SECRETARY HULL DENIES OPINIONS THAT OF COUNTRY

Second Apology Since "Flag Ripping" Incident

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14. (AP)—The United States today expressed an official regret that Magistrate Louis Brodsky, New York, made any "insulting" remarks concerning the Nazi flag, but disclaimed any responsibility for the words and said that the words did not voice any official attitude of this government.

Secretary Hull expressed the government's regrets orally to Dr. Rudolf Lehner, charge d'affaires of the German embassy.

Hull criticized the statements of Brodsky, which he made when he freed five alleged communists charged with tearing the Nazi flag from the liner Bremen July 26th.

It was learned that an attempt might be made to have Long's widow accept the appointment of her husband's inexperienced term which has four months to run.

The speakers will be men and women who are leading the fight against tuberculosis in the south.

One section of the conference will be devoted to seal sale methods used in the various associations represented. This conference will take the place of the annual district seal sale institutes usually held throughout the state each fall. For this reason the executive secretary of the Texas Tuberculosis association has urged all local agencies interested in the tuberculosis Christmas seal sale to send delegates to the southern conference.

Time Turned Back By Old Pictures Now On Display At Library

Old John Citizen is saying, "Well, look here! Do you remember when the rain and hail came down so hard everybody at the ball game had to crawl under his car to keep from getting beat up? And immediately it is 1938 again, cars boast only two doors and no top at all or a very open one, and the old-time picture exhibit has won another friend."

New John Citizen is saying, "Look, it says this is the first Llano Hotel." He tries to visualize the town with a frame hotel, hitching racks, and punchers all over the porch. He probably thinks of woolly chaps, big hats, and bandanas, but the sure-nut cowboys didn't wear 'em. Come convince yourself by seeing real ranch outfits from 1885 to 1895.

The years will roll back when you see: Mr. Taylor Brown a young man again; Helen Rountree Ulmer in the first grade; Freddie Cowden Nobles at the Misses Moseley's school.

The first Masonic lodge meeting at Dr. Curtis' house. The Curtis place north of town with only one room and a porch. Ira Driver, a young lad, leading the 1888 parade.

It's fun! Get in on it! It's at the County Library, first floor, Court House.

Mullens Broncs

Add to Wildness Midland Fair Rodeo

Contracting the famous Johnny Mullens broncs for the Midland Fair rodeo, officials of the organization said Saturday the bronc riding events here would be second to none.

With 23 head of the wildest, saltiest and snakiest animals in the arena today, the Johnny Mullens Broncs, known from New York to Calgary and at the major rodeos in between, Bronc riders entering the sport where those mounts are in use look forward to bucking bronc rides as far as they can go, with probable sky-rides and tail-spins to follow.

J. W. B. Hogan, former cattle inspector here, is scouring South Texas to send to Midland the meanest possible Brahman steers for the steer riding contest. Messages to Roy Parks, chairman of the rodeo committee, assure the local fair management that the steer riding will be corky, if not impossible.

Big three and four year old steers have been contracted locally for the team roping and bull dogging. They have plenty of time to be ready.

Calves to be used in the calf roping also are of local origin. They are of uniform size, around 300 pounds, and should be extra fast, although small enough to be flanked by the contestants.

Two Coyle Horses

Join Local Stables

Two of the six race horses stabled here Thursday night by G. H. Doyle remained at Midland when he left Friday for Dallas.

The 3-year-old gray filly, Viola C, was bought by Fred Turner Jr. and added to his string of horses in training.

Coyle took the remaining four horses to Dallas to be raced in the meet which opens this week.

Cargo Foreign Corn Blamed for Low Price

GALVESTON, (AP)—Collapse of the American price of corn was blamed for an unusual transaction in which part of a cargo of 360,000 bushels of South African corn which arrived July 3 from Antwerp has been shipped back to Holland after being stored in Texas City awaiting sale.

When the corn arrived the price in Texas City was 98 cents per bushel with prospects for a higher price. The corn was stored in a bonded warehouse, the duty of 25c per bushel to be paid to the United States government as the cereal was taken out and sold.

The shippers apparently figured that they could pay all shipping and handling charges, pay the government 25 cents a bushel tariff and make a profit.

In spite of a shortage in the corn belt other sections of the United States produced more corn than usual and the price dropped. By taking the corn out of the bonded warehouse and exporting it the owners do not have to pay the 25 cents duty.

If the entire shipment had been sold on this market the government would have collected approximately $90,000 in duty.

A cargo of South African corn arrived in June and when 30,000 bushels were taken out and sold the government collected $7,500. The balance of both shipments remains in warehouses.

Be assured that a receipt is given for each picture. You run no risk of losing it or having frail ones mutilated. Pictures are shown only under glass.

The 110 pictures now being shown do not contain: Jules Driver's lively stable. Old Methodist or Baptist churches. The Half and Moran wells east of town. Agricultural exhibits at any fair. School groups. The first airplane that "lit" here. Bar associations. Church or Sunday school groups. Clay pigeon shoots. Old stores. Fire automobiles. These and all others will be of much interest. ## Three Wildcat Locations Gain Basin Oil Interest

By PAUL OSBORNE

With three new and what promises to be most interesting wildcat locations announced, nine other locations made, and 12 producing wells completed to add 11,000 barrels to the daily potential of the area, West Texas oil activity reached well up during the week past.

One of the new wildcat locations is a far outpost test to be drilled in northwestern Gaines county by Wahlgren and York and Harper. The well, known as No. 1 Ed Jones, will be located 660 feet from the south and west lines of section 414, block G, C. S. D., R. G. N. G. Railway, a total depth of 4,338 feet.

