LINDBERGH AND FAMILY LEAVING ENGLAND TODAY

New Residence Being Sought by Flier In Wales
LEAVE BY AUTO
"Peace and Quiet" Is Still Object of Search

LIVERPOOL, Jan. 3. (AP)—Colonel Charles Lindbergh and his family left today for Cardiff, Wales, where they will seek "peace and quiet." The manager of the Adelphi hotel said they were enroute with Aubrey Morgan, Mrs. Lindbergh's brother-in-law. The party left by automobile after three days of strict seclusion. Inquiries as to trains were made telephonically to the hall porter of the hotel "Travlers" who listed the times they could depart, but the family made no move to depart until today. Three-year-old Jon, for whose security the Lindberghs are reported to have fled from America, is being entrusted to the care of no one except the parents. Mrs. Lindbergh is doing everything for the child and has not hired a nurse.

AMERICA'S VOLCANO

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Florida, January 3, 1936—General business is rapidly pushing toward normal. Actually, with the exception of building and certain other heavy industries, activity is now on a par with prosperity. Yet unemployment is not decreasing very rapidly. There are still close to 10,000,000 jobless today. The reason may be increased legislation. History shows that most laws of this type, temporarily at least, increase unemployment. An example of the latter is the huge amount of labor-saving machinery installed as a result of the Social Security Act. Whatever the cause, technological unemployment has become a "vital" issue. It is America's "volcano." Despite the bullish outlook for 1936, this problem shadows the lives of every man, woman, and child in the nation, as Vesuvius overhangs the people of Naples.

"Poverty Sharing" Plans
So far, nothing has been done to correct the jobless situation. Most proposals—the thirty-hour week, forty-hour week, or merely "poverty sharing" plans. They would only result in boosting the cost of living for those who are employed. There is nothing basic about the WPA. It is a thirty-hour week and a broad sales tax. Works relief is not a solution either. Most relief work is being done by the PWA projects, however, are usually long-term terms with a low labor ratio. The best solution of works relief is the WPA. It is a half way measure between the ERA and PWA, but it is far from a solution to the job problem. Although I am sympathetic with the President in his desire that relief money should go almost 100 per cent for wages, I cannot believe that the right policy is to select jobs simply because they have a high pay cost, such a policy seems to me a vital mistake. The government is selling its birthright for a mess of pottage.

permanence, usefulness, and non-maintenance features should be of primary consideration, irrespective of the portion which goes to labor. For instance, I consider that money spent upon sewerage disposal, slum clearance, prevention of soil erosion, flood control, and installation of fire alarm boxes and sprinkler systems is well spent, although the immediate employment percentage is not equal to that of leaf-raking "prospects."

New Industries As Solution
In looking ahead to the future, I feel that the only solution of unemployment will come about through the development of new industries and the general shifting of labor from some industries which are now over-manned. The automobile is a good example of this. For every horse and buggy, old there are now five automobiles and for every livery stable there are four garages. This is why I feel that the government can best use its funds in subsidizing new industries, such as air-conditioning, "flivver" airplanes, prefabricated houses, and other modern activities. This would be a relatively near-term solution. Over the long-pull, the only opportunity is in connection with education. This is the one method which will ultimately take up the slack.

In the last century we have made tremendous progress toward complete mechanization of factory and farm. And the development is not yet over. A hundred years from now there will be comparatively few people needed to raise or manufacture all the products the nation consumes. The persons who are not required for producing these goods will be used for developing manhood, through child training and adult education.

Boom In Teaching
As the number engaged in agriculture and industry decreases, the number engaged in health and educational projects will increase. When the forty persons now engaged in making an automobile are reduced to a few persons then the few persons now engaged in teaching large groups of children will be increased forty. Of course, that is a long time away. But I mention it now because the tendency today is to cut down teaching forces. The teaching industry is the first that should be expanded in connection with any state, city, or town planning program. The main distinction between barbarism and civilization is the number of teachers per child.

As Byrns Opened Congress

Speaker Joseph W. Byrns, speaker of the house, today at noon opened the 74th congress in that body. Vice-president Garner opened the session in the senate. The scene will be reenacted tonight when President Roosevelt delivers his message of an extraordinary session of both houses.

