Deadline For New 1939 Auto License Plates Week Away

With one week left in which to secure new 1939 license plates for motor vehicles, a hurry-up call went out from the office of Sheriff W. S. Willis, registration headquarters.

As the deadline for new plates draws near, business is picking up in the registration offices, according to reports. Registrations to date total 198 passenger plates, 60 farm trucks, 27 commercial trucks and five trailers, according to figures compiled by Claude Russell, deputy. Based on past year registrations, this leaves approximately 500 more plates to be issued in the coming week.

New license plates must be on all cars by April 1, the sheriff has announced.

Showers Greet Opening Day Of Spring In Area

Light Fall Of Moisture, Cloudy Weather Hold Promise

Spring arrived in West Texas to the accompaniment of showers throughout the area early this week, and continued unsettled weather still leaves the section hopeful of more of the much needed moisture before the week is out.

Following a day of blustery winds, the clouds gathered to bring light showers over a wide area, which, although insufficient to promote any appreciable growth in now greening grass and weeds, did serve to freshen up the growth somewhat.

The Del Rio section is reported to have received nearly a half inch of moisture, while good showers were reported in parts of the Fort Stockton country and to the north of Ozona. The fall here was a little less than a tenth of an inch.

NATURAL GAS SURVEY GETS UNDER WAY

Mailing Cards To Be Distributed To Speed Canvass

INTEREST SOUGHT

Fate Of Project Depends On Interest Of Citizens

Having virtually completed a successful survey of the business district of Ozona the first of the week, F. A. Hornaday, Jr., of San Antonio, representing the Rio Gas and Power Co., which proposes to bring natural gas to Ozona users from the Schleicher County sweet gas fields, plans to extend the survey to the residential section of Ozona commencing Friday of this week.

Mr. Hornaday left this morning for Eldorado, where his company is engaged in the installation of a gas distribution system from the same source of supply. Meanwhile, forms are being prepared for a survey of potential users among residents of Ozona. Present plans call for distribution to the residences of postal cards upon which survey blanks are printed. These cards seek information concerning the purposes for which gas is to be used, whether the signer is a home owner or renter and providing space for signature denoting interest of the resident in use of natural gas provided distribution is realized and provided further that the rates are such that the user can effect a saving and the service and operation of the plant are satisfactory.

Must Be Satisfactory

No obligation is incurred by those who sign the survey cards, it is pointed out, further than to indicate an interest in using gas should it be made available at an economical price. The company is merely seeking an estimate of the number of potential users, to determine whether or not the possible business here will justify the expenditure of the sum necessary to bring the gas the 40-mile distance from the Schleicher county field. Were gas available near the city, thus reducing the pipeline cost, no such survey would be necessary prior to beginning construction.

ONE THING and THEN ANOTHER

By FRED GIPSON

CORPUS CHRISTI.—When I was a patch-seated kid, Charlie used to come to our house.

Charlie lived with four hound dogs over on Wolf branch. He had a chicken-coop shack there under the elms and pecans. It sat so low down in the creek bottom that sometimes Charlie had to move out for an hour or two while the flood waters of Wolf branch moved in. But that wasn't so often.

Charlie kept chickens and ducks and lots of times a pet raccoon or two. And the squirrels that lived in the hollows of the same trees his chickens roosted in always had the run of his shack.

I was always glad when Charlie came by our house. But Mama wasn't. In the first place, Charlie's hounds always preceded Charlie's coming by anywhere from five to ten minutes. And one would make directly for the slop bucket and run his head in it. And another would make the rounds of all Mama's chicken-feeding troughs and clean up any sour milk or old bread that she might have put out. And the third was an egg-sucker and he knew where all the hens nested. And the fourth always made for the kitchen, hoping there'd be a pan of cornbread or something set out to cool.

It used to embarrass me terribly when Mama would fly into that bunch of hounds with sticks of stove wood.

Mama didn't like Charlie's state of bachelorhood and his precarious methods of making a living.

Mama would say: "Do you want to grow up and just live wild, with a bunch of old pesky hounds always underfoot and never do anything but rove around in the woods?"

And I would say: "No'm, I guess not."

