NRA Heads Promise Quick Action To Compliance Boards Sending Complaints From Communities

WASHINGTON—Within a few hours after a question has arisen in any community in the United States as to alleged violations of the President's Reemployment Agreement, the local compliance board will be able to obtain a definite ruling from the district recovery board or, if the district board is unable to decide the point, from Washington direct.

There are 26 district boards throughout the country, with an average of 200 community compliance boards in each district. Under instructions from National Administrator Hugh S. Johnson, all complaints not settled by the local board or the district board will be submitted by the district boards to NRA in Washington by telegraph, and rulings will be transmitted in the same manner, in order to save time and secure the promptest possible compliance by or relief for every employer wherever located.

As information centers for the dissemination of NRA rulings and policies in their respective communities, it is expected that compliance boards will be able to harmonize many misunderstandings on the ground. These boards are superseding the local NRA recovery boards of committees insofar as concerns complaints of non-compliance with the President's Agreement. All decisions rendered by NRA headquarters in Washington will be telegraphed immediately to the 26 district boards for prompt transmission to the local compliance boards for their guidance in acting upon similar cases.

Under The Dome At Austin

AUSTIN (UP)—Members of the Texas house of representatives spend much of their time getting signatures of fellow members. The practice started when word got out Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson would submit any bill to the special session of the legislature that a majority of the members requested.

Whether she made the promise or not, members are acting on that assumption. Joe White, small but effective sergeant-at-arms of the house, is glad the annual visit of the Big Circus to Austin has passed. Circus day is a trying one for a house sergeant-at-arms. The members look to him to provide them passes for themselves, their families and often for friends.

1922 Bridge Club Plays At Home Of Mrs. Ira Thurman

Mrs. Ira Thurman entertained members of the 1922 Bridge Club with a rummy party Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Helton scored high for members and Mrs. Fahrenkamp for guests.

Mrs. R. T. Piner came in at the tea hour. Playing visitors were:

Members of the Texas legislature are undoubtedly sincere in their decision that 22 alcoholic beverages are in fact non-intoxicating. Many of the recent strong opponents of intoxicants are drinking the legalized beer.

Rep. George W. Winningham of Mexia, farmer, writer and foe of lobbyists, will not be a candidate for reelection. That does not mean he is retiring from politics. He is being urged to run for state agricultural commissioner, and has the matter under consideration.

Rep. Preston L. Anderson of San Antonio, record holding biographer, complains the manuals of the Texas legislature have no lettering on the turn of the leather covers. "Put in a bookcase there is nothing to show what it is," said Anderson.

Rep. E. D. Dunlap of Kingsville, is noted for never bothering the legislators with a speech. The microphone has no lure for him. But when he sent up a resolution to give an American Legion post more time to complete its part of an agreement for establishment of a coast fishing resort, the house members forced him to speak. "Speech, speech!" they shouted. Dunlap remained silent.

They voted overwhelmingly against the proposal. Then Dunlap spoke less than two minutes. They voted again, this time unanimously for the resolution. "See what power your oratory has," Speaker Stevenson said.

Ross S. Sterling's picture has taken its place in the gallery of governors in the state capitol. It is on the third floor tier at the left of Gov. Dan Moody whom he succeeded. The oil portrait is by Mrs. C. D. Rice of Austin.

PRICE FIXING

The government plan of pegging cotton at ten cents by tending up to that amount on staple held by the farmers—is subject to the same limitations and evils that attended government price pegging during the world war when a top for wheat rather than a bottom was established.

The complaint during the war was that the top price compelled the farmer to sell at a level much lower than would have been the case had the government refrained from price fixing.

In the case of a bottom price for cotton, the difficulty likely will be that the price will have a disposition to stick at that level, instead of climbing to a point much higher.

Ten-cent cotton is better than six-cent cotton, but it leaves much to be desired. The South may be able to live on ten-cent cotton, but it cannot all the wheels of industry and commerce with it.

A fifteen-cent level is near the mark, and twenty-cent cotton would mean a business boom throughout the south.

Mrs. R. T. Piner came in at the tea hour. Playing visitors were:

ing set up to obtain compliance with the President's Reemployment Agreement and not with the permanent codes. All problems of code administration as distinguished from the administration of the President's Agreement should be forwarded directly to NRA in Washington. In a supplementary instruction for the guidance of local compliance boards General Johnson stressed the fact that friendly aid rather than the iron fist will be the guiding rule.

It is recognized that in many localities compliance boards, under other names, have been functioning with definite success. Where procedure has already been developed by such boards it was explained that the instructions were to be regarded as merely supplementary. General Johnson expressed himself as highly pleased with the work already done by many local boards. He regards what has been done as an outstanding manifestation of how thoroughly they are imbued with the spirit of NRA.

