PROBE OF PRISON CONDITIONS TO BE STARTED TODAY Seek Whole Story of Events Leading To Murder "Indecent Advances" Confirmed by Doctor

JOLIET, Ill., Jan. 29. (AP).—A sweeping investigation into the sordid secrets of prison life was begun here today to uncover the whole story behind the fatal slaying yesterday of Richard Loeb, "thrill murderer" of Bobby Franks in 1924. A coroner's jury heard Doctor John Larson, prison psychiatrist, confirm in part the story of James Day, convict, that "indecent advances" by Loeb had brought the attack that ended in death for him at the hands of Day.

52 RAZOR SLASHES FATAL TO LOEB

JOLIET, Ill., Jan. 29. (AP).—Slashed 52 times by a razor in the hands of an enraged fellow convict, Richard Loeb, 30, co-perpetrator of the "thrill slaying" of Bobby Franks in 1924, was killed Tuesday in Stateville penitentiary.

James Day, 28, serving a term for larceny, confessed to the killing of Loeb, state Attorney Will McCabe of Will county said, and blamed it on Loeb's persistence in pursuing him over a long period with improper advances.

Sullen at first, Day refused to discuss the case except to tell Warden Joseph Ragan it was "just a fight." But later, to Edward G. Powers, investigator for the state's attorney's office, he gave a full statement of the furious fight he said he and Loeb engaged in and the incidents, which he said, led to it.

He denied he had stolen the razor with which he "cut to pieces" the partner of Nathan Leopold in Chicago's most revolting crime of nearly a dozen years ago.

The razor, he claimed, he wrested from Loeb's hand when Loeb threatened him with it.

His account varied somewhat from that related by guards. They said they heard screams from his cell and rushed in to find Day on top of Loeb.

The injured man was rushed to the prison hospital. Eight doctors labored to save him. Specialists were summoned from Michael Reese hospital in Chicago by his family about two hours after the attack.

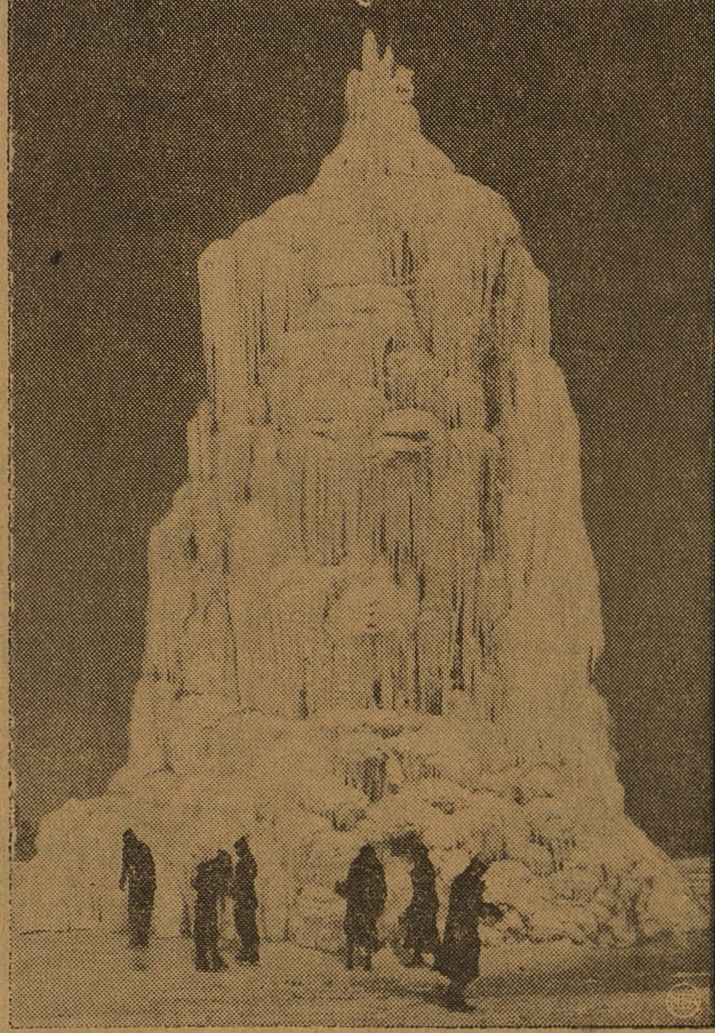

Authorities at once began a searching investigation, participated by Will county, prison and state officials. Coroner E. Kingdon, who ordered an inquest for today at 10 a. m., called in his jurors last night to view the body of Loeb. The remains were to be shipped to the family home in Chicago, which was closed to all inquirers.

Loeb's brother, Ernest, who survived his mother and a brother, Allan, one of the last persons to see the prisoner, was Nathan Leopold, serving like him a life and a 99-year sentence for the Franks slaying.

Leopold heard his college and crime associate murmur: "I think I'll make it."

