COMPANION DEAD, YOUTH WRITES WRECK VERSION

The Reporter-Telegram today received a letter from Frank Ehrenheim Sr., father of the youth killed in an automobile accident last week. Mr. Ehrenheim enclosed a letter with his, from Emil Stock, youth with young Ehrenheim in the accident, and requests that we publish same. The Stock letter was attested to before a notary public.

To whom it may concern:—Tuesday morning, March 19, we left McKinney, Texas, where we had received a letter from the night. We went on to Dallas where we had the car greased.

Then we went on to Fort Worth, Mineral Wells, Ranger, Eastland, Abilene and reached Sweetwater. We had followed Highway 80 from Dallas.

About five miles west from Sweetwater we stopped at about five p. m. While we made coffee and fried some eggs, a Ranger, coming from the western direction stopped his motorcycle and talked to us for about five minutes, asking where we came from and where we wanted to go. While we were talking, two cars going west seemed to have some trouble passing each other and the Ranger turned around again, following them in the western direction.

It was raining, and the sky was bright, nobody was tired. We decided to rest for a few hours and then go on. It was about 11 p. m. when we left there.

In Big Spring we stopped for a while to look at the refinery.

At three forty-five we came to Midland, and stopped at a place to get some coffee.

I think it was Conoco gasoline—out an not quite sure.

The station is on the right side of highway 80. We got five gallons out of the last pump on the west end of the station for which we paid 90 cents. The first pump was some dark, cheap gas and I think there are two pumps between those two.

We went inside and had a cup of coffee. We were talking to the man, who must be about 30 years old. Frank asked him if he had enough money to cash a traveler's check. He said he hadn't. "Can't afford it," he said.

We asked him about the road and about the Carlsbad caverns. He said he had never been in them, but told a story about a lady from New York who had stopped in his station and had described the cavern to him.

He brought out a little map showing the distances between points and figured out how many miles it was to Carlsbad. From Carlsbad to the caverns the map indicated 29 miles.

When we came out a small car with several men in it came from the direction of Midland. Just before they reached the station one of their tires blew out. They stopped just outside the station to fix it.

I had paid one dollar for the gasoline and two cups of coffee. Frank had no money left, so we went out another came in and got gas out of the same pump that we had.

Up to this station I had driven 114 miles at a speed of not quite 30 miles an hour. Frank took the wheel and went on at the same speed, as we had no special aim for that day and wanted to enjoy the driving. A short distance west of Midland came the curve where it happened.

We had just gone into the curve when the truck came up opposite us. He had no lights and was on the wrong side of the road. He must have been going at a speed of about 45 miles per hour.

Man Brought Dust Storms On Self By Plowing Up Ranges of West

By NEA Service
KANSAS CITY, March 29.—The pity of it, as you look over the wind-whipped miles of bare prairie to the westward, is this: man did these things to himself.

Enough is definitely known of the menace of dust storms that the scientist can say almost with certainty that if foresight had been used in developing the plains region, this would not have happened.

Here is the story of a vast fertile region turned from grassy plain to "breadbasket of the U. S." and then to near-desert, as worked out by government scientists and other close students of the region.

In the days when covered wagons lumbered westward into the prairie region, travelers were amazed at the lush growth of grass that rippled across the plains, tossing in the wind like the waves of an inland sea. It rose, in places, to the horses' shoulders.

In 1909, Congress passed a law, Even then, in places where the ground had been tramped bare around water-holes and on the edges of stream-cuts, miniature dust storms were occasionally reported. For strong winds swept across as they do today.

Herd's Do Little Harm

The cattlemen followed the hunter and the emigrant, but years of grazing did little damage except in certain localities where grazing was too intensive, and the grass was pulled up by the roots and given no chance to reproduce itself.

It was not until this century that the fertile prairie grasslands began to be turned under with the plow. Gradually the farmer followed the stockman into these plains areas, and patch by patch, farm by farm, the native grass roots were turned under for the specialized raising of wheat.

In 1909, Congress passed a law, Even then, in places where the

Feminine Fancies BY KATHLEEN EILAND

The cleverest refreshment idea we have heard of in some time is the "Raggedy Ann" salad which a Midland hostess recently served at a party to the accompaniment of delighted exclamations from her guests.

Laid flat on the plate, the figure of "Raggedy Ann" consists of a stuffed egg with the white turned up for the face, sautéed olives or eyes and slices of pimento for nose and mouth; grated cheese for hair; half a red apple for the waist, with three green-pea buttons down the center; a green lettuce leaf for petticoat (this is filled with chicken salad); red peppermint stick candy for legs and half a marshmallow for the feet; and asparagus tips for arms and hands.

Loaf of trouble, of course, but quite effective. We'll vote twice in favor of handkerchief linen blouses in high color, trimmed with enormous buffons or closing with zipper fastenings, or boasting bands of contrasting color around armholes.

