House Refuses to Abolish Utilities Companies

ADMINISTRATION IS OVERRIDDEN BY BILL DEFEAT

Senate Had Already Passed "Death Sentence"

WASHINGTON, July 1. (AP)—The House today defeated President Roosevelt's request for legislation to abolish "unnecessary" utility holding companies by 1942. The vote was 215 to 246 against the President's wishes. Vote was by teller.

WASHINGTON, July 1. (AP)—The House agreed today to vote this afternoon on whether to support President Roosevelt's request for legislation to abolish "unnecessary" utility holding companies by 1942.

It took that action by deciding to limit to two and a half hours the debate on the motion to approve the Senate "Death Sentence" provision. The House Interstate Commerce committee previously voted to give the securities commission discretionary power on this abolition feature.

On the eve of the ballot, the outcome was shrouded in doubt. Almost frantically, Administration followers were counting noses in a final drive to swing the powerful Democratic majority into line. Pressure on Democratic House chiefs, who have been cool to the "death sentence" proposal, apparently brought little response except statements that the vote would be close.

SAND BELT GOLF TEAM HERE LOSES TO BIG SPRING TO BIG SPRING

By KATHLEEN SCRUGGS

The Sand Belt team lost to Big Spring, 22-18, at Big Spring, Sunday, marking the first tournament Midland had lost in seventeen successive engagements. The result of the district match was a 14-14 tie. Fourteen points behind Big Spring in the race for championship of the Sand Belt. Matches were as follows:

First Flight: Morgan Neil of Midland shot 75, and won from Eddie Morgan, 72, on the twentieth hole. Bert Hemphill, 75, lost to Shirley Robins, 72. Robins carding seven birdies on the eighteenth hole. Midland lost low ball.

Second Flight: Frank Johnson, 71, won from Stuevevan, 71, on the twenty-first hole. Forgeron, 75, lost to Obie Bristow, 71, in the feature match of the day before a large gallery which included Arch Thomas and Sandy Auchterlonie. Midland lost low ball.

Third Flight: Don Sivalis, 81, and F. L. Gehr, 79, lost all points to Logan, 77, and Coile, 78.

Fourth Flight: Daugherty, 77, and Pat Riley, 74, won all points from Rainey, 77, and Dr. Hoover, 82.

Fourteen of the sixteen men who played shot within the seventy's. According to the local pro, Sandy Auchterlonie, there must have been two good business men in the bunch.

Special mention was due to the following players: to Obie Bristow of Big Spring and Frank Johnson of Midland for low medal score of the day; both carding a 71; to Morgan Neil of Midland who won a closely fought match on the twentieth hole from his opponent, Eddie Morgan who scored for the eighteen holes was 72; to Daugherty and to Frank Johnson for winning their matches on the twenty-first hole; to Obie Bristow and Pat Riley who nosed out Forgeron by one point in the individual points won.

Instructor and Examiner Award Given to Howe

Two years under the required age to receive the Red Cross examiner's certificate, an exception was made in the case of Robert Howe, 18, of Midland, last week when he attended the state first aid school at Galveston and the Midland youth returned with "all they had to give."

Howe was recommended to the school, which was attended by only 32 Texans, by Mrs. J. A. Haley, district Red Cross chairman. He successfully passed and received four distinct certificates:

- (1) Red Cross examiner;
- (2) Junior examiner in Red Cross first aid;
- (3) Standard first aid course;
- (4) Red Cross instructor in swimming.

In the standard first aid course, Howe made next to the highest grade, a Waco youth beating him by one point.

The Red Cross work was conducted by Walter A. Hausknecht, St. Louis, mid-west branch office of the Red Cross; Stewart Reed, president of the Galveston Red Cross; R. Schlotterbeck, St. Louis office, and Captain DeFrees of the Galveston Red Cross life saving corps.

The 32 life saving and instructor candidates, several of whom did not pass in the work, were from the Texas cities and towns of Beaumont (2), Fort Arthur (2), Olney, Aldridge, Wichita Falls, Waco (2), Houston, Midland and Galveston (2).

The purpose of the school was to train outstanding candidates in better methods of life saving, instructing and general water safety. A swimming and life saving campaign will be conducted by Howe here, under direction of the Red Cross, at an early date, full details to be announced later. He, at present, is life guard at Escondido and gives swimming lessons there.

AGRICULTURE AND LIVESTOCK SHOWS IMPROVEMENT; FEED CROPS ASSURED, FEDERAL RESERVE REPORT TODAY SAYS

DALLAS, July 1. (AP)—Material improvement in the condition of the agricultural and livestock industries and good yields from feed crops practically assured are the highlights of the Monthly Business Review of the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas, released today.

