Weird Air Tragedy Kills Daughters American Consul

Clasped Together, 2 Girls Fall 1500 Feet to Death

UPMINSTER, Eng., Feb. 21. (AP)—Elizabeth, 23, and Jane, 20, daughters of Coert Dubois, United States consul general at Naples, Italy, plunged 1,500 feet to death today from an airplane en route to Paris. They were alone with the pilot, having purchased every seat in the cabin.

Ground witnesses said the girls were "clasped hand in hand" as they plunged downward. Their bodies landed in a cabbage patch, the impact driving them a foot into the soil.

Two letters were found in the plane, one addressed to their father and the other to their mother.

Officials described the dual deaths as the strangest European air tragedy since Captain Alfred Lowenstein, Belgian financier, disappeared July 4, 1928, from the cabin of a plane over the English channel.

HAUPTMANN GIVEN FURTHER STAY OF EXECUTION DATE

Prisons Clerk Gets A Certified Copy Error Writ

TRENTON, N. J., Feb. 21. (AP)—Execution of Bruno Richard Hauptmann convicted murderer of the Lindbergh baby, was stayed indefinitely today when certified copy of a writ of error was filed with the clerk of the state prisons.

Hauptmann's New Jersey counsel, openly defiant of Chief Defense Counsel Edward J. Reilly of Brooklyn, carried the Bronx carpenter's appeal from the death sentence for the Lindbergh kidnap-murder to the state's highest court Tuesday.

Hauptmann was sentenced to die in the electric chair the week of March 18, but a stay of execution was secured by the appellate action.

C. Lloyd Fisher of Flemington and Frederick A. Pope of Somerville went before Chancellor Luther A. Campbell, applied for and were denied a writ of grace to carry the appeal to the State Supreme Court, and thus threw their case automatically into the Court of Errors and Appeals.

Earlier the lawyers went before Supreme Court Justice Thomas W. Trenchard, who presided at Hauptmann's trial at Flemington and obtained an order requiring Hunterdon County to pay the costs of printing the 1,600,000-word record of the six-week trial and the voluminous brief necessary in an appeal.

MASONS TO HONOR GEO. WASHINGTON

An address by W. Ily Pratt, a program of readings and musical selections, and a deliberate killer and as a youth mentally irresponsible yesterday in five of the seven arguments by counsel which brought upon close his trial for the murder of John Gorrell.

The 19-year-old defendant, son of Federal Judge Franklin E. Kennamer, sat stolidly through the longest day of the trial, pokerfaced and silent.

The case was expected to reach the jury today.

Kennamer heard the prosecution demand his incarceration, and pointed out that the instructions of Judge Tammman Hurst permit the assessment of the death penalty for his crime.

"You may order Phil Kennamer's death in the electric chair," said the veteran Tom Wallace, assistant Tulsa county attorney.

A moment later Wallace qualified his argument by asserting the state does not insist on such a verdict.

J. Berry King, former Oklahoma attorney general who delivered a powerful and caustic argument as a special prosecutor, likewise pointed out that the state does not necessarily want to see young Kennamer, the son of Federal Judge Franklin E. Kennamer, sent to the chair.

"But we join with the defense's own mental specialists in demanding that he be sent away from society to be confined and prevented from continuing his career of crime," declared King.

DAUGHTER BORN TO BECKS
Mr. and Mrs. Frank Beck are the parents of a baby girl born at San Angelo, Sunday morning. The child has been named Brenda. Mrs. Beck and the baby are reported doing well. The father is associated with the Phillips Petroleum Company here.

BUILD CITY POOL
SHAMROCK, (AP)—Construction has begun on Shamrock's new $16,000 swimming pool, which has been approved as a state relief project. George Heinson, city water superintendent, is supervising the work. B. F. Korsh is chairman of the city council pool committee.

Seth Parker, Wind Torn, Is Tugged to Port

TUTUILA, American Samoa, Feb. 21. (AP)—With its bedraggled sailing gear flapping from its masts and its pumps working continuously, the American radio schooner, the Seth Parker, anchored at Pago Pago today. It was towed in by the United States naval tug, Ontario.

All of her masts were standing but one or two spars were torn away. The jib sail was torn to ribbons and minor pieces of the rigging were torn loose by the South Sea storm, which she weathered.

Thirteen men were aboard, including Phillips Lord, the master. All were well.

JURY GETS CASE OF KENAMER AT 11:45 O'CLOCK

PAWNEE, Okla., Feb. 21. (AP)—The case of Phil Kennamer, on trial for the slaying of John Gorrell, was placed in the hands of the jury at 11:45 a. m. today after W. E. Gilmer Jr., assistant Tulsa county prosecutor, demanded the death penalty in the state's final argument.

Gilmer followed the 78-year-old defense lawyer, C. B. Stuart.

Earlier arguments for the state had indicated that its prosecution did not demand the death penalty.

Judge Thurman Hurst believed the verdict would be returned today.

