WASHINGTON
By George Durno

Unions—Senator Bob Wagner of N. Y. and his National Labor Board are doing yeoman service in settling labor disputes but the Blue Eagle is pulling a tough load on them. About 200,000 striking men and women have been returned to work more or less satisfied. Better than half that number more still are out. Almost without exception the strikes have been rows over the open shop. A lot of the employers are dead set against letting the American Federation of Labor organize their workers.

The workers balk at joining company unions.

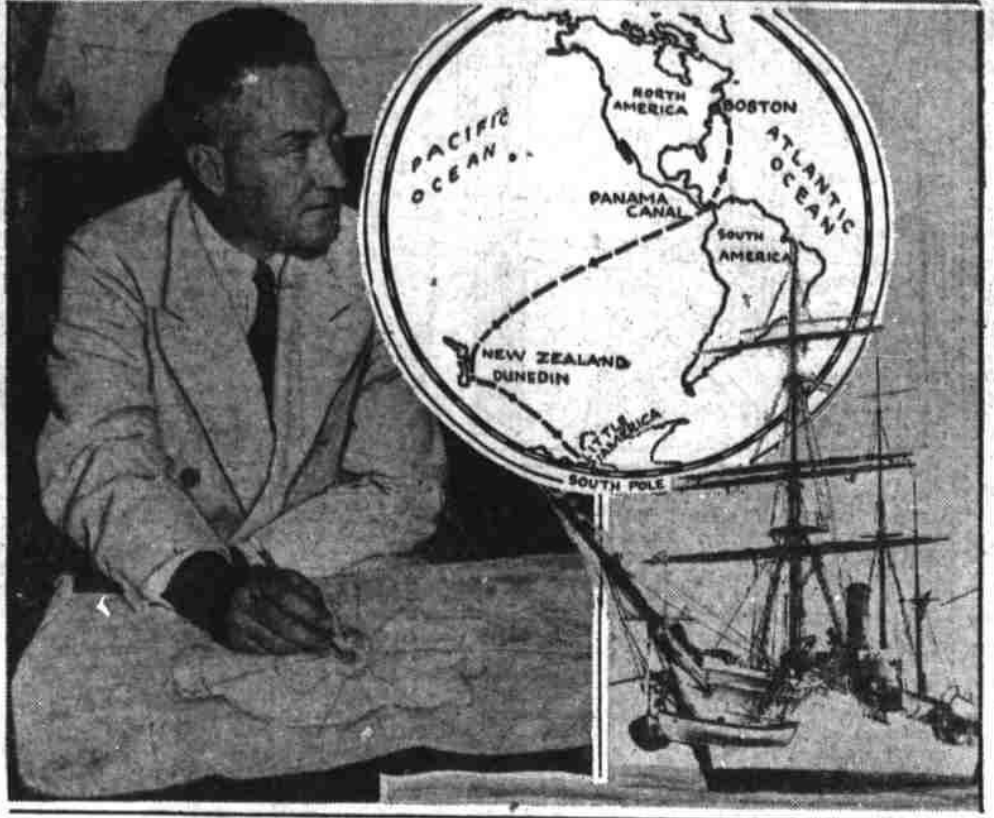

The National Labor Board is now dealing with strikes involving around 100,000 employees. All of them are NRA differences.

The Conciliation Division of the Labor Department is mediating walk-outs involving around 20,000 more. Here again the question of right to organize juts up.

President Green of the A. F. of L. says he is going to organize all of the unorganized and adds there is no room in the United States for any other labor movement.

Some of the biggest industrialists say otherwise. It looks like a merry battle.

BYRD SAILS SOON ON SECOND ANTARCTIC TRIP

Rear Adm. Richard E. Byrd, who flew over the south pole in 1929, heads a second expedition to the Antarctic for exploration and scientific research. A party of 70 men including at least nine scientists will accompany the admiral. The group will sail from Boston about Sept. 25. They will go through the Panama Canal to Dunedin, New Zealand, Byrd's ship base on his last expedition. From there they will proceed to the Bay of Whales and land an ice party of about 30 men in Little America. One of the expedition's two ships, the old coast guard cutter Bear, is shown at right. # Thompson Sees Prospects For Higher Oil Allowable

No Reduction Now Expected In This State

Refiners' Market Demand Of 1,212,000 Barrels Cited To Ickes

WASHINGTON (AP)—Possibility of an increase in allowable oil production for Texas, provided sufficient consumptive demand could be shown was seen Saturday by E. O. Thompson, member of the Texas railroad commission, after renewed conference with federal oil administration.

Thompson said Friday he was satisfied a reported cut intended for Texas had been averted and Saturday again put before the administration the statement that Texas had a daily refiners' market for oil of 1,212,000 barrels or 237,000 barrels more than the allowable output.

"We may not get an actual increase in allowable but at least we are not going to get cut, as had been feared, and there is a possibility we can get a raise if we can show sufficient consumptive demand," he said.

He explained there was a distinction between the market demand to refiners and the consumptive demand in that the latter term referred to what oil refiners currently not only wanted to buy but which they were prepared to refine for immediate consumption.

URSCHEL GETS DEATH THREAT

will be out for the ceremonies, "you always say to you, if the showings are covered you can get your assets with wife in hell, because that will be the only place you can rest on your worst enemy, Geo. R. Kelly. I will put my prints below so you can't say some crank wrote this."

This is a copy of part of a letter purporting to have been written by George "Machine Gun" Kelly, fugitive desperado, to Charles F. Urschel, for whose kidnaping 12 defendants are on trial in Oklahoma City. Kelly is sought in the case. This letter, airmailed from Chicago, contained a number of threats, including death to Urschel. ## Suspension For 2 Years Is Suggested

Allred Declines To Comment On Former Governor's Statement

AUSTIN, (AP)—James E. Ferguson suggested prosecution of suits against 15 large oil companies alleging violation of Texas anti-trust laws be suspended for two years.

Ferguson said that to obtain a conviction at this time would hamper the Industrial Recovery program and cripple an industry that employed thousands of men and paid a major portion of the state's tax bill.

Prosecution could be suspended during the industrial emergency without the state waiving any of its rights, he said.

Ferguson complimented the attitude taken by Attorney General Allred on pending legislation to modify the anti-trust laws to permit Texas industries to take full advantage of the National Industrial Recovery program.

Allred declined to comment on Ferguson's suggestion to suspend prosecution temporarily.

Urschel Defendant Freed

Government Plans Extension Of Cotton Price - Bolstering Plan To Include Other Farm Products

3 Others To Get Ruling On Monday

Nine Defendants Must Await Jury Action Judge Decides

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Charles Wolk of Minneapolis was freed and ruling on two other defendants deferred until Monday and the nine others in the Charles Urschel kidnaping conspiracy must await jury action, Judge Edgar Vaughnt ruled as court recessed Saturday.

