Danes, Swedes Leaning Toward Western Pact

Scandinavia Sees Own Defense As Insufficient

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Feb. 28. (AP)—Denmark appeared lined up firmly with the west in the cold war today, and there were indications that Sweden, too, is leaning in that direction.

Denmark's position on the North western military alliance against Russian expansion—was made clear yesterday when the country's largest political party, the Social Democrats, decided to look to the west for security.

Meanwhile high diplomatic sources in Sweden, traditionally neutral key nation of the North Scandinavian bloc, predicted that Sweden will join the projected North Atlantic agreement within six months. One informed source said "sooner, if the Russians make any move toward Finland.

Norway, the other Scandinavian country, already has turned to the west for her military security. Norway said an all-Scandinavian defense arrangement with no links to the west, as proposed some time ago by Sweden, would not be strong enough to make her feel secure.

Norway, Sweden and Denmark had accepted economic ties with the west in the Marshall Plan. Until recently, however, they had been reluctant to forge any military links for fear of Russian reaction. All are within easy range of Soviet forces.

Denmark's Social Democrats, with only one dissenting vote reported, approved through the party's executive committee a resolution calling for "increased political and military cooperation" with the western democracies.

The resolution said an all-Scandinavian alliance is "not possible at present."

The party's vote in parliament, added to that of smaller parties already committed to the North Atlantic agreement, provides a clear-cut majority in both houses.

Showdown Coming On Filibustering

Truman Calls For Final Settlement

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28. (AP)—President Truman advised administration leaders in the Senate today to meet the filibuster "head on" and seek a showdown on curbing it.

Senate Democratic Leader Lucas of Illinois told reporters after a White House conference that Mr. Truman had given that advice. Lucas himself commented:

"This issue has to be met sooner or later and we might as well meet it now."

The Senate, meeting at noon, had up the question of whether to change its rules so that debate could be halted at any time that two-thirds of the senators on the floor voted to halt it.

Under present rules, there are some situations in which no limit can be put on debate. That means senators opposed to a bill can keep talking, or filibustering as it is called, and prevent a vote.

Southerners have used such tactics in the past to bar a vote on anti-poll tax and anti-lynching legislation. These are among measures President Truman is asking as part of his civil rights program.

Southerners want to keep the chance to filibuster so they can use it when those measures come up. So they were primed to filibuster against changing the rules.

The administration's hope of putting the rule change over hangs on wearing out the Southerners—or getting a ruling from Vice President Barkley, the Senate's presiding officer, that would permit a vote to limit debate on the proposal to change the rules.

Lucas, Barkley and House Speaker Rayburn met for upwards of 45 minutes with Mr. Truman.

Lucas said that he is hopeful that the rule change can be put through, but he declined to speculate on how long it might take to stop a filibuster against it.

At the present time, he said, the President is not particularly worried that his legislative program will be stymied by the fight over the filibuster.

"There is no doubt, of course," Lucas said, that it will "delay" action on many administration proposals but "this issue has to be met sooner or later and we might as well meet it now."

While he said it would delay action on rent control extension, he said that measure was not yet out of the house and that the reciprocal trade deadline would not come until June 12.

City Gets Snow, Rain And Sleet

An odd mixture of sleet and rain, and occasional snow flurries presaging a cold front from the west, peppered this area at noon Monday.

G. A. McGahan, in charge of the U. S. weather bureau here, said that the cold front due in from the west was aloft and moving very slowly. Occasional light rain or sleet was due to be in advance of it. No severe cold was seen, for the minimum outlook Tuesday was 34 degrees.

Over the state weather was all mixed up. It was clear in northern sections while below San Antonio and along the coast it was cloudy. Wind reported a trace for the only moisture during the night. Amarillo, Dallas and Abilene reported freezing temperatures.

In West Texas cloudy skies were in store for tonight and Tuesday with occasional rain from the Pecos valley westward tonight.

Meanwhile, stream flooded by last week's torrential rains, receded in most instances although flood warnings remained posted along the lower Trinity.

Five Day Week Major Issue In Railroad Dispute

CHICAGO, Feb. 28. (AP)—Representatives of railroad labor declared today "peaceful settlement" of their wage-hour dispute depends upon management acceptance of a fact-finding board's views on the five-day week.

A committee of 16 cooperative railway labor organizations, representing 1,000,000 non-operating rail workers, issued this brief statement in their month-old dispute:

"The members of the former emergency board, acting as mediators in the dispute between the non-operating railway employees and the carriers, have issued an interpretation of their recommendation on the five-day week which sustains the position of the employees.

"The peaceful settlement of this dispute depends upon the acceptance by the carriers of this interpretation."

HENRY D. NORRIS

Scout Leader Norris Moving To Sweetwater

Henry D. Norris, Boy Scout field executive here for more than six years, is transferring Tuesday to Sweetwater, where he will serve in a similar capacity for that area, it was announced this morning.

Norris will be succeeded here by Jimmie Hale, Wichita Falls, who already has arrived to take up his duties in the Big Spring area.

For Norris, the transfer means a return to familiar territory. Prior to his association with Scouting, he was a teacher in several schools in Nolan and neighboring counties, and when he came to Big Spring on Sept. 22, 1942, he resigned a position as principal of elementary schools in Sweetwater.

His assignment as field executive in Big Spring was his first as a professional worker in the Boy Scout organization. He is now assistant executive for the Buffalo Trail Council.

In Big Spring Norris has been identified with a number of civic organizations and community projects during the past six years. He is a member of the Rotary club, and at the time of his resignation a few days ago he was in his fourth year as secretary of the local organization. He also served for three years as roll call chairman for the Howard - Glasscock chapter of the American Red Cross, has been a member of the Friends of the Howard County Library, and was one of several who led a campaign to open the county library here several years ago.

At the First Methodist Church Norris has served as a member of the Board of Stewards, chairman.

Nine Students Dead In Dormitory Fire

GAMBIER, O., Feb. 28. (AP)—The death toll in the Kenyon College fire mounted to nine today when Jack McDonald, 18-year-old student from Hamilton, O., died of a skull fracture.