RECOMMEND MOVE HIM FROM SOCIETY

PAWNEE, Okla., Feb. 21. (AP)—Phil Kennamer was pictured alternately as a deliberate killer and as a youth mentally irresponsible yesterday in five of the seven arguments by counsel which brought upon close his trial for the murder of John Gorrell.

The 19-year-old defendant, son of Federal Judge Franklin E. Kennamer, sat stolidly through the longest day of the trial, pokerfaced and silent.

The case was expected to reach the jury today.

Kennamer heard the prosecution demand his incarceration, and pointed out that the instructions of Judge Tammman Hurst permit the assessment of the death penalty for his crime.

"You may order Phil Kennamer's death in the electric chair," said the veteran Tom Wallace, assistant Tulsa county attorney.

A moment later Wallace qualified his argument by asserting the state does not insist on such a verdict.

J. Berry King, former Oklahoma attorney general who delivered a powerful and caustic argument as a special prosecutor, likewise pointed out that the state does not necessarily want to see young Kennamer, the son of Federal Judge Franklin E. Kennamer, sent to the chair.

"But we join with the defense's own mental specialists in demanding that he be sent away from society to be confined and prevented from continuing his career of crime," declared King.

His Fate Goes to Jury

The state closed its argument in the murder trial of Phil Kennamer, Tulsa youth charged with the slaying of John Gorrell, last Thanksgiving day, just before noon today. It was expected the jury would receive the case early this afternoon. Attorneys for the state were not insisting upon the death penalty. Counsel for the defense had insisted that Young Kennamer, son of a federal judge, was insane at the time of the killing, having been inflamed by threats of Gorrell to kidnap the girl for whom the defendant held unrequited adoration, in an alleged extortion plot.

GIVES MESSAGE PERSONALLY TO THE LEGISLATURE

Urges Legislation for Divorcement of Pipe Lines

AUSTIN, Feb. 21. (AP)—Governor Allred, in a personally delivered message to the legislature, today condemned the wastage of millions of cubic feet of gas daily in the Panhandle.

Blame for the condition was placed by the governor primarily on refusal of major pipe line companies to purchase gas ratably.

"Sound public policy demands that this atrocious waste be stopped and our gas reserves reserved for useful purposes," he said.

The governor recommended divorcement of gas pipe lines from producing, manufacturing and marketing branches of the natural gas industry.

Good Fire Record Credit 3 Per Cent

Midland receives a credit of three per cent for good fire record, on five insurance policies of business and dwelling property within the city limits, it was announced yesterday by the state fire insurance commission at Austin. The credit applies for one year from March 1.

The credit is based on the ratio of the fire losses to the fire insurance premiums paid to local agencies. Last year the city received no credit. However, a few years ago the credit was the maximum of 15 per cent.

Prevention of fires, with heaviest possible payment of fire insurance premiums tends to increase the credit allowed on such premiums.

A ROMANTIC FOOTNOTE TO WAR'S MYSTERIES

History would be a great deal more interesting if we could get at its insignificant footnotes. It is forever hinting at absorbing little stories that would make much better reading than the really important things which get all the space—but in most cases it does no more than hint. The anecdotes and romances which would make history real to us get lost in the shuffle.

Here's a sample. A few days ago some relief workers were excavating Indian mounds on the edge of the famous battlefield of Shiloh, in Tennessee. They accidentally drove their picks into a grave in which had been buried nine unknown Union soldiers killed in that battle. And one of the skeletons turned out to be that of a girl!

Skeletons, of course, were about all that remained. Each was encased in the remnants of a blue uniform, clearly identifiable as such by the tarnished brass buttons. The girl had apparently been some 17 or 18 years of age. The Confederate bullet which killed her was found inside her skeleton.

And that's all there is to the story—just that tantalizing little fragment, which tells us almost nothing, but which sets the imagination to work frantically.

Where did this girl come from? How did she get there, on one of the bloodiest battlefields of all the bloody wars?

Was she one of those luckless girls who wish they were boys, and masquerade as boys whenever possible? If so, how did she get in the army, in view of the fact that Civil War recruits had to undergo physical examinations just as present-day soldiers do?

Or was she, perhaps, the sweetheart of one of the soldiers, who had obtained a uniform in some manner, disguised herself in it, crept into camp by some hook or crook to be near her lover, and had been caught with him when the unexpected swirl of battle broke over Grant's army?

Was he one of the eight who were buried with her? Or did they get separated in the heat of battle, so that he never knew what happened to her?

These are questions that cannot possibly be answered; but who can read the little story without wishing earnestly that they could be?

These relief workers dug up one of history's most fascinating fragments—but it can never be anything more than a fragment, a footnote to a tale of battle, hinting at much that we would like to see revealed.

The nine skeletons have been buried in a new grave in Shiloh Cemetery, now. The only marker is a tablet, inscribed "Nine Unknown Union Soldiers."

