SOVIET TERMS

Italy Must Get Out Of Alliance

By EDDY GILMORE
MOSCOW, Oct. 12. (U.S.)—Russia announced Thursday night that Italy must quit the Atlantic Alliance and bar foreign military forces from her soil before the Soviets will agree to revision of the Italian Peace Treaty.

A Russian note to the Big Three Western Powers also set a second condition for Russian agreement to the treaty revision and Italy's admission to the United Nations. The United States, Britain, and France—said the Soviets—must similarly agree to peace treaty revisions and U. N. membership for Bulgaria, Hungary, Romania and Finland.

Western diplomats here predicted that, in view of the Soviet stand, the Westerners now will press ahead with their plans to credit arms without restrictions from the Italian treaty without Russian agreement.

They forecast that such Western action would create resentment here and that the Russians probably would seek some sort of retaliation.

The diplomats expressed these conclusions after studying a Russian note which Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky handed, without discussion or comment, to Charges d'Affairs for the three Big Western powers.

The Russian communication was in reply to a three-power western declaration of Sept. 26 proposing revision of the Italian Treaty and Italy's acceptance into the U. N.

The reply set forth for the first time Russia's official position on the Western plan to let Italy increase her arms and armed forces beyond the lightly-gunned 300-

Residential Building Is Given Push
Residential construction spurred again Thursday and this morning when permits were issued for 15 new homes.

Valuation, including three remodeling projects, amounted to $95,000, pushing the total for the month to $303,000.

Phillips Petroleum company is to construct six of the homes in the 1600 blocks of Sycamore and Stadium streets. Louis Thompson is to build three in the 1300 block of Stadium, and the Big Spring Lumber company is to erect a home on Westover road.

Five individuals took out permits for homes to be constructed in other sections of town.

Rate of construction in October has outstripped that of recent months, said F. W. Bettie, city building inspector. A number of other new homes are in prospect for the month.

Transcript Is Said By Stassen To Back Him Up

Says It Proves 1949 Conference Favored Commies

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12. (AP)—Harold E. Stassen contended today the State Department's transcript of a 1949 round table conference on China policy clearly proves "the truth of my description of it" as dominated by persons favoring steps helpful to the Communists.

The State Department has released the bulky record of the meeting, and asserted it showed Stassen's account of the conference was "factually incorrect."

Stassen, president of the University of Pennsylvania and a Republican leader, attended the 1949 conference.

He had given his version of the conference earlier this month to the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee. The Senators are digging into the question of whether there have been subversive influences on U. S. policies in the Far East.

Stassen said not only did the record show that members of what he called the prevailing group "frequently directly agree on these points, but they never dissent from any of the ten points, even though dissent had been expressed by myself and a few others."

The department said a majority of the 25 non-government persons who took part in the roundtable were inclined toward eventual U. S. recognition of Communist China. In an accompanying statement, the Department insisted it never pursued that policy.

It disclosed that former Secretary of Defense Marshall, now retired, expressed belief that recognition of the Red regime was largely "a matter of timing."

The roundtable of civilians, including university professors and businessmen, was called by Secretary of State Acheson on Oct. 6-8, 1949, to discuss policy at a time when the Chinese Communists were sweeping through China and driving Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalists to Formosa.

In Philadelphia, where he is President of the University of Pennsylvania, Stassen commented that "The transcript completely proves my earlier testimony."

Today's hearing of the Subcommittee, Chairman McCarran (D-Nev.) said, was to give Stassen and Colegrove a chance to show "where the transcript of the conference discussions bears out their previous testimony."

New Traffic Signals Are Being Shipped For Downtown Area
New traffic signals for the downtown area are being shipped to Big Spring and will be installed as soon as they arrive, City Manager H. W. Whitney reported this morning.

The signals were shipped from a New York factory early this month. Brackets for their installation at the sides of intersections are already in place on light poles.

Egypt Readies Action Against British Forces

CAIRO, Oct. 12. (U.S.)—Official sources said today Egypt will declare British troops in the Suez Canal area "enemy forces" after Egyptian soldiers Egypt's treaty with Britain.

Legislative action voiding the treaties is expected when Parliament meets Monday. Britain has said she would not recognize abrogation of the pacts, which let her keep troops in Egypt and provide for joint Anglo-Egyptian control of the Sudan.

Informants said the government has completed blue-prints of measures aimed at forcing British forces from the strategic waterway. These sources said the moves would include:

Ordering non-cooperation with the British. This would cut off their drinking water, fresh food and employment of Egyptian labor.

Cancellation of all British privileges such as the right of Britons in the Suez area to be tried by jurisdiction over British forces, exemption from duty of goods bound for the British garrison and the use of "military ports" in the area.

British military sources say that even if Egypt did cut off supplies and communications the British base at Suez could get along for a considerable time because it is "a living system which has its own stores, communications and power systems." They said that if Egypt blockaded the base and supply ships could not get in, supplies could be airlifted if necessary.

Apparently the Big Spring-Howard County Health unit will have to get along without the services of a nurse for a while yet.

Funds are available for starting the nurse's salary Monday, but so far a public health nurse has not been located to fill the position. In fact, the unit director, Dr. F. E. Sadler, has been unable to secure a nurse without public health training or experience for the job.

Dr. Sadler said he has been trying for the past two months to find a public health nurse to fill the vacancy in the city-county Health unit. Contacts have been made through the Texas State Health Department and nursing schools without result.

The Health unit director said he is now trying to employ a registered nurse who can be trained on the job. "But they're also scarce, and apparently have no trouble in securing better positions," said Dr. Sadler.

The local Health unit has been without the services of a nurse since July 1. Nursing services were suspended then because funds were available for a nurse's salary for only eight and a half months of the year.

At that time Mrs. Zelva Harris resigned the position to become senior public health nurse for the Dallas County Health unit. Dr. Sadler said he planned to secure a nurse to start work on Oct. 15 as salary funds would be available for the remainder of the fiscal year.

Salary for the work is $230 per month with $86 per month provided for travel.

Betty Jo Wolf Is Found In Toyah
Betty Jo Wolf, 17-year old Big Spring girl, who had been the object of a search since last Friday, had returned home this morning.

The missing girl had gone to Toyah and was visiting friends there, local authorities were informed. She was located last night by her parents.

Earlier this week, peace officers in Odessa, Pecos and O'Donnell, as well as Big Spring, had been searching for Miss Wolf, who had not been seen since Friday night when she left home to attend a football game.

UN Clears Reds From Last Heartbreak Peak

Ask UN Officers To Investigate New Violations

Call Comes As Agreement Near To Reopen Talks

MUNSAN, Korea, Saturday, Oct. 13. (U.S.)—Hopes for reopening the Korean truce talks were rocked today by a Communist charge that three Allied fighter planes strafed the Panmunjom area, killing a Korean boy and wounding another.

Allied officers made a preliminary investigation of the Red accusation Thursday night and early today and decided to resume their inquiry at 9 a. m. (6 p. m., Friday, CST.)

Panmunjom is the site agreed upon for possible renewal of the Korean armistice talks which the Reds suspended at Kaesong Aug. 23.

