WASHINGTON
By George Durno

As you're notified by now in the news columns administration officials have declared war on the "influence bootleggers" with a capital W.

More dismissals and resignations in various sections of the country may be expected shortly in Public Works, and Civil Works Administration and the Home Owners' Loan Corporation.

Also some of our bigger-time Washington lobbyists are going to be exposed publicly unless they get their noses out of firing range in quick order.

One "influence" racket operating here is badly in need of a airing. On Capitol Hill there are certain congressional secretaries who will pull the house or senate on any given piece of legislation for $50 or $100.

The poll is made simply by circulating among the other secretaries—who have no particular reason not to say how their bosses stand.

Such vote forecasts in the past have proved to be about 98 per cent accurate.

Asstute lobbyists engage some one on each side of Congress to count the eyes and noses on a particular bill.

Then they touch up a big business or industrial firm interested in the legislation and promise to "deliver" so many senators and Representatives—for a handsome consideration.

This sharp dealing has even got to a point where payment is made by the vote, or every vote the lobbyist fails to produce he agrees two of three extra shall be deducted from his account.

The alleged lobbyist has nothing to lose. He knows from experience the poll will be so near right he won't miss very many. Then he pockets the difference between his fee and the $100 or so it cost him to have the check made.

A Washington agent who refuses to have anything to do with such a business estimates several of the Congressional secretaries pick up $1,000 to $1,500 a session this way. His figures may be exaggerated.

Gun-Shoe

Heads of the new emergency recovery agencies are complaining bitterly but privately that some members of "the Little Congress"—as the secretaries are called—have recently been guilty of bootlegging jobs for personal profit.

Some of these assistants have been very persistent in calling and writing personnel officers to the effect, their members of Congress is most interested in getting a particular constituent placed.

A little gun-shoe work has developed instances where the Senator or Congressman whose name was thus used had never heard of the job-seekers.

Gold

Earle Balle, who is really Acting Undersecretary of the Treasury, told newspapermen informally that no special arrangements were being made to refinance the R. F. C. debentures being used in governmental gold purchases here and abroad.

There are $75,000,000 worth of these debentures. They come due Feb. 1. Balle indicated they would be taken up from the general Treasury fund.

Around $50,000,000 have already been used for purchases—mostly in foreign capitals. Treasury scouts are wondering whether a decision has been reached to limit gold-buying between now and Feb. 1 to the remaining $25,000,000.

The only rise the Brookings Institute got out of the administration with its report condemning the gold-buying policy was a nickel.

After letting the American quotation rise at $34.01 for 18 days Treasury price manipulators raised the rate to $34.06 the day the Brookings report came out. Secretary Morgenthau refused to admit he had read anything but the headlines on the Institute's analysis of the futility of the present operation.

Still it was significant that administration leaders no longer contend the price of gold and commodity values will fall; hand in hand. They simply say they're satisfied some commodity prices have risen.

Ritz To Give Children Annual Christmas Show

Each year the R. & R. Theatres have entertained the children of the city with a free picture show on Christmas Day.

J. Y. Robb Friday announced that kiddies will again be the guests of the Ritz theatre Monday 10 a. m.

A special picture is being brought here by Robb for the occasion. In the past the theatre has always been crowded with children.

Mrs. Clyde Sanders of Trona, Calif., is here for a Christmas visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Will Olsen.

Newsboys Guests Of Kiwanis Club At Christmas Tree Party Thursday

One of the most enjoyable events in the history of the Kiwanis club occurred Thursday evening at the Crawford hotel when more than forty newspaper salesboys and carriers were guests at a Christmas party put on under direction of a committee headed by Nat Shick.

Each boy received of the Christmas tree an envelope containing a letter of Christmas greetings from the club with a dollar bill attached. The boys kept their sealed envelopes containing the presents until they reached their homes before opening them.

A chill supper was served by the Crawford Coffee Shop, with ice cream donated by the Snowwhite Creamery and Carl Blomshield president of the club.

President Blomshield welcomed the visitors and Wilbert Moore, Herald newsboy at the Settles hotel, responded.

Mr. Shick acted as chairman of the program. Mrs. Lula May Carlton, club song leader, sang "Silent Night, Holy Night," with Miss Elsie Willis playing the accompaniment. The crowd joined her in singing "Oh, Come All Ye Faithful." Miss Willis played a solo Little Miss Jane Tingle, with Mary Settles at the piano, appeared in a song and dance number. George Cross and Randall LaVelle, Star Telegram newsies, played two numbers on their French harps. Following a special solo by Mrs. Carlton, Rev. W. H. Martin, vicar of St. Mary's Episcopal church, was WASHINGTON, (UP)—Harry Drought, San Antonio, has been chosen for appointment as the administration, coordinator for relief and recovery activities in Texas.

AUSTIN (AP)—George Sheppard, state comptroller, and member of the Texas Bond Commission charged with the duty of selling state relief bonds, said Friday he was hopeful that the full amount authorized, a $2,750,000 issue would be sold on readvertisement. The commission Thursday received bids totalling $1,017,500.

Additional offers coming in Friday were expected to raise the amount to $1,250,000 Sheppard said. The relief program is virtually at a standstill as a result of inability to sell the bonds. With the fund about depleted the federal government has refused to advance any more until the bonds are sold.

Preacher Observes His Twenty-Third Year In Ministry

Twenty-three years ago Sunday Rev. Woodie W. Smith, pastor of the East Fourth Baptist church, preached his first sermon as a gospel minister.

For his text he took the story of the birth of Christ from the second chapter of Luke's gospel. Since that time he has used the same text for his Christmas message.

