WHAT FIRE PREVENTION
MEANS TO YOU
The coming of Fire Prevention Week which will be observed between October 8 and 12 makes it worthwhile to meditate on what fire prevention means to you as an individual, a taxpayer, a homeowner and a worker.

Fire prevention saves lives—yours and your loved ones. Thousands of people are now cremated each year—because someone was careless.

business, jobs are lost, and thou-

BIG SPRING STEERS TAKE LIGHT WORKOUT IN EL PASO

These North Texas State Eagles Look Good In Lone Star Sector

vation and misery can result. Fire prevention means progressive towns and cities. Cases are on record where a single fire, destroying a town's main industry has resulted in permanent retrogression, at the expense of property and all other values in the community.

Prevent fire—and save lives and money. Do your part during Fire Prevention Week.

51,200 CORPSES
In the eighteen months that ended June 30, 1935, 51,200 persons met death in motor crashes in this country. More than 1,300,000 were injured.

The bare statistics, thought provoking as they are, cannot give an adequate picture of the horror of major automobile accidents. Figures cannot express broken bones—mangled bodies—crushed skulls—obliterated features—decapitated bodies—and all the rest of the results of fatal motor crashes.

In a recent article in Readers' Digest, F. C. Furness wrote: "A first-class massacre is only a question of scale and numbers—seven corpses are no deadlier than one. Each shattered man, woman or child who went to make up the head-to-tail pile of last year's 38,000 corpses checked up last year had to die a personal death."

That is worth thinking about next time you take the wheel of your car. Driving at excessive speeds may, if you get away with it, save you ten minutes in a fifty-mile run. If you don't get away with it, it may mean your death, or the death of an innocent party, or the death of a crushed body on the pavement, its bones twisted and broken, its eyes staring and sightless.

It's up to you—to everyone who drives a car. Is recklessness worth its horrible cost?

DENNIS MAY NOT START TONIGHT
TULSA (Sp1)—Tack Dennis, plunging fullback and captain of the 1935 Tulsa Golden Hurricanes, suffered a slight case of poisoning during the week and may not be able to start against the Central Oklahoma Teachers tonight.

The former Big Spring star, however, is expected to see a lot of service in the game.

Cordill To Be Used Part Time

Henninger, Coots, Grey And Flowers Are Backs
By TOM BEASLEY
Herald Sports Editor
EL PASO, Tex. Sept. 27.—Big Spring's Steers arrived here Thursday afternoon in good shape, took a light limbering-up workout at Austin high school stadium, and were pronounced fit in every way and ready to battle the Austin Panthers here tonight.

Olle Cordill, spark plug of the Herd team, looked physically fit in the light drill Thursday but lacked ed snap and will not start against the Panthers, giving up his right half post to Nelson Henninger, who because of lack of experience, faces a difficult task. Briarow expects to use Cordill the latter part of the game.

Austin has a triple threat back to fire at the Bovines tonight in T. G. Bailey, stellar ball toter on the Austin team for the past two years. Bailey is a speedy back, and a good left handed punting toter who's play is often described as being unorthodox.

Austin, however, is suffering from injuries. Buddy Black, regular quarter, and Bill Hamilton, a wingman, will be out of the lineup. Coach Snythe announced this morning Snythe, a star broken field runner, will take Black's place. Swierki will take Hamilton's position.

Probable Big Spring starting lineup: Whisenhunt, lg; Trainer, lt; Madison, lg; Baker, c; Wilson, rg; Cobern, rt; Jones, re; Henninger, qb; Coots, lb; Grey, rb; Flowers, q.

Austin probable starters: Swierki, lg; Simmons, lt; Ralph Howard, lg; Knight, c; King, rg; McDaniel, rb; Mora, re; Snythe, q; Lenz, lb; Montee, rb; Bailey (c), fb.

The mentor has drilled them hard on ground defense, trying out several combinations. "Chock" Smith, light but hard running quarterback, has been elected captain while the flaming haired O'Dell Womack was chosen as co-leader.

The redhead is one of the smallest men on the squad but his lightning-like off tackle thrusts coupled with a good passing arm has earned him a first string berth.

GAME'S RESULTS TO BE RECEIVED

Results of the Big Spring Steer-Austin High Panther game, which is to be played tonight in El Paso at 8 p. m., can be learned by calling The Herald office.