Al Smith Described As "Turncoat" In U. S. Senator Robinson's Reply

King Zero's Monument
Records Are Read to Prove Smith Was For New Deal

When shivering Detroiters see this gleaming tower of ice, like a fantastic dream in architecture, they know that winter has arrived in full force. Flew of the fountain in Belle Isle park, is started every year with the advent of cold weather, resulting in a spectacle of natural beauty that attracts thousands. Tons were added to the bulk of the ice mass by the sub-zero wave which swept across the nation, taking more than 100 lives.

HIGHLIGHTS OF ROBINSON'S ADDRESS

Following are some of the highlights taken from the address of Senator Joseph Robinson of Arkansas in answering the address of former Governor Alfred E. Smith last Saturday night:

"Governor Smith not only has changed sides in the great battle, but his whole outlook seems to have undergone a transformation."

"If it is all right to put the credit of government behind business, let the credit of government be used to keep the wolf of hunger from the doormat of millions of people."

"Alfred E. Smith proposed in 1933 that we wrap up the Constitution and put it on the shelf until the depression was defeated, and then comes down here to lecture Democratic leaders on constitutional government."

"History will show and the record will show that President Roosevelt has never advocated the adoption of a single measure to curb in any way the just liberties of any man."

(By the Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Jan. 29. (AP).—Replying sarcastically to Senator Robinson's speech, Al Smith said today that "poor Joe" tried to "cloud the issue" and that he (Smith) felt sorry for him. Smith said that he would not reply to the speech's contents as "I was an unhappy warrior to hear him read off a speech over which he stumbled so much I felt sure it was canned, it did not come from the heart of the Joe Robinson I had known."

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—The New Deal officially portrayed Alfred E. Smith Tuesday night as a turncoat, warning against his own people and against the men and women with whom he fought shoulder to shoulder in the past.

The spokesman in reply to the Saturday speech impugning the Americanism and integrity of Roosevelt policies, was Smith's running-mate in the 1928 campaign for the presidency—Senator T. Robinson of Arkansas.

He said "The hour long harangue before the miscalled Liberty League was barren and sterile, without a single constructive suggestion."

"Governor Smith," he concluded a national broadcast, "I've read you the record.

You approved of NRA, you approved farm relief, you urged federal spending for public works, you urged congress to cut red tape and confer automatic power for the president, and you exposed with merciless logic the false cry of communism and socialism.

"The New Deal was the platform of the happy warrior." "The policies of the Liberty League have become the platform of the unhappy warrior."

Rats, described by Webster as "Any of certain rodents of the genus Mus, and other more or less nearly related genera distinguished from those called mice by their considerably larger size" have become so numerous in several stores of the city that a meeting will be held in the chamber of commerce office by merchants of the city tomorrow at 10 a. m. to consider ways and means of getting rid of the rodents of genus Mus.

Pres. Boog-Scott Jr., a member of the U. S. Biological survey, rodent control division, of San Angelo will appear before the body, much as did the famed Pied Piper, and explain ways and means of extermination. A flute (or whatever it was the legendary rat killer used) will not be considered by Boog-Scott in any way. Rather he will use something far more potent—poison.

Working with Boog-Scott will be S. A. Debnam, county agent, as they endeavor to rid all stores of the rodents at no expense to the merchants other than the money that each will be asked to pay for poison. All merchants are asked to attend the meeting whether they have rats or not.

WORLD-FARED HUMAN-FLY, WILL MAKE APPEARANCE IN MIDLAND AT 4:30 THIS AFTERNOON TO CLIMB FROM THE BOTTOM TO THE TOP OF THE 12-STORY PETROLEUM BUILDING.

The famed dare devil, who admits to 42 but does not look more than 25, says that he has been climbing everything that it was humanly possible to for the last 26 years, and bears many scars to prove the fact that he is not always successful in his attempts.

WOODS says that he is one of the few men to make the jump that Sieve Brodie did not make—off the Brooklyn bridge. According to Woods, Brodie only threw a dummy off the bridge, and then saw his name written in history as having really jumped off, while Woods got little more than a severe gash on his head that needed a dozen stitches to sew up for his daring.

WOODS' wife has taken him from coast to coast and at all times has been dangerous. Several years ago he doubled for Harold Lloyd, screen comedian, in a building climbing scene.

DARE DEVIL, who looks more like a ballroom dancer than a human fly, will make his climb, in a red and white uniform that makes him entirely visible all the way up the building. Arms and legs like bars of steel give the veteran assurance that amounts to super-confidence. After reaching the top of the building he will balance on the outmost edge in an ordinary chair, leaning backwards in with his back to the street. A 56-pound pit bulldog, long a companion of Woods, will be waiting on the top of the building for the climb to end, and then go through a series of stunts for the onlookers.

THE LARGEST crowd ever to see the dare devil at his specialty appeared when he climbed the 42-story L. C. Smith building in Seattle, an estimated 68,000 persons seeing him. One of his toughest jobs was the climbing of the comparatively small Herring Hotel in Amarillo recently, the bitter cold and a wind of gale proportions giving him all kinds of difficulties until he finally was forced to put on a pair of gloves before continuing his ascent of the building.

