Convent Fire Fatal to Four

Three Firemen, Aged Nun Victims of Disaster Today

JOLIETTE, Quebec, May 17. (AP).—Three firemen lost their lives today as they fought flames which were destroying the convent of the Sisters of the Congregation of Notre Dame here.

An aged nun, Sister Ste. Elaine Desseurs, died of a heart attack shortly after the fire broke out in the kitchen of the convent. All other occupants, 53 children, 50 aged nuns and 50 aged pensioners, escaped when firemen led them to safety.

The firemen killed in the fire were Louis Chastier, Quibet Fleury and Oscar Furlong. Fireman Jean Le-guyver was seriously injured.

ADVOCATES CLOSE CURRENCY-CREDIT CONTROL BY U. S.

Washington, May 17. (P).—Rigid federal control of credit and currency through a strong board patterned along the lines of the supreme court was advocated today by Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau.

He told the senate banking subcommittee that he belonged to "that school of thought which believes the government should own all stock in federal reserve banks."

CUBAN SOLDIERS SLAY 20 OUTLAWS

MANILA, May 17. (P).—The Philippine constabulary headquarters today received reports that soldiers had killed twenty outlaws in the mountains of Laguna province and four detachments were trying to round up a band which murdered four men Thursday.

The outlaws, mostly members of a communistic organization, "Anak Pavis", fled into hills inhabited by aboriginal Negritos.

Cook Takes Pair Fillies to Pecos

L. E. Cook left this morning for Pecos with a pair of two year old fillies to be entered in the juvenile races today and Saturday.

Little Nell, small brown filly trained by Cook, has a record of two starts and two wins, having won a quarter mile race at the recent Fort Stockton rodeo.

The other filly, a black two year old, will make her first start at Pecos.

Counterfeit Count

Twenty-nine times "Count" Victor Lustig, America's No. 1 swindler, evaded conviction. Federal agents, however, assert he'll go to prison now, having found $52,000 of counterfeit money in a locker in New York to which he held the key. He's pictured after his arrest.

Her father, W. C. Campbell, was in Houston with her at the time of her death.

The body is expected to arrive here in the morning and funeral arrangements will be made at that time.

Miss Campbell, who had lived in Midland county about 16 years, is survived by her father; two sisters, Misses Elsie and Clara Campbell of Midland; and four brothers, A. D. Campbell of Midland, Lane Campbell and Young Campbell of Uvalde, and Marton Campbell of Eagle Pass.

Miss Campbell was chairman of the county home demonstration council for this year until she resigned on leaving for Houston. She had held various offices in her community demonstration club and was active in home demonstration work.

DRIZZLING RAINS ADD TO BENEFITS OF EARLIER FALL

Local Total for the Week Approaches 2-Inch Mark

Rains which since Sunday evening had blanketed most of the range and ranch territory adjacent to Midland continued to fall slowly this morning over a large area, preventing evaporation of the earlier downpours and adding substantially to the total amount of moisture. Rains which had fallen since yesterday morning went "directly into the ground," there being an absence of hard showers.

Although the total at Midland lacked a few hundredths of amounting to two inches, much of the country had received from two to eight inches over a five day period. Lake water was reported on many ranges. Fields were soaked sufficiently to insure a bottom season and to make planting feasible as soon as the surface dries slightly.

Some territory to the south and west still had not received rains, reports indicated. The section near Stiles and Big Lake had been skipped. Train still was dry today, reports said, and the Marfa country was without rain. At Kent the reading this morning was given as .11 of an inch.

Closer to Midland, Odessa received a slow drizzle through the night, on top of a .35 inch rain, and the drizzle was resumed more heavily at 4 o'clock this morning, continuing for several hours, it was reported. Northward to Andrews there had been hail and a heavy rain.

The south plains region around Lubbock reported moderate rain, north as Hale Center, extending westward to Seagraves and Brownfield.