Sunday morning he will observe his twenty-third anniversary in the ministry by bringing a message from the same text used in his initial sermon.

"It was very poor preaching," said Rev. Smith of his first effort from the pulpit, "but I did the best I could and have been trying to make each of my succeeding sermons better than the one preceding. While I make no claim to greatness, I am glad that the Lord has signally blessed my efforts through the years."

He has preached in sixteen states and in Mexico and Canada. Rev. Smith spent ten years in evangelistic work and thirteen years in the pastorate. He has served as pastor at Rosenberg, Knox City, Fort Worth, Crowell, and Big Spring. He also held a pastorate in Buckingham, W. Va.

Special music has been arranged for the Sunday morning service by Carl Young and Mrs. Hugh S. Thane.

A special Christmas program will be given 7:15 p. m.

Differential Rates Reduced

Territory Will Remain Unchanged

Big Spring And Midland Remain In Area; Order Effective Feb. 20

AUSTIN—Lon A. Smith, chairman of the Texas railroad commission, announced the commission had issued an order reducing the differential rates on rail traffic to, from and between points in south and west Texas by 25 per cent.

The reduction will apply to all less than car load traffic and traffic moving under class rates.

The commission, Smith said, maintained the Texas differential territory without change and refused the application to extend the territory to include Big Spring and Midland and the territory west of Sagereton to Spur.

The order will become effective February 20. The case has been pending since January 7, 1929.

The differential territory roughly is that area south and west of a line from Corpus Christi to Higgins, through San Antonio, San Angelo, Midland, Fluvanna, Slaton, Lubbock, Fullerville and Farwell.

The reduction will apply to such commodities as agricultural implements, bags and bagging, fruits, nursery stock, vegetables, canned goods, cotton fabrics, animal and poultry feed, poultry, pecans, rough rice, sugar and oil well outfits.

A proposal for abolition of the differential territory also was denied, Smith said.

R.F.C. Fears Report On Gold Purchases May Help Traders

WASHINGTON (UP)—In a few more days the Reconstruction Finance Corporation must make its monthly report to congress, itemizing all the millions of dollars it has spent, and where. Every dollar must be accounted for.

Between $50,000,000 and $75,000,000 of RFC cash has been used to buy gold on foreign markets in furtherance of President Roosevelt's monetary program.

If the exact amount of these gold purchases is published, Chairman Jesse Jones fears the information will prove valuable to foreign exchange speculators and others. He doesn't want that to happen. So the best mind of the RFC, the bookkeepers, the accountants and the other experts in such matters are busy these days trying to discover a way whereby the gold purchases may be concealed legally in the next monthly report. They haven't decided upon the method, if any, yet.

Jimmy Durante, the comedian with the nose has had his name copyrighted for Santa Claus reasons. The idea is that he can cash "I should anybody want to manufacture a Jimmy Durante rocking chair, a Jimmy Durante cigar, or a Jimmy Durante hobby horse.

Many citizens have had their names registered with the government for the same reasons. They include Mary Garden, Mary Pickford, Babe Ruth and Henry Ford.

When people of Big Spring and surrounding territory buy tickets for the Lions club sponsored show beginning 8:00 p. m. tonight they will be receiving an evening of good entertainment in return and at the same time swelling a Christmas fund for poor families and children.

Proceeds from the "Song and Dance Hotel" a Robert Reigel production, will be used to bring happiness to unfortunate on Christmas Day.

The Lions club entertainment is being presented this year to fill the charity breach occasioned by absence of the regular Goodfellow fund.

Reigel's "Song and Dance Hotel" was enacted as a community program recently before more than 1,800 people in the municipal auditorium.

It will be presented again in the municipal auditorium and its sponsors are working toward another capacity crowd.

Thomas Brooks and his Collegiate Rhythm Kings, an eight piece musical unit, will furnish music for the program this evening. The (Continued On Page 5)

Texas' January Crude Oil Quota Reduced 4,000 Barrels By Ickes; Production Costs To Be Reported

Lions' Show For The Poor Set Tonight

'Song And Dance Hotel', Which Recently Made Hit, Is Offered

WASHINGTON, (UP)—The House and Ways Means Committee Friday approved tentatively a liquor tax bill estimated to bring in $170,000,000, including the revenue from beer.

The committee adopted a levy of $2 per gallon on distilled spirits, estimated to bring in $300,000,000 on an estimated consumption of 150,000,000 gallons during the first post repeal year.

The committee rejected a proposal to allocate a portion of the revenue to states.

Andrews County Offers Bounty On Coyotes, Rabbits

ODESSA—In a determined effort to rid Andrews county of expensive predatory animals and pests, the Andrews county court recently set up a bounty of five cents a head on jackrabbits and 25c a head on coyotes, and voted an appropriation to buy poison to kill out prairie dogs and ravens.

The campaign is to be handled, it is understood, by Civil Works Administration labor, with materials furnished by the county.

The predatory animals and pests have done much damage in Andrews county and the campaign is considered by experts as a very good investment.

A reduction of 4,000 barrels in the daily oil production quota assigned Texas by Interior Secretary Ickes, the federal oil administrator, will be required of the Railroad Commission at its hearing Dec. 28 at which prorated schedules for January probably will be assigned.

Allocations released at Washington, to become effective at 7 a. m. Jan. 1 in each belt provide a reduction of 27,000 barrels or from 2,210,000 to 2,183,000 barrels per day.