MORALE FOR RELIEF

The man who is on the relief rolls needs a smoke, now and then, as well as something to eat; and relief authorities at Cleveland, O., are requesting state relief auditors to permit them to put in requisitions for cigars as well as for foodstuffs.

This development occurred after someone had protested that recipients of relief had no business asking for smokes. The county relief chairman retorted instantly that "in some cases a package of cigars will do more good than food of equal value."

There is good sense to this attitude. It is important to preserve the morale of the jobless man; and for some reason being entirely without anything to smoke ruins morale about as quickly as anything.

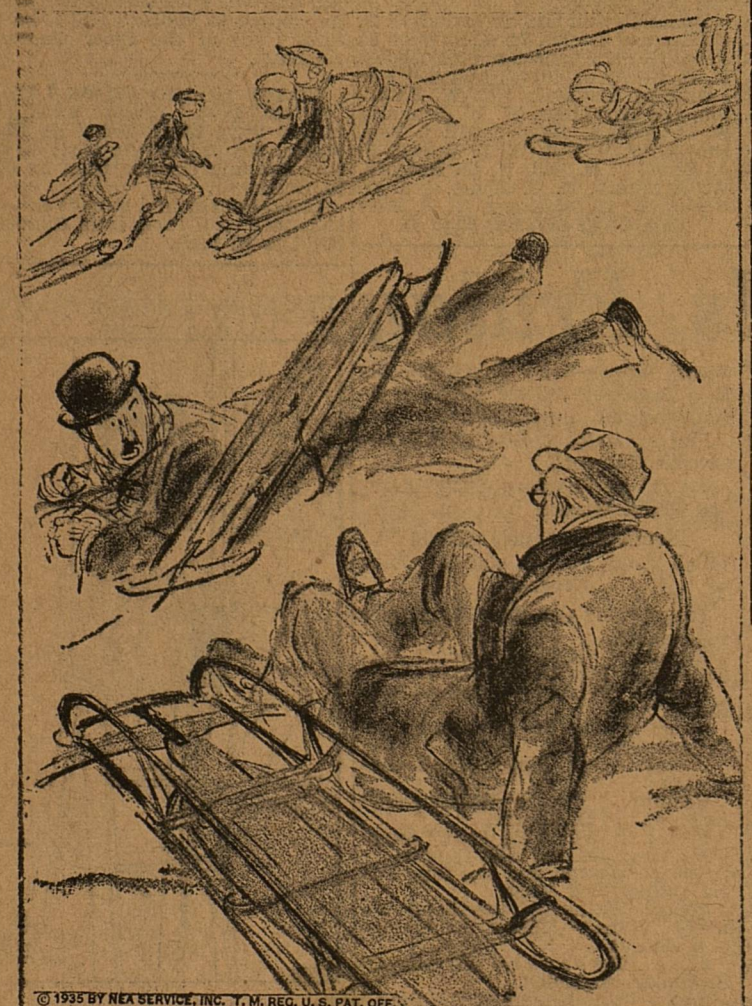

A few cigars can sometimes revive a man's spirits more than a whole cauldron of soup.

Doctors and dentists may deduct the cost of magazines they keep in their offices, in figuring their income taxes. Provided they remember, so far back, what they paid for the magazines.

Now that the Prince of Wales has composed a piece for bagpipes, he has something to blow about.