The Reds summoned Allied liaison officers to Kaesong tonight to investigate new neutrality violation charges. The call came as the Reds and Allies appeared near agreement on reopening truce talks at a new site, Panmunjom, six air miles southeast of Kaesong.

The Reds charged that a United Nations plane attacked the Kaesong neutral zone at 5:35 p. m. (2:35 a. m. CST.)—only an hour and a half after the truce meeting ended at Panmunjom.

They made the charge over the radio-telephone circuit linking the U. N. advance peace camp at Munsan with Kaesong, original site of truce talks which the Reds broke off Aug. 23 because of an asserted Allied plane attack.

Air Force Col. Don C. Darrow and Army Lt. Col. Norman B. Edwards led the Allied camp at 5 p. m. for Kaesong.

A U. N. spokesman said the U. S. Air Force began checking to see if any Allied plane could have been in the area.

Charges of violations of the Kaesong neutral zone were the main

Arrival Of Braceros Is Off Again
The Howard county Farm Bureau hubbed another stump with its efforts to move Mexican national labor here from South Texas.

Ralph Proctor, Bureau president, said at noon today that the braceros could not be sent to Big Spring before Monday.

Latest hitch in the bracero transfer is the Department of Labor requirement that the workers be reprocessed before shipment. This work will be started Monday morning. There is a possibility that the braceros might arrive here late Tuesday, said Proctor.

The 500 Mexican Nationals slated for shipment to Howard county had been processed last weekend when a complaint filed with the Labor department halted the transfer.

After the department gave the move a clean bill of health, it ruled that the workers would have to be reprocessed, Proctor said. They had been scheduled to reach Big Spring tomorrow.

Hogan Urges All-Out Effort In Chest Drive

Dr. J. E. Hogan, chairman of the 1951 Howard County Community Chest campaign today called for an all out effort on the part of campaign workers to reach the goal of $46,362 by Monday noon.

Two report meetings set for today, one at noon and the other at 7 p. m. in the Settles hotel, promised to add a considerable sum to the $32,083.92 reported previously.

Scattered reports made at campaign headquarters from Special Gifts workers pushed the total for that committee to $29,711, or $289 short of its $30,000 goal.

"Everything now depends upon the business and industry employees committee and the general canvass," said Dr. Hogan. "We are counting on a good turnout of captains and workers at the two report meetings today, after which we will gear ourselves for the last ditch effort to reach the objective."

Douglas Orme, Lewis Price and D. M. McKinney, heads of the business and industry employe group, and R. B. Reeder, Vic Alexander and Durward Lewter, leaders of the general canvass, have promised real action from their workers during the final days of the campaign.

Truman Denies Knowledge Of Baruch Trip

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12. (U.S.)—President Truman says he knows nothing of reports that efforts were made to dissuade Bernard M. Baruch from going to Moscow in 1948 and 1949 to discuss with Premier Stalin the control of atomic energy.

The President told his news conference Thursday all he knew about the matter was what he had read in the newspapers.

Columist Bill Baggs, in a copyrighted story in the Miami Daily News Tuesday, said Andrei Gromyko had suggested the trip to Baruch, principal author of the international control plan the U. S. sponsored in the United Nations.

Baggs wrote that Gromyko wanted to go, and that the reason he didn't apparently was because of a falling out with the Truman administration.

Mr. Truman told newsmen who asked him about a letter soliciting funds for a "Truman Memorial Library" at Grandview, Mo., that sometimes your good friends get over-zealous. He is sure that is what happened here, he added.

The President said he is in favor of the buildings, to house records of his administration. Letters sent out by Senator Anderson (D-NM) and George Allen, onetime RFO director, had suggested that contributions would be tax-exempt.

Mr. Truman also: Denied he had once expressed a hope that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower would resign as Army Chief of Staff. The newly published diaries of the late James Forrestal, first Secretary of Defense, so quote the President.

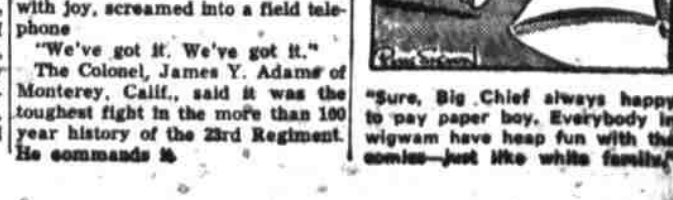

Said he doesn't recall that Senator Taft (R-Ohio) wrote him after the 1948 election that he wasn't too sorry about the President's victory. That story, too, was in the Forrestal diary.

Income Tax Hike OK'd By Conference Group

By FRANCIS J. KELLY
WASHINGTON, Oct. 12. (AP)—A $5.75 billion tax increase which among other things would boost the levy on most individual incomes by about 11 1/2 per cent was approved Thursday by a Senate-House Conference Committee.

The measure, — the nation's second largest revenue bill — is scheduled for House action next Tuesday. It then will go to the Senate. Approval by both is anticipated.

In addition to the income tax rise — effective Nov. 1 — the bill calls for sharp increases in the excise taxes on whisky, beer, wine, cigarettes, gasoline, automobiles and a number of other articles.

Corporation taxes are jumped by upward of $2.3 billion, retroactive to last April 1.

In many cases, particularly in estimated revenue yield, the bill is closer to the $5.4 billion measure passed by the Senate than the $7.2 billion version voted by the House. Nevertheless a number of key House provisions were included in the compromise, worked out after sessions spreading over nine days.

The bill provides only a little more than half of the $10 billion additional income which President Truman said represents the government's minimum needs.

With enactment of this bill, the tax load will have been increased some $15.57 billion since the start of the Korean war. A record-breaking $6.1 billion increase went on the statute books in September, 1950; a $2.9 billion excess profits tax act in January, 1951.

The individual income tax increases are integrated into the regular bracket rates. As a result of rounding off the figures to produce even numbers in the rates, the increase for most taxpayers actually varies from 11 1/2 per cent to about 12 per cent.

A single person earning $5,000 a year (after deductions for interest, taxes, contributions, etc. but before his personal exemption) will pay $700.40 a year in federal income taxes instead of his present $708 obligation. A married couple with two dependents and an income of $8,000 will owe $1,285.60 instead of $1,152.

An alternative tax increase is offered persons in the higher income brackets. They have an option of paying an additional 9 per cent on the amount of their income remaining after payment of taxes at existing rates. This alternative is advantageous to single persons with an income of $28,800 or more, and married couples under the income splitting provisions of the tax laws.

The net increase in individual tax liabilities was estimated at $2.48 billion and the excise tax boost at $1.2 billion. Some of the miscellaneous provisions of the bill will result in loss of revenue to the treasury.

The excise (sales tax) increases go into effect Nov. 1. If President Truman signs the bill by Oct. 21, they include the following increases:

Whisky and other spirituous liquor, from $9 to $10.50 a 100-proof gallon, or about 20 cents a fifth for ordinary liquor. Beer from $8 a barrel to $9. Wine taxes up an average of 15 1/2 per cent.

Cigarette taxes increase from 7 cents a pack to 8. The tax on chewing and smoking tobacco goes down from 18 to 10 cents a pound.