But I was lying. The truth of the matter was that I could think of no more idyllic way of living out the rest of my days than in the woods, where there was no cotton patches to hoe in and no (Continued on Page Four)

MAYBE IT ISN'T FUNNY

The action of the American Federation of Actors, an American Federation of Labor affiliate, in imposing a strict rule against jokes, gibes and "gags" that might tend to belittle those who make their living from the WPA, raises the knotty old problem, "what is humor anyway?" This question has fascinated many thinkers, from the Greeks on down to our own Max Eastman, and some of them have written laborious tomes about it which usually left the question about as much up in the air as it was at the beginning. Is it funny when one man throws a pie at another? Is pain funny? Is the father of a new-born infant a comic character? Are mothers-in-law funny? Is embarrassment, or grotesquerie, the essence of humor? Is the sight of WPA workers dawdling over their chores, or resting on their spades, essentially funny? Come to think of it, maybe it isn't. However, if the theory is correct that pain and frustration form the backbone of humor, then the real comic figure in this country is not the WPA worker. Not by a long shot. He is, rather, that old darling of the cartoonists, that baffled and beaten down little man, eternally striving and forever being rooked by forces against which he is powerless. We refer, of course, to that lovable, impotent creature of endless jest and jollity, the taxpayer. — New York Herald-Tribune.

HOW TO HELP RECOVERY

A banner with a strange device has appeared in the office of Secretary Morgenthau of the Treasury. News dispatches describe it as a placard wherein is emblazoned the legend: "Does It Contribute to Recovery?" The Secretary explains it as a warning to callers not to bother him unless their conversation is calculated to exert a stimulative effect upon industry. For some reason it sounds suspiciously like a confession of ignorance. Is Secretary Morgenthau at the point of admitting that he and fellow-New Dealers really haven't the faintest idea how to help business? Then what was Brother Hopkins sounding off about at Des Moines? Nevertheless, this is a fine slogan, and we are in favor of it. It is the question that New Dealers ought to have been asking themselves years ago. "Does it contribute to recovery?" Why, that is the very question that should have been raised in connection with the Wagner Act, the wage-hour bill, the Social Security plan, the effort to pack the court and to pass a "dictator bill" under the guise of departmental reorganization! It is the question that should have been asked before pump-priming began, before TVA was set up, before AAA was established, and before the myriad of crippling handicaps in the forms of excessive taxation and regulation were imposed upon the forces of free enterprise and initiative. Yes, indeed, a fine question! Very much to the point! Only let's not confine it to future suggestions. Let's make it general. That's the way to restore business confidence, in case any of Mr. Morgenthau's callers should be asked.—Chicago Daily News.

THE SOONER THE BETTER

STRAWS IN THE WIND

Propaganda Minister Goebbels, speaking at the opening of the Leipzig Fair, referred to "carping critics" within the Reich. This is his first admission that all is not serene. He frankly stated there is a shortage of foodstuffs and raw materials in the country and with rare condescension appealed to the British to assist Germany in equalizing the distribution of essential commodities. In short, he voiced the fear that in a trade war, such as England is prepared to launch as its most potent answer to Hitler's military arrogance, Germany cannot hope to win and in chastened spirit suggested an appeasement. To say the least, this is an unusual attitude.

FOR 2-CENT POSTAGE

Numerous organizations of businessmen are urging the restoration of the two-cent postage as a stimulus to trade. These merchants and businessmen generally point out the fact that the post-office department is not expected to be a money-making institution. They, however, overlook the fact that the New Deal is reaching out in any and all directions to "make money"—that it is actually taking the money paid in by workmen and their employers to the Social Security Bureau, and using it for building dams and power houses, the latter to make and sell electric current to persons who would otherwise buy power from private corporations, etc. The government is saying, of course, that the money thus collected from the social security taxpayers is only borrowed—but everybody knows that if or when it is needed the government would have to borrow it again—and the taxpayers would have to pay it in again. Fifty per cent addition to the postage bill to any business concern is something discouraging, and Congress should see its way clear to reduce the letter-postage rate to the figure it held for many years—a rate comparable to the English rate, although that is called penny postage. Limitation of the amount of free mail to actual necessities would reduce the expense of operating the postoffice department. RANCH TALK

By SUNSHINE MATTHEWS

From Headquarters of

Texas Sheep & Goat Raisers' Association

Particular attention was paid to body conformation and to the length of the staple when W. L. Stangel, head of Texas Technological college's animal husbandry department, bought two rams at the recent San Angelo stock show. He was assisted in the selection of the animals by Vestal Askew of Del Rio, senior animal husbandry student.

Chosen were yearling rams from the flocks of J. W. Owens, Son of Ozona and John Williams of Eldorado. According to Mr. Stangel, the rams were chosen with a view to improving type and increasing the staple of the wool while retaining the present quality of the flock.

The ram from Owen's flock was following Stangel's description, wide, deep, compact, low, "C" type lambouillet with very fine fleece with plenty of density and a fair staple. Williams' ram was larger, although the same age, longer in body, higher off the ground yet quite wide and deep in body, possessing very fine fleece with considerable staple. The Tech man says they will use the Williams ram on the shorter-stapled ewes and the Owens ram will be put on the ewes with good staple but without the desired body conformation.