OKLAHOMA CITY, (AP)—Judge Edgar Vaughnt overruled the first defense demurrer interposed in the Charles Urschel case as court opened Saturday. It was the contention of Ben Jaska, attorney for Albert Bates, that the prosecution never had established the fact that Urschel had been moved from Oklahoma City to Texas and confined. It was the defense's first day in court, the prosecution resting Friday. Seven identical demurrers then were submitted by attorneys for Minneapolis and St. Paul defendants.

Both the Howard county commissioners court and the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce are aroused because of a ruling that forbids the state highway department to introduce any property for highway right-of-way.

In keeping with a law rushed through the 43rd legislature, only the county is vested with the right of condemning land for right-of-way or channel purposes.

Howard county and Big Spring are concerned because Highway No. 8 south from here must pass through Glasscock county before connecting to the Sterling county segment of the road.

Contract has been let for construction of a surfaced road from here to the south Howard line.

But Glasscock county refuses to condemn property for No. 8 right-of-way across a corner of the county. Commissioners of that county refused to condemn it with the state footing the bill.

In a letter directed to Senator Arthur P. Duggan, Judge H. R. Debenport and the commissioners of Howard county Saturday called attention to the rather ludicrous situation of having a paved road end on bald prairie.

The court urged Senator Duggan to introduce immediately such legislation as would give the right of eminent domain to the highway commission.

C. T. Watson, chamber of commerce manager, said the chamber would actively fight for such a change.

Five Hurt In Two Crashes On Highways

The confidential reports Deputy Public Works Administrator H. W. Wells sent back from his nationwide inspection tour convinced all concerned that a lot of red tape must be cut. Allotments of public works funds aren't turning into payrolls.

NRA hasn't been going ahead too fast, it was agreed. The real trouble is that other agencies have been lagging too far behind.

Prices are going up and men aren't going back to work in large enough numbers.

Aim To Raise Farm Purchasing Power In Ratio To Price Boosts

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Extension of the administration's plan for supporting cotton prices of 10 cents per pound to other major farm products Saturday became the immediate objective in the government's efforts for lifting farm purchasing power quickly to keep pace with industrial price boosts. The program will take the form of a gigantic effort to place "a bottom" under farm prices through extension of credit wherever it can be definitely coupled with production control. Farm officials regard production control as insurance for the government's loans. They believe this feature will take the credit plan definitely out of the class of arbitrary price-fixing.

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Legislation has been prepared by Chairman Jones, of the House Agriculture committee to provide for purchase of a half million bales of cotton and forty million bushels of wheat to be purchased by the government and delivered to the Red Cross for relief work this winter.

Mark Harwell Hurt In Friday Mishap; Mexicans Figure In Accident

Five persons were injured Friday evening and Saturday in two automobile collisions on the Bankhead highway east of the business district.

A. J. Fraiser, drilling contractor, and Mark Harwell, electrician, narrowly escaped serious injuries Friday afternoon when the automobiles in which they were riding collided.

Harwell was rushed by ambulance to a local hospital where he was given emergency treatment for lacerations about the face and head. He was subsequently released.

Fraiser received minor bruises and cuts.

Both cars were practically demolished by impact of the collision. Fraiser's car, a new Chevrolet, was moving west and Harwell's car was being turned into a tourist camp on the 1,000 block on East Third street.

Three Mexicans were injured late Saturday when their old model car collided with an Auburn sedan driven by W. C. Campbell of Eastland, who escaped unhurt. His car was severely damaged and the Mexicans' car demolished. The crash occurred about a mile east of the Corden refinery.

Arturo Montemayer, Westaco, Tex., received a broken leg and Apolonio Montemayer and Julian Montemayer sustained bruises and lacerations. They were taken to the Big Spring hospital in an Eberley ambulance. Three other Mexicans, all from Westaco, were in the car.

Four Bandit Chiefs Killed

GUADALAJARA, Mexico, (AP)—Four bandit chiefs plotting an armed uprising in the State of Jalisco were killed Friday in an exchange of shots with police.

General Justo Gonzalez and Colonel Alfred Ramos were shot to death in a house where they had met their followers. General Perfecto Macdonal, Chief Gonzalez's staff and his brother, were killed in the outskirts of the city.

The four had planned to kidnap prominent ranchers and capitalists and demand ransom to support their uprising set for next month.

Cotton Rises $3 Per Bale

Realizing Halves Extreme Gain In Saturday Trading

Funeral services for Floyd Gullidge, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Gullidge, 701 Douglas street, were held at Plainview Wednesday at 10 a. m. with Rev. W. G. Bailey of that city, former pastor of the First Methodist church here, officiating. Interment was at Lockney in the Floyd plot, where other relatives are buried.

Palbearers were childhood friends of young Gullidge. They were Clayton Carroll, Marvin Miller and Henry Scott of Sylvester, Ed Hart, Clyde Terry, and Mr. Slaughter of Plainview.

Mr. Gullidge is survived by his parents and a sister, Ruth Gullidge of Big Spring and a sister, Mrs. A. G. Winn of Sweetwater.

Floyd Gullidge was killed Monday night of last week in a collision of two trucks on a highway 18 miles north of Tulla as he was returning to Big Spring with a load of oil well rods. He was accompanied by J. P. Harman, of Big Spring, who was severely injured.

Ruling May Prevent New Road Paving

Charge In Law Forbids State To Condemn Glasscock Strip

Both the Howard county commissioners court and the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce are aroused because of a ruling that forbids the state highway department to introduce any property for highway right-of-way.

In keeping with a law rushed through the 43rd legislature, only the county is vested with the right of condemning land for right-of-way or channel purposes.

The equipment, under a plan outlined by the committee, will be put to use in canning farmers' food products for a small per cent of that canned.

Food thus obtained by the committee will be used in feeding destitute this winter.

If and when the requisition is authorized by Col. Westbrook, the committee stands ready to purchase 50,000 cans.

THE LITTLE FELLOW GETS A CHANCE

There came to this desk the other day a copy of a Slovak newspaper, printed in McKeesport, Pa., for circulation among Slovaks in American industrial cities.

To the eyes of a native American it had a strange, foreign appearance. It bore the name of "Samostatnost," it was printed in an incomprehensible tongue, and it seemed to be just the sort of publication that sometimes makes a 100-per center wonder if the national melting pot is ever going to Americanize our fore-born citizens.

But the editorial page proudly bore a large NRA eagle; and under it, in English, there was a double-column editorial which summed up the aims and policies of the NRA program as well as the most devout patriot could wish.