"Walled Kingdom Of Kenedy" To Be Crossed By Road

CORPUS CHRISTI (UP)—The "walled kingdom of Kenedy" at last will be penetrated by a state highway, thanks to the hurricane which recently devastated the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

The "walled kingdom of Kenedy" is Kenedy county, in the valley, which in its entirety is owned by five families of wealthy cattle barons. John Kenedy is the largest land-owner. The country has but one road, a dirt road leading to Kenedy's palatial rancher.

Desiring to build a highway from Corpus Christi to Brownsville, the state was faced with the choice of two possible routes. The shortest was directly through Kenedy county. The other, 50 miles longer, would have to be built along the length of Padre Island.

Padre Island is a narrow, rattlesnake-infested strip of land stretching for 120 miles from Corpus Christi to Fort Isabel. It is bordered on one side by the gulf, on the other by Laguna Madre.

The Kenedys and others of the county's cattle barons, including Rep. Richard J. Kleberg, declined to permit the state to build a road through the county. The state was unwilling to build one on the island, because of storm danger.

Meantime, motorists seeking to traverse the distance were forced to detour 20 miles around Kenedy county. The county is surrounded entirely by a barbed-wire fence, with occasional locked gates.

The 43rd legislature at its special session, however, decided that through Kenedy county would be the best route for the proposed Corpus Christi-Brownsville highway.

Wheel is sure the students save as high a plane of income as any in the country. In question that is always before us: Why do the students in this defacing their most treasured gift, the High School?

Why don't the students in the Big Spring High School have more of a spirit? Mostly because the students don't realize what it is, they don't know the value of it, they don't know the value of their support. For instance, if the students never know that the football team wins at school but also, the type of it in each and every individual such as, it reflects on one's character.

Foods Department Suggests Menus For Student Lunches

Breakfast And Dinner Take Care Of Themselves But Lunch Is Sometimes A Problem Says Miss McElroy

By Mary McElroy
Note: Through the cooperation of the high school foods department, The Wheel is able to offer its readers a series of suggested menus for student lunches. Three meals a day is the first and dinner take care of them, step, to good health. Breakfast and dinner take care of themselves, but the lunch is sometimes a problem, especially the school lunch. This should be carefully planned and should supply at least one-third of the food needs of the day. It should include material for energy, growth and repair and protective foods.

Fruit in some form should be used in every school child's menu. Milk, if possible, is ideal for the luncheon beverage. The weather has much to do with our appetites. On cold days, one is hungry, while on warm days, the desire for food is not so keen. It is on these days that the lunch should be attractively in appearance and appetizing. Each food should be wrapped separately in waxed paper or paper napkins, and for the semi-cold foods, a screw top jar or paper cups have been found satisfactory.

Home made relishes, green peppers, and left-over vegetables may be added to sandwiches to improve their flavor. Relishes substituted for pickles or olives make the finished product more economical. Orange or lemon juice, mayonnaise, cream, or mild vinegar may be used to moisten sandwiches.

Rubber bands and tooth picks are useful in holding wrapped foods together and are easy to use. The average school lunch should cost 20 cents or less. If farm products are available, the lunch will cost practically nothing.

- Some sample lunches are:
1. Chopped bacon and pickle sandwich
 2. Cold meat sandwiches
 3. Cold meat sandwiches
 4. Cold meat sandwiches
 5. Cold meat sandwiches
 6. Cold meat sandwiches
 7. Cold meat sandwiches

Lubbock Wins From Steers

Green Team Makes Fine Showing In Friday Night Game

By CHARLIE BUSSEY
The Lubbock Westerners took the Big Spring Steers into camp to the tune of 14 to 0 last Friday night at Tech Field. The Westerners had the Steers outweighed in nearly every position. However, they seemed to have suffered most of the casualties. Although the local team is as green as any in the state, it managed to come through with a fine showing.

This is the first time the Steers have been up against a wing-back formation. Two touchdowns later they caught on to the peculiarities of this style of play and began to fill up a few holes. The aerial attack the Westerners were reported to have used on so hard seemed to be worth exactly nothing against the Steers.

Ole Cordill, the big 180 pound line-crashing quarterback, was the most spectacular figure on the field. His end runs never failed to net some yardage. The Steers were penalized for everything from chasing the referee to biting in huddles. In all, they received exactly 50 yards of penalties.

Who's Who

GEORGE NEEL, a sophomore, says that he is "nutty" about football and will soon be back playing again. He guesses he just had a little tough luck. George likes very black hair and blue eyes. (Maybe this is his excuse for running out of gas on Scurry Street.) He would like to be about 6 ft. 1 in. tall and weigh 190 lbs. He is going to Texas University and play football. George dislikes short people, blond hair.

