GOVERNOR IS MAHA DICTATOR

Calles Withdraws From Mexico Politics

Rotarians Witness the Demonstrations Sunday

MEXICO, D. F., June 17. (AP).—General Plutarco Elias Calles, former president and one time "strong man" of Mexico, withdrew from the political scene today after a five-days' crisis, announcing he would depart for Sinaloa ranch tomorrow "leaving all responsibility for public affairs to those who have it in their hands."

President Lazaro Cardenas remained the power of the Mexican government after the resignation of the cabinet.

Calles considered Cardenas' policies too radical.

MEXICO, D. F., June 17. (AP).—More than 15,000 Catholics paraded unmolested past the National Palace Sunday while their speakers attacked the government, demanding religious liberty.

There was only one incident. A youth shouted "Death to President Cardenas!" and was arrested.

Catholic orators, speaking in front of the Palace of Fine Arts, addressed themselves to visiting Rotarians here to attend the annual international convention, asserting:

"If you were not here we could not parade. We want you to know we are fighting for religious liberty and liberty of conscience."

Some Rotarians were noticeably nervous and the question was frequently asked among them, "Will there be a revolution?"

Most of them had been unaware of political developments of the past few days which saw the eight-year reign of Plutarco Elias Calles as undisputed dictator of Mexico and the government apparently ended and the political face even farther to the left under the leadership of President Lazaro Cardenas.

Talking in English, several of the Catholic speakers thanked the Rotarians for coming here. Many of the visitors applauded the speeches.

A majority of those in the parade carried banners denouncing socialistic education and demanding reopening of the churches. One banner read: "We are friends of the American people but not of Daniels," referring to James Daniels, United States ambassador to Mexico.

Although the Catholics lacked a permit to parade, police were continuously absent and did not attempt to interfere with the march to Buena Vista Station, the demonstrators dispersed in an orderly fashion, shouting "Viva Cristo Rey" (long live Christ).

REPORT PROGRESS ON FAIR PROJECT

Committees working on the new fair grounds, with a goal of $25,000 paid in, announced today that progress was being made and they felt certain the project would go through with a minimum of delay.

A check-up of actual collections had not been made this morning, but it was believed that the estimate made late Saturday of $20,000 raised had been exceeded. Three committees were at work. Many prospective stockholders were out of the city and it was planned to await conferences with them before making known the final status of the organization.

LONDON TRAIN WRECK KILLS 14

LONDON, June 17. (AP)—While rescue workers fought their way through tangled wreckage in search of further victims of a train collision near London which killed 14, another passenger train piled up near Glasgow Sunday, injuring 22 persons.

The second crash occurred at Gourck when a train from Glasgow loaded with passengers bound for pleasure resorts, smashed against buffers at the end of the track in the station.

Instead of stopping at the platform for some unexplainable reason, the engine hit the buffers with a crunching roar. Most of the passengers were standing, ready to get off, and were thrown into heaps on the floor of the coaches. Three persons were seriously hurt.

Twenty-nine were injured in the first wreck when a train speeding northward with Sunday newspapers crashed into the rear of the Newcastle Express. It was reported by the attending physician to be better today.

Mrs. B. W. Floyd, who was carried to a Midland hospital Sunday for medical treatment, was reported by the attending physician to be better today.

Mrs. W. K. Wilson and Mrs. F. L. Flanagan, both of whom underwent operations last week were likewise reported improved today.

TWO YEARS' ACTIVITY OF PWA IN UNEMPLOYMENT PROGRAM RECORDS AID AND JOBS FOR 10,000,000

WASHINGTON, June 17. (AP).—The Public Works Administration has completed two years of recovery activity with the claim its $2,500,000,000 construction program had kept 10,000,000 persons off relief rolls.

The employment campaign will continue for another two years, financed by PWA's unexpended balance of $796,000,000 in the U. S. Treasury and a new $900,000,000 from the $4,000,000,000 work-relief fund.

