WASHINGTON, Jan. 27, (A).-An The house had smashed down the veto last week by a vote of 324 to 61. The vote raised the problem of raising over $2,000,000,000 (billions) in funds to pay off the veterans. The payments will be made in $50 baby bonds, and are expected to start June first. FOOLHARDY? NO!

Rescue expeditions, scouring the Antarctic wastes since Nov. 23 for traces of Lincoln Ellsworth and his pilot, Hubert Hollick-Kenyon, found the two explorers safe, in good health, and unworried!

The airmen had exhausted their fuel supply in a flight across the ice fields and were forced to land 20 miles from Little America. Here they found food sup-miles from Little America. Here they found food supplies left by Admiral Byrd, and waited for rescue.

Their radio had been disabled and they knew it might be months before help came. Yet they accepted this as part of the day's work and stuck it out. part of the day's work and stuck it out.

Surely this is a brand of courage in its own right. "But what is the sense of it all?" inquires the average layman. Well, time evaluates each of these adventures in science as our needs develop.

Who can tell but what the Ellsworth flight may have significant bearing on many fields in the next five years? That is the way of evolution. In the interim the world cannot afford to be without its Ellsworths, Byrds, and other intrepid leaders. The best the rest of us can do is follow as the trail is opened.

Now that "Sky Pullmans" are being built, likely candidates for the naming job would be General Johnson and Gertrude Stein.

YAWKEY CASH PUTS CRONIN ON SPO

ENORMOUS OUTPUT OF MONEY FOR PROVEN STARS MAKES IT PENNANT OR ELSE FOR RED SOX MANAGER

By JIMMY DONAHUE
NEA Service Sports Writer
BOSTON.—Joe Cronin is on the spot more than any other man in baseball.

With the greatest collection of high-priced baseball timber Tom Yaw-key's millions could buy, the chisel-chinned fighter is faced with producing a pennant winner at the Hub this season, or else—!

It's no secret that Yawkey was disappointed with the fourth-place showing of his Red Sox last season. Being a business man who spent a fortune in buying Lefty Grove, Wes Ferrell, Oscar Melillo, Cronin, Fritz Ostermueller, and the rookies Babe Dahlgren and Melo Almada and others, and a vast sum in renovation of Fenway Park, he wanted a winner; fourth place was no satisfactory return for his investment.

Being one of the best sports in several reasons.

tory return for his investment.

Being one of the best sports in the game, however. Yawkey forgot last year, dug deep into his pockets this winter, and shelled out another three or four hundred thousand, with several players tossed in, for such talent as Jimmy Foxx, Johnny Marcum, Roger Cramer, and Eric McNair, of the Athletics, and Heinie Manush, Senator outfielder.

With such stars added to the alifetily amply studded Sox roster, Yawkey feels he is justified in expecting a winner — and it's up to Joseph E., of the San Francisco Cronins, to produce it.

Age May Hold Sox Back

Joe will need all the proverbial luck of the Irish to turn the trick, however, despite his all-star collection. His path to the pennant won't be nearly as smooth as some experts have indicated, for pared with his veteran and highpriced timber is no easy one for Joe.

On the pitching staff are such youngsters as Jim Henry, a right hander who comes up from Memphis with a record of 20 won against 14 lost; Alex Mustaikis, another orthodox thrower who won 13 and lost 10 for Little Rock in 1935; Lee Rogers, a southpaw who won 7 and lost two for the same club last season; and Manuel Salvo, a giant right hander who won 11
and lost 17 for Sacramento.

Maybe Grove's 35-year-old arm is through after a brilliant season last year. Perhaps Ferrell's effort to return to his brilliant form shown in Cleveland has taken a lot out of his whip. It may be that Johnny Marcum won't perform as effectively for Joe as he did for Connie Mack, and it is possible that Fritz Ostermueller again will be an in-and-outer.

Any of these possibilities becoming realities will force Joe to fall back on Johnny Welch, Rube Walberg, Joe Cascaralla, the former Athletic hurler brought up from Syracuse, or one of the rookles.

The same is true of the infield and outfield situation, where the slump of a veteran may force the insertion of a rookie or second stringer who may spoil whatever teamwork Joe can get out of his various possible combinations.

The Irishman is faced with the odd ituation of having an overabundance of good material and, strange as it seems, it appears that this offers just as many problems as having too little.

In his old spot.

If Joe stays in the game and Foxx plays first, with Bill Werber at third, average of the infield will be 27. However, if Joe benches himself, and puts Melillo at second, the Italian's age of 33 will boost the average to 28.

There is an engaging story of an American nurse meeting the prince, unrecognized, at a British seaside hospital in the late days of the war. She noted his array of decorations, and said, "My, you must be a very brave man with all those medals!"

"I'm afraid I haven't counsel.

be 27. However, if Joe benches himself, and puts Melilo at second, the Italian's age of 33 will boost the average to 28.

Rookies Present Problem
Another of Joe's difficulties will be trying to get the proper combination from his galaxy of stars. As with a good football team, the fortunes of a baseball squad depend on teamwork. One star or three or four don't make a grid squad, nor a ball team, either. There must be an infield that can work together on double plays, and give confidence to a pitcher, an outfield that automatically knows how to play a batter, and a catcher who knows the hitters.

The task of determinists the content of the Italian's age of 33 will boost a very brave man with all those a very brave man with all those medals!"

"I'm afraid I haven't carned them," murmured the prince.
Four years of the strain and horror of war nevertheless left a deep impression on Edward VIII. He felt a close kinship with the men he had seen burrowing in the mud and blood of Flanders and Lorraine.

Many Thousands Ask

DALLAS.—Thousands of requests for information and literature on the State of Texas and its statewide Centennial year celebrations are pouring into the state department of information here this week although the national Centennial advertising campaign is only a few days old.

The flood of requests for information resulted from publication of the first of a series of Centennial advertisements which was a full page Centennial invitation in the January 21 issue of the Saturday Evening Post. Other advertisements will be published in Time, Colliers, Fortune and other newspapers and magazines with state and national circulation. They include a coupon to be mailed to the department by persons interested in securing information about the state.

Requests for information are being answered with attractive, printed booklets, containing specific facts about Centennial celebrations throughout Texas, and other printed matter, giving data on the state.

An augmented staff at the state department here is working at top speed in its efforts to answer all requests and to compile new facts of interest on all parts of Texas.

An augmented staff at the state department here is working at top speed in its efforts to answer all requests and to compile new facts of interest on all parts of Texas.

Officials of the department pointed out that the present campaign is the most elaborate effort ever made by a state to "sell" itself to the nation. The campaign, based on the Centennial celebrations and exposition, will carry the story of Texas, of its history, development, and great opportunities, to millions of persons throughout the world. Picking leaf tobacco in the 'Bright" tobacco fields of Virginia and the Carolinas.

11 Years in Midland

By mild ripe By mild ripe tobacco we mean tobacco this— just this—

FIRST-ripened in the sunshine... and picked leaf by leaf from the right part of the stalk when fully ripe.

THEN-each day's picking cured right by the farmer . . . at the right time and in the right way . . . no "splotching" or brittleness, but every leaf of good color and flavor.

FINALLY—bought in the open market...re-dried for storage...then packed in wooden hogsheads to age and mellow for two years or more until free from harshness and bitterness.

That's what we mean by mild, ripe tobacco. And that's the kind of tobacco we use to give Chesterfields their milder, better taste.

.. for mildness .. for better taste
