Baron Aloisi Is Expected To Protest Sanctions

BELIEVE ITALY
READY TO MAKE PEACE OFFERS

Delegate Is on Way
Back to Geneva
Today

ASK SECURITY
Actual Territory for Expansion Is Wanted

By Associated Press
Baron Aloisi, Italian delegate to the League of Nations, was expected to protest today against the "cruel injustices" of the league sanctions as he returned to Geneva. It was believed that he would bear a definite offer of peace.
Italian spokesmen said that Italy would not refuse to negotiate peace, but must get military security in Ethiopian provinces bordering Italian colonies and actual territory "needed for expansion."
An unofficial Ethiopian announcement said that the Italians had captured Makale, and that the next major objective would be on the northern front.

SENATE PROTEST
OVER RELIEF END
SENT TO HOPKINS

Poage Declares the Action Unfair
To State

AUSTIN, Nov. 1. (P).—The Texas Senate today protested to Harry Hopkins the announced termination of federal relief aid in the State Nov. 15.

Senator Poage of Waco charged that the action was "unfair and discriminatory".

RELIEF WILL END
IN 30 DAYS

PORT WORTH, Nov. 1. (P).—Withdrawal of federal funds for direct relief today will force the disbandment of the Texas relief administration within another 30 days, Adam R. Johnson, Austin, state relief director, said here today.
Since the relief administration is furnishing the "human material" for the WPA, CCC and other federal relief agencies and is the largest state in the country that it cost about $270,000 a month to administer relief.

No Reductions Yet
"So far the WPA has made no appreciable reduction in the number on relief," Johnson said. "We would be all right if the WPA would take over the employables and leave us the unemployables, but it has not done so."

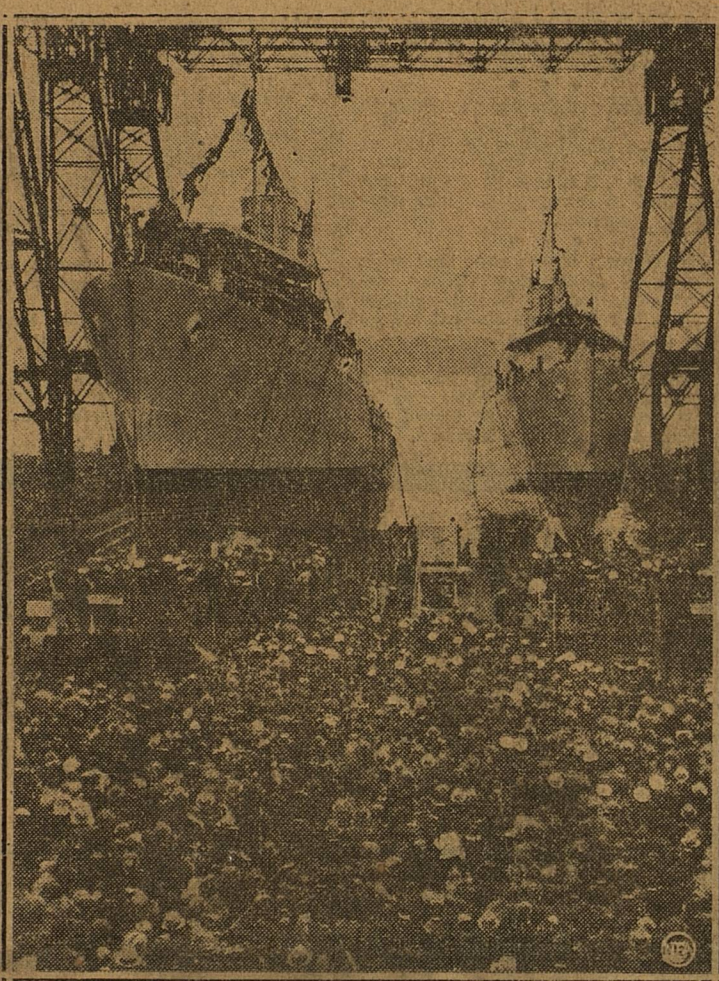

There are now about 750,000 in Texas who are depending upon relief for an existence and only 200,000 of them are unemployables, Johnson said. Included among the unemployables are 31,000 eligible for pensions under the bill pending in the legislature.
"When funds are exhausted there is nothing we can do but to fold and store our records," Johnson said. "The situation is critical because the WPA and CCC is obtaining human material from the Texas relief administration which could not furnish it should it cease to function because of a lack of funds."