Simultaneously with this issuance of the new crude production quotas, Ickes ordered a survey of the cost of producing oil and issued a regulation limiting gasoline stocks on Jan. 31 to 51,500,000 barrels, an increase of 500,000 barrels over the Dec. 31 limitation.

Texas' quota was fixed at 884,000 barrels per day, a cut of 4,000 barrels compared with the December allocation of 888,000 barrels.

Mexican Victims Of Rail Mishap Buried

Twelve Mexican children, crowded together with mama and papa into one open touring car, had a Merry Christmas Thursday because their automobile had a flat tire.

Bob Taylor, who has been Santa Claus to many children for years, noticed the children.

So he hustled them away to his quarters at the Lincoln Tank company where he had his Christmas tree, and gave each one a gift.

The food conservation committee of the Los Angeles chamber of commerce reported gifts of 1645 tons of foodstuffs last year for relief work.

Price Hiked To 64 Cents Under Order

Lifting Of Commodity Prices, Stimulation Of Exports Expected

WASHINGTON (AP)—Silver coinage Friday was commanded by the president in a sudden expansion of his monetary plans for lifting commodity prices.

By proclamation he opened federal mints to newly-mined silver in a program estimated to push the metal's price upward, add millions to the nation's mining wealth and spur exports to silver-using countries.

Addition of silver to the money base was seen by experts as a means of attaining the dollar of constant purchasing power advocated by the president.

Silver purchases will stimulate, temporarily at least, commodity and security prices.

Economists agree the government's plan brings to "silver men" visions of revived mining camps, increased employment and prosperity. They believe mines will be worked at a profit now. The government offered a price of 64 cents an ounce Friday, twenty one and a half cents above Thursday's quotation.

Texas Boy Bringing Up Ten Young Lions

BROWNSVILLE, (UP)—Ten lions, a boy and a dog growing up together on a farm near here will perform some day, under the big top if the boy's dream comes true.

Manuel King, 15, son of W. A. (Snake) King, is one of the world's youngest animal trainers. He and his police dog rolled and romped with the 10 lions as cubs. Now he is working them into an act which he hopes will entertain great crowds of circus-goers, Americans.

The boy was taken with the lion taming idea when J. C. Guilfoyle, a veteran trainer, was hired on the elder King's snake and wild animal farm.

Manuel learned his first lesson from Guilfoyle—never to look away when working with lions. The youth has a discretionary fear of the lions which his instructor commends. Although he has plenty of courage Manuel takes no foolish chances.

There was a period when the strange group of lions, a boy and a dog were separated. The boy's father, fearful lest the growing cub would maul the youth, ordered him outside the cages.

Even then Manuel would reach through the bars.

Finally his father saw Manuel's desire to become a lion tamer was sincere and again the youth went into the cages under Guilfoyle's tutelage to begin the tedious training for his career.

Happy at last, Manuel works for hours inducing one of his lions to make a single move. Occasionally he even misses his lunch, but he is mastering an arena technique which one day may win him international fame.

Residents of Mescham, Ore., hid "Old George," a pet elk during the fall hunting season, to save him from hunters.

Standby Menus For Christmas Dinners; Last Minute Christmas Suggestions

The Yule-tide spirit can be captured by using the entrancing table decorations and favors prevalent this year. A simulated fir tree, about twelve inches high is a good unit around which to arrange this festive table. The tree are green standing in bright red tubs, trimmed with red berries and topped with a chocolate Christmas bell wrapped in colorful tin foil. Or instead a figurine of Santa might serve as a centerpiece. A real story-book Santa too, clothed in white fur, shiny red boots, a red bag tied around his waist with bright colored tin foil wrapped gifts (of chocolate) popping out.

A simpler and less expensive way is to arrange a centerpiece of candy. Use candy in the Xmas colors and intersperse with those fascinating tin foil wrapped chocolates that come in such lovely colors. There are any number of these: miniature Santas, Xmas trees, stockings, chocolate bells and the like.

And for favors the grand, old-fashioned gum drop so dressed up and in such an ingenious manner it has attained a new position in the candy realm. Here's how Santa Claus appears formed of gum drops: he has a red hat, a pale yellow head, a red coat with a strip of yellow down the front, black boots and he stands on a tiny red gum drop mountain. Gum drop poinsettias are charming and likewise Xmas trees and colorful bits of holly.

The Unexpected Gift

A rather good way to handle that unexpected gift situation and also to add zest to your holiday color scheme is to have popcorn balls heaped under the tree or on tables. While the syp on the ball is still warm sprinkle a few bits of crushed red and green stick candy over the top to give the proper Christmas touch. Wrap the popcorn ball in bright colored wax paper and by blending your colors tastefully very striking effects can be achieved.

A few packed in a Christmas box are very convenient for filling in as last minute gifts.

Christmas breakfast is customarily somewhat of a ceremony and here are a few ways to make the occasion festive. Serve grapefruit and place in the center three or four small bright colored candles instead of sugar. They are attractive to look at and soon dissolve, sweetening the fruit.

At any rate, when the government offered $900,000,000 in 2-1-4 per cent certificates the other day, the issue was oversubscribed in big time.

This, of course, is not to say that adoption of direct inflationary measures would not harm the market for government bonds. But it is a pretty fair sign that what has been done so far has not shaken the confidence of investors in Uncle Sam's intention and ability to pay back what he borrows.

NO TIP FOR WAITER?

When Grover Whalen, New York City's NRA administrator, suggested the abolition of tips for waiters as the best way of agreeing on wage scales under the restaurant code, he touched on a reform which probably would appeal to both wage-earner and the public.