The first long awaited tests of sparsely explored Gaines county. York and Harper made another wildcat location during the week which will also be drilled.

In Ector county, the well is 660 feet from the south and east lines of section 13, block 43, township 2 south, 2 & P. Railway survey, which is about five miles southeast of Landreth No. 1 Johnson a wildcat producer completed last winter, and three miles northeast of the Ector county Adels pool.

Long tested in an attempt to develop production, Atlantic No. 1, Kioh, Ector county, was finally put on the dry and abandoned list this week. Located 2,240 feet from the south and east lines of section 11, block 43, township 1 south, T. & P. Railway survey, just south of the North Cowden pool, the operation was completed and one new location and showed some oil but not enough to be commercial.

In the Connell pool of southwestern Ector county, three producers were completed and one new location made. Amerada-Skelly No. 5-B University, 990 feet from the south line and 330 feet from the west line of section 2, block 35, university land, was completed for 319 barrels daily after shot; Callahan No. 2 Connell, 2,310 feet from the north and 990 feet from the west line of section 1, block B-16, public school land, gauged 298 barrels daily through casing and Gulf No. 7-B Connell, 2,310 feet from the north and 990 feet from the west line of section 9, same block, which gauged 71 barrels daily through tubing on proration gauge. Thompson No. 13-B Johnson was 2,310 feet from the southwest line of section 9, same block, which gauged 1,684 barrels daily and West Texas Oil and Royalty Company No. 1-C University, 330 feet from the north and east lines of section 6, block 19 university land, which gauged 71 barrels daily through tubing on proration gauge. Thompson No. 13-B Johnson was 2,310 feet from the southwest line of section 9, block 34, H. & T. C. Railway survey.

The third wildcat location of the week is in the Pecos River head of north Pecos county. Known as Tex-ardson No. 1 Walton, new producer in northeastern Winkler county, was announced in Showers. Moncrief et al Pure No. 1 Walton, which has been located 2,200 feet from the north and east lines of section 1, block B-3, public school land.

Two completions and a location were scored for the Sayre pool of north central winkler county. Mid-Continent No. 3-A Howe, 1,650 feet from the north line and 990 feet from the west line of section 12, block 26, public school land, was gauged 790 barrels daily flow after 802 barrels daily; Sayre No. 5-B Howe, 990 feet from the north and west lines of the same section, gauged 790 barrels daily flow after 802 barrels daily; Sayre No. 6-C Cummins was located 990 feet from the north line and 330 feet from the east line of section 11, same block.

Fifth completion for the Brown-Altman pool of Winkler county, accomplished during the week, was Fox-Butler No. 2 Brown-Altman, 2-3/4 miles from the south line and 1,850 feet from the west line of section 6, block B-5, public school land. At total depth of 3,195 feet, the well gauged 625 barrels daily through tubing on proration gauge.

Northern Ward county received a location in Gulf No. 47 Hutchins, 2-3/4 feet from the north line and 330 feet from the west line of section 3, block F, G. & M., M. B. & A. survey.

Southward Ward county completions were: Skelly No. 1 Citizens National Bank, 330 feet from the north and east lines of section 40, block 34, H. & T. C. Railway survey, good for 60 barrels daily; California No. 18 York, 1,650 feet from the northeast and southeast lines of section 10, same block, which gauged 566 barrels daily; Thompson No. 3-B Johnson, 990 feet from the southeast line and 330 feet from the southwest line of section 9, same block, which gauged 1,684 barrels daily and West Texas Oil and Royalty Company No. 1-C University, 330 feet from the north and east lines of section 6, block 19 university land, which gauged 71 barrels daily through tubing on proration gauge. Thompson No. 13-B Johnson was 2,310 feet from the southwest line of section 9, block 34, H. & T. C. Railway survey.

The two other completions of the week were failures. In Reagan county, Culbertson and Irwin No. 1 Ringo, 1,320 feet from the south and west lines of section 1, block H, L. & S. V. Railway survey, was abandoned at total depth of 3,430 feet when sulphur water was encountered; and in Crane county, Dobbs No. 1 Jax Cowden, 690 feet from the east line and 330 feet from the south line of section 36, block 1, H. & T. C. Railway survey, was abandoned with water showing at total depth of 2,343 feet.

LOUISIANA SEES WHAT COMES OF EUROPEAN DICTATORSHIP

It would be interesting to know what a man from Russia, say, or Yugo-Slavia, would have to say about the shooting of Senator Huey Long.

As Americans, we have always made a point of looking down on those European countries in which the plain citizen's only answer to the dictator is a revolver shot. We have prided ourselves on the fact that in our country the free and open channels of democracy make such violence unnecessary. Over here, if we don't like our rulers we vote them out of office; in such European countries as are ruled by dictators, those who feel oppressed have to shoot their oppressors to get rid of them.

Now we in America get a taste of the same thing. Senator Long stops a revolver bullet, and the same sort of emotion that struck down the late King Alexander of Yugo-Slavia comes to the surface in the senator's own Louisiana.

It goes without saying, of course, that the act will arouse a feeling of shocked horror among Senator Long's political opponents, as well as among his friends. Political assassination is a peculiarly dreadful and frightening thing; one of the chief fruits of democratic government is that it makes such action unnecessary. You don't need to shoot a politician when you can get at him with a ballot.

But that is just the point. Senator Long set up in Louisiana a dictatorial regime under which he was beyond the reach of ballots. He made a dictator of himself; a dictator without the grace of storm troopers, blood purges or anti-Semitism, to be sure, but a dictator none the less. And by so doing he prepared the ground for assassination.