Big Spring reported additional rains from Colorado, a torrential downpour struck at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, with some hail. The Colorado river, also with some rain and heavy clouds were up. Snyder reported a two inch rain yesterday afternoon on top of the same amount previously received.

Abilene and San Angelo, and their adjacent territories, continued to receive slow soaking rains. Lamesa yesterday received "the most timely rain in years," with an average of an inch and a quarter over the county.

The forecast for West Texas, received today, was for mostly cloudy weather, showers in the north and extreme east portions tonight, and Saturday partly cloudy.

Farmers, unable to get in the wet fields, remained in the city rejoicing over their good fortune today. Many cattlemen were in hotel lobbies, hopeful that the rains would continue through the week. Many could not reach their ranches because of muddy roads.

Several cattle buyers had been here most of the week, awaiting clear weather and better roads to inspect prospective herds. Meanwhile, cattle prices were expected to increase where commitments had not been made prior to the rains.

Trading will be stimulated, however, it was generally conceived, due to the fact that rains have fallen in states to the north, creating a seasonal demand in the corn belt and in summer pasture regions.

Bus drivers said this morning that rains had fallen all the way here from Pecos, on the highway. An oil man, coming from San Antonio, said every foot of the road to Midland had been rained on.

The rainfall recorded at the southern ice gauge since 7 o'clock yesterday was .23 of an inch, bringing the week's total to 1.91. The airport reading today was .31, making a total there for the same period of 1.45.

Airport men today said they had received reports of rain all this morning at Fort Worth and Dallas, also that a good rain fell at Wink.

Presses Suit

"Papa was there," Margot Flick (above), New York society girl, returned to the charge of the former Flick butler, William L. Graham, that the gay party which led to his dismissal was scandalous. Graham sued for $100,000 damages for alleged slander, which Miss Flick complained that he had tarried too long in her room. His bride left him because of it, he says.

Clark lashed at Richberg as a "Mussolini," and asked "by what means, has our Caesar grown so great?"

Revised Program
The new agreement between President Roosevelt and NRA's governing board earlier was outlined by Richberg on the White House steps. Designed to displace in the house the senate extension resolution, it embraced a two-year extension and a less-limited code rule.

Clark took the floor after giving notice he would attack Richberg for remarks made to NRA employees telling them among other things, not to be worried about their jobs. The debate brought out that Richberg, in a letter to Senator Barkeley (Dem., Ky.), had declared he was serving as NRA's chairman only temporarily and was anxious to get back to private law practice.

Blanton Would Thrash Senator From New York
WASHINGTON, May 17. (UP).—Rep. Thomas L. Blanton, fiery Texas Democrat, threatened Thursday on the House floor to thrash Rep. Sam Dickstein (D., N.Y.) to the point that "your mother won't recognize you."

Blanton threatened Rep. Dickstein as the latter took the floor to defend his resolution proposing that foreign Boy Scouts be admitted into this country for the International Council, which is to be paid for by the federal government.

Rep. Blanton previously had objected to the resolution preventing the admission of the Scouts, but it would permit undesirable foreign agitators to enter the nation also.

The gentleman from Texas (Blanton) the other day told me in the cloakroom that he would thrash me so my own mother would not recognize me if I gave out any more statements to the press on why he opposed by resolution," Rep. Dickstein shouted.

"Yes," Rep. Blanton cried, "and I will do it again if you put out another statement to the press like that."

Several Congressmen interceded and Rep. Dickstein and Rep. Blanton agreed to withdraw their threats from the record.

Rep. Dickstein said Rep. Blanton had taken a "personal dislike for the immigration," and that the Immigration Commission had had not pushed Rep. Blanton's immigration restriction bill.

Dr. Sampey Heads Southern Baptists
MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 17. (P).—Dr. John R. Sampey, "builder of preachers," Thursday was elected to head the Southern Baptist Convention.