Most waiters, it seems safe to assume, would prefer to work for a regular and adequate wage rather than depend on the generosity of the people they serve. Most diners, undoubtedly, would be glad to get away from the need of pouring out a steady stream of dimes and quarters.

But it is a little hard to see how the step would work out. The expenses of restaurateurs would be increased very materially, and prices would go up. Are we ready for such a rise, just now?

Cranberry Jelly Salad With Celery

8 squares cranberry jelly
1-2 cup diced celery
1-2 teaspoon salt
5 pieces lettuce
6 tablespoons mayonnaise
Arrange lettuce on salad plates, top with portions of rest of the ingredients and serve at once.

Baked Date Torte, Serving 6 (Using Left-Over Confections)

1-2 cup sugar
1-2 cup flour
2 cups chopped dates
2-3 cup broken nuts
1-4 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 teaspoons baking powder
3 eggs

Mix ingredients and pour into greased shallow pan, set in pan of hot water and bake 40 minutes in moderately slow oven. Serve pudding warm or cold, cut in bars. Top with whipped cream or lemon sauce.

GAY LIVING TOUCHES FOR CHRISTMAS TABLES

At Christmas time the shops are filled with small favors such as imitation Yule logs, snowballs and reindeer. These, together with small Christmas trees, can be used most effectively for the dinner table. An attractive touch may be given by bringing on a big cake for dessert—a cake with white icing, and with 25 red candles burning brightly on it.

CHRISTMAS CAROLS HELP BRIGHTEN YOUR PARTY

If you like Christmas carols and think that others may too, bring together the most musical children in your neighborhood, teach them a few carols and then just before your Christmas party is under way have the children sing them. The children may be given some holiday favors before leaving.

CHRISTMAS SUPPER

If you want your Christmas dinner to be a family affair but would like to have a Christmas party during the holidays, why not a supper party - n one of the evenings following Christmas? A good supper menu could be made up of cream of corn soup, cold turkey, cranberry jelly, baked open potatoes, sprinkled with paprika and filled with butter, celery and for dessert, pumpkin pie.

VARIETY IN PUMPKIN PIE

Try this for a pumpkin pie that's different. When the pie is nearly done cover with marshmallows and return to the oven for 10 minutes, or sprinkle finely grated cheese over the top and bake five minutes. Another variation is to use whipped cream or ice cream for a topping.

HOUSTON (UP)—Beer distributors of Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Arkansas and Louisiana were called to meet here December 28.

They will form a sixth district regional board of the National Brewers, Wholesale and Distributors Association and name a representative to confer soon with the distributors' code authority in Washington, according to Julian Weslow, Houston director of the national organization.

Weslow called the meeting at the instance of President J. J. Biggins of the association.

The distributors' code was signed by President Roosevelt December 13 and became effective December 18. The meeting here will help set up machinery for enforcing the provisions, Weslow said.

Lindbergh To Aid In Settling Controversy On First Airplane

WASHINGTON (UP)—A scientific feud which has raged since the days of the bustle and the high wheel bicycle apparently is on the road to a peaceful settlement through the good offices of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

He will be asked by Dr. C. G. Abbott, secretary of the Smithsonian Institution, and Orville Wright, pioneer aviator, to head a committee to decide whether the Wright brothers or Dr. Samuel Pierpont Langley invented the first practical flying machine.

Wright said in Dayton, O., that he was delighted over Dr. Abbott's proposal to call in Col. Lindbergh. Wright claims that he and his brother, Wilbur, flew the first airplane at Kitty Hawk, N. C., in 1903. The Smithsonian claims that Dr. Langley invented a successful plane earlier in the same year.

The controversy, which has raged sporadically these 30 years, caused Wright to send his Kitty Hawk machine to the Kensington Museum in London. He hopes, along with Dr. Abbot, that settlement of the argument will return the Wright machine to the United States, to rest in the place of honor at the Smithsonian, between the Langley Dragon Fly and the Lindbergh Spirit of St. Louis.

Dallas Tech Wolves Take Light Workout On Concho Field Today

SAN ANGELO—Having left Dallas Thursday night, the Dallas Tech Wolves arrived here early Friday morning for their semifinal high school football game with the San Angelo Bobcats Saturday afternoon.

Coach Wally Davis plans to send the Wolves through a light workout here Friday afternoon. Coach Harry Taylor also plans a light drill for the Bobcats, who went through the final stiff session Thursday afternoon.

The game looms as a toss-up between the two well balanced teams, who can run and pass.

Before leaving Dallas, Coach Davis said his boys were in good shape for a stiff contest and were confident of victory.

Extra seats have been erected on the San Angelo field to handle the crowd, which is expected to be the largest in the history of football there.

Working long on passing and kicking and going through dummy scrimmages on their own plays and some of the opposition's, the San Angelo Bobcats Thursday finished their training.

The team will time its final drill

Miss Lillian Shick Entertains Pupils

Miss Lillian Shick entertained the pupils of her room with a jolly Christmas party this week in the basement of the First Baptist church.

A Christmas tree was decorated with gifts for all the children. Prizes were won by R. H. Miller, Loy Gulley, Travis Myrick and Jack Gary during the games.

Hot chocolate, cake and individual candies were served to the following: Gene Hardy, Flavellen, Mary Freeman, Tommy Gage, Jack Gary, Louise Gensert, Dewitt Gilliland, Loy Gulley, Howard Hart, Pauline Henry, Doris Hapinistall, Billie June Hittson, Aveye Holland, Marvin House, Clinton Hull, Conrad Iverson, Mary Ethel Jesse, Jean Jackson, Pat Kelly, Arlene Kennon, Velma Kilgore, Roy Knappa, Ailton La Velle, Emogene Lay, Betty Joe Leatherwood, Jacquelyn Lewis, Ora Claire Lumpkin, Pauline Matlock, Travis Myrick, Howard MacMahan, Sam Mellinger, R. H. Miller, Corinne Mittle, Jewel Monteith, Fay Morris, Brice Hendrix.