In it the editor undertakes to tell American Slovaks what they can do to make the program a success.
 His remarks are worth quoting:

"First," he says, "thank Mr. D.
 Roosevelt for setting up to re-establish a truly fair balance again between American employer and American employe, but it stands to reason that such tremendous readjustment cannot be done overnight. Therefore, let us give him our faith and Janet Gaynor and Warner Baxter have what are reported as their jolliest roles in "Paddy, The Next Best Thing," which opens at the R & R Ritz theatre today. A scene from the picture is reproduced above.

confidence that in due process he will do so, and our understanding that it must be done gradually.

"Second, the least we can give to a daring fighter like our president, is our confidence and trust that he will win, and what he helps us to earn let us throw it back into circulation, that more and more of the little fellows, like we are, shall have a chance to earn and spend again and in so doing this nation might go full speed ahead, in full production and in full consumption.

"So we print today in our masthead the sacred insignia of the NRA."

If our foreign-language newspapers are printing advice of that kind the 100-per center can stop worrying right now. You might be able to smooth out the wording of that editorial a little but you couldn't improve on the general spirit of it if you tried all week.

CHICAGO FIGHTS BACK

One bit of news which has gone almost unnoticed in the past few weeks is the fact that Chicago seems at last to be making a determined effort to get her notorious underworld under control.

During a three-week period ending Aug. 28, more criminals were sentenced to prison in Chicago than in any similar period in Chicago's history. It took the courts just one day to convict the murderer of a policeman and sentenced him to death. All in all, 207 thugs were sent off to prison.

It would be easy to get too enthusiastic about this, of course.
 Neither Chicago nor any other American city will permanently solve its underworld problem until it tackles such problems as poverty, message for his bearings. The array radio station at Monterey, picking up his message, gave him his bearings. He wired back:

 "When was that lighthouse erected?"

The answer:
 "Yesterday. It's a motion picture set."

He replied:
 "Do they have to be so realistic?"

The same thing happened twice that day, and once the next day, until the gossiping radio operator let the news of the movie light-house be generally known.

Because of the sound conditions at Point Lobos—and with squealing gulls and barking sea lions they are not very good—a duplicate of "Paddy's" home had to be built at Fox Movietone City, and all of the "sound shots," not requiring the "close-up" of the ocean, were made on the lot.

Quilt Exhibit To Be Sponsored By Elbow
 Demonstration Club

Plans for disposing of the quilt made by the members of the Elbow Home Demonstration Club occupied the attention of that club at its regular meeting Thursday.

The club will sponsor a quilt exhibit on the last Saturday in November, the place of exhibit to be announced later. Quilts will be exhibited in two groups, those used in the present plan, and those that are strictly quilts. The latter group will be sub-divided into quilts made by women and by girls; in this group two prizes will be awarded, one for the best in each class.

No prizes will be given for the bed-spread-quilt display, according to the present plan. At the exhibit the Elbow quilt will be given away.
 Any woman in Howard County with a quilt to exhibit is invited to take part.

Present at the meeting were:

Watson Queries
 Officials Upon
 Whirligig Tip

Information contained in Wednesday's national Whirligig in the Daily Herald has led Manager C. T. Watson of the chamber of commerce to query authorities about the proposed federal building for Big Spring.

This city was to have had a post office building erected here some time ago, the contract having been let after more than two years delay. Soon afterwards it was learned that the lowest bidder was approximately $10,000 over the appropriation for the building. Since that time nothing has been done about the building.

Wednesday Watson noticed that there is a strong probability that federal works projects will be included in the public works program.

Accordingly he has written Clifford Jones, regional public works director, and Silliman Evans, fourth assistant post master general, to see if there is any probability of getting the Big Spring project in for immediate action.

 novelty glass cat filled with bath salts.

Smartest Sea Lion With Circus

How's the stock market this morning, Walter? "Buddy," known as the world's most intelligent sea lion, seems to be interested in the daily happenings of the world, as with his master, Walter Jenner, he looks over the morning paper.

"Buddy" will be one of the attractions to be seen with Dill's Circuses which comes to Big Spring Monday, October 2 for two performances at West Third Street show grounds.

"Buddy" grandson of the first sea lion ever imported from Alaska by P. T. Barnum, besides being one of the most amusing and fascinating acts featured with Dill's Circuses this year is also one of the friendliest.

In the street parade "Buddy" rides his own diminutive automobile and is a popular favorite with the children. He loves crowds and quite frequently his trainer Walter Jenner, takes him to the municipal swimming pools for a swim with the boys. Recently at Utica, N. Y., he gave an exhibition in the Y.M.C.A. pool, and the boys enjoyed themselves so much that they made him an honorary member.

Dill's Circuses is the largest tented organization in the world still giving daily street parades.

Buddy is but one of the forty featured acts in the 2-hour program of Dill's Circuses which, this year concludes with Buck Steel, and his all Hollywood Stars—Wild West.

 same motif.

Mrs. Thurman made high score for members and Mrs. Fred Stephens for guests. Other guests were Mrs. R. C. Strain and Mrs. Shine
 Phillips.

Members present were Mmes. Ira Thurman, J. D. Biles, Albert M.
 Fisher, C. W. Cunningham, and

DALLAS, (UP) — Dallas club women assembled to discuss the Texas Federation of women's clubs' permanent headquarters building at Austin, issued a statement calling attention to the part they had played in construction of the building.

The resolution, to be forwarded to Mrs. J. W. Fincher, of Houston, president of the federation, was copied to an article in an Austin newspaper.

Mrs. A. S. Lewis, Dallas, president of the second district of the Texas federation, was instructed to forward the resolution so that it would be delivered at the meeting of the building and headquarters committee tomorrow. The meeting, it was said, allotted Dallas women, inasmuch as no invitations to attend were received here.

"We have not been asked to any of the meetings pertaining to building matters," Mrs. W. C. Martin, member of the state board said.
 "I resent the way we have been treated and charged."

"The women of Dallas who are detained in Colorado and fined.
 Two south-sayers of the group of-hands upon money during the oplowed, the Gypsies were enriched by twenty dollars.

The affair was reported soon afterward and Constable Smith Mc-Kinnon rushed to Colorado when informed they had been defamed.
 When he arrived in the Mitchell county town, the money had been refunded and a fine paid.

OKLAHOMA CITY, (UP) —
 Frank Russell, head of the Russell Petroleum Co., today surrendered a Gov. W. H. Murray's veto without over drilling of an oil well in northeast Oklahoma City.

Two back private and a neuter-ant, all that remained of the expeditionary forces, were withdrawn from the well after Russell ratcheted his sword to Adjutant General Murray's battery.

He now must find a new location that is more than "3,000 feet as an arrow flew" from the doorstep of the executive mansion.

Members of the Texas federation of women's clubs resent a published statement in an Austin paper which said "discussation between the two sides of the state. Each side and members of Texas women, but the building problem an uncertainty much of the time," the resolution said.

