SIDES TO THE TIDELANDS QUESTION

Ownership of the tidelands of the big issues before the Congress. One of Mr. Truman's last official acts was to designate the tidelands resources as the result of deep concern, or an impulse to have the word, remains to be seen. At this moment it seems likely the new President and Congress, one or both, may reverse Truman action and restore tidelands to the states.

The disturbing thing about the tidelands is that some of the proposals of both sides are going at it from the selfish point of view. The military would like to have tidelands oil for the Navy. The governors of states having tidelands boundaries would like to have them for public schools, or for what-not. It is easy to understand that any unit of government would welcome such a windfall. But is this the basis on which the tidelands issue ought to be settled?

An illustration of how little we know of the public weal and how we weigh things as they affect our personal interests was in the December issue of the Outlook, the official publication of the State Teacher's Association. In an article on the tidelands, the author, who is also the Secretary of the Association, declared that tidelands revenue rightly belongs to the schools of Texas (and that this revenue there would be telling how war and how fast schools could go on the road progress. In newspaper headlines the same day a member of the Texas legislature, in telling that group was wrestling with the problem of where to get enough money for state roads, in-luents, teacher's salaries, etc., declared that the award of the tidelands revenue to the state would be the perfect solution to the state's financial problems. Quite so. But do the tidelands really belong to the states, or should the revenue therefrom be a lucky pick-up? Since when is the need of money constitute a right to take it?

And another thing. Suppose we take the tidelands money for the state program of schools, etc. when it was spent, where would it be? Right back where we started. Perhaps worse off, for the tidelands money would set off a chain of expenditures which we might not be able to keep up when the tidelands income ended. Most temporary solutions of public problems in the long run leave us worse off than before. What we need is a public school program set up on a long-time basis, and which we can pay for out of ordinary revenues.

I am not saying who the tidelands money belongs to. It involves a lot of history, a lot of state law, and the legal doctrine of paramount rights. In its latest decision on this question the Supreme Court of the United States held the federal government has paramount rights in the tidelands. One fact seems clear even to a Texas man, provided the Texan makes an effort at all to see the basic principle involved. There are two sides to the tidelands issue. Two good sides. Take the states' side first.

Texas came into the Union by treaty. Because of certain public lands the Republic of Texas had to make and the Union did not care to take on, it seems that Texas came in with the understanding that she would pay her own debt and in return therefore keep her public domain. It would seem, then, that there is merit in the state claim. It may also be true that the doctrine of paramount right of the federal government, if allowed, might be extended to the point of confiscation of other resources. Here are two good points in favor of state ownership. Now let's look at the other side.

Lions Pour $422 Through Baskets For Dimes Drive

At $6.30 Per Point Team Hangs Up Record Game Score

Dimes flowed through the netted hoops in Davidson Memorial gym like flood waters down a West Texas draw in ante-drought days Tuesday night as Coach Pelto's Lions dropped 67 points through the baskets at $6.30 each for the Crockett county March of Dimes campaign.

The Lions' scoring spree, a record for this and many seasons past, enriched the dimes campaign by $422.10 (put up by 63 fans at a dime-a-point each), smothered the Eldorado Eagles 67 to 36 and racked up the eleventh straight district win for the Lions in a period reaching into three basketball seasons.

Maybe it was the knowledge that every field goal poured 126 dimes and every free throw 63 of them into the March of Dimes coffers, or maybe it was the spur of district competition and an eye on the championship, or maybe it was just a fine basketball team hitting top stride, but whatever, the Lions played an inspired game from the opening jump, by far the finest game they have turned in this season. And maybe the Eldorado team and coaches will understand that the dimes campaign outmoded the usual courtesies of putting in the second string when the score margin stood through most of the game at thirty or more points.

Top money-getter of the game was Scott Hickman, lanky center and southpaw shooter for the Lions, whose total take for the evening was $132.30 (21 points if you don't care to divide it.) Wayne Kuykendall, classy Lion ball-handler and dead-eye shooter, earned the March of Dimes polo-fighting fund $88.20 with his 14 points. Bill Schneemann, who aces the Lions, along with Hickman, in snatching the ball off the backboard all evening, enriched the Dimes pot $81.90 (13 points).