The South Plains Junior Livestock Show is scheduled for April 4 and 5. The regional 4-H and FFA show will include exhibits of calves, lambs, and pigs. W. L. Stangel, head of Tech's animal husbandry department, will judge calves. Fred Hale of College Station will judge pigs, and R. C. Malary, also of Tech, will judge the lamb division.

Mrs. Bob Mason of Throckmorton, registered Hereford breeder, has sold T. W. Worley of Rockdale six yearling heifers of Anxiety 4th and Prince Domino breeding. A pair of two-year-old bulls of the same breeding went to the Pitchfork ranch at Spur and 12 bulls to Ross Sloan of Breckenridge. Prices, she said, were "very satisfactory."

Hearing was resumed Tuesday by the House State Affairs committee on a bill sponsored by Rep. Curry of Fort Worth to consolidate a dozen state boards, commissions and bureaus. G. W. Cunningham, secretary of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' association, and a representative for the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers' association appeared before the committee, interested because the measure seeks to merge the Livestock Sanitary commission with the proposed department.

E. S. Curry and his heirs of Ahilene received $100,000 in cash from John M. Winterbotham, Jr., of Galveston for 7,680 acres of land making up the Sheen ranch west of San Angelo in Tom Green and Irion counties. Mr. Winterbotham owns the Dove Creek ranch, 10,000 acres leased by Will Rawls, and bought the Sheen place for his wife, Lillian Seeligson Winterbotham. Oscar Atkinson has the place leased and the new owners will get possession in two years. Arthur Mann of the Mann Commission Co. handled the transaction. The Galveston buyer is well known throughout the ranch country where he has loaned large sums of money to ranch and business leaders.

Burts Johnson of Brady sold 18 registered bulls during the Fort Worth stock show to Mrs. Mary E. Martin of Aspermont at $350 a head and five bulls to Mrs. Mary E. Mitchell of Sanderson at $250 a head.

With the approach of spring and the shearing season the wool buyers are beginning to congregate in San Angelo again. Lobby conferences have already started at the Hotel Cactus, with the latter additions including Jeff Solis with Wright Brothers and Henry Maginot with Blanke and Kendall. Tom Parker, Emory & Conant buyer, is expected in San Angelo this week.

There are several stories wound around the picture over the fireplace at the G. H. Jones ranch home at Maryneal. The central picture is that of Mr. Jones' father. Above that is a pair of six-foot longhorns, while a flintlock rifle and an ancient pair of flintlock pistols are at the bottom and either side.

Tad Moses' Cattleman will have in the April or May issue a history of Texas sheep, written by Col. Wentworth of Armour & Co. The colonel gathered a good deal of material for his story during the National Wool Growers' convention in San Angelo in January.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Reynolds of Chihuahua were in Fort Worth this past week for the stock show. Mr. Reynolds purchased three registered Hereford bulls from I. B. Cauble of Big Spring and a yearling bull from Carl B. King of Dallas. He bought a trailer in Fort Worth to provide transportation for the stock back to the ranch in Old Mexico.

The Reynolds Brothers ranch runs about 5,000 young Rambouillet-Delaine ewes and the 1939 wool has been contracted to a Mexican buyer at 15 cents a pound.

Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page (left), runnerup last year, and Patty Berg, youthful national women's golf champion, will renew their rivalry Monday in the 37th annual north and south championship tourney at Pinehurst, N. ciation at the National Stock Yards in Illinois, is in Texas for the first time in about six years. Mr. White, who was on the Fort Worth yards from 1914 to 1918 with the G. R. Barse Commission Co., was the first sheepman employed by the Producers and, in point of years with the firm, is one of their oldest employees. The oldest employee, also in point of years with the firm, is E. R. Divine, cattle buyer, who was also in Fort Worth during the stock show. Mr. White, who paid his dues as an associate member of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association while in Fort Worth, plans to take a trip around the sheep country before returning to Illinois.

Dwight Reordan, head of the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank at Houston, was returned to the Memorial hospital there the last of the week for treatment. Mr. Reordan underwent an appendectomy early in the month.

Coon & Culbertson, Dalhart Hereford breeders, purchased Jayhawker Domino, one of the last sons of Prince Domino Mixer and a prize winner at the Fort Worth stock show, from the Jenny Wren Farm at Lawrence, Kans., the last of the week at $2,500. Sire of the bull stood second in the register of merit classification (based on the winning at the major shows of the get of bulls). The Dalhart breeders sold a carload of bulls, senior yearlings that won first at Amarillo and third at Fort Worth, to the Morris Cattle Co. at Coleman for $200 around. The bulls, 20 head, were of Prince Domino and Beau Aster breeding.

H. H. Wilkinson of the Continental National bank at Fort Worth has purchased an 800-acre tract adjoining the Silver Creek Farms near Fort Worth and has moved his registered Herefords there from Big Spring. He plans to leave his grade cattle at the Howard County ranch.