Glasses tax up from 1 1/2 to 2 cents. New automobiles are taxed 10 per cent of manufacturers' price instead of current 7 per cent. Tax on trucks and buses up from 5 to 8 per cent. Several additional electrical appliances made subject to 10 per cent manufacturers' tax.

The excise tax increase are to remain in effect until April 1, 1954, when the rates are supposed to go back to the present level.

The Conference agreed to apply corporate taxes to now-empty farm co-operatives, mutual savings banks, and buildings and loan associations.

TEXAS BRANDS

AHR

By JOHN M. HENDRIX
The AHR was registered in the '80s by J. W. Tate of Llano County, who selected it because it made a large and distinct brand which was the kind needed in the open range era of the cattle business. The brand was never sold but was discontinued in 1890 when J. W. Tate changed to a smaller brand after the country was fenced.

At the old ranch house on Sandy Creek in Llano County together with two others, the T Cross and the FR, chiseled into the stone across the front of an old fireplace there. Down in that section of the cattle country where a majority of the homes are staunchly built of good stone and red mortar, this ranch for many years as a tribute to those who used the brand and carved it into their hearth-stone so many years ago.

WRONG KEY?

Wife Locks Billy Out Of The House

NEW YORK, Oct. 12. (AP)—Showman Billy Rose was locked out of his fashionable town house Thursday following an estrangement from his wife, 37-year-old Eleanor Holm.

The whole affair may lead to divorce court proceedings, according to Miss Holm's attorney.

Newsmen were present when Rose drove up to his mansion in a chauffeured car. The 50-year-old stage producer put a key in the front door lock, but it didn't work.

"Wrong key," he said, and left.

Fifty minutes later Rose returned with a new set of keys, but with the same results. Repeated ringing of the door bell brought no one.

A maid opened an upstairs window and stared at Rose, but neither spoke. She closed the window.

A butler had told newsmen that Mrs. Rose was not at home.

Rose retired to his apartment in the Ziegfeld Theater, which he owns.

Neither Rose nor Miss Holm would comment on the divorce rumors but their lawyers were not so reticent.

Rose's attorney, Arthur Garfield Hays, said:

"The stories which have been spoon-fed to certain newspapers are undoubtedly intended for coercion and as a prelude to huge monetary demands."

"Neither Mr. Rose nor I intend to indulge in this kind of mudslinging."

The attorney repeated his client's offer of "adequate provision" for his wife if the former swim star wanted a legal separation or divorce.

Louis Nizer, attorney for Miss Holm, denied feeding stories to newspapers but added:

"The press will get a very vivid story when the papers are filed."

Rose and Miss Holm were married in November, 1939, the year he and the late singing comedienne, Fanny Brice, were divorced. Rose and Miss Brice were married 10 years.

Miss Holm formerly was the wife of band leader Art Jarrett.

Problems About Space Described At A Symposium

NEW YORK, Oct. 12. (AP)—Amazing heat over where interplanetary ships would fly was described today to a space travel symposium at the Hayden Planetarium. It is the first American Space Symposium.

After your ship left the protection of the earth's atmosphere, your danger would be getting too hot rather than cold. The heat is from the very best reflecting metals on the ship's skin would keep the passengers from unbearable heat. Even the heat from bodies of other passengers would be uncomfortable.

This heat problem was reported by Dr. Heinz Haber of the U. S. Air Force School of Aviation Medicine, Randolph Field, Tex. He was one of the leading German scientists of World War II.

Another trouble, Haber said, would be your lack of weight. You would feel as if you were falling into a bottomless pit. There would be a lot of surprises. A slight push with hands or feet might catapult you across the cabin.

There is likely to be a new form of seasickness, known as space sickness. This, Haber said, could incapacitate an entire crew.

Our flyers, said Haber, already are up at altitudes where there is only 13 seconds to remain conscious if an accident decompresses the air in the cabin.

Johnson Asserts Texas Gains Nothing By Leaving Democrats

DALLAS, Oct. 12. (AP)—Texas can gain nothing by leaving the Democratic party — or by dividing it — Sen. Lyndon Johnson asserted Thursday night.

The Senator also called for a political alliance of the South and West to combat exploitation of their natural resources.

He blamed the Tideland seizure on the North and East.

Johnson said over television the West-South combine should be made within the Democratic party.

Republicans in Congress, he said, have long been voting on behalf of the North and East.

"There are more people in the Northern States, thus more votes in Congress," he said.

The senator charged that the North and East have been attempting a sort of political exploitation of the South and West. He urged Texas to lead a positive fight against "this insurrection."

Johnson cited the Tideland seizure as an example of the exploitation he charged. He declared that seizure of Texas' tidelands was "illegal, unethical and immoral, because Texas had an honorable title to those lands."

He blamed the tidelands seizure on a philosophy he said had penetrated the Democratic party under the "Guise of Liberalism."

America has no spectacular atomic weapons, Johnson said.

"We are working on atomic artillery, atomic submarines, atomic-powered aircraft, and all that," Johnson said, "but all such weapons are still in the laboratory stage on an experimental basis. We may have them in great quantity eventually. We don't have them now."

The Senator also charged that military secrecy — withholding facts not to conceal our weakness from the enemy but to conceal them from the American people — is "perhaps the greatest handicap in formulating a sound national policy."

"The right of secrecy is greatly abused by the military," Johnson declared.

Johnson planned to remain for the Texas-Oklahoma football game and a visit to the State Fair Saturday, returning to Washington Sunday.

Use Of Metal In Household Appliances Due To Be Cut

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12. (AP)—The Defense Production Administration said today the use of metal in making household appliances and other consumer hard goods will be cut about 11 1/2 per cent starting Jan. 1.

The cutback was disclosed by DPA Administrator Manly Fleischmann, at a joint hearing of four Congressional committees.

Civilian output will be "moderately lower" in the first quarter of next year, Fleischmann said, adding that some "less essential" products using critically scarce copper and aluminum will be "very drastically curtailed."

He did not specify the items, but they were understood to include goods like venetian blinds, and house wares of the type in which plastics or other substitutes could be used.

But there will be no "death sentence orders," or outright prohibitions on the use of basic materials in any such products, Fleischmann said, explaining:

"It is our belief that it is preferable to permit all manufacturers to operate at low levels rather than to put some of them out of business entirely."

"In this way there is a greater opportunity for them to be ready to use materials when they come into greater supply."

Fleischmann outlined the plans for the metals curbs after Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson testified the first half of 1952 will be the toughest period for materials shortages in the rearmament drive.

"We will be moving through a wood of shade and sometimes darkness," in those months, he told the combined Senate-House Banking and Small Business Committees.

Wilson predicted easier days starting with the midyear, however, unless "we are confronted by new aggressors" or other worsened international conditions.

Students Present Halloween Program For P-TA Members

Halloween season was opened when the College Heights P-TA heard a program by members of the seventh grade at a meeting this week.

The youngsters presented a Halloween choral reading, a play and a song during the afternoon.

B. M. Keese, the guest speaker, used the topic, "Who Bends the Twig?" when he emphasized the importance of child guidance by parents and teachers.

