BRUNO'S COUNSEL MAKING NEW MOVE TO SAVE HIS LIFE

Habeas Corpus Writ Is Being Sought In Court

HOFFMAN SILENT

Refuses to Answer Questions About Reprieve

TRENTON, Jan. 14, (P)-Counsel for Bruno Hauptmann today arranged to seek a writ of habeas corranged to seek a writ of habeas corpus in the federal district court here. A denial of the writ and of the stay of execution being sought, which must be sought separately, would mean that the only hope left for the German campenter would be a reprieve from Governor Hoffman. The writ sought charges that Hauptmann's constitutional rights were violated during his trial.

Governor Hoffmann returned to-day from New York, but whether or not he will grant a reprieve is un-known. It is believed, that if he ex-ercises his power of reprieve, he will wait until the last minute, hoping Hauptmann will "break."

drew a pistol. He fired a bullet into the heart of Kinney, 54-year-old lawyer who represented an insurance firm that had obtained a judgment against him.

Keogh turned the weapon on the judge. The first bullet struck the bench as the jurist dropped to the floor. The second pierced the chair Prystalski had just vacated. The third thudded against the bench.

Judge Prystalski crawled to his chambers on hands and knees. Most of the 35 persons in the court room scrambled for safety.

Attorneys S. E. Babsinski and Jacob Legion Tenny and Deputy Sheriff John Ryan grappled with Keogh. They wrested the pistol from him.

From a cell where he awaited an examination by Dr. Frances J. Gerty, of the psycopathic hospital. Keogh, 59-year-old former owner of extensive real estate, really discussed his motives.

"Every judge and office holder in the county is a crook," he declared. "Something drastic had to be done to awaken the people. I intended to shoot the judge, but I was excited. I liked Kinney but had to sacrifice him to the cause."

Picturing himself as a martyr, he told authorities he had first thought of murder as a means of centering attention on receiverships in 1931.

BAN TRICK TEST FOR ALIENS

Even a bureaucracy can get wise to itself, in time. It is announced in Washington that government officials examining applicants for citizenship must hereafter ask sensible questions. The trick questions of the past are out; and when you look at some of them you can only wonder what some of our foreign-born citizens must have thought of the wisdom of Uncle Sam. In the past, for instance, aliens have been asked such questions as these: How high is the Bunker Hill monument? How many stars are there on a quarter? How many legs has the Constitution? What has Ireland been fighting for? Can Congress make a law to put me in jail for 40 years?

About all that the examiners forgot seems to have been to ask the boys, How old is Ann? How anyone in his senses could have expected to gauge a man's fitness for citizenship by his answers to such questions is beyond understanding. It is good to learn that examinations Rijnhart Circle Has henceforth will be more sensible.

There's a new movie, "The Man in the Black Hat." At the same time, news out of New York seems to presage a '36 revival of the Man in the Brown Derby.

Women Influence in Petroleum Refining

TULSA, Okla.—"Woman's refining influence has had much to do with the refining in petroleum," says B. W. Logue, of the scientific and technical committee of the International Petroleum Exposition which will hold its ninth show here May 16 to 23.

"Were it not for women's demand for creams and oils for beautifying and nourishing wasted skin tissues, oils to strengthen sagging or flacid muscles, lotions for chapped hands and lips, lotions for sunburn, windburn, salves for dry or irritated scalps, oils and ointments to make her hair glossy and lustrous, aromatic baths compounded with oils to rest her tired eyes and to make them sparkle," many of the petroleum products now refined would not be on the market.

An exhibit at the International Petroleum Exposition will show how woman keeps the petroleum chemist and refiner busy to keep her fit and charming.

Baptist Women Hold Cream of Tomato Not a Difficult Soup to Make

By MARY E. DAGUE
NEA Service Staff Writer
One of the supposedly complicated processes of housekeeping is making cream of tomato soup. I say supposed to seems to me the premise is all wrong. Cream of tomato is no harder to make than a piece of toast if you know how. I'm against adding soda. In fact, it's almost impossible to add soda in small enough amount to small quantities of soup not to ruin the flavor entirely.

The following rule is carefully worked out and produces a deliciously smooth cream soup. The method is quite as important as the proportions.