Administrator Harold L. Ickes, who became a key figure in the New Deal when the 1933 Congress empowered him to spend $3,300,000,000 for construction, reported his organization's two-year accomplishments as:

1. Approximately 2,000,000 persons at work on construction sites, not including indirect "behind the lines" employment created by purchasing about $300,000,000 worth of building materials.
2. At least 10,000,000 needy, including dependents of those employed, benefited through public works instead of direct relief.
3. More than 17,000 of PWA's 19,000 projects completed or are under construction. Only $7,500,000 of the original fund remains unallocated.

Schools and Colleges Aided

PWA, as a construction spur, lent political subdivisions 70 per cent of a project's cost and made an outright grant of the other 30 per cent. Developments financed covered almost every type of buildings and municipal improvements, including:

- 1. Approximately 70 per cent of a project's cost and made an outright grant of the other 30 per cent.
- 2. At least 10,000,000 needy, including dependents of those employed, benefited through public works instead of direct relief.
- 3. More than 17,000 of PWA's 19,000 projects completed or are under construction. Only $7,500,000 of the original fund remains unallocated.

Sandy Auchterlonie, local pro, said, "As the old story goes, a business man who breaks 80 is either a damned liar or a poor business man, as there were six of the eight Midland men who shot under 80. You can draw your own conclusion."

NRA Set-Up Made By the President

WASHINGTON, June 17. (AP).—Holding forth "a possibility of future legislation," President Roosevelt today signed a bill to set up the "shop-999" NRA with special provisions for helping business maintain "fair competition" practices.

The bill named James L. O'Neill, vice president of the Guaranty Trust Company of New York as acting administrator of the midget recovery bill. Then he created two major divisions:

1. A "division of co-operation" was set up under Prentiss L. Cooney "to aid in the voluntary maintenance by trade and industrial groups of standards of fair competition, in the elimination of unfair competition in the employment of labor or in trade practices."
2. A "division of review" was created under Leon C. Marshall to take the effects of code operation.

Cut in Personnel Ordered

O'Neill, who Marshall replaced, were ordered by Roosevelt to reduce "as rapidly as possible" the 5,000 member personnel of the old NRA which expired tonight. But they were given an added command to "protect the continuity of the Administration for its future usefulness in effectuating the policies of the National Industrial Recovery Act as amended." Then, in a separate statement of the restricted NRA's functions, Roosevelt said:

"The administration of the amended act will proceed as rapidly as possible to conform to present limitations."

"So long, however, as there is a possibility of further legislation it will be desirable to maintain the administration in Washington and in field offices, and to retain those essential members of a trained personnel who can be usefully employed."

Believed Significance

This portion of the President's order immediately was given significance by observers as indicating an intention to seek to perpetuate the NRA principles which were torn apart by the Supreme Court's invalidation of the code structure. The new extension of the act is effective only until next April 1. What Roosevelt has in mind after that date and its relation to a possible constitutional amendment to allow a return of codes, was a White House secret.

Roosevelt named George L. Berry as assistant to O'Neill to represent labor. Berry, president of the International Pressman's Union, has served since NRA days as a code administrator.

O'Neill, in half a year with NRA, has served as code control officer. Cooney was code administration director in the old setup and Marshall, a member of the recovery board.

Advisory Body Named

A six-member "advisory council" was established by the President for the new organization "in aid of the National Recovery Administration." Its members:

Charles Edison and Howell Cheney for industry; William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, and Philip Murray, vice president of the United Mine Workers, for labor; and Emily Newell Blair and Walton H. Hamilton, for consumers. The last two had served on NRA's consumer advisory board and Hamilton was a recovery board member.

LAGRANGE FEELS BRUNT OF FLOODS OF THE COLORADO

LAGRANGE, June 17. (AP).—Twenty-five negro huts and ten homes occupied by whites were swept away today as LaGrange felt the full force of the Colorado River Flood which caused two million dollars' damage at Austin over the weekend. The stream stood at 51 feet and is still rising.

PROPERTY DAMAGE CONTINUES TO MOUNT

AUSTIN, June 17. (AP).—Raging flood waters that claimed at least a dozen lives in Texas reached Sunday in the upper reaches of overflooded rivers, but carried a new threat downstream.

