, but when we check up on ourselves, we usually find that we receive just what we make or more. Some of us seem to have a hard time "keeping on the good side" of the teachers. I think that if we should try hard to make the teacher like us; they would try harder to make us like them.

The Ozona Lions defeated Rock-springs in Rocksprings Tuesday by a score of 22-18. The Rock-springs' Angoras then journeyed to Ozona for a return match with the locals. The Lions defeated them, however, for a second time with a score of 21-16.

Lemmons, Ozona regular guard, chipped a bone in his right leg in the second Rocksprings - Ozona game. He did not participate in the Junction-Ozona tilt. He will not be able to participate in the Ft. Stockton district, it is believed. Colquitt has been ill with a bad cold for some time, but it is believed that he will be able to go to the district meet in Ft. Stockton, February 21 and 22.

Eldorado and Ozona are now tied for first place in the All-Ranch Country League, Ozona having won four and having lost one, and Eldorado having won four and having lost one.

Ozona will journey to Eldorado Monday, February 16, and Eldorado will return the game the following night.

The winner of both games will be champion of the All Ranch Country League. Ozona has been winner of this round-robin for the past four years. Ozona has beaten Sonora once and lost to Sonora once. Rocksprings has lost two to Ozona; Ozona took two from Junction. One of the conference games however, Sonora bowled the Lions over one time. The Lions and the Eldorado's Eagles have not battled each other this year.

In Memoriam of Ring

Pal and Dog of Eddy Cooke
Born Aug. 1939—Died Feb. 1941

He was the color of white and black
All over town he left his big track;
He barked at cars and chased the cats,
And chewed up rugs and entry mats.
He pulled the washing off the line
And dodged just in the nick of time;
And every greasy rag or bone
That he could find he'd bring it home.
On muddy days he tracked the floor,
And scratched on the kitchen door
Until someone let him in, and then
He whined to get outdoors again
He dug in every flower bed,
And yet when all was done and said,
He was something money could not buy;
He was MY DOG! And that is why!

Seniors Begin To Work on Original Poems

The Seniors are "poets, although the world doesn't know it, their feet show it; they're big fellows." If you catch on, it's a very funny quotation. But, laying all jokes aside, the seniors are really serious. They have set out to get a little practice as poets.

Each poem is to be original, and is to be written to fit the author's personality. It may be simple and humorous, serious and sweet, or delicate and beautiful. The poems are to be turned in by March 15. The best ones will be put in the paper on March 21, to be dedicated to spring.

When Miss Terry made the assignment, she specified sonnets, but later felt as if she had been too hard on the poor seniors and gave them a wider range.

A very distinguished senior, Sir Bobby Lemmons, revealed today, his plan to let his teacher inspire him in his poem. "Boy, is it a honey?" says Bobby. Bobby has not yet finished his poem, and maybe he hasn't yet started on it; how do we know?

The Prowler

By Gem Ella Dudley

When one goes to a show alone, it isn't as interesting as when one goes with a date, is it Harold and Priss?

Nita, don't tell me you received three boxes of candy on Valentine! Oh well, it was also your birthday, so that accounts for it, doesn't it?

A guy must really think a lot of a gal to "foul off" purposely in a game just to sit by her—Isn't that so—Faye?

Eddy, why did you and Barrel decide to visit an old friend who ever served you coffee and cake Friday night? It couldn't be because one of you was "stook up," and the other "stood up" could it?

Incidentally four Sophs had quite a time this week-end in Junction. By the way, just how is Junction, girls?

Speaking of Junction, there's some nice looking "guys" that live there, especially one, eh, Norma?

Valentine Day was quite a day for some people. Not only did the elder Miss Bean receive a huge box of candy, but also a telephone call. Nice going "Giving," but what would Rocksprings think?

When it comes to the girls yelling for the entire team at a basketball game, everyone makes quite a bit of noise, but when it comes to yelling for Georgie, Mary E. can be heard above everyone!

Rozzie, everyone was wondering whether it was Herndon or this twin brother you were with Sunday. Won't tell us, just which was it?

The Coach's daughter was pulling everyone's hair, in Junction, but it took her mother to make her turn loose of Flossie's. Well, maybe she was just particularly fond of blond hair, Flossie.

Priss had quite a time trying to take pictures of Donald, Billy, George, Mustard and Roy during a quarter of the game Saturday. What's the matter, Priss, wouldn't they look at the "birdie"?

Ginny, when Martin announced in the middle of the show Sunday, "That is the place you came in, Ginny, what did you do—?"

After playing Saturday, Helen closed the day by going to the show alone. What's the matter, Hon, did "they" all have the flu?

The Mexican dance practically turned into the dance otherwise. All of the O. H. S. kids were there in full swing.

Ethel, you seem to do O. K. for yourself. Letters from Austin, Arlington and California. How do you do it, keep?

After all, you were sick in bed, weren't you, Boochie? And you couldn't do eight things at once. Oh well, Shorty was sick too!!! —Donald, why don't you start a class and teach us to whistle? It might come in mighty handy, you know.

Stanley, I must admit you make a pretty good chauffeur. At least you can go over forty-five miles an hour and with ease.

Junction boys are very nice, but so FRICKLE, eh, girls?

J. K. Colquitt Is Making Good As A. & M. Freshman

J. K. Colquitt, star of many Ozona football games, is now a Freshman at Texas A. and M. He is taking for two years an Arts and Science course; this course includes, history, biology, algebra, Spanish and P. E., Military Science and a Major in Business Administration. J. K. reports that he is doing well in his school work. He stays at Co. B. Dom. No. 9.