Sustained activity in the distribution of merchandise also was a development of major importance during the past month, the Review states, adding that the outlook for other row crops in addition to feeds, generally is promising.

Taking note of high water in some areas recently, the Review says: "While floods in some sections did obstructable damage to growing crops and retarded field work, a period of dry weather would do much to overcome the bad effects and the good season which now obtains will be a sustaining factor in crop development throughout the growing season."

The condition of ranges and livestock, the Review reports, have shown marked improvement and there are prospects for ample summer pasturage in all sections of the district as the prolonged drought in the western portion definitely was broken by the heavy rains around the middle of June.

Surveying other elements of the business field of the Eleventh Federal Reserve district, the Review continues: Distribution of merchandise in wholesale channels continued active in May, normally a quiet month, and the volume of business in a majority of reporting lines was substantially larger than a year ago. Sales of department stores in larger cities were slightly larger than in the previous month and exceeded those in May 1934, by two per cent.

Collections in wholesale and retail trade were well sustained. Debits to individual accounts at banks in leading centers, while two per cent smaller than in April, were 12 per cent greater than in the corresponding month last year.

The daily average of combined new deposits and time deposits of member banks totaled $798,311,000 in May, reflecting less than the usual monthly recession, and an increase over the same month of 1934, which was the largest reported during the current year. Member banks borrowings at the Federal Reserve bank rose moderately in May and in the early days of June but the subsequent liquidation reduced the total at mid-June below that of a month earlier or a year.

Building operations reflected a slowing down during the past month. The valuation of building permits issued at principal cities declined 24 per cent as compared with the large April volume but was 13 per cent above that in the corresponding month last year.

KEY BROTHERS TO LAND "OLE MISS" THIS AFTERNOON

MERIDIAN, Miss., July 1. (AP)—The Kay brothers, Fred and Al, holders of the official world's sustained flight record, radioed their ground crew today that they expected to land their plane, "Ole Miss," by six-thirty tonight.

Al said that the descent would be made after the unofficial record of 647 hours and 28 minutes had been broken.

The brothers have been in the air since the first day of June and the only serious trouble they have ever had was a small fire that broke out on board the ship after they had already broken the official endurance record.

CRAWFORD'S SECOND TRIAL OPENS TODAY

Trial of Jim Crawford of Crowell on a second charge of burglary began in district court this morning. Sustained activity in the testimony at noon. Defense witnesses were to take the stand early this afternoon.

Crawford was acquitted of similar charges two weeks ago, the case being based on the alleged burglary of the Ott Cain home in Midland county. The case today grew out of the alleged burglary of the A. E. Zinn home.

A. M. Crawford, brother of the defendant, also indicted in connection with the charges, is at large. Motion for continuance in the murder case of the state versus Nora Pruitt, negro woman, was made today by her attorney, Howard Mays, because of inability to bring material witnesses here in time for the trial. The case was set for the September term.

The case of the state versus John (Sarge) Curtis, negro indicted for murder in connection with the fatal stabbing of Minnie Brunson, in which case the Pruitt woman also is charged, was set for September.

"The State of Business Today" Described by John T. Flynn

Editor's note: This is the first of a series of three articles by John T. Flynn, America's most distinguished writer on economic topics, written exclusively for The Reporter-Telegram and the NEA Service. With the first six months of 1935 now history, Flynn clearly reveals just how far the nation has progressed toward recovery.

Fourteen of the sixteen men who played shot within the seventy's. According to the local pro, Sandy Auchterlonie, there must have been two good business men in the bunch.