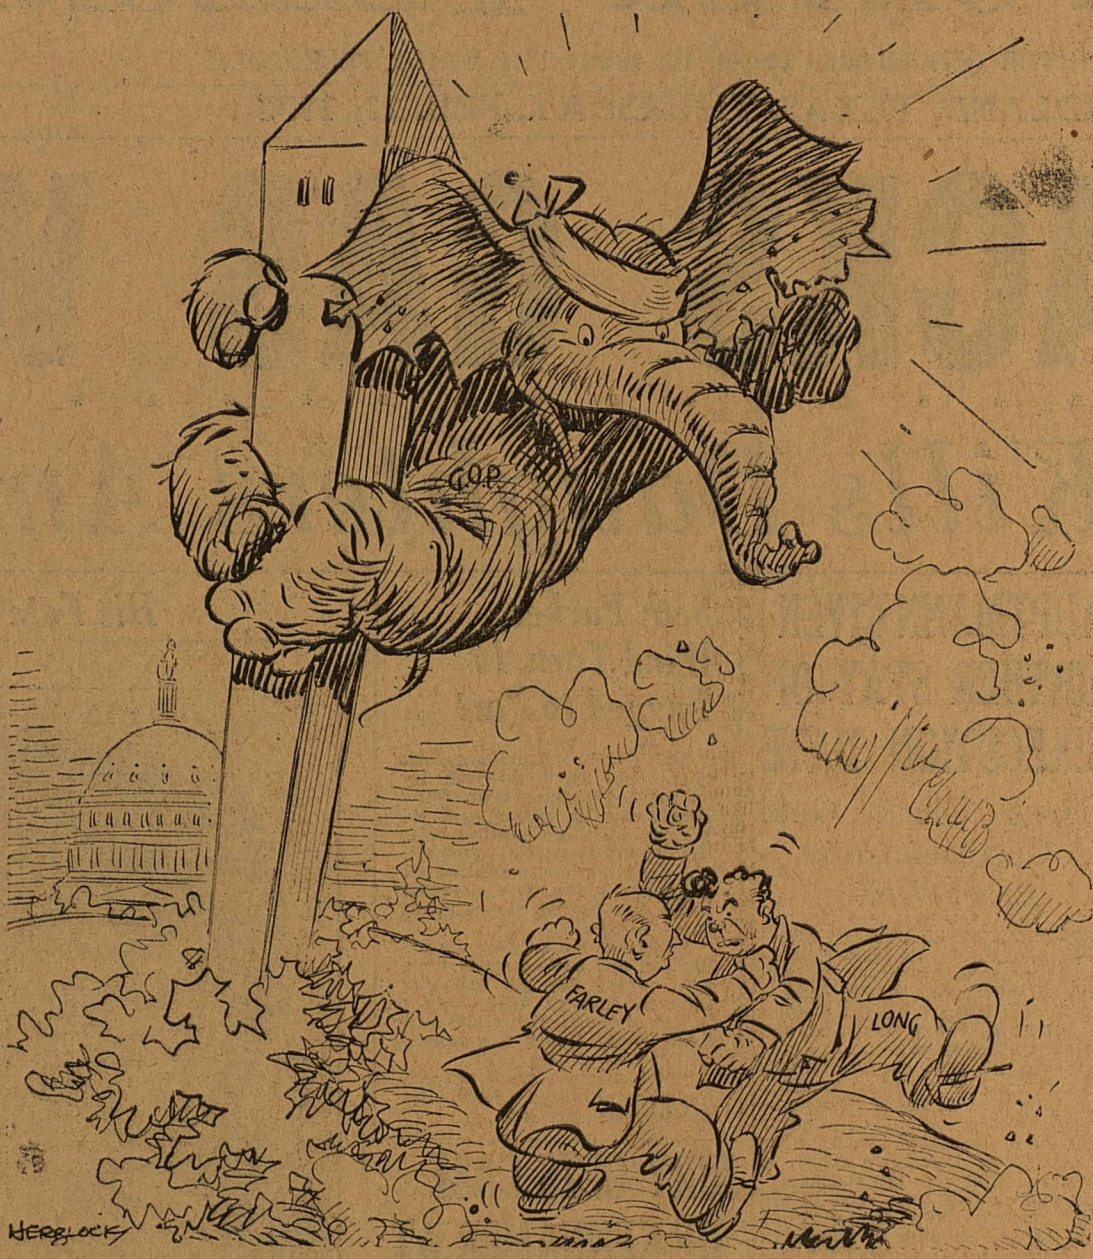

Since the Japanese have made such success selling beer in Germany, they might next try watches in Switzerland and coal in Newcastle.

New Feature

Here's a new feature that will fascinate stamp collectors. It will appear in The Reporter-Telegram daily. Clip it out, attach the stamp described, if you have it or can get it, and paste up in scrapbook form.

Stories in STAMPS

RAIN had drenched the fields along the Verdun sector, in the late spring of 1916, and the trenches were sodden with soft mud. In one of these mucky holes waited a company of 100 French soldiers, bayonets fixed, ready to go over the top. Suddenly the rain-soaked ground above caved in and buried the 100 soldiers alive. Only their bayonets remained sticking above ground.

Today this grim reminder of war is enclosed in a memorial, and the memory of this tragedy is perpetuated in France's charity issue of 1917-19, for the orphans of war.

NO RACE SUICIDE HERE

There were 57,056 more births than the 63,552 deaths recorded.

INSURANCE BD. TO MEET

AUSTIN, (AP).—The Texas Board of Insurance Commissioners has called a hearing for Feb. 28 to consider amendments to the general basis schedules. Washington Birthday Week Busy Socially

Banquets, Parties, Benefit Bridge And Costume Ball Are Features of Entertainment Calendared for Town

Two banquets, a masquerade dance, benefit bridge, meetings of four important study clubs, and half-a-dozen club parties are combining to make this week of Washington's birthday a busy one socially.

Initiated with bridge parties on Tuesday for the Edelweiss and Bridgette clubs, both of which followed the George Washington inspiration, the social calendar becomes more heavily laden as the week progresses.

Wednesday witnessed meetings of the Wednesday, Play Readers, Mothers' Self Culture, and Junior Woman's Wednesday clubs.

Today brings meetings of the Pastime, Anti, and 1928 bridge club, and the regular country club bridge, in addition to the Junior High PTA meeting.

The benefit bridge at the country club sponsored by the PTA of North Ward school in the afternoon, and the Masonic banquet at night are outstanding in Friday's calendar.