REPORTER GIVEN
HOUSTON POSITION

John L. Mortimer, for the past two weeks connected with the news staff of The Reporter-Telegram, left Thursday night for Houston where he will be in charge of the night copy desk of the Houston Post. Mortimer, who had worked on Chicago and New York papers, as well as on smaller daily papers, also had served as United Press correspondent in Panama and had represented the International News Service in various localities.
His connection with The Reporter-Telegram was to have been announced Sunday but he was released when the Houston Post offer of a larger position was received Thursday.

Chinese Premier Is Shot By Assassin In Nanking Today

Fighting Twins

While thousands packed the Philadelphia Navy Yard for the annual Navy Day observance, two new destroyers were sent down the ways in a colorful twin launching. The U. S. S. Shaw is shown taking to the water immediately after being christened. Alongside is the U. S. S. Cassin, which made the plunge a few minutes later.

Petroleum Independents At Association Meeting To Visit Three Oil Fields

Delegates Will Make Inspection Tours of
Ada, Ardmore, East Texas Pools
During Convention

Delegates attending the Sixth Annual Meeting of the Independent Petroleum Association of America will have the opportunity of visiting three of the most interesting oil fields in the Mid-Continent area, according to plans made by the officers of the Association and Chambers of Commerce in the East Texas oil field and at Ada and Ardmore, Okla.
Many of the delegates coming from the east and north have not yet had an opportunity to see the East Texas field with its 20,000 wells, now the largest known oil field in the world. Oil operators in the Pitts pool at Ada made a most unusual record in the matter of conservation and orderly development, and many oil men attending the convention have accepted the invitation of the Ada Chamber of Commerce to make a trip to this pool on Wednesday, Nov. 6, following the meeting. The new deep well in the Fox pool is now the center of interest in the Mid-Continent area. George Gibbons, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce at Ardmore, and the members of the Southern Oklahoma Oil & Gas Association of that community are arranging transportation on Wednesday, Nov. 6, from Dallas to the Fox pool. As delegates register at Dallas on Monday and Tuesday at the annual meeting, they will indicate their choice of these trips and the convention arrangements committee will provide transportation and personally conduct tours to these respective fields.

Former President of Judicial Yuan Is Wounded

NANKING, Nov. 1. (P).—An assassin shot Premier Wang Ching Wei and three other officials today, and the condition of the 50-year-old premier was reported as serious. A Chinese news agency reporter was killed, either by himself or by others, as bodyguards returned the fire. Two of the other men wounded were Coang Chi, former president of the judicial yuan, an Kan Hai Kuang, chief of the political bureau at Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's headquarters and vice-minister of the interior.

Two Versions
A Rengo (Japanese) news agency dispatch first said martial law had been proclaimed in the city, and identified the assailant as a member of the central committee of the Kuomintang nationalist party. A conflicting Reuters report, however, said the assassin was a Japanese newspaperman.

There were reports that in the confusion following the shooting, a group of civilians engaged in a gun-fight with police.
The attempted assassination took place at the executive committee assembled for a momentous meeting, in which some observers believed China's attitude toward Japanese demands for elimination of anti-Japanese elements in north China would be formulated.

Was Pro-Japanese
Premier Wang was removed immediately after the shooting to the Central hospital, where attendants said he was "resting easily".
The condition of the other officials was not made known immediately.

As conflicting rumors as to the assassin's identity circulated through the city, Chinese sources asserted he was a citizen of "a foreign power".
The attempted assassination of the premier cast a dark spell over the future of Sino-Japanese relations.

Wang, as minister of foreign affairs, chairman of the executive yuan, held a position second only to that of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek. The premier has been regarded as the main prop of anti-pro-Japanese clique in the Chinese national government.