No man gets to the top in politics without making enemies. Senator Long had about as big a collection of them as any man in America; and it can very properly be added that some of them, at least, were very much to his credit.

But the ordinary politician, in America, has no more fear of being shot than has plain John Doe. Once the people who dislike him outnumber the people who like him, he is automatically retired from public life. It is only when dislike and opposition are suppressed and robbed of their normal outlet—the ballot box—that a dangerous pressure is created.

That is what was done in Louisiana. Senator Long set up in his state a small-scale model of a European dictatorship. Shocking as the news from Baton Rouge is, it is worth remembering that it is precisely the sort of thing that comes with dictatorships.

A BIG LAUGH ON HERR HITLER

One day last July there was a nasty little riot aboard the German liner Bremen in New York harbor. The riot occurred when the New Yorkers objected to the unfurling of a swastika flag, and the cops had to be called to restore order.

By way of showing its appreciation for the officers' services, the North German Lloyd steamship line made them gifts of money. The officers had to get permission from their superiors to accept the gifts; and so, the other day, it came out that one of the men thus rewarded was Detective Matthew Solomon, who is as Jewish as the ancient king.

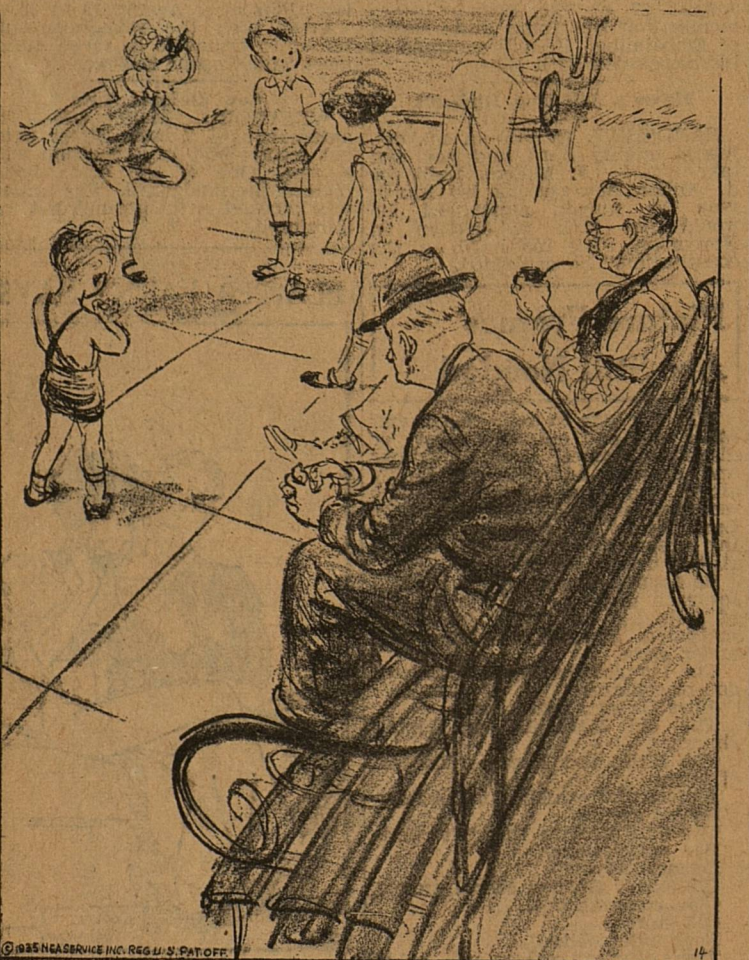

And in this dryly humorous little story there is all the commentary needed on the essential brainlessness of Nazi anti-Semitism. Here we have a Jewish policeman being rewarded for protecting the Nazi flag from attack by Jews. The joke would seem to be on Herr Hitler.

At last reports, the utility holding companies were living up to their name. The burden was a bag.

The Political Advantage of a 'Breathing Spell'

"—And Sudden Death", Gruesome Story Of Auto Accidents, Challenges Readers

Like the gruesome spectacle of a bad automobile accident itself, the realistic details of this article will nauseate some readers. Those who find themselves thus affected at the outset are cautioned against reading the article in its entirety, since there is no letdown in the author's outspoken treatment of sickening facts.

(Reprinted by NEA Service by Permission of "The Reader's Digest") Publishing the total of motorine miles—almost a million last year with 36,000 deaths—never gets to first base in jarring the motorist into a realization of the appalling risks of motoring. He does not translate dry statistics into a reality of blood and agony.

Figures exclude the pain and horror of savage mutilation—which means they leave out the point. They need to be brought closer home. A passing look at a bad smash or the news that a fellow you had lunch with last week is in a hospital with a broken back will make any driver but a born fool slow down at least temporarily. But what is needed is a vivid and sustained realization that every time you step on the throttle, death gets in beside you, hopefully waiting for his chance. That single horrible accident you may have witnessed is no isolated horror. That sort of thing happens every hour of the day, everywhere in the United States. If you really felt that, perhaps the picket line of Monday's paper recording that a total of 29 local citizens were killed in week-end crashes would rate something more than a perfunctory tut-tut as you turn back to the sports page.

An enterprising judge now and again sentences reckless drivers to tour the accident end of a city morgue. But even a mangled body on a slab, waxily portraying the consequences of bad motoring judgment, isn't a patch on the scene of the accident itself. No artist working on a safety poster would dare depict that in full detail.