Defending their position, the delegates declared:
 "That Dallas money, makes the opening of the club house possible" that the local women have met every call of the state federation president, that the state federation has ignored Dallas women and declined to confer with them regarding matters pertinent to themselves."

Ruling Made On Credits To Convicts

Good Behavior Credit Can Not Be Made Until They Are Earned

AUSTIN, (AP)—The attorney general's department ruled Friday credits for good behavior upon convicts' sentences could not be allowed until after they are earned. Good behavior credit can only be allowed year by year as they are earned, the ruling said.

the petitioners and their parents retained counsel and filed a summary suit in district court here. Judge W. C. Davis will hear arguments in the case next Tuesday. The petitioners include several young married women, most of whom want to attend A. and M. to complete work for degrees. Sentiment among the 2,000 male students seemed to be divided. "It'd like to see girls admitted," said M. E. Erwin, a senior from Charlotte, Texas. Edwin was calling on Miss Frances Locke, one of the petitioners, when a reporter arrived to get her views. Cook G. O. Todd, A and M. '37 and former commandant of cadets at the school, is not in accord with the sentiment of a large number of former students against making his alma mater co-educational. Todd is counsel for the petitioning young women. "I am in high hopes that we shall be able to convince Judge Davis that the mandamus should be granted," said Todd.

Steers Display Marked Improvement In Lubbock Loss

Westerners Score Pair Of Counters

Bristow Jubilant Over Showing, Although 14 To 0 Defeat Suffered

Coach Bristow declared the Steers showed "million dollar" improvement under the arms of Tech field Friday night in spite of a 14 to 0 drubbing suffered at the hands of the hefty Westerners.

Bristow, Brown and all the 2,500 spectators were especially enthusiastic over the performance put up by the 170-pound Olie Cordill, a sophomore Cordill's running, passing, charging and kicking was a threat every time the ball was snapped to the Big Spring backfield. Behind good blocking offered by Bechtol and Cauble, and Dean, husky end, the big charging quarterback, No. 34 in a borrowed jersey, did nearly everything but score touchdowns, which, after all, is the deciding feature in football games. The first score was tallied late in the second quarter after six plays. Ryan went around right end for eleven yards and the counter. Newton made a perfect place kick for extra point.

All of the third quarter was played in Big Spring territory. Short runs by Hale, Newton, a 37-yard gain on a forward pass play in which interference with Receiver Whitehorn was charged, placed the ball on the 12-yard line. Newton picked up two yards at the line, took the ball on the next play and emerged from a jumble to cut straight through for the pay-off strip. But he was downed a yard from the goal. A plunge over the middle of the line put it over for the second and last touchdown. Hodges dropped out of the line to kick a perfect placement for the 14th point.

Big Spring threatened seriously to score only one time. Satterwhite returned Hale's punt to Lubbock's 40-yard line late in the final period. Cordill ripped off 11 yards, and Lubbock suffered a 15-yard penalty for roughing. Olie chose to toss passes in the closing minutes but two of them bounced from the Bovine receiver's hands.

All agreed that Cordill was the light of the battle in every instance, but was no match for the heavier and balanced club that the Westerners were. The game was the first important one of the season for each club. The twenty-two boys Bristow took to Lubbock were entirely uneducated in the ways of football. With not one regular player back this year, the Bovines went on their initial visit with very little hope, but their district prospects were considerably brightened by the exhibition.

The Westerners, who played with an unusual shortage of bobbles for a comparatively green team just opening the season, were on the offense most of the time. Weldon Chapman's team, heavier and more experienced in the pig skin ways than the local club, hustled on every play. However, both teams fumbled much too often to suit the coaches. The Bovine forward wall was much stronger than thought and held the opposition dead in their tracks and often threw the boys for losses.

Very little passing featured the Steers offense until the last pe-

Inflation Issue Smashes Through Party Lines, Pushes Congress And Administration Toward Open Break

Wallace's Chicago Address, Considered Second In Importance To Inaugural Speech, Taken As Direct Defiance Of Inflationists' Program

WASHINGTON, (UP)—The inflation issue is smashing through party lines and pushing congress and the administration toward an open break.

Congressional inflationists read an address of Secretary of Agriculture Wallace at Chicago as an unqualified defiance of their program.

Inflation appeared to have a majority of house and senate. The legislators were ready for a fight, and wished they were in session.

Senator Thomas, Dem., Okla., a leader of the inflation bloc, met Wallace challenge with a demand for a 40-cent dollar.

"Some of use last winter thought a 60-cent dollar would do the trick," Thomas told the United Press. "We've got it but it is not enough. A 50-cent dollar may not serve the purpose. We may have to go to 40 cents and should not hesitate to do so." The inflation fight will continue. You may depend on that.

Wallace's pronouncement that inflation has gone far enough for the time being and that the country must find its immediate salvation in increased payrolls and decreased farm production was a direct challenge to aroused majorities in both houses.

The speech was considered by capital observers as second in importance only to President Roosevelt's inaugural address in which he outlined the broad scope of his recovery plans. Wallace promised higher agricultural prices in a few months—specifically in January, and said they might be achieved in a few weeks.

That program scarcely meets the demands of such party leaders as Chairman Harrison of the senate finance committee who publicly stated after a conference with Mr. Roosevelt that the administration must infuse white crops still are in the hands of producers or accept mandatory inflation by Congress next winter.

Market reaction to the Wallace speech infuriated congressional inflationists. For whatever cause, commodity and stock markets sagged after the secretary spoke in Chicago. Cotton went off $2 a bale at the moment a disgruntled cotton conference was adjourning here without having obtained administration acceptance of its inflation proposals.

Some congressional inflationists who refuse to discuss greenbacks for publication agree privately that the printing press money is what they now are after. A $3,000,000,000 greenback issue, with provision for a mortgization, was included in the so-called Thomas inflation plan approved by Congress last session. The issue is discretionary with the president.

The administrator's money policy as outlined by Wallace did not ignore inflation. The secretary said he was for "controlled inflation."

The secretary's prescription was first reorganization of the domestic market; by controlled production. The long time plan of the administration was for expansion of foreign markets. And to expand foreign markets Wallace emphasized that this country must lower its tariffs to permit its customers also to sell.

Angus McTrevors, well-known local citizen, while visiting in the city last week-end had a narrow escape from what might have been a tragic ending. The serious accident loomed in the offing when Angus took a taxi and a few minutes later felt it leap forward and with increasing speed begin to veer back and forth along the street, whirling by cars, pedestrians, etc.

"What's the trouble? Hey!" shouted the alarmed Angus. The driver turned a pallid face.

"I've lost control!" he yelled. "I can't stop her!"

"Well, then," barked Angus like a flash, "shut off the motor!"