Halloween Here Is Celebrated With Considerable Noise

Heralded by considerable noise and a multitude of pranks, mostly of the harmless variety, Halloween was celebrated by Midland's youngsters last night with the vim and vigor that has come to be traditional of this gala night.
Ghosts and other weird apparitions paraded the streets while invitingly blank windows attracted the usual quota of soap and crayon artistry.
Upsets of various kinds were noted and one window in the business district was reported broken by the merry-makers.
"About as usual" was the way the police department summed up the night's activities. No serious deprecations were recounted.

Farley Stamps Self as Postal Clerk

When the Postmaster General of the United States takes to selling stamps, that's a sight worth seeing — and here the event is recorded for you to see. The occasion was the opening of the new post office at Haverstraw, N. Y., home town of Postmaster General James A. Farley, who's shown selling the first stamps to 3-year-old Kathryn Babcock.

Rogers Memorial Committee Named

T. Paul Barron Is Appointed as Chairman
For Midland; Six Others Are Named to Committee

Organization of the local executive committee for the Will Rogers Memorial commission as announced today by T. Paul Barron, appointed by Amos G. Carter of Fort Worth as chairman for Midland. Besides the chairman, the committee includes M. C. Ulmer, R. M. Barron, Clarence Scharbauer, Mrs. J. Howard Hodge, Harvey Sloan and Ralph T. Bucy.
Beginning Monday, November 4, and continuing through Thanksgiving Eve the entire nation will be offered an opportunity to contribute to a fund established to honor the memorial or memorials to Will Rogers.

The First National bank, the Midland National bank and The Reporter-Telegram will act as depositories at Midland for contributions to the memorial fund, furnishing the national committee, each with a statement of receipts and remitting the entire fund at the end of the campaign.
Captain Eddie Rickenbacker, director of the memorial fund campaign, has informed the public that every dollar contributed will be expended for the memorials. Organization costs are defrayed entirely by the aviation industry.
Millions of friendship contributions to the memorials fund, rather than large sums from a few associates, will be sought. When Will Rogers died thousands of people actively proposed memorials and no less than a score of organizations were formed for that purpose. However, a group of distinguished, reputable and responsible men and women banded together to supervise a worthy memorial effort, eliminating entirely the possibility whereby opportunists sometimes divert memorial funds to their own uses.
All local and sectional efforts will be coordinated with the wholehearted national plan and millions of friends and admirers of the late Will Rogers may share in a recognized contribution to the memory of the man.
It is not known exactly what form the memorials will take but it is agreed that there will be "no cold shaft of marble for this warm friendly man. Rather they will be living, continuing memorials to be used for charitable, educational and humanitarian purposes."
The ultimate decision as to the nature of the memorials will be made by a group of national figures, including Henry Ford, Herbert Hoover, Alfred E. Smith, Owen D. Young, Jesse H. Jones, Vice President John Garner and other men of prestige and judgment. The decision will not be made until after the fund has been collected and totalled.

DAMAGES SLIGHT

Thousands Flee Out
Of Homes in Fear

NEW YORK, Nov. 1. (P).—The East's most serious earthquake in many years rolled across 17 states and three Canadian provinces early today, but the damage was trifling. Thousands fled their homes, fearing tremors like Helena, Mont., received recently.

The quake apparently centered in Canada near Lake Ontario. Swinging mirrors, clattering dishes and swaying buildings were reported from the Bay of Fundy to Lake Michigan, and from Canada's capital to the District of Columbia.
Helena marshaled its reconstruction forces after a night made miserable by the dread of further shocks and sub-zero weather.
President Roosevelt has ordered the Red Cross, army and FERA to speed relief.

SENATORS KILL RESOLUTION FOR CHANGING RULES

Fundamental Change
Would Have Been Affected

AUSTIN, Nov. 1. (P).—Senators today killed the House resolution proposing a fundamental change in the legislative rules restricting the authority of conference committees.
The resolution would have restricted reports to the adjustment of actual differences between the two houses. The present rules permit the inclusion of any matter.
The resolution was defeated after Lieutenant Governor Woodfill held invalid a hotel room session of the house rules committee.

The House killed a resolution to investigate lobbyists.
The senate passed a bill to license automobile drivers and the house started a debate on the senate's general officers salary bill.