JUNIOR HUBBARD likes luscious blonds, and pretty blue eyes. We hope it's not his sister. He is crazy about tennis and baseball and doesn't know just exactly what he's going to do but has his ideas. He plans to attend Baylor University, and would like to be a hero. Tr. hates school and especially lectures, teachers or otherwise.

BOBBIE TAYLOR is a freshman taking the usual freshman course: Algebra, History, Foods, and English. Algebra seems to be her favorite. She likes black curly hair and brown eyes. Albert Fisher and all the others of this description. BEWARE, Bobbie is very modern; riding bicycles is her favorite sport, and she also enjoys a good football game. She longs to be a good dancer and after four years of high school and four more years of college, Bobbie is going to be a private secretary.

EDDYE RAYE LEES, another freshman, is taking History, Foods, English, and Algebra. No one but Frank McCleskey would fit Eddyee Raye's description of her hero. She desires to go to dramatic school and later dance on the stage. She likes anything that is good to eat.

New Type Honor Roll Now Used

This year there is to be a new kind of honor roll which is to be called "The Progress Honor Roll." This is for the purpose of showing the progress made by each student. Each six weeks when the honor roll is published it will show the improvement or the decline of the grades of each student. This is a great improvement over the honor roll of former years because instead of comparing one student's grade with another, it compares the student's grade from 6 to 6 weeks.

Blankenship Attends TSTA Board Session

Association To Enter Denial Of Political Activity Accusations

W. C. Blankenship, superintendent of schools, returned Sunday from Fort Worth where he attended a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Texas State Teachers' Association.

The Shadow Speaks

Nancy Bell Phillips, a cute freshman, has Walter Arnold falling hard and fast. Good luck, Nan. Who is Bud Bechtel to be making Caroline McCleskey dream? They say he is a football star from Amarillo.

Conley To Be Director Of School Band

Definite plans have been formed for the organization of a Big Spring High School band. Sheets, containing information concerning the band, were passed out in assembly this morning.

Classroom Notes

By Margaret Wade
Miss Butler says that her classes are reasonably satisfactory, having the prissy little freshman who wanted to report on some advanced 3B history. Just ask her—she will give you the whole dialog in full.

Oble Bristow, you are slowly but surely bringing the war around your ears when you call Shakespeare Shuttlesworth in that first period study hall every morning. (That isn't the Shuttlesworth that Dot Rockhold hankers after.) Watch Obie call those 12 letter names!

Miss Jordan was overheard the other day assuring a poor unsuspecting that public speaking was good for anything. Do you have "ball" spots before your eyes, fallen arches, a crick in your neck? Public speaking is good for any or all of these aches and ills. They say fire fights fire.

Miss Young and Mack Austin get along very nicely in Spanish class, thank you, but she likes him least when he is on "al pollo" as "el pollo," he's a pretty good "al Bullo".

Neil Brown says that Hattie McCleskey positively haunts Bud Bechtel. Why, Hattie, dear!

During the course of an argument in Miss Butler's history class, that very fine gentlemen, Jimmie Wilson, between drawing puny characters and writing foul "pommes" to Luis, said very sweetly with an inserted snicker, that he was going to take child psychology next time he went to "Schrimmer's".

Why, oh, why will Mr. Houston dream on Monday night that he told three 3B English classes to out-on Frances Stamper (a fish who moved to Dallas) but it (the cat) isn't much to talk about.

What is the talk about the Ruth Horn-Tommy Higgins affair? I'll have to look into that.
Eddie Raye Lees and Ebbey McCleskey are getting friendly.
Good Graves has changed his red suspenders for a pair of blue ones.
Evelyn Moore is a cute trick, take it from Shadow.
Lois Whitehead is going to fall some of these days, for she never looks where she is going. Takes too much time looking at Jack Hatch.
Dorothy Rockhold has Bot Peterson going around and around. Dorothy is a nice girl. Bot, so be good to her and buy her some ice cream cones.
Sampson Jeffesus Abraham Lincoln George Washington Nichols Petty has every boy envious of him for the way he keeps Bobby Taylor falling. He trips her.
Jack Dean still has the yellow sweater and is trying to get another. The hog.
Well, the time has come when even Shadow has to stop and so until later I'll say, I'll be haunting you.

Girls Of Pep Squad Agree On Uniforms

The girls of the Big Spring Pep Squad have come to an agreement about the uniforms. The thought that the girls had in mind when they bought these uniforms was the question of how much they must cost.