THE CHRYSLER building, one of the tallest in the world, was climbed last year by Woods along with many smaller ones, including the Woolworth building, and the William Penn statue in Philadelphia.

HERE IS SUMMARY OF NECESSARY PROCEDURE TO PROCURE BONUS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29. (UP).—Following is a summary and explanation of the bill providing for the bonus in the form of questions and answers.

Q: What happens to interest on certificate loans? A: Unpaid interest accrued prior to Oct. 1, 1931, will be deducted from the payment. Unpaid interest coming due since Oct. 1, 1931, will be forgiven. Veterans who have paid the interest on their loans since Oct. 1, 1931, will not, however, receive rebates. Very few veterans stand to lose by this ruling, however, as only a very small percentage paid any interest since 1931.

Q: If a veteran has borrowed money from a bank, giving his adjusted service certificates as collateral, and owes the bank interest accrued since Oct. 1, 1931, what happens? A: The veteran's administration will pay the interest to the bank, without deducting the amount from the bonus payment.

Q: Must the veteran apply for his bonus payment immediately? A: No. He may apply at any time before 1945, the maturity date of his certificate.

Q: What happens if the veteran dies? A: If the veteran dies after the application is made and before it is filed, it may be filed by any person. If he dies after application is made, it shall be valid if the veterans administration finds that it bears the bona fide signature of the applicant, discloses an intention to claim benefits of the act, and is filed before payment is made to the beneficiary.

Q: Will the bonds be negotiable? A: No. They will be payable only to the veteran receiving them. (See BONUS, page 6)

EXCESS GOLD IS PUZZLE

Danger of flight of foreign funds from this country in case conditions improve abroad may be the determining factor in the decision on what to do with the huge excess reserves now piled up in federal reserve member banks.

This foreign gold, which sought safety in our dollar and profit in our stock market during 1935, may decide to pack up and leave at any moment, and many bankers believe this would be a serious threat to the country's financial welfare.

Some think the government should "lock up" part of the reserve, to be in position to balance a gold export movement. Others point out that such exodus of capital would provide the first opportunity for safe use of the devaluation profit.

In some quarters it is feared a reduction in present excess reserves might put us on the financial spot, with credit too tight in case of loss of foreign funds operating against our diminished reserves.

Meanwhile, the battle over the government's course in regard to the reserve holdings goes merrily on, with indications that the important decision may be expected soon.

If the United States had postponed its declaration of independence a century and a half, Japanese troops undoubtedly would be protecting it from Communists.

A London surgeon says intense drama can cause a cold, which makes it easier for the susceptible boy friend, after a sad picture, to explain away those snuffles.

U. S. Oil is Wasted on Huge Scale In Corporations' Bitter Struggle

THE NEXT 'BACK TO THE SOIL' MOVEMENT

A struggle for control of oil sources that reaches around the world and involves all the great powers is raging with new intensity as war clouds hover over Europe, Asia, and Africa.

By WILLIS THORNTON NEA Service Staff Correspondent

The United States is in a unique position in the world's struggle for oil. We have always had plenty at home.

For 50 years, between half and two-thirds of all the oil mined in the world was taken from the United States. How long will the supply last?

Nobody knows. In 1926 there was a bad scare when a Coolidge commission estimated "visible reserves" in the U. S. and Alaska at about 4,500,000 barrels. The reserves that would have lasted only until 1932.

But it is now 1936, and the United States is still producing more than half the world's oil. Recently the U. S. Petroleum Institute estimated proved underground reserves at 12,477,000,000 barrels.

Discovery of new fields and deeper, drilling methods have upset all earlier calculations. New methods of distilling synthetic oil from coal, and the polymerization process of extracting gasoline from waste gases, change the outlook.

Luck Isn't Deserved

We don't deserve any such luck. That we have any oil left at all is not the fault of the competitors who have wasted it as no other country in the world has dared to allow.

But that is another story. The point is that the United States has no desperate need of foreign oil—immediately. But even our bountiful supply will run out some time. Then foreign reserves now being exploited by American companies on a purely commercial basis, for sale abroad may come in handy.

Back in the '70's, in the days when the elder John D. Rockefeller was the coal oil king, the United States, first in the field, dominated the oil markets of the world. At the turn of the century foreign countries entered the field, which is now everywhere highly competitive.

American interests in foreign oil markets still tremendous. Walter Clark Teagle, president of Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey), has said that "I think I may claim for the industry that it has been the greatest single force in the extension of the foreign trade of the United States."

Teagle's company is the greatest American oil company in foreign trade. But it is not alone. Texas Corporation sells oil all over the world, and has a half-million acres in Venezuela for development.

Socony-Vacuum sells in literally every important country in the world except Russia and Spain, which have state monopolies. With its refinery at Penabang, Dutch East Indies, it is one of the few outside companies to share the oil resources of that British-Dutch producing area.

Sinclair-Consolidated has vast producing and sales facilities abroad, with concessions in three states of Venezuela and in Angola, West Africa.