GOVERNMENT AT END FIRST-HALF OF FISCAL YEAR

Expenditures Far in Front of Receipts In Country

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3. (AP)—The government closed this year—half of the current fiscal year—with expenditures exceeding the income by about $1,880,000,000 (billion), compared to slightly more than $3,000,000,000 (billions) estimated by the President for the full fiscal year ending June 30th. A prolonged deficit appeared inevitable because this is election year. The Roosevelt message tonight is expected to give his legislative program in a broad outline, but leaders are inclined to place more importance in his budget message Monday.

J. D. WESSON DIES AT THE AGE OF 95

Was Midland's Last Veteran Surviving the War Between States

Midland's last surviving Confederate veteran, J. D. Wesson, 95, was buried at the Confederate Home, Austin, at 10 o'clock this morning, having passed away Tuesday evening after a brief illness. His son, W. H. Wesson of Midland, was there until yesterday and his other son, Zeb Wesson, accompanied by Mrs. W. H. Wesson and daughter, Miss Willie Mae, arrived there in time for the funeral.

J. D. Wesson was buried beside his wife who went to the Confederate Home with the veteran about eight years ago. Born in North Carolina, he had served in the Civil War as a commissioned officer on General Jackson's staff. After the war, he moved to West Texas, coming here from Fort Worth in 1888. He lived out his life in Gaines county, later selling it and retiring at his home here where he lived until entering the Confederate Home.

Besides the two sons of Midland, survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Joe Houston of Midland and Mrs. Vanzo Roland of Fort Worth; also a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Dock Wesson of Midland.

For many years, a familiar quartet of veterans included Wesson, W. J. Glenn, B. M. Smart and W. H. Lunde. All have died within the past few years. They also were intimate friends of the late Chris Scharbauer, father of Clarence Scharbauer. Friends here have pictures made of the group at a domino table.

ITALY, ETHIOPIA MOVE TO STRANGLE INNER DISSENSION

Ethiopian Troops Are Trying to Quell Disorders
APPEAL VOICED
Loyalty to Selassie Pleas Dispatched To Province

By Associated Press
Italy and Ethiopia moved today, informed sources said, to strangle any inner dissension. Italian Fascist party leaders called country-wide meetings to repeat to followers Mussolini's declaration of ten years ago that opposition to his regime would be removed forcibly. As many as 5,000 Ethiopian troops have been sent from Addis Ababa to the Golan province, near Lake Tana, to quell disorders allegedly Italian-instigated. Thousands of copies of an appeal for loyalty to Selassie have also been dispatched to combatants to stir revolt against imperial taxes. Ethiopia announced that Italian planes had bombed and machine-gunned Italian troops on December 30, killing five and wounding two.

The French foreign office called "absurd" Paris newspaper stories saying that France had asked Britain if she were willing to send troops to the German frontier to replace French soldiers, in the event of war with Italy.

Rome officials vigorously denied Paris reports that Italian soldiers had murdered a fascist, mutilated and injuring several soldiers as they prepared to leave for Ethiopia.

REPORT PLIGHT OF 30 MISSIONARIES IS DESPERATE TODAY

Being Besieged by Communists at Chinkiang

NANKING, Jan. 3. (AP)—It was reported today that 30 missionaries were in a desperate plight at Chinkiang, in the western Honan province, with the city cut off, and besieged by a communist army. Ambassador Nelson Johnson telegraphed Honan authorities for an immediate dispatch of troops. Most of the missionaries are believed to be Germans and Americans.

JURY TO EXAMINE TODD CAFE, GARAGE

Ida Lupino Testifies That Actress Was Often Despondent

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 3. (AP)—Grand jurors, told by Ida Lupino that Thelma Todd was "unhappy and dreary" today prepared to inspect Thelma's seaside cafe where she died. Despite testimony that the actress was despondent occasionally, the jury foreman, George Rochester, said, "It looks like a suicide angle just built up, we have found nothing to support this theory definitely."