That picture would have to include motion picture and sound effects—those popping, rattling, efforts of the injured to stand up; the queer, grunting noises; the steady, panting, groaning of a human being with pain creeping up on him as the shock wears off. It should portray the slack expression on the face of a man, drugged with shock, staring at the twisted in his broken leg, the insane crumpled effect of a child's body after its bones are crushed inward, a realistic portrait of a hysterical woman with her screaming mouth opening a hole in the bloody drip that fills her eyes and runs off her chin. Minor details would include the raw ends of bones protruding through flesh in the compound fractures, and the dark, oozing surfaces where clothes and skin were flayed off at once.

Those are all standard, every-day scenes in the modern world, going places in a hurry and taking a chance or two by the way. If ghosts could be put to a useful purpose, every bad stretch of road in the United States would greet the oncoming motorist with groans and screams and the educational spectacle of ten or a dozen corpses, all sizes, sexes and ages, lying horribly still on the bloody grass.

Last year a state trooper of my acquaintance stopped a big red Hispano for speeding. Papa was obviously a responsible person, obviously set for a pleasant week-end with his family—so the officer cut into papa's well-bred expostulations: "I'll let you off this time, but if you keep on this way you won't be last long. Get going—but take it easier."

Later a passing motorist hailed the trooper and asked if the red Hispano had got a ticket. "No," said the trooper. "I hated to spoil their party." "Too bad you didn't," said the motorist, "I saw you stop them—and then I passed that car again 50 miles up the line. It still makes me feel sick at my stomach. The car was all folded up like an accordion—the color was about all there was left. They were all dead but one of the kids—and he wasn't going to live to the hospital." "Maybe it will make you sick at your stomach, too. But unless you're a heavy-footed incurable, a good look at the picture, the artist judgment, ought to be well worth your while. I can't help it if the facts are revolting. If you have the nerve to drive fast and take chances, you ought to have the nerve to take the appropriate cure. You can't ride an ambulance or watch the doctor working on the victim in the ing obliquely into the others.

A trooper described such an accident—five cars in one mess, seven killed on the spot, two dead on the way to the hospital, two more dead in the long run. He remembered it far more vividly than he wanted to—the quick way the doctor turned away from a dead man to check up on a woman with a broken back; the three bodies out of one car so soaked with oil from the crankcase that they looked like wet brown cigars and not human at all; a man, walking around and babbling to himself, oblivious of the dead and dying, even oblivious of the dagger-like silver of steel that stuck out of his streaming wrist; a pretty girl with her forehead laid open, trying hopelessly to crawl out of a ditch in spite of her smashed hip. A first-class massacre of that sort is only a question of scale and numbers—seven corpses are no deadlier than one. Each shattered man, woman or child who went to make up the 36,000 corpses chalked up last year had to die a personal death.

A car careening and rolling down a bank, battering and smashing its occupants every inch of the way, each so shattered and broken that they made up the 36,000 corpses chalked up last year had to die a personal death. Or, to continue with the decapitation motif, going off the road into a post-and-rail fence can put you beyond worrying about other injuries immediately when a rail comes through the windshield and tears off your head with its splintered end—hot as neat a job but thoroughly efficient. Bodies are often found with their shoes off and their feet all broken out of shape. The shoes are back on the floor of the car, empty and with their laces still neatly tied. That is the kind of impact produced by modern speeds.

But all that is routine in every American community. To be remembered individually by doctors and policemen, you have to do something as grotesque as the lady who burst the windshield with her head, splashing splinters all over the other occupants of the car, and then as the car rolled over rolled with it down the edge of the windshield frame and cut her throat from ear to ear. Or park on the pavement too near a curve at night and stand in front of the tail light as you take off a spare tire—which will immortalize you in somebody's memory as the fellow who was mashed three feet broken and two inches thick by the impact of a heavy duty truck against the rear of his own car. Or be as original as the pair of youngsters who were thrown out of an open roadster this spring—thrown clear—but each broke a windshield post with his head in passing and the whole lot of each skull, down to the eyeballs, was missing. Or snap off a nine-inch tree and get yourself impaled by a ragged branch.

None of all that is scare-fiction; it is just the horrible raw material of the year's statistics as seen in the ordinary course of duty by policemen and doctors, picked at random. The surprising thing is that there is so little dissimilarity in the stories they tell.

It's hard to find a surviving accident victim who can bear to talk. After you come to the smothering, searing pain throughout your body is accounted for by learning that flying glass—safety glass is by no means universal yet—contributes much more than its share to the spectacular side of accidents. It doesn't merely cut—the fragments are driven in as if a cannon loaded with broken bottles had been fired in your face, and a silver in the eye traveling with such force, means certain blindness. A leg or arm stuck through the windshield will cut clean to the bone through vein, artery and muscle like a piece of beef under the butcher's knife, and it takes little time to lose a

RUINS OF TWO CIVILIZATIONS

FOR more than 20 centuries, a mysterious stone idol, about eight feet tall, has stood facing the east, on a height 12,900 feet above sea level, 12 miles from Lake Titicaca, in Bolivia. Archaeologists say it is the sun-god of Tiahuanaco, but further they know little.

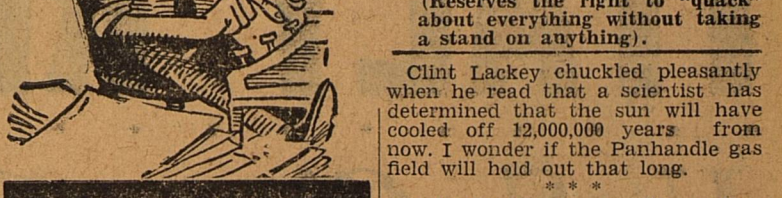

This month, now fearfully scarred by bullets from rifles of soldiers who have camped near there, is one of the few ruins of probably two great ancient civilizations. It is traced back to a primitive Mongol race, the contemporaries, probably even predecessors, of the Mayas of Central America. But later another race, the Aymaras, came along and built upon the remains left by their fore-runners, leaving a few signs, like this sun-god of the earlier inhabitants of that area. Today descendants of the Aymaras live here, but they have no legends or traditions about these ruins.