Charles Garlitz rang the polo fund cash register for $69.30 with 11 points and Tom Piner contributed $31.50 with 5 points. Both lads were balls of fire taking the ball downcourt and passing with deadly accuracy. Late comers in the contest, in its fading moments, Wilburn Conklin threw a $12.60 field goal and Bill Maness a free throw which netted the fund $6.30.

Humphrey led the visitors in the scoring department with a total of 11 points.

Ozons's B string swamped the Eldorado second team 53 to 39 in the evening's curtain raiser. Johnny Ramirez led the Lions with 15 points. Jody Jones was second with 13. Eleven boys on the Lions squad saw action in the contest. Their scoring: Ronnie McMullan, 8; Sammy Martinez, 8; Charles Hale, 4; Don Taylor and Larry Lewis, 2 each; Lloyd West 1 and Bobby Martin and Lewis Robison, 0.

SA College Play, Delayed By Illness, Presented Last Night

Illness among members of the cast forced postponement of the presentation here last Saturday night of the San Angelo College theatre-in-the-round production of "Night Must Fall," a three-act mystery drama.

The play was presented in the girls' gymnasium of the Ozona High School last night, with an enthusiastic audience giving rapt attention to the novel in-the-round presentation, patterned after the ancient Greek theatres.

The Ozona appearance of the San Angelo players was sponsored by the Ozona Lions Club, with all proceeds going to the March of Dimes campaign here.

Ozons Lions Win Third In Big Lake Tourney

Coach Pelto's Ozona Lion basketballers won third place in the annual Big Lake basketball tournament last week-end. The Lions batted down the Ballinger Bearcats 48-42 for the third place trophy. Ozons Killed In Highway Crash Saturday Night

Victoriano Fierro, 20 Dies in Car-Truck Collision

Victoriano Fierro, 20, son of Seferino Fierro of Ozona, was instantly killed about 11 o'clock Saturday night when the car he was driving sideswiped a gasoline transport truck on Highway 290 about three miles east of Ozona.

Young Fierro was dead when officers arrived at the scene. His chest was crushed and he suffered head injuries. It was Crockett county's first traffic fatality of 1953.

Sheriff V. O. Earnest and Deputy Billy Mills, who investigated the accident, said that Fierro was attempting to pass another car and was unable to get back into the right hand lane when he met the truck. Driver of the Transport Co. truck, James W. Winn of San Antonio, said that he pulled off the pavement as far as he could when he saw the two cars coming side-by-side down the hill at the east roadside park. Officers quoted Winn as saying that he would have taken to the bar ditch but a big mesquite tree blocked the ditch.

Fierro's car, a 1942 Pontiac, tipped the front fender of the big truck and smashed head-on into the left rear wheels. The transport truck was loaded with high-octane gasoline and the impact caused one of the tank sections to spring a leak. Fortunately, an outbreak of fire was avoided.

Funeral services were held at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon at the Latin-American Baptist church Cody Funeral Home in charge of arrangements. Surviving are the widow, Eva, the father, two sisters and five brothers, all residents of Ozona.

Former Ozonan Found Dead of Pistol Wound

Elias Ramirez, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jose Ramirez, former Ozona residents, was found dead in his room at his home in Odessa Monday morning of last week. Ramirez had died of a gunshot wound in the head. A pistol lay beside the body.

Ramirez had been under treatment for a heart condition for several years. Funeral services were held in Odessa Thursday.

Jose, and his brother, Trinidad Ramirez, now living in Sonora, operated a boot shop in Ozona for a number of years. Elias helped in manufacturing boots in his father's shop in Ozona and until his death, in the shop now operated in Odessa.

Opening Games Of Annual Cage Tourney Tonight

14 Teams To Compete In 22nd Invitational Meet

Ozona High School will tap off its 22nd annual invitational basketball tournament tonight with a double header bill which will see both the Ozona A and B teams in action.

The evening's curtain raiser at 7 o'clock will be an exhibition game between the Ozona B squad and the Barnhart Tigers, one of the tournament entries. The Tigers have an automatic "win" so far as the tournament competition is concerned and will go into the championship quarter finals. Their opening game tonight was to have been against the Junction Eagles but a conflict developed in Junction with a football banquet and the Eagles will forfeit the opener and go into the consolation bracket.