Harvard Scandal

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (U.P.).—The president of Harvard University once ran away with most of the institution's funds, battled three constables to a standstill when he was fined for beating his masters with a cudgel, had a record of being married three times without bothering with the formality of a divorce, and finally ended up in jail for inability to pay his debts. That was back in 1637, however, and the gentleman was Nathaniel Eaton, first president of Harvard, according to a book, "The Founding of Harvard," by Prof. Samuel Eliot Morrison.

Secret Amphitheater Entrance

'they certainly CAN take it'

ROUGH, tough, tumbling, glorying in gruelling punishment, how the Behemoths of the Mat can "take it." Trained to a T, the acme of physical perfection, of strength, stamina and grit, with bodies of steel and cartilage, skins of leather and muscles sinewy as rubber, they're ready for any sort of a rough and tumble bout.

FEDERAL tires can "take it" too. Magnificent specimens of the art of making tires, strong, sturdy, ready for a rough and tumble with any road in the world, Behemoths themselves; road wrestlers, built to "take it" plenty, and they certainly can and do.

Rudy Vallee is coming to the Yucca Theatre preview Saturday night, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

He will be assisted by charming Ann Dvorak, youthful screen star who has turned "hotter" for the occasion, as well as Helen Morgan, Ned Sparks, Robert Armstrong, Allen Jenkins, Alice White, Joe Cawthorn and Al Shean who was Mr. Gallagher's partner not so many years ago.

They'll all be there, with scores of other singers, dancers, players, in Rudy Vallee's greatest film triumph "Sweet Music," produced as only Warner Bros., who created film musicals, can make them.

The truck driver pulled his truck over to the wrong side in the direction of "A" (enclosed with the letter was a map drawn by Stock showing the place of the wreck. "A" marked the spot where the cars crashed) off the pavement. There he must have changed his mind again and tried to get out again on the street. When he did that the truck must have started to tip over and struck the roadster on its side, tearing off the left side. The body struck Frank on the back of his head. Conoco "Sticks" To Newspaper Advertising

One of the many cars seen on highways, belonging to the Continental Oil Company and well plastered with newspaper ads of their products.

Continental is one of the country's largest users of newspaper advertising and gives this medium a large share of the credit in achieving an increase of 60.4% in sales of Conoco Garm Processed Motor Oil since April, 1934.

Continental this year is celebrating its sixtieth anniversary. It began operations in Ogden, Utah in 1875. From a small distributor of Kerosene and lubricants long before the advent of the motor car it has grown into one of the nation's leading oil companies.

The first picture postcard of which proof is extant was made in 1777.

Texas Aggies to Play Buc's Today and Sat.

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, Mar. 29.—Encouraged by two victories over the Galveston Buccaneers early in the week, the Texas Aggie will round out their pre-Southwest Conference diamond schedule in games here Friday and Saturday with the Beaumont Exporters. Their 9-3 and 1-0 scores at Galveston brought the Aggies' record to four victories and a tie in six games to date.

With the exception of Travis Voelkel, Shelby, 29; Bill Connelley, Fort Worth, 3b; Boo Couser, Breckenridge, ss; Bill Sodd, Fort Worth, and Ted Jones, Belton, outfielders. All are left-handers except Langley and Dowling.

Borrows Nickel to Have Self Fined

DALLAS, (U.P.)—A Dallas motorist recently attempted to drive out of a filling station without paying for gasoline he had just received.

The station attendant stopped him. An argument followed and the motorist became so incensed that he threatened to call police.

The station attendant furnished the nickel to operate the telephone, the motorist called, and police came and the would-be thief was fined $15.

Elopement Was Successful

BELL, Cal. (U.P.)—If the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Schaefer can be taken as a rule, elopements are successful. The couple eloped in Kansas when Mrs. Schaefer was 17 years old. The other day they observed their golden wedding anniversary.

More Income Tax Filers

CLEVELAND, (U.P.)—Approximately 125,000 individuals and corporations in the northern Ohio federal district, composed of 22 counties, filed income tax returns this year as against 110,000 last year, Internal Revenue Collector Carl E. Moore estimated.

"Beakless Biddy" Dead

O'NEILL, Neb. (U.P.)—"Beakless Biddy," four-year-old hen belonging to Mrs. John L. Gulg, of O'Neill, apparently died of concussion of the brain. Hatched without a beak, "Biddy" used her lips to peck at grains. It is believed constant jarring against icy ground caused her death.

A WORD TO THE WIVES IS SUFFICIENT

The meals you serve help keep the family fit. In many homes, common constipation develops as a result of insufficient "bulk" in the menu. This can be overcome by a delicious cereal.

Research shows that Kellogg's All-Bran furnishes "bulk" in convenient form. All-Bran also provides vitamin B and iron.

How much better it is to eat this gentle natural food than to risk taking patent medicines. Continued use does not lower its effectiveness. Two tablespoons daily are usually sufficient. Chronic cases, with each meal. If not relieved, see your doctor.

Serve as a cereal with milk or cream, or use in cooking. Appealing recipes on the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.
