WATERS DIGGER MILITARY FORCE

SLOW RAIN FALLS OVER LARGE FARM AND RANCH AREA

Midland Gets a Fall Of .87 Inch in 24 Hours

Registering .87 of an inch in 24 hours, a slow, steady drizzling rain fell at Midland Tuesday and early Wednesday, practically all of the moisture "going straight into the ground."

The gauge at the army airways station, Sloan field, registered practically the same amount, or .85 of an inch.

The rain was general appeared to be an established fact that it fell over a great section of the state to the south and southwest, the Big Bend country and Davis Mountain sections reporting as much as two or three inches in various sections.

Rain fell at Sierra Blanca, and apparently over much territory back this way.

Ranchmen said the rain this time, coming before previous moisture had dried except on the surface of the ground, would assure ample grass for months to come. Many farmers had their crops up to a sufficient stand that the moisture was highly beneficial. Others had planted the second or third time, on account of hail or hard rains, and were delayed somewhat in getting the seed into the ground.

However, it was declared generally that the season in the ground at present is the best since 1932 and one of the best over a long period of years.

Many outlying ranches have reported much heavier rain than has fallen at Midland. Lake water is abundant in many places and the growth of grass and weeds has been almost phenomenal, considering the extent to which the ranges had been dried out and grazed off.

Pastures in which the "turf" was practically gone now have new grass from an inch to five inches in height. Pastures which had not been heavily stocked, and which had a substantial amount of old grass, have taken on the aspect of wheat fields in some areas.

"The greatest come-back" in years is the term applied by ranchmen to the ranges around Midland.

RAINS FALL SOUTH AND IN BIG BEND

SAN ANGELO, June 12. (P.)—Slow, soaking rains, averaging from a quarter to more than three inches, fell over this part of West Texas Tuesday, giving the entire area highly beneficial moisture.

The moisture extended to Alpine and Marfa, in the Big Bend country, and to Del Rio and into the Hill country. The rain in the latter precipitation of last month and last week, which flooded lowlands, washed out water gaps and tied up highway traffic fell slowly and was soaking in the soil.

Pasture lands that were little more than bare prairies in last summer's drought, are now heavy with weeds and grass and the additional moisture assures continued growth for summer grazing. There is not a dry water hole in the range country.

The Alpine and Fort Stockton areas, last to give up to the rains, received from two to three inches, and Marfa, the Highland Hereford country, got more than two inches. The rains started during Monday night and continued through today. Some places were still getting rain tonight.

Del Rio reported two and a half inches; Junction, two inches; Brackettville, two and a half inches; Mason, two inches; Sonora, three inches; Menard, one inch; Brady, one inch; Fossil, one inch; Traan, one inch, and Burnham, one inch. Some ranches south of San Angelo reported as much as three and four inches.

Good rains fell last night at Lamesa and Lubbock, precipitation continuing practically all night at those points according to information received by the West Texas Gas company.

Franklin reported no rain last night, yesterday's rainfall ceasing in the afternoon.

DRAWING TONIGHT IN TOURNAMENT

"Apparently due to the state of the weather for the last few days the number of entries for the City of Midland Tennis club tournament has been disappointingly low."

George Vorbe, chairman of the tournament committee said today, "It is hoped that many more will show up at the drawing this evening at 8 o'clock in the Petroleum Pharmacy and register their names at that time."

In case of rain or of courts too wet to play on, the tournament will be postponed for a week but prospective entries should nevertheless be sure to register their names immediately with Georges Vorbe at the Standard Oil and Gas company, Petroleum building. He expressed the hope that the turn-out for the women's singles would be especially large.

"No player should feel that he has not had enough tournament play experience to enter as the better players will be seeded so as to give even the amateur a chance to play several matches," Vorbe said.

Names of entries will be published in tomorrow's Reporter-Telegram.

DISILLUSIONED WOMEN

The outlaw usually gets most of his publicity before the law catches up with him. Once he is safely locked away in prison he drops out of sight, and that, in some ways, is too bad.

This thought pops up when one reads a brief news dispatch telling how former underworld "gun molls" have settled down to the use of mop and broom in the federal detention prison at Milan, Mich.