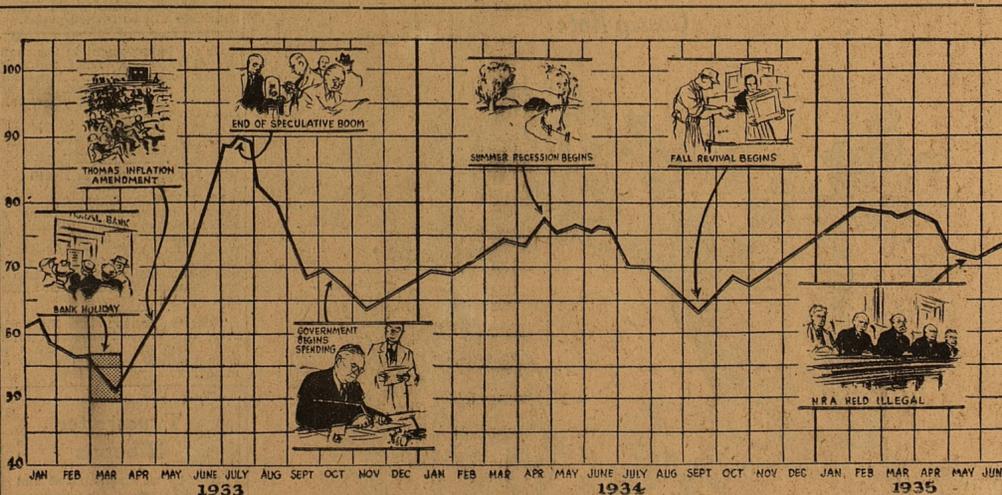

Special mention was due to the following players: to Obie Bristow of Big Spring and Frank Johnson of Midland for low medal score of the day; both carding a 71; to Morgan Neil of Midland who won a closely fought match on the twentieth hole from his opponent, Eddie Morgan who scored for the eighteen holes was 72; to Daugherty and to Frank Johnson for winning their matches on the twenty-first hole; to Obie Bristow and Pat Riley who nosed out Forgeron by one point in the individual points won.

Forgeron had been leading the league. The player who won the last of the season will receive a trophy from the Sand Belt association. To Dr. Hoover, especially, and the Big Spring team in general, praise was expressed for their fine and clean sportsmanship on the links. Shirley Robins and Bert Hemphill, who played strong golf in their match against each other, were given special mention.

Texas Net Stars Go to Washington

AUSTIN, (AP)—Five University of Texas golfers, Southwest conference champions, were to enter the national intercollegiate meet in Washington, D. C., June 24-29.

Leading the Texas entry was Ed White of Bonham, twice southwest conference singles champion and runner-up for national collegiate honors last summer. Texas won fifth place in the competition last year.

From the depth of the depression (the fateful bank holiday) to the middle of the present year... an illustration chart showing the uphill-and-down-dale route which the nation's business has taken toward the goal of recovery, and developments which have influenced the various trends... The sixth was up. It began in the second week of September and continued until the end of January 1935. It was merely a repetition of the upward movement which had begun in November, 1934. The chief ingredient in this, as in the fourth movement, was the government's spending program. The seventh movement is the one which has characterized the last six months. It has been down from the end of January to the last week in May. It is not easy to explain this downward movement. It was against the normal trend for the season. It should have been up until June 1 at least, followed by a summer recession. Instead it was down to May 25 and then, oddly enough, moved to move up. It has been moving up for four consecutive weeks. If it should continue we would have to label it an eighth movement. However, it would not figure 100 represents normal business. Now let us look at the behavior of business in the last six months compared with the same period of 1934. In 1934 during most of the first half it was going up. This year during most of that period, it was going down. But despite this, business as a whole, during this first half of 1935, was larger than in the corresponding period of 1934. Had it been able to maintain its upward pace right on through June it would have soared close to something approaching real recovery.

All this is measured by what are called index numbers. That is, a larger number of factors—production of steel, coal, electric power, autos, lumber, cement, transportation, trade, bank clearings, etc.—are lumped together and averaged according to rules laid down by statisticians. Then business, at a given period, which is considered normal, is called 100—a measuring index number of 100. Thereafter, we can express the rise or fall by figures lower or higher than that 100. Many such numbers are com-

Vanguard Of Cowboys Reach Reunion Site

STAMFORD, July 1.—With all preparations completed for entertaining the greatest crowd in the town's history, Stamford today was greeting the vanguard of cowboys and their visitors who will wade into the city by thousands Tuesday morning for the opening of the sixth annual roundup of the Texas Cowboy Reunion.

Every indication is that the attendance during the three-day celebration, July 2, 3 and 4, will exceed by several thousand last year's total of 55,000. However, the city and the Reunion grounds are better prepared than ever to take care of the crowds. Seating accommodation at the rodeo arena has been increased to 10,000 through the erection of the new grandstand.

The purpose around which the Reunion and its entire program is built is the keeping alive of traditions, institutions and pastimes of the old West through the assembling of pioneer cowboys and cattle-men and their present-day cowboy successors.

The oldtime cowboys have their own association with more than 1,000 members. They will be special guests of the Reunion management, enjoying free admission to the rodeo and the square dances, a chuck wagon dinner each day and other courtesies.

The cowboy rodeo, in which cowboys actually employed on ranches compete for the prizes, is the central feature of entertainment programs. Three performances will be given each day—the morning matinee at 8:30 a. m. and the regular shows at 2 p. m. and 8 p. m.