The Lucky Thirteen club will entertain their husbands in the evening and the Belmont Bible class meets as usual in the afternoon.

An additional bridge club meets on Saturday afternoon and the week's affairs end in the gaiety of the costume dance which the Minuet club holds in the Crystal ballroom Saturday night.

Wednesday Club Continues Study Of Alaska

The study of Alaska was continued by the Wednesday club at its meeting with Mrs. R. L. Miller, 1211 W. Missouri, Wednesday afternoon.

Refreshments were served at the close of the program to: Mmes. Miller, J. P. Butler, J. M. Caldwell, Sam Cummings, DeArmond, Andrew Fasken, Hill, O. B. Holt, W. G. Whitehouse, and the hostess.

Mrs. Brunson Reads Coward Comedy for Play Readers

Miss Stella Maye Lanham was hostess to the Play Readers club at the home of Mrs. J. M. White, 702 W. Storey, Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Glenn Brunson read "Hay Fever" by Noel Coward. This comedy was substituted for "Valley Forge" a copy of which did not arrive as was expected.

Three guests were present.

A round table discussion and social hour with light refreshments served followed the reading.

Present besides the guests were: Mmes. Wade Heath, Elliott Burton, Ralph Barron, Rawlins Clark, DeLo Douglas, Bryan Henderson, Fred Wilcox, Glenn Brunson, Bob Hamilton, Miss Leona McCormick, and the hostess.

Mothers' Self Culture Club Studies Music

YOU'RE HAPPY WHEN YOU'RE FIT

Think back over the last month. The days you enjoyed most were the days you felt in great shape. Increase these sunny days by keeping fit.

Avoid common constipation due to insufficient "bulk" in meals. It may cause headaches, loss of appetite and energy. It dulls your enthusiasm, takes the fun out of living.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN furnishes you with "bulk" in convenient form. ALL-BRAN also provides vitamin B and iron. This gentle natural food is much better than patent medicines. Unlike cathartics, it remains effective with continued use.

Two tablespoons daily are usually sufficient. Severe cases, with each meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

At all grocers in the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Keep on the Sunny Side of Life

Junior Wednesday Club Studies Nora Wahn

Nora Wahn, who has recently won fame as a writer on Chinese life, was the subject of the program given by members of the Junior Woman's Wednesday club when they met in regular session at the home of Miss Martha Louise Nobles, 110 S. Pecos, Wednesday afternoon.

Miss Bennie Sue Ratliff gave a two-part talk on (a) "Nora Wahn" and (b) "Customs and Characteristics of a Chinese Family." In connection with this, she gave a review of Nora Wahn's "House of Exile."

Under the subject, "Modern China," Mrs. Hugh West contrasted modern Chinese cities with those of this country, discussed religion and government in China, and spoke of the changing mode of life for Chinese women who are now turning to the freedom and activities of women in other parts of the world.

Refreshments were served at the close of the program to Misses Julia Ann Aycock, Annie Laurie Hix, Ruby Hodges, Mary Bell Pratt, Bennie Sue Ratliff, Dorothy Ratliff, Lucille Thomas, and the hostess, Mmes. Alf Reese, Hugh West, Ralph Geisler.

Men of Night Is Thriller at Ritz

An unusual screen treat is in store at the Ritz Theatre for those lovers of screen melodrama who prefer the red-blooded "thrill" film to the subtle, sophisticated drawing room drama. "Men of the Night," the Columbia film which opened there yesterday, amply fills the bill with a highly exciting and suspenseful screen story.

More rice is being consumed daily in the world than any other edible.

FEMININE FANCIES

BY KATHLEEN EILAND

If all days were as lovely as yesterday, surely the depression would soon be forgotten—along with our minor, and even major personal griefs and failures.

We wonder what it would be like never to do anything that we bitterly regretted for weeks and months afterward.

We are glad to see, for more reasons than one, that Midland hostesses are taking advantage of the Washington birthday holiday to give colorful, gay parties.

The loveliest color of all is that soft, soft blue that is seen in spring frocks each year. A delicate, fragile shade, entirely feminine.

Jumping from the artistically-satisfying to the appetite-satisfying, we admit that no matter how spring-like the weather may be one day, the next it is likely to be winter again. Which means that meat is still important in the menu.

For the family that is sausage-conscious, we suggest the following ways of varying the sausage diet from day to day:

Try baked apples stuffed with sausage; fried pineapple with tiny link sausages; sausage stuffing for baked green peppers; or acorn squashes; a sausage loaf; or a sausage rarebit in which the cooked sausage is mixed directly with the cheese sauce. Or, perhaps waffles baked after sprinkling the batter with browned sausage or a peppery Italian dish containing sausage, spaghetti, tomatoes, beans and peppers. Browned sausage slices in scrambled eggs may find favor, as well.