Initiation is hard on the freshman boys at A. and M. because it is for freshmen only. They must keep upperclassmen's rooms, besides their own, and must do about 300 knee bends every morning. This is part of the hazing.

Freshmen boys cannot leave the campus without permission or having a senior accompany them.

After studying Military Science for two years, J. K. hopes to become a reserve officer in the U. S. Army.

J. K. has many friends in Ozona who wish for him every success in his chosen line of work.

His personality and good training should be great factors toward his final attainment.

Picture Fools Teachers, Students

Several days ago, a picture in study hall greatly aggravated the teachers. It seems that the students were fascinated by the picture at which they stared curiously. The truth is that the teachers were fascinated too.

The picture, at a distance, appeared to be the ordinary drawing of a skull with neck bones and hollow eyes staring vacantly. However, at a closer view, the etching turned into a beautiful, old-fashioned lady, admiring herself in the mirror. This picture was entitled "All is Vanity." Mrs. Alice Baker is the one to thank for this odd bit of art. (She is probably frightened by it in her own home.)

Ozona Scouts Present Program

The Boy Scouts of Ozona presented the assembly program sponsored by Mr. Caruthers, Thursday, February 13, in the high school auditorium.

The curtain rose, exposing the American flag and a loud speaker, from which Mr. Caruthers, scout master, announced the program. Mary Elizabeth Gray sang, "God Bless America."

Twelve Boy Scouts gave the scout laws. L. B. Cox read the duties of a Second Class Scout. Charles McDonald and Leslie Nance demonstrated artificial respiration on Tom Ed Montgomery.

Eddy Cooke read the duties of a First Class Scout. Bobby Lemmons then demonstrated the scout signals with flags.

Stanley Lemmons gave the duties of the Star, Life, and Eagle Scouts. Bobby Lemmons demonstrated a chemical trick. The curtain rose for a final number on twenty-four scouts, four of whom held placards entitled, Faith in God, Faith in Man, Faith in America. The beliefs and recognitions of the Boy Scouts came effectively over the loud speaker.

Taps, played by Bill Carson, closed the program.

Seniors Set Date Of Commencement

Last week Mr. C. S. Denham, superintendent of Ozona High School, took time off in senior English class to ask about the commencement program. He mentioned before having the commencement program out side as a pageant, including the seventh graders. The seniors were allowed to voice their wishes before final plans were made. They chose to have the senior commencement inside as usual.

Mr. Denham and Jean have slips in the office to be filled out indicating how many gowns will be needed, and how many invitations will be sent out.

School Grades Celebrate Valentine In Real Style

All the grade school rooms, from the 7th down to the 1st were decorated gaily with pretty lace valentines, bright crepe paper, and pictures of all sorts last February 14.

The first grade had a red valentine box at the center of the front of their room. They had a Valentine party to which they invited their mothers and for which they had made invitations a few days before.

The second grade, studying the post office, received their valentines from the post office. This mail was delivered by several postmen on Friday afternoon at a party.

The 3rd grade also had a party with a valentine box for each row.

The 4th grade room was one of the most gaily decorated rooms in school. They had made a Swiss unit that pictured the Alps, goats grazing on the mountain side, little log houses, a Swiss village and other things typical of Swiss life. They had also sketched Swiss boys and girls. The boards were lined with valentines that class members had made. At the front of the room was a large heart-shaped valentine box, in which were deposited valentines to be delivered on Friday afternoon at the valentine party.

The 6th grade also had an attractive valentine box, with their party being held at 3:00 o'clock Friday afternoon.

The 5th grade had cut out Valentine patterns of all shapes. These lined the front of the room. A valentine box shaped as an airplane in the room was one of the most original ideas for Valentine boxes in both grade school and Junior high.

The 7th grade had another very unique idea for depositing the valentines. Cupid stood by their valentine box to show where the valentines were to be put. Ice-cream heart and French pastry served as the 7th graders refreshments.

There was also a box in the hall of the upstairs where other Valentines might be placed. It is an unhappy thing that Valentine might come but once a year. Few other days are looked forward to by the people not yet in high school with such happy anticipation as is Valentine Day. And who knows, maybe the high school students don't consider it so "babyfied" as we are sometimes led to believe. After all, receiving candy in pretty boxes is not at all a disgrace.

the Defendants the above described lands because they have had and held continuous and peaceable and adverse possession to all of the above described land, under claim of right in good faith, under Deeds purporting to convey said lands, which Deeds have been duly recorded in the Deed Records of Crockett County, Texas, having claim of title and possession thereof for more than twenty-five years prior to the 1st day of December, 1940, and prior to the commencement of this suit.

Judgment of the Court that the Defendants and each of them be cited to appear and answer this Petition, and that Plaintiffs have

Voters Determine--

the question of approval of the creation of the district resulted in a vote favoring such creation.

Inclusion of the sewer system in the proposed plan brought objections from the citizenship in the form of a petition to the Commissioners Court, signed by more than 200 voters, asking that body to withdraw its option for purchase of the sewer system and to continue its operation as at present. The court took the requested action and the plan proceeded with the objective of purchase of the water works system only.

The plan as submitted by engineers and the bond firm of McRoberts - Thomas Co. San Antonio, holders of the option for purchase of the water works system, contemplates purchase of the properties of the water works from the present owners at a price of $50,000. An additional $25,000 is to be expended at once for improvement and extension of the water pumping and distribution system, including a new well, new pumps and power equipment and distribution mains.

Affairs of the Water Control and Improvement District are to be directed by a board composed of J. W. North, J. D. Kirby, Boyd Clayton, Pleas Childress and Hillery Phillips. J. W. North has been elected president of the board and J. D. Kirby, secretary.