Besides the usual cowboy contests in calf-roping, wild-cow milking, steer-riding and bronc-busting, the rodeo this year will have one new feature—a wild horse race. Two other special features of the Reunion rodeo are the cutting-horse contest and calf-roping contest for cowboys over 55 years of age. Educated horses, trick roping and John Lindsay, rodeo king, will be presented in each regular performance.

Judges in the rodeo this year will be the same who served last year: Frank Rhoades, Brockmorton, cattle inspector and past president of the oldtime cowboys organization; Jess Slaughter, Big Spring, sheriff of Howard county and winner of the cutting horse contest in the Reunion of 1933; and Tom Hickman, Austin, captain of headquarter's company of the Texas Rangers and former rodeo judge. Sean Dalouis, John Selmon, picturesque foreman of the S. M. S. Flattop ranch, will be at his usual post as referee.

Most spectacular of all features of the Reunion will be the grand parade at 11 a. m. on Wednesday, July 3. Led by the band, will be held on the other two days. Judging of sponsors for the handmade saddle and other prizes will begin Tuesday morning and be concluded on Wednesday, July 3.

The annual old fiddlers' contest will be held this year on July 4, starting at 10 a. m. (See REUNION, page 4)

ENGLAND OFFERS GIVE TERRITORY TO ETHIOPIA Would Have Settled Quarrel If It Had Been Accepted

LONDON, July 1. (AP)—Captain Anthony Eden revealed to the house of commons today that Premier Mussolini of Italy had refused an offer by England to give Ethiopia a slice of British territory in an effort to facilitate final settlement of the dispute between Ethiopia and Italy.

He explained the British proposal was that the British government should offer a strip of territory in British Somaliland to Ethiopia, giving that nation access to the sea.

He said this was intended to facilitate such territorial and economic concessions from Ethiopia to Italy as might be involved in an agreed settlement.

COLTS OVERRUN GRAND FALLS NINE BY A 15-1 SCORE

The Midland Colts had no trouble at all yesterday in defeating the visiting Grand Falls team by an overwhelming 15-1 score.

The Colts lost no time in scoring once they got a chance as they ran up eight tallies in the first inning and four in the second. They picked up two in the fifth and one in the sixth for the rest of their runs and for the rest of the game made no effort to score, being content to protect their large margin.

Girdley pitched all the game for the Colts and was never in any trouble. He pitched sterling ball behind the bat, making him picked him by his mates and after giving the visitors one run in the third he kept them away from the plate for the rest of the game.

DEATH TOLL SET 91 IN JAPANESE FLOODED AREAS

TOKYO, July 1. (AP)—The home office survey of 17 prefectures ravaged by flood, disclosed today that 91 persons were known dead, 17 missing and hundreds injured. 1700 buildings were destroyed by the floods and 110,000 acres of farmland had been inundated with all crops probably destroyed.

The flood waters were subsiding today.

Watch Youth to Prevent Suicide

GREENVILLE, N. Y., July 1. (AP)—A heavy guard was maintained Sunday at the hospital bed of young Alfred E. Volkman, 19, violin playing butcher's boy, to forestall any new attempt at suicide following his admission to the attack slaying of Helen Glenn, 9, Greenville's perfect schoolgirl.

However, members of New York State's Scotch Yard, who revealed his story Saturday said Volkman apparently has resigned his commission. The hospital guard was merely a precautionary measure.

The villager apparently was little the worse for the two doses of diluted poison he swallowed when the full repulsiveness of his crime started him into panic.

The excitement that prevailed this Catskill resort of 300 persons had died down Sunday and there were none of the muttered threats of Saturday.

ANOTHER TEAPOT DOME IN U. S. SHIPPING?

If any appreciable percentage of all the charges against American merchant marine subsidy practices be true, the situation demands review and reform almost as badly as the Teapot Dome mess did.

It is not merely that we have the old familiar charges of dishonesty and inefficiency; not merely that our government's effort to protect the lives of American travelers at sea is reported to have broken down; more than this, we seem to be defeating the very purposes for which the subsidy law was passed.

The whole idea of the subsidy, of course, was to build up our merchant marine.

Under the law, government loans are made for ship construction, government moneys are paid to ship operators in the guise of private contract fees, and government-built ships are sold to private operators far below cost.

This was justified on the theory that it was the best way to build up a merchant marine service which would be of commercial value in peacetime and of great military value in time of war.

And yet one of the charges made by the special Senate investigating committee is that all of this has been useless. This committee asserts that, in spite of all these subsidies, the merchant marine is steadily declining.

It declares that even with the best possible administration, the present subsidy plan could not succeed in rebuilding our commercial fleets.

A subsidy plan is, in the very nature of things, open to abuses.