Miss Shick was assisted by her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Nat Shick, with the entertaining.

The Home Economics Club met this week with a good attendance and a splendid Christmas program. The sponsors, Mrs. Mary McElroy Bishop and Mrs. George Brown were present.

Miss Bobby Gordon presided and Houston P. O. Picks Up Houston (UP) — Business is picking up at the Houston post-office. Postmaster Roy E. Nichols said that 27,000 more packages were mailed and about 10,000 more received here yesterday than on the same day of 1932.

Cattleman Sees Better Times Soon

Dolph Briscoe, President Of Association, Reviews Prospects

SAN ANGELO (UP)—Dolph Briscoe, president of the Texas & Southwestern Cattle Raisers' association, predicted here that the cattle industry would be on its feet again soon and walking with firm step in the ranks of successful business.

Briscoe, who operates 200,000 acres of land in Texas and 200,000 in New Mexico, admitted that the sheep business this year made him the money that enabled him to stay in the cow business. He runs about 15,000 head of cattle and 15,000 of sheep. He was here attending the convention of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' association.

"There is no reason for cattle being in the position they occupy today," said the 45-year-old Uvalde man who has been a cowman since he was 15. "I believe that some day soon the cattle business will jump up and run off like the goat business did this spring." He recalled seeing a banker refuse to take goats as collateral last year, and cited the great rise in mohair this fall.

Government purchase of cattle in Texas for relief will do no good, because of the small number bought, Mr. Briscoe said.

Briscoe has made two trips to Washington as a member of the committee of five named by the American National Livestock association to seek an adjustment of the cattle business. He will make another trip shortly. The association will meet at Albuquerque, N. M., Jan. 10, 11 and 12 and rename the old committee or appoint a new one.

Financing of the cattle business is in good position now, although practically the only money that can be obtained for agriculture is from federal agencies, he said. The cowman is in better shape than he was last March, few foreclosures are noted and paper maturing now is being renewed.

Dorothy Dean Long Has Birthday Party

Dorothy Dean Long entertained her friends with a jolly Christmas and birthday party Thursday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil A. Long. She was aided in the entertaining by her little sister, Romona.

The house was cleverly decorated in red and green with pot-daisies also carrying out the color scheme.

Birthday cake and ice cream with Christmas candy and apples were served by Mrs. Long to the following guests: Heartsell Faucett, Billy Lou Harper, Elnor Hubbard, Betty Lou Ammann, Jimmy Fay Rogers, Ollie Claude McDaniell, Junior Madison, Helen Marie Ellis, Pauline Sanders, Betty Bob Dills, Mildred Lowe, Iris Louise George, Letta Frances Walker, James L. Webb, Jr., Boyd Jack McDaniel, Margy Davis, Din Lewis, Jr., Harold Ellis.

Dorothy Mae Miller Is Hostess To Club

Dorothy Mae Miller had a Christmas tree party for the De Luxe Club Wednesday evening. Gifts were exchanged and many enjoyable games played.

In the Christmas bell game N-elou McRea won the prize, some pretty handkerchiefs.

The refreshments consisted of sandwiches, hot chocolate and fruit cake. They were served to N-elou McRea, Elnora Guthrie, Florence Guthrie, Mary Louis Gilmore, Reede Winalow, Barbara Freeman, Mildred Herring, Jessie Mae Couch, Margaret McDonald, Helen Duley.

Reede Winalow will be the next hostess.

Triangle Members Enjoy Tree Party

Mrs. Omar Pitman was hostess to the Triangle Bridge Club Wednesday afternoon with an unusually pretty Christmas party. The mantel of the living room was banked with Louisiana holly brought by the hostess' brother. A spray of the holly was on each refreshment plate as a favor for the guests.

An artistically decorated Christmas tree held the gifts each member brought for the annual exchange.

Mrs. Johnson made club high score and Mrs. Jim Davis guest high. Mrs. Johnson received a candy jar and Mrs. Davis, companion picture.

Members attending were: Meses James Little, Monroe Johnson, W. B. Hardy, Emil Fahrenkamp, Robert Currie and E. W. Lomax.

Mrs. Currie will be the next hostess.

Students registered at the Alaska School of Mines for the winter's mining course ranged in ages from 18 to 65 years.

Sweet potatoes will keep longer in storage if they are harvested before the first frost.

announced that the club would distribute food, clothing and toys to needy children. A program of talks and readings and singing of Christmas carols occupied the time.

CHAPTER 25

"Will this kind of your attack be again tomorrow night," he asked 'ven-Ogg, "or wait till they've strengthened by Slam-Klale's men?"

Tem-Og said positively they would wait. It was only at LeNol's insistence that they had not done so in the first place.

"How long will it be till these other men get here?"

It would take a runner two days and two nights to reach Slam-Klale's band and three days and two nights for the band to come south.

Curt continued his questioning for a while but learned nothing more of any great importance. The information that it would be several days before the other Klonehes could get there gave him an idea.

His party would not need him during that time. He certainly could put that freedom to good use. For one thing he could keep that rendezvous with Smash; and for another he could find out something about Sonya—who she was, what lay behind this strange trip of hers.

She herself would not tell him, but he believed he could easily enough get at the truth by a round about bit of strategy.