McDonald, who dropped from his third-floor room at Haines swept the "Old Kenyon" dormitory early Sunday morning, succumbed at 12:07 p. m. in Mercy Hospital at nearby Mount Vernon.

A few minutes earlier the college announced it had abandoned hope of finding alive the six students who were missing. This had increased the death toll to eight. Two died yesterday morning.

GAMBIER, O., Feb. 28. (AP)—Kenyon College today listed six students missing in a million-dollar dormitory fire that killed two others and injured 26 yesterday. Firemen searched the ruins for bodies.

Towering above the helmeted searchers were the giant stone walls of "Old Kenyon." It was the oldest building on the campus of the school for men.

"That was all that was left of a 122-year-old dormitory that housed 120 men. The four-foot walls of gray stone withstood three hours of fire that raged through "Middle Kenyon" and adjoining wings early Sunday.

The missing students were: Ernest Ahwajee of Akron, Ohio, 18-year-old sophomore and former star tennis player at Akron West High School.

Martin Co. Court To Tackle Highway Right-Of-Way Task

Martin county commissioners court Monday informed Howard county's commissioners court it was ready to tackle the problem of right-of-way from Lenorah to the eastern Martin county line.

"We don't know how far we can get," said Martin County Judge James McMorris, "but we are ready to start and see how far we can go."

Man Identified As Robber Of Texas Bank

DALLAS, Feb. 28. (AP)—Ollie Otto Prince, Corsicana used car dealer here as the unmasked robber who held up and robbed the Rice State bank of $4,002 last August 11.

S. B. South, assistant cashier of the bank, stepped down from the witness stand, walked over to the defense counsel table, pointed a finger at the nattily-dressed Prince and said:

"This is the man who robbed me."

South was the first government witness. He told of being alone in the bank at the time of the robbery. He testified he saw the robber park a car in front of the bank, enter the door and walk across to an office.

South said he supposed the man was waiting to see a bank official who was at lunch. It was at this point that the prosecution asked South if he could identify the man in the courtroom.

The trial of Prince, 44, got underway at 10 a. m. Only one hour and a half was required to select a jury. The trial was expected to run several days. The government summoned 71 witnesses and the defense was expected to call 30.

A recess was ordered after South had testified.

Prince also is charged in the robbery of the Malone bank in Hill county of $13,764 on October 8.

Canvassers Out For Red Cross

Despite prospects for unfavorable weather, first contact work in the business employes division of the annual Red Cross roll call was underway this morning, although attendance at a kickoff meeting was somewhat disappointing.

All workers who reported at the session accepted assignments and began immediate distribution of envelopes. First reports from the employes division are due Wednesday.

Meanwhile, advanced gifts division workers who have not reported were being urged to submit figures to the roll call headquarters in the Empire Southern Gas Co. office.

Reports this morning accounted for approximately $50, which was added to $1,700 tabulated here late Saturday.

FINANCING PROBLEM EXISTS

Martin Co. Court To Tackle Highway Right-Of-Way Task

Martin county commissioners court Monday informed Howard county's commissioners court it was ready to tackle the problem of right-of-way from Lenorah to the eastern Martin county line.

"We don't know how far we can get," said Martin County Judge James McMorris, "but we are ready to start and see how far we can go."

Several persons, whose property would be traversed by the road, he said, had indicated a willingness to give right-of-way.

Martin county's proposed road bond issue (in the amount of $400,000) lacked 31 votes securing the necessary two-thirds majority, he explained, leaving the county with a financing problem as concerned roadway expenditures. He said his court had talked to the state highway commission about the matter.

Judge J. E. Brown and members of the Howard county court expressed appreciation to the Martin county court for its visit and a personal willingness to be helpful in a proper manner. Howard county has right-of-way on the road from Big Spring to the western Howard county line.

The gap from Lenorah to the county line is approximately 10 miles.

Here with Judge McMorris were Oliver Vaughn, commissioner from precinct No. 1; Ed Bloomer, commissioner from precinct No. 2; Otto Bearden, commissioner from precinct No. 3; Joe Froman, commissioner from precinct No. 4 and Martin County Attorney Tom Adams. The Howard court also heard reports that work was underway on the Lomax road, a four and a half-mile county-state cooperative venture from U. S. 89 to Lomax community. A telephone pole, the last obstruction in the roadway, has been moved and highway workers are on the job, said Commissioner R. L. Nail.

During the morning the court went over charity cases with Mary Cantrell, case worker, and passed on routine operations bills. They also took a look at pictures of an oil fire in which a county maintenance was destroyed near Knott last week. The unit, valued at about $11,000, was not insured while out of the warehouse.

More Bulgarian Church Leaders Plead Guilty

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Feb. 28. (AP)—Five more Protestant churchmen pleaded guilty today in Bulgaria's spy trial.

By the end of the day's session, eight in all had entered guilty pleas. Seven others still must plead. All who pleaded guilty went through the now familiar routine, denouncing themselves, expressing repentance and pleading for a new chance to work for the Communist-controlled government.

All said they had seen the error of their ways in their opposition to communism. All of them told the court that the secret security police who took their confessions of spying for Britain and the United States had displayed a "surprisingly noble attitude."

The first to take the stand today was the Rev. Georgi Chernov, 46, a balding Pentecostal pastor. He lost no time in pleading guilty, as the first three had done.

Deputy Dies Of Gunshot Wound

CORPUS CHRISTI, Feb. 28. (AP)—Deputy Oscar Briones, 29, of Duval County died in an Allice hospital today of a gunshot wound suffered Friday night while making an arrest in a Benavides bar.

Louis Garza, 46, cafe owner, arrested after the shooting, was charged with murder.

Chief Deputy Pete Saenz said Briones was trying to break up a fight when he was shot. A bullet struck him in the neck, severing the spinal cord.

The deputy was taken to a San Antonio hospital, but later was transferred to an Allice hospital when he expressed a wish to be near his family.

He was a native of Benavides. Survivors include his wife and two daughters. Funeral services will be held this afternoon at Benavides.

MAKES GOOD HIS BOAST Killer Shot Down By Officers' Guns

PHOENIX, Ariz., Feb. 28. (AP)—The vicious killer, Bill Ray Gilbert, made good his boast he would never be taken alive. He fell before a blaze of officers' gunfire here last night.