Congress Opens at Noon With Two Important Measures to Be Faced

Broadway Dons Ermine Robe to Greet New Year

Broadway, which lately has been made a kaleidoscope of color as theater business booms, again lived up to its designation of pre-noon sign days. "The Great White Way," when the first heavy snow-storm of the season draped it in an ermine mantle, against which the glowing lights shone like a

Vote Against New Deal Increases In Digest Poll

The nation at large votes slightly over 3 to 2 against the New Deal in The Literary Digest poll, according to the latest tabulation which includes returns from all forty-eight States for the first time. The total of 1,370,774 ballots tallied on the question: "Do you now approve the acts and policies of the Roosevelt New Deal to date?" shows 541,245 "yes" votes, or 39.53 per cent, to 328,929 "no" votes, or 60.47 per cent.

The present percentage of the balloting against the New Deal compares with 58.1 of last week's returns, an increase of 1.96 points adverse to the New Deal.

The twelve States which are voting in support of Roosevelt's policies include Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Utah and Virginia, all of which except Utah are southern or border states.

The States which are shown voting against the New Deal represent 399 electoral votes, which is a little over three-fourths of the Electoral College total of 537 votes.

Among the States which were represented in last week's tabulation the vote in twenty reveals a fractional increase in the balloting for the New Deal and additional returns reported from nineteen States indicate an increased vote in them against the Administration's policies, while no change occurs in the other two States.

"Since last week the vote has increased by more than 380,000," The Literary Digest states in its current issue. "Now with a full array of States, the poll is sweeping toward its zenith. Its final results will show what the country thinks of the Administration on the basis of the question asked 10,000,000 voters."

"The current tabulation has added interest because it contains preliminary reports from the last seven States to be heard from including several large ones: New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Vermont, Maine, Delaware and Nevada."

"New York's first 50,680 show an unfavorable percentage of 65.30 while Pennsylvania's 10,981 ballots are 63.63 per cent against the New Deal."

THESE ISSUES ARE PROBLEMS THAT ARE FACING CONGRESSIONAL BODY TODAY

By Associated Press
NEUTRALITY: Various bills will be presented with the cleavage coming between advocates of presidential discretion and those favoring a strict congressional mandate. BONUS: Differing bills also are expected on this perennial issue, but democratic leaders see prospects of passing one that will meet with the president's approval; differences will arise primarily over method of payment and how much. APPROPRIATIONS: Regular supply bills for government departments will be the chief order of business; president's plans regarding further direct appropriations unknown; he will propose close to $500,000,000 for furthering public works. FARM RELIEF: Will be a top issue if the supreme court throws out the AAA; administration has alternatives ready as have some republicans. NATIONAL DEFENSE: Customary battle over increased funds for army and navy air defenses is expected by leaders. SOCIAL SECURITY: Amendments may be proposed by administration to the social security act; democratic leaders say Townsend plan has no chance. POLITICS: The usual pre-election floor speeches tinged with politics are forecast; democrats to strive for short session to give ample time to prepare for national convention and campaigns ahead. SHIP SUBSIDY: A new merchant marine bill divorcing subsidies from ocean mail contracts is ready for introduction in the senate as a revision of the measure passed by the house last session; warm light due.

COTTON GINNINGS REACH 4625 BALES

Farmers Cooperative Gin Is Leading Others With 2,097 Bales

Total ginnings for Midland until the present date have reached a total of 4,625 bales. The Farmers Cooperative gin continues to lead with 2,097 bales to their credit for the season. The Williams and Miller gin is second with 1,448 bales ginned; and the Gideon and Luttrell gin is in third position with 1,090 bales.

The 1935 crop has practically all been picked and ginned, the bales being only intermittently now compared to capacity ginnings of a few weeks ago. It is thought that all will have been ginned by the end of the month.

HIGHWAY OFFICIAL WILL PLANT TREES

Interested Citizens of City Are Asked to Aid Committee

The program of the Highway Beautification committee was continued this morning at Knox Duckworth member of the state highway organization, to start the planting of trees on the highway for this season. About 300 trees have been set out already and it is hoped to set out an equal number this year. Miss Marguerite Hester, committee member, said in discussing beautification work. Wild chinas and locusts will be used mostly, though gifts of other trees are acceptable.