A day-dreaming, empty-headed youngster might have seen something romantic in these women when they were in their hey-day. But to look at them now—clad in drab prison uniforms, mopping floors and working in the fields—ought to be convincing evidence that the glamour of crime is pretty phony.

Women's clubs, they say, existed before the U. S. became a nation. Research would probably reveal the fact that Eve threatened Adam with the limb of a tree.

Fruit Salad Is A Peach of an Idea For Summer Days

By MARY E. DAGUE
NEA Service Staff Writer

A bang-up fruit salad is my answer to the call of summer. It's easy to make and that gives me more time to play with my garden which is just in the stage where I wish I had nothing to do except dig. It's also good for jaded appetites which is what all my family seem to have these spring-ferish days.

Last year I made a culinary hit in the home circle by scooping out a pineapple and serving salad in the shell. This year I'm going to fill the shell with the salad dressing. It ought to make a stunning table picture — the russet pineapple shell filled with gleaming dressing surrounded by luscious fruit on a bed of feathery endive.

For the salad I use slices of pineapple, canned pears and fresh strawberries, one fine large berry for each person.

Oranges and bananas with strawberry garnish makes a good salad, too.

And here's the best salad dressing yet.

Cream Dressing

One cup whipping cream, 1-8 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon paprika, 2 teaspoons lemon juice, 1 teaspoon sugar, 1 package cream cheese, 1 cup pineapple juice.

Work cheese to a smooth paste, gradually adding cream, salt, sugar, paprika and pineapple juice. When ready to serve beat with a Dover beater and add lemon juice.

If I have time I chill the first mixture for an hour in the coldest part of the refrigerator before adding the lemon juice. If my time is limited I whip the cream before combining with cheese and then add the lemon juice and serve at once.

Bread Twists

One cup rice potatoes, 1 compressed yeast cake, 1-2 cup water in which potatoes were cooked, 2 cups milk, 4 tablespoons sugar, 4 tablespoons lard, 1-3 cup butter, 2 teaspoons salt, 2 eggs, 7-1-2 cups flour.

Soak milk and add butter and lard. Cool to lukewarm temperature.

Toga for Beach

A Terry-cloth toga will take the place of the proverbial beach robe here. Because it can be spread out to lie upon, it serves also as a beach blanket. This one is of natural brown with dark brown edging.

Cool 1-2 cup water in which potatoes were cooked to lukewarm temperature and add crumbled yeast cake. When cake is dissolved add to milk with potatoes, sugar, salt and eggs well beaten. Add 3 cups of flour. Beat hard, cover and let stand in a warm place for one hour. Add remaining flour and knead on a floured board for ten minutes. Cut off about one-fourth of the dough to make the bread sticks. Put remaining dough in a mixing bowl, brush with melted butter, cover closely and store in ice-box for future use.

To make bread twists put dough reserved for this purpose in a bowl, cover with a fresh dish towel and let stand in a warm place for 2 hours. Roll the dough 3-8 of an inch thick. Cut into strips 1-2 inch wide and 3 inches long. Roll each stick on the board with the palm of the hand until smooth. Twist two rolls together and place on a greased baking sheet at least an inch apart so that the twists won't touch in rising. Cover and let stand until very light. It will take at least an hour for the twists to rise. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) for fifteen minutes.

Instead of twisting two rolls together each roll may be baked separately to make bread sticks.

FEMININE FANCIES

BY KATHLEEN EILAND

Probably it's just another proof of the old saw that there's nothing new under the sun. But after being scorned for years, cotton lingerie has taken a front-rank place in madam's affections, so fashion writers say.

No longer shapeless and ugly, the 1935 edition of the cotton underwear which is staging a comeback, displays careful tailoring and fitting.

Handkerchief lawn is trimmed with pleating of self material or cotton lace.

Novel nightgowns come in lawn, dimity, and voile with dainty flares, silts, cut-outs, frills, and delightful colors to lend them witchery.

Herewith we reprint two hints for the hostess who loves candle-light — and what clever hostess does not?

Candles burn better and more steadily if they are aged for months. Buy several pairs at a time and keep them in a cool place, wrapped in their original wax or cellophane coverings.