A report of the local progress in combating Polio was given by Gil Jones, chairman of the Howard County chapter.

During the business session which followed, announcement was made of the coming Halloween carnival when each room would select candidates for the king and queen.

One receiving the largest number of votes would be crowned during the carnival.

Some 100 members and guests were present.

BAE PREDICTS Moderate Increase In Prices, If Any

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12. (AP)—The Bureau of Agricultural Economics, in an appraisal of the economic outlook for the next few months, predicted today that price increases, if any, will be "moderate" in degree.

The Agency said several factors tend to press prices upward, they are rising personal incomes, a record demand by business for plants and equipment and rising requirements for defense.

These factors, the Bureau said, should assure a continuing strong demand for most goods, and services.

Offsetting these factors, the Bureau said, are a rapid build-up of industrial productive capacity, substantial inventories of many consumer goods, and the prospective record output of farm products.

These latter factors, the Bureau said, "should serve to moderate any upward pressure on prices over the next few months."

The Bureau said farmers received about $21.7 billion from products during the first nine months. This was 14 per cent more than in the corresponding period last year, although the total volume of marketings was about the same as a year ago. Prices averaged highest this year.

All of the increase came from livestock and livestock products. Money received from farm crops was about the same as last year. Poultry and egg receipts were up 31 per cent, meat animals 22 per cent, and dairy products 18 per cent.

Receipts from wheat, corn, and fruits were lower than a year ago, but those from cotton and vegetables were higher.

First Series Game Drew Top Attention

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK, Oct. 12. (AP) — If the nation's baseball fans have cooled out from their emotional binge of the past 10 days, they might like to look back and shudder at what they went through. There never has been any sports event, or series of events, quite to compare in sustained tension and repeated dramatic impact with the closing days of the National League race, the three-game playoff between the Giants and Brooklyn, and the World Series.

The newspapers of the nation never before gave such prominence to a single sports event as they did to the first game of the Series. A check by the Associated Press disclosed that 89 per cent of afternoon dailies described the Giants' opening victory on their front pages; 81 per cent of the morning papers thought it among the world's most important news stories that day.

For the first time, fans from coast to coast saw every pitch thrown and every ball hit on their television screens. A Japanese broadcaster told the home folks about it play by play.

Upper South America radios turned customary siesta hours into a hideous din. In Panama huge crowds watched each play performed on magnetic boards. In Maracaibo, Venezuela, two youths wound up in the hospital after a street fight involving some 20 Giants and Yankee fans. In other words, it wasn't just a local epidemic.

The saturation of radio and television did not affect box office receipts.

Never before was a world series so thoroughly photographed. The Associated Press has a remarkable instrument called Wirephoto which sends pictures flashing throughout the country in a matter of minutes. During the playoff and world series Wirephoto whizzed a total of 220 shots into newspaper plants across the land, many of them directly from workrooms under the stands.

Possibly the biggest moment during the series came when the 37-year-old Joe DiMaggio finally broke the shackles and hammered his homer in the fourth game. Somehow, the suspicion struck you right there that the tide had turned, that the Bombers were on their way.

RULES WITH IRON HAND

Farouk Is The Difference In Anglo-Egyptian Quarrel

By FRED ZUSY
CAIRO, Oct. 12. (AP)—The biggest factor in the Anglo-Egyptian quarrel over evacuation of British troops from the vital Suez Canal Zone may be King Farouk.

The difference between Britain's dispute with Egypt and her oil imbroglio with Iran is that Farouk still holds actual power in Egypt. The Shah no longer does in Iran where power was transferred on a tidal wave of fanatic nationalism to the frail shoulders of Prime Minister Mossadegh after an assassin's bullet killed the old Iranian prime minister, General Alirzama, last March. Since then the Shah has ruled in name only.

Things are different in Egypt—and because they are, it may mean a possible compromise solution to the impasse over Egypt's insistent demands that British troops clear out of the Suez Canal Zone. Farouk rules with a strong hand from his great palaces in Alexandria and Cairo. Egyptian Prime Minister Nahas Pasha and other Egyptian political leaders have learned the King's word is law.

Farouk, as a King, is reported to have no desire to break with the West.

He has not taken a public stand on the Suez question, possibly because he does not want to antagonize his subjects. Most Egyptians sincerely want the British to clear out of the Canal Zone and end an occupation that began in 1882.

This does not mean that the king doesn't want to end the occupation. The British left a bad taste in his mouth during the war when Sir Miles Lampson—later Lord Killearn—clanked up to Abdin Palace in downtown Cairo surrounded by tanks. Lampson ordered Farouk to install a pro-Allied government. This happened when Gen. Irvin Rommel was beating on the doors of Alexandria and the British suspected some Egyptian leaders of pro-Axis leanings.

The king, 22 then, has never forgotten this.

But persons in a position to know say that he recognizes the facts of life which many Egyptian politicians choose to ignore that the world is now divided into two camps and Egypt sooner or later must choose sides.

The pashas in the government now shouting for British evacuation abhor Communism. They refuse to recognize, however, that a split with the West would leave Egypt open to Communism.

Those who know Farouk guess he now favors Egypt's joining a Middle East Defense Command which would make Egypt part of an international partnership on the side of the West.

Farm Leaders Claim Crop Output Is Inflation Weapon

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12. (AP)—Those farm leaders who oppose government price controls claim this year's big crops support their argument that production is the most effective weapon against inflation.

At planting time last spring, the general level of prices farmers were receiving for all crops combined was 2.1 percent of the 1909-14 average. The level had climbed about 20 per cent in a year—a period in which there were short supplies of some crops and an increased demand under the defense program.

Spurred by the promise of good returns, farmers increased plantings of most crops this year. Crops developed favorably in most areas, and a near-record harvest is being made.

What has happened to prices? Once the crops were sown, prices started weakening. Month by month during the season they declined.

At harvest time, the general level of crop prices is 12 per cent lower than last spring.

Only a few crops are bringing as much as or more now than they did in the spring—potatoes, sweet potatoes, tobacco, apples, grapefruit and lemons. Where prices are higher, smaller crops or market supplies are indicated.

Only cotton and sweet potatoes are bringing as much as their parity prices—prices which under farm law are declared to be equally fair to farmers and those who buy their products.

Advocates of price controls agree that big productions does help control prices. But they contend authority to apply ceilings should be available in the event production falls and prices start skyrocketing.

A large class of farm products has gone up a little since spring. In this class are livestock, up nearly two per cent.

Opponents of price controls say the rise in livestock prices, like the decline in crop prices, bears out their argument that production is the best price control device.

Livestock output is sharply lower. Milk production is lower. So is egg output. Fewer beef cattle are being sold.

Hence livestock and livestock product prices are higher.

But, price control foes say, the same thing will happen in the case of livestock products that has happened to crops. The temporary high prices, they argue, will encourage greater production, which in turn will bring about lower prices.

Many people have reported amazing results with this home recipe. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drugist and ask for 4 ounces of liquid Barconatrin. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take two tablespoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it. If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic, from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back.