When you have the government shelling out huge sums to private concerns, you open the way for all kinds of trouble. Under any administration and in any field of business, this will be true.

Some official is bound to weaken under pressure; some business man is bound to unshearth his chisel and start using it.

It takes the strictest kind of oversight to keep such evils at a minimum; where the overseeing is not strict, the evils will multiply like mushrooms.

That is what we let ourselves in for with the subsidy plan. Now if, on top of all that, the plan doesn't do what we hoped it would do, the argument for some new method of conserving our merchant marine becomes overwhelming.

The Senate committee suggests two alternatives; outright government ownership and operation, or government ownership with private operation.

Whether a third scheme could be worked out, and which of these two would be preferable if that should be impossible, are things yet to be determined. Enough has already been revealed, however, to make it clear that something pretty drastic in the way of reform is imperative.

A LESSON LEARNED LATE

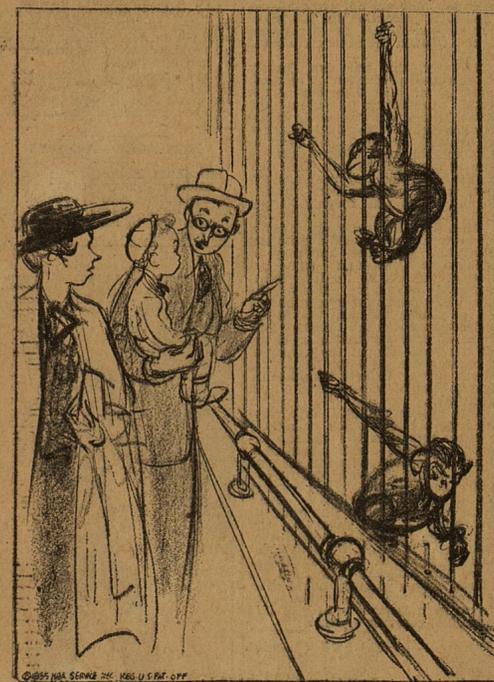

One lesson, at least, the German militarists seem to have learned from the World War; it is bad policy for any European power to enter a naval building race with Great Britain.

However much they may differ in some matters, statesmen of England and Germany are now in agreement on naval policies. Germany willingly accepts a program by which her total naval tonnage cannot exceed 35 per cent of the British strength, and the program is embodied in a two-power treaty which is valid regardless of the naval programs of other powers.

One cannot help think how different world history might have been if such agreement could have been reached, say, in 1910.

Fear of Germany's naval ambitions was the one great motive that drove England into the entente. Between 1914 and 1918 German statesmen learned once and for all that Germany's way to greatness does not lie in a naval program. That much, at least, can be written down as definite and positive fruit of the war.

This I Know

By Helen Welshimer G o swiftly when you leave me, dear, go gaily, And do not speak; there is no little word To act as balm for two whose very nearness— Once left the other strangely, deeply stirred.

Go bravely then—the gallant dream is ended, By what design of life we do not know. An earthly Heaven cannot be eternal, Were we heart-blind, beloved, to think it so?

B U T this I know: no loveliness of living, Though it be tempered by high pain or weel, Is ever lost; we rise from it the braver With clearer eyes, and there is stronger steel In shields we bear against new storms assailing. There will be light upon the broken way, Though we go lonely in the great procession Whose castles fell as ours went down today.

GARDEN Gossip

What chance has the late planted vegetable garden? This is a question asked by many a late starter these days, and the answer is—good. Almost all of the vegetables can be planted with success in late June.

Some of the extreme northern climates, where the season is very short, some of these vegetables might not be successful if an early frost gets to them. In practically all communities however, the list may be planted with complete assurance well into July.

The short season may be compensated for by forcing your crops with good care, plenty of moisture and plant food. The fact that the weather is warm will cause them to germinate quickly, and if fed properly, or if planted in a rich soil they will make considerably faster progress than the spring planted crops.

Sweet corn is one of the best crops to plant late. It is a fast grower, and warm weather, and although an early frost might get the best of it, the chances of success is well worth your efforts. Such crops as turnips and squash will not be affected by a slight frost.

If you get started very late, you can always buy plants of the most tender crops, such as tomatoes, cabbage and Brussels sprouts. Growing them yourself in little boxes is better.

Letters to the Editor

The Reporter-Telegram and the citizens of Midland: The Texas State Parks Board joins the Big Bend and Davis Mountains Chambers of Commerce in an invitation to you to join them in a two-days celebration.

On July 4 there is a barbecue in the mountains of Big Bend, and July 5 a barbecue at Fort Davis in the Davis Mountains.