The license bill provides a three year license costing 25 cents and exempts drivers from examination.

TEXAS LOSING $10,000 A DAY

Pointing out that Texas is losing $10,000 a day in liquor revenue by prolonging the argument about how to sell the product, the El Paso Times advises the lawmakers of the state to "get busy". Says the Times: "Tactfully complimenting the legislature on its "good progress," Gov. Allred suggests in a message that liquor regulation legislation be enacted.

Promptly, half a dozen bills are thrown into the legislative hopper, and the fight is on again. The fight is between those who would establish the state in the liquor business, limiting sales to unbroken packages, and those who favor allowing retail sales of liquor by the drink.

It was this fight which caused the whole first special session to be wasted. It cost the taxpayers heavily in the running expenses of the legislature. It is costing the state $10,000 a day in lost revenue from liquor every day that the legislature stalls along.

Why not enact a rational law for retail sales of liquor by the drink, and be done with it, allowing counties to exercise local option to decide what form of control of the liquor traffic they prefer, and even vote bone-dry if they wish?

Since conditions and sentiment vary from county to county, we think this is a matter in which there should be "home rule".

FLY-BY-NIGHTERS

Ballinger city-dads, according to press dispatches, have put into effect an ordinance calculated to curb the practice of fly-by-night merchants who come into a town during the "money" months, get all the business they can and then go to another location before time to render or pay any taxes.

The ordinance requires that any person or firm leasing property to conduct a business must pay the city $200 for licenses to operate, make a $1,000 bond with a good surety company and one individual in the city, and to pay the city monthly $10 as a deposit for taxes. If a concern stays established in Ballinger as long as a year and renders its property for and merchandise for taxation, the entire amount of licenses and fees will be refunded. A misdemeanor fine not to exceed $200 a day while operating was set to be assessed against violators of the ordinance.

It was pointed out by the commission in passing the ordinance that similar ones have been adopted by other West Texas towns which made it more necessary for one at Ballinger.

"Peddlers" and house-to-house solicitors are not affected by the new ordinance.

BÉWARE OF PROPAGANDA

Neville Chamberlain, Britain's chancellor of the exchequer, tells a political meeting at Glasgow that the United States has demonstrated its sympathy with England in the empire's current struggle to keep Italy from muscling in on the British racket in Africa; and the statement sounds very much like the opening gun in one of England's deft propaganda campaigns.