Enormous property damage was recorded and scores were missing, with fears expressed that as the water receded, permitting a more complete check, there would be additions to the list of dead.

Hundreds of others were driven from their homes and crops were ruined on tremendous stretches of fertile farm land as half a dozen rivers in Central and Southwest Texas, rising to record levels after torrential rains, roared over their banks, inundated bottom lands and swept into low-lying sections of several towns.

Crop, Stock Losses Heavy

The heaviest losses apparently were suffered by owners of crops and livestock, although considerable damage was reported from towns into which flood water rolled.

In Austin, the state capital, Mayor Tom Miller estimated the damage would exceed $2,500,000. Waters of the Colorado River, rising to their greatest height since 1896, flooded the municipal power plant, plunged the city into darkness and resulted in temporary rationing of the water supply.

Crippled telephone and telegraph communications prevented an accurate check immediately, but reports trickling through disclosed that some at least of the missing had been saved. Early and wide distribution of warnings caused most inhabitants of threatened areas to flee to high ground, many driving livestock before them.

The known dead were A. C. Mitchell, Mrs. Mitchell and two young daughters, drowned in Hog Creek at Italy; five unidentified Mexicans at Del Rio, two persons at Kennedy and one at Victoria.

Highest Since 1869

Mayor Miller expressed the opinion that as the flood receded, permitting penetration of mud-bogged bottoms, other lives would be found to have been lost.

The crest of the Colorado, which at Austin had attained 41.7 feet, dropping later to 25 feet, Sunday afternoon apparently was between Bastrop and Smithville about 50 miles downstream.

FIRE EXTINGUISHED

A fire alarm turned in from 811 West Texas this morning resulted in no damage, firemen reported. Flames originating in a residence there were extinguished before the firemen arrived.

RESIGNATION OF CHAHAR GOVERNOR IS ASKED BY JAPAN

Is Believed to Mean Japan to Dominate China Province

TOKYO, June 17. (AP).—The Renzo News Agency corresponding at Hsinking, Manchoukuo, today reported that the high military council at Hsinking had decided that General Sunzweh, governor of Chahar Province, China, must quit his office.

The council decided that if the Chinese national government did not remove the general, the Japanese army would do so, the report said.

The report was interpreted as indicating that the Japanese army is determined to dominate Chinese province to its sphere of domination, dictating what Chinese officials shall administer the office and what Chinese troops shall garrison Chahar as well as the Hopei provinces.

WOULD INVESTIGATE JAPAN'S POLICIES

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 17. (AP).—A senate investigation to determine whether Japan's policies with reference to China violate the Kellogg Peace Pact or Nine-Power Treaty was proposed today by Senator King of Utah. He offered a resolution saying that Japan's seizure of Manchuria and her recent demands on China had been condemned as a violation of treaties.

SEAPLANE FLYING BLIND ON RETURN HOP TO MAINLAND

MIDWAY ISLAND, June 17. (AP).—Fling "blind," the Pan American seaplane hopped off today for Honolulu on its return flight to the United States mainland.

Immediately after the giant ship rose in the air, the curtains were drawn and the pilots compelled to rely solely on their instruments for direction, speed and altitude.

The 1,500-mile flight to Honolulu was expected to take slightly more than the nine hours and 13 minutes consumed on the westward hop, due to headwinds.

HONOLULU-PARKER NEAR PAY DEPTH

By PAUL OSBORNE

Close search was being kept on Honolulu and Lanai No. 1 Parker central Andrews county extension test to the same companies' No. 1 Parker discovery producer, which, being drilled to a depth of 400 feet from the east line of section 11, block A-48, public school land, is about a half mile southwest of the discovery well, which gauged an initial potential of 70 barrels daily.

Yesterday afternoon reports of the drilling operation gave the depth as 4,693 feet and a slight show of oil was reported at 4,500 feet. At press time today no further reports were available, though it is believed that the test is drilling ahead.