He almost made good his boast—"I'll take two officers with me when I die." He shot a policeman three times in the leg.

The 28-year-old Arizona ex-convict killed a woman and two men near Needles, Calif., last Wednesday.

The gun battle with police ended a crime foray in which Gilbert and a prison pal, George Adolph Schmid, 22, kidnaped a Phoenix woman, killed the three Californians, and returned to Arizona with a plan to kill the state prison warden and other officials.

Schmid was captured without resistance by two city policemen here early yesterday as he tried to reach his mother's home. He was armed with two pistols.

Police surrounded a tourist court cabin in the southwestern section of the city last night when the operator, C. A. Jensen, reported a man he recognized as Gilbert had registered during the afternoon.

Two policemen battered on the cabin door and ordered the occupant to come out.

The answer was a blast of pistol fire from the cabin's attic. Detective Ed Langevin fell wounded.

Police poured bullets through the twin cabin walls.

They knew their man was hit when blood streaked the white exterior of the cabin.

"Don't shoot anymore. I'm hit in the head," Gilbert shouted above the gunfire.

As police held their fire, Gilbert came to the door.

He threw it open and, blood See KILLER, Pg. 9, Col. 7

Manufacturers To Move Southward

MERIDIAN, Miss., Feb. 28. (AP)—A New York shirt manufacturer is planning to move several factories to the South, according to the Mississippi Agricultural and Industrial Board, which has had an inquiry for possible factory site.

The board also had a request from a New England woolen mill for information on available sites. A branch plant is considered for the South.

And a Pennsylvania fastener manufacturer interested in a Southern location has contacted the board relative to this state.

The concerns were not identified.

Britain Needs $940 Million, Says ECA Head

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28. (AP)—The administration advised congress today the proposed $940 million in new aid to Britain is a "tight fit"—the absolute minimum needed.

"Any reduction in it," declared Paul Hoffman, head of the Economic Co-operation Administration, "would adversely affect continued recovery in both the United Kingdom and Western Europe."

He and a group of advisers from various branches of the government appeared before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee as the aftermath of a trans-Atlantic discussion of the state of Britain's economic health.

Because of varying official British statements as to how far she has recovered from the strains of war, the committee called in Hoffman to justify Britain's share of the new $5,580,000,000 European Recovery Program.

That was the sole purpose of today's hearings.

Coahoma Office Raided By Thieves

Thieves who broke into the Brooks-Turner Oil Well Construction office in Coahoma over the weekend took with them a typewriter, radio and 11 company checks, two of them filled out and ready for delivery.

One of the checks had been made out to Coaden Petroleum Corporation to the amount of $330.19, the other to Texas Electric Service for $11.34.

The intruders made entrance in the rear by cutting a hole in the sheet metal exterior, probably with a pocket knife.

More Funds Asked For Aid To Needy

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28. (AP)—The administration asked Congress today for a $200,000,000 to $250,000,000 expansion of the present $1,000,000-a-year program for helping the needy. The extra money would go toward "home relief"—including medical care—for all needy people.

Social Security Commissioner Arthur J. Altmeyer told the House Ways and Means committee that social security has achieved its primary objective—to abolish the poor house—but was still to meet the long-range goal of "preventing destitution."

Direct relief for the poor is the first phase of Mr. Truman's program for a vast extension of social security.

In urging economic controls, the report says: "It seems premature to speak of 'recession' and absurd to speak of 'depression' when all the basic industries are continuing to produce at capacity."

"All that has happened (with respect to recent price declines) has been the return in a few areas to buyers' markets, to pre-war or peacetime patterns of seasonal fluctuations, to competitive mark-downs on slow-moving items. . . . In short, 1948 is probably going to be a boom year, perhaps not as good as 1948 in dollar terms, but no worse than 1947."

Freight Cars Are Derailed

ALPINE, Feb. 28. (AP)—Twenty-three railroad freight cars left the Southern Pacific tracks and piled up 55 miles east of here at 2 o'clock Monday morning.

There were no casualties.

The wreck, which will keep the Southern Pacific main line closed until sometime Tuesday, according to railroad officials, was caused by a broken flange on one of the freight cars.

The cars were part of a west-bound freight train. The accident occurred at Rosenfeld, 25 miles west of Sanderson. There was no fire.

Passengers, express and mail from the westbound Sunset Limited and the eastbound Argonaut, held up at Sanderson and Marathon, respectively, as a result of the wreck, were being transferred around the wreck.

Wrecking crews had reached the scene of the wreck and had begun clearing the wreckage off the tracks at 11 o'clock this morning.

High Court Upholds Treason Sentence

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28. (AP)—The Supreme Court today refused to review Douglas Chandler's conviction for wartime treason.

The refusal has the effect of upholding the conviction.

Chandler, a former Baltimore writer, was accused of betraying his country by serving in Germany as a Nazi propagandist. He used the name "Paul Revere" in making recordings for Radio Berlin to broadcast to the United States.

Convicted in federal court in Boston, Chandler was sentenced to life imprisonment and fined $10,000.

GOP MEMBERS DISSENT Economic Controls Backed In Preliminary Report

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28. (AP)—A preliminary congressional report generally backing President Truman's idea of a sound economy—and full of inflation warnings—comes up for committee appraisal today.

The report, a worksheet draft, is before the Senate-House Economic Committee. It might be approved by the Democratic majority, but the Republican members plan to file a vigorous dissent.

The confidential document shown to a reporter was circulated to committee members over the week end for study in advance of today's session. It was prepared by the chairman, Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.), and the committee staff.

The committee is supposed to submit to Congress tomorrow a final report on the President's economic program.

The preliminary draft comes out strongly for granting Mr. Truman's request for standby authority to reimpose price and wage controls on a selective basis. It plugs for extension and tightening up of rent control, for mandatory allocation of scarce materials, continuation of consumer credit controls, and increase in the minimum wage, a broader social security program and larger benefits, public housing and slum clearance, federal aid for education, a flexible and "well integrated" farm program, and other programs the president wants.