Gulf Oil, though it has sold some of its foreign connections, remains a huge factor. In 1932, through its South American Gulf Oil Co., this Mellon oil holding company got the famous Barco concession in Colombia. It also has fields in Venezuela, the Dutch Indies, and Mexico. Standard of California has the important Bahrain Island field.

Standard is King But largest of all these in foreign interests is Standard Oil Co. (N. J.). This is one of the three international giants. The other two are Shell and Anglo-Persian.

Royal Dutch Shell, headed by Sir Henri Wilhelm August Detering, a Holland-Dutchman, is nominally a Dutch firm, but probably is British-controlled for all practical purposes. Anglo-Persian is actually an enterprise of the British government, which owns a majority of its stock.

Of all the pieces into which the old Standard Oil Co. was broken by anti-trust laws in 1912, Standard (N. J.) came from closest to the heart. It is purely a holding company, with more than 75 subsidiary companies.

More and more the foreign business of all the Standard companies has tended to drift into New Jersey's fold. In a single stroke in 1932 it acquired a vast foreign business, when it bought control of Pan-American Petroleum and Transport from Standard of Indiana.

Enters Many Countries In Belgium, Holland, England, France, Mexico, Denmark, Germany, Canada, Liechtenstein, Italy, Switzerland, Rumania, Brazil, Cuba and Portugal, its affiliated companies vie with British, local, and its own American rivals.

It shares with the German dye trust and the British oil interests foreign rights on valuable patents for the most practicable process of "hydrogenation" for making oil synthetically by the refining of coal.

It employs some 50,000 people within the United States, and about 130,000 stockholders share in varying degree in its ownership. This is, of course, merely a partial list of the American entries in the race for oil. But such far-reaching connections are under close scrutiny today as possible links with any kind of trouble that may break out in any corner of the world in the future.

TEN THOUSAND Jews are pioneering toward the rise of a permanent Jewish homeland under Soviet wings. A territory about the size of Belgium, or half again as extensive as Palestine, which is being developed by Jews under the care of Great Britain, has been set aside for similar development in Siberia. In the midst of its prairie lands are great forests of valuable cedar, mineral-bearing mountains, and resources of iron and coal. Foundation of this new Soviet "Palestine" is a back-breaking operation, but the Jews there are exultant over its prospects, while others consider this only another of Russia's efforts to build buffer communities against the eventual invasion by Japan.

NUMBER CATTLE ON FEED FOR MARKET 41 PER CENT MORE THAN JANUARY '35

The number of cattle on feed for market in the 11 Corn Belt States on January 1, 1936, was 41 per cent larger than the very small number on feed a year earlier, according to the estimate of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics. The percentage increase this year over last is the largest ever shown in the 14 years for which such estimates have been made, whereas the decrease from January 1, 1934, to January 1, 1935, was the largest decrease ever shown. Despite the sharp increase over last year, the number on feed January 1, 1936, was materially below the average for January 1 for the years 1930 to 1934. This decrease from the 5-year average was probably from 25 to 30 per cent.

IOWANS GET FREE FUEL

ODERBOLT, Ia. (U.P.)—Southeastern Iowa residents are burning free fuel in their stoves and furnaces this winter, thanks to the tremendous size of the corn crop on the Adams ranch, largest in the state. Corn cobs for public use as fuel were offered free to anyone hauling them away from the ranch.

Make me wonder why
I've no squares of gingham
With wide bows to tie.

Chanting rhythmic prayers
Just as though God listened

Sometimes make me wish

As the child-heads nod—
Have they something lovely

Eleven Attend Bible Class

Eleven members, including the teacher, of the women's Bible class of the Church of Christ were present at the group's regular meeting at the church Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Rev. T. H. Bass, pastor and teacher of the class, conducted a lesson from the eleventh chapter of Matthew. Dwelling on the latter part of the chapter, he brought out as one of the chief points of his lecture, that Christ's "yoke" is easy to bear.

Members present were: Mmes. E. W. Wallington, Jr., A. G. Bohannon, L. E. Jones, Delbert Leggett, Lewis Bewley, Paul Jackson, L. M. White, Joe Pyron, W. F. Hejl, and a new member, Mrs. West.

For the trip south and chilly days after you get there, there's nothing like a woolen ensemble which can be worn with a brightly colored sweater or smart blouse. The voluminous swag coat and straight skirt are of rough surfaced black and white tweed, loosely woven. Green sweater and hat complete the ensemble.

FEMININE FANCIES

BY KATHLEEN EILAND

Wonder why it is that beauty shops and women's shops have such a fondness for green in their decorating schemes? Green and green-and-orchid seem to be special favorites.

One of the hardest things in the world is to find time to write letters that one feels should be written. Of course, letters that one wants to write are somewhat easier to find time for.

That ancient wise man, whoever he was, who said that he who rules his own spirit is greater than he who takes a city, in the parlance of the jazz generation, said a mouthful. "We are seldom more aware of the defects in our character than when we lose our temper unexpectedly or are persuaded into doing something and then review the proceeding later with regret.