The second tournament game tonight will pit the Ozona Lions of Coach J. A. Pelto against the Sonora Bronchos. The Lions were blistering hot here Tuesday night when they downed the Eldorado Eagles 67 to 36 and if they can maintain the form should hurdle the Bronchos in tonight's tournament opener.

The tournament will be divided into morning, afternoon and evening sessions Friday and Saturday. Morning sessions will begin at 7:30 a. m. afternoon sessions at 12:45 and evening sessions at 7:30.

Fourteen teams are slated to compete in the tourney for handsome trophies to be given to the champion and runner-up teams and the consolation winner, plus 10 awards to all-tournament players and one of the tournament's outstanding players. Souvenirs are also on hand for coaches of the participating teams.

Opening round games will put Big Lake's Owls against the San Angelo B crew at 7:30 Friday morning. At 9 a. m. Friday, Fort Stockton and Menard tangle in opening round play and at 10:30, Rankin, one of the tourney entries favored to win, will meet the Mason Punchers.

To open the Friday afternoon session at 12:45, McCamey and Lake View will go in the opener. Crane and Carrizo Springs drew byes in the opening round and play each other at 2:15 Friday afternoon in the championship quarter finals, the loser taking up in the consolation play.

Last year's tournament champion, Andrews High School, will not be here this year to defend. Big Lake, a strong contender again this year, was runner-up last year. Carrizo Springs won the consolation last year.

HARRY'S CORRESPONDENCE!

A newspaper story this week noted that Harry Truman has been offered a lucrative position as president of a correspondence school. We wonder if the school authorities have read some of his letters when in a fit of anger. As president of a correspondence school we can imagine him outlining some of the lessons when suddenly the news reaches him that Tom Clark has spilled the beans, or that some of his old cronies have been apprehended for questioning by some investigating committee, or that General Vaughan is trying to soldier once again, or some critic has decided that Margaret really can't sing a lick now that she is the daughter of only an ex-President. Well, that lesson would take the cake! "Listen to Luke" in Sanderson Times.

Ozona Lions Down Eldorado for 2nd District Victory

By Tom Piner
The Ozona Lions were red hot Tuesday night, downing the Eldorado Eagles 67 to 36. Leading 36 to 15 at the half, the Lions finished strong to make $422 for the March of Dimes.

The high man for Ozona, big Scott Hickman, playing his finest game of the season, netted 21 points. Wayne Kuykendall was close behind with 14, while Bill Schneemann had 13.

The Lions led all the way and the cold Eagles never could muster their attack.

The Ozona B bested the Eldorado B 54 to 38. Johnny Ramirez was high man for Ozona with 15. Jody Jones tagged 13. Frank Edmiston had 18 for Eldorado.

It was the second district win for Ozona. Junction and Ozona are tied with two wins each against no losses.

Ozona will meet Sonora Thursday night in the opener of the Ozona Tournament.

MEASLES DOWNS TEACHER

Mumps? Flu? Whooping Cough? No — of all things the measles! Yes, the measles have caught up with one of our school teachers, Mr. Silas Wagner. He has been out all week convalescing — or should we say — waiting for the spots to go away?

People who have visited him on the teachers hill through the door of course, say he's still as spotted as a leopard.

In Mr. Wagner's absence, Mr. Jonson has been teaching classes in general science, biology and geometry.

Speech Class Goes To See Alpine Play

Representatives of the OHS speech class journeyed to Alpine Friday 16, to see "Home of the Brave" presented by the Sul Ross speech department. Those making the trip were Graham Childress, Mariou Mock, Larry Lewis and Mr. and Mrs. Leath.

The group left at 3:30 Friday afternoon and upon arrival in Alpine, the first stop was the college where they were assigned to their rooms in Ferguson Hall. Then it was time to go to the play.

The play, "Home of the Brave," was a war story based upon racial discrimination. Through this play, which was well directed and skillfully portrayed, the speech class picked up a lot of valuable information in the field of acting.

Band Sweetheart to Be Named In April

Last Monday, at noon, the band officers talked over electing a Band Sweetheart. Around the last of April the usual spring band concert will be given. We have decided to crown the sweetheart then. Wilburn Conklin, the First Lieutenant, will have the privilege of crowning her. About two weeks before the concert the election will take place and the winner will be kept secret until the night of the concert.

This is the first time we have had a Band Sweetheart. This will be a new tradition for Ozona.