EAT PLENTY AND TAKE OFF UGLY FAT

Lost 39 Pounds

"I was really happy and surprised with the results obtained taking Barconatrin," says Mrs. Lillian Flowers, 214 Broad St., San Antonio, Texas. "I have lost 39 pounds and feel so much better and look 10 years younger."

Lost 15 Pounds

Mrs. D. C. Baker, Box 21, Bryson, Texas, writes as follows: "I weighed 115 pounds when I commenced to take Barconatrin. After one month I have lost 15 pounds and am going to continue taking it until I am down to 100 pounds. I have several of my friends taking Barconatrin and they are losing weight also."

GOP Confident Ike To Be Their Party Candidate

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12. (AP)—Two Republican senators said today they are confident Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower will be a candidate for President on the GOP ticket next year. And last night Senator Duff (R-Pa.) said in a radio interview he expects to get a "definite and decisive" statement from Eisenhower at a meeting about Jan. 1.

Senators Ives of New York and Morse of Oregon, said in separate interviews with newsmen they are confident the general will win the Republican nomination and then go on to defeat President Truman or any other Democrat.

Duff has been a leader, with Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, in booming the World War II hero for the GOP nomination.

Ives, longtime political ally of Dewey, said the very fact Eisenhower has thus far kept silent supports his views. He said:

"If General Eisenhower were going to refuse to be a candidate he would have said so long ago. Therefore he would seem to be definitely available."

Duff spoke on MBS's "reporters roundup." He said he felt sure Eisenhower will accept a GOP nomination next year. Duff called the General "The only figure around whom the American people can be united." He said he plans to meet with Eisenhower about the first of the year—he did not say where—and get from him then a statement of intentions.

Ives and other Eisenhower supporters said they are not surprised by a copyrighted story of the Milwaukee Journal saying that Gen. Douglas MacArthur had informed Wisconsin Republican leaders he favors Senator Taft (R-Ohio).

Aides of MacArthur in New York City said he had met with a Wisconsin Republican leader but they would not confirm or deny the story he supports Taft.

A Bible Thought For Today—

Faith, Enterprise And Hard Work Still Pays Off Young Americans

Harold DeWayne Hodgson, a 20-year-old farmer of Freedom, in northwestern Oklahoma, did several foolish things, according to his elders. First off, he married his high school sweetheart in 1949, when he was just 19, a pretty risky step for a kid, as any older will assure you. Then he borrowed money to buy a run-down, ramshackle farm of 320 acres for $8,500. Doubtless a great many old heads would have warned him against buying a farm in the first place, on borrowed money in the second place, and a run-down farm in the third place.

Public Clamor For Reform Offers Some Hope We Are Not Past Shame

The Senate Labor Committee thinks the way to restore public confidence in government and drive the gift-hungry flunkies and the political fixers out of office and away from the citadels of public service is to create a commission. This commission would be composed of 15 distinguished citizens and it would make a two-year study of moral standards in the federal government. The government's good name and the public's good name are already at issue," the Labor Committee holds in its report to the Senate.

Strikes Retard Output Of Jets As AF Suspects A Commie Plot

WASHINGTON.—The Defense Department is alarmed over a wave of crippling strikes that have dangerously slowed jet-engine production at a time when jet fighters are desperately needed to turn back Russian jets in Korea and defend this country against new Russian A-bombs. The situation is so critical that the Air Force has actually been forced to accept planes without engines.

Without putting the finger on either labor or management, the Defense Department frankly suspects Communists may be behind these strikes. At least, the Communists couldn't have struck in a more strategic industry at a worse time. For example, the strike against the General Electric Lockland plant at Lockland Ohio, cost the Air Force several hundred jet engines. Another two-month-old strike at Brown & Sharpe, Providence, R. I., has shut down a principal source of screw machines and other vital tools needed for aircraft production.

Truman Makes Dramatic Decision As Nation Drives To Meet Soviet Menace

15. The Beginning of Rearmament Three days after the receipt of General Acheson's telegram of March 5, 1948, expressing his "feeling" that war might be imminent, the Senate Armed Services Committee, which had been looking very dubiously on proposed UMT legislation, voted to proceed forthwith to start hearings on the measure. Forrestal had been planning to call the Joint Chiefs together for a meeting outside of Washington to settle the growing service quarrels over their assigned "roles and missions." This conference opened on March 11 in the seclusion of the Key West Naval Base; before it ended on Sunday, the 14th, it had not only reached agreement on the missions, but had also concluded "that it is now necessary to ask immediately for a restoration of Selective Service" and "that an immediate examination of atomic energy matters is required, including the decision on whether or not now is the time for turning custody of the weapons over to the Armed Services."

This Day In Texas

On this day in 1835 General Stephen F. Austin and 700 followers launched the invasion of San Antonio. The Texans marched from Gonzales, where Austin had been named commander two days before. General Cos held San Antonio with a sizeable force of trained soldiers and Austin's invasion was regarded as folly by most military men. He was relieved of his command after his soldiers had done little more than sit around in a mock siege of the city, whittle and exchange stories. There was talk of abandoning the attack but on December 9, 1835 Ben Milam inspired the Texans to follow him into the city. The Texans took it by storm, fighting their way from one adobe house to the next. Milam was one of the victims. Robert Casey, author of "The Texas Border," describes Milam's force as "being only 90 strong and lists the Mexican garrison at 400. Following this important victory, the Texans divided into several groups, some bent on invading Mexico and others not, and thus completely threw away the fruits of victory. San Antonio was an easy prey for Santa Anna despite the dogged resistance at the Alamo. Most of the material of war captured by Cos was carried away by Johnson and Grant.

Western Railroads Can Take A Bow After Praise From East

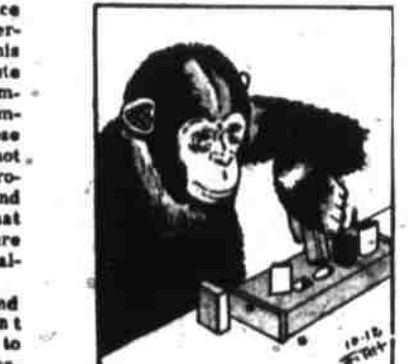

Nearly everybody likes to hear praise for something they are associated with, and that should be justification for us to pass along compliments to railroads in the western part of the country. "Western" in this case means all of the territory this side of the Mississippi. It was an East Coast writer who tossed out the compliments. At the same time he had a reprimand for railroads in the eastern part of the country. "East is East and West is West and never the twain shall compare."

Majority Considers Withdrawal From Abadan To Be Wise Move

To a substantial majority of editors the British withdrawal from Iran was a wise move, continuing the possibility of a settlement of the Anglo-Iranian oil dispute and avoiding the possibility of Russian intervention, under treaty, in Iran. A small minority considers the withdrawal appeasement, largely caused by America's failure to support the British position and boding ill for Western interests throughout the Middle East. For a larger minority of editors only time can show whether the withdrawal, as the U.N. Security Council considers the case, was a wise act for peace or an unwise act of appeasement.