Tall, erect despite his 71 years, an ardent fisherman, and an enthusiastic admirer of Robert E. Lee and Stonewall Jackson, the Confederate, Dr. Sampey's election Thursday afternoon followed a celebration earlier in the day of his fiftieth anniversary as a teacher of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary at Louisville, where he has served as president six years.

Dr. Sampey was elected over Dr. Robert G. Lee of Memphis, after Dr. L. R. Scarborough of Fort Worth, Texas; Pat M. Neff, former Texas governor; F. Brown of Knoxville, Tenn.; and Dr. Ellis A. Fuller of Atlanta had asked that their names be withdrawn.

In asking that his name be withdrawn, Dr. Scarborough said: "I have never desired the honor. I have prayed for a place to serve."

Report Richberg to Quit As Director NRA Program

WASHINGTON, May 17. (P).—One of the most meteoric New Deal careers was declared today to be nearing a close.

Informed sources said that some time ago that Donald Richberg was to step out of government affairs and return to private law practice when the present NRA act expires June 16.

Other NRA executives were said to be contemplating early retirement.

Richly-veiled threat of a legislative deadlock threatening NRA's existence was flung by Senator Borah late yesterday at a fresh White House agreement to fight for a two-year extension of the recovery law.

Richberg Rapped
On behalf of senate NRA critics, the Idaho republican warned democratic leaders bluntly—although in an almost conversational tone—that he and other opponents of the law would not compromise on the senate's plan for a 10-month extension of a close-clipped code rule of industry, but would battle for "precisely what we believe to be in the best interest of the country."

Borah spoke after Senator Clark (Dem., Mo.), another blue eagle foe had assailed Donald R. Richberg's criticism of the senate's 10-month plan as "the most arrogant since the days of the Roman empire."

Clark lashed at Richberg as a "Mussolini," and asked "by what means, has our Caesar grown so great?"

Warrior Injured

Swerving his speeding motorcycle in an heroic effort to avoid striking a boy bicyclist, Col. T. E. Lawrence (above) was himself despatched to the hospital.

Lawrence of Arabia, who led the Arab revolt against Turkey in the World War, he afterward expressed his disappointment at the failure of Arabia to become an independent nation by living as a recluse—then served for 12 years in the Royal Air Force as "Air-craftsman T. E. Shaw," refusing all honors.

ROOSEVELT WORKS ON VETO MESSAGE FOR BONUS BILL

Final Test Expected Middle of Week In Senate

WASHINGTON, May 17. (P).—The Patman inflationary bonus bill was sent to the White House today for certain veto by President Roosevelt.

The last formality of congress was completed when Vice President Garner signed the $2,200,000,000 measure.

President Roosevelt set aside this afternoon to start writing his veto message which probably will be sent to congress Monday. The message will be sent to the house first, where leaders have conceded it will be quickly overridden.

The real test will come in the senate, it was predicted, probably the middle of next week.

Despite the claims of the Patman forces, administration leaders in the senate said they knew of no changes in the line-up and maintained that the veto would be sustained. They have counted upon a minimum of 35 votes to uphold the president, or three more than necessary.

DOC BARKER, 4 OTHERS GUILTY KIDNAP CHARGES

Verdicts Mark Close Of 5-Week Trial At St. Paul

ST. PAUL, May 17. (AP).—Arthur (Doc) Barker, kidnap outlaw, and four co-defendants were convicted today by a federal court jury in the $200,000 abduction of Edward G. Bremer, wealthy banker.

The charge was conspiracy to kidnap. Convicted with the gangster were Harold Alderton, soldier, Berg, John McLaughlin and James Wilson. Those acquitted were William Vidler and Philip Deaney.

Barker was sentenced to life imprisonment and Berg received the same sentence. Sentencing of the others who were convicted was deferred.

The verdicts of the jury culminated a five weeks trial. Federal Judge M. M. Joyce, in an hour long charge to the nine men and three women of the jury, said evidence of proof might be circumstantial. The jury was excused at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon to begin deliberation of the case.