You and your family will be the guests of the Chambers of Commerce while there.

Yours very truly, D. E. Colp, Chairman State Parks Board.

The Reporter-Telegram: Under Acts of the 43rd Legislature, 2nd C. S., ch. 15, sec. 13, the State Auditor's office is charged with the duty of auditing relief expenditures and making quarterly reports to each member of the Legislature and the press. However, adequate provision was not made for auditing expenditures of the various county administrative offices, where most of the relief funds are actually disbursed.

The cooperation of the public is sought in this connection, and we would be pleased to receive suggestions for improvement in the manner of expending relief funds by county organizations. Also, any criticism of past expenditures will be carefully considered when called to our attention.

Yours very truly, G. B. Simpson, State Auditor.

Visiting Musician Plays at Naomi Class Meeting

Mrs. Robert E. Peart of Chattanooga, Tenn., played a paraphrase of "Old Hundred" by Rive-King as a special number at the meeting of the Naomi class Sunday morning.

Mrs. Peart, who is here visiting her sister, Mrs. L. H. Tyfin, is from the Chattanooga Conservatory of Music.

Mrs. A. E. Horst read the lesson and the class read the devotional.

The lesson for the day was taught by Mrs. Fletcher Currie and Mrs. Harvey Fryar dismissed the class with prayer.

Singing was led by Mrs. A. P. Baker and the offertory was played by Mrs. J. S. Shaw.

Thirty-five members and two visitors, including Mrs. Peart and Mrs. R. G. Kelly, were present.

FEMININE FANCIES

BY KATHLEEN EILAND

From what we have read concerning them, we feel that Midland is lucky to have the opportunity of seeing Joseph von Hahn and Martha DeNegre dance here on the Fourth of July. Dancing that is really artistic is a delight and a joy.

We notice that their repertoire includes the "Dance of Death" which should certainly be worth seeing.

The dance which stands out in our memory as the most splendid we have ever seen was a "Dance of Resurrection" which we saw several years ago.

Judging from some of the "Personal Opinions" expressed Sunday, we take it that the author of "Flub Dubs" is not exactly in love with the genus society editor. Our besetting weakness of kindness toward animals makes us hesitate to express our own opinions concerning sports writers.

We like the idea of dimity or Swiss dresses with net collars and sleeves banded with ribbons or material. There is something captivating about net and something crisply gay about its perky ruffings.

We don't know whether it's lack of patriotism or just plain hot weather, but for some reason we've not experienced a flicker of enthusiasm so far over the approach of July Fourth. We feel that there should at least be an urge to set off few fire-crackers.

Inter-office correspondent fight are somewhat like family trouble, in my opinion. They should be kept in the office or the family.

The fair ground boys were out this morning to get the rest of the money. If you haven't taken your part of the stock and handed them your check, you are holding up construction on one of the biggest projects in West Texas.

When the dirt starts turning for the race track, the concrete starts pouring for the steel grandstands, the saws and hammers start a racket on the new exhibit buildings and stables, you are either going to be proud you had a part in it, sorry you didn't, or you will just be so indifferent that you don't have any feelings at all.

Pitch in, give the boys your check and let's get this thing under way.

FERRIS ADMITS HE SHOT AND KILLED GOTHAM ATTORNEY

DETROIT, July 1. (AP)—Any theory that Howard Carter Dickinson may have killed himself was discredited today in the report of Dr. Robert Kallman, Wayne county medical examiner, who performed the autopsy.

Suicide was one of the explanations given officers by William Lee Ferris, 26, in statements after his arrest as a suspect.

Kallman said he found no marks which showed that Dickinson had struggled before his death.

DETROIT, Mich., July 1. (AP)—William Lee Ferris, hotel manager and man of many aliases, admitted Sunday that he shot and killed Howard Carter Dickinson, prominent New York attorney and nephew of Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, Thursday morning. Ferris insisted, however, Chief of Detectives Fred Prahan said, that the shooting was done with a pistol he seized from Dickinson's hand.

The slaying climaxed a party that began in Dickinson's downtown hotel Wednesday evening and ended in Rouge Park, twelve miles from the city, where the attorney's body, sprawled at the side of a deserted road, was picked up at dawn Thursday.

Ferris, the detective chief said, claimed neither he nor any of the three young women arrested with him at Fort Wayne, Ind., Saturday had any previous acquaintance with Dickinson or his connection with the $40,000,000 estate of William H. Yawkey, lumberman and sportsman. It was to investigate a claim against this estate that Dickinson went to Detroit last week.

