J. Frank Dobie Finds Adams' Wood Carvings 'Speak In Silence'

"The Gleam That Led Captain Cooney", a saga of one of the most colorful of the searchers for the Lost Adams Diggins in New Mexico, by J. Frank Dobie, Texas bistorian and writer of fascinating tales, has had its replica in wood created by an Ozona artist, Clay Adams.

A wood grving of Captain Coon-y and h faithful Gakey, Black ey and h Pete, may by the Ozona wood car-ver, was sent to Mr. Dobie and in his column in the Fort Worth Star-Telegram last Sunday, Mr. Dobie devoted his solumn and a half of space to an account of his search for information on Captain Cooney and the lost gold mine and in a closing paragraph acknowledged the gift from Ozona.

"In the years that have passed I have heard from many and been called upon by many followers of the gleam that Captain Cooney followed. I don't count Clay Adams of Ozona as one of them. He has his own gleam. He is an artist, a wood carver. Things talk to him. The other day he sent me a carving of Captain Cooney and Black are carved - 'The Gleam that Led Captain Cooney."