THE SWAN

No, this picture doesn't show a pair of adagio dancers demonstrating the flight of the swan. It portrays Farid Simaika, former Olympic diving champion and present coach at the University of California at Los Angeles, demonstrating to a co-ed just how the body should be held in negotiating the graceful swan dive.

Blood of the porpoise is more like human blood than that of most animals. This sea-going mammal shows close affinities with oxen and pigs.

Honors Vermont Visitor With Washington Bridge

Another part of the week which honored the Father of His Country by carrying out the George Washington motif in appointments for the afternoon was that at which Mrs. Edgar Keeler, 506 W. Louisiana, complimented Mrs. C. H. Cheney of Swanton, Vermont, house guest of Mrs. Paul A. Schlosser.

Two tables of bridge occupied the playing hours. At the end of the games, Mrs. Schlosser was presented with a prize for high score and Mrs. Cheney received a guest prize.

At tea hour refreshments were served to: the honoree and Mmes. A. L. Ackers, O. C. Harper, Molly, Erie Payne, Schlosser, A. J. O'Rourke, E. A. Wahlstrom, and the hostess.

Senator Tydings (D-Md.) introduced a bill calling for the payment of the soldiers' bonus in negotiable government bonds at their present face value including interest.

Mills of the Gods Coming to Yucca

With a cast that fairly sparkles with stage and screen personalities, "Mills of the Gods," a Columbia production, will head the new program at the Yucca Theatre starting Friday. The picture should be of great interest to all theatre-goers as it deals with a modern, topical theme.

May Robson, veteran screen trouper, has the starring role—that of the owner of a large plow company. When she is confronted with bankruptcy and the possibility of closing the mill, thus throwing hundreds of employes out of work, then does Mary Hastings solve a problem employers face in the country today—keeping the mill open and out of the red.

Mrs. Chas. L. Klapproth is confined to her bed with an attack of flu. Judge Chas. L. Klapproth has also recently suffered an attack of the disease.

Mrs. C. H. Cheney of Swanton, Vermont, is a house guest of Mrs. Paul A. Schlosser.

H. E. Wassell of McCamey is here today on business.

Doc Wimberly of Loraine, owner of farms here, was in town Wednesday on business.

Chas. Farris of Colorado was here yesterday.

Employment Service Available to Labor

By FRANK PERSONS
A German-American machinist came to one of the offices of the United States Reemployment Service recently and said: "Maybe you can't get me a job right away, but the Government would like to know I was out of work, I thought. If men out of jobs don't register, the Government don't know how many of us have not no work, and how can they do something about it?"

In Germany, England, and in other European countries where systems of unemployment insurance are in operation, a man or woman automatically registers at a public employment office as soon as they are out of work. They have to do so in order to claim their unemployment-insurance benefits.