As for Mr. Truman's demand for a $4 billion tax increase, the report suggests approval of that but doesn't come right out and say so. There is no flat endorsement, either, of the President's controversial proposal for federal authority to build industrial plants. On that issue, the document cites testimony by one of Mr. Truman's economic advisers that the President feels the matter should be studied.

Cornelison Has Mirror No Better Than The Glass

A mirror is no better than its glass. The layman may have an idea that some trick in silvering mirrors makes the difference, but basically a good silver job is the same on most mirrors. The difference is in the thickness and the high degree of polish of the glass.

Those charming tints of green, gold, blue and peach which Western Glass & Mirror company, 909 Johnson, offers are the result of special processes in manufacture of the glass. Special machines at the plant provide a unique chipped edge that gives a cut glass effect. All mirrors — and they can be made to almost any size shape or thickness — are silvered by a fine spray process which insures durability and unexcelled evenness.

Court Will Decide For Itself About Strip-Tease Show

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 28 (AP)—A justice is blind, so Strip-Tease Evelyn West has received a change of venue so the court can see for itself if her show is indecent. The curvaceous brunette, who bills herself as the girl with a $50,000 treasure chest, was arrested for putting on an indecent performance. She was arraigned before Wayland McCarty, a blind justice of the peace. Miss West then got a change of venue and her take-off act for Justice Otis D. James Tuesday. "She's going to put on her show in court just like she does on the stage," her attorney, Herbert K. Hyde, said. "We'll let the judge decide first-hand whether it is indecent."

Cornelison Cleaners, located at 911 Johnson street in Big Spring, regards the first robin as only one harbinger of spring.

Women who take down draperies for spring cleaning, and an increasing number of them are sending their curtains and drapes to the Cornelison Cleaners for proper treatment, are a fair indication that the season is about to usher itself in.

The Cornelison establishment has equipment on hand to make the household equipment look like new. Too, it is equally proficient in cleaning blankets before they are stored for the summer.

Plenty of parking space is available around the Cornelison building. Customers who desire to leave or pick up orders will find they do not have to leave their vehicles. If they sound their horns, they will be serviced by courteous personnel.

For those who cannot call in person at the establishment, the Cornelison company maintains a delivery truck and will accept business anywhere in the city. The business of cleaning suits and dresses is a specialty with Cornelison's, which has always regarded its trade as an art and always strives to please the public.

Customers will find they can have any kind of alterations made on any kind of garments at the Cornelison plant. Business telephone number is 122.

Dyeing garments in any desired color is a service offered at Cornelison Cleaners, 911 Johnson street. Clothes which fit to satisfaction can be made to look like new if treated by the Cornelison dyes.

ADDED TO CHAPEL—C. O. Nalley, owner of Nalley Funeral home, looks over the new Hammond organ recently installed in the chapel to provide music in keeping with needs. The fine instrument has a limitless range of tone, reproduced with fidelity and richness. Concerts are planned tentatively for April 2-3. (Jack M. Haynes Photo).

Installs New Organ

Continuing a policy of providing for a service complete to the satisfaction of those who use its facilities, Nalley Funeral home has added a Hammond organ.

The instrument has been installed in the chapel and is now ready for use in services. C. O. Nalley, owner, said that arrangements will be made on behalf of families for organists.

The public will have an opportunity to hear the instrument soon when a presentation will be held at the chapel. Dates have been set for April 2 and 3, which coincide with the eleventh anniversary of Nalley Funeral home.

Billy Muth, representative of the company and one of the leading organists of the nation, will be at the console those two days to give concerts.

Muth, incidentally, gave the organ a thorough testing recently when he installed it and found it to be in perfect tone and range. The electronic sound equipment is of such design that it reflects the full beauty of the limitless tone combinations peculiar to the instrument.

Nalley, while anxious that as many as possible hear Muth in his April appearance at the presentation, stressed that the doors are always open for any who care to inspect the organ at anytime. The addition was made in keeping with a policy to make every effort to provide for the comfort of those who may use the services of the chapel.

Another will be the organization of a volunteer group known as the Gray Ladies. These women will give their time to writing letters, reading, and otherwise contributing to the comfort and peace of mind of patients who desire their service.

Salty Vernacular Out Of Place, Particularly For High Office

The press has been given play to some rather blunt statements from the President in commenting upon his responsibility in making appointments without dependence upon commentaries.

This is by no means the first time that salty terms have been attributed to men in the White House, for indeed the first President was reputed to be handy with simple Anglo-Saxon terms. Andrew Jackson's straight-forwardness is legendary. Lincoln was reputed to have known the language of rough-and-ready backwoodsmen, and several succeeding Presidents have been reported conversant with less polished terms. Most of them, however, took the trouble to scrub them a bit for public pronouncements.

Thus, the matter is not new and peculiar to this day and time.

Granted that men may be admired for not assuming convenient veneers, it should not be forgotten that the office is the important consideration rather than the man. It does the dignity of the highest place in the land no good to subject it to less than common statements. Mr. Truman would be well advised to remember that he is not just Harry Truman, but President of the United States. Lapses into salty vernacular are never appropriate, and particularly so from a chief executive.

Dependency Allowance Out Of Place In Jobless Insurance

Under consideration by the Federal Security Agency is a proposal that Congress adopt laws which would peg unemployment pay up to $45 a week for jobless workers with three or more dependent children.

While one can certainly be in sympathy with the jobless worker with several dependents, sense of values should be maintained. Object of the unemployment insurance program is to provide stop-gap aid to employees who are thrown out of jobs through no fault of their own and who may not immediately find other work.

One of the faults of the program is that it lends itself to some abuse by those who had rather not work if they can help it. Authorities have consequently warned that the amount of pay must not equal or exceed income during work. That being the case, the temptation to reap the harvest would not be too great.

Furthermore, blanket inclusion of dependency as a factor in payments would be arbitrary in that only four states have dependency allowances for children. This would strike at the base of the theory that a man's record on the job should be the determining factor, and color it with his record as a father. Dependency is a welfare problem.

Aside from these, the element of cost may be worth consideration before pegging limits far in advance of current levels. This shock-absorber must be supplied out of the pockets of business and workers.