Matched ropings scheduled to be held at Pecos Sunday, March 26, include the following: Arthur Mays, Carlsbad, N. M., against Jim Cooksey of Orla, answering Cooksey's challenge to any man 55 years or older; Charlie Norton, Sierra Blanca, and Curtis McElroy, Pecos; Jim Espy, Fort Davis, and Norton; Clay Espy, Fort Davis, and McElroy; Sheriffs Howell Gage, Carlsbad, vs. Louis Roberson, Pecos; Reeder Webb, Odessa, vs. Hardin Ross, Menrone, and Ellis Summers, Kermit, vs. Albert Anderson, Van Horn.

Help Bring Natural Gas To Ozona...

REALIZING THE BENEFITS that would accrue to the town of Ozona through success of the project to bring natural gas to Ozona, I am taking this means of urging all my friends to cooperate with the Messrs Hornaday in the present survey of potential natural gas users in Ozona.

ALTHOUGH I AM IN the Gas Business, supplying Butane Gas to local town and ranch homes, I feel that the bringing of natural gas to Ozona would be a benefit to the people generally and to me as well. We are in the gas appliance business and will handle complete line of appliances, both for butane and natural gas should this project be realized. But foremost is realization that such an improvement would benefit the entire town and I AM FOR ANYTHING THAT WILL BENEFIT OZONA.

SIGN SURVEY CARDS

INTEREST SHOWN BY OZONANS, as I understand it, will determine whether or not a gas system is to be established here. This interest is to be shown by the number of signers of survey cards to be distributed, and Ozona should be 100 per cent for it.

THIS MESSAGE IS GIVEN in the spirit of progress for Ozona, and to assure my friends that I am FOR this improvement.

"WE"

We use the word in much the same sense as Charles Lindbergh, in referring to our bank. By it, "we" mean all of our officers, directors, stockholders, employees, facilities—and even our traditions and experience.

It takes many elements to make a good bank. We believe "we" have all of them. You are cordially invited to visit us and learn how we can be helpful to you.

Fred Gipson—

Charlie was ragged most of the time and he hobbled around in old cast-off shoes and the skunk smell that he acquired during the winter trapping season never quite got out of his clothes all summer long. But he was my kind of a man. He could tear off a bit of green leaf and put it in his mouth and blow on it and call up a fat turkey at gobbling time. And he knew where the wild bees watered and how to course them back to their store of honey. And he could imitate a love-sick hen quail until half the rooster quails in the country would soon be whistling and strutting and dragging their wings all about us.

But Mama said Charlie was shiftless and wouldn't work. She wanted me to be like a certain banker who owned the finest home in town. The banker was a "respectable citizen!" He helped build the town.

I didn't want to build a town. And though I did sometimes think it would be mighty nice to have a whole building full of gold and silver money, I knew Charlie didn't approve of the banker. He wouldn't even sell that pompous person a hound pup. I saw the banker try to buy one from Charlie.

He drove out to Charlie's shack one day when I was there and tried to buy a pup for one of the brothers of his club, who'd lately taken a fancy to fox-hunting. They were pretty pups, blue and white spotted, and I wanted one myself, only Mama wouldn't let me have it.

But Charlie wouldn't sell. The banker offered him $2, then $5, then $10, a terrible lot of money, I thought. But Charlie just stood around, fingering a rent in the seat of his pants and reckoned he didn't "figure on selling none of them pups. Figure to make coon dogs out of 'em. Old dogs getting old and cranky, like people git. Ain't fit to take in the woods no more."

Next week Charlie gave the hound pup the banker wanted to Horsely Sanders, a country kid who wanted a pup but couldn't pay for one. Horsely and I trained him with Charlie's old hounds that weren't "fit to take in the woods no more." A year later an old range hound down in the brush thickets on Comanche creek opened a slit in the dog's belly a foot long with one slash of a white tusk.

Horsely and I cried some that night. Charlie was along and shot the dog to put him out of his misery and tried to comfort us by claiming nothing but a fool hound would try to tie into an old boar like that. He claimed he'd give us another pup as soon as his old bitch littered again.

But Horsely's folks rented a farm in another county that fall and Horsely moved off and we never did have a dog together again.

Charlie's dead now and his chicken-coop shack's been rotted down for years. But sometimes on misty nights, when the moon's shining dimly through the clouds and mist, and I hear the long lonesome baying of a hound drifting across the ridges, I like to think that following that hound is old Charlie, hobbling along in misfit shoes, but at that, covering more ground than many a man can with a good horse between his legs.

Sometimes I wish Mama would have let me grow up to live like Charlie.