Speaking of regret, we suppose a certain amount of it is all right. But to our way of thinking there is nothing more destructive and wasteful than remorse—that exaggerated regret which broods over mistakes and sins that are past, and being unable to do anything to remedy them, makes no effort to forget and go forward to better things, but burns up valuable energy in ceaseless self-torment which does nobody any good.

A news dispatch says that Richard Loeb, co-slayer of little Bobbie Franks in a brutal murder years ago, has been slashed to death by a fellow-convict. That old belief that the man who takes life violently will perish in the same way still appears to be in force. As are a good many old laws of living which moderns are inclined to sneer at.

The new king, Edward VIII, of England, displays a human touch that strikes a responsive chord. Possibly his first act, it is said, was to order all the clocks of Sandringham House turned back 30 minutes. A predecessor on the throne had been plagued at being late to an appointment and had set all the clocks forward so he would not be tardy again.

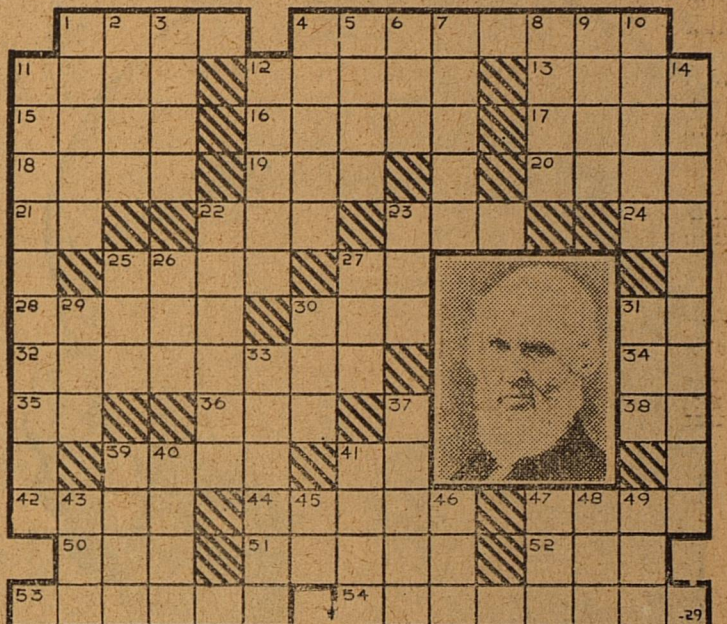

One can imagine how often Edward, during his childhood and young manhood, had been irritated by the disparity between the time at his home and in the outside world. He must have noticed it with disapproval many times to take the trouble to have the condition remedied even when the shadow of death hung over the estate.

Caution Is Indicated When Airing a Baby

By Olive Roberts Barton

"Shall I let my baby sleep outdoors?" is the question asked by so many young mothers.

Once long ago I heard a doctor, one of the fresh-air fiends, so-called, make this statement: "Any air is better than house air." He did not mean it, of course. He failed to qualify. And as a result he misled some young patient of his. She took him literally and had a very sick boy.

I shall try to do his qualifying for him, and mention a few pertinent points overlooked in those days by the fresh-air extremists. First of all, no YOUNG baby should be popped out on the porch for his airing in the middle of winter. He must be at least a month old, should be carried out in arms, and kept in the ozone only three or five minutes on a NICE day. No zero or near zero about it. The time can be increased slowly, but always according to weather and wind. He can be aired quite well in a room. Should always be warm and dry.

Other Factors to Consider

Location has a great deal to do with it. High places are not as damp as low ones. Certain areas, too, have more sun than others. The community in which one lives will effect time and duration of outings.

The older baby, conditioned to outdoor air, begun in summer and fall, is less susceptible to colds than the new one. All things favorable, he may have his open-air siesta. But particular care must be taken that he is well covered, has extra heat in the form of hot-water bottles, when needed, and is out of draughts and wind. Also that he be kept well above the ground, because thaws or invisible mists lie thickest near the earth.

Never put a sick baby outside. Or one who is under par generally, unless it is professionally ordered.

Choose Better Days for Outing
Pushing him in his pram is no different from the porch airing, and the same factors enter into his safety. Choose the better days for his outings.

When airing the baby in his room, the sides of his bed should be covered and a screen set up to divert draft. Put on his warm bonnet to protect his head and cover him warmly. Sleeping bags are excellent, or he may have coat and mittens. He must not chill.

He should not perspire, of course. As stated before, it takes judgment and thought and regulation this winter airing.

Concentrating On Beauty Assets Is Wisdom For Girl

BY ALICIA HART

NEA Service Staff Writer

Every woman has one feature that should be emphasized to make it appear even better and to draw attention away from less lovely ones. This is a bit of make-up art that all actresses practice, and one which each of us should work on at home.

For instance, if you have large, dark eyes, don't spend time worrying about a thick chin or a nose which seems to turn too far up or down. Get busy with comb, hair-brush, mascara and rouge and figure out a way to make your nice eyes a true focal point of interest.

Draw your hair backward from your forehead and upper part of your face. Keep your rouge rather high on your cheekbones (don't use too much), brush your brows daily and touch your lashes with a bit of mascara. Powder your chin ever so lightly and don't over-rouge your lips.