Regardless Of Birth, Commies Pay First Allegiance To Moscow

THE GRAVE CLASH BETWEEN THE Paris government and the country's powerful Communist Party has brought France again up against the fact that all Communists, irrespective of birth, regard themselves as owing allegiance first to Russia.

This fresh drama can best be understood by taking the last act first, and then working back. Last week a high government source in Paris said War Minister Ramadier was taking legal action against the central committee of the French Communist Party for allegedly inciting the army to revolt.

(1) Russia never would be an aggressor. (2) The French people might be led "in spite of their wish" into a war against Russia. (3) Under such circumstances, Russia, in her own defense, might have to "chase the enemy onto our soil." (4) In this case the French people probably would behave no differently toward the Red army from the way the "workers and people of Poland, Rumania and Yugoslavia" behaved when the Russians arrived.

The next day the French Communist Party formally declared that the French people will never make war against the Soviet Union.

RAMADIER'S COMPLAINT WAS SAID to be based on statements made in posters and the Red Daily L'Humanite during the miners' strike last autumn. The reported government action followed a speech in parliament Tuesday by Maurice Thorez, Communist Party secretary general and one of international communism's top leaders. Thorez repeated a statement that the French people should welcome the Red army if it ever reached France. The way the speech developed was this:

THE NATIONAL ASSEMBLY THE FOLLOWING day voted condemnation of French Communist leaders for alleged treasonable statements, and expressed confidence in the government to punish them. During the debate Premier Henri Queuille threatened to take legal action against the Communist leaders for attempting to "undermine the morale of the nation and the army." However, the assembly rejected a motion calling on the government to prosecute Thorez on specific charges of treason or incitement to treason.

If Your Income Passed $5,000, You'll Have To Use 'Long Form'

WASHINGTON, D. C. — IF YOUR 1948 income was $5,000 or more, you must make your tax return on the 1940 long-form.

Some problems of unmarried and married people in using the long-form will be explained in this sixth of a 12-story series.

The next, seventh, story will show these problems work, in examples of filling out the long-form.

So rare this sixth story for use with the seventh. Today's explanations will not be repeated in the seventh story although they'll be examined more fully in later stories in the series.

Keep these three things in mind in using the 1940 long-form: Exemptions, deductions, and the problems of husband-wife filing.

Before going further, remember this if you're a $5,000-or-more family:

1. In every case, where the wife had no income, it will be cheaper for a couple to file a joint return.
2. And where the wife does have some income, in most cases it will be cheaper to file jointly on the long-form.

NOW TAKE EXEMPTIONS AN EXEMPTION is a fixed amount of money a taxpayer can deduct from his income before it is taxable.

Everyone filing a return gets a $600 exemption for himself, $600 for his wife, if she had no income and doesn't file or else files jointly with her husband; and $600 for each dependent.

If the wife had any income at all—for example, $1—no exemption can be claimed for her unless she files a return, either separately or jointly with her husband.

But—if she had income of $600 or more, she must file a return anyway, either separately or jointly.

So a couple stands to lose money—since there's a $600 exemption for her—if she had under $600 income and doesn't file jointly with her husband, for as pointed out, otherwise the $600 exemption is lost. A dependent is any person—she doesn't count—who is closely related to you and got more than half of his or her income from you in 1948.

BUT YOU CAN'T CLAIM AS A DEPENDENT anyone who had income of $500 or more—which means you lose the $600 exemption for him.

So long has he had less than $600 income, he wouldn't have to file a return. But if his income was $600 or more, although under $600, you couldn't claim an exemption for him.

Husband-wife filing—If you aren't sure whether, in your particular case, separate or joint filing will save money for you, work out your tax both ways.

The reason it was said earlier that husbands and wives almost always will save money by filing jointly, whether the wife had income or not, is this:

They'll get the benefit of the new law Congress passed for married people last year. It permits couples to "split" their income, as if each were claiming half of the total.

Deductions—EVERY UNMARRIED PERSON WHO files a return is allowed a personal deduction—for things like medical expenses, charity, taxes, interest—of 10 per cent of his income up to a limit of deduction of $1,000.

That—meaning a 10 per cent deduction—is standard for unmarried people, without itemizing. If they want to claim more than 10 per cent, they must itemize.

Take three unmarried examples, their income, and the standard deduction allowed them: Smith—$8,000 income, $800 deduction; Jones—$10,000 income, $1,000 deduction; Brown—$20,000 income, $2,000 deduction.

But—and this is important—it's different with married people.

Even when the wife didn't have a dime of income, a married couple filing a joint return gets a standard deduction of 10 per cent of their income up to a limit of $1,000. Example: Their income was $9,000—deduction, $900; or, their income was $18,000—deduction no more than $1,000.

BUT A HUSBAND FILING A RETURN alone—that is, separately—even when the wife had no income, is allowed a standard deduction not exceeding $900, no matter how high his income. Example: Income $5,000—deduction, $500; income $10,000—deduction, $500.

When husband and wife file separate returns, neither is allowed more than $900 standard deduction for each.

It would seem here that a single person has an advantage over a married couple in deductions. But that only equalizes for the unmarried persons the benefits husbands and wives get by filing a joint return.

They can "split" their income and get a lower tax but a single person can't split his income

This Fellow Vaughan: Hard To Dislike, But Possessed Of Crude Sense Of Humor

WASHINGTON — Quite a few people have written or wired me asking what manner of man is the famous Gen. Harry Vaughan in whose defense President Truman hurled the abbreviation for an unprintable name last week.

The answer is that Vaughan is a roly-poly, easygoing, sometimes blustery sort of person, who is very difficult to dislike, even if you don't appreciate his particular brand of humor—which the President does. In fact, it is largely because of Vaughan's role as court jester plus his shaggy-dog loyalty, that the President has him around.

Vaughan's humor, which has taken the form of turning a pig loose in the office of J. Edgar Hoover and of berating his boss with barrack-room language for playing the wrong card at poker, is usually difficult to print.