Denton Eagle Prospects Good

DENTON (Sp1)—As the gridiron season gets under way, prospects for a winning team in the Lone Star conference loom brightly for the North Texas State Teachers College Eagles. Despite the fact that the Eagles received a severe drubbing at the hands of the Southern Methodist University Mustangs, Coach Sisco has a winning team in the offing; and no stigma is attached to a defeat at the hands of the touted Mustangs, who are apt to be one of the lead-fighting to subject their next prey Saturday night when the Cowboys ride onto Carroll field.

Having heard the rattlings and seen the imperfections in the Bruins' grid machine, Coach Jennings has given his grid unit a complete overhauling and expects greater efficiency in his team as he gives it another warm-up spin preliminary to the conference race.

The backfield cogs of the machine will be Lloyd Russell as quarterback, Hal Finley and Bubba Gernand as halfbacks, and Carl Brazell at the fullback post. This combination clicked beautifully last week-end, and a better showing is foreseen for the second game. Threatening weather will likely change the type of play from passes, laterals and end runs to off-tackle plays and line plunges. Brazell and Gernand both expert plungers, will have extra duty if the field is slippery.

Starting in the forward wall will be Cloyd, center; Buchanan, (captain) and Simpson, guards; Parry and Hikel, tackles, and Williams and Clark, ends. Kriel, who started at tackle last week, is out with malarial fever, and he will be succeeded by Rudolph Hikel, 254-pound Waco product. John Williams will take Elkins' end at the starting whistle. Improved blocking and tackling has merited Williams his starting place.

Southpaw Pass Tosser Due To Work Against Steers

EL PASO, (Sp1)—T. G. Bailey, one of Austin's backfield stars for the last two years, will break into the starting lineup for the first time this season tomorrow night when the Panthers meet the Big Spring Steers at the high school stadium.

Bailey was eligible when Austin opened its season last Friday against Fabens, but because he had not practiced long enough to know the signals, he wasn't used by Coach Ed Price.

Bailey is a fast little back, and is a good pass thrower. He throws them left handed, often puzzling the opposing team with such unorthodox throws that they are caught unaware.

Austin's fortune in having Bailey back is offset by the possible loss of Buddy Black, quarterback, and Bill Hamilton, end. Black is out of the lineup with an attack of arthritis, while Hamilton has been in bed this week with ptomaine poisoning.

If Black is absent Friday night, Coach Price probably will shift little Andy Snythe from half to quarter, and use Bailey, Leo Montes and Vance Lenz in the other backfield posts.

Eugene Swieraki and Roy Howard have been running in Hamilton's vacant end position. The game with Big Spring will start at 8 p. m. tomorrow. The Big Spring team arrived last night for a workout under the lights. The team will stop at Hotel McCoy.

"No more 'by-guess-and-by-golly' baking... I've discovered Calumet's big, new 10¢ can!"
SAYS MRS. OWEN H. FLEMING, OF 1235 JUDSON AVE., EVANSTON, ILL.
A SIMPLE TWIST... and the Easy-Off 10¢ tin. No delay, no spillage, no broken finger-nails! AND LOOK! Inside there's a special self-leveler—no conventional mix can be!
"NO NEED FOR any woman to take chances with her baking now," she says. "That new 10¢ can of Calumet certainly means that the very best can be bought at a bargain. What's the sense of putting up with anything but perfect cakes, Calumet cakes?"
Why does Calumet give such astonishing "baking luck"? Why is it different from other baking powders?
It's because of the way Calumet combines two distinct leavening actions. A quick action for the mixing bowl—set free by liquid. A slower action for the oven—set free by heat.
Calumet's double action is so perfectly balanced and controlled that it produces perfect leavening. And it's perfection that you can always count on.
All Calumet prices are lower!
Calumet is now selling at the lowest prices in its history. The Full-sized can now sells regularly for only 25¢. And if you want a smaller size—get the new, big 10¢ can—a lot of good baking for a dime with Calumet—the Double-Acting Baking Powder.

To Elect Officers Next Monday Night

Representatives from various organizations interested in charity met Thursday evening at the First Methodist church and did three important things.

They drew up a constitution and by-laws. They made a list of names for the remaining offices of the proposed charitable organization, also a list of those to serve on the welfare board that will govern united charities.

There remains now the approval of the combined organization themselves. If the group of people that were present Monday evening will attend another session, and ratify the work of the committee, or ask that it be changed, the path will be cleared for action, said Mrs. W. J. McAdams.