Promising Political Career Placed Under Cloud by Observation

Henry Waites, who had begun a promising race for City Alderman this week, is about to wobble under the strain, saying that campaigning may be all right for all of the people some of the time and all right for some of the people all of the time, but is all rats for him, personally, all of the time.

Waites' embittered outlook toward the electorate is attributed directly to an experience Tuesday afternoon when Henry, going on a house-to-house canvass, drew Mrs. Joe Peabery to the door and presented his card.

"Why, that's mighty nice of you," said Mrs. Peabery, beaming.

"You're the only one of the candidates that's thought enough of my vote to come ask for."

"Yes'm," beamed the nit-witted Henry back. "My candidates can do as they like, but I believe in coming to the plain people, Mrs. Peabery."

Assault and battery will probably be the charges.

PERSONAL IF TRUE

"When you were courting me, you hung around the house till it's a wonder papa didn't call a policeman," snapped Mrs. Luke Hinkley in the course of a slight difference of opinion Tuesday evening at the Hinkley residence.

"He did worse," sighed Luke. "He called a minister."

Citizen... YOUR HELP IS URGENTLY NEEDED

We must count on your help to fight the Sales or Consumers' Tax Bill which is again being revived in preparation for a swift drive to enactment during the Special Session of the Texas Legislature!

There's a job to be done if you and your family and all citizens of Texas are to escape further hardship and distress in bearing the burden of new and increased taxation.

The home owner, the farmer, the salaried employee and the wage earner... the common people, the salt and bone of this great State, face a call for aid, necessitated because the "special interests," the proponents of "more revenue," are preparing to choke an additional heavy tax down our throats.

To fight and again defeat this monster which strikes at the very hearth and home of our people, the Citizens Anti-Sales-Tax Committee needs YOUR help. The citizens of Texas are now urged to act... OR FACE THE SUFFERING that will result if a Sales or Consumers' Tax is enacted into the Laws of the State.

We All Must Act Now!

The "special interests" are clamoring for the Sales or Consumers' Tax... a part and parcel of a nation-wide scheme to make the common people bear the chief blunt of taxation. It is their intention (the owners of many acres of land and other real estate properties) to shift many millions of dollars of their present taxes to the backs of the toiling masses.

Citizens Anti-Sales-Tax Committee

Let's Finish the Job!

The several bills for new and increased taxation proposed at the last regular session of the Texas Legislature were defeated. But the "monster" is again being revived. So the Toilers of Texas again face the test—the ZERO HOUR! Our purses are thin, but we still have much that is worth protecting. And we can succeed in defeating this vicious menace ONLY if every citizen enters the fight and does his bit!

Our people today are staggering under the already heavy burden of taxation! Shall we stand idly by and let the proponents of "more revenue" further burden the masses with new and increased levies which are unneeded? It cannot be!

For the well-being of yourself, your family, your home and the toilers of your state, FILL OUT THE SLIP BELOW and mail in your opposition to Rep. Penrose Metcalfe or Senator A. P. Duggan. DO IT PROMPTLY!

Mr. Lee And Mrs. Rush Elected Officers To Head Ski-High Night Club For Year

Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Malone had a clever night party for members of the Ski-Hi Night Club Friday evening at their home. They used A Century of Progress motif throughout the party from the playing cards to the prizes.
Scenes from the Fair decorated tables and prizes. High score for women was a novelty tape measure and was won by Mrs. Rush. For men, a duck of cards each card with a different scene of the Fair, and done good work at one time, seem undecided about existence. Whether or not they will meet at all is yet to be seen.
The Emma Lard Longan Parliamentary Club which started out as a parliamentary drill class sponsored by the American Legion, has become a club in its own right and will continue its parliamentary drills and study for the time being. It plans later to become a Current Events club and is already outlining programs of that nature.
The City Federation has not had a meeting so far. Its existence seems also doubtful.

He jumped to the wrong conclusion

Henry Ford, Dearborn, Mich.

One of the most surprising letters I have received in a long time came recently. A man wrote to ask why I had "abandoned the low-price field."

We found the writer of that letter. He had used only Ford cars; his present car had served him seven years; he hoped sometime to replace it with a new Ford;—but, as he saw the Ford V-8's grow thicker on the streets, and noted their style and action, he just naturally jumped to the conclusion that these must be expensive cars, and that therefore "Ford had gone out of the low-price field."

Besides that, "did not this new Ford have 8 cylinders?" "Did not that prove that the car was not low-priced—for are not all 8's expensive?"

Hence his letter. He complained that after 30 years of making cars for the low-price field I had deserted my old customers for those who were used to spending more money.

Of course, a price-list soon showed him his mistake.

He was helped to his hasty conclusion by seeing a new class of people riding in Ford cars the last four or five years. It was once believed that no one who could afford a high-priced car would use a low-priced car.

But that has changed. The matter of value now comes first, the matter of price second. America used to buy price-tags, now it demands quality.

That explains why tens of thousands of Americans who can afford to pay higher prices, prefer to buy the Ford at a lower price, because in the Ford V-8 they get the quality, the performance, the comfort, the style which are supposed to be exclusive in very high-priced cars.

To be low-priced, a car is not necessarily cheap. A really cheap or inferior car never could become low-priced. Not enough of them would be bought to make a low price possible.

That means that to keep my prices low I must remain in the high-quality field, for it is impossible to have the price right unless the car is right too.

What I have done is to adapt the expensive V-type 8-cylinder engine to the low-price field, making it simple, and less expensive to own and drive than the 4-cylinder cars were.

There is one thing I would make clear to my friends:—my field is the low-price field and will always remain so.

September 22, 1933.

For The Love of Eve by Lucy Walling

BEGIN HERE TODAY

EVE BAYLESS, pretty assistant to EABLE BARNES, advertising manager of Bixby's department store, marries DICK BADEL, construction superintendent. He wants her to live up her job but she refuses. Eve does not want her employers to know she is married so they keep the marriage secret several months. At Christmas they announce it. They spend a brief vacation at the home of Eve's parents.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XV
Eve cupped her hand over the telephone and turned to Dick. Her shoulders dropped.
"Dick," she said, "it's Mona Allen! She says her boy friend can't bring her and she wants me to send someone for her. What shall I tell her?"
"Tell her to stay at home," Dick answered with twinkling eyes.
Eve, nervous and tired, pleaded in a deep whisper for him to drive over for Miss Allen. "She says it's only in the 109 block, darling, and I hate to offer her for office reasons."

With a shrug he agreed. Later he had ample opportunity to regret his decision. He sat waiting in the reception room of the boarding house where Mona Allen lived for what seemed hours. However, when the finally came down the stairs Dick felt his grievance leaving. She looked childlike and her round blue eyes lifted in an innocent expression as she slipped her arm through his and tripped along on her dainty spike heels to his roadster.