Milder examples of Vaughanian wit include: "The cockroaches in Gallinger Hospital should have service stripes, because they've been there since the Civil War." ... and apropos of efforts to settle strikes: "The nation's going to hell in a hand-basket." ... Regarding seasickness en route to Bermuda: "I feel fine. What the hell, it tasted just as good coming up as it did going down."

Nobody can blame the President for wanting a little relaxation—and if he enjoys the type of humor dished out by Harry Vaughan, then that gentleman may serve a useful purpose and might be immune from newspaper comment. However, since he also plays a part in influencing our foreign relations, and since some 1,600,000 American boys in the Armed Forces must salute the uniform of a major general, then it should be within the bounds of fair comment to scrutinize more closely Vaughan's earlier experience and present career.

VAUGHAN IN AUSTRALIA Five years before Harry Truman became vice president, Harry Vaughan was a Missouri manufacturer's representative for the Hines Company of Milwaukee, the T. J. Moss Tie Co., and the Heim Binder Co., also of Milwaukee. Salary—$4,200.

Then, in 1939, Vaughan came to work for Sen. Truman as Secretary. Came the war and Truman hit the headlines as head of the Truman committee. Vaughan secured a commission as lieutenant colonel, went to Australia where he served as provost marshal at Brisbane. He didn't get along too well with Gen. MacArthur and came home.

Army press relations, when asked about Gen. Vaughan's record in Australia, said that it could not go into details without querying the officer himself, in this case Gen. Vaughan. No official record is obtainable, therefore, as to the exact areas where Vaughan served in Australia, or why he was transferred.

A photograph is in existence taken of Col. Vaughan in Australia with two other colonels, all obviously inebriated, over the caption "three full colonels."

Back in Washington, the Army, always astute regarding Capitol Hill contracts, assigned Col. Vaughan to be liaison officer with his old boss, the senator from Missouri, Truman, by that time, had become the most powerful senator on the hill, with the power to investigate the Army, Navy or anything else. So Vaughan's appointment as go-between for the Army with Truman was considered a ten-strike.

Came Truman's election as vice president and Harry Vaughan became his military aide. It was the first time in history that a vice president ever had a military aide, but Truman wanted it, so the Army was delighted to please the man who might some day be in the White House. Few months later and both Harry Truman and Harry Vaughan were there.

MONKEY WRENCHES Nobody would begrudge Gen. Vaughan his seat at the right hand of the President, his medals, his limousine, his titles or his flunkies, or his $12,000 salary, if it were not for the fact that the general is not satisfied with remain a court jester. He insists on poking his hand into the delicate machinery of government.

And whenever he does so, he nearly always inserts a monkey wrench.

In 1946, for instance, as Europe faced bleak starvation, Secretary of Agriculture Clinton Anderson asked the American public to forego liquor in favor of bread. The grain allocation for distillers and brewers was cut. Some months later, as hunger abroad increased, the grain allocation for distillers was cut again.

At this point, Gen. Vaughan telephoned the Agriculture Department got Anderson's assistant, Nathan Koenig, on the wire, and stormed:

"What do you mean changing the distillers' quota again without informing me I'm the one you are to deal with on that. I had assurances that the quotas were not to be changed, and I want this order rescinded immediately."

Vaughan was so vituperative that Koenig got Secretary Anderson, then out of town, on the long-distance phone, an recommendation that the cut for distillers be rescinded. Gen. Vaughan, Koenig warned his chief, was in no mood to be trifled with.

"Tell the general," replied Anderson, "that he was not confirmed by the Senate to act as Secretary of Agriculture."

Just what Gen. Vaughan's connection was with the liquor industry is not known, though it is known that he remains plentifully supplied by an ex-bootlegger, John Maragon. Maragon's relationship with both Vaughan and Truman is so close that he was actually turned up at the Potsdam Conference along with Jimmie Byrnes, Winston Churchill and Premier Stalin.

WOOS NEGRO VOTES During the recent election campaign, Vaughan was kept pretty well out of sight. Truman realized that a bemuddled general constantly at his right hand would not go down well with the voters—especially when he was preaching peace. So the general was kept in the background.

However, this did not prevent him from putting in his political oar—and sometimes rocking the boat.

To win Negro votes, he conceived the idea of sending the famous Negro aviator, "Colonel" Hubert Fautrier Julian, once Emperor Haile Selassie's one-man Ethiopian Air Corps to Europe to inspect Negro troops.

Arriving in Europe with an advance build-up by Vaughan, "Colonel" Julian toured the entire American Zone of Germany as the guest of the Army, and was given a military aide, and spent an hour with Gen. Clay—one of the busiest men in the world.

Then it was discovered that Julian was using the prestige given him by the White House military aide to promote a cigarette deal which would have netted Julian and friends about $5 million.

All of which caused Gen. Clay to send the black eagle eagling back to his sponsor, Harry Vaughan, who had lacked the sense to realize that Mr. Truman's civil-rights program was sure to carry the Negro vote regardless of "Colonel" Julian or anyone else.

The Cliches Will Take A Beating From June Havoc

HOLLYWOOD — Movie clichés—those time-worn bits of action and dialogue we see over and over again in films—are due for a beating from June Havoc. Blonde June, whose acting has brightened such films as "Gentleman's Agreement" and "When My Baby Smiles At Me," is hitting the road. In her Strathairn wagon, she will tour Strathairn theaters in the East with programs of singing and dancing and a new edition of "Rain," which she recently played here with success.

June, whose sister, Gypsy Rose Lee, has toured with a carnival show in the South, plans to make a trailer to precede her appearances. In it she will spoof the mossy clichés of moviedom. She acted some of them out for me beside the pool of her West Los Angeles home. Here they are: 1. Historical significance Dept. A 17th century beauty in a high beehive dances at a gay party. Suddenly she stops and asks her partner, "Do you hear thumped? He says no."

"What is that dirty little village over there?" she asks.

"Waterloo!" is the answer.

Or, a variation of the above: A woman at an English tavern asks her escort, "who is that funny-looking man?"

"That's Charles Dickens."

2. Heated Romance Dept. Close up over a man's shoulder of a beauty who looks up at him with limpid eyes. As her nostrils dilate, he murmurs, "you are fire in my veins." Fade-out.