Johnson's DEPARTMENT STORE

Behind The Scenes In American Business

By John Craddock

NEW YORK, Mar. 20.—BUSINESS—Chief immediate effect in the United States of Hitler's Czechoslovakian grab last week, the business community agrees, will be on importers and to a limited extent on retail prices. With Czechoslovakia the U. S. has a reciprocal trade agreement providing for tariff reduction principally on glassware, cotton gloves, hosiery, beads and crockery shipped here. Similar favorable tariff treatment on such products is extended to other countries that have signed trade agreements with the U. S., but not to Germany, which is on the "black-list."

For example, perfume bottles ordered from France or Belgium enjoy the 50 per cent duty reduction allowed similar glassware from Czechoslovakia under the treaty. Once that treaty is officially dropped, a corresponding increase in tariff rates on such goods from other countries will go into force automatically. Thus retail prices in turn may be upped on these products to the extent of the tariff increases.

WASHINGTON.—With courts and state legislatures in recent weeks taking action in behalf of consumers on many fronts, Washington observers are taking note of the increasing influence of consumers in political thinking. Last week in Georgia, once considered a stronghold of anti-chain sentiment, the state senate by a vote of 30 to 15 killed a proposal to boost drastically the present tax levy on chain stores there. From Massachusetts came word that the legislature said "no" to a bill designed to put self-service markets out of business.

There was news that legislatures in nine other states—Arizona, Arkansas, Indiana, New Mexico, North Dakota, Tennessee, Utah, Washington and West Virginia—had adjourned without passing proposed levies against retail outlets which would have increased living costs. Michigan and Texas legislatures now have before them bills seeking repeal of chain store tax laws. These developments followed closely the ruling by a Pennsylvania court declaring that state's chain store tax law, on the statute books since 1937, unconstitutional, and the New Jersey Supreme Court decision invalidating prohibitive license fees placed on self-service markets by municipalities of that state.

THINGS TO WATCH FOR—Cotton fabric covering for meat to preserve freshness and flavor; may mean use of 20,000,000 more yards of fabric annually. License plates free with the purchase of a used car, a sales experiment being tried by some dealers. Sliced bananas in cans. Convertible coupe with automatic top which can be raised or lowered by a turn of a switch on the dashboard. An "air-conditioned" mattress; by means of a thermostatic adjustment, air of any desired temperature may be blown gently and silently through the top of the inner-spring mattress to comfort the sleeper. A completely portable pressure lubrication gun for automotive and industrial greasing; storage battery and charger are built in and the motor delivers full, controlled pressure up to 1,200 pounds right to the gun nozzle; since there are no cords, hose attachments or wall fixtures, there is no limit to the radius of operation.

RETAIL IDEAS—Jewelers are pushing a new idea in personalized watches, with the buyers' initials on the face, the first initial taking the place of the numeral 9, the middle initial the numeral 12 and the last initial being substituted for the 3. Meanwhile, toy vendors are becoming interested in handmade dolls modeled from photographs of the child who is to own one. Real news for hosiery dealers is a toeless stocking which has a gusset-like section through which the exposed toe peeps unashamedly. A promotional idea reported by one department store is a radio program entitled "Fashion Information, Please." The store has announced the program by means of newspaper advertising and has invited questions pertaining to fashions. For each question accepted $2 is paid, and if the expert who must answer it can't the store pays $5.

HEADLINES IN NEW YORK—Auto sales rising, first quarter output may hit 1,670,000 cars compared with 668,346 in three months last year. E. R. Stettinius, Jr., chairman of U. S. Steel Corp. says conditions in iron and steel industry are improving; orders in first two months substantially higher. Federal Reserve Board vigorously opposes agitation in congress to give it or any other federal agency monetary power to stabilize and maintain prices; says such action would hinder efforts for recovery. Gene Tunney, former heavyweight boxing champion, now chairman of American Distilling company testifies before monopoly investigating committee; says big companies have the "edge" in the whisky business. Wholesale gasoline prices in important mid-continent Oklahoma market advanced for second time in ten days. February orders for machine tools showed sharp rise, regarded as forerunner of higher industrial activity in coming months.

Built for ACTION-PRICED the same way!

$894^{and up}

delivered at Flint, Mich. *Subject to change without notice. Transportation, state and local taxes (if any), optional equipment and accessories—extra.

FIRST time we saw the blueprints for this Buick thirty-niner we knew we had something pretty special for folks who like action in their travels.

It had eight eager cylinders in a mighty Dynaflex engine — and they could make a seared jack rabbit eat dust whenever the word was given!

It had a ride we promptly dubbed "full float" — that's how soft its stout coiled springs are in action.

It had a view, from windows and windshields as much as 412 square inches bigger—and it had style that has already altered the pattern on many another car-stylist's drawing board.

So we looked it all over—and went a step further. We decided a car so plainly meant for action needed to have a price that would get action for it!