Interested citizens have already promised to give a number of trees but about 150 more are desired for this year's planting. Those who are willing to give trees are asked to communicate with members of the committee or call at the county library. The following have promised trees: John King, S. O. Golladay, Jack Estes, Mrs. J. H. Knowles, and Wallace Wimberly. The committee would also like to receive castor bean seeds and various kinds of flower seeds to be used in the beautification program.

NEUTRALITY AND BONUS BILLS GET FIRST ATTENTION

Are Introduced Soon After Gavels Are Sounded

FIGHT LOOMING

War Goods Embargo Bill Cause of Arguments

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3. (AP)—The second session of the 74th congress convened today at noon and was confronted immediately by the explosive neutrality and bonus issues.

The gavels had hardly fallen before the administration bill seeking discretionary embargo for the president and the veterans' organizations bonus bills were introduced.

RECESS ALREADY!
Both the house and the senate agreed soon after opening to recess until this evening at eight o'clock for the president's speech, but Representative Snell, republican leader, denounced the speech plan as a "cheap attempt" to use the message politically.

reduced. Many were ready to fight over whether the neutrality policy should be made mandatory by congress and whether, and how, to redeem the veterans' compensation certificates.

The United States chamber of commerce rapped the bonus bill, contending that it would cost over $1,000,000,000 (billion) more than congress had originally intended.

Under a bill that chairman McCord of the House Foreign Affairs committee introduced, the president could have the discretion as to embargoes on war materials, but the financial transactions with beleaguered governments would be barred.

A letter was sent to each member of congress Thursday urging support for the bonus measure and that it would be known as the "American Legion-Veterans of Foreign Wars-Disabled American Veterans bill."

REPORT ON SEAL SALE SHOWS GAIN

Collections on Jan. 1 Total $476.15; An Increase Over Last Year

Records made by Mrs. Nettie C. Romer show that up to January 1, $476.15 had been collected for the tuberculosis Christmas seal fund. Of this amount, $440.80 had accrued from the sale of seals, and $35.35 from the sale of bangle pins to children.

The amount showed a gain of $56.89 over last year, said Jan. 1 having totaled only $409.46. A total of 1183 letters containing seals were sent out by the seal sale committee of the Midland County Public Health Board this year, and so far only 615 replies have been received, either through purchase or return of the seals.

Mrs. Romer reports that quite a few persons who bought seals last year have not yet been heard from. By the time the final report is due February 1, Board members expect to have reached the $500 mark in collections.

FICTION HERO IN REALITY

This young Anthony Eden, Great Britain's new foreign secretary, seems to be one of those chaps whom you frequently encounter in the pages of fancy novels, but seldom meet in real life.

He is young, dashing—how a certain kind of novelist loves that word!—well-dressed, aristocratic, and able; and today he is guiding the international relations of the world's greatest empire in one of its moments of greatest crisis.

A far older head than Eden might well be appalled by the difficulties ahead of him. Europe's affairs seem to be moving with deadly and inexorable precision toward a frightful catastrophe.

Upon England's foreign secretary will rest much of the responsibility for the ultimate consequences. Dashing young "Tony" Eden will need every ounce of his brains and energy to acquit himself well in his high new position.

Proper Skin Care Requires a Tonic

By ALICIA HART, NEA Service Staff Writer

New and handsomely packaged skin tonics and astringents which have put in a post-holiday appearance on the market would be good items in which to invest part of your Christmas money. Designed to refine the pores and clarify the complexion, one of these necessities to any woman's beauty routine.

At night, after you have cleaned face and throat, then pat on and renewed tissue cream, dip a cotton pad in skin tonic and remove every trace of cream. If you have dry skin which stays softer and smoother if you sleep with cream on your face and neck, apply a new, thin layer after the tonic has dried. If your skin is oily, let the application of tonic be the last step.