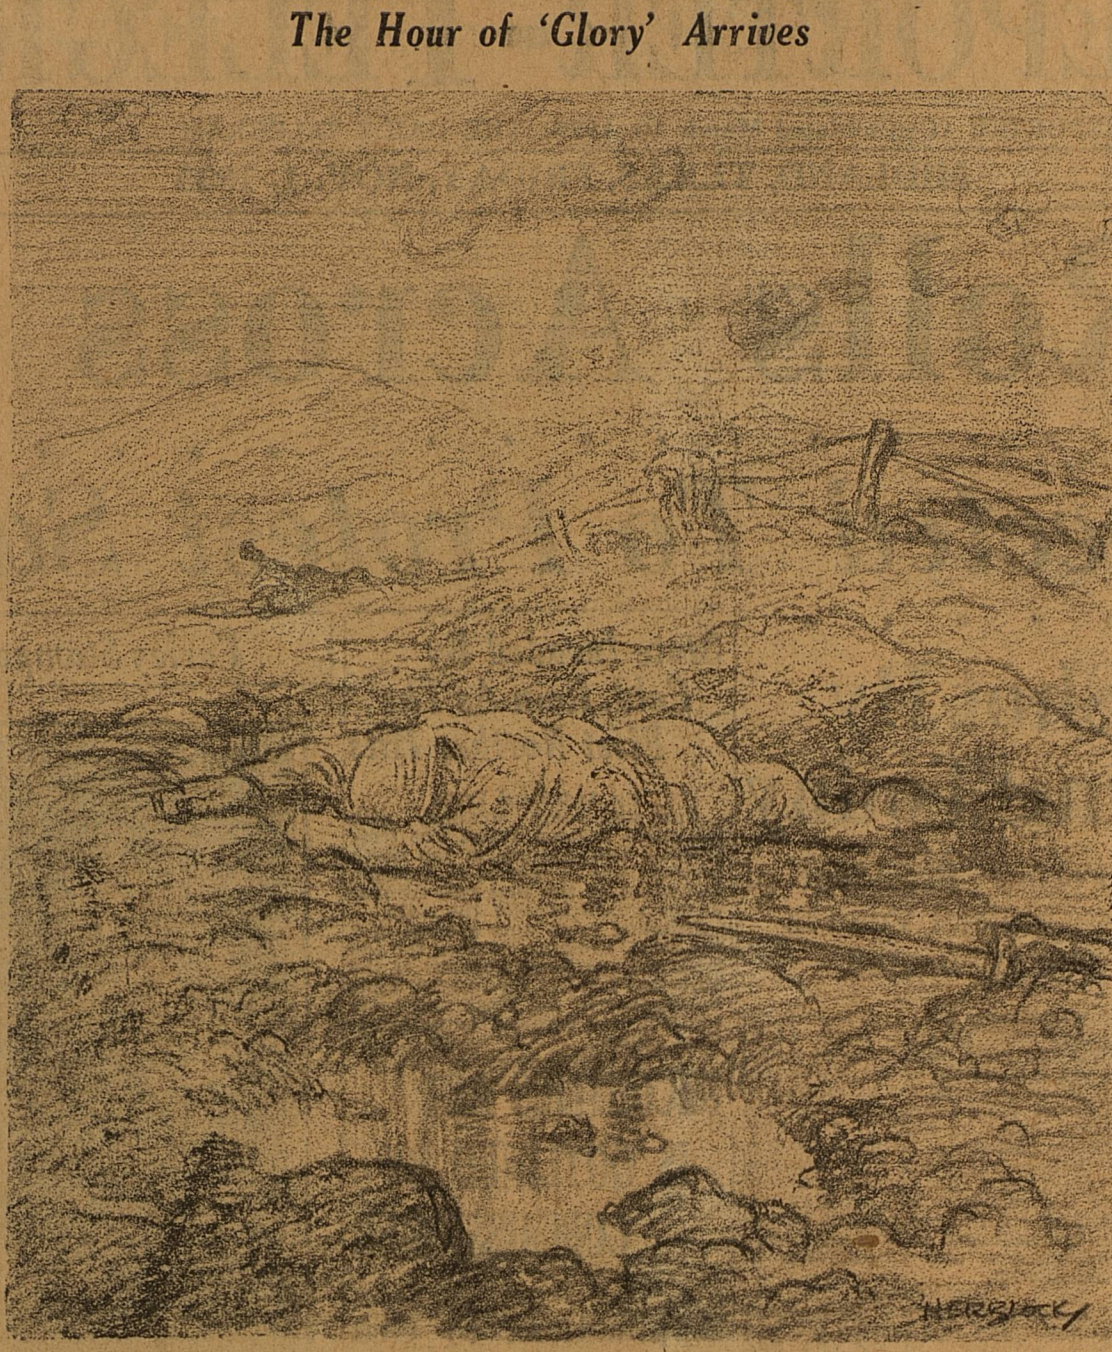

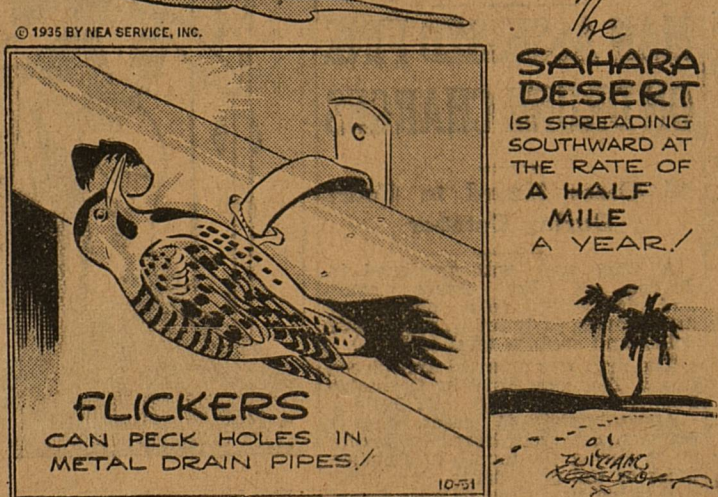

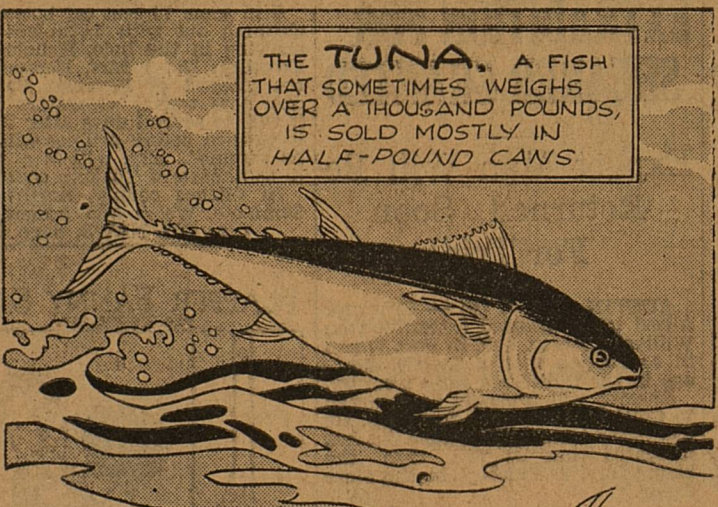

We shall hear more and more of this sort of thing, if the Anglo-Italian crisis grows more tense. We shall be told that Britain is fighting for civilization, that our sympathies really are on Britain's side, and that it is our duty to mankind to co-operate with Britain and help her as much as we can.

We need to keep constantly in mind that our chief duty is to ourselves, and that our principal sympathy ought to be reserved for our own people.

Tarleton Student Is Winner in Future Farmers' Oratory

STEPHENVILLE, Oct. 31. (AP)—Paul Deats Jr., freshman student of public speaking at John Tarleton College, won second place in the national Future Farmer of America oratorical contest held in Kansas City. The award carries a cash prize of $200.

Deats, whose name is in Graham, won first place in the P. F. A. district public speaking contest at Tarleton last spring, speaking on "A Fulfilled Promise for American Agriculture." Later he won the state contest at Huntsville and the regional contest at Nashville, Tenn.

A feature of the contest is a cross-examination by the judges on all phases of agriculture and economics related to the boy's subjects. O. B. Rose, teacher of vocational agriculture at Graham, coached Deats on his subject matter. Miss Lillie V. Lillard, director of the department of public speaking at Tarleton, has worked with him on delivery this fall.

Lawyer Solons Fear Homecoming Because of Pension