Mora and more he had become convinced that her trip was some crucial and weighty mission. He had made up his mind to stop his own search temporarily and see her through; but he could do nothing so long as he was working in the dark. His hunt for Karakhan was already at a standstill; she was all tangled up in it, and he was hampered by a clumsy party. The quick and elegant way of handling the muddled situation was to find out her mission drive it through for her and then go after Karakhan.

Outside the tent he and Paul talked his plans over and agreed on them.

"I'd better leave now," Curt concluded. "When day breaks I've got to be far enough away from here that the Klonehes can't spot me. Sneak my canoe down to the lower end of the island. Paul. Don't let these others know what you're doing. Put in one blanket, one paddle and a bit of grub."

"Now, Paul, you'll be in charge here while I'm gone. Everything'll be up to you. Keep a good guard at night and make Francois and Jocku walk the chalk line."

At the fire he talked a few words with Sonya, who was making the Indian some hot broth. Paul came back presently and gave him the sign that all was ready. Slipping away from camp, Curt hurried down to the canoe, pushed off, and crossed the dark lake to the Lakittmah mouth.

Not until he started up the river on his lone trip did he realize how desperately tired he was. Three nights hand-run without sleep, the brush in the pass that morning and the fight two hours ago—it was the climax to a whole week of heavy strain.

His body ached, his brain was all fagged; the old leg wound that caused his limp was paining him dully, as it always did when he was near exhaustion. At times the temptation to tie up to the bank and go to sleep almost overwhelmed him.

Daybreak found him stumbling exhaustedly across a long portage ten miles up the Lakittmah. When the sun arose, he was halfway to his goal. At an overfalls pool he stripped off his cloths, bathed in the icy green swirl to refresh himself and then forged ahead.

At mid-morning he paddled out upon the lake that was old John's winter home.

On the south shore, where a log cabin nestled under the pines, his glistening amphibian was riding at anchor. With a great sigh of relief he dipped his weary paddle and headed for the ship. An exultation lightened his weariness. Time and distance, man's two old enemies in the vast North, dwindled to nothing when one stepped into a plane.

Smash came out of the cabin and caught the prow of the canoe as it nosed ashore.

"Hullo, old man! I began to think you wasn't going to show up at all." He noticed Curt's haggard face, the lines of exhaustion. "From your looks, you just did get here."

"How long've you been waiting?"

"Three days."

"Have any trouble finding the place?"

"Not a speck. That chart was a beaut." Out of sympathy for Curt's tiredness, he nobly suppressed all the question boiling inside of him. "What'd you say—what's on deck?"

Curt beached the canoe and untied the mooring ropes of the plane. "We're leaving here. You take the controls."

Inside the cabin he refastened the mechanic's seat and rear place, stowed them in the fuselage cubby, and made himself a pallet on the floor.

Smash climbed in with the coiled rope. "Where to, old man? North, east, south, west or straight up?"

"South," Curt bade. "To Vancouver. And don't let any ducks roost on your pontoons while you're getting there."

Smash started the motor, stood out upon the lake, lifted the ship onto the step, took off and circled for altitude. High enough to clear the ranges, he headed south.

As he passed over the first towering snow-cap he glanced down at his partner. With packchute for a pillow and an arm bent under his head, Curt was dead asleep.

It was the stopping of the engine that roused Curt. He had become so accustomed to the throbbing roar through many hours that the sudden silence jarred him wide awake.

He sat up, trying to place himself. With helmet askew Smash's seat, dog tired, a discarded cigarette hanging from his lips. Outside somebody was warping the plane alongside a pier and making it fast.

He slid open a panel and looked out. It was early dusk. They were in some good-sized city—a mass of buildings stood lined against

Return To 3-Cent State Gasoline Tax Is Forecast

AUSTIN (UP)—A movement for return to a three cent gasoline tax next year was forecast at a meeting here of directors of the Texas Good Roads Association.

Present tax, state and federal, is five and a half cents. This tax, declared the "giant of all taxes" at the meeting, will have a half cent reduction Jan. 1 when the federal tax is reduced to a cent.

Jack Elton, gasoline tax expert of the association, said that there is a strong movement to have congress remove the other cent. This will be followed by an attempt to have the state tax of four cents returned to three cents.

More revenue will be received from a three cents tax than from the present tax, it was predicted.

W. O. Huggins, Houston, president of the association, said it had been 100 per cent effective in carrying out its 1933 program. Successful combat of a movement to divert gasoline tax to schools was cited. He said this was done with co-operation of the State Teachers Association.

He declared both school men and oil men are learning that good roads pay them a royalty. "The material man and contractor," Huggins said, "get money out of road construction only once. The roads pay a perpetual royalty to the oil men in increased gasoline consumption and to the schools in their share of such tax."

He predicted that federal road expenditures for Texas will be continued in the national recovery program. Roads, he said, are the most effective form of construction to reduce unemployment in Texas.

He said that all road material, with the exception of a small amount of reinforcing steel, comes from within the state, and the money put in roads goes nearly 100 per cent for labor.

Directors re-elected all officers of the Good Roads association. In addition to President Huggins, they are: Vice-President W. W. Gibbard, Dallas; H. C. Meyer, Rockdale; J. F. Barnett, Palacios; and J. S. Birdwell, Wichita Falls; secretary-treasurer Arthur F. Fisher, of Houston; executive manager Ike Ashburn, Houston; and financial secretary Marshall R. Diggs, Dallas.

New directors elected were H. C. Leonard, Galveston; Tom K. Eppson, Abilene; Walter B. Scott, Ft. Worth; Ed Keaver of Ennis; and Louis Elbert, Galveston.