Women Held as Witnesses

The three young women, Loretta Jackson, 27; Flossie Jackson, 24, her sister, and Lillian Winles, 24, also known as Lillian Miller, are held as material witnesses.

"No one knew anything about Dickinson except that he was a guy who wanted to buy some drinks," Ferris said. He denied having promised a taxicab driver some business Wednesday evening. Anthony J. Smygen, the taxi driver, told police Ferris had said he was planning a party with a big shot lawyer who had a lot of money and to have a cab waiting.

Ferris' statement, the detective said, failed to set forth a definite motive and conflicted in so many respects he did not believe the whole story had been told.

Frahan's assistant, Deputy Chief Henry W. Uiel, said officers were convinced all the parties to the case are in custody and they no longer place any credence in a report that a second man might have been involved in the slaying.

In the scene at left, Mariette Dietrich tries to remain on her famous legs in the revolving barrel, while William Haines, behind her, is evidently having trouble, too. low and is not in any sense near revival. The increase in home construction however, has been more than offset by the falling off in commercial construction. Taking the construction industry as a whole, it is sustained almost wholly by government contracts or government loans to states, municipalities and corporations. It shows no vigor of its own. It remains now, as it has been since the beginning of the depression, the one big spot in our industry which must be dealt with before true recovery can be attained.

What of that troubled soul—the merchant? How department stores and chain stores have been doing is all recorded carefully. But the hundreds of thousands of small merchants still do not furnish any statistics as to how much they are selling. We can merely say that department stores—so far as they are an index of retail trade—sold more this year than last; that they did better in the first three months of 1935 than in 1934 and not so well in the last three months. Thus we see that production was a little better, railroad operation about the same, retail trade a little better and construction worse.

What of the eternal working man? In the early part of the six months period, employment showed an improvement over last year—not a heavy improvement—but enough to be noticeable. In the latter part it fell off a little. What it is for the month of June we cannot say as there are yet no figures available. Apparently there has been no serious lay-offs since the abandonment of NRA. And pay-rolls are somewhat better.

The Department of Labor has statistics on labor and other economic factors using 1923 to 1925 as its base period for comparison. According to these reports employment has reached 82 per cent of what it was in 1923-1925. But production has risen to 90 per cent of the 1923-1925 level. The total amount of pay-rolls has recovered to only 71 per cent of the same standard.

Here is a little table of im-

Business--

Month	Pro-duction	Em-ploy-ment	Pay-rolls
March, 1933	60	59	37
June, 1934	33	81	65
May, 1935	30	82	71

From this we see first that production and employment went down about the same but that pay-rolls sank far lower—to 37. The favorable point in all this is that employment rose from 59 to 82 and pay-rolls from 37 to 71. The unfavorable feature of this is that while production is within 10 points of the 1923-25 level, employment has 18 points to go to reach it and pay-rolls have 29 points to go. Meantime prices have recovered more than pay-rolls so that the actual purchasing power of the pay-roll is even less than it seems.

Profits of those large business concerns which are available for inspection have fared better. This is not to say the small business enterprise has not done equally well. But we have no reports to judge by. The Federal Reserve Board has compiled the profits of 279 leading industrial enterprises. In the first quarter of 1933 these corporations sustained an aggregate loss of $52,400,000. In 1934 they made $117,800,000. In 1935 they made $154,800,000 in the first quarter. The railroads, however, continue to lose money and lost much more this year than last. But oddly enough while the trend of business activity has been down, the trend of security prices has been distinctly up. Fifteen stocks which a year ago were priced at an average of 77.2 were recently priced at 98.62. This rise has taken place since March. From January to March the market sagged. But since March it has gone up steadily.

The stock market went up, despite the decline in business activity, simply because the investing and speculating public has become convinced that a certain degree of inflation is inevitable. There has been, therefore, a steady movement of funds into common stocks ever since the agitation about the Fatman bill touched off the inflationary scare.

Thus to sum up business has been rocking along these last 18 months within a narrow range and around about the same level. It is a little better than it was, though tending down. But it exhibits no dynamic energy as yet. No new industries appear. There have been no exceptional spurts anywhere save in the automobile industry. Construction still is the laggard. In fact every part of the capital goods industry remains inert. Clearly something has happened to make business better than 1933 or 1934. The downward spiral of 1931 to 1933 has been checked. There has been a lift. But it has not been a tremendous lift and much distance remains to be traveled before we can say recovery has been reached.

World conditions are about the same. England has done just about the same this half year as last. Germany has done better, but France has done worse. Italy is about the same.