If, on the other hand, your eyes are just so-so, but your mouth and chin are especially nice, omit mascara, apply rouge sparingly and lipstick lavishly. Wear dresses with plain, open-looking necklines. Stay away from frilly jabots and ruffled collars that hide your throat and part of your chin.

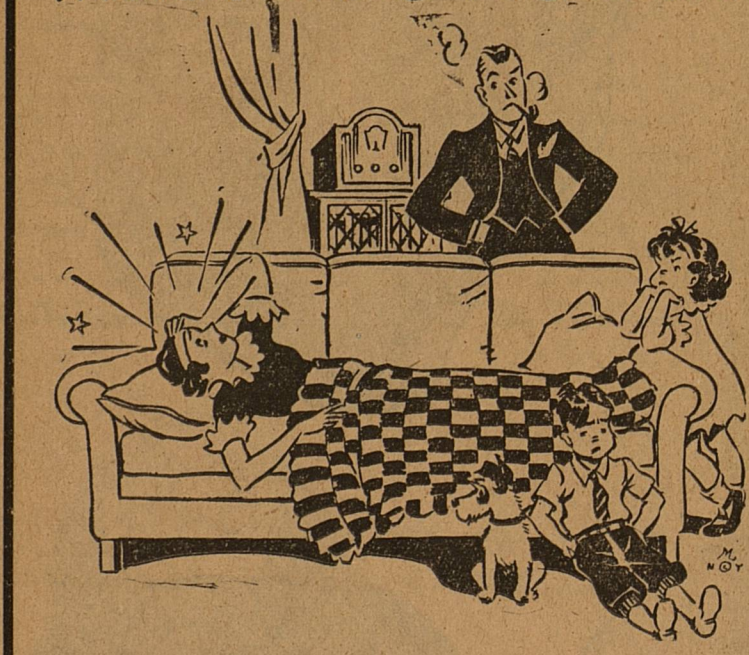

Naturally, a good deal can be done with hair which actually is shinningly healthy and perfectly groomed. If the hair is beautiful, even a quite plain woman can be stunning. You can't change your facial characteristics, but you can improve the

CONNALLY MAKES FARMERS REPLY

Appreciation for Resolutions Adopted Here Given By Senator

The following letter was received today by Dr. W. E. Ryan, ex-president of the Midland chamber of commerce, from United States Senator Tom Connally in answer to a copy of the resolutions made by county farmers and business men in a meeting here early in the month asking the assistance of the senator in formulating a new farm bill to replace the AAA. (The press statement mentioned by the senator appeared in the January 15 issue of the Reporter-Telegram, and was an outline of the export debenture farm plan suggested by him.)

"Thank you for sending me the resolution adopted by the Midland farmers and business men on January 13, 1936, with regard to the agricultural situation. We are doing everything humanly possible to work out a satisfactory program, and I want to assure you that I am bending every effort to aid agriculture. I hope you will advise the other signers of the resolution of the contents of this letter.

"I am enclosing copy of a press statement of mine which will be of interest to you.

"With cordial good wishes, I am,

"Sincerely,

"TOM CONNALLY."

Democratic Manner Wins Anzacs' Favor

He made a hit in Australia. His manner of winning the Anzacs, whom he had known in France, is well shown by this New Zealand incident. A tall ex-soldier and sheep rancher, sidled up to the prince in a crowd.

"Well, Digger, what can I do for you?" asked the prince pleasantly.

"Excuse me, sir," grinned the rancher, "but some of the boys bet me you would not give me a cigar."

"Tell 'em you win," said the prince with a smile, extending a package.

In South Africa he captured the Boer element by a taking gesture. Arriving at a small way station, where a car was supposed to be waiting to carry him to another town, he saw that his escort was a mounted commando of Boers. The prince sized up the situation and said he would like to ride with the commando.

So they found a horse, and galloped off across the veldt. When they reached the town, a crowd was waiting for the ceremonial auto. Then somebody recognized the distinguished guest as the young fellow on a horse with the commando. His face covered with sweat and dust.

The crowd went wild, and on all other visits in South Africa thereafter, he had to ride with the commando.

The Lone Wolf's return to film action in "The Lone Wolf Returns" is the source of many hours of gay and exciting entertainment at the Yucca theatre where the Columbia film is showing today and tomorrow.

Melvyn Douglas is seen in the title role with Gail Patrick as his leading lady. Douglas recently achieved stardom as a result of his performance opposite Claudette Colbert in "She Married Her Boss" and received the important role in "The Lone Wolf Returns" as a fitting tribute to his fine work.

The story presents Douglas as the suave international level thief and Miss Patrick as the charming Marcia Stewart, the girl he loves. Tala Birell, Henry Millson, Thurston Hall and Douglas Dumbrille are featured prominently in the cast. Roy Williams Neill directed.