Black Sweater With Gold Letters Selected For This Season

A committee of six girls were selected to decide on the uniforms. Several business men of Big Spring brought samples of sweaters for the girls to decide on. At the cost of two dollars, a black sweater with gold letters was selected. The order was given to L. C. Burr & Co. The Pep Squad leaders are to have a gold megaphone across the front of the sweater and black letters on that. Due to the lack of money, the girls are not going to buy new black skirts but wear the old ones which are not uniform in style. The order for 120 sweaters has been sent off, and the sweaters are expected to be here in ten days. The girls are anxious to get them for their performance in the first home game of the season which will be with Pampa, Friday week. With these new sweaters the 120 girls of the Pep Squad will certainly show how much pep they really have and make Big Spring High School proud of them.

Honor Study Hall Being Organized

Mr. Gentry has stated that an honor study hall is to be organized some time this week in room 309. This study hall is to be for the use of those who know how to behave and intend to use the period for study.

This idea is to be carried out sometimes this week and will probably be permanent if the students cooperate and are desirous for a small division of honor system in High School.

For The Love of Eve

by Lucy Walling

CHAPTER XIX

Though she would not have admitted it to anyone there were times when Eve Rader worried about her marriage. Was her work at the office making too many demands on her time and interest, she asked herself. Dick did not complain but nevertheless she sensed that something was wrong.

For one thing, there were those evenings he spent away from home. Eve had planned to be generous and tolerant in such matters. She had assured herself that she had the "modern" viewpoint. She and Dick had agreed their marriage was to be a fifty-fifty affair with equal freedom for each of them. Still she always felt a little stab of resentment and uneasiness when Dick announced casually that some engagement would keep him away from home.

Was he bored with their quiet evenings together—bored with her? Her piety, she had to admit to herself, was two fold—partly because he told her nothing of what occurred at these affairs. His explanation was always some vague reference to business or that he had been at a meeting of an organization to which he belonged.

Eve was dissatisfied but did not know what she could do about it. The night of Freda Carter's party Eve and Ariens went to dinner together and then took a cab to North Hills where Freda lived. Ariens' eyes, bright when she saw the tiny studio piano. It was an upright model and looked almost like a toy. Its tone was splendid and as soon as her wraps were removed Ariens sat down and ran her fingers over the keys.

"Oh, I didn't know you played!" Freda exclaimed. "Now my party will surely be a success!"

Later Ariens played while the others sang. Her voice was a rich contralto, so sweet that presently when she sounded the first notes of "Lover, Come Back To Me" the other singers gradually dropped out to listen to Ariens. Eve hoped her friend had not chosen the song because George Bliss was there. He had come with Mona Allen.

Someone suggested bridge but it was postponed until later. The apartment house rules forbade music after 11 o'clock and the crowd of parents wanted music as long as possible.

When they sang "Will You Remember" from "Maytime," Sam Holteridge who was crippled and had been sitting quiet in a corner of the room leaped up and joined in the singing, letting his voice ring out lustily.

"Play it again," he pleaded when the song was ended.

But before the last notes of the chorus had been reached a second time Sam turned away abruptly. Freda Carter saw that his eyes were moist.

"It's that song—and what it brings back to me," he told her huskily. "I was in love with a beautiful girl once but it all turned out wrong. After that I thought I had to drink to bolster up my courage. I've been doing it ever since. Even tonight! I'm always drinking to forget myself and I'm a damned fool. Don't think I don't know it! And here I am blubbering all over your place. Why don't you give me my marching orders?"

"That's all right, Sam," soothed Freda, patting his arm. "And I want you to stay, of course. Tell me—would you rather the crowd stopped singing?"

"No. Ask the girl at the piano to play 'Liebestraum' will you?" And Ariens played it for him. Afterward she sang again while the others listened.

It was a little later when everyone was feeling that the evening had turned into a distinct success that Theresa Reese arrived, spoiling the party for Eve.

"Come now," she said triumphantly. "You didn't tell me you were spending your honeymoon alone when we met in New York. Does hubby know you were out with me there?"

"I'm afraid you'll have to excuse me," Eve said, rising. She could scarcely control herself, yet she did not wish to make a scene. And the apartment was so small she could hardly avoid Reese. She went into the kitchenette.

"May I help you?" she asked Freda who was making preparations for the next supper. Eve wished Dick would come. He had promised to call for her and Ariens.

Ariens came out to help soon and immediately Sam Holteridge joined them. "Freda," he walked, "won't you send this girl back to the piano, she doesn't belong in the kitchen."

When she and Eve were alone again Freda said with a laugh, "Well, Ariens seems to have him handcuffed and bound."

"Who is he?" Eve asked.

"Don't you know Sam? You should know a few rate advertising men. Working at Mason's now. Too bad he drinks so much—he has lots of ability."