At 5 o'clock the jury room was locked, information being given that no verdict would be heard until morning, as it was considered dangerous to move the prisoners after dark in case a verdict was reached.

REASON HAS RETAINED GEORGE V AS KING

Not the least instructive event of the year 1935 is the great jubilee celebration which the British people are holding on the 25th anniversary of King George's accession to the throne.

The affair is notable for its contrasts. When George V came to the throne he was just one among many great monarchs. There were Nicholas II in Russia, Wilhelm II in Germany and Francis Joseph in Austria-Hungary, for instance, all of them reigning over great empires and all of them, to all outward indications, occupying thrones that were quite as secure as his.

But today, as enormous crowds throng London's streets to cheer the British king, where are these others? Francis Joseph is dead, his empire is in fragments, and his dynasty is broken.

Wilhelm is in Holland, chopping wood, while a man who would not have been allowed in the palace at a Hohenzollern reception rules Germany with a tighter rein than Wilhelm ever dreamed of using.

And Nicholas lies underground somewhere in a Russian forest, one of the first victims of the catastrophe that swept his country.

The contrast between what happened to these three monarchs and what happened to George V of England is amazing, and it is not the result of mere chance. It is not even the result of the difference between winning and losing a great war.

The fundamental reason why 2,000,000 people stayed up all night in London to hail the opening of their king's jubilee, while the other three realms are broken and kingless, can be found in the different ways in which the ruling classes of these countries met change.

In Russia, in Germany, and in Austria-Hungary there was only a blind inflexibility. The hammering of war and social discontent could not bend the rulers of these lands; so, finally, it broke them completely. The ruling classes there could learn nothing, not even in the face of catastrophe, and so they were swept away.

In England, on the other hand, there was flexibility. The war and its aftermath brought far-reaching changes; instead of resisting them blindly, the nation's rulers—from the king on down to the industrial magnates and the politicians—had the sense to meet them halfway, adapt themselves to them, and help the nation follow a new course.

As a result, George V still has his throne, and his 25th anniversary finds a tremendous outpouring of national enthusiasm for his person and for the things which he represents.

At a time when change is upon the whole world, this study in contrasts is a useful and instructive thing.

BACKGROUND FOR BONUS

It is pretty obvious by this time we are going to get some kind of bonus legislation from Congress; and while there are abundant arguments against such a step, it is worth our while to remember that the disclosures of the Senate Munitions Committee constitute a background against which most of these arguments look slightly weak.

For this background is simply one long spectacle of swollen profits reaped by war-time industrialists. It includes glimpses of steel makers who held out for more money at a time when they were already making profits of 200 and 300 per cent; of metal producers who virtually went on strike, in time of national emergency, for excessive profits; of whole industries defying the government to lower prices; of speculators making untold millions out of dire human necessities.

Keeping that background in mind, it is somehow very hard to grow indignant over the proposal to slice a little cake for the lads who actually put on the uniforms.

Experts agree it will be difficult to keep the U. S. from being dragged into the next war. For one thing, there's that natural eagerness of our citizens to get overseas and away from the auto menace.

Society and Clubs

Junior Woman's Wednesday Club Closes Year with Dinner and Dance Thursday

Terminating the activities of the club until next October, the Junior Woman's Wednesday club entertained with a dinner for members and guests in the private dining room of the Hotel Scharbauer Thursday evening, followed by a dance sponsored by the club in the Crystal ballroom later in the evening. The dance was open to the public.

Place cards decorated with rose designs marked covers for 13 couples at the large table. Blue and silver, the club colors, were emphasized in table appointments where silver candelabra at either end of the board held blue candles. A silver bowl filled with roses in deep pink shades centered the table and sprays of roses and baby's breath trailed its length.

During the four-course dinner, Miss Dorothy Ratliff presided as mistress of ceremonies.