PEACE FOLLOWS MARTIAL LAW IN STRIKE REGIONS

GALENA, Kan., July 1. (AP)—Militantly enforced peace hung Sunday over the Missouri-Kansas-Oklahoma lead and zinc mining district, recently harassed by riots between striking miners and a faction desirous of return to work.

A military dictatorship headed by Col. Charles H. Browne, newspaper publisher at Horton in civil life, held sway in Cherokee County, the Kansas sector of the district. Similarly, Col. E. L. Head of the Oklahoma National Guard kept a tight rein on the situation in his State. Few of the rioters, in which twelve men were hurt Friday, have taken place in Missouri.

Forced To Come Back

Irritated that he was forced to return to the district for the second time in two weeks, Colonel Browne and 200 Kansas National Guardsmen swept into Galena Saturday morning and took possession of the town, placing it and the rest of the county under martial law. The lean faced Colonel-editor said he wanted to show the county what martial law is.

"Then they'll know what to expect if they get out of hands again," he said. "The trouble is there hasn't been any real law enforcement here in thirty years."

In a new show of violence dynamite blasts were set off Saturday night near Baxter Springs, Kan., in an effort to blow up wooden poles of the electric company that supplies current to the mine area.

Guns Are Collected

Martial law notices required that guns be surrendered and 100 rifles and shotguns and fifty pistols were collected. Colonel Head also started a round-up of arms in Oklahoma.

The strike started several weeks ago with the union's demand for recognition. "There's no doubt the operators have broken the strike," Colonel Browne said. "Ninety per cent of the mines are operating but there's still a big dissatisfied element in the area that will give trouble until some agreement is reached."

Use of Candy to Flavor Ice Cream Simplifies Making

By MARY E. DAGUE
NEA Service Staff Writer

Pie may be father's favorite dessert, but ice cream holds first place with the children. The simplest way to make ice cream is by the candy method. Any flavor you want is concocted as easily as plain junket or custard pudding. A milk junket, cream or a custard foundation combined with the candy for flavoring and sweetness and then frozen without turning is no trouble at all.

All the hard varieties of candies, chocolate coated or plain, can be used without additional sugar. Some of the little candies may require a little extra sugar.

Half Pound to Quart

One-half pound of candy is enough to sweeten and flavor one quart of custard or other foundation mixture. The is a wide variety from which to choose. The stick candies, fruit lozenges, the hard stuffed candies, the chocolate coated and plain marshmallows, the nut brittles and so on through the list.

Sometimes I crush the candy and let it thoroughly dissolve in the foundation cream before freezing to produce an even color. You get a mottled effect if the candy is rather coarsely crushed and added to the cream mixture just before freezing. In this way there will be bits of undissolved candy sprinkled through the frozen mixture.

sauce for Sunday dinner dessert. I make the cream early in the morning and by the time the family gather from church and golf the dessert is frozen and ready for serving. The chocolate sauce is easy and requires no watching.

Last week my Sunday dinner was ready to serve when I came home from church. I had a year-old chicken that I stuffed and roasted, mashed potatoes, buttered asparagus, tomatoes stuffed and roasted, mashed potatoes, buttered asparagus, tomatoes stuffed with new cabbage and shredded pineapple and ice cream with chocolate sauce. Strawberries were fine and large so I used them unthawed around a mound of powdered sugar for the first course. With the exception of the potatoes and asparagus, everything was done before I went to church. The chicken roasted in the oven at 350 degrees F. for two hours. The tomatoes were peeled and stuffed and put in the refrigerator to chill and the ice cream was in the freezing unit.

Peppermint Stick Ice Cream

One pound red and white peppermint stick candy, 3 cups scalded milk, 1 tablespoon granulated gelatin, 2 cups whipping cream, few grains salt.

Scald milk in double boiler. Add crushed candy and stir until dissolved. Soften gelatin in 4 tablespoons cold water for five minutes and stir into hot milk mixture. Stir until dissolved. Cool for an hour. Beat until foamy and fold in cream whipped until firm. Add salt and turn into freezing tray. Freeze to a mush and scrape from sides and bottom with a spatula and stir well. Continue freezing until ready to serve.

Chocolate Sauce

One and one-half cups milk, 3-4 crushed candy, 3 squares bitter chocolate, 1 tablespoon cornstarch or arrowroot, 1-8 teaspoon salt, 1-2 teaspoon vanilla.

If you are making this sauce for children particularly, use arrowroot rather than cornstarch. Mix sugar, salt and cornstarch or arrowroot. Add milk with chocolate broken in small pieces and cook over hot water for twenty to thirty minutes. Cover while cooking and stir occasionally. When ready to serve beat well with a Dover beat and add vanilla. Serve hot in a sauce-boat or pitcher.