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

Chimpanzees Are Smartest Animals

Now we come to the two apes which scientists class as the smartest of all animals. The two apes are the orangutan and the chimpanzee. Both are very smart, but the orangutan is ranked below its cousin. The name "orangutan" came from a native language used in Borneo, and its meaning is "wild man" or "man of the woods." This is a good-sized ape with reddish hair, and it lives on the big island of Sumatra, as well as on Borneo. Orangutans get along fairly well in captivity, and millions of visitors to zoos in various cities have watched them in their cages. A simple list of the many tricks they perform would fill a great deal of space. These apes ride bicycles with skill, and some of them use keys to unlock doors. When an orangutan takes a seat at a table, and eats with a knife, fork and spoon, we are apt to speak of him as being "almost human."

Jacob Receives the Promise

GOD REVEALED HIMSELF TO HIM AS HE SLEPT

Scripture—Genesis 27:1-35:27.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
TODAY'S LESSON covers so much ground in detail that we won't have room to recount all of it. We must remember some episodes from a previous lesson.

First, the story of Jacob's deception of his old, blind father. We had part of the story in July. You will recall the trick Jacob played on his twin brother Esau, impersonating him, so that the father, Isaac, whose sight had failed, thought he was giving his blessing to Esau, his favorite son, when, in reality he was giving it to Jacob.

Naturally, when Esau discovered the trick that Jacob had played on him with the connivance of their mother, Rebekah, he was deeply hurt and sorrowed greatly. Moreover, he hated his brother, and planned that when their father died he would kill him.

Rebekah heard of Esau's threats and she told Jacob and advised him to leave home and go to visit her brother, Laban, until Esau should have forgotten his anger and it would be safe to return home.

Jacob followed his mother's advice and set out on his journey. At night he slept with a stone for a pillow in "a certain place," no doubt lonely and homesick. However, this night was not as others he had experienced. He had a dream—a wonderful dream. He saw a ladder suspended between heaven and earth, and on it, descending and ascending, were bright angels.

"And behold, the Lord stood above it, and said, I am the Lord God of Abraham thy father, and the God of Isaac; the land wherein thou liest, to thee will I give it, and to thy seed. . . . And behold, I am with thee, and will keep thee in all places whither thou goest, and will bring thee again into this land, for I will not leave thee, until I have done that which I have spoken to thee of."

When Jacob waked next morning he was afraid, and said, "How dreadful is this place: this is none other but the house of God, and this is the gate of heaven." Then he took the stone he had used for a pillow and set it up, and poured oil upon the top and called the place Bethel. It was near the city of Luz. The old town of Luz is always now called Bethel, and the name Luz has been transferred to another town.

Then Jacob vowed that if God would be with him and keep him, see that he had food and clothing, and bring him again to his father's house, he would dedicate one-tenth of what he had to the Lord.

Jacob came at last near his kinsman's home, and paused near a well to which many came to water sheep. Three flocks were lying by the well which had a great stone on top of it. He asked the men in charge of the sheep if they were Laban's men, and they said they were, and that Laban was well and his daughter, Rachel, was coming to water the sheep.

Jacob saw a beautiful girl come to the well, and he lost his heart to her—love at first sight—and he helped her remove the stone from the well and water the sheep, and he kissed Rachel and wept, telling her he was her cousin.

She led him to her father, who received him with the traditional kiss and he told Laban his story. He also asked for Rachel's hand in marriage and promised to work seven years for Rachel if he could make her his wife.

Jacob had deceived his father and brother, and now it was his turn to be deceived. When Jacob was married—supposedly to Rachel—he did not see his bride's face, which was heavily veiled.

Next day he found he had been wed to Leah, Laban's older daughter, whom he did not love. The first seven years he worked for Rachel's hand seemed but a few days, but he worked yet another seven before he made Rachel his wife.

Leah was the mother of six sons, but for a long time Rachel bore no children, and there was bitterness between the two sisters. Then Rachel bore a son and called him Joseph.

Now, Jacob played a trick on his father-in-law, Laban, taking all the strongest cattle for his own, and leaving the weaker ones for Laban. After the birth of Joseph, Jacob thought it time to leave Laban and go home. Laban was agreeable, but after Jacob and his families—11 children in all, because he had four children by two other women, handmaids of his wives—had gone three days' journey, Laban caught up with him, but Laban had been warned not to quarrel with Jacob, so they patched up a truce and Jacob went on his way.

He was still afraid of his brother, Esau, and sent fine presents ahead of him to placate him. He provided a way in which his families would be safe, then, when he was alone, a man came to him and they wrestled all night. When dawn came the man (an angel) would have left, but Jacob would not let him go. When the angel realized that he "touched the heel" of Jacob's thigh, and put it out of joint.

Jacob still would not give in unless the man blessed him, which he finally did. Jacob need not have been afraid of Esau, for when they met Esau ran to meet him and embraced him warmly. He had forgiven and forgotten how badly Jacob had treated him when both were home.

Nevertheless, Esau went one way and expected Jacob to live near him, but Jacob went to Shechem, a city of Shechem, where he pitched his tent and erected there an altar to the Lord.

Persistent Judge Gains Indictment

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 12 (AP)—A 73-year-old jurist was the key figure in events leading to the indictment of James P. Finnegan on charges of accepting bribes.

He is U. S. District Judge George H. Moore.

Both men are former collectors of internal revenue here. Both are Democrats.

A Federal Court grand jury indicted Finnegan, personal friend of President Truman, on five counts Thursday. Finnegan resigned his collector's job last April.

On March 1, a month and a half after the jury was impaneled, Judge Moore ordered it to look into handling of tax cases in Eastern Missouri.

A few days later it was learned the judge had received a letter from a former tax intelligence unit agent which voiced suspicions that some cases were "fixed."

After three weeks' work the jury told the Court it could find no wrongdoers.

Judge Moore wouldn't take no. He bluntly declared the jurors hadn't had help from "certain officials in their work."

He told the jurors to try again. He recalled his knowledge of the bureau here from when he headed it between 1914 and 1922, and told jurors where to find what they were seeking.

On May 7 Sen. Williams (R-De) charged on the Senate floor that the Justice and Treasury Departments withheld damaging evidence against Finnegan despite requests for co-operation in the investigation.

Finnegan was charged in two counts with accepting two $250 checks from the Karol Kell Garment Company, which since has gone out of business, at a time the firm had pending a tax delinquency case which by law "might be brought before him (Finnegan) in his official capacity."

The other three counts accused Finnegan of violating a law by accepting pay for services involving controversies in which the United States was a party.

Old Duffers Throttle Ram Jet Up To Mere 1,100 MPH

CLEVELAND, Oct. 12 (AP)—Look, junior, how would you like to pull the throttle on a ram jet up to 1,100 miles an hour?

Park your scooter, son, and hear how they let a handful of us old duffers do that at the NACA's Lewis Flight Propulsion Laboratory Thursday.

They were having an inspection tour, and this was the first time anyone but a "long hair" was at the throttle. (That's lingo for "research man," they told us.)

They take us into a control room about the size of the living room. Panels and dials all over. And a television screen in the middle.

The man says of course the ram jet doesn't really fly. They just bolt it down in the wind tunnel. Then they turn on the wind, and it blows past the jet at 1,100 miles an hour. That way, they get the same effect as though the wind is standing still and the jet is going fast.