Candles, most gracious of table decorations, never should be placed exactly at eye-level of the diners. Tall candleabra that let the candles cast an overhead glow, or short holders that reflect the flame well below the eyes of your guests are comfortable heights.

Have you ever come to the point where you wished you could plan just one dish that satisfies the appetites of the family for an entire meal?

Here's a one-dish luncheon the family will go for in a big way: arrange a mold of cooked brown rice in the center of a platter and surround with cheese sauce. Border with tomato cutlets and crisp bacon.

Social Service Is Commended Work For Young People

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

More and more we find the girls of high schools and colleges going in for social service work.

It is not only commendable from a humanitarian standpoint but it presages something that inevitably goes with the right type of culture. I believe it has been the one element lacking heretofore in our system of education.

Social service is a big word. Strictly speaking it is highly organized welfare work that requires specialized training.

More recently it has widened into various bureaus for dispensing wholesale relief and has had to draw on the layman to carry out its broad programs.

Giving, doing for others, sacrificing time and other things is as compelling a factor in self development and fineness of character as anything to be gleaned from books and the arts. It is the essential quality needed to make the real person.

Revive Manor Tradition
Lately I have noticed such things as this: the students of a certain college driving one hundred children to the country for a day's picnic; another class in domestic science offering to make simple white dresses for any girls of a large junior high school, whose parents find it impossible to provide suitable clothes for the closing exercises.

Everywhere we hear of groups in leading colleges "adopting" babies; and young children and holding themselves responsible for their needs. These are only a few of the items undertaken by girl students recently.

In many other countries, ladies of the manor so to speak would consider themselves unworthy of their place did they not devote so many hours a week to "personal" social work. And they train their daughters to carry on the tradition.

Points to Better World

It has not been an integral part of the American woman's creed (until recently), except in comparatively few cases, that her leisure time be thus invaded. Now we see her assiduously interested in hospital work, benefits for home-nursing projects, fresh-air and milk-and-ice societies, mother-vacation clubs, and so on.

That girls, and boys too, in their formative years are voluntarily supplementing this work is, I believe, a most encouraging outlook for a kinder social scheme.

To help someone, to be kind to someone is so essential. We would deteriorate as a people, as a nation, if we had continued merely signing on the dotted line, as used to be the case, and never learned vacation clubs, and so on.

"Break of Hearts" Symphony of Love, Drama at Yucca

Throbbing human emotions are blended in a symphony of love and drama in "Break of Hearts," now at the Yucca, which brings together the fascinating Katharine Hepburn and the dashing Charles Boyer.

Love, glorified through sacrifice, is the theme of the story, which runs the scale from laughter to tears in inspiring harmonies.

The film tells the story of a young composer who marries a great orchestra leader but leaves him through pride when she believes her love is only an incident in his career. Later they both come to the realization that their love for each other is the only worthwhile thing in their lives. The man's inspiration leaves him with the loss of her and she foregoes wealth, position and security to join him in poverty and hardship and help him win back his high place in the world.

Masterful direction is supplied by Philip Moeller, noted New York Theatre Guild director, and by Jane Loring.

Colors, according to scientific research, affect persons as follows: Red and orange stimulate; deep yellow cheers; green has a glowing effect; white induces irritation.

Have You Flare for Action?

The newer skirts are built for action. They're full, flared and flaring. A bit shorter in length, they give the wearer a young and frivolous silhouette faintly reminiscent of the flapper era. If these frocks are of the flared or gathered variety they utilize crisp materials like taffeta or organdy. If lavishly pleated, as many are, they're made of a softer fabric, such as crepe or chiffon.

At the left of the sketch, navy taffeta forms a full-skirted affair with a fitted bodice and voluminous sleeves. White pearl buttons march primly down the center-front and three fluffy white organdy flowers add freshness to the chin line.

Beige crepe forms the muchly fan-pleated frock in the center. The beauty of the fabric and pleating makes additional trimming superfluous.

At the right of the sketch, black organdy forms a semi-tailored suit with a flared skirt and fitted jacket. The wide lapels and huge sleeves accentuate a slim waistline. The crisp little bow of white pique makes a pleasing contrast.