Now it isn't easy to build such a traveler—rich in reliable Buick quality clear down to the metals it's made of—and still give it a price to rub elbows with the sixes.

But look around, match up the price tags, and you'll find that this great straight-eight lists for less than some cars with two fewer cylinders!

It comes complete with equipment that's extra in many another instance —yet the figures still read lower than on Buick of a year ago.

So when you see this Buick you not only see the car, but the one big value of the year. That's why we're anxious to have you try it—it's a car with a winning way about it, and a winning price tag in the bargain!

EDITOR'S MUSINGS

Senior Day . . .
 The Band . . .
 Typing . . .

In a recent meeting the seniors planned their annual senior day trip. They are going to San Antonio and Austin sometime in the latter part of April. This trip is an age-old affair. For weeks following this trip, it is the central topic of conversation.

From recent correspondence it was learned that the Ozona band will be required to enter Class C instead of Class D. New music had to be ordered, and the band is working hard on them. The contest will be held in Abilene on the first weekend in April. Let's all wish the band luck.

Recent typing contests proved the strength of OHS in the commercial department. Students have shown up well in recent contests with Sonora. The typing season will be climaxed by the Ozona tournament Saturday. Several neighboring towns will be present.

THE ART OF BEING LAZY

Who has not heard the verse about the world being so full of a number of things that we should be as happy as kings and queens? Everyone has heard it, but everyone has not thought about the truth in it. All these number of things never reach the lazy person; for that reason the lazy person is not happy. Although I don't prefer laziness, I shall tell you how the art can be mastered. To some of the students of OHS I may say not to take my advice seriously because it is only a story. And I must warn those who are already lazy not to try to add this to your list of laziness because you may pass out from extreme laziness.

The first thing one does when he is going to learn the art of being lazy is to oversleep. If the alarm clock goes off, he should get out of bed and break the clock. Then he should go back to bed and stay there as long as possible, but he should be sure to do this exactly right, as it is the first and most important part to the art of being lazy.

After oversleeping has been mastered, the next step for high school students is to walk to school very slowly. After he is in his first class, he should pay no attention to what the teacher says because he probably knows more than the teacher, anyway.

The next step is the omitting of lessons. When the student of laziness is in the study hall, he should make use of step number one, which is sleeping. If the teacher hits the student on the back to wake him, he should not hit the teacher, but he should tell him "thank you" in his best tone. The teacher may think that the student is very polite, and that may be what the students' grades will want him to think.

The next and last step of lesson one is to never get in a hurry. If one should get in a hurry, he might be awakened from his laziness.

Now, dear students, you may spend next week practicing your first lesson on the art of being lazy.

THREE WEEK'S TESTS

The later part of last week, the classes of high school were mainly devoted to three week's tests. The three week's grades will be posted on the bulletin board next Tuesday. This three week's period marks the ninth week of the second semester, leaving only nine more weeks of school work.

Band Starts Marching Exercises for State Contest

Only Three Weeks Until The State Contest Begins

The band is drilling in preparation for the marching contest. There are 12 required marching maneuvers. Among the requirements for the state band marching contest are: Stopping while marching, stopping while playing, start while playing, and counter-march while playing.

At first the members of the band couldn't get their feet to march, and make their instruments play at the same time. When this was accomplished, and the band was feeling very good, they couldn't stop while they were playing. Since only three weeks elapse from now to the contest, the band members must work very hard. It is hoped that the marching will be mastered by the time of the contest.

Four soloists are planning to enter the contest April 6.

The band will play three pieces at the contest, the march, "Honor Band," a selected contest piece, "Sanctuary of the Heart" by Keteloly, and the required contest piece, "Overture Militaire" by Skornicka. The plans for the two days are not exactly definite, yet. We are waiting on the schedule information from Abilene.

The next public appearance will be here on April 30. That is one week before the contest; therefore, the contest pieces will be included in the program.

Typing Contest Won By Sonora

On Wednesday, March 15, a typing contest was held in the Ozona high school typing room. The competitors in the contest were as follows: Grace Thomas, Margaret Boyd, Wirt Ellis Stevenson, Tommye Kirby, Eloise Carson and Posey Baggett. The first place went to Grace Thomas of Sonora with 4045 strokes, 4 errors, a rate of 51.2, a 95 per cent accuracy with a total score of 141.2.

Tommye Kirby placed second with 3524 strokes, 6 errors, a rate of 43, a 91.5 per cent accuracy, with a total of 134.5.

Margaret Fody ranked third, Wirt Ellis Stevenson placed fourth, Eloise Carson was fifth and Posey Baggett was sixth.

Winner on team score saw Sonora.