Mrs. McAdams, chairman, is calling the final session for next Monday evening at the First Methodist church at 7:30. She urges that every one present last Monday night be present again next Monday in order

BUCKNER'S ORPHAN HOME SOCIAL HELD BY MEMBERS OF SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS

Ruth Group Elects Mrs. Joe Clere To Be President For Coming Year; Officers Installed

Mrs. Joe Clere was elected to the presidency of the Ruth Sunday School class at the September business meeting held Thursday afternoon at the First Baptist Church parlor.

The class met for its usual business and social session. The party was announced as a Buckner's Orphan's home social because the program and offering were devoted to Buckner's Orphan's home in Dallas.

Mrs. J. A. Coffey, assisted by Mrs. R. E. Lee, retiring president, had charge of the installation ceremonies. She used the candle-light service.

Also installed, in addition to Mrs. Clere, were: Mrs. J. C. Loper, first vice-president; Mrs. Joe Harrison, second vice-president; Mrs. Martelle McDonald, third vice-president; Mrs. W. W. McCormick, secretary; Mrs. L. R. Kuykendall, treasurer; and Mrs. H. B. Reagan, reporter.

Mrs. E. H. Houser as social chairman had charge of the program. Mrs. Loper's group was hostess.

Rev. Thorns To Move To Hereford

Will Preach Last Sermon As Pastor Here Sunday

The Rev. John C. Thorns, Jr., will preach his last sermon as pastor of the local Presbyterian church Sunday. On Wednesday he and Mrs. Thorns and their three children, Jack, Joanne and Jimmy, leave for Hereford, their new home.

Mr. Thorns has resided in Big Spring for three years and yet he has been here longer than any other pastor except Mr. Day.

During Mr. Thorns' pastorate he has interested himself greatly in the work of the young people, not only in this church but all over the presbytery. He was instrumental in organizing the young peoples conference at Fort Stockton. He has made the work of the young people one of the outstanding features of the local work.

There has been an increase of 425 in membership during his three years of work here, probably the largest increase any other Presbyterian pastor has had in the same length of time.

An interesting detail about Mr. Thorns' change is that he is leaving the southern branch of the denomination and going to the northern branch. The Big Spring church is a U. S. Presbyterian and the Hereford church is U. S. A. Although Hereford is a much smaller city than Big Spring the church there has approximately the same number as this church.

The Woman's Auxiliary is giving a farewell party for Mr. and Mrs. Thorns tonight at the church.

Jewish New Year Starts At Sundown

Tonight at sundown the Jewish New Year starts. There will commence also a 10-day holy season which all orthodox Jews will observe. This will last until Yom Kippur.

Regular Friday night services will be held tonight by the members of Temple Israel. Max Jacobs will be in charge.

Saturday morning at 10 o'clock the New Year's service will be held at the usual place, room number one of the Settles Hotel messanine. The service will commemorate the beginning of the 5696th year, as the Jews calculate the age of the world. Stores owned by members of the Temple Israel will be closed all day Saturday.

Yom Kippur, the day of atonement, will end this holy season, regarded as the most sacred of all Jewish holidays.

Upset Condition Made Man Feel Tired and Weak
Black-Draught is a purely vegetable medicine for the relief of constipation.
It does its work to the satisfaction of thousands of men and women who use it when needed.
"I was strong and healthy until I had the flu," writes Mr. C. W. Whiddon, of Mandeville, La. "After this I was troubled with constipation that made me feel tired and sluggish and weak. Black-Draught helped me quite a bit. I think it is good for constipation."
Remember to try Black-Draught next time you need the assistance it has so reliably brought to others.

for public life.

Contrasts—Mr. Strawn stands high on the democrats' list of political enemies. Besides carrying great weight in legal and commercial circles, he is one of the GOP's most go-getting money collectors.

So it's more than coincidence that certain administrationites are having him where it will do the most good. They are passing out word of his law firm's part in the famous and unpaid $50,000,000 loan to the Daves bank in Chicago. After first advising that the RFC could collect double indemnity in event of default, Strawn legalites now hold that the RFC can simply sue—or shout—for its money. They say their first opinion did not mean what the RFC thought it did.

But RFC—er Jesse Jones is brandishing a bill which the Chicago firm submitted for its original opinion. It asked $500 "re stockholders' liability." The Jones boys are also telling how "square" former Vice-President Daves behaved. He made no protest against the double penalty. Besides losing $5,200 in stock put up as collateral, he cashed in with $5,200 additional. It's a sly way of digging at Mr. Strawn, who is a pal of all the Daves brothers.