Later when Eve looked into the living room she saw that one table of bridge had been organized but Ariens and Sam Holteridge were still at the piano. Mona Allen was holding Reese's hand, telling his fortune and George Bliss stood alone.

Something impish tempted Eve. "Oh, Mr. Bliss!" she called. "Miss Carter would like a man with a good stroke to slice this ham."

Bliss seemed glad to help in the kitchenette. He opened a bottle of olives, sliced the ham and prepared excellent coffee.

"No kitchenette is complete without a handy man," sighed Freda with a twinkle in her eyes. "If you happen to find one who's unattached and not too antique, Eve, be sure to pull an ear for my side."

A moment later she called gaily, "Fall in line for supper! I'm sending you all home early because I've got to be on the job myself tomorrow."

Reese continued his attempts to draw Eve out. He sat beside her and, balancing her plate and coffee cup, she found it inconvenient to move.

Soon the party broke up and the guests paired off to go home. Sam Holteridge asked Ariens to let him escort her but it was true that Sam had been drinking and Ariens was afraid. So she explained that she would have to go home with Eve with whom she had come to the party.

Senior High P-T A. Hears School Head

Blankenship Discusses Situation in Local System

"The Situation in Your Local Public Schools" was the subject of a brief address by Superintendent W. C. Blankenship Tuesday afternoon before the Senior High School P-T A.

Mrs. Arthur Woodall was elected treasurer for the association, and a committee was appointed to nominate officers for the places yet to be filled.

Mrs. Bruce Frazier, instructor in music in the high school, gave two piano selections, Letcheski's "Two Larks" and an unnamed Irish air.

"The enrollment for the city schools is up more than two hundred compared with the figures for this time last year," Blankenship stated. "We are meeting this situation by adding new teachers to the faculty. We are also reducing so far as possible the sections which have a ridiculously large number of students in them."

"Confronted with these conditions, the school district faces the new year with as grave a problem as it has ever been called upon to solve. The state apportionment for the local schools this year will barely more than pay the bonded indebtedness for the year; the schools will be kept open by excellent response from the taxpayers of the district. Taxes may be paid a little at a time, and it is only by our all doing our very best that this city is going to be able to realize a full nine months school this year."

Mrs. Victor Mullinger, president for the ensuing year, presided at the meeting.

Houston Port Sets Record For August

HOUSTON (UP)—The port of Houston set an all-time record in August when it handled a total of 1,422,861 tons of merchandise valued at $21,045,486, according to statistics released by Russell Wait, director of the port.

This was an increase of $1.19 per cent over August, 1932.

Records revealed that August was the first month of 1933 to show an increase in foreign tonnage over the corresponding month last year. August imports totalled 11,784.7 tons against 11,684.7 tons in August, 1932, while in 1933 exports for the month were 233,218.6 tons as compared to 193,211.7 tons for August of last year.

Coastwise tonnage also showed an improvement in comparison with the previous year. Inbound business totaled 48,781 tons this year as against 48,024 tons last year as against 280,000.4 tons last year.

Vessel movements for the first eight months of 1933 have also been greater than in any other eight months period in the port's history. The record of 2,796 ships, set in 1930, was far behind the 2,525 total for the first eight months of 1933.

Evidence Gathered in Harvey Bailey Jail Break Cases

DALLAS (UP)—Government authorities here prepared evidence for presentation in federal court October 3 when two men charged with aiding Harvey Bailey's Labor Day escape from the Dallas county jail go on trial.

One of the men, Grover C. Beville, a butcher and amateur detective, pleaded guilty to a conspiracy charge when arraigned before Federal Judge William H. Atwell. He will have an opportunity to change his plea if he wishes before a jury October 3.

The other, Thomas L. Manion, former Dallas county night jailer, pleaded not guilty and declared he could explain all his actions which the government in its indictment cited as evidence of his part in Bailey's escape.

Conviction on the conspiracy count, in which Bailey himself is named, would carry a maximum sentence of two years in prison and a fine of $10,000. Manion was named in a second count charging him as an officer with permitting Bailey to escape. Conviction on that charge would carry a maximum penalty of $2,000 fine and two years imprisonment.

Beville in the conspiracy indictment was accused of providing the pistol and saw blades with which Bailey escaped. Manion was charged with relaying them to the prisoner along with a stillson wrench. Manion also was accused of telling Bailey that Deputy Jailer Nick Trepp, kidnaped in the dash for freedom, had an automobile in which Bailey could flee Texas. The night jailer further was charged with mapping for Bailey a route leading from Dallas along side roads to Oklahoma.

The conspiracy indictment said Bailey "promised Manion a sum of money" for his assistance. The amount was not specified.

