SPEAKERS CITE SACRIFICES OF EX-SERVICE MEN

Great Crowd Gathers At Cloverdale

Barbecue

BY ALMA LEE HANKINS A great crowd, possibly the greatest ever assembled for a similar purpose, Monday afternoon gathered with ex-service men and their families at Cloverdale park to honor Midland's Gold Star mothers and to observe the armistice of 16 years to observe the armistice of 16 years ago.

Speakers were Cecil Horne, head of the department of journalism of Texas Technological college, Lutboock; Leon Goodman, former Midland mayor and well known stockman, Chicago, and Dayton Moses of Fort Worth, for many years noted for his serving as counsel for the Texas & Southwestern Cattle Raisers association.

The Rev. Winston F. Borum, pastor of the First Baptist church, and W. V. Bennett, recently elected commander of the Brooks W. Lee post of the American legion, sponsoring organization, appeared on the program.

Several compositions were played by the high school band, directed by Russell E. Shrader.

A crowd estimated variously from 700 to 900 filed by tables, where barbecued meat and other food given by Midland stockmen, business men and individuals was served by legionusires.

AMARILO (P)—Ranchers of the section on dividuals was served by legionnaires.

Excerpts from Horne's address:
"I consider it a privilege, an honor, to be here with this assemblage and to pay honor to this organization and to the Gold Star mothers you revere. U. S. AVIATION SCORES BRILLIANT TRIUMPH

The famous air race from England to Australia was won by two Englishmen, Scott and Black, in an Englishmade plane; but an examination of London newspapers demonstrates that the race was nevertheless a triumph for the American aircraft industry.

For if the Englishmen won, second and third places were taken by American ships—a Douglas airliner piloted by a Dutch crew, and a Boeing cruiser flown by Col. Roscoe Turner and Clyde Pangburn.

And the point that has impressed commentators in London is this: Whereas the winning British ship was a sleek, stream-lined racing plane, constructed for speed and for speed alone, the Douglas and Boeing planes were regular transport ships, precisely like those now in service on American commercial airlines.

The Douglas plane, as a matter of fact, carried nine persons on the long jaunt. If it had been stripped down to fighting trim, relieved of all unnecessary weight, and stocked with extra fuel instead of passengers, it might well have taken first place.

So the race has brought little pride to the British aviation industry. The London Evening News says of the Douglas plane's performance:

"It gives irrefutable, tragic proof that we are miles behind other countries in commercial air transport. The race was an ordinary trip for the Douglas. The efficiency of American engines and aircraft is such that at no point did it have to stay long on the ground.

"Only one Royal Air Force fighting plane is as fast as this 'flying train.' Comparison with our civil aircraft is too degrading.'

Nor is this the only testimonial to American planes. Dutch authorities were so pleased by the Douglas plane's performance that they promptly ordered ten more like t, for service on the 9000-mile route from Holland to the Dutch East Indies. All this is a pretty clear indication that in the field of commercial aviation we have a perfect right to in-! dulge in a good deal of old-fashioned American pride.

It also suggests that one way to regain our lost foreign trade may be to follow aviation's lead-make an article so much better than all competitors that customers can't resist it.

LABOR WAR AVERTED

The excellent services which an official organization like the National Labor Relations Board can render are exemplified in the handling of the difficulties between the Great Atlantic and Pacific Ttea Co. and its Cleveland employes.

A labor dispute in Cleveland caused the company to close its stores there completely. It announced that it was withdrawing from Cleveland for good; one immediate result was the disemployment of some 2000 workers.

The labor board got busy promptly. A peace plan under which neither side sacrifices any material point has been submitted, the talk of a fight to the finish has died down and what might very easily have developed into a serious nation-wide labor war has been averted.

It has been a fine example of wise and efficient action under difficult conditions.

"A Storm Is Rising" by Georg Dyer: "Ever since October, 1917, when Trotzky's thous and Red Guards, moving like so many chessmen on the map of the capital of Russia, captured that great city with hardly a shot fired, Europe has known very well where lie the chinks in the armor of a twentieth century metropolis, But in the intervening sixteen years, America, where the cities are infinitely more vulnerable than any abroad, has failed to learn this lesson." Such a discovery has given Mr. Dyer material for this mystery story which deals with the discovery and frus-

For the past two years Miss Stack-ouse has been a shut-in. Her case is yolcal of thousands of tuberculosis tients who are "taking the cure" hundreds of sanatoria today. She ad tuberculosis as a child, but had most forgotten the experience in almost forgotten the experience in the excitement of acquiring an education, the heetic rush of newspaper work, and the absorption of writing fiction. She was well launched as a writer when a second breakdown forced her to enter a sanatorium in her native state of Oregon. Her medical history illustrates why tuberculosis associations, with the help of Christmas Seals, strive to impress upon the public: "Protect children from tuberculosis."