This jet engine really is in another part of the building. It's the kind they could use in a guided missile. They aim a periscope through a peep hole to look at the jet. The periscope is small, so they put a television eye at the periscope, and the stuff comes out on the screen.

On the screen the nose of the jet looks just like the nose of a cannon, sideways, with a sharp cone out the muzzle.

On the television screen you can see a wave fluttering from that sharp point in front.

The man explains it's a "shock wave," and we're cruising at around 50,000 feet, nice and easy. Then he lets you take hold of the fuel throttle. He says to push it forward for more juice and pulls it back for less.

You give it a push and that "shock wave" starts fluttering on the screen like your shirt-tail in the wind. You throttle down. It works fine.

That was all there was to it. The man seemed to be enjoying himself. He gave us a card that said "Bearer is a Certified Ram Jet Operator." Maybe these "long hairs" have been taking us for a ride.

Parolee Asks Life; Request Is Granted

JACKSON, Miss., Oct. 12 (AP)—A paroled murderer's request that he be sent back to prison for life was granted by Gov. Fielding Wright.

The ex-convict, Samuel McClure Walker of Winona, appealed for revocation of his suspension of sentence. He was convicted in 1933 and freed in 1941 after earning a reputation as a "model prisoner."

"I have become addicted to alcohol lately and when I am drinking I am not responsible for my actions," Walker told Wright. "I fear I may commit some act that would make me dangerous to myself and others."

Half-Shades For Lamps Solve Top-Heavy Look

Sometimes a table top isn't deep enough for a big lamp with a big shade, the top of the console in the hall, for instance, which particularly needs a lamp with style. The small lamp that fits the space isn't important enough. But most big lamps sit too far forward to be safe or to look well even with their shades matted against the wall. This is a problem that can be solved by half a shade, half a big shade for a big lamp like the 28-inch shade of Apollo lamp sketched. Its half-shade is exactly the same height and the same diameter one way as a whole shade that's the right size, and its finished the same way. But it's a half cylinder instead of a whole one and thus saves half the inches of depth of table top a completely circular shade needs. With a half-shade, a big lamp fits the shallow table in size as well as in style.

Rains Help To Improve Texas Feed Prospects

AUSTIN, Oct. 12. Heavy mid-September rains broke the summer drought and improved fall range and pasture feed prospects over the eastern third of Texas and in the south, the U. S. Department of Agriculture said today. Range feed and livestock conditions Oct. 1 found cattle picking up on the improving feed supply in East Texas. Heavy supplemental feeding was required in the west and some northwestern counties where dry feed was short for breeding herds.

Marketing has been heavy as ranchers and farmers culled herds closely. Condition of cattle was reported at 80 per cent on Oct. 1, compared with 77 per cent a month earlier and a 10-year average of 85 per cent.

Ewes and lambs are generally in poor to fair conditions, USDA said. Dry feed was very short over most of the Edwards Plateau and Trans-Pecos. Local demand for ewes and ewe lambs is low because of dry ranges. Ewes and lambs were moved out in heavy volume to more favored areas.

Rain is urgently needed over the main sheep country to bring on winter grass and weeds. In-culling flocks, ranchmen were holding ewe lambs and young ewes in anticipation of the strong replacement demand as soon as the drought is broken. Sheep and lambs were reported unchanged at 72 per cent condition Oct. 1. A year ago, sheep were at 88 per cent.

Bulldogs Vie With Cards

COAHOMA, Oct. 12. —The Coahoma Bulldogs, off to their most successful football season in history, place their unblemished record on the line in a game with Hermleigh tonight at 8 o'clock.

The Bulldogs will be out to make it five victories in a row this season in their game with Hermleigh which counts in District 5-B standings.

Coahoma defeated Bronte last week, 21-0, for their first conference triumph after having defeated Grandfalls, O'Donnell and Stanton in non-league games previously.

Hermleigh, in years past, has dominated district play but the Red Birds have fallen on hard times more recently and are the underdogs in tonight's contest.

One of the biggest turnouts of the season is due to be on hand for the engagement. Several fans are expected from Big Spring, since that school's team is not booked to play.

Coach Tommy Proctor's Coahoma team boasts a light line that makes up in aggressive and fight what it lacks in weight, and a veteran secondary which has Bill Read as the pilot and Jimmy Knight as its chief threat.

Such lads as Elvon DeVaney, Billy Joe Cramer and Murphy Woodson have made the Coahoma forward wall very formidable.

The game will clear the decks for Coahoma's all-important contest next Friday with the Trent Gorrillas in Trent. That one could well determine how far the Bulldogs will go in the 5-B race, since Trent boasts an impressive record and apparently is determined to wrap up the championship trophy.

STILL UNBEATEN San Angelo Lee Opposes Yearling Club Saturday

Herschel (Mule) Stockton, one-time head football coach at Big Spring high school, brings his Robert E. Lee Junior high gridder to town Saturday night to see what can be done about arresting the sensational winning streak of the Big Spring Yearlings. Starting time is 8 o'clock.

Both contingents have glittery records. The Yearlings' most recent victim was Sweetwater, and that by a 39-14 count. Earlier, Angelo had bumped the same Sweetwater team, 7-0.

The Yearlings spotted Sweetwater seven points and then all but ran the Colts out of the stadium. Another fine crowd is due to be in the stands, barring bad weather. The Yearlings have caught the fancy of the supporters and have been more than making ends meet in their home games.

At school, the Yearling supporters hold their own pep rallies and have their own band. It's all very big league.

The Yearlings rarely disappoint on the field, either. With an attack featuring such fine backs as Brick Johnson, Tom Taylor, Buddy Cosby, Nugent Reid and Bobby Blumh and a fast, mobile line which has outcharged everything it has met.

Forest Land May Become Game Grounds

By L. A. WILKE
AUSTIN, Oct. 12. — Nearly two million acres of forest land may be made available for public hunting grounds in Texas, under a new program advanced by Gov. Allan Shivers to the new Texas Game & Fish Commission. He suggests the department begin immediately on negotiations through which 7,750,000 acres of forest land in East Texas can be thrown open to hunters. The land is in a half-dozen tracts, the smallest on a about 20,000 acres, according to Howard Dodgen, executive secretary of the commission.

Dodgen now is busy determining what steps are necessary to get the land for public hunting purposes, as is done in New Mexico. At the present time it would be possible with funds of the Pittman-Robertson and a Dinkell-ohnson bills to do a great deal of work in this area.

This brings up the natural question: what about state owned lands? There are thousands of acres of state owned and school lands throughout West Texas. This land now is being leased to ranchers for nominal fees. Some of it might be turned into hunting grounds for West Texans.

The shot gun goes on the shelf now for a spell, with the closing of the dove season in the North Texas zone last Wednesday evening. Duck season opens 12 noon, Nov. 2, and closes Dec. 28, South Texas dove season opens Nov. 15, which will permit South Texas deer hunters to put in an afternoon dove shooting before deer season opens Nov. 16.

And with hunting at a temporary standstill, this is a fine time to go out after a big bass. Homer Circle, who helps make Heddon tackle, comes along with a "double barrel" suggestion for fishermen.