Administrators at Washington Meet

WASHINGTON, June 17. (AP).—State works progress administrators gathered here last night to learn from Henry L. Hopkins how they should spend millions of work relief money during the next year.

Hopkins, who simultaneously made public a study which he claimed "debunked" assertions that persons on relief were turning down private jobs, will tell the administrators today and Tuesday just how much each State will receive, how fast men should be put to work and on what types of projects.

Making public findings of investigators whom he said had checked up 195 complaints of job refusals in Baltimore in March and April, Hopkins said they had found four persons who had turned down jobs simply because they didn't want to work. These, he said, were cut off relief.

The progress administration conference, chairman for the one which touched off the old civil works administration, is designed to frame state "plans," combining expensive and inexpensive activities, so as to attain the $1,100 average annual expenditure per man available for each job.

As the state officials assembled, the works application division announced army engineer applications for $17,622,000 for the construction of 362 miles of flood control levees and reservoirs in Arkansas, Louisiana, Missouri and Oklahoma. The Navy Department also asked $786,000 for five projects in California and Florida and the veterans administration $1,650,000 for new buildings in a number of States.

STREET CAR CO. FAILS APPOINT AN ARBITRATOR

Ultimatum Accepted By Union; Ready To Arbitrate

OMAHA, Neb., June 17. (AP).—Governor Cochran today brought the full power of his military dictatorship of Omaha into play in the street car strike and ordered cars off the streets at 11 o'clock at night, as result of the company's failure to meet his demand that they name an arbitrator this morning.

A national guard force of 1,800 men took over the city under martial law Saturday night. The strikers accepted the ultimatum last night and appeared today with their arbitrator.

Two deaths and numerous injuries had resulted already from the strike disturbances.

MARTIAL LAW TO AWAIT SETTLEMENT

OMAHA, Neb., June 17. (AP).—Omaha settled down Sunday to a military occupation with the prospect of armed supervision of arbitration to settle the street car strike which brought on bloody street riots and martial law.

Adj. Gen. H. J. Paul, commanding 1,800 national guardsmen who took control of the city last night, announced a firm conviction that arbitration was the only hope of disposing of the problem and added he saw little chance of evacuating troops until the strike is ended.

Paul himself was presented as the most likely impartial member of an arbitration commission. To his unlimited powers under the martial law proclamation has been added his own statement:

"I am not here to represent the street car company or the strikers. I am not seeking conferences with either, but I am willing to listen to anyone who asks for a conference. I don't see how we can pull our men out of here until the strike is ended, and I am a firm believer in arbitration as the only means of settling such controversies."

The general came out of an hour-long conference with his staff officers to estimate the occupation might last three weeks and cost between $100,000 and $500,000. He suggested a special session of the legislature may be needed to finance the expedition.

Meanwhile Paul issued orders to keep his troops in quarters, lest any demonstration of strength might be considered an invitation by rioters to pick a fight. Five hundred guardsmen were assigned to the South Omaha district where street lights Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights caused one death and injuries to more than 150 persons.

No decision has been reached, Paul said, on whether the Omaha and Council Bluffs Street Railway Company's trains will be permitted to operate.

The city was extremely quiet today, accepting the first martial law in its history in a matter of fact way. In South Omaha, where thousands massed last night in a mood to watch the arrival of the first guardsmen, the streets were almost deserted.

No Casualties In Sunday Crash

Midland's series of automobile crashes continued Sunday, although without casualties or serious damage. J. G. Arnett, Midland farmer, was struck as he approached the city from the east yesterday by a party of women going eastward.

The eastbound car, apparently seeking to miss one coming behind Arnett, can swing to the left instead of the right, striking the Arnett pick-up automobile on its left side. The car in which the women were driving was reported to have borne the brunt of the damage.

FOUR KILLED AS TRAIN HITS AUTO

AN OLD FRENCH CUSTOM

The appearance on the high seas of the gigantic new liner Normandie, seeking to bring supremacy in Atlantic passenger transport back to the French flag, is a little reminder that French skill in building ships is a tradition with a very ancient lineage.