Deflating—Moscow has assured Washington most privately and most informally that it will clamp the lid on all loose talk of world revolution. The Russian government is most anxious to maintain friendly relations with the United States in these turbulent times. It will strain a political point to keep diplomatic contact.

Comrade Stalin has found means of letting Mr. Hull know that he was pleased—and surprised—to hear "American" delegates to the Third Internationale conclude talking the way they did. Soviet officials could not afford to criticize the proceedings at home—no more than President Roosevelt could denounce the whereas of a Democratic National Convention—but they have told our government to forget the soap-box stuff.

There's a comic side to the affair. Communist agitators are like lobbyists at Washington who telegraph their clients that they "had dinner last night with a cabinet member" without making clear that they sat at the other end of a public dining room where the cabineer happened to be. They claim credit for every two-bit row in labor ranks. "Bill" Bullitt wised up Mr. Stalin to that stunt, and American communists may not be so popular in Soviet circles henceforth.

Smoking—Jim Farley may cause trouble for the GOP in the 1936 campaign if he persists in his plan to trace each nickel of hostile campaign expenditures to its source. The national chairman charged that the GOP had formed a corporation behind which it hopes to conceal the names of givers. He was slightly misinformed. What he had in mind was the United Republican Finance Committee, which is passing the hat and splitting the proceeds three ways—to the New York State Committee, the National Committee and the Congressional Committee. It has raised more than $300,000 in a few months, but the names of individual contributors do not appear in the official report to the clerk of the house of representatives.

Some of those names might provide the democrats with political ammunition. So would the identity of donors to the American Liberty League, the United States Chamber of Commerce and the National Association of Manufacturers. It is Jim's game to smoke them out, if possible.

Kaput—Reports of improved economic conditions in Germany under the Hitler regime have brought a flood of inquiries to the treasury about the value of the old mark and Reichsbank notes.

Dictator Hitler makes no friends on this side of the water from the answers which anxious inquirers receive. Treasury letters inform them that their money symbols are more valuable as wall paper—or any kind of paper—than as current exchange. One holder of Reichsbank notes was informed that it takes a trillion old Reichsbank notes to purchase one of the current variety.

Byrhaps you don't know what a trillion is—or how old money tall-spinned during post-war deflation in Germany. Well, it takes 1,000,000,000,000 pre-deflation notes to match one of the notes now current as currency in Germany. The three cents paid for postage stamps on the letters to the treasury represent a small fortune by comparison with the letter-writer's holdings.

Notes—Bill Hassett, who is to help "Steve" Early, President Roosevelt's press-contact man, is popular with the news lads. . . . Ralph Brewster, republican representative from Maine, is one non-partisan who is all broken up over the flop of the potato-control act—he worked hard for it, to please the Aroostook spud growers who hadn't seen any AAA benefit checks at all. . . . Washington Monument grounds are being raised to protect the shaft against floods.

Definition—New York sharp predicts that FDR is in for a worse headache than he may suspect if a war develops between Italy and Ethiopia and he promulgates the embargo on munitions required by the recently enacted neutrality law. Take cotton and copper for instance. Of course they aren't munitions in the dictionary sense but all the same they would present quite a problem. If shipped to Ethiopia they would be merely pacific commodities—whereas Italy would certainly use them in the manufacture of war implements. Therefore they would help Italy—in a military way—but not her adversary. Therefore we would really be un-neutral if we permitted free delivery to both nations.

Afraid—There is still talk in the privacy of high industrial circles as to whether it is possible and desirable to sabotage recovery a bit in 1936 as a move to help defeat Roosevelt. . . . Some who think it good idea contend that even a slight reversal of the recovery trend next spring and summer would discourage people without doing any serious damage and would stimulate popular demand for a change.

Enthusiasm for this plan is far from general. That means a thousand to one shot against its working—even if it's tried—because it couldn't be worked except by the concerted action of a great many important corporations. In a way FDR holds ace back-to-back. If recovery continues he will reap the credit. If it doesn't he can blame it on recalcitrant conservatives and the nation will probably believe him.

Brokers—Despite the rising market of the past two months a majority of brokerage houses will be fortunate to break even in 1935. The big wire houses are the worst off. Many of the largest ones operated at a loss for the first half of this year. A good many houses are privately worrying about whether they will ever see daylight again.