Four Volleyball Teams Organized

Continued Tourney Will Be Played At Noon Hours

The Ozona high school boys have divided into four teams in order to provide for recreation and amusement during the noon hour. Four captains were named by Coach White. These captains, Beecher Montgomery, Walter Escue, Phillip Schneemann, and Jim Dudley, met and chose their players.

A round robin tournament will be played by these teams. Each game will start at 12:35 and will end when the first gym bell rings. The total points will be added for the final score. The captains must organize their teams and see that they are ready to play on time.

Last Monday the seniors grew bold and challenged the faculty to a volleyball game. The seniors found the faculty a little too boisterous and were defeated 18 to 15.

It sure is funny what effects a new car and a new face (or should I say an old face), will have on a few girls. I know several girls that were disturbed from a tennis game Saturday from the acquaintance of an old friend and a convertible coupe.

Roy and Jean surely were having a good time at the supper Friday night. Each left weighing five pounds more.

J. K. has been keeping very late hours over the past weekend. Bette, do you or Jean know the reason why?

Phillip really gets around with the women even though, he has made a bet he would not have a date until April 19.

Jean and Mary Bess will have to take in a new member on this well proposition. Keep up the good work, Cox.

Joe Williams was really weaving and a-rocking Friday night. Joe, please explain yourself.

Effie, it is rumored that you are going to move to Barnhart. Is this correct?

Miles, you should be a woman getter now with the new Buick you were seen driving around Sunday afternoon.

Lloyd, just what were you and Floyd doing out so late Friday night?

Mary Faye, did you find out what the "B" stood for Saturday night?

Bess, just where were you going Sunday night? Now, come on, Bess let us in on the secret.

Roy, just what were you doing going to Barnhart on the old road?

Byron, you seemed to have received everything Friday night. Even a "gift".

There are two senior girls who want some little bird to tell their boy friends about the bunny rabbit that is for sale at the drug store.

Crystelle, you weren't a bit ashamed of acknowledging the fact that a certain senior boy smeared a little paint Sunday night, were you?

A Southern Cottage

This attractive five-room house is representative of a type that is popular throughout the South. Its five rooms and bath are efficiently arranged, making a compact home at a minimum cost. It was built in Florida with the aid of a $4,500 mortgage insured by the Federal Housing Administration. The home was valued at $5,000 by FHA officials, and the mortgage will be amortized over a period of 25 years.

Tints Helpful In Concealing Bad Spacing

Long a valued device of interior decorators, the use of wall and ceiling tints to conceal bad proportions and accent the feeling of space is now being commonly used by home owners.

Light colors, those mixed with white, tend to create a feeling of space and should be used as groundwork when this effect is sought. By using a gray background throughout the house, brightened with light shades of yellow, pale green, coral, or other similar tints, a sense of space will be attained and normally dark rooms will appear brighter.

If the house is too large and appears too empty, the action should be reversed. Dark shades, warm flowing colors, should be used to draw together an oversized room.

Where too much sunlight streams into a room, the intensity should be tempered with green or shades of blue. Rooms receiving too little sunlight should be treated with sun shades such as yellow light gold, or chartreuse.

WINDOW CONDITIONING

Experiments by Prof. G. L. Larson, of the University of Wisconsin, indicate that window conditioning, which means storm windows, or double-glazed sash, effects fuel savings of 30 per cent in homes when no other form of insulation is applied. When good wall and roof insulation is also applied, the fuel saving may go as high as 55 per cent, according to Professor Larson. Window conditioning, it is claimed, pays for itself in less than two heating seasons.

Double windows are effective in eliminating chilly drafts. It is not always realized that in cold weather drafts develop even where windows and doors are snugly fitted. There does not have to be actual leakage of cold air, for when the warmed air of a room comes into contact with the cold surface of a single pane it is chilled and sinks to the floor, setting up currents which send chilled air across the floor. Where double panes are used the insulating wall of captive air keeps the inner surface much nearer general room temperature.

Fogging of windows from condensation also is greatly reduced by window conditioning for the same reason, allowing the interior of the house to be kept at proper humidity without unpleasant blurring of the windows and the harmful effect of excess moisture on window sills and draperies.

Modern winter windows and various types of prefabricated double-glazed sash harmonize architecturally with almost any style of home and are a far cry from the old bulky unsightly storm windows. In the trend toward more and larger windows in homes, window conditioning is gaining wide favor for year-round comfort, economy, and appearance.

NEW WALL MATERIALS

The appearance of a bathroom can often be brought up to date simply by making use of some of the many new materials now available for bathroom walls and floors.

Authorities estimate that there are now about 30 materials, all waterproof, that may be used on bathroom walls. These include ceramic tile, glass, stainless steel, porcelain enamel tile, linoleum, asbestos tile, board tile, composition board, and modern washable wallpaper.