If you sometimes need a stronger lotion, it's a good idea to buy one of the new astringents which can be used two ways. When you need only a mild tonic, dip the cotton pad in ice water and wring it quite dry before you moisten it with astringent. This way, naturally, the liquid is diluted. When you want to use full strength, don't wet the pad with water. Simply soak it in the astringent.

You can, of course, wrap a tonic-drenched pad around the end of a patter and use it not only to remove every trace of cream but to stimulate circulation as well. However, remember to pat gently. Otherwise, you're likely to break down delicate tissues, thereby causing flesh and muscles to sag.

FEMININE FANCIES

BY KATHLEEN EILAND

In general, we are in favor of women's sharing whatever work they wish with men. But there is something unpleasant about the thought of four women being appointed as "Rangers" to aid in the fight against gambling.

No doubt such work must be done. We even grant that in some instances it might be easier for women than for men to obtain the necessary incriminating evidence. All the same, we're glad we're not the type to make a career as a feminine "Ranger."

No one can accuse one part of the country as being more fatal to the permanence of marriage than another, if he judges by the records of divorces sought in Reno. Statistics show that more than half the suits filed in 1935 were brought by divorced women.

Arkansas and North Dakota apparently needed least assistance in matrimonial matters as each state listed only one divorce in the divorce capital.

Our own state sent 16 applicants to Reno. With these statistics, a columnist should be able to write a lengthy article. But after all, what's the use of talking?

Apparently a greater stability in emotion and a greater sportsmanship in seeing a thing through are needed much more than any number of smooth phrases in this problem of marriage.

We've heard the predictions of weather prophets and of astronomers and financial experts but a man up in Wisconsin had us gasping at his latest word in predicting the state of weather for the next 12 months.

Very simple it is, too. So simple that any of us could make our own forecasts. He merely cut an onion (a large one) and by the moisture content of the 12 layers predicted the weather to prevail this year.

According to a news story of his test he decided that: January and February; March will be damp; April medium; May partly wet; June and July medium; August, September and October dry; November and December medium.

Did we say the weather man lived in Wisconsin? Perhaps that accounts for the fact that he made no mention of sand storms.

"The Constant Wife" Is Clever Comedy Editor's Note: The following review of "The Constant Wife" was written for The Reporter-Telegram by Mrs. Hamilton after she read the play before the Play Readers club.

By MRS. R. W. HAMILTON "The Constant Wife" is a comedy in three acts by Somerset Maugham. It was first produced on Nov. 1, 1926, in Cleveland, Ohio, with Ethel Barrymore in the lead, and is her choice for her nationwide tour this season.

The play is brilliant, subtle comedy throughout, each line carrying some double meaning or spicy satire which keeps the audience alert and smiling. The plot is based on the age-old question of single or double standard, with an unusual denouement done in the best Maugham-like manner, which leaves the audience still puzzled over the "constant wife."

As a vehicle for Miss Barrymore's talents, as clever entertainment from beginning to end, the play is outstanding.

There Are Fashions in Lighting, Too

Women keep abreast of the change of fashions in home furnishings, but sometimes they overlook the fact that lighting has improved, too. Just as home equipment has turned practical, comfortable, and more attractive within recent years, so has home lighting. New lamps must add to the beauty of the home, and also must provide the right amount of light to protect eyesight.

You can bring the lighting in your home up-to-date by placing Better Sight Lamps in the living room, the bed rooms or other rooms where you and members of your family read or study. At the same time you will add to the comfort of your home and save members of your family from the troubles caused by reading under a poor light.

The Sports Horn

By JESS RODGERS

It is interesting to note that Darrel Lester, all-American center for the last two years in the Associated Press poll picked by sports writers of the nation, did not make the team picked by Liberty magazine from questionnaires sent 1521 college players of leading schools of the nation.

Curiously enough, it was the Mustangs of SMU that caused him to lose the position to Gomer Jones of Ohio State. He received only a scattering of votes from members of that club, most of them saying they had played against tougher centers on other teams this year.