The Town Quack

Clint Lackey chuckled pleasantly when he read that a scientist has determined that the sun will have cooled off 12,000,000 years from now. I wonder if the Panhandle gas field will hold out that long.

A local widower says it's a pleasure to be poor. He wants to marry again and his children don't object. He says that if he had money they would raise the chickens about it.

A local man who is somewhat ugly and pretty dull avoids associating with people who are too good looking or too smart. Consequently he has more friends than anyone in town.

Drue Dunn says this is the time of year when a man looks at his weed crop and decides he will have a real garden next summer.

L. D. Bayless said a customer was highly indignant when he entered the drug store and was told it would take three or four days to fill an order for a carload of lumber.

You have both collarbones smashed, both shoulder blades splintered, your right arm broken in three places and three ribs bite into your every chance of bad internal ruptures. But the pain can't distract you, as the shock begins to wear off, from realizing that you are probably on your way out. You can't forget that, not even when they shift you from the ground to the stretcher and your broken ribs bite into your lungs and the sharp ends of your collarbones slide over to stab deep into each side of your screaming throat. When you've stopped screaming, it all comes back—you're dying and you hate yourself for it. That isn't fiction either. It's what it actually feels like to be one of that 36,000.

And every time you pass on a blind curve, every time you hit it up on a slippery road, every time you step on it harder than your reflexes will safely take, every time you drive with your reactions slowed down by a drink or two, every time you follow the man ahead too closely, you're gambling a few seconds against this kind of blood and agony and sudden death.

Take a look at yourself as the man in the white jacket shakes his head over you, tells the boys with the stretcher not to bother and turns away to somebody else who isn't quite dead yet. And then take it easy.

Cotton Subsidy Forms Are Now Available

COLLEGE STATION.—Forms are now being printed for the producer to make application for the adjustment payment, commonly known as subsidy, on the 1935 crop of cotton and they will probably be available immediately for distribution to county agricultural agents in charge of the program in the counties. F. E. Lichte, senior administrative assistant, division of cotton, said.

Information required on this form is the date of sale, name and address of producer and purchaser, and the following items: number of bales; gross weight, including bagging and ties; price per pound paid producer; total value of cotton; amount of charges, if any; amount paid producer, followed by signature of the purchaser. Where cotton is sold in the seed, the amount of seed cotton purchased and the amount of cotton expressed in pounds of lint is required.

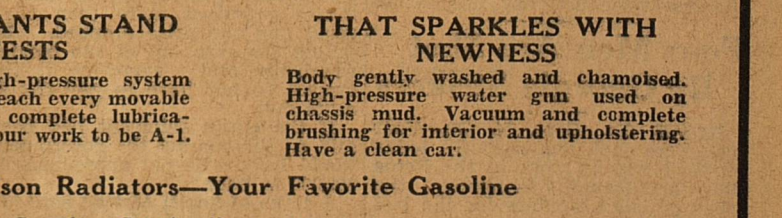

"Any producer under a cotton adjustment contract who agrees to participate in the 1935 cotton adjustment program and sells his 1935 crop cotton before August 1, 1936, is entitled to the adjustment payment," Lichte said.

He added that the producer who did not sign a contract is also entitled to the adjustment payment.

High School Graduates, Class of 1935, Run Gamut from Matrimony to Business In Selection of Occupations for Year

It's one of the things that symbolizes fall as do yellow leaves and crisp winds, this excited rush of activity which ends with the shriek of locomotives pulling out of the station and gay farewells as the younger set starts "off to school."

Among boys and girls now dashing about on last-minute errands of preparations are a number who are facing college matriculation with the eager expectancy that comes once in a lifetime—when one is a freshman.

The four worlds of marriage, business, the Army, and college have attracted the 1935 graduates of Midland High School as they enter their first post-graduate September.

Melba Lee chose matrimony in preference to college and a career and is now Mrs. Mark Caraway with her home on a ranch.

At The Library

New rent books are:

"Lucy Gayheart" by Willa Cathers. At the turn of the century, eighteen-year-old Lucy Gayheart leaves her small-town western home to study music in Chicago. After three years an opportunity comes to play for rehearsals for a noted concert singer whom she has idolized since first she heard him sing. Love follows, and tragedy ensues. A concluding chapter brings the story up to the present time and traces the effect of circumstances on the life of the many Lucy might have married.

"Honey in the Horn" by H. L. Davis: The Harper Prize Novel of 1935: A narrative of the Oregon country (1906-1908) — really the story of Clay Calvert, homeless youth who leads a nomad existence on the sheep ranches and in the hop yards.

Did you know that according to actual survey that 60% of the way any mechanical work is done and the finish it has when work is completed depends upon the tools that are used and the working condition they are in? The other 40% is in the workman that uses the tool. No man can make a job finish up as it should without good tools and equipment. Our different departments are equipped with the best of tools and then there are experienced men to use them; therefore, our work is bound to please; our men do not cuss their tools—they work with them!

Actual survey also shows that the man with poor tools to work with does 20% less work in the same time that the man with good tools will do; hence, you pay more. Why? Is it because you have never figured this out for yourself, or is it prestige? Well, at any rate you are entitled to what you pay for. But this can grow to be a big item—think it over—then save the difference.