3. Understated Dept. A richly-gowned woman stands alone in the shadow of the guillotine in blade is heard and the rumble of the background. The crash of the tum-tum-tum of the drums. A dirty arm hands her a black mask. She accepts it, raises an arm and utters, "For France."

Keeping A Diary, Even Modest Journal, Has Some Advantages

As it must to all mortals sooner or later, the urge to write a diary has consumed me. Despite the fact that the project has ceased to be a novelty and has become an ordeal I can't look forward to with any relish, it is one New Year's resolution I have managed to keep.

It has dawned upon me, since starting the illimitable thesis, that such a work could best be described as a letter which you address to yourself and which few, outside of you will ever find any use for in future years.

I have tried hard to make it so compelling and so interesting—without stretching the truth to any degree—that some future generation will delve into its contents for its monumental, deathless prose, but I know the odds are against it.

In the first place, there are no startling exposes to feed therein. If I knew any, either on myself or on anyone else, I would not have the heart to put them on paper.

In the second, I have never been privileged to exchange secrets with the great, to grasp and remember any of the interesting trivia associated with any of the immortals.

Finally, I find it hard to escape the prosaic and forge a readable style, unless I plagiarize a bit, which I find myself doing all too often, as it is.

One thing common to all the passages in the diary, I find on reading back, is that subject broached in most letters and by most letter writers—a regular mention of the weather. I discover I ordinarily need to discuss the elements in order to fill out the allotted space.

A distinct advantage in maintaining the autobiographical history, I have learned, is the opportunity presented for censuring some one or something you do not like, which you can write or without mentioning names. It proves quite a tonic to see your woes in writing, even though nothing may be done about them. If your contentions are proved incorrect later, you can always neutralize the blow by insisting you profited by the mistake.—TOMMY HART

Cats Get Cross-Eyed In Florida, Simply From Eating Lizard Tails

FORT LAUDERDALE, FLA., (AP) — Florida was an unusual feud.

I don't mean the wild wolves in Cuban shirts who prowl and howl along the sandy precincts of the Gold Coast, nor do I refer to the docile tourist sheep, bleating at $25-a-day hotel bills.

A stranger animal problem in Florida is the problem of cross-eyed house cats. And what makes them cross-eyed? Lizards do. And thereby hangs a tale:

House cats, like everything else, do well under the Florida sun. And they like lizard-tail lunches.

Lizards, who were here long before house cats or Ponce de Leon like Florida's sun, too. And they don't have any personal dislike for cats. But they don't look with favor on one bad habit that some dumb cats have. That is the habit of chasing and biting off their tails.

IF THE CAT IS PARTICULARLY dumb he sits down and eats the lizard's tail. But eating lizard tails is pretty much like eating mushrooms and toadstools.

There's a whole of a difference in them. If it's one kind of lizard's tail, nothing happens. But if it is the wrong kind of lizard's tail, the tale of what follows has this ending:

The cat becomes cross-eyed. He wobbles around the yard like a drunken sailor on a shifting deck. He loses his sense of direction. It is a real cat-astrophe for him.

"Veterinarians don't seem to know just how to cure a cat in this condition," said Mrs. Polly Dickey. Her own cat was in this cross-eyed, confused state for months after eating a lizard tail.

What can be done about it? Well, one way would be either to teach cats more tolerance—or give them some kind of lessons in lizard identification.

No one yet has come up with what may turn out to be the most interesting aspect of the whole feud. That is, what if a surly lizard rebels some day and chews off a cat's tail? Will the lizard get cross-eyed? Only if that happens can the problem be attacked from both ends.

Recovery Program's Troubles Cause Some Misunderstanding

During the hearings on E. C. A., which were conducted by Senator Connally and Representative Bloom, some, who know the score, were left with the feeling that it was all much too easy. Neither Congress nor the country got from the hearings anything like a true picture of the real difficulties of the recovery program. The committees invited, and in consequence they got, a presentation in which the grave problems that European statesmen are facing were pleasantly obscured by enthusiastic salesmanship and unimpeachable sentiments about the cold war.

No wonder, then, that Mr. Mayhew's comments about British recovery were so completely misunderstood, so completely that the President was asked at his press conference whether Marshall aid to Britain need continue in view of Mr. Mayhew's statement "that Britain has now virtually completed its economic recovery."

not receive goods in return: In part what she gets is a reduction of her old debts. In part she is running a little Marshall Plan of her own.

Something like 400 million dollars worth of British goods are going to countries like India, Egypt, Argentina, which are not participating in the Marshall plan but share in it indirectly nevertheless.

Finally about the equivalent of 300 million dollars more of British goods are being sent abroad as new investments.

In the light of all this it can be said that Britain is within sight of what may be called a moral recovery of her independence. That is to say she is not living on charity. Her people are producing nearly as much as they consume. But as the 1,200 million dollar deficit shows, she does not have financial independence. Moreover, though she has hopes of coming near financial independence during the life of E. C. A., the statistical estimates on which the hope is founded are known and are admitted to be optimistic. Therefore, no one should delude himself into thinking that the success of E. C. A. is assured, or that at the end of it, the goal of the Marshall Plan will have been reached.

MASQUERADES AS MAN FOR 20 YEARS, SECRET IS REVEALED BY DAUGHTER

DENVER, Feb. 28 (U) — Billie Morrison wanted to leave her husband 20 years ago, and, thought it would be easier to get away from the small Texas town in men's clothing.

She put on pants and, except for one brief return to dresses, she's been masquerading as man ever since. She probably still would be today except for an argument with her daughter.

"It's easier to get along in the world as a man," she told Detective Sgt. William Sanders.

Sanders said the 36-year-old woman and her 19-year-old daughter, Judy, starting arguing in a bar yesterday. When they returned home the argument kept on and finally, he said, Judy ran into the street and told her mother's secret to a policeman. The two were arrested for investigation.

The detective said Mrs. Morrison left her husband shortly after their marriage. She worked as a painter and did other manual labor at different Texas towns.

The one time she tried to go back to being a woman she found that "I was mauled too much by other men."

She moved to Denver from Amarillo five years ago and worked as cook here.