During the last century, it has been more or less taken for granted that the British were the world's most skillful builders. British navy and merchant marine outclassed all others; most of us assumed that it always had been that way.

Yet as recently as the day of Nelson, French designers were far superior to those of England. The ships with which Nelson destroyed French sea power were actually inferior, in design and construction, to the French ships they defeated.

The appearance of the Normandie is simply a return to the old days when French builders acknowledged no master anywhere.

FEMININE FANCIES BY KATHLEEN EILAND

Our favorite example of industry is found in the man who gets up and starts weeding the lawn before breakfast.

Now is the season of family picnics, with the most delicious sandwiches children will ever eat, even though there may be a slight sprinkling of sand on them. No picnic of this kind would ever be complete, of course, unless it was suddenly discovered that the lunch had spread adjacent to a big bed of red ants, or unless a wandering cow came by, or some similar alarm was sounded during the meal.

Some one remarked the other day that the old "Midland spirit" is still alive. It seems that way considering the ease with which thousands of dollars are being raised for the new fair-reef project.

Some of us can still remember when "rodeo day" was one of the big events of the year and when every girl wanted a complete new outfit for the occasion just as nowadays a girl wants a new outfit for Easter.

The other 362 days of the year feminine affections might be centered on soda fountain clerks, and young business men, but in "the good old days" the cowboy reigned supreme in the hearts of Midland girls during the three days of the rodeo.

Such everyday accouterments as saddles, bridles, and tinkling spurs held intangible attraction during the rodeo season and any cowboy walking down the street, or better still, riding down it, was the inevitable cynosure of a second look from feminine eyes.

Ordinarily we aren't the person to moan, "Backward, turn backward, oh time, in your flight" but in this one particular we should like to see the old days return. Give us bigger and better rodeos! Ditto with livestock and agricultural shows.

And, since we are reminiscing, can you remember the sizable far catalogue that was put out one year with that poem "Out Where the West Begins" featured with the sentence "That's where Midland is" at the end of every stanza?

Working Girl Can Dress Well

Perfect for the business girl is this three-piece ensemble of Oxford gray flannel, including straight skirt with slits, single-breasted jacket and full-length reefer top-coat that can be worn over separate dresses. The novel

By MARIAN YOUNG NEA Service Staff Correspondent NEW YORK—What with clever American designers outdoing themselves in her behalf and good stores featuring budget departments, the wardrobe problems of the working girl have been greatly simplified.

No longer does a young business woman cast sick-with-longing eyes on the clothes of her friends who live at home or who took the bridal path in preference to the road to business success. At least if she does it's her own fault. All that's needed to build a not only adequate but handsome wardrobe these days is careful planning and the ability to visualize each item in close relationship to all the others.

Clothes for the office are the first consideration of any young woman who takes pride in her job. It's all very well to say that two daytime outfits are sufficient, but unless these two lend themselves to a variety of accessories and can be changed around to look different on various occasions, those of us who toil for a living know perfectly well this isn't true.

Wardrobe Monotony Destroys Efficiency Wearing one outfit on Monday, Wednesday and Friday and the second on the days in between gets to be a pretty dreary business. It may not lessen your efficiency right away but it certainly has an appalling effect on your morals, which in turn, shows up in your work.

Think carefully before you decide on a suit. Get one that can be worn several ways without looking like a special something you assembled while you dashed madly back and forth between bathroom and kitchenette.

A three-piece type probably is your best bet. The suit itself, with several sweaters and a few interesting blouses, will be good all spring and, providing you picked a good, rather hard-finish fabric, will come in handy next fall and winter.

Be sure the blouses and sweaters are bright and colorful. Even if they run up the laundry bill or increase the number of hours you have to spend over the wash-bowling, they're worth it.

The matching topcoat goes over the suit on coolish days, of course, and since you chose a neutral shade, can be worn with everything else in your wardrobe, particularly the fresh-looking print you need right now.