The other guests had all arrived when Dick and Mona reached the apartment. Eve had been forced to receive them alone and Dick saw that she was displeased. Mona had scored once more and Eve resolved not to forget it.
But there was no time then to give to such thoughts. Eve turned to her other guests and sought to lift the restraint which they seemed to feel at being together socially after a long period of purely business contact. The diffident one of the low brass candelabra that were Irene Prentiss' wedding gift and lighted fragrant candles diffused their fragrance throughout the apartment, carrying the spirit of the holidays.

Before long three tables of bridge were in progress. Arlene assumed the leadership here but, try as Eve might, she was not able to persuade George Bliss to join the same group. Again it was Mona Allen who interfered with Eve's plans. It seemed Miss Allen told fortunes. At the time bridge was announced Bliss found his hand being stroked and a softly purring voice coaxing him to sit down and "hav' his future predicted. Bridge was a poor bait in the face of that, Eve thought, as she watched the by-play and tried to help Arlene. Arlene, lovely in velvet of deep blue, kept watching the couple and had to be reminded often that it was her turn to play.

George Bliss had always felt that his was a sympathetic nature and an affectionate disposition, but he had not realized how much he craved companionship until this soft-voiced blonde girl in Chinese red chiffon told him so. Bliss found himself confiding to Mona Allen some of his innermost thoughts his likes and dislikes, even his thwarted ambitions and future plans. It required only a few artfully-put questions on her part, but he thought she read it all in his hand. With the greatest reluctance he relinquished his place to jolly Mr. Conners, super-salesman of electric appliances.

But Bliss remained within earshot of Miss Allen and could not be satisfied far away, although she read the palms of half those present. The others, she promised, she would read "the next time."
Marya was escorted by her fiance, to whom she had been engaged for a year and a half. Eve found herself liking this young man inasmuch as she knew it was their plan that after marriage Marya should give up commercial art in order to paint more ambitiously. Ray had brought his violin and played selections from several operas. Marya, in violent trepe, smiled serenely whenever his glance swept hers.
Before 12 o'clock Eve and Dick served the buffet supper and the guests formed cozy groups about the small tables. Mona Allen, however, managed a tele-a-tete with Bliss at a tiny table for two.

A discussion of current events arose around the super tables and Eve was proud of her well-informed husband. Dick who thoroughly read several technical magazines each month, had definite knowledge of scientific developments still in the formative stage.
New Year bells cut in on their conversation.
"Happy New Year!" everyone cried out at once. Then there was silence as they paused to listen to the shrieking blasts of factory whistles. Some where a cannon went off into the night and Mona Allen arose and called out "On with the dance!"

Before Dick could dial the radio to a suitable number Mona was in Bliss' arms and they were dancing gaily. Later Bliss escorted her home and Arlene's smile trembled a little when the couple left.

The guests had gone. Standing by the fireplace and looking up wistfully at Dick, Eve said softly "Love me?"
"Love you," declared Dick firmly, holding her closer.
"Nice party?" asked Eve, rumpiling his hair with her slim fingers.
"Good party," he agreed and kissed her smooth forehead.
"Then you don't mind about the antiques, do you dear?"
"They're nice, of course, but I didn't know you intended to buy them and I wondered just what you were going to use for money."

Eve's manner froze. She had not expected this. "I'll pay for them," she answered flippantly.
"I'm afraid you'll have to, Eve," answered Dick frankly. "You see the car needs overhauling and I planned to have it painted, too."
"That's a good idea. I've been ashamed of that car for a long time," Eve interrupted.
"And there's my insurance due in January," Dick went on, "besides the amount I will need to save out for the future."
"Save—save—save! If I had a lot of money I'd spend—spend—spend," Eve answered. "I don't see why we have to save all the time."
"Well, you may some day," Dick answered. "And maybe because of saving now you will be able to spend—spend—spend later. I'd enjoy that myself. Well, thank heaven the rent is paid anyway!"

But of course it was not paid. Eve had spent the money. Antique dealers do not customarily ship furniture to strangers until it has been paid for. Hence it was up to Eve to pay the rent from her own salary. And her entire check should have been applied on her account at Bixby's that month.
She saw no way clear but to do the one thing for which Dick would never have forgiven her. She went to Mrs. Brooks and explained that, without his knowledge, she had spent the money Dick had given her for the rent. She arranged to pay one-fourth of the amount each week during the month from her salary. Eve was forced to trust Mrs. Brooks' discretion yet she was often uneasy when she considered that the landlady might inadvertently let Dick or someone else know what had happened. She could only hope Mrs. Brooks would keep her secret.

Her account at Bixby's remained a problem. It was fortunate for her that Dick had never asked Eve what became of her earnings. So far since her marriage it had taken all she could accumulate to pay for her trousseau. This, too, she would never want Dick to know, since he shared her father's aversion to going into debt for finery.
This was January, 1929. It was well for Eve that she did not know what the year ahead had in store for her and Dick, of the rift the short year would bring in their marriage.

Thousands Of Jews From Germany Find Refuge With French

PARIS, (UP)—Of the 90,000 refugees from Germany, mainly Jews who crossed the frontiers in this largest migration of their race in more than four centuries, almost half have sought a haven in France.
German events have caused the greatest heira of Jews since thousands were ejected from Spain at the end of the 15th Century. Even the exodus of the Jewish masses from Tartar Russia has been eclipsed.
Rigid frontier control, an outgrowth of the World War, has confronted the fugitive German Jews with difficulties far more harrowing than ever before. Prevalence of unemployment has made the assimilation of German fugitives a source of constant despair.
Those administering relief to German refugees here estimate that 25,000 now are in Paris, another 15,000 elsewhere in France and the remainder scattered in Palestine, Poland, Holland, Czechoslovakia, Switzerland, Belgium and Britain.
For some, Paris merely is a way-side station on their longer trek to Palestine, Tunis, Morocco, Indo-China, Argentina, Brazil,

Advance Description Of Bridge Benefit Under Auspices Of Sorority Presented

Until a few evenings ago, your correspondent was suffering under the impression that he had no more bitter enemies than the Kappa Gamma sorority members.
Since a brutal attempt by the Kappas to peddle astride bicycles to the city park, the high Gamma and all the little Kappas have been looking for their correspondent. Something which he said in his earnest chronicle of the unforgettable event about forms, figures and fortitude of the young ladies seemed to have given rise to outright rage.
Thus it was a distinct surprise when that daring order invited this writer to tell of a bridge benefit in the Settles hotel.

The benefit, we are assured, is "the" event of the autumn, which is something indeed.
Everybody of any consequence and his or her dog, they told us, will be present at the affair. Other things whispered led your correspondent to believe that a few of no particular consequence will be admitted if they have what it takes to get past the gate keeper. Moreover, the Kappas are desirous that for Baylor College at Belton.