Cream of Tomato Soup

Cream of Tomato Soup Two cups canned tomatoes, 1 mall onion, 2 teaspoons sugar, 1 easpoon salt, celery tops, 3 table-poons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 2 ups milk, 1-3 teaspoon pepper, 1 ablespoon minced parsley, 8 pep-tablespoon minced parsley, 8 peppercorns.

Melt one tablespoon butter and add onion, peeled and sliced. Cook over a low fire for five minutes. Add tomatoes, sugar, salt, celery tops and peppercorns. Cover pan and simmer fifteen minutes. Rub through a sieve. In another pan melt remaining butter and stir in flour. Cook and stir until bubbly. Slowly add milk, stirring constantly. Season with salt and pepper and bring to the boiling point. Boil one minute, stirring constantly. Take the sauce from the fire and add the sifted tomato pulp which has been kept hot while the thin white sauce was being made. Be sure to add the tomato puree to the sauce, NOT the sauce to the puree. Add parsley and serve at once. This soup will separate or curdle if allowed to stand or if reheated.

Apple up-side-down cake is a good dessert to serve when you have cream of tomato soup and a green salad for luncheon.

Apple Up-side-down Cake
Four tablespoons butter, 1 cup brown sugar, 3 or 4 apples, 1-2 cup seedless raisins, 3-4 cup grated cheese, 1-4 cup shortening, 3-4 cup granulated sugar, 1 egg, 3-4 cup milk, 2 cups cake flour, 2 1-2 teaspoons baking powder, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon cimnamon, 1-2 teaspoon vanilla.

Wash raisins and cover with boiling water, Let stand five minutes and drain. Melt butter in frying pan and sprinkle evenly with through a combined agreement between all major airlines, according to Temple Bowen, president of Bowen are Lines.

Every established airline now accepts the air scrip for transportation over their systems as an added convenience to air travelers. In addition to universal acceptance, the new plan cuts air travel costs to a figure commensurate with rail plus pullman over Bowen's routes in Texas. The arrangement goes into effect January 6, at which time the scrip books may be purchased from Bowen traffic representatives and at all airline headquarters.

The air scrip is sold in one denomination only. A convenient coupon book worth $500 in travel value is sold at a 15 per cent discount, or for $425. The scrip books will be honored at airline ticket offices and will be good for passenger tickets or exchange orders and excess bag-

Used car sales also showed a sharp upward trend. The second 10 days' sales were 42,854 units, as compared with 26,274 in the second 10 days of December, 1934, and 36,911 in the second 10 days' in November. The first 20 days' used car sales were 77,889 units, an increase of 54 per cent over the same period last year. Present new car schedules for January, it was announced, are 110,000 units which will require peak production throughout the month. In light of the fact that orders are still arriving from dealers in large volume, heavy output is indicated through February and probably well into Spring.

AUSTIN.—A definite increase in the number of cases of epidemic cerebro-spinal meningitis has been noted in Texas, according to Dr. John W. Brown, state health officer. While the number of these cases is not alarming as yet, preventive measures should be followed.

His only alternative was to file new papers and wait two years. Federal Judge R. J. McMillan scheduled his second application for consideration this month.

Cough into their handkerchiefs.

The early symptoms of meningitis are those of a cold or influenza. If one has headache, backache, fever and chilly sensations, he should consult his family doctor at once. Healthy carriers spread the disease from their nose and throat to those who are susceptible. Most adults are not susceptible to the disease. The earlier the diagnosis is made, the better are the chances of recovery. All suspicious cases must be isolated.

BEAUMONT, Tex., (U.P.)—Paul Wampler, 42 is able to see only the blurred outlines of objects, but garagemen consider him a "top hand" at automobile repairs, especially on jobs which require delicate adjustments.

He gained experience as a blacksmith's helper at Mexia, then worked as an automobile mechanic at Center and Beaumont. Later he was employed at an iron foundery here. Wampler suffered an attack of influenza in 1920, which affected his sight. Physicians told him his optic nerve was injured and he gradually would lose his sight.

At first he became discouraged and wandered over the country until travel became too dangerous because of his blindness. Taking heart anew, however, he returned to Beaumont and obtained a job as a mechanic.