Speaking of the print, buy one that is bright without being so light that every speck of office dust shows up on it—plain enough to help you maintain your air of conservative efficiency, but at the same time novel enough to hold your own personal interest in it. Pick a washable one and wear it all summer.

Evening Clothes Can Be Economical This takes care of your immediate daytime needs and you still should have money left for the nucleus of a charming evening wardrobe. It can be a printed matter, too. Unfortunately, rent, food, gas and light bills being what they are, you'll have to be practical here, too. But this doesn't mean you have to sacrifice any of

GARDEN GATE GOSSIP

Carrots and turnips are vegetables to plant until into July. The supply of baby carrots can be maintained only by successive planting and the carrot in its infancy has now displaced the mature vegetable in popularity and rightly so as it has a tenderness and delicacy of flavor lacking in the full grown vegetable. We have also learned that the young turnip, fresh pulled, is better than the mature root which formerly was the only form in which it was eaten. Young turnips with their green tops are now a staple market commodity. The tops or turnip greens are also an excellent article for the table.

The second week in July is the traditional time to plant turnips for the mature roots for winter storage. They are a convenient follow crop for the early peas which are done bearing in July. The vines can be pulled up and turnips planted in the patch. Carrots can be employed in the same manner.

Plant the turnips in rows. The old-time style was to broadcast and rake in the seed. Better turnips, more uniform and regular in size can be obtained by planting them in rows thinning to six inches apart and keeping them cultivated. The old style gardener used to turn the turnips loose to take care of themselves which they did and produced good turnips, but they will do much better when given the aid of good gardening and allowing in hot weather to struggle for its life with weeds is not good gardening.

Carrots are much better quality when taken care of. First of all it should be thinned to four inches apart. Then the soil should be stirred and the baby carrots will grow amazingly and be ready to pull for the table in larger quantity than if left to struggle with too close family relations.

Carrots and turnips are excellent crops to follow lettuce, spinach and young onions. Do not plant turnips to follow radishes. They are of the same family and the same races of plants should not be used as follow crops for the kindred.

It is now time to put in summer radishes, a large rooted type that makes fine radishes in summer and does not get pithy and strong as do the early spring types in hot weather. Summer radishes can follow the early spring leaf crops as the lettuce and spinach. Planting these root crops now will keep the garden working full time.

Plan Recruiting Campaign for Army

SAN ANTONIO, (AP)—A recruiting campaign to add about 9,000 men to regular army station in the Eight Corps Area will be started July 1 to raise the strength of all organizations to the figure set under recent legislation providing for expansion of the army's enlisted personnel.

Under plans being prepared by Col. John M. Churchill, corps area recruiting officer, efforts will be made to add one-fourth of the authorized increase monthly until the full quota is obtained.

Recruiting stations at San Antonio, El Paso, Houston, Dallas, Oklahoma City and Denver will continue to operate with substations at various towns throughout the recruiting districts. Each army station within the corps area also will carry on intensive recruiting campaigns.

Lack of money for transportation will force army officials to send recruits to the station nearest their places of enlistment.

Recruits will be enlisted for all branches of the service and for all stations within the corps area. Applicants must be from 18 to 35 years old and those not yet 21 must obtain permission to enlist from their parents.

With exception of 400 recruits for the Twenty-fifth Infantry at Fort Huachuca, Ariz., only white men will be eligible for enlistment. Vacancies for 400 negroes will be available at Fort Huachuca but applicants will be forced to pay their way there to enlist.

Wild Horse Race Feature Stamford Reunion July 2-4

STAMFORD.—Horses known for their aerial gymnastics rather than fleetness will be selected for the wild-horse race, which will be a new feature of the rodeo at the Sixth Annual Cowboy Reunion to be held here July 2, 3 and 4.

The race will be included in the program of each afternoon and night rodeo performance but not at the morning matinees. Four wild horses will be placed in the bucking chutes barebacked but with halter and rope. At the starting signal, the horses will be released from the chutes and each contestant and his helper must saddle his wild bronco and ride the length of the arena and return. The one crossing the finishing line first wins the race.