1935 SEAL SALE CALLED SUCCESS

February 1 Is Last Day For Purchase in Drive

February 1 is the last day for the sale of Christmas seals, members of the County Health Board reminded citizens today. Those who desire to aid the campaign against tuberculosis by purchasing the seals are asked to send their contributions to Mrs. Netty Romer, auditor of the seal sale, or to Miss M. Elizabeth Wilson, county nurse, by that date.

Officers of the Health Board report that they consider the sale quite a success this year. A goal of $500 had been set for the sales drive which began several weeks before Christmas and already $540 has been received. This is a sizeable increase over the $470 collected last year (1934).

American Boy Makes Good Dancer In Russian Ballet

ABILENE, Jan. 28.—The history of Roland Guerard, a dancer of major roles in the repertoire of Col. W. de Basil's Ballet of Monte Carlo which comes to the Hardin-Simmons university auditorium at Abilene on Feb. 5, 1936, at 8 o'clock, is the story of an American boy who made good in a Russian ballet. Critics everywhere have been astonished at the knife-sharp leaps and turns of this youth, especially in his Bluebird Dance in "Aurora's Wedding." Guerard's leaps are effortless, and many have observed his remarkable ability to rise in the air and to appear to stay there—which was the genius of Nijinsky.

Guerard describes himself as a "hill-billy" from South Carolina although he was born in urbane Charleston. His mother and father, both descendants of French Huguenot families, were split on the issue of whether their young son should follow his obvious talent for dancing. As a child, he had been attending a local dancing class, and his first memory of dancing was doing the Pavlova Gavotte with a group of children. When he was twelve years old, his family moved to New York, his father sternly holding to the belief that dancing was not a viable pursuit.

Although he was quietly encouraged by his mother, young Guerard obeyed his father's wishes and entered school to study, consecutively, chemical engineering, commercial law, and accounting. But his heart was not in work. He convinced his father that dancing was a form of artistic expression that was just as valid for a man as for a woman. With the joint consent of his parents, he entered the schools of Fokine, Chester Hale and Adolf Bolm. All three teachers acknowledged his unusual talents.

Here's Howe, Chinese Lens Man!

One of Hollywood's top-notch photographers is at the same time the only Chinese cameraman in the film industry. He is James W. Howe, shown above at work. Born in South China, Howe was brought boxing champion of the northwest before he decided to photograph faces instead of massaging them with leather. He owes the "break" that launched him on his career to Mary Miles Minter, one-time actress, who was pleased with a portrait he had made of her.

MAY DRILL DEEPER IN GAINES TEST

Well Said to Have Top Of Lime Close to Contract Depth

BY FRANK GARDNER

The probability that the Wahlenpaler, York and Harper No. 1 G.S.D. & R.G.N.G. survey, will not be abandoned but will be drilled deeper looms larger after the disclosure that the test had topped Permian "big lime" in drilling the last few feet to fulfill contract. Samples taken from 4955 to 5008 feet were said to be solid lime.

The well is shut down for the time being pending a deal for re-financing being made by the operators. It is reported that Stanolind has a geophysical crew at the well taking seismic readings with geophone lowered into the hole.

Although considered structurally low the No. 1 Ed Jones has attracted much interest, being in an unexplored area of the Basin, and carrying it deeper would make available to geologists a more satisfactory "control" for the region.

It is located in section 414, block C.O.S.D. & R.G.N.G. survey, 17 miles northwest of Seminole.

Also in Gaines county, about 14 miles farther southeast, W. T. Walsh and Harry Adams Corp. No. 1 is still fishing for a string of tools blown up in the hole by a gas puff at 3350 feet.

Gas diminished to about 15,000,000 cubic feet in the W. H. Dunning et al No. 1. Mrs. Clarence Scharbauer, northern Ector wildcat, after two days delay because of east winds. However, when drilling was resumed and three additional feet of hole made to 4058 feet, the flow of gas increased to about 30,000,000 cubic feet. When last reported, the test was drilling ahead.

The Dunning prospect is considered as a probable extension of the Goldsmith pool by reason of its performance to date. It is located in section 33, block 44, township 1 north, T. & P. survey.

Test is being taken today on the Barnsdall No. 1 Foster, new Ector county pool opener a mile north of the Adick pool. According to reports, it was cleaned out to bottom and tubing run preparatory to testing. Although the test is being made on pump production, it is possible it might register a flow through tubing after being agitated. The Barnsdall discovery is in the southeast corner of section 13, block 43, township 2 south.

Material is being moved in for a south offset to the Magnolia No. 2 Sealy, large flush producer recently completed in the Sealy area northeast of the O'Brien pool in Winkler county. The test will be drilled by the Harry Adams Corp. in the northwest corner of section 95, block A. G. & M.M.B. & A. survey, and will be called the No. 1 E. C. Hitchcock.

John I. Moore et al No. 1 McDowell, Glascock county wildcat now in Pennsylvania, is reported drilling white lime at 10,229 feet.

Gulf engineers will put the No. 1 Waddell on pump, according to information received today. Apparently they have so far been unsuccessful in cleaning out caving hole below 6120 feet. When the swab was run early today the well made 58 barrels of oil in three hours. The No. 1 Waddell is regarded as the deep pool opener in the Tubba area of Crane by reason of its performance after the upper section of Simpson was shot last week.