The football season is over as far as the country is concerned, no games for the remainder of the year being scheduled except a couple in Hawaii—or some such place —and it is still our opinion that TCU had the strongest team in the country despite their loss to SMU. Bearish stories have been told for the last two weeks about their not taking the game seriously, but for a cocky, over-confident club, they did fairly well against a team that ranked first in the nation on the Williamson rating system.

All of which should prove that picking the "All" anything team is about on a par with picking the winning nag in a 20-entry horse race. Unless we are mistaken SMU was designated national champion on two systems. Ask them if they feel like one. (If you have the nerve.)

New Mexico Aggie coaches, since the New Year day game with Hardin-Simmons, have come out with the statement that Len Pratt, single handed gained a tie for his team with the favored Cowboys, was injured and not up to his usual game on that day. The statement probably makes the Cowboys wonder just how good Pratt is, for he kicked, passed and carried the ball through, over, under and around them.

Fred Pipkin and Dutch Baumgarten, two men who have seen and played more than a little bit of baseball, have announced plans to put the national pastime on a better basis here this summer than it has been in many years by promoting a semi-pro club here this summer.

Tentative plans of the two call for three or four games per week with the toughest opposition that can be booked, plus a seven-day tournament here some time in July. All outstanding teams of West Texas and New Mexico will be tendered invitations, and if optimism counts for anything, it will have to be a success.

Both are confident that there are plenty of persons in Midland who would be glad to lay down cash money to see a real team in action and it is their idea to give the people that kind of club.

They have the whole-hearted support of this department if they can deliver and all efforts will be given to help them deliver, but deliver us from teams resembling those that have taken the field for Midland in the last few seasons.

Bob Boken, youthful shortstop for the Colts here several seasons ago, is expected to hold down the third base assignment for the St. Paul Saints in the American Association next season after suffering a leg injury last season that kept him from playing up to par.

Gene Moore, another ex-Colt, after escaping from the cardinal "chain gang", will attempt to stick with the "Daffy Dodgers" of Brooklyn.

There is one that has us stumped. According to Prexy Anderson, sports scribe for the Abilene Morning News, a member of the Midland Bulldogs made the all-state class B team picked by Jim Tucker, Waco scribe. Anderson did not remember the name of the player, so we are calling on the militia if necessary to find out whom it could have been.

Personally, we think Tucker must have been having a pipe dream, for the team did not have a man that even deserved honorable mention.

Gus Dorais, coach of Detroit University, in a speech to the annual convention of the American Association last week, asked, among other things, that schools construct better press boxes instead of so many "pneumonia cops" that would use howl would like to see Dorais in charge here for a while!

Wink sportsmen are making efforts to "line-up" a position for Bob Knight, one-man ball team of the state if the 18-year-old rule goes into effect. If the rule is not voted in an oil well on main street, two more years in Wink, Midland high school should be willing to donate part of the expenses to get him out of this section of the state.

Dutch has had several boys out daily practicing for basketball, but with the death of the gymnasium idea here, it is doubtful if many people care.

We would rather have seen the gymnasium built than to see them bring in an oil well on main street, believing more good would come from it in the long run, but evidently others think differently.

The town will never have a championship football team or anything else as long as the boys dissipate nine months of the year and train for the death of the gymnasium. It can be done about it as long as there is nothing else for them to do. With a gymnasium, year around conditions of the boys would be possible. If anyone else they cannot be named for not wanting to get out of dodge rocks, thorns and other zards.

Dutch has the makings of a good team coming out for the basketball we, but in all probabilities they will not go far as long as they do not have some place to practice. At present they are utilizing a deserted lumber yard for their practices and it does not spell "Home Sweet Home" to persons who are fond of basketball.

It is to the disadvantage of the city that the indoor sport has never clicked here to youngsters, admittedly being a better physical condition than football and many other sports.

civilization is this: Civilized people, by means of education, pass along the torch of experience so that each generation can begin its development where the preceding generation left off. If our children are to advance in material and spiritual wealth, they must stand on our shoulders. Only education can put them there.