LIONS (Continued From Page 1) same orchestra appeared in connection with the production in its first run, playing its own arrangements.

The first part of the program this evening is woven into a definite plot. It is a spicy, interesting vehicle for the cleverly staged song and dance numbers.

When it was given before it was pronounced one of the best of its type of show. Many who previously saw it have tickets for this evening.

Costumes for the production were ordered out of New York especially for the occasion.

Contrary to most amateur shows, the "Song and Dance Hotel" moves along with professional smoothness. It is well rehearsed from both a dialogue and musical standpoint.

It keeps moving. All talent in the musical and dance numbers is taken from the ranks of Reigel pupils who have spent months practicing.

Many new features have been injected into the musical since its first run. Arrangements are in charge of Paul Rix and Harry Adams.

Adams announced earlier in the week that Forsan and oil field people had responded graciously to an appeal to see the show. He sold seventy-five tickets in that section with little effort.

Tickets will go on sale in the box office at 7 p. m. They are already on sale at the following firms: J. D. Biles, Mellinger's, Cunningham and Phillips No. 1 and 3, Dudley's Western Drug, Collins Drug, Barrow Furniture and the Chamber of Commerce office.

Extra Time Needed To Beat Wolves

Cosden Noses Out Colorado After Three Extra Periods

It took Cosden Oilers three extra periods to nose out Jim Canfield's Colorado high school Wolves in a terrific basketball game Thursday in Colorado.

Spike Henninger's Oilers took the game 53-50 but not until after David Hopper, Cosden forward, had fouled out and the Wolves had twice knotted the count in extra periods.

Colorado began a steady comeback in the last half, overcame the Oiler lead and tied up the game at 41-41 as the regular playing time ticked away.

In the first extra three minutes both teams added four points to its total. Three minutes more and they were tied at 59 all.

Cosden broke the tie in the third extra period, added three points and tightened its defense to where the Wolves were unable to count.

Morgan High, for 10 Oilers, was high point man with 20. Stagner, lanky Wolf forward, was close behind with 19, and Rodgers, Colorado, and Hopper, Cosden, were next with 12 points each.

War Threatened In Tibet After Death
Of Ruling Chief

PEIPING, China, (UP)—War at the top of the world, in Fabled Tibet, was threatened after the death of the Dalai Lama, its spiritual and temporal ruler.

The Panchan Lama, held by some Buddhists to be of higher spiritual authority than the Dalai and hence his bitter enemy, is in refuge in China and was expected to make a bid to rule the country, sprawled in Eastern Splendor over the world's highest mountains.

(A London Daily Mail dispatch quoted a reliable source at Lhasa, the Tibetan capital, as saying that the Dalai Lama was poisoned.)

It took two days for news of the Dalai Lama's death to reach the outside world from Lhasa. Few people knew, because of the country's isolation, that the Dalai Lama's army was invading China's western frontiers when he died.

The Panchan Lama is on his way here from Mongolia. He is supported by China, whose authority in Tibet was denounced in 1912, when its diplomatic representative was expelled.

With China's support the Pan-chan Lama was believed likely to try to make himself the supreme ruler, overthrowing tradition which has it that the Dalai's successor will be found only after long search and will prove to be himself, rein-carnated.

A robber, firing three shots at his intended victim, hit a mutton of a cash register in Seattle Wash., and made it ring. He fled.

CHAPTER XI
THE HELPFUL MOLE

That mole who I'ved in a pine tree led the doll, the woolly dog and the Queen of Fairies down such a cute little winding staircase —down and down until they reached quite a large room underground.

There stood a tiny table and a little blacksmith's forge.

"Now just a minute," said Mister Mole. "I recognize that brass.
It makes you invisible to others. I should never have made it, but a queen paid me well for it. I was afraid it would cause trouble. Have you come far?"

"All the way from Toyland," said the woolly dog.

"Toyland?" said Mister Mole.
"That's where Santa Claus lives. If you're going back I want to see him a gift. I hear he makes all the little children in the world happy on Christmas day."

All the time he talked he was feeling a tiny poker. Then he turned to Christina, placed the poker on her little nose—over carefully—and in a minute the poker had melted it. He did it so quickly that he didn't even stunge Christina's little arm. And there he stood before them just like a flash.

"Woof, woof," barked the dog.

CHRISTMAS

Christmas was derived from the medieval "Christus Masses" which means the Mass of Christ.
On the 25th of December, the majority of the nation of the world celebrate this day, by a feast and the giving of presents, commemorating the birth of Jesus our Christ.

Christmas is a time in which he should try to make others happy by giving, because this day is only observed once a year. Christmas has not always been observed, because people used to believe that we should celebrate the death of remarkable persons rather than their birth.

Every one should have the happy spirit of Christmas on this day by singing Carols and giving presents, which as we know has contributed greatly in making this an interesting event to families.

The staff wishes everyone a "Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year."

ther, Mrs. C. of Brookshire, Tex.
Norman G. Malachuk will spend the holidays with homefolks and sweetheart at Barlett, Tex.

Miss Miri Moore will visit in Lubbock, Tex.

Horace White will grace the family cowpen at Meadow, Tex., with his presence.

Miss Dorris Turner will visit with her parents in Abilene, Tex.

Miss Eloise Nelson will be at home in Sterling City until the middle of next week and then she will go to Lubbock for the remainder of the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Conger will visit in Sterling City.