"I've been a man so long I doubt if I could change back," she said. "I think, act and live like a man."

"I've been in some fights, too, and have come off all right."

NO MORE DISPATCHES

Chinese Commies Restrict Newsmen

SHANGHAI, Feb. 28 (U) — The Chinese Communists have reversed their past policy and ordered all foreign correspondents in Peiping to cease gathering and sending out news.

The big question seems to be whether Sunday's order is permanent, or a temporary measure arising from circumstances which the outside world does not know.

If it is permanent, and to be a general rule, then the chances of doing business with Chinese Communists have been dealt a blow.

Observers in Shanghai could recall no action likely to do more to strengthen the assumption that Communism finds an "iron curtain" necessary.

During the lean years in Yenan, former Communist headquarters in North China, the Reds welcomed foreign correspondents. By all accounts, no restrictions were placed on the correspondents.

The Chinese Communists were proud of their accomplishments and wanted the world to know about them. Since the civil war began in earnest there have been few accredited correspondents with them, but this was because of difficulty in reaching red areas through nationalist lines and a lack of communications.

Now, apparently, all that is changing. Nearly a score of foreign correspondents representing the press of at least five nations were ordered to cease operations.

The cause for the action remains a mystery here. To outsiders, it has appeared that the Reds have been getting a pretty fair world press—far better than that of their rivals in China, the Nationalists.

The Reds' explanation that war conditions are responsible is nowhere accepted at face value, in view of the fact no fighting has been reported anywhere near Peiping since the city fell more than a month ago.

Ford Proceeds With Greater Production

DETROIT, Feb. 28 (U) — Ford Motor Co. went ahead with plans today to step up production of lower-priced models substantially.

Output of Lincoln cars, however, will be cut sharply, the company announced.

Executive Vice President Ernest R. Breech said Ford had no intention of following General Motors' lead in cutting prices. He indicated current wages and material costs were too high.

GM announced price reductions ranging from $10 to $150 Friday. No other auto firms appeared ready to follow suit.

Ford plans to attain a combined total of 109,000 cars and trucks monthly by June, Breech said. This is well above December's postwar record of 88,141.

Mercury production will aim at 19,800 units by June.

On the other hand, Lincoln output, which totaled 3,763 for February, will be cut to an average of 2,500 monthly, Breech said. He explained that demand has "diminished materially."

At South Bend, Ind., Studebaker Corp. also announced a production increase. The firm said the present weekly schedule of 3,810 units weekly would be boosted to 4,610.

The corporation will begin hiring 1,800 new employees today.

Government Pushes Fight On Cancer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28 (U) — The government intensified the atomic war on cancer today.

It took the price tags off 50 or so radio isotopes and told researchers to come and get them for nothing.

It's part of a $450,000 anti-cancer program launched a year ago by the Atomic Energy Commission. This project is aimed at developing use of radioactive substances in studies of the nature of cancer, its diagnosis and treatment.

Low Bidders Named On Atomic Plant

LOS ALAMOS, N. M., Feb. 28 (U) — Firms from El Paso, Burbank and Los Angeles, Calif., were represented in low bidders on construction projects totaling more than $2 million at this atomic energy installation.

Apparent low bidders on 11 projects were announced by the AEC.

Robert E. McKee of El Paso, did $760,000 for low construction of major buildings.

Cotton Group Takes Worries To Brannan

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28 (U) — Spain, Red China and the Marshall Plan are giving cotton men new worries.

They told their troubles to Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan here last week.

The American Cotton Export Advisory Board members, who would not be quoted by name, said they wanted more trading between countries in Europe. They want the Economic Cooperation Administration to supply Marshall Plan countries with cotton that they can trade to Eastern European nations. They asked that cotton, not dollars, be the medium of exchange for some goods which Marshall Plan nations obtain from Eastern countries.

The cotton men said markets are slipping behind the Red curtain in China. They sought a plan whereby Japan would be supplied with cotton, which it would sell in South China.

Board members said U. S. policy in Spain is costing American cotton exporters about 250,000 bales yearly in sales.

Unemployment Up In European Areas

GENEVA, Switzerland, Feb. 28 (U) — The International Labor Office today reported a "significant" year-end rise in unemployment in six European countries. It concluded, however, that the general level of unemployment in most European nations was low.

The greatest increase occurred in Italy, which had 2,161,271 jobless last December, an increase of nearly 400,000 over December, 1942. A rise in unemployment also was noted in Belgium, Denmark, Finland, France and Switzerland as well as in the American and British occupation zones of Germany.

Gen. Clay Mum On Retirement Report

BERLIN, Feb. 28 (U) — Gen. Lucius D. Clay declined to comment today on reports that he planned to retire as U. S. military governor in Germany by June 30.

It has been an open secret however that Clay would like to relinquish his post in Europe as soon as convenient to the Washington authorities.

The Chicago Tribune said last night it had learned authoritatively that the general would retire by June and possibly within the next 60 days.

The Tribune's story, written from Washington by Walter Trohan, said that Clay would be succeeded by Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer or Gen. Mark W. Clark.

13 States Consider Ban On Communists In Public Jobs

By The Associated Press

Thirteen states are considering proposals to bar Communists from public jobs.

Some measures now before legislatures would require people on public payrolls, including teachers, to take loyalty oaths.

Other bills are aimed at keeping Communists out of a wide range of positions.

Maryland and Illinois are studying suggestions for outlawing the Communist Party.

Moves are under way in other states to put a crimp in the party line in one way or another.

Oaths of loyalty or allegiance to the U. S. would be required of public school teachers and college and university professors in Oklahoma, Nebraska and New Hampshire.

All public officials and candidates for public office would have to do likewise in California.

In Texas, all state officials and employees, including those in agencies that get money from the

Work Stoppage Frequent In USSR, Says Engineer

NEW YORK, Feb. 28 (U) — A Russian-born engineer said today work stoppages frequently occur in the Soviet Union despite a government ban against strikes, which are punishable with severe penalties including the death sentence.

Kyrl Alexeev, a metallurgical engineer, who said he quit his post as a Russian commercial attaché told a special inquiry commission the strikes were caused by poor living and working conditions in the Soviet.