Mrs. Homer Rucker and little son, Lee Max of Sweetwater, spent the week-end here, the guests of the W. E. Rucker family.

WHIRLIGIG—

The 54,000,000 bushels allotted Russia and the Danube are a definite menace to price stability.

A quota of 560,000,000 bushels was divided between the Big Four—the United States, Canada, the Argentine and Australia.

That amount, with the growers, will take care of the needs of all importing countries, leaving the extra 54,000,000 to create a surplus and best down prices.

Notes

The old political stove league game of speculating on the Vice-Presidential nomination long before it comes due is being played.

Secretary of Interior Harold Ickes is mentioned as Mr. Roosevelt's next running mate because he is an Independent Republican.

Down at the Treasury Department they have little slips for the directors of interdepartmental correspondence which bear the names of all the higher officials.

The top name is Dean Acheson who is Undersecretary and the last is William H. Woodin who is merely Secretary. One survivor of the late administration is getting a teasing around. She is Miss Anne Shanksy, Herbert Hoover's confidential stenographer. She steps now from the State Department to the Bureau of Roads.

NEW YORK

By James McMillan

Inflation

The government's game of hide-and-seek with inflation has Wall Street by the ears. The best scores are convinced that inflation is coming. The only big question is when.

It's risky to try to call the play before the quarterback's signal. Insiders are still skeptical of inflationist claims that revaluation is only a few hours off. The inflationist is doing its damndest to sell this idea and may put it across through sheer pressure. But the situation calls for a series of line plays with NRA carrying the ball before we try for a field goal by drop kicking the dollar.

To try the drop kick now would be a tact admission that NRA was a flop as a broken field runner. That would be a dangerous admission even if it were true, which certainly hasn't been proved. New Yorkers who should know say that the quarterback feels that way about it himself.

But the question is whether he will not be obliged to change his mind because he is cut-out in the huddle. New York authorities say that nearly everybody else in Washington has a lively case of inflationitis. Even the staunchest local opponents of devaluation and printing press currency are now willing to concede eventual defeat.

They show it in several ways. Important holders of Government bonds are quietly selling them. All so ingenious methods are being worked out to export capital.

Tactics

The current play is interpreted as a final effort to substitute psychology for reality. The idea is to create the impression that real inflation is imminent and thereby ease the dollar off some more in terms of foreign currency. It is having that effect but the hitch is that it is not jacking up domestic farm prices proportionately. That's why farm leaders are so urgently demanding the real stuff instead of water injections.

They find their position not improved as advertised and they want action. The situation has gone beyond the point where credit medicine will satisfy them. The psychology may have to be abruptly abandoned in favor of a surgical operation.

New York sees Senator Harrison's enrollment among the inflationists as significant. Harrison is no maverick. His status in the Senate makes anything he says pretty nearly official.

Unfreezing

The betting here is that the Committee for the Nation will win out in its plan to unfreeze deposits in closed banks by the inflationist method. Even the Committee's critics admit that it has put over one of the greatest selling jobs on record. The wise boys of Wall Street are trimming their sails accordingly. One conservative says: "If we must issue paper money, thawing out congealed deposits is about the most useful thing we could do with it."

Check-Up

Few people know of the elaborate—and effective—check system which the Federal Reserve Banks have set up to get the dope on the export of American capital.

Last week a New York broker bought a big block of DuPont stock, which is also popular in London and can easily be marketed there. He thought his operation was a secret. The same afternoon he had the surprise of his life when a high-up in the local Federal Reserve Bank called him on the phone and said: "Don't think that we aren't wise to you because you got away with a similar transaction two weeks ago."

The Federal Reserve Banks have an almost complete list of "fugitives" for the government's use if and when.

Enforcement

It doesn't look as if there would be any serious attempt to compel signers of the NRA (the blanket code) to live up to their agreement. Complaints of violations are gathering dust in files and there is no disposition on the part of the local NRA committee to sharpen the Blue Eagle's claws.

Reported violators will be approached on the basis that they of course are living up to their agreements and that the Committee is sorry to disturb them. They will not only be deprived of their Eagles if an exhaustive investigation proves their guilt conclusively. Some of the chiselers are laughing up their sleeves.

Enforcement of the permanent codes for separate industries may be much more strict. It had better be. Many of those who enlisted in good faith are becoming disgusted with the open evasions they see around them and are wondering whether the joke is on them.

Skeptical

A New York banker did his best the other day to explain the National Recovery Act to a visiting French industrialist. When he got through he inquired: "And what do you think of NIRA?" The Hansen said inclusion of provisions for unfair trade practices must precipitate a disastrous legal fight.

The Supreme Court held at least three times in the last two years he said, newspaper advertising notices were local and not national in character.

Hansen, denying the publishers sought any special privileges, pointed out the constitution protected the right of a free press.

"No press subject to injunction or revocation of license can be considered a free press," he said.

Newspaper Publishers Would Handle Unfair Practices Out Of Code

WASHINGTON, (UP)—Desire of American newspaper publishers to leave their NRA code free from provisions relating to unfair trade practices and to deal with any such cases independently as they arose, was expressed at public hearings on the proposed agreement.

Elisha Hanson, attorney for the ANPA, testified unfair trade practices had been defined adequately in the courts and that publishers believe it would be unwise to "clutter up" the code with a recital of legal history.

Relief Administration Cost One Third Of 1 Per Cent Under System Inaugurated By Sterling

More Than Six Per Cent Under Mrs. Ferguson; Testimony Shows James E. Ferguson Presided At Commission Meetings

(By the Associated Press)
 AUSTIN. — The Texas senate Friday decried in the connection of politics and political influences with the distribution of unemployment relief funds by the state rehabilitation and relief commission.
 Lawrence Westbrook, director of the commission, was questioned concerning the legal authority for former Governor James E. Ferguson to preside over the commission's meetings, to what extent political influences governed the selection of county relief committees, and the reason for permitting the bonds of relief employees to be written by Eugene T. Smith, of Austin, a close friend of James E. Ferguson and Governor Miriam A. Ferguson.
 Sterling Report
 R. S. Sterling of Houston, former governor, meanwhile filed a report showing the cost of administering relief funds during his tenure. He said that the state overhead was only one-third of one per cent of the amount of money disbursed and that the cost of distribution within the counties was less than one per cent.