SENIOR NOTES

At the Senior Class meeting Tuesday noon, plans were made for the tournament on Friday and Saturday. The Seniors, as usual, will be in charge of the concession stand; a raffle of some kind will probably be staged at that time.

With the resignation of Bill Gillet as Senior reporter, La Von Henderson (that's me!) has been given the honor.

Plans for the Senior trip were discussed. There seems to be a little difference of opinion as to where we want to go, but things will be straightened out soon.

Our motto: Bring your money and visit us at the concession stand!

Ozona Student Member Popular Dance Band At Sul Ross College

ALPINE, Texas. — Members of the Sul Ross State College Dance Band are settling back down to business after a very busy holiday season. The following is a list of the members, their home towns, and the instruments they play: Richard Bryan, Monahans, string bass; Jack Larrimore, Brary, drums; Lionel Gum, San Antonio, piano; Everett McAulay, Weslaco; Ross Hise, Falfurrias, trombone; Pete Cisneros, Ozona, tenor sax; Harvey Ramsey, Del Rio; and Joseph Bellamah, Alpine, director.

In many instances these college students provide their financial means of education through this activity. The twelve member band started the December holiday schedule by playing for its own college Christmas Dance which was held in the Student Union Building on the Sul Ross campus on Dec. 19. On Dec. 20 the college performers gave a radio broadcast over KVLF at noon, and then on the evening of Dec. 20 played for the high school formal at Fort Stockton.

This band was so well accepted in Fort Stockton that it made its second holiday appearance in the city on Dec. 22 at the Country Club. On Dec. 25 this group of musicians made its third appearance in Alpine by playing for a dance sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars. On Dec. 27, the Sul Ross Band played for the "Texas Aggie" Dance in San Angelo. Then on Dec. 31, the band closed a busy season and 1952 schedule by playing for the largest crowd of the year at the San Angelus Hotel in San Angelo for a dance sponsored by the "248 Club."

Livestock Profits in Future Depend on Feed And Numbers Balance

COLLEGE STATION. — Texas livestock producers would like mightily well to see an improvement on the profit side of the ledger in 1953. The sharp drop in cattle prices since last summer was made more acute by the drought which covered much of the country. Recent rains, however, have improved the prospects for feed and some strength has been noted in livestock prices.

The prospects for 1953 are not too bright, says C. H. Bates, farm management specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. This prediction is based on the forecast that more beef and poultry will be available. The supplies of mutton and pork will be less but the over-all total of all meats is expected to be larger than 1952 supplies. Prices, says Bates, for both live animals and meat at retail are most likely to decline some unless unforeseen changes occur.

On the favorable side of the picture Bates adds that the strong demand for meat is likely to continue through 1953 and too, consumers should have more money with which to buy meats and other foods.

The long time outlook for profits from livestock production the specialist believes depends on how well producers balance livestock numbers with feed supplies. He points out that Texas producers in 1952 had some 21 per cent more cattle than 10 years ago and this resulted in heavier stocking of range and pasture land. The drought coupled with the 20 per cent less acreages planted last year to hay and silage crops made the feed situation a tough one. Even with normal yields there would have been feed shortages in most areas.

The use of fertilizers and irrigation in some sections has helped to boost feed crop yields, but Bates cautions that growers must keep feed acreages in line with livestock numbers.

Profitable livestock production in 1953 or for most any year, he says, depends on the plans that are made by the individual producer for an adequate feed supply which must include reserves. Unless there is a stable feed supply, livestock profits are doubtful, regardless of a strong demand for meat and reasonable prices.

Here and There

By J. Troy Hickman

the edge of the United States, the state boundary is also the federal boundary. Take Texas, for example. The Rio Grande River is the state boundary on the south. It is also the boundary line between the United States and Mexico. In the event of war or any issue involving our national relations with Mexico, the state would have to share her sovereignty over the Rio Grande with the U. S. government in a way which would not be true of the river, the boundary between Texas and Oklahoma. This is true of all the states which face the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans or the Canadian or Mexican boundaries. We have already recognized this fact when we see the U. S. Customs Stations at points along the border. People coming into Texas from Mexico are also coming into the United States, and therefore the U. S. has certain rights on all borders.