Ring Lardner, Famous For His "You Know Me, Al" Stories Loses Ten-Year Fight Against Disease

NEW YORK—Ring Lardner, who once noted that there wasn't much difference between his native Niles, Mich., and his adopted New York because both begin with an "N," has lost his long fight against tuberculosis.

The lean, six-foot humorist who made you and me know Al, and who became a ranking figure of American literature, died suddenly at his East Hampton, Long Island, home Monday night in the forty-eighth year of an active, interesting life.

For ten years Ringgold Wilmer Lardner had fought the disease. During those years, with the spears drawing steadily closer, his humor flowed on, bringing laughs to the faces of those who saw on the stage "Elmer the Great" and then "June Moon," and to other tens of thousands who read his "Story of a Wonder Man," "Love Nest," and other stories.

Heart disease, complicated by other ailments, was given by his doctors as the immediate cause of death.

Only in the last few years has the Lardner typewriter gone on short hours. His doctors ordered him to the southwest, and he remained there many months. When he returned to New York several months ago he was reported much better.

His days of quantity production, however, were over. He did a column on radio in the weekly "New Yorker"—a humorous, critical column that carried a sting for those artists, those sponsors and those stations which he felt were not serving the public need for entertainment. The sweep of the humor that filled "You Know Me, Al," "Guillibie's Travels," "Own Your Own Home" and the blarney, "How to Write Short Stories" was gone. Occasionally it flashed on those last published writings, but the spontaneity and wit of "Treat 'em Rough," "The Young Immigrants" and "Symptoms of Being 35" were not there.

Lardner was born in Niles, Mich., March 24, 1885. As he put it, he was born during "have-a-baby" week. In comparing Niles and New York later he said there was little advantage either way, as the New York Central tracks ran through both places.

Throughout many of Lardner's writings the home-town pride is noted. His youth was spent there and his first job as a newspaper was in South Bend, Ind., just ten miles away.

His journalistic experience was devoted almost entirely to the sports page—South Bend, Chicago, St. Louis, Boston, and back to Chicago. He traveled with the baseball clubs, the White Sox and the Cubs, in the days of "Doc" White, Marcell (Three-Fingered) Brown, Frank Chance, Tinkers, Evers, and the many others of Chicago's heyday of baseball. He became a recognized authority on the game, loving it for its sport and for the humanness of its players.

Speculation On World Series Risky Business, Comparison Of Opposing Luminaries Indicates

In Cuban Spotlight

Dr. Ramon Grau San Martin, 48-year-old former professor, was chosen president of Cuba by a junta which assumed control after the De Cespedes regime had been overthrown. (Associated Press Photo)

By STUART CAMERON United Press Staff Writer NEW YORK (UP) — Advance speculation on world series play is risky business. One has only to review the series of the past to know that in a best four-out-of-seven conflict, the only thing unusual is the unusual.

So it is not without knowledge that his observations may look very silly the day after it is all over that this writer begins a discussion of the Giants and Senators with a glance at the infield.

On paper, the Senators must be given the edge, for of the four infield positions, in only one, at first base, may a Giant be clearly rated above his rival. Memphis Bill Terry, player-manager of the Giants, for a number of reasons, seems to stand above Joe Kuhel of the Senators.

Second base seems to be a standoff between Hughie Critz of the Giants, and Charles "Buddy" Myer of the Senators. But Washington's player-manager, Joe Cronin, veteran shortstop, has a big margin over Jack "Blondy" Ryan, and Ossie Bluege of the Senators, also promises more than Travis Jackson at third.

Both Terry and Kuhel are left-handed. At bat they are but a few percentage points apart. Terry is the veteran, having played with the Giants in their last world series which was with the Senators. Kuhel is the on-coming youngster. Series victory, probably, means more to Terry than his youthful rival, for "Memphis Bill" already a miracle man for having brought a team tagged for the second division into the championship, needs only a series triumph to establish himself among the all-time greats.

Ector Wildeat Considered Discovery Of Fourth Pool

Broderick And Calvert's No. 1 E. F. Cowden In Section 22, Block 44, Stands 4,000 Feet In Oil, Makes 150-Barrel Head

ODESSA—Four thousand feet of 37.4 gravity oil standing in Broderick & Calvert et al, No. 1 Elliott F. Cowden from one foot of true pay at 4,150 to 4,151 feet Sunday stamped the Ector county wildcat test as one of the brightest prospects for heavy flash production the Permian basin of West Texas has offered for many months and as the discovery of Ector county's fourth pool. The well headed 90 barrels flowing into storage and approximately 60 to waste.