Location is in section 4, block B-27, public school land.

Two more wells scheduled to test the Ordovician in the same area are showing progress. Humble No. 1 J. B. Tubb, in the northwest corner of section 11, is drilling anywhere and time at 2220 feet, while Sinclair-Pratt No. 1 Tubb, a tentative deep test in the southeast corner of section 3, is drilling lime at 2064 feet.

HITCH HIKE LADY

A Republic Picture

Now Showing at Ritz

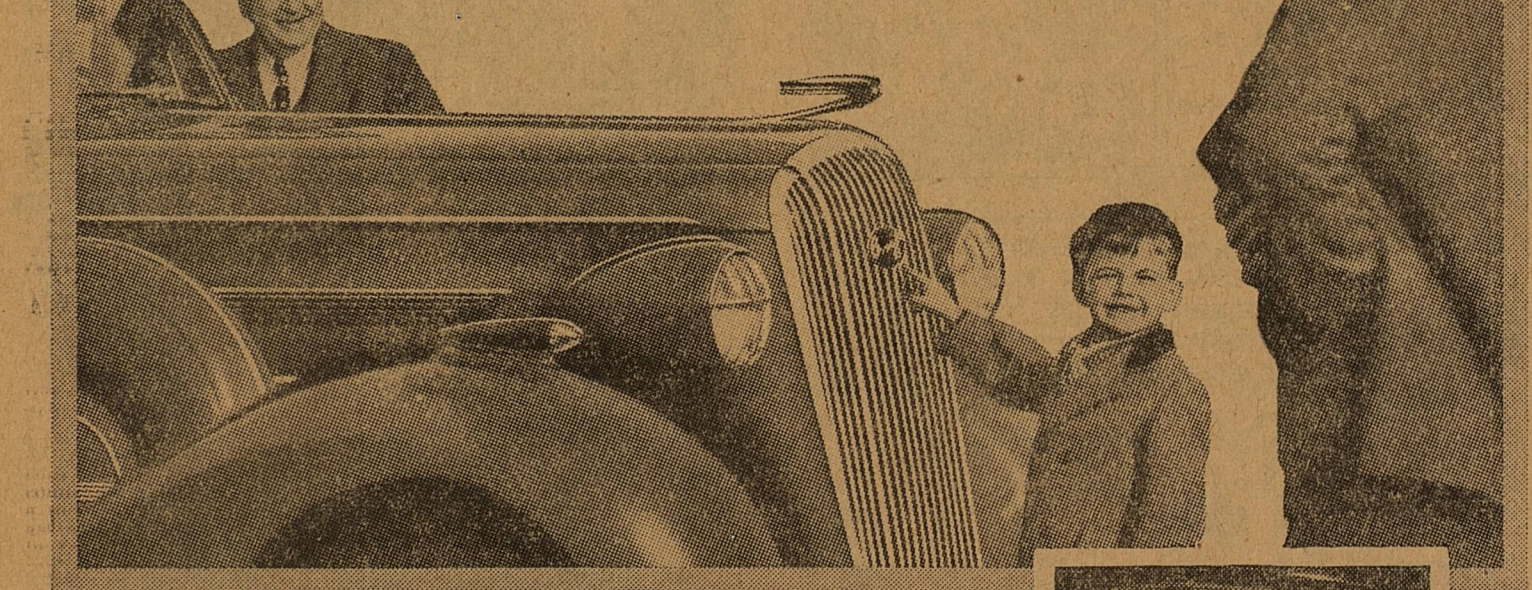

Alison Skipworth hitch-hiking her way across the continent is in itself a laugh-provoking idea, but the very funny comedy situations which she encounters in "Hitch Hike Lady" will have the audience almost literally rolling in the aisles. It is showing at the Ritz theatre today and tomorrow.

The new Republic photoplay concerns the adventures of an elderly English housekeeper who receives a small inheritance and sets out to join her son in California.

Miss Skipworth in the title role, presents her usual superb performance and she is ably supported by those two inimitable comedians, Arthur Treacher and Warren Hymer.

NOW THAT IT COSTS LESS TO BUY A CAR "ON TIME"

Use these Savings to help you get the kind of car you've always wanted

ALL of the mystery and a lot of the expense have gone out of time payments with the new GMAC 6% Time Payment Plan.

It's simple as A-B-C. Delivered price, less trade-in, plus insurance, plus 6%—that's about all there is to it. And it not only saves brain-racking—it saves money.

One result is that you can buy a Buick for little if any more than you're used to paying for a car in the lowest-priced class. Two or three dollars more per week puts a big car at your doorstep—maybe less, if you're used to "dressing up" low-priced cars to make them stand out from the crowd.

Why don't you let us show you what your money will buy under this improved plan—and with Buick's new low prices? There's no obligation at all in a demonstration—we get as much fun out of watching your eyes pop as you get out of Buick's thrilling ride. And how are you ever going to know whether you can afford a Buick unless you let us show you in dollars-and-cents terms?