CHRISTMAS PROGRAM

A Christmas program was given in the auditorium last Tuesday night. The following numbers were given:

1. A Christmas Pantomime—by the Fourth Grade.
2. Christmas in Mother Goose Land—By the first and third grades.
3. Waiting for the Carol Singers
By the fifth, sixth and seventh grades.
4. —A Bed Time Song—Calvin
Rude.
5. Reading: "How Santa Comes"
—Paul White.
6. Song: "Christmas Time Is Coming"—First and third grade.
7. "Christmas Eve Night"—High school.

SPORTS

The Buffaloes defeated the Colorado Bulldogs Friday night of last week 29 to 19. The Buffs held the edge all through the game. Outstanding for Forsan were Lites, who scored 9 points. Ian Yarbro and Asberry. Outstanding for Colorado were Roger and Strup.

The Forsan girls' team won over Colorado girls 18 to 16 in a thrilling game the same night the boys played.

Monday night, the Christoval
Bats defeated the Forsan Oilers 21 to 17. The Oilers held the lead throughout the game, but with a minute and a half to go, Christoval rallied and won the game.

BUFFALOES INVADE WOLVES DEN

Tuesday night the Buffs journeyed to Colorado for a game with the high school Wolves. The Buffs played one of the best games that they defeated the Wolves 32 to 25.
They defeated the Wolves 2 to 25.
It would be impossible to name the Buff's stars as everyone played a jam-up game.

Stegner of Colorado was high point man with 14 points. Schultz of Forsan was next with 11 points.
Stegner and Lavery were outstanding for the Wolves.

At the end of the first quarter the score was 8 to 5 in favor of Colorado. The Buffs increased it 15 and 11 at the half. At the start of the second half, Stegner got loose for four field goals and the Wolves jumped into a three point lead.
Lites called time out at the start of play again and when playing was resumed the Buffs scored two quick goals to regain the lead. The score at the third quarter was 25 to 21 in favor of the Buffs.

Walter Schultz was reported to have been seriously injured while working about a week ago. He was injured but not seriously and is playing ball again.

The Buffs received an invitation to participate in a Class B basketball tournament in the Garden City gymnasium next month. The girls also received an invitation.

BOOK REVIEW
"The Rise of Silas Lapham"
By William Dean Howells

"The Rise of Silas Lapham", is a book that deals with real life.
In it, we find the ordinary characters that we meet in every day life. The story does not go into the unreal, but stays with realism.
William Dean Howells has made the book interesting by plot, which grows naturally and logically; and by the portrayal of his characters.

A jovial, middle-aged man, is Silas Lapham. His education is meager, but he is rich in the value of money. He obtained his money through the manufacture of paint, that was found on his father's farm. The beautiful, spend-thrift ways of this outstanding character are really human.

His desire a social position for his family, which consists of a wife and two pretty daughters.
They are backward in the ways of society, for they are merely country folks. Their poor efforts to socialize themselves are indeed interesting.

Romance, graft, humor and family problems fill the lives of this peculiar group, and the readers sympathy is touched and his interest is quickened as he peruses the book to its very satisfactory conclusion.

The following letters to Santa Claus were found this week:

Forsan, Texas,
Dec. 21, 1933.

Dear Santa Claus:
I am a little girl seventeen years old and I have been a good girl all this month. I want you to bring me a pair of shoes with great, big shiny buckles. Santa, please bring me a book on "How to make a person beautiful." You see I want to win the affection of Bobby As-berry. He seems so elusive and Santa, can you tell me what Thomas Yarbro and Avie Keith were whispering about when I slipped up behind them in the History room the other day? I want some apples and candy and nuts, but don't send me any nuts like Mutt Scudday or Rayford Liles cause I don't like that kind. I want this book: "Plane Geometry in Three Easy Lessons." I shore will thank you for all this.

A Little Angel,
Grace Tomison.

State Director of Finance Roland
A. Vandergift is advocating the finger printing of all persons handling California state funds.

Dear Santa Claus:
We have been good so we want these things for Xmas: a table, a set of dishes, rag doll, close and a doll trunk.

Yours truly,
Anita McDonald,
Minnie Campbell,
Doris Sadtler.

Forsan, Tex.
Dec. 21, 1933.

I want a book that will tell me how to acquire a Mae West figure.
Ever since the days of Diamond Lil I've wanted to be like her. I wish I could say "Come up to see me some time, big boy!" like she does. Santa, tell me why Seymour Ballard looks so much like a donkey and why Audrey Chambers looks like a puritan preacher? I want a pair of rubber boots and a pair of overalls, and I want $20 worth of fly paper to catch a "feller" with.

Yours truly,
Lettie Belle Thorp.

Forsan, Tex.
Dec. 21, 1933.

Dear Santa:
Please bring me a life belt. You see Santa, if I can't get a date with Nova Holloway for New Year's night I am going to jump in the river and I want the life belt to use in case I were to decide not to drown. I want an old model Ford for Xmas, all painted red with black trimming. Bring me a can of sour kraut without any weiners, cause I don't like weiners

they make me sick.

Sincerely yours,
James Madding.

Mission Celebrates
Citrus Fiesta In Face Of Hurricane Losses

MISSION, (UP)—Mission citizens are perennial optimists. Last year, they staged one of the Lower Rio Grande Valley's most successful "first" celebrations, the Texas Citrus Fiesta. It was to have been an annual affair and last year's was one of the most colorful frolics the Valley has seen in several years.

This year, the September hurricane wiped such a big part of the Valley's citrus crop that the annual glorification of the Valley citrus had to be passed. What fruit remained was needed by the grow-been required to string long lines of golden citrus fruit along the Mission business men decided to