Federal regulation (though not the Securities Exchange Commission itself) is bitterly blamed. The new margin requirements restrict trading and the rules against pyramiding of profits puts a very damp blanket on speculative activity. Then there are those darned questionnaires. An informed source estimates that it costs the average Stock Exchange member house more than $100 a week to answer them. It seems a trifling sum—but an item of five thousand a year makes a painful dent in the purses of most brokers nowadays.

Circus—Financial New York fails to enthuse about plans for the mammoth world's fair scheduled for this city in 1939. Critics remark that it will undoubtedly boost real estate values in the borough of Queens—and of course it will help hotels and merchants temporarily—but they can't see any gains commensurate with the effort and expense.

Basically the affair is a promotional stunt designed to check the peristent and alarming decline in the city's population and purchasing power. But financial circles contend that the same purpose could be achieved more cheaply and effectively—though less picturesquely—by the simple expedient of reducing the tax burden that has driven industry to other pastures. You hear it said that you can't cure slow starvation with a circus.

Slow—There is a sharp difference of opinion among New York banks as to whether their investments in federal securities should be confined to short term stuff or whether long term bonds should be given a play.

The first school of thought holds that it's risky to load up with long term obligations that might be subject to considerable depreciation if the national debt continues to expand. The other has no such qualms and prefers the added income from the higher coupon long term securities.

Most of the larger banks belong in the former category—which accounts for the slow response to the conversion offer of 23-4 per cent bonds.

Spuds—Right wingers are as annoyed at the loss of the potato control issue as a child whose candy is snatched away. Here they were all set to give New Deal regimentation the raspberry—and Secretary Wallace calmly removes the target.

The most irritating part of it is that Mr. Wallace could easily have plugged up funds to enforce the potato law if he had wanted to. But he was callous enough to refuse to let them have their fun. They think he's just an old meanie.

Cooperation—Early contacts between the Securities Exchange Commission and its newest charges—the utility holding companies—have been surprisingly amicable.

Utility men have found SEC agents quite willing to discuss the problems involved rationally. The commission's agents, for their part, have discovered that not every utility carries a blackjack up its sleeve for use on windows, orphans and consumers. The chances for intelligent cooperation are improving.

NEW BUICKS ON DISPLAY AT KEISLING-WEBB MOTOR CO.

With safety the governing factor in their design, the 1936 solid steel "turret top" Fisher bodies being introduced today on the four new Buick lines afford the greatest protection ever offered the motoring public, according to E. F. Fisher, general manager of the Fisher Body division, General Motors Corporation.

Wider, deeper seats, more head room and leg room to increase bodily comfort and further reduce fatigue, safety glass, dual windshield wipers, the sloping Y-type windshield to eliminate hazardous reflections, Fisher no-draft ventilation, further improved to provide fresh air for the car occupants even in inclement weather and prevent clouding of the windows and windshield, and the one-piece seamless steel roof, offering protection overhead where it is most needed, are cited among the safety features incorporated in the new designs.

The overall length of the bodies found on the new Buicks, from the dash to the trunk, in every instance is greater than it was a year ago. The four-door sedan of the Special, or Series 40, is seven inches longer than its predecessor, though the wheelbase of the car has been increased less than two.

The same model in the Century, or Series 60, is 3-4 of an inch longer, while the body of the four door sedan in the 80 Series, or Roadmaster, a newcomer to the Buick line, is 41-2 inches longer than the corresponding 1935 Series 90. The overall length of the body gracing the new 90 Series sedan is 11-2 inches wider.

Widths of the seats likewise have been increased, with the result that the two-and four-door sedans now provides accommodations for six passengers instead of five. The front seat of the low-priced model is four inches wider. In the cowl, give a 30 per cent increase in the swept area, adding to driving saf-

Your Food Chopper

By MAERHA LOGAN

Have you a little food chopper in your home? Most of us have. Where do you keep yours? Not, I hope, on the topmost shelf in your pantry where it can be reached only with the help of a stepladder or a kitchen chair. Perhaps you dislike the task of cleaning it after it has been used and so it is allowed to lie at ease on the shelf accumulating dust and getting rheumatic joints.

If you find it necessary to plead "guilty" to the above accusation, you are overlooking a great little money saver. The food chopper will save you pennies by preventing the garbage can fate of many a food. In summer the "future value" of left-over meat is high. Cold sliced meat and meat salads are in great demand. But in cold weather, hot meats have greater appeal. That "left-over" is put into the refrigerator where you gaze upon it ruefully each time you open the door. But remembering the family's brutal frankness, and knowing its scornful regard for anything left over, you allow that piece of meat to remain in seclusion, until one day in desperation you announce to—well—the kitchen in general, that you are "tired of seeing that meat around." And out it goes. As you put the cover back onto the garbage can, you remember how much that meat cost you per pound and you sigh with regret.