The test, performance of which already has stamped it as a producer of undetermined magnitude, is five miles west of the Harrison-Addis pool, 10 miles west of Odessa and about seven miles north and a trifle east of the Penn pool. Operators spent Saturday night and Sunday pulling eight and a quarter inch casing and in connecting up the well. One 500-barrel tank was set for use Sunday and installation of a separator was completed. A fishing job was underway today for a bailer. Two more 500-barrel tanks are being connected.

Showing Saturday, amounting to 150 feet rising in the hole, was entered by Scotch fellows who is slow to anger. His Scotch is reflected in the fact that he has maintained a surplus in the W.T.C.C. treasury in the face of greatly reduced membership receipts. His anger apparently is aroused over the untrue accusations of Tuesday. As he said in a public statement, the organization most certainly has listed all its activities, including distribution of relief funds, as arguments to show citizens why they ought to belong to the organization.

The truth hurt so much! Just to think, of all organizations, a Chamber on Commerce was shown to have served the poor people better than the Self-Styled Saviors of the Working Classes. And, what will those who believe no man on earth can honestly earn more than $300 per month going to say about Jim Ferguson's $22,100 "earnings" between January 4 (just about inauguration time) and August 17?

Gray lime was topped in Broderick & Calvert et al No. 1 E. F. Cowden at 2,577 feet, or minus 844 feet, making it the highest of several tests drilled in the same general area. Location was selected by O. C. Harper, Midland, geologist, who has devoted much time to subsurface analysis of the territory. Honolulu Oil company, Harper C. R. Black, drilling contractor of Dallas, and Broderick & Calvert control most of the nearby acreage, but the Texas company, Midcontinent Petroleum corporation, El Paso Oil company and Shell Petroleum corporation have holdings with a radius of a mile and a half or two miles of the well.

"Tree Army" May Be Called On To Clear Political Debris BY VERNON A. MCGEE United Press Staff Correspondent AUSTIN (UP)—The "tree army" is forbidden by federal regulations to chop away at forested areas, but it may have to clear some political debris in Texas as its first major task. The question of who shall direct

It seems that the legislature is practically unanimous in the belief not more than $9,000,000 of the $20,000,000 relief bond issue authorized in the last election need be issued. Most estimates are that the legislature will authorize not more than $7,500,000. The pie-counter boys were so burned up because the figures showed that old West Texas Chamber of Commerce really served the hungry people of this region so much better than the political machine set up under the present administration that they got some letters down there accusing the W.T.C.C. of trading relief allotments for memberships. Manager Bandeen is one of these (Inlons)—so what about Andy Melton? They wonder if Castile's conversation could possibly be due to a pending appeal to the Federal Courts to kill off that awkward rate reduction inflicted on Con. Gas subsidiaries by New York State. Anyway there's no harm trying.

the work of the civilian conservation corps in state parks apparently has set the relief commission at odds with the state parks board. The attorney general's department ruled the relief commission cannot legally assume the duties of the parks board in the improvement of state parks under the federal reforestation bill. Despite the ruling, the relief commission assumed the job of directing the "tree army" in park improvement work. Relief Director Lawrence Westbrook declared the commission will continue to do so for the present. The legal opinion had been asked by D. E. Colp, chairman of the state parks board. He attached to his request of correspondence with federal authorities. One exhibit showed as early as May 6 he had advised that "state park authorities will be in actual charge of all work" done on park improvement projects. Emergency conservation work in Texas is divided into three phases: forestry work, soil work, and park work. Direction of the "tree army's" forestry work was assigned Forester E. O. Sieche. Dr. O. B. Martin, of the Texas A. & M. Extension service, has directed the soil erosion work. In the case of park work (however), Col. Westbrook declared the state parks board had no set-up for directing conservation projects. The relief commission assumed the job "in order that the state might receive the benefit of the public work involved in the establishment of 15 camps in different sections of the state." Col. Westbrook declared until the parks board has sufficient funds appropriated to give it a competent administrative set up, the relief commission will continue to direct such conservation work. Despite the squabble, unemployed men who enlist in President Roosevelt's conservation corps may rest secure in the knowledge they have one general whose leadership is unquestioned. The U. S. army established the conservation camps, and operates them so far as housing, subsistence, sanitation, recreation, discipline and general supervision are concerned. Only during working hours is the "tree army" under the direction of a state agency, whether it be the relief commission or the parks board.

WHEEL Redistricting To Take Local Man Off Board

T. S. T. A. Districts Changed To Follow Congressional Districts

The redistricting of the state in new congressional districts will deprive W. C. Blankenship of a chance at a second term on the executive committee of the Texas State Teachers' association until the fall of 1935.

Mr. Blankenship was elected by a large majority over all opponents at Houston in 1930 to represent the 16th congressional district on the committee, and his term expires Thanksgiving. The new district places Big Spring in number 19 with Lamesa, the old 18th district. V. Z. Rogers, superintendent at Lamesa, represents the 18th district and will continue to serve for the new 19th as his term does not expire until 1935.