FORT WORTH CATS TO MEET BIG SPRING CLUB HERE TUESDAY

GEORGE MILSTEAD MANAGER OF TEAM ON WES-TEX TOUR

The Fort Worth Cats, under the management of George Milstead, will take a swing through West Texas next week and will play the powerful Big Spring Cowboys here Sept. 17.

The Texas League team has been playing post-season games throughout Texas for the past several years, but it will be the first time in over a decade that they will play a team representative of Big Spring.

The Cats will play in Loraine Sept. 16 before coming to Midland, meeting Harvey Munn's independent nine Monday afternoon.

The colorful aggregation comes to this part of the country from the Panhandle after several games with such teams as Amarillo, Pampa and Borger.

In right field will be Art Weiss, who beat out Fred Tauby for the loop's bat leadership with an average of .331. Tauby, who wore the colors of the Dallas Steers, left the Dallasites for the Chicago White Sox with an average of .322.

With an infield composed of Lil Stoner at first, Robello at second, Blunder at short, and Grimes at third, the Cats have a youthful foursome bound for big places in baseball. Jimmy Dalrymple, who has been a member of the Fort Worth team at intervals for the past several years, fills in at second when needed.

Weiss' running mates in the outer gardens, Al Hunt and Lincoln Blakely, who belongs to the Cincinnati Reds, is one of the best right-handed hitters to come into the Texas League during the past several years. Tall and rangy, he possesses a good throwing arm that has kept the eyes of the Ivory hunt-

Flub dubs BY JESS RODGERS

We have been to nine world fairs but Friday night was the first time we have seen the play used by Pecos to gain their touchdown. It was the old statue of liberty play except that the man holding the ball faked to punt instead of pass. After going through the motions of kicking the man holding the ball slipped it behind him and little Joe Bob Kelton grabbed it, raced directly to the east sideline and was in the clear before the Big Spring boys ever discovered where the ball was. None of them had any chance to catch the diminutive, bare-foot before he was over the goal line. So happy was Kelton that he went over the goal in a double somersault.

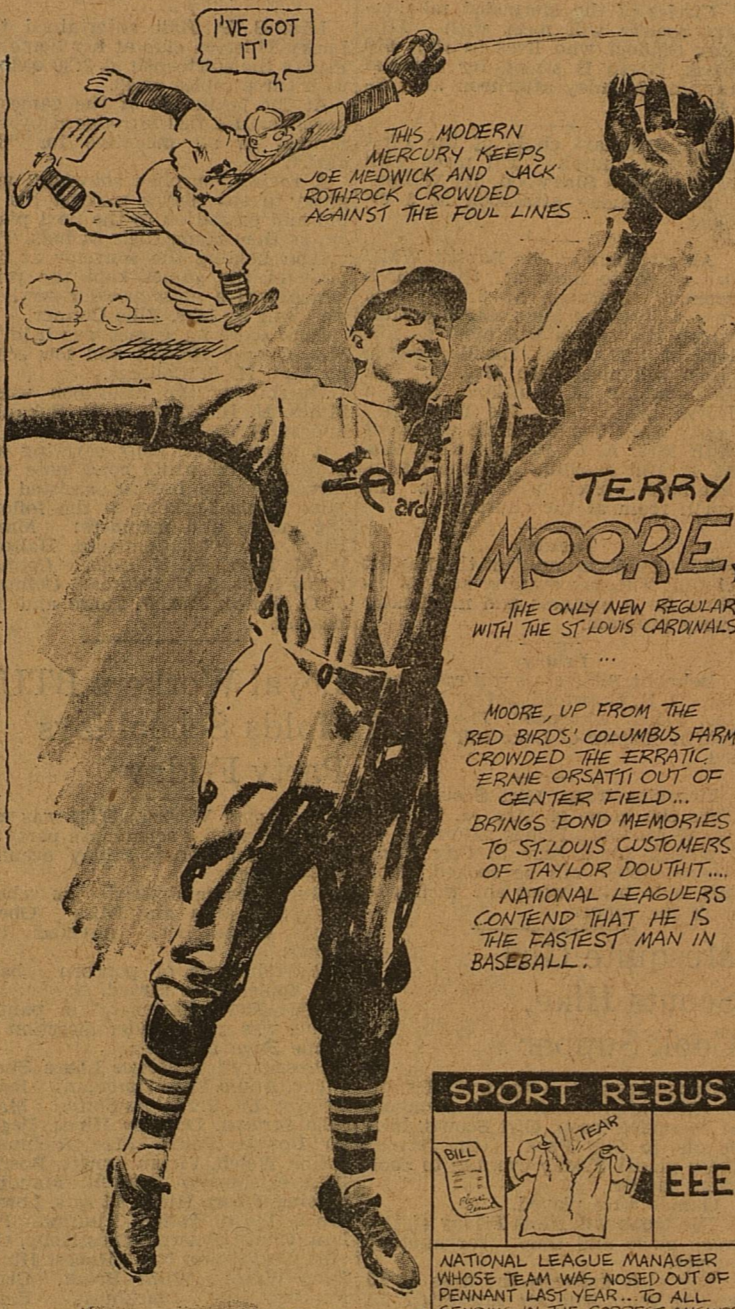

The score of 26-0 is no real indication of the strength of the Big Spring team. They made a touchdown the first time that they got the ball and could have made several more had Bristolow desired it. As we get it, Bristolow told Pecos officials when they agreed to the match that he would not let his men run up a large score.

With improvement naturally due to follow during the season, the Big Spring team is ready going to be tough by the time the season is over.

Judging what the Pecos team will do to Midland by the game last night, we would say that the western team will need to strengthen their line or the Midland team will be the winner.