Miss Mary Belle Pratt toasted Miss Martha Louise Nobles, retiring president of the club, with Miss Nobles responding.

A brief history of the club was given by Miss Annie Laurie Hix. Mrs. Johnny Ratliff toasted Mrs. Alf Reese, incoming president. Mrs. Reese responded.

Present were: Mmes. and Messrs. Alf Reese, Johnny Ratliff, J. Wade Stevens, Hugh West, Ralph Gelsler, Misses Julia Arvick, Bernice Sue Ratliff, Dorothy Ratliff, Martha Louise Nobles, Ruby Hodge, Mary Belle Pratt, Lucille Thomas, Anne Manna, H. Howard Hodges, Ed Gordon, Gordon Stein, Ed Heasley, Barton Wadley, Ben Black, H. L. Strawn, John M. Speed, H. M. Bayer, Gerald Bloss.

Following the dinner guests attended the dance to the semi-final contest in Lubbock, with all expenses paid, to compete with girls from the following Texas towns: Lubbock, Amarillo, Dalhart, Pecos, and Wellington. The final contest is to be held in Roswell, New Mexico in which the winners in the semi-final contest from Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico compete to be selected "MISS QUEEN OF THE SOUTHWEST."

All winners to semi-final and final contests will be properly chaperoned. The trip to Roswell, New Mexico, includes a visit through several of its cities and national parks, making a seven to nine day trip. The girl to be selected in the final contest as "MISS QUEEN OF THE SOUTHWEST" will receive a most enjoyable trip to Hollywood, California, and a Paramount screen test. While "MISS QUEEN OF THE SOUTHWEST" is in Hollywood, she will be the guest of the R. K. O. studio officials, have lunch in the studio commissary, meet and visit several stars and have her picture taken with stars on the R. K. O. lot.

A royal suite has been reserved for herself and chaperon in the famous Hollywood Roosevelt Hotel, where she will dine and dance with the stars. She will visit the California Pacific International Exposition and will ride and American Airways plane from El Paso to Hollywood and return.

All local business firms may sponsor one girl in the local contest. The winner in the local contest will be known in the semi-final contest in Lubbock as the entry from Midland and will carry advertising of the local firm by whom they are sponsored.

Forty to fifty girls have expressed themselves as being eager to enter the contest, according to Manager Hodge.

Songs, Dances and Double Romance in "Roberta", New Show

Double romance proceeds along a gay tuneful way in "Roberta", RKO-Radio's spectacular new musical production starring Irene Dunne, Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers, showing at the theatre Saturday night, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the Yucca.

Based upon the stage play which made theatrical history in Broadway and in all of the larger eastern cities, the picture deals with love in a Paris gown shop. Jerome Kern wrote the music. Some of the original numbers on the stage play are retained, and Kern has written several new ones especially for the picture.

Miss Dunne sings, Astaire and Miss Rogers dance and a spectacular fashion show climaxes the intensely human and altogether logical story.

Included in the supporting cast are such favorites as Helen Westley, Victor Varconi, Claire Dodd, Luis Alberni and Ferdinand Munier. FEMINE FANCIES BY KATHLEEN EILAND

Another human vagary that makes us wonder: Why is it that after waiting for a bargain sale, we go out and find what we want at a store where there's no sale?

We discover from reading the papers that the thing now is to dine out at home. In other words, Americans who wish to do as their neighbors do are beginning to eat their meals outside. (We wonder if that is perhaps a consequence of the introduction recently of the Continental sidewalk cafe to this country. On the whole, we think outdoor dining is a good thing—provided the West Texas housewife can be sure, ten minutes before it happens, that a wandering whirlwind or a sandstorm won't come along and season her meal in a way she hadn't intended, before the family can finish eating it.)

We know one young Midland woman who has a large backyard, grass-covered and shut off from the street with a high fence, that is ideal for outdoor dining. When you add lower fragrance, tree-shadow, and quietness to a meal, it is pretty certain to be successful and long remembered both by family and guests.