 Westbrook previously had reported that the average administrative expense for the three months ending August 31 was 6.8 per cent of the amount distributed. He asserted, however, that it would be more economical to spend more money for administration and investigations if the government thereby could remove from the relief rolls many who were not entitled to relief.
 Sterling stated that if he had the work to do over again, he would prefer to do it through the regional chambers of commerce and voluntary county committees.
 Westbrook said that he permitted Smith, an agent for a casualty company of Baltimore, Md., to write the bonds covering state and county relief workers because he knew Smith was a friend of former Governor Ferguson. He said that the bonds were approved by the insurance department and the attorney general's department.
 The witness said that the premiums on bonds for employees of the state office were $1,331.92 but that he did not know the amount of premiums for the bonds of county workers.
 Ferguson Presides
 Although Governor Miriam A. Ferguson was the ex-officio chairman of the state's commission, her husband, James E. Ferguson, presided over all the meetings except one, Westbrook said. He stated that he did not know of any law permitting the governor to delegate this authority nor of any statute preventing her from doing it.

 "That made the chairman of the commission a person who was not under oath or bond, had no official status whatever, and was responsible to no one. Did not?" Senator Clint C. Small, of Amarillo, inquired.
 Westbrook replied that he assumed that James E. Ferguson was responsible to Governor Ferguson but he had rather state the facts and let the senators draw their own conclusions.
 "Don't you think that James E. Ferguson was responsible to the majority of the citizens of Texas who elected to place him in that position rather than some one else?" Senator Roy Sandeford, of Elton, asked.
 Westbrook again replied that "the facts speak for themselves."

Local Politics
 The relief director said that in some instances relief funds were distributed in such manner as to influence local politics.
 "The matter of local politics entering into the work is worse than state or national politics," Westbrook said. "I know of some very very flagrant instances where relief funds were used to influence local elections."
 Westbrook read a letter sent out over his signature in which instructions were given as to selection of members for county boards. Westbrook said that he did not write the letter, and was out of the state at the time but it was the custom for his name to be signed to all communications from his office.
 The letter referred in several places to getting "our friends" together in the matter of selecting county relief committees.
 "I assume my name was signed by Mr. Read (J. F. Read, assistant director)," Westbrook testified. "Before I left I had written a letter somewhat different to this one."
 The letter referred in several places to getting our friends "together in the matter of selecting board members."
 "Why is such emphasis placed on 'our friends' in that letter?" asked Senator Clint C. Small of Amarillo.
 Westbrook said he preferred to let Mr. Read or the writer of the letter answer that.
 Answering questions put by Senator Walter Woodward of Coleman, Westbrook said he did not know until "just now" that the administrator of relief in Runtels county was drawing a salary of $200 monthly.
 No Salaries Approved
 Woodward had asked for an explanation of why the Runtels county director received $200, while the person handling the work in Coleman county, an adjoining county, receiving only $100 monthly.
 Small asked about the situation in Corpus Christi, where one county administrative committee has refused to give way to a new committee named by the state commission. Small read a telegram from the county judge of Nueces county in which he advised the county commissioners' court had refused to confirm the late appointments.
 Westbrook said the commission had named the committee, as directed by law, to replace a group that had been appointed first by former Governor Sterling and reappointed by Ferguson before the state administrative organization had been created.
 "What member of the state commission suggested those that are not now acceptable to the commissioners' court?" Small asked.
 "W. E. Pope," replied Westbrook. "Pope also is a member of the house of representatives."
 He said the same condition that obtains in Nueces county prevailed in Hidalgo county.
 He denied that the "same condition prevails to a certain degree all over the state," in reply to a question by Small.
 Sterling's Report
 Former Governor Sterling in his report, said that a total of $14,106 overhead expenses was incurred by his administration of the funds.
 "For this expense, bonded, voluntary independent administrative committees were set up in each of the 248 counties," the former governor's report stated.
 "These committees were composed of prominent and patriotic citizens representative of the welfare, and the commercial organizations of their counties and cities. Under the supervision of my regional offices these committees prepared the applications for four months, needs, and administered the expenditure of funds obtained. A total of $4,141,738 was received and the overhead and administering funds in 248 counties was slightly over one third of one per cent."

Reasons
 "The reason for low administrative costs within the counties was because my committees were instructed to hold overhead to a minimum and to utilize the services of existing local welfare and commercial organizations for administrative purposes. There were no administrators paid for federal funds within the counties. There were no paid social service workers. There were no paid inspectors and investigators. Only a small expense was incurred for clerical assistance and this in a minority of counties. In most counties all overhead and administrative expense was borne locally. Having selected with care, county committees composed of persons of unquestioned integrity and standing in the communities, as an emergency measure under the supervision of my three regional offices, I relied wholly upon the honesty and ability of these committees to do the job. So satisfactory were the results that if I had the job to do over again I would do it the same way."

Pennsylvania Says You Must Be Skilled To Help Women Primp

By ARCH EDDY
 United Press Staff Correspondent
 HARRISBURG, Pa. (UP)—The art of enhancing feminine charm, a flourishing profession since the days of Eden, at last has been officially recognized by Pennsylvania lawmakers and accorded mention in the statute books.
 By official decree, effective Jan. 1, none but skilled artisans may attempt the task of glorifying Pennsylvania Womanhood. Uninitiates in the realms of beauty secrets are excluded.
 A new law requires everyone who attempts beauty culture, for pay, to obtain a license. And requirements, for licenses are strict. Ostensibly, the law was enacted as a health measure to insure protection for the women who patronize beauty salons. It requires strict sanitation and abolishes the "cut-rate" shops, where women provide beauty treatments in their homes in rooms which also are used for living quarters.
 Indirectly, however, the law serves to trust the work of beauty culture to persons qualified. It provides that persons applying for licenses must have at least two years previous experience, or have completed a course of instruction in a recognized beauty school.
 The law provides that beauty shop owners, managers and teachers shall pay a license fee of $5.00; operators and manicurists, $2.00; and students or apprentices, $1.00. It is expected the state's coffers will be enriched approximately $100,000 within the next two years as a result of the law.
 Extent of the beauty industry in Pennsylvania is seen in recent compilations, which disclosed that there are nearly 8,000 beauty culture shops in the state; approximately 15,000 beauty operators; 1,500 students and apprentices; 50 schools; 200 teachers, and 1,500 manicurists.

Nine Important Reasons Why Your New Coat Should Be A PRINTZESS

1. Pre-shrunk canvas is heated and padded to the front for shape-retaining effect.
2. Front edges of all garments are hand-tacked so they will not curl nor roll.
3. Lapels and front edges are taped so they will not stretch.
4. Sleeves are shirred, basted and shape-pressed before being joined to the garment.
5. The garment is thoroughly fore-pressed and examined after it is set together and before it is ready for the finishing operations.
6. Each lining is fitted individually to the garment and the seams are tacked so that the lining clings closely and smoothly to the cloth.
7. Neck linings are hand felled and the bottoms are left "open" so that the lining will hang freely and not bind the coat.
8. After the finishing, the garment is given a complete and thorough hand pressing, which leaves it ready for the wearer.
9. Lastly, each garment is individually and carefully examined from the point of view of the customer to make sure that every detail is an nearly perfect as possible.
