C. C. Rescinds Previous Action on July 4th Barbecue

EXPENSE AGAINST PROGRAM

July 4th Date Is Not Acceptable for Reunion

Acting on suggestion of some of the leading ranchers who take the lead in July 4 celebrations, and acting on the judgment of several of the business men, the Mideral of the business men, the Midland chamber of commerce Monday night rescinded its previous action on a big July 4 barbecue.

The organization voted unanimously not to have the free barbecue this year in order to economize with the people's money. The cowmen always bear the bulk of the expense through furnishing the calves, and while all seen stated they would respond again this year if it were decided to have the barbecue, some advised against the attempt, due to the general condition of things.

attempt, due to the general condition of things.

The chamber voted to co-operate with Timberline Floyd and Spencer Jowell in their July 4 horse races by helping with publicity and assisting committees if the owners of Cowboy park desire.

The chamber also voted to co-operate in every possible way with the proposed Old Settlers reunion and give direct assistance in this

COOPERATION IN CLEAN UP DRIVE

Full co-operation with the city government in the annual clean-up, paint-up campaign, which is usually handled directly through the Wom-en's Federated clubs was pledged by the Midland chamber of commerce at a meeting of the directors Monday night.

The chamber approved the expenditure of $35 for 50 well developed trees sold at cost by R. O. Walker for the new Haley park which the city plans to develop.

Reports were made on work being done by the office in making out farm loan applications.

Ulmer a Speaker At Connell Banquet

Marvin C. Ulmer, cashier of the First National bank of Midland, will be one of the speakers at the banquet in Fort Worth Saturday night honoring W. E. Connell.

The program will be broadcast.

Ulmer will speak on Connell as a banker. The banquet is being held by friends of Connell, composed of the leading men of Fort Worth and West Texas. Midland and Ulmer were honored with a place on the program, Connell having been one of the founders of a private bank many years ago from which sprung the First National of Midland.

John Scharbauer was associated with Connell here years ago, and with Connell here years ago, and he, too, will attend the banquet.

Nervousness Is Cause of Term

NEW YORK, March 22.— Daniel Nevins, 29, grew nerv-ous Monday while waiting for a jury to return a verdict in i murder case against him. His anxiety led him to tell the court he would plead guilty to a second degree manslaughter charge. The plea was accepted and he was sentenced to from five to ten years in Sing Sing before the jury reported. The jury members later dis-closed they had reached a verdict of acquittal.

Mrs. Arrington Is Hurt in Collision

Mrs. L. A. Arrington suffered cuts and bruises and the loss of two teeth in an automobile collision in El Paso

Monday.

She was in a hospital there today. The Midland woman was attending a druggist convention with her husband and Miss Josephine Guly. The Midlanders, driving Dr. L. B. Pemberton's car, were struck at Mesa and Montana by a Yearwood Grocery company truck. Mrs. Arrington was severely cut about the face and suffered from shock. Her husband and Miss Guly escaped with negligible injuries.

The child of the Arringtons was not with her parents, remaining here with the Pembertons.

The Pemberton car is well insured, but the grocery company truck was to blame for the accident, Dr. Pemberton said. Arrington, manager of the Midland Drug company, telephoned him after the wreck last night.

There was nothing about Steven in the news columns, but in one of the society columns Ellen found a picture of Larry Harrowgate, an old picture badly reproduced. Seeing it she was seized with sharp longing for him, to hear his gay voice and

When no one was observing her,

"Ha!" Myra exclaimed significant-

Ellen whirled. Her color deepened. She had an impulse to hide the pic-ture but she did not. She only stood ed against her heart.

"I was wondering if you'd do that," Myra observed, a wise smile on her lips. "I saw the picture, too." "Why shouldn't I?" Ellen demanded in a trembling, half defiant way. "No reason at all, my dear. Here's wishing you all the luck in the world!"

"It doesn't seem really right for me to be thinking of Larry, does it?" Ellen asked timidly.