We have not been able to find out a darn thing about the Colorado team so far except that they are fighting their field. What their prospects are or whether they are very tough or not we do not know. However, Dutch is trying to find out something about them before the game here next Friday night.

PLAY STARTS TODAY ON GOLF HANDICAP TOURNAMENT FOR THE COWDEN TROPHY

Play will start today on the Handicap Golf Tournament for the Ellis Cowden trophy.

Sixty-four players have sent in their entries and the tournament has been called a "wide-open-at-fair" as there is no outstanding favorite to win.

This is the fourth consecutive year for the tournament and thus far no one has succeeded in winning the trophy more than one time. It must be won three times before it becomes permanent property of the winners.

The trophy was won in 1932 by Frank Day, in 1933 by De Lo Douglas and in 1934 by Clyde Jackson, now deceased.

A trophy will also be awarded to the runner-up and a medal, to be retained permanently, will be awarded the winner of the tournament.

The list of entries follows:

Frank Aldrich, J. M. Armstrong, W. D. Anderson, Stacy Allen, Ralph

Barron, H. M. Bayer, Bill Blevins, E. A. Boch, Joe Crump, Harvey Conger, Ralph Clark, John Cram, T. A. Cole, Jack Cusack, E. F. Daugherty, E. L. DeHommie, E. H. Ellison, Walter Fleet, Dave Filley, J. L. Greene, Harvey Hardison, Bob Ham, O. C. Harper, K. P. Hart, Bert Hemphill, Jack Jordan, M. D. Johnson, Frank Johnson, Red Knight, Russell Lloyd, S. M. Laughlin, Charley Mix, C. S. Miller, C. A. Vance, Billy Walsh, Earl Whitcomb, Shorty Wells, W. A. Nance, F. A. Stacy, Winston Borum, W. J. Coleman, Allen Watts.

The only question, Pecos kicked off to Big Spring for the opening of the game and on a series of line plays the Steers marched straight to a touchdown. Woodrow Coos, Steer half, covered the last 15 yards on a dash around end.

Coos also made the second Steer score when he went around end for three yards after Big Spring had recovered a Pecos fumble near the goal line.

The Steers made another marker in the second quarter when Cordill made a punt return of 55 yards to cross the pay line.

Their final tally came in the third period when Coos passed to Cordill on the Pecos 40 and breezed across the goal.

The Pecos score came in the waning moments on the most sensational play of the evening. Little J. Bob Kelton took the ball from teammate on a fake punt and outran the entire Steer team to go 89 yards for a touchdown.

Cordill and Coos in the backfield Jones and Wisenhunt at ends furnished most of the fireworks for the winning club while Kelton was practically the whole show for the losers.

FRIDAY 13TH, NEW STADIUM; NEITHER HALTS BIG SPRING TEAM IN PECOS GAME

Friday the 13th and opening of a new stadium, either supposed to be jinx enough to defeat the home team, failed to work Friday night and the Big Spring Steers romped to an easy 26-0 win over the Eagles on the Big Spring field.

After the first few minutes there was no doubt over the winning team. How large the score would be was

Baylor Having First Week Hard Practice

WACO, Tex., Sept. 12.—With the preliminary instructions and drills behind them, the Baylor Bears plunged into hard practice Wednesday morning. Coaches Morley Jennings and Botchey Koch have only five days of remaining practice which to round their charges into shape before their first game of the season. The drills are being held twice daily on the Bear practice field.

The Bruins start their season against Southwestern University. This contest is scheduled for the night of Sept. 21 and is to be held off on the historic Carroll field gridiron in Waco.

When the roll was called at the first practice session on Tuesday morning, forty-six Bruin prospects answered present. Of these reporting, fifteen freshmen, nine are varsity squad members of last year, 21 are sophomores with one junior college transfer.

Coach Jennings has capable material in the position and the reserve strength of the squad will be much better than that of last year. There are 3 centers, 9 guards, 11 tackles, 8 ends, 3 quarter-backs, 9 halfbacks, and 3 fullbacks.

At the present time, the chief problem of the Bruin tutors is to build a good defensive line which can hold its own against the heavy competition of the Southwest conference. Last season defensive tackle play was very poor, and much of the poor showing of that Baylor team can be attributed to this fact. This season, Coach Koch has eleven bruising candidates for those two all-important posts. Six of the eleven are sophomores of much promise, and though a bit lacking in experience, those first year additions offer a ray of hope for the Baylor mentors. The lightest of these tackle prospects weighs 190 pounds, while a pair of them tip the scales at the 245-pound mark.

Such important lettermen as Lloyd Russell, slippery quarter-back from Oak Cliff, James Cloyd, scrapping center from Waco, and Wendell Simpson, guard who was voted most valuable player of the Green and Gold last fall, are listed on the roster. Those reporting for the training camp include:

Centers: Simpson, Reynolds, Rose, Guards: Simpson, Buchanan, Laurer, Heusser, Germond, Midburn, Jones, Sanderson, Crenshaw.

Tackles: Wilfong, McGlasson, Parry, McDonald, Hikel, Blue, Buckley, Kriel, N. Reader, J. Reader, Carruthers.

Ends: Wray, Clark, Elkins, Terrell, Hubener, Kimbriel, Williams, Barclay.

Quarters: Russell, Henslee, Moncrief.

Half: Masters, Finley, Weekly, Scott, Burke, Wood, Moto, Thornton, Manning.

Full: Brazell, Bartosh, Mansker.

Curio Collection Given Howard Payne

BROWNWOOD, (AP)—One of the largest collections of horns, stuffed animals and other curios in Texas has been given to Howard Payne College by A. Boenicke of the Salt Branch community, Brown county.