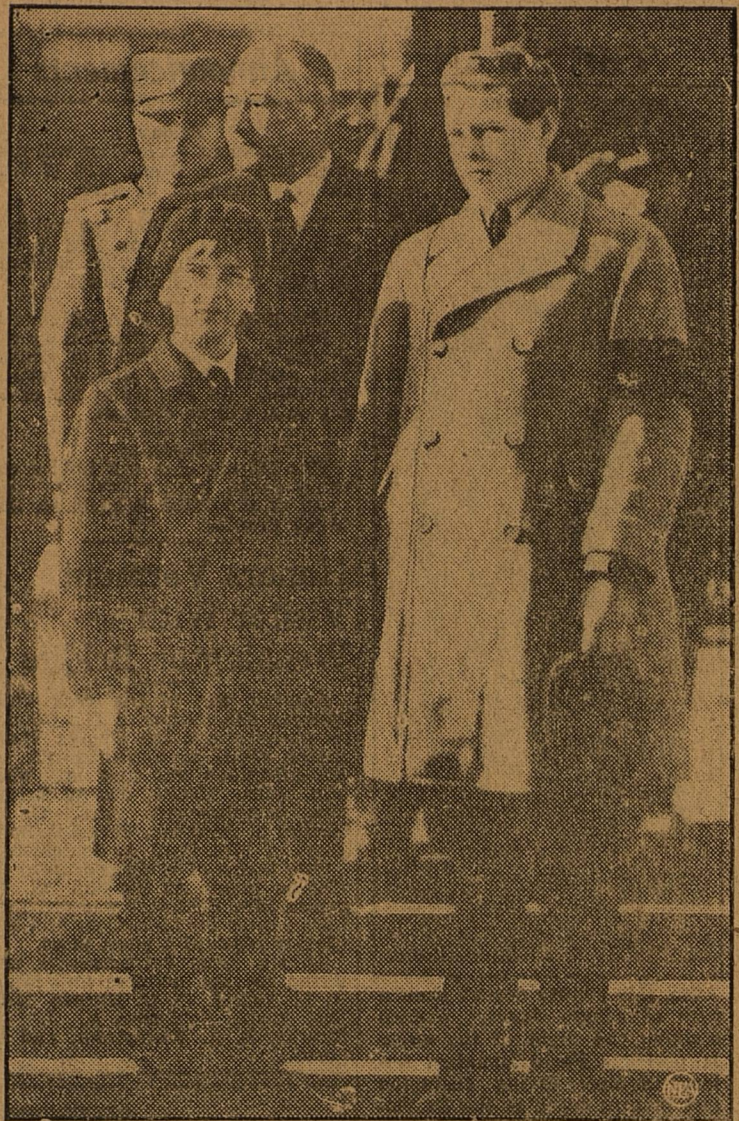

Between July 1, 1933, and September 30, 1934, 13,979,000 men and women in this country came, as did the German machinist, to file their applications for employment at the offices of the United States Employment Service. These applicants were men and women from all occupations—skilled and unskilled, commercial and professional, domestic servants, farm laborers, organized and unorganized workers, and the use of the Employment Service. During these 15 months, 7,835,000 jobs were secured for unemployed workers by the Employment Service.

The fact, however, that thirteen and one-half million men and women applied to public employment offices during this period does not mean that there is, in the United States, an incentive for all unemployed to register at the Employment Service comparable to that prevailing under the unemployment-insurance schemes of European countries. Only during the period of registration for C. W. A. jobs last winter was there an approach to universal registration in this country. But we do now have a more complete register of the unemployed than has ever been available before.

After registration, one more thing is required in order that a worker may obtain the advantages of this free employment service. He must keep his application active. That is, he must let the employment office know at periodic intervals that he still wants assistance in finding work. He can do this by calling at the office each month. It is necessary that employment applications be kept active in order that employment offices may fill requests for workers promptly. If an employer calls for a carpenter, he wants one to-day, not next week. The employment office has to know which of the registered carpenters are available, who are still actually looking for jobs.

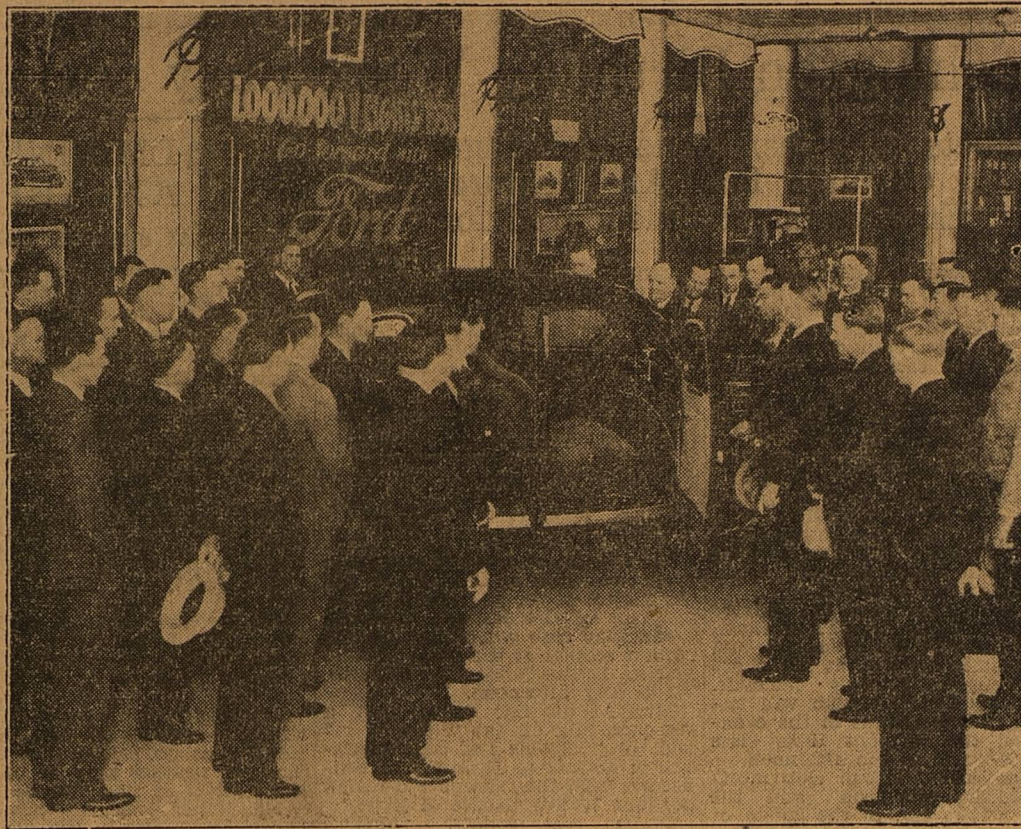

The business of the United States Employment Service is to help workers find jobs. In order to perform these functions effectively, we deem it highly important to get the best qualified worker for every may be reasonably sure of leading to steady jobs.

Not the least of the benefits of the public employment service is the fact that it is operated without charge, either to applicants or to employers. No one pays a fee for getting a job through the offices of the United States Employment Service.