A recent analysis sets forth five possible policies of government relief, with estimates of the respective costs:

1. DOLES: Estimated cost about $5,000,000,000 a year.
2. PRODUCTION FOR USE: This means using idle factories, raw materials, and labor to make goods for unemployed. Estimated cost about $1,000,000,000 a year.
3. LARGE SCALE PUBLIC WORKS: Costs unpredictable, but running into many billions.
4. MATURE OF WORK-RELIEF: PUBLIC WORKS. Estimated cost $3,000,000,000 a year.
5. STRAIGHT WORK-RELIEF: Estimated cost $2,000,000,000 to 2,500,000,000.

"Drafting" Workers

There is another proposed method, which I believe is better than any of the five listed above. It is the so-called Quota Plan for dealing with America's volcano of unemployment. It resembles the NRA to some extent, but it is much sounder and more in line with actual business experience. Under this plan, corporations would be given the option of paying taxes in cash or in jobs. Undoubtedly such a plan would be an immense relief to most business organizations. They would feel they were getting something for their tax payments instead of throwing the money down a rat-hole. To the unemployed, it would mean a return to normal wholesome life instead of the demoralizing pauperdom of the dole system. To the whole nation, this Quota Plan would be protection against the volcanic menace of chronic unemployment!

Business this week, according to the Babsonchart, has moved to within 9 per cent of normal. (Copyright, 1935, Publisher: Financial Bureau)

Advances in civil aeronautics during the past twelve months year thus far in the development of flying as an industry and a transportation system, in the opinion of Eugene L. Vidal, Director of Air Commerce, Department of Commerce.

The score or more of air line companies carrying passengers, mail and express in the United States, and over routes to Canada and Latin America experienced the biggest year in their history," Mr. Vidal said. "The 860,000 passengers carried represented an increase of about 290,000, or 51% over 1933, the best previous year. Express increased 55% over 1934, and air mail almost doubled. Miles flown by the air lines were 60,000,000, the highest total in air line history.

"Miscellaneous flying operations started upward in 1933 and 1934, and in 1935 these operators continued to gain ground, carrying about 1,625,000 passengers, and flying some 80,000,000 miles.

"Aircraft manufacturers likewise increased their production in 1935, particularly in commercial and civil types. Production of domestic and civil aircraft gained about 25%.

"Private flying activities increased as measured by the number of pilots and student licenses issued, the student permit total now being 25,000. Aviation schools for both pilots and mechanics report waiting lists.

"The year 1936 should be the beginning of a great expansion in every phase of aviation, probably greater than even those in the industry now vision."

"THE EYES OF TEXAS ARE UPON YOU" BRECKENRIDGE COACHES TELL BUCKS

Strongest Curtis Club Since Championship Team of 1929 Is Ready

BRECKENRIDGE, Tex., Jan. 3.—"The Eyes of Texas are Upon You," Breckenridge coaches were telling the Buckaroos this week as they prepared for the inter-state battle with Pauls Valley, Oklahoma, at Fort Worth Saturday.

Faced with the responsibility of upholding the prestige of Texas high school football, the Buckaroos are training hard for the tilt at T. C. U. stadium. All proceeds, less actual expenses, will go to the Rogers Memorial Fund.

The Buckaroos, champions of the Oil Belt, are now completely recovered from injuries which have beset them since their third game of the season. Coaches Curtis and Morris are expected to be able to place the strongest aggregation on the field Saturday that has represented Breckenridge since the co-championship days of 1929.

In Pauls Valley, state champions of Oklahoma, the Buckaroos will be meeting one of the strongest teams to represent that state in many years, according to word reaching here from the Sooner State.

Since neither team has scouted the other this season, no new plays will be necessary, and the Buckies are expected to reopen the bag of tricks that served them so well in early season games.

The Bucks will go into the game with a record of eight games won, two losses and one tie. Crippled by injuries, the Breckenridge team dropped a non-conference game to Wichita falls 13 to 12. Their only other loss was to the state champion Amarillo Sandies by a score of 13 to 0.

The Buckaroos started the season strong, winning their first two

Old Bible Hunt on in Rio Grande Valley

RAYMONDVILLE, (P).—Search for the oldest Bible in the lower Rio Grande Valley has brought forth many interesting old editions including one owned by J. A. Knutzen, of the Hargill community west of here, printed at Frankfurt, Germany in 1688.