Mr. Boenicke, 80-year-old ranchman, has been working on the collection for more than half a century.

Plans for erection of a suitable building on the campus to house the collection are being made by college officials. The building will be known as the "Boenicke Memorial Museum."

The curios were collected in Europe, Asia, Africa, Canada and the United States, and include a large number of horns of deer, elk, moose, Rocky Mountain sheep and goats.

Several life-sized mounted specimens of deer, old and young, one large elk, and one full grown moose are in the collection as well as mounted heads of eight elk, two

Candidates to Join CCC

AUSTIN, (Sp.)—Completing the expansion Civilian Conservation Corps enrollment by enlisting 14,819 Texas youths, district administrators are now looking toward the October enrollment when every additional eligible candidate in the state is expected to be given a chance to join the CCC, State Enrollment Supervisor Neal E. Guy has announced.

Not only will more new enrollees be accepted, but present enrollees may remain in camps indefinitely, as mandatory discharges have been discontinued, Guy explained. "As long as a person's work and conduct are satisfactory he will be allowed to remain in camp, but an honorable discharge will be granted him promptly if a position is secured which will better his condition."

District administrators and case supervisors have been instructed to check their rolls, listing the number of unmarried youths between 18 and 28 whose families are on relief.

Guy again advised all eligible youths interested in joining the CCC to get in touch with their district administrator or their county case worker. In some cases, he said, applicants who were rejected because of minor physical defects are now acceptable if the defects have been corrected.

Beauty Hour Weekly Necessity for Busy Business Woman

BY ALICIA HART
NEA Service Staff Writer

"My duties keep me stepping from morning until the dinner hour every day and engagements take up my time in the evenings," writes a woman in a large Eastern city. "How on earth can I use masks and all the other intricate concoctions you recommend?"

There's only one answer to that. If you really are serious about your beauty, you simply will have to devote one night a week to improving and caring for it. Give up one movie, one dance or one dinner date in favor of preservation of your good looks.

Just as one who wants to be well read and well informed must have dates with books, so must the beauty-minded woman have dates with her cosmetic preparations. Anyway, never to stay at home for at least one evening a week to get a little rest and relaxation is enough to put lines and wrinkles across any brow.

On this one night, set aside in the name of loveliness, take a leisurely bath, using a long-handled bath brush and leaving a thick coat of cream on your face while you're in the tub. When you get out of the water, remove the cream, pat on tonic and apply a mask of some kind. While this is drying, manicure your nails, groom your feet, bleach elbows and tweeze eyebrows into smooth, even lines.

When you have finished, remove the mask, use cream again and start brushing your hair. If you have a tonic to correct a special scalp condition, massage it in before you start to use the brush. Keep on brushing for at least fifteen minutes.

Fire Destroys Farm Home Friday Night

The farm home of Bennie Bizzell, about two miles south of town, was completely burned with all furniture in it when the house caught fire about 8:30 Friday night. Firemen were called but were unable to prevent the house from burning as there were no water plugs near there and the fire was too far advanced for chemicals to do any good.

Joe E. Brown in Bright Lights Shows at Ritz

A unique and amazing climax. Brown himself started his theatrical life as a comedian in a burlesque show, and the burlesque sequences are made the more natural by the use of an entire troupe which was playing in Los Angeles when "Bright Lights" was being filmed.

The cast includes William Gargan, Joseph Cawthorn, Henry O'Neill, Arthur Treacher, Gordon Westcott, Joseph Crehan and William Demarest.

Joe E. himself, sings and dances, and does acrobatic stunts with the famous Maxwell.

Scores of pretty chorus and dancing girls appear in the theatrical sequences but "Bright Lights" is neither a musical or a farce, but a stirring romantic comedy.

The story is by Lois Leeson and concerns Joe E.'s quick jump from a burlesque comedy troupe to a big Broadway actor, playing with a madcap heiress, Patricia Ellis, out for adventure. His wife and partner in the burlesque show, Ann Dvorak, is out of it and goes back to small time.

Joe's head swells which causes many complications which lead to

Fire Destroys Farm Home Friday Night

The farm home of Bennie Bizzell, about two miles south of town, was completely burned with all furniture in it when the house caught fire about 8:30 Friday night. Firemen were called but were unable to prevent the house from burning as there were no water plugs near there and the fire was too far advanced for chemicals to do any good.

Beauty Hour Weekly Necessity for Busy Business Woman

BY ALICIA HART
NEA Service Staff Writer

"My duties keep me stepping from morning until the dinner hour every day and engagements take up my time in the evenings," writes a woman in a large Eastern city. "How on earth can I use masks and all the other intricate concoctions you recommend?"

There's only one answer to that. If you really are serious about your beauty, you simply will have to devote one night a week to improving and caring for it. Give up one movie, one dance or one dinner date in favor of preservation of your good looks.

Just as one who wants to be well read and well informed must have dates with books, so must the beauty-minded woman have dates with her cosmetic preparations. Anyway, never to stay at home for at least one evening a week to get a little rest and relaxation is enough to put lines and wrinkles across any brow.

On this one night, set aside in the name of loveliness, take a leisurely bath, using a long-handled bath brush and leaving a thick coat of cream on your face while you're in the tub. When you get out of the water, remove the cream, pat on tonic and apply a mask of some kind. While this is drying, manicure your nails, groom your feet, bleach elbows and tweeze eyebrows into smooth, even lines.

When you have finished, remove the mask, use cream again and start brushing your hair. If you have a tonic to correct a special scalp condition, massage it in before you start to use the brush. Keep on brushing for at least fifteen minutes.