Students Planning To See El Paso Game

Fifteen to twenty boys and girls have announced their intention of seeing the game in El Paso, September 10. The means of transportation are varied. The more fortunate ones will "ride the cushions," while the less fortunate friends will ride freights and hitch-hike. In view of some news, the way will be rough and stormy for these last, as all buses and hoboes are now being picked up.

Ralph LaLonde, senior of Big Spring High School and formerly of Austin High School, is completing arrangements by which a number of boys and girls can stay in private homes in El Paso during their stay in that city.

Is This Oratory Or Physical Ed?

This being the first time that public speaking has been offered in Big Spring High School, only eleven students signed for it at the first of the term. Now, at the end of the third week, there are 33 enrolled.

Most pupils went to the class with the intention of learning the art of public speaking the first thing; but this, as they found out was all wrong. The class first met a P. E. class. During this time they have been trying to stand on the balls of their feet, their shoulders back, chin in, etc. All of this is much to the amusement of the classes across the hall. After the class posture is corrected, the students are called to the front of the room one by one and are taught how to breathe from the diaphragm.

Those who took the course, thinking that they were lucky to get out of English, were wrong. Once a week each student must bring to class a list of grammar errors he has noticed. This is not all, the class is given a dictionary drill often.

The pupils expect that soon they will be able to do what their original intentions were, but until then they must stand correctly.

Features: Building orators begin to think that they have signed for P. E.

Choral Club Is Organized Here

The Choral Club has been organized under the direction of Mrs. Bruce Frazier, who for several years has been its leader, and has aided in the advancement of the music in Big Spring High School.

Mrs. Frazier has been testing voices the past week, and will continue to do so this week. The year's work will not be started until after October 1st, at which time the club will start on its Christmas music. The club is undecided whether it will work up an opera or a miscellaneous program for the rest of the year's work.

Rowena Gibson and Eugenia Merrick attended the Lubbock game.

How Cardui Helped Lady Get Stronger

"I was in a weak condition when I started using Cardui," writes Mrs. Oscar West, of Dayton, Texas. "I found it helped me greatly. My appetite was poor and I had lost weight. It was an effort for me to do my work. I felt tired all the time. I read that other women took Cardui as a tonic, so I decided it would help me. It strengthened me and increased my appetite, and I felt better than I had in a long time. I think it is a great medicine for weak women."

New Orleans Takes Dixie Series Championship In 2 To 0 Victory

NEW ORLEANS—The New Orleans Pelicans, champions of the Southern association, Tuesday swept forward to their first Dixie series title by turning in a third straight victory over San Antonio, Texas league champs, in Helmsmann park.

Dennis Galehouse, the Pel's fair-haired boy, facing the Missions for the third time in six days, made it a shutout, 2 to 0, and became the undisputed local hero of the 1933 season.

He yielded only five scattered bingles while his teammates were reaching Abe "Payday" Miller for nine safeties, good for runs in the second and fifth. Louis Berger, relief utility man, playing third base, drove in both of the Pel runs, accounting for two hits in three times up.

Less than 2,500 witnessed the deciding contest of a series far from being a financial success. Total attendance for three games here and three in Texas was only around 26,000. With players participating only in the first four day's receipts, the Pel's figure to get only about $218 each and the losing Missions slightly less.

Both sides went out in fast order—three until "New Orleans" half of the fifth when Autrey and Berger, the 1-1 two up, each doubled, scoring Autry. Harrington flied out, Galehouse fanned and Knothe fouled out.

The nearest San Antonio got to second base was when Cliff went out trying to steal it in the second. Fred Tauby was sent in in the ninth as a pinch-hitter for Miller. Galehouse fanned him.

THE RETAILER--

Molder of the American People!

The Administration clearly recognizes the vital importance of the retailer in the influencing of public taste, public opinion. General Johnson has termed the retailer the most important cog in the recovery program . . . not only because the retailer employs so many persons, but more because of his intimate, direct, persuasive relationship to the consumer. The General has stated that NRA will succeed only if public opinion accepts it, works with it . . . and that in the molding of public opinion the influence of the merchant is next only to that of the press of the nation.

The alert producer is ever conscious of the close and influential relationship of the American retailer to the American people. He knows that the favorable interest and sustained good will of the country's merchants are essential to the most efficient and most profitable merchandising of his product. He also knows that the daily newspaper which the retailers find indispensable in their business is of the utmost importance in developing and sustaining that interest, that good will. In Big Spring and Howard County . . . The Big Spring Daily Herald is THE newspaper.