One of the most commonly used materials is washable wallpaper, one type of which is now claimed to be equivalent to about four coats of paint. These water-repellent papers are manufactured in many different patterns.

DINING ROOM NEEDS SOUTHEAST EXPOSURE

If plans for a new home include provisions for a dining room, a number of factors should be taken into consideration.

Southeast exposure is desirable in order to assure morning sunlight in a dining room. Other important considerations are: (1) The room should be planned with ample wall space to accommodate the furniture; (2) immediate access from kitchen or pantry is essential; (3) in smaller houses dining space planned in conjunction with the living room is generally and permits flexibility for special satisfactory for normal family use occasions.

Roof Materials Cover Wide Range

There is a wide range of materials available for the roof of a house.

Among the most frequently used types are: Slate-covered shingles in strips or in single units, wood shingles, composition shingles, cement tiles, terra-cotta tiles, metal shingles, sheet metal, slate and impregnated paper.

In building a new house the type of covering is selected and the roof structure built accordingly. A deck or sheathing is usually required. To this is fastened the covering, but in some sections, particularly those near the sea, it may be advisable to lay wood shingles over shingle lath. The underside of the shingles needs to "breathe" on account of the excessive moisture in the air or they may rot quickly.

With all types, save paper and wood shingle, heavy roofing felt should be placed over the decking before covering is put on.

When a roof is renewed, the matter of weight of the material selected must be given careful study. If the old roof is of wood shingles, it is often possible to cover it without removing the old shingles, but if a heavy material, such as slate, is used, the frame must be checked to see if it will safely carry the added weight.

Natural Gas—

be satisfactory in every way, I or we are desirous that you install a meter at our property line after completion of your distribution system in Ozona, in accordance with your franchise granted by Crockett County," the simple survey form reads in part. This is the only obligation the signer incurs, Mr. Hornaday points out—simply that he is interested in using natural gas if and when the distribution system is made ready here, and conditioned on the fact that he will be shown that he can make a saving over his present form of fuel, and on the further fact that the system proves satisfactory in every way.

The pledged rates to be charged locally for natural gas are set out in the franchise granted by the county. These rates compare favorably with charges made in larger cities of the area where systems have been in operation for several years and where volume has been built up to where rates are naturally lower than they were at the start of the system.

Low Rates Pledged

The domestic rate schedule as set out in the franchise provides for a minimum charge of $2 which covers the first 2,000 cubic feet of gas. The next 3,000 cubic feet will be charged at a net rate of 72 cents per thousand cubic feet, the next 5,000 cubic feet at a net rate of 63 cents, the next 10,000 at 54 cents and all over 20,000 cubic feet at 45 cents per thousand cubic feet. These figures represent the net charge when bills are paid promptly, such prompt payments earning a 10 per cent reduction from the gross rate. Furnace and industrial rates will be set so as to make this fuel possible for economical use as such.

Enthusiastic response of business men and a few individuals who have been contacted in the downtown area has prompted Mr. Hornaday to seek to speed up the local survey by distributing the survey blanks on ordinary self-addressed postal cards. These are to be distributed the last of the week to residences of the town, to be filled out and signed at leisure and dropped in the postoffice at as early a date as may be convenient.

Between 300 and 400 signatures of persons who will be interested in seeing natural gas brought to Ozona will be necessary, Mr. Hornaday said, to insure the successful conclusion of the project. If that number of Ozonans indicate their interest in the system for their town, work on the transportation line will begin at once and the fuel will be available for local domestic and commercial use by October 1 of this year.

Ski Champs Vie at International Open

Peter Radacher of Salsburg, Austria, instructor at the Sun Valley, Idaho, ski school will be one of the leading European contenders for the coveted Harriman cup at the third annual Sun Valley international open tournament opening tomorrow at the western winter resort. Radacher is caught above in fast action on powder snow.

The Rio Gas and Power Co. is headed by F. A. Hornaday and his two sons, Terry A. Hornaday, and F. A. Hornaday, Jr., the last named representing the company in the present survey in Ozona. F. A. Hornaday, Jr., is manager of the company's natural gas system at Rio Grande City, the father is in charge of the head office in San Antonio and the other son, T. A. Hornaday, is manager of a pipe line company at Artesia, N. M.

is a month earlier than last year's final sign-up date, and applies mainly to operators who did not receive payments in connection with the programs of 1937 or 1938. E. N. Holmgreen, state administrator of the AAA, explained.

Holmgreen said the advanced deadline is possible because acreage allotments this year were distributed much earlier than ever before, this being the first time in the history of the farm program that allotments are reaching Texas producers, generally, ahead of planting time.

It has been estimated at Texas A. and M. college headquarters of AAA that cash benefits to Texas farmers and ranchmen who take part in this year's program will exceed $90,000,000.