The public employment service has no selfish desire for a monopoly in the employment field. Offices of the United States Employment Service are not the only agencies in the country which are capable of doing good placement work. Many trade unions have for years operated an efficient employment service for their members. The public employment service does not conflict with them in their field of activity. There is, on the contrary, an increasing cooperation based on mutual purposes and mutual understanding.

We want the Employment Service to be exactly what its name suggests. While our primary objective is employment, great emphasis must be laid on the second of these words—service. Service implies an efficient and impartial operation. No employment office can render sound public service and play favorites. It must have no interest whatever in the political, religious or other affiliations of those referred for placement.

Economic insecurity is labor's heavy burden, and unemployment is the worst form of insecurity. The Nation's energies are being devoted to reducing and overcoming unemployment. The Employment Service is one unit in the attack. It is not the whole battery, but it is certainly on the front line of action.

Slumbering Liquor Questions to Rouse

AUSTIN, (AP)—Liquor questions which slumbered peacefully through the first six weeks of the regular session will come to the front in the Texas legislature next week when a House committee holds public hearing on a resolution to submit repeal of constitutional prohibition.

national amendment. Although no definite decision has been reached it is reported that friends of repeal tentatively have decided to submit the constitutional amendment on its merits, following submission with passage of a law that would become effective if, as and when the amendment was adopted. The amendment would be submitted at a special election to be held possibly the last Saturday in August.

A similar procedure was followed by the last legislature in submitting liberalization of the prohibition section to permit manufacture and sale of beer. The beer law became operative automatically after the amendment was approved.

Repealists, however, recognize that chances for adoption of the amendment would be greatly enhanced if a strong control measure was assured in advance of the election. They figured a majority of the electorate would be unwilling to turn prohibition out of the fundamental law until they were informed on what would take its place.

While neither side of the prohibition problem has been vocal the prohibitionists are sure to demand that strict safeguards be thrown about the liquor traffic in event it is again legalized.

Your Income Tax (CLIP THIS DAILY) No. 20 Bad Debts—Year in Which Deductible To be allowed as a deduction from gross income, a bad debt must have been determined by the taxpayer to be worthless within the taxable year for which it is claimed and, where books are kept, it also must have been charged off within the same year. The necessity for this provision is obvious. If a debt could be deducted without the requirement that it be charged off the taxpayer's books, the certainty of its worthlessness would be open to question. Neither the taxpayer nor the Government could be certain that a debt would not be claimed more than once. If a bad debt were allowed as a deduction, without regard to the year when it became worthless, such charges could be accumulated to be deducted in a year when there was a large income. The burden is upon the taxpayer to show that a debt claimed as a deduction was without value during the taxable year. A statement should be attached to the return showing the propriety of any deductions for bad debts. If in the exercise of sound business judgment a taxpayer concludes, after making every reasonable effort to determine whether there is likelihood of recovery, that the debt is of no value, deduction for such debt is allowable. Court action as proof that the debt is worthless is not essential. It is optional with the taxpayer in a year prior to that in which a debt becomes worthless to take a deduction for partial loss if partial worthlessness occurs. If it can be shown that upon maturity of a bond, mortgage, or note evidencing a debt, it will not be paid in full, the partial loss is deductible. No. 21 Deduction for Taxes Taxes on real estate and personal property paid during the year 1934 are deductible. So-called taxes, which are assessed against local benefits, such as streets, sidewalks, drainage, and other like improvements, are not deductible, for they tend to increase the value of the property and thus constitute cost of a permanent improvement. The Federal income tax may not be deducted. Income tax, however, paid to the State by an individual on his income is an allowable deduction on his Federal income-tax return. Customs duties paid by a person on articles imported for his own use are deductible. Admission taxes, imposed on admission in excess of 40 cents, are deductible, but the taxpayer must show that account has been kept of the amount paid. Taxes on club dues are deductible by the member paying them. An individual may deduct the tax on his telephone conversations, radio messages, telegrams and cables, on the checks he has drawn, and on the rent of his safe deposit box. License fees exacted by a State or city upon certain businesses are deductible as taxes. Automobile license fees are ordinarily taxes and deductible. Postage is not a tax and is not deductible. In general, taxes are deductible only by the person upon whom they are imposed. Under the Revenue Act of 1934, no Federal estate taxes, State inheritance, estate, legacy or succession taxes, or gift taxes are deductible on any income-tax return. The Federal taxes on automobiles, gasoline and liquor are deductible upon the manufacturer, producer, importer, and are not deductible by the purchaser or consumer. Whether or not the gasoline tax or the sales tax levied by a State may be deducted by the individual purchaser depends upon the terms of the State law imposing the tax, consequently the right to the deduction, as between purchaser and seller, varies in the different States. JOWELL HERE Spence Jowell was here yesterday and today from his ranch at Kent. He reported a half-inch of moisture when the snow fell here ten days ago. Mrs. Jowell, at El Paso was reported recuperating gradually from the high blood pressure attacks which had made her ill for several months.