AUSTIN, Nov. 1. (AP)—Lawyer members of the legislature dread going home after the pension session. They know that when they re-enter their law offices they will find the offices filled from morning to night with old men and women, constituents, who will ask that pension application papers be prepared. Many will expect the service free; some will be unable to pay for it. Some of the lawyer members say frankly that they expect to have little time for their business for a long period.

SOME people carry their criticism of athletics too far. I'll admit that football has been too greatly commercialized, but I object to the definition I heard of college football: A sport that makes bums out of alleged experts.

Halloween pranks are excusable to some extent, but beyond that they are damnable. Letting air out of tires can be laughed off, even though it isn't always funny at first, but breaking plate glass windows is felonious.

Society Tones Down Its Makeup Shades

By ALICIA HART
NEA Service Writer

New York society women seen lunching in smart restaurants these days use less makeup and more natural looking nail polish than they did a season ago.

Checks are pink to be sure, but they don't look too red and painted. Nails are beautifully manicured and in most instances, covered with pale red or shell pink polish instead of weird shades of orange and deep scarlet.

One tall, dignified luncheon guest on the Starlight Roof of the Waldorf-Astoria wore shell pink polish with an iridescent finish.

The effect can be achieved by putting on a coat of pink and covering it with a thin coat of quite colorless mother-of-pearl. The subtle combination made her hands look pale and graceful.