"Goodness!" Myra ejaculated.
"Haven't you learned yet that love has nothing to do with right and wrong? The person who said all's fair in love and war understood that."

Ellen crossed the room and sank the footstool at Myra's feet. She tipped her head back so that it touched her sister's knee and stared into the blue and orange glow of the gas log. Delightfully she let her thoughts center on Larry.

"Maybe I've learned now," she said dreamily, after a long silence. She added, "I suppose it's right that it should be that way and right that the world should go on. Everything was so horrible at first I couldn't seem to remember Steven at all. The whole thing was mixed up with mis-

Novel Easter Party for Members

Of Thursday Night Club Monday

One of the prettiest parties of the pre-Easter season took place on Monday evening when Mmes, C. L. Jackson and George Abell entertained members of the Thursday club at Hotel Scharbauer at a dinner bridge. The guests all sat at one long table, softly lighted with candles of yellow and green, with the same colors brought out in all the appointments, and which was centered with an Easter scene of rabbits, chickens, and Easter eggs, grouped in an interesting manner. Place cards of Easter bunnies in hats guided the members to their places.

After the meal, tables were laid for bridge. W. C. Kinkel took high men's trophy, and Mrs. Jack Hazeltine held high women's score. Much amusement was afforded the group over the difficulty these prize-winners had in finding their gifts, of Tithing

Sick with misery she went again to Dreamland Friday night. No hope of Larry tonight. If he were sailing it meant no hope at all. She was restless, impatient and annoyed with her partners, unable to keep her eyes from staring over their shoulders to the door. Oh why didn't Larry come!

At half past 10 she saw him. Ellen was not dancing and did not see him coming up the stairs. She caught sight of him when he stopped at the ticket booth His back was toward her. The girl did not move but sat very still as one in the presence of a miracle. In her heart was a sense of exquisite peace.

He turned. She started from her

"He's forgotten me," she told her-self in endless and bewildered pain "I'm no more to him than a girl he might have met on a ferry boat ride. I'm nothing to him and I've thought of nothing except him for months.

She clenched her hands then and bit her lips, determined not to cry here in this noisy ballroom, before all these people. She tried to think that some of the other girls about her had suffered as she was suffering. She tried to tell herself that the pain in her heart could not last No pain lasted forever. If she raised her head it might be better. But she knew that with her slightest movement that with her slightest move-ment the tears would come in tor-rents. She continued to sit, head bent, like a girl made of marble. Someone dropped into the chair opposite. For the moment Ellen was blind and deaf. She heard Larry's voice and slowly raised her head. He was sitting across the table from her in the place he had so often occupied. As always her hurt pride could not resist him.

"Larry," she whispered.

He leaned forward and caught her clenched hands. He was laughing ex-citedly as if he himself did not know why he laughed. His eyes were bright as the girl's.

"It's wonderful to see you again," he exclaimed over and over in long uneven breaths. His eyes clung to hers.
Ellen struggled to free her hands

Mad Dogs Bite in Mild Weather

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UP) .-- An average of 12 persons appear each day at the city clinic here for the Pasteur treatment for rabies, induced by mad-dog bites.

Dr. W. E. King, city health officer, attributes the number to warm and mild weather conducive to the disease. Treatment, which formerly could be secured only at Austin, consists of a series of 14 injections applied daily

Years ago the only "treatment" for rabies was the madstone, a small heart-shaped object taken from the head of a deer. This, with sweet milk, removed poison from the system, it was believed.

Couple Recall Alaskan Adventures

OLD FORGE, N. Y. (UP).-Mr. and Mrs. Michael Dulin sat in their other day and recalled the 20-year period they lived near Dawson, Alaska, seeking gold.

Mrs. Dulin recounted how she had to drive a dog team 60 miles to Dawson for provisions in 50 degree below zero weather, and then re

The two left Canajoharie, N. Y in 1898. They recall that potatoes were $1.50 a pound, flour $25 a sack, evaporated milk $1 a can, and eggs