"In the fall, as most anglers know, fishing is a hit or miss proposition, but there are three certainties. (1) They are hitting topwater lures. (2) They are hitting underwater lures. (3) They aren't hitting period!"

To find where they are hitting Circle suggests that you set up two rods, one with a chugger surface lure and the other with an under-water river run.

"Cast the chugger near weeds of lily pads, take the slack out of your line and lay the rod across your lap. Pick up the other rod, cast the river run near cover in another direction, then retrieve it while you keep your eyes on that chugger."

"After the river run is retrieved, pick up the rod in your lap, slowly take up the slack line and gently work the chugger a few times."

Well, which ever of these schemes works, that's the way to fish. It would follow if neither catches anything, to go home, but most of us will try again. Directly one will work.

The new 1952 edition of The Gun Digest is just off the press. It has many new special features this year, as well as listing most of the gun models ever made. You can spend an interesting evening with it, and then keep it for a valuable reference on guns and ammunition.

Watch out for rattlesnakes right now. They are prowling around quite a bit, hunting winter quarters. If you are in the woods, it will be a good idea to keep your eyes open. And even if you live in town, occasionally they'll come down out of the hills and take up abode in the flower box.

This Columbus Day takes on more than usual significance for some Big Springers who recently returned from a European trip. This is because Tot Sullivan, Nell Frazier and Alma Gollnick found one of their interesting stops to be Genoa, Italy, Christopher Columbus' birth place.

Mrs. Sullivan took a number of impressive pictures in Genoa, both still and in colored motion films. The stills she has grouped into an interesting display in the Bradshaw Studio window, 508 Main. Students of that phase of history will be interested in the Genoa exhibit, and there's something there to hold the casual passer-by, too.

Among Mrs. Sullivan's pictures is one of Columbus' birthplace. It appears to be partially destroyed from the exterior, but she reports the interior as being well-kept. Other pictures include one of the MacKenzie castle, an outstanding piece of architecture topped by a tall tower, and designed by G. Coppepe; one of Genoa's monument to the Soldiers; one of a monument to Christopher himself; and a beautiful view of the Cemetery of Staglieno. Another outstanding photo is of a general view of Genoa, which shows sharp contrast between today's modern buildings, and the old architecture of centuries ago. Genoa is shown to be a hilly city, overlooking a fine harbor.

Mrs. Sullivan confesses that she didn't bring back any photo of Chris. himself. As a matter of fact, no two pictures of the voyager look alike, and it is presumed that all portraits of Columbus were made after his death. The conception of the various artists differed widely.

The year 1951 happens to be the 500th birth year of the man who is honored for the discovery of America in 1492. The Big Spring party encountered a beautiful garden in Genoa, where, the shapes of the discoverer's ships—Santa Maria—Nina and Pinta—are landscaped from shrubs and flowers; and where the flowers spell out "Columbus—1451—1951."

Oilmen Reject Spacing Switch In Spraberry

MIDLAND, Oct. 12. (AP)—Some 300 oilmen have rejected a proposal to switch from 40 to 80-acre spacing in West Texas' vast Spraberry Trend.

The operators, royalty holders and landowners, meeting Thursday, also killed a proposal to the Railroad Commission that orders be issued for some changes in production formulas.

The recommendation was presented by a committee headed by Howard Marshall, of Ashland, Ky. The committee was appointed at a meeting in Fort Worth two weeks ago.

Arch Rowan of Fort Worth, member of the President's National Production Council, said the proposal was made only "because of the scarcity of steel," and warned that if the problem "is not solved on a local level the federal government will step into the picture."

Columbus Was A Sailor, But Ran Ship Aground

By ED CREADH
WASHINGTON, Oct. 12. (AP)—Christopher Columbus was a tall, good-looking man with sad eyes. His eyes may have been sad because he suffered from gout.

He was possibly the greatest sailor in history but on his first trip to the new world he ran his flagship, the Santa Maria, aground like a novice.

Columbus was a truthful man but he saw no need to tell everybody all he knew. On that first voyage he kept two sets of records—one for the crew and one for himself. The men were fretful already and he figured what they didn't know wouldn't hurt them.

These and other ob-lis-that-so's about Columbus were supplied by the Library of Congress today in connection with a special exhibit marking the 450th anniversary of his discovery of America and the 500th anniversary of his birth.

Some authorities say Columbus was born in 1446, not 1451. The Library of Congress is inclined to think it doesn't make a great deal of difference, and goes along with the majority.

Anyhow, its exhibition is pretty fascinating and features a number of the maps that persuaded Columbus the world was round—even though they led him to think there was no such place as America.

Columbus thought he had reached the Far East when he caught sight of the West Indies. He never budged from that belief, either.

One more thing about Columbus Day in Washington:

A direct descendant of Columbus, 17 generations removed, is placing a wreath today on the statue of his distinguished ancestor in front of Union Station. He's an hereditary five-star Spanish admiral, 26 years, old, here on a visit.

His name Christopher Columbus.

Soviet Gunfire On Habomai Heard

TOKYO, Oct. 12. (AP)—Soviet gunfire on the Habomai Islands off Hokkaido's eastern tip has created mounting fears among Japanese, a national police reserve officer said.

Nakoto Yamada, head of the police reserve's Sapporo District headquarters, said Soviet searchlights light up homes on the eastern peninsula of Japan's northern island.

HUNGERFORD MAN SHOWS BRAHMAS

Texas Animals Win All But One Fair Livestock Contest

DALLAS, Oct. 12. (AP)—J. D. Hudgins of Hungerford showed winning male and female Brahmas at the State Fair Thursday. Texas animals won all but one contest in livestock exhibitions.

W. C. Anderson and son of West Liberty, Iowa, put two Shorthorn bulls into the ring for both male honors in that class. C. M. Caraway and sons of DeLeon showed the champion Shorthorn female, and Scofield and Miller of Austin, the reserve female.

Reserve champions in the Brahmas Show came from the J. T. Garrett herd at Danbury.

Willard K. Jordon of Art supplied the grand champion steer, a 1,260-pound, 18-months registered Hereford named Dandy.

The reserve grand steer, also a Hereford, was a summer yearling owned by the Arledge Ranch of Seymour. The steers previously took high and runner-up honors in Hereford classes.

In the Type B Angora Goat show, W. S. Orr of Rock Springs showed the champion buck and champion and reserve champion does. Charles E. Orr of Rockspring held the reserve buck.

Charles Orr also supplied the Type C Angora Show with its champion buck and doe. W. S. Orr followed through with the reserves.

Hudgins' champion bull and female of the Brahman Show were

Plastic Balloons Being Sent Aloft

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12. (AP)—Some giant sized plastic balloons visible at 100,000 feet on clear days are being sent aloft by the Air Force in its research into conditions in the stratosphere.

The Air Force said the balloons should not be confused with flying saucers, of which military officials say there aren't any.

Rare Ming Vases Masked As Toys

HONG KONG, Oct. 12. (AP)—A steady flow of "children's toys" is coming into this British Crown Colony from Red China.

Antique dealers, using acetate, removed a coating of new-type American enamel and the "toys" are exposed as precious Ming Dynasties vases — export banned by the Reds.