Another unique feature of the Reunion rodeo each year is the contest for the best cutting-horse. The contest is judged on the performance and ability of the horse as well as the skill of the rider. Eight horses judged best in an elimination contest to be held at the morning show July 3 will compete in the finals on the afternoon of July 4. First prize is a hand-made saddle. Claude Jeffers, wagon boss of the Matador ranch, Matador, and his cowpony, "Highpower," won the contest last year.

One of the favorite events of the rodeo is the special calf-roping contest for cowboys over 35 years of age. Ed Powers, 57, Breckenridge, won the coveted saddle in this contest last year.

The rodeo, which is the main attraction around which the Reunion program of entertainment is built, is not staged by professional performers, but is limited to cowboys actually employed on the ranches of Texas and adjoining states. In this sense it is an authentic survival of a typically western institution. Just as the cowboys of half a century ago gathered after the work was done for a frolic and such manly sports as steer-riding and bronco-busting, the cowhands now gather from hundreds of miles around, bringing their favorite cowboys for the Stamford Reunion.

Besides the special features, the rodeo includes the usual cowboy sports of calf-roping, wild-cow-milking, steer-riding and bronco-busting. These events will be staged each day. Day money totalling $1,600 will be awarded in these events, besides the handsome hand-made saddles which go to the champions in each contest.

The rodeo arena, with improvements made this year, has a seating capacity of 10,000, which is expected to care for the crowds even at the peak shows. However, visitors will likely find the night performances more pleasant due to the cooler night air. Performances will begin each day at 8:30 a. m., 2:00 p. m. and 8:00 p. m. The usual low admission prices will prevail, general admission to the afternoon and night shows being 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children and grandstand seat 25 cents additional. The charge for the morning matinee will be 25 cents for everyone. All tickets are tax-free due to the fact that the Reunion is a no-dividend organization.

Tech Art Association Organized June 14; Gov't. Makes Gift

LUBBOCK.—A Texas Technological Art Museum association was organized June 14, with recent approval of the college board of directors, and has an initial collection valued at between $5,000 and $6,000. Ninety drawings, with an estimated value of $1,000, have been given by the federal government for use of the association.

The new association absorbed the membership of the Lubbock Art association, and its officers are serving the new group which has been approved by the College Art Association of New York. Dr. Bessie League, faculty member of the college, is president.

Purpose of the new organization is to promote building of an art museum at the college, to bring fine arts exhibitions and lectures to the college, and to promote other art projects.

F. A. Kleinschmidt, college architecture and allied arts department head, is association director, according to a constitution approved by the college directors. Mr. Kleinschmidt selected 66 drawings given by the painting and sculpture department of the United States treasury in Washington, D. C., about two weeks ago. Other drawings were sent the college several weeks previous. All were made under the public works art project. Edward B. Rowan, superintendent of the painting and sculpture department, has promised others in the "near future."

The Carnegie corporation of New York gave 2,200 reproductions of paintings and sculpture to the college in 1933. These will become property of the association. Others in its collections will be a 14th-century Flemish manuscript, "Eliza," by Mrs. L. M. Tonkin of Oklahoma; "Portrait of a Young Gentleman," by Bronzino; "Matador Ezeel," loaned by Robert Butler; "Portrait of a lady," by Manet.

Dr. Bradford Knapp, college president, will appoint three trustees for the association and six members on the association committee, on which he and the association director will be ex-officio members.

Shanghai Europe's "Door to the Orient"

SHANGHAI, Europe's "door to the Orient," is one of the strangest cities in the world, without an equal elsewhere. Here is a single city, one of the world's greatest, yet with three distinct administrative areas—the international settlement, mainly of British and American representatives, the French concession, and the native quarter.

This peculiar arrangement began when, in 1843, at the conclusion of the "Opium War," the British located their quarters north of the native city. From this spring concessions to other Occidental countries, and opening of the great doorway of commerce into China.

In 1893, the Shanghai municipality issued a local stamp commemorating the 50th anniversary of its settlement by the British.