"The Bible was brought to Texas by my grandfather in 1871," Knutzen, who is principal of the Hargill junior high school, said. "It has been used by my mother, father and their seven children, who were taught by the old Bible that has been handed down from one generation to another. It has all the pages that came off the press 250 years ago and the original pigskin covers in good condition."

Knutzen said he would be glad to lend the Bible to any church in the Valley if safe keeping and careful handling were assured.

Another old Bible printed in Germany is owned by Mrs. Sarah Cooper of Donna. Ira E. Eels of Harlingen disclosed a Bible printed in English in 1800 and some interesting religious books written by hand in the middle of the sixteenth century are in possession of Rev. O. E. Schmidt of San Benito.

Story Hour Will Re-Open Saturday

All children who like fairy stories, or animal stories, or just stories are invited to attend the story hour which will be held in the children's library at the courthouse each Saturday morning, beginning tomorrow.

Pre-school children will be entertained by the story teller from 10 o'clock until 10:30 and older children from 10:30 o'clock until 11.

Mrs. J. R. Ashley will be in charge of the story hour which is being resumed through the generosity of an anonymous friend of the library.

As many children as can be present are urged to come Saturday morning, as it is desired to have the initial attendance a large one.

Statistics On Business Show Climb Is Steady

AUSTIN, Tex.—Current business statistics continue highly satisfactory, it is stated in a review by Dr. F. A. Buechel, assistant director and statistician in the Bureau of Business Research, University of Texas.

The upward trend in general business activity which began in July has not yet been reversed, but during the past three weeks the rate of increase has slackened considerably, and there are indications that a temporary recession in industrial activity may occur early in the new year. Dr. Buechel pointed out. Notwithstanding the general business outlook for next spring and the entire year 1936 is distinctly promising. Such uncertainties as exist are mostly of political origin—the convening of Congress and the tradition, ungrounded though it may be, that a presidential election year is detrimental to business.

Among the reasons for expecting a relatively good business year in 1936 are: the cumulative improvement in farm buying power; the probable cyclical upswing in construction, both residential and commercial, as well as in other durable goods industries; and the present tendency of many industrial concerns to launch programs of plant improvement with the view to lowering costs of production as evidenced by the sharp rise in activity in

New Agreement To Stabilize Prices On Valley Produce

HARLINGEN, (P).—An agreement, sought for many years in the lower Rio Grande Valley as a means of stabilizing the price of produce, was reached when 56 leading shippers of vegetables signed a marketing agreement here recently with the Rio Grande Valley Vegetable Growers' association.

Under its terms the farmers organization will name a committee to work with the shippers to stabilize the price of produce, and its methods in terms of the broader demands of today and tomorrow; and in those of another, as to mechanics and science, we cannot base our claims to progress upon them. The increase of knowledge means little without a corresponding increase of conscience.

An intellectual, George Bernard Shaw, recently expressed about the same idea in these words: "The trouble is that everybody is talking about the economic situation when they really ought to be discussing the moral situation. They want to revise everything but human conduct and it is human conduct that should define their objectives. For example, the world will be better" Similar expressions from a broad range of recognized leaders indicate a growing recognition that we are passing through a character crisis as well as an economic crisis; that progress in science invention and the mechanical arts has been far greater than our advance in solving the problems of individual conduct and of human relations.

"It is true that our present crisis is as much spiritual as economic and that permanent economic advancement is dependent upon corresponding development of individual character. It seems clear that not only our economic organization but all other social institutions should subject themselves to critical analysis and more clearly define their objectives. For example, is the press as an instrument of

SPEAKING OF RESOLUTIONS

(And It's That Time of the Year)

Consider This One:

Every woman is entitled to the happiness afforded by a modern 1936! The drudgery of washing and ironing does not belong to this enlightened era... the slavery of the washtub should be a thing of the past.

N-O-W!

Resolve to be modern and send your laundry to our up-to-date, sanitary laundry. If carried out, you'll never regret this resolution.