This same woman's cheeks were a pale rose color that suited beautifully her fair skin and tawny brown hair. Her lips were bright with lipstick that somehow seemed to harmonize with her natural coloring and with her cheeks as well.

Her long lashes seemed bright and shining. Undoubtedly she had used the new blue-violet mascara which makes lashes glitter and glisten in the sunshine and under artificial lights.

Civil War Drama Pictures Likable, Bombastic Rascal

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following criticism of "The Jayhawker" by Sinclair Lewis and Lloyd Lewis was written for The Reporter-Telegram after Mrs. Brunson had read the play at the Play Readers club Wednesday.

By MRS. GLENN BRUNSON

The Jayhawkers of the Civil War were those abolitionists and free soldiers in Illinois and Kansas, who even presided on Sumner carried on guerrilla warfare. All soldiers, law abiding or not, were called, and liked to be called, "Jayhawkers."

The exemplar of the word, in the drama "Jayhawkers," is a fiction character made up partly from imagination and partly from certain characteristics of several Kansas free soldiers of the late 1850's and early 1860's.

Asa Burdette was a "Jayhawker," a homesick, wily old fire-eater who talked and prayed his way from Kansas camp meetings to the U. S. Senate in order that slaves might be freed and the union preserved forever.

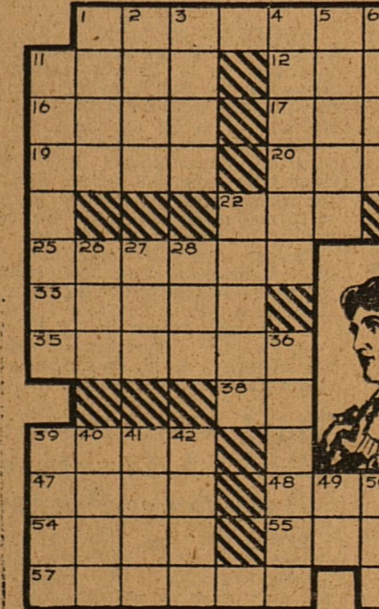

But in Washington the war gets on Asa's nerve. Sick of death, destruction, he joins Gen. Smallwood, an old cronie in crooked politics, in a scheme to unite the Blue and the Gray against Maximilian of Mexico. This picturesque old rascal, with a genuine humanity beneath his bombast, is one of the great creations of the recent theatre.

CARS KILL 8,780 DURING LAST TEN YEARS IN TEXAS

Fatalities From Autos This Year Reaches 1,094 Total

AUSTIN, Nov. 1. (AP)—More than 8,780 deaths due to automobile accidents have been reported to the State Bureau of Vital Statistics during the past ten years.

The passage of a more stringent law relative to birth and death registration in 1927 resulted in a marked increase in the number of births and deaths reported.

During the ten year period the deaths reported from all causes increased from 41,887 to 59,464 per year, showing an increase in 1934 of 42.2 per cent over the report of 1925.

A tabulation of deaths by months shows that the greatest number during each year occurred during October, November and December.

During the first eight months of this year seventy-one deaths were reported as due to the same cause during the same months for 1935.

Of the 1,094 automobile deaths this year 42 of the victims were children under five years of age.

The State's population is composed of 73.5 per cent whites, 14.7 per cent negroes, and 11.7 per cent Mexicans.

The automobile fatalities for 1935 were distributed as follows: 83 per cent whites, 11.4 per cent negroes, and 5.4 per cent Mexicans.

KNUTE ROCKNE'S idea of a good quarterback is a "rocky" attitude, and a good barking voice so that when he yelled the signals the backfield didn't have the tendency to be lulled to sleep. In short, he was an inspirational leader.
Rock also thought that the two most important things to teach a quarterback were when not to pass and: "When in doubt, punt."
But football has changed, with the advent of the lateral, and forward passes being tossed almost anytime.
A quarterback is boss of all situations. He must either succeed on his own hook, or sportsmanlike, take a rap for an error in judgment. He must always be on the lookout for the breaks, and must punt, punt, punt, on a wet, sloppy field until he gets one of those breaks.