Gambler Sought In Girl's Death

CHICAGO, Ill., June 12. (AP)—Police sought Anthony Madona, 26, a smalltime gambler, for questioning in the brazen "witness slaying" of Mrs. Celia Venable, 29, red-haired night club singer and artists' model, in her hotel bed.

The killer, accompanied by a companion, compelled Harry Keeney, night clerk at the Berwyn Beach Hotel, to accompany him to the woman's room and look on as he fired five pistol shots into the wom-horses, and speeds away with a few animals in a truck," said Russell Thorp, secretary of the Wyoming Stockgrowers' association.

"The modern rustler takes only a few animals, compared to the number that the old-time cattle thief drove away. The stolen animals, recently, have been disposed of principally at auction sales rings or direct to butchers, and ranchers, frequently, never know what happens to missing stock.

The campaign will be along somewhat different lines than the methods used years ago to discourage rustling when thieves frequently were hanged from the most convenient tree.

"The five states are going to work out a prospective agreement by which representatives will be present to inspect brands at all auction sales rings and all public markets," explained Thorp. "Thus information will be exchanged, and the records of sales will be made available to ranchers. In this way, the ranchers can trace their stock and recover money paid for it at any auction ring or public market."

Much Interest In Recovery Is Shown by People

AUSTIN, (U.P.)—Texas planning board members find citizens more interested in recovery and work of the board than was anticipated, Chairman W. M. Massie of Fort Worth said.

In the first two meetings, sponsors of rural rehabilitation communities have taken up most of the board's time, despite the fact such hearings were not contemplated under the law creating the nine-man planning board. A maze of other activities now face the board. They include water conservation, soil erosion, shelter belt planting, industrial development and new highways.

Massie explained that the board has two original functions:

1. To formulate a state program for spending federal relief funds, seeking to abolish unemployment, and rehabilitate needy families of the state.
2. To form a state program for using and conserving natural resources.

Actual research of the board is done by committees composed of from three to seven private citizens. Requests are studied by committees before being taken up by the board. Committees are headed by board members.

Members are: Massie, R. C. Hopping of Lubbock; John A. Norris, state water engineer, of Austin; Hull Youngblood of San Antonio; Wilbur C. Hawk of Amarillo; W. L. Kurth of Lutkin; Wallace C. Reilly of AUS-

"50% of all motor wear occurs during the starting period"

... say automotive engineers

Measuring cylinder wear with a precision gauge—accurate to a hundred-thousandth of an inch!

*Motorists who know these facts will save money:

Motor oils refined by the usual methods have some oiliness and film strength, but they may form carbon and sludge, which lead to expensive motor repairs.

Other oils may form almost no carbon and sludge, but are so over-refined that they are robbed of oiliness and film strength they need to prevent motor wear.

Germ Processed Oil is refined to eliminate carbon and sludge troubles and then the Germ Process adds extra oiliness and 2 to 4 times more film strength than any straight mineral oil, as tests on the Timken machine have proved.

Only the oil with the "Hidden Quart" will stay up in your motor and cut down this starting wear!

Here are the facts: Oils not Germ Processed drain back into the crankcase when your motor is idle. Bearings, pistons and cylinders are dry when you start. Even in warm weather your motor makes at least a thousand revolutions before the quickest flowing oil can reach all parts. Bare metal grinds against bare metal—destructive wear occurs.

Conoco Germ Processed Oil cuts down this costly starting wear! The patented Germ Process—adding concentrated oily essence to highly refined oil—makes it penetrate and combine with metal surfaces. That penetrative film, forming the "Hidden Quart", becomes part of the metal itself and never drains away.

Hundreds of dry-crankcase runs have proved the "Hidden Quart" lubricating value. Cars using Germ Processed Oil were driven 15 to 75 miles with the crankcase empty but without motor damage!

Germ Processed Oil protects your motor another way. All cars built since 1931 have greatly increased pressures and must have oil of extra high film strength for safe lubrication. Straight mineral oils have no more film strength than they had 10 years ago—some have less!*

Conoco Germ Processed Oil, with 2 to 4 times the film strength of mineral oils, gives modern motors the lubrication they need.

Only Conoco Germ Processed Oil gives full motor protection—when you start, while you drive. You will cut motor wear if you use it!