We like the idea of playing the silly little games at parties which bring a lot of laughter and don't take too much serious concentration. Too often bridge and games of similar caliber lose their capacity for bringing recreation because too tense and greedily an attention is focussed on them.

In New York they are employing their leisure hours with solving puzzles and riddles, or even spelling words.

Speaking of spelling, here is a list of words which Paul Harrison, New York journalist, avers that one person in ten thousand can spell. Try it out on your intellectual friends: exultate, sacrilegious, transpire, battalion, paraffin, supersede, lighthearted, irrelevant, ecstasy, hypocrisy.

Oh, well, who's going to use words like those anyway?

JOHNNY NEAL OF ODESSA SHOOTS ONE UNDER PAR IN MUD TO WIN THE WEST TEX. GOLF TOURNEY; ABILENE

ABILENE, Tex., May 17. (AP)—Johnny Neal, Odessa golfer, stamped himself as a fine mudder Thursday when he played the Abilene Country Club course in 72, low score in the qualifying round of the eleventh annual West Texas Association tournament. His total was one under par.

Weather and course conditions were poor throughout. They became worse late in the afternoon, when a shower was followed by a cold mist, which caught Dudley Raines,

Abilene, a former association titlist, midway on the incoming nine and possibly spoiled his chance to be the medalist. Raines, who evened par through the fifteenth, took a 5 on the par 4 sixteenth, and a 5 on the par 3 seventeenth. He finished in 74 to be the runner-up.

Course Muddy Mud and threatening weather resulted in one of the shortest entry

The motor car is a good customer of everybody..

"I foresee the time when industry shall no longer denude the forests which require generations to mature, nor use up the mines which were ages in making but shall draw its raw material largely from the annual produce of the fields... I am convinced that we shall be able to get out of yearly crops most of the basic materials which we now get from forest and mine." Henry Ford

THE map above tells only part of the story—the little-known story of the inter-relation of the Ford V-8 car and the farm. The figures in the map are based on what will be used this year if the Ford Motor Company reaches its intended production of 1,000,000 cars and trucks.

WOOL goes into upholstery, floor coverings, lubricants and anti-rust preparations.

LEATHER goes into upholstery—and in addition, glues are made from cow hide, and from cow's milk... Other parts of cattle, through other processes, yield stearic acid, greases, glycerine (for shock absorbers and body enamel) and soap chips (used in washing machined parts and bodies before painting).

HOGS furnish lard oil, oleic acid and brush bristles.

GOAT'S HAIR (Mohair) goes into upholstery.

BEESWAX goes into electrical imbedding compounds.

COTTON goes into tires, batting, cloth, battery box, timing gears, brake linings and, not least important, into Safety Glass. (Every Ford V-8 car built this year will have Safety Glass in every window, at no extra cost to the car buyer... Cotton, in the form of cellulose acetate, is the central part between the two sheets of glass that make up every finished sheet of Safety Glass.)

CORN yields butyl alcohol (for enamel finishes and other purposes) and starch (for stiffening cotton linings).

LINSEED OIL is the basis for paint—is used in foundry cores—and is one of the ingredients of the beautiful, synthetic baked enamel finish on a Ford V-8.

SUGAR CANE yields molasses for solvents, anti-freeze and shock absorber fluids.

CASTOR OIL goes into lacquers and artificial leather suitable for rumble seats, where real leather would be damaged by exposure to the weather.

TUNG OIL is part of the top material used in Ford cars and is also used in brake linings.

TURPENTINE is used in paints, adhesives and solvents.

SOY BEANS are used in making cores for metal castings in our foundry and are also an important part of the baked enamel finish of a Ford V-8 and of the plastic knobs and buttons in the car's interior.

LUMBER is used for packing purposes. It is not used for any structural part of the Ford car, which has a welded, all-steel body, reinforced with steel, for maximum safety.