Another point which seems to favor federal ownership is that in other states, some of them inland, the federal government has bought up certain resources to be held in trust for the whole public. If it were not for the state and federal-owned forests in the West, there would be no redwoods left to see. All big timber would be practically a thing of the past. Any one of us can drive his car into the Grand Canyon Park, or the Yellowstone or the Glacier. Why? Because the government is holding these spots for the public. If this were not true, we would have to pay admission to some private party for the privilege of being there.

No doubt there are people in California who think that the titles to all the redwoods and the ocean-front and ought to be vested in private persons. This would be to their financial advantage. No doubt there are lumbermen in Washington and Oregon who decry federal and state control of forest reserves. They are no more selfish than are we in Texas and other tideland states who claim the whole resources of the lands "for the school-children."

To my ear there is something a little phony about the cry, "For the school children of Texas!" I think this may be an attempt to cover a selfish act with a mantle of benevolence. I suspect that the politicians, the big industrialists and other state interests are more interested in the control of this money than in the future of Texas children.

It may be several months yet before we know the fate of the tidelands. Meanwhile, two things seem certain. The first is that there are two good sides to this issue. The second is that seldom is a wise decision made on the basis of group interest. Wise decisions come only as basic concepts of right are applied to specific issues without regard to whom they aid or fail to aid, with no regard to expediency. We have had stop-gap government too long now. We need to get back to some fundamentals.

A new type motor oil for the new cars

Your new car needs this new type oil

Prevents "4000-mile knock." Many 1952 and practically all the 1953 automobiles have high compression engines.

You've heard about these fine new engines. You know, for example, that they require gasoline with extra anti-knock performance . . . a gasoline like Humble Esso Extra.

Now, Detroit's automotive engineers have discovered that high compression engines need an entirely new type of motor oil. With conventional oils in the crankcase, the new engines have a tendency to ping, or knock, after four to eight thousand miles of driving.

This "4000-mile knock" is caused by combustion chamber deposits; these increase the compression ratio to a point where no commercial gasoline will give you anti-knock performance.

Humble Esso Uniflo, an entirely new type motor oil, prevents the formation of deposits that cause "4000-mile knock" in high compression engines if you begin to use it regularly in the first 1000 miles of driving.

Protects against friction wear and acid corrosion. Second, the engineers discovered that friction is the chief cause of wear in automobile engines. Moving parts in the new engines are so carefully machined that they fit very closely. This gives you much better performance from your car, but it also requires superior lubrication. Heavy oils and oils that "thicken" in cold weather don't flow readily between such closely fitting parts. The result is excessive wear from friction, and expensive engine overhauls . . . To minimize friction wear . . . again you need Humble's new Esso Uniflo Motor Oil.

Esso Uniflo has such an amazingly high viscosity index that it gives you the quick-flowing characteristics of an SAE 5W oil at 25° below zero Fahrenheit, and the tough, full body of an SAE 20 oil at 110° Fahrenheit.

Furthermore, the additives in Esso Uniflo are anti-acid—this new type oil cuts acid corrosion as much as 50%.

You Need Only One Grade of Humble Esso Uniflo. You use it year 'round. Esso Uniflo meets all the specifications for SAE viscosity classifications 5W, 10W, 20W and 20. It is a heavy duty, detergent oil, recommended for API service classifications ML (light duty), MM (medium duty), MS (severe duty) and DG (general diesel duty). Its viscosity index is amazingly high.

Premium Value—Premium Price

Humble Esso Uniflo costs something more than most motor oils. But you'll agree that the small extra cost—less than one-tenth of a cent for each mile of driving—is cheap insurance against "4000-mile knock," friction wear, and acid corrosion!

A Word to Owners of Older Automobiles

If you use an oil meeting SAE viscosity classifications up to 20—you will find it profitable to change to Humble's new type Esso Uniflo. It will protect your car against friction wear and acid corrosion; reduce starting drag and extend battery life.

If your engine has just been rebuilt—change to Esso Uniflo. It will prevent the deposits causing "4000-mile knock"; it will protect against wear from friction and corrosion, reduce starting drag and extend battery life.

If you use SAE 30 or SAE 40 oil—Humble continues to recommend Esso Extra Motor Oil No. 3, a high quality, heavy duty, detergent oil with a viscosity index second only to that of Esso Uniflo.