All the time that little food chopper of yours is inactive. What a pity. A few minutes of time, a few turns of the handle and that meat could have been camouflaged so that even the most sophisticated member of the family would not have spurned it.

So, meat grinders to the fore and let us turn out some smacking good things to eat.

Tasty Loaf With Mushroom Sauce
 2 cups chopped cold veal
 2 cups cracker crumbs
 1 pimiento, chopped
 1 small green pepper, chopped
 3 eggs
 Meat broth or milk
 3 slices bacon

Combine meat, cracker crumbs, pimiento, green pepper and well beaten eggs. Add enough liquid to make very moist. Pour into loaf pan lined with bacon slices and bake at 350 degrees F., for 30 minutes. Serve with mushroom sauce or left-over gravy, and hot buttered green beans. Serves six.

Ham and Corn Fritters
 1 cup thick canned or fresh cooked corn
 1-2 cup ground boiled or baked ham
 1 tablespoon minced onion
 2-3 cup flour
 11-2 teaspoons baking powder
 Mix corn, ham and onion. Sift flour and baking powder together and add to corn mixture. When all is well blended, drop by teaspoons into deep hot lard at 375 degrees F. Drain well on soft paper. Serve with well seasoned cream sauce or tomato sauce. Canned beef may be used in place of the ham.

Every woman cherishes one or two pet loaf recipes. For those, we suggest the following:
 Use tomato juice or tomato puree instead of milk or water.
 Use rolled oats instead of bread crumbs. Half as much is required.
 Add four hard-cooked eggs. You can lay them in whole so that you will also across them when serving the loaf.
 Put in a few pan-broiled mushrooms, or, in the absence of mushrooms, cannot be removed unless the lid is locked.

 Either mohair or Bedford cloth upholstery is obtainable in the new Buicks. Springs used in the cushions and seat backs are known as the "luxury" type, and are individually wrapped in burlap.
 Keisling-Webb Motor Company, 4th and E. streets, Big Spring, agents for the new Buick, have on display Friday three models of the new 1935 Buick of the 40 Series, including one two-door touring, and two four-door touring cars. The public is cordially invited to call at the showrooms and inspect this new model.

rooms, ripe chopped olives.
 Add one tablespoon of minced parsley. It is a good seasoning. So are nutmeg, sage, celery seed, poultry seasoning, and any one of the varieties of catchup.
 Add four tablespoons of grated cheese. This is especially good when you have used tomato juice for the liquid. Sprinkle some cheese over the top of the loaf and let it melt, then garnish with paprika. Do this just before you take the loaf out of the oven.
 Another trick you can make use of in getting your family to consume left-over vegetables and cereals, is to put them into the meat loaf. They make the meat "go" farther and add to the food value of the loaf and to its flavor.

CENTRALIA, Pa. (U.P.)—Charles Henry, 42, will always have something to talk about—that is, if he can find time between operations. Henry has been operated upon 40 times.

Chevrolet Conducts A Nation-Wide Sale Of Guaranteed Used Cars

The Chevrolet Motor company is conducting a nation-wide sale of unusual values in guaranteed O. K. used cars.

During the month of August an all-time high in retail sales for Chevrolet was reported. This record shows in this one month Chevrolet delivered 99,918 new passenger cars and trucks at retail, an outstanding performance that beats by 4,600 units the previous best August, which was in 1932.

The fact that Chevrolet's volume increased so sharply over its total in July shows unmistakably that the country's buying power is increasing, and that there is not only the ability but a universal willingness on the part of the public to buy.

This record breaking sale of Chevrolet during the month of stock of good used cars to such an extent that a wide variety of all makes and models are now available at the local Chevrolet dealer and the guaranteed Red O. K. Tag assures you of a real used car value.

Mrs. W. G. Wilson, Jr., has returned from a week's stay in Texarkana.

Meet the Chic 'Pre-Winter' Shoe of Fabric

The logical change from the light summer sandal to a heavier shoe is one made of materials. The slenderizing oxford above, combining fabric and leather, is as smart and new as it is light in weight.

THE transition from summer to fall shoes has usually been a problem for the majority of women. Going from a white sandal which has been so light, airy and cool, to one of leather, when the weather is still warm, but not, seasonable for summer footwear, seems too great a step. Fabric shoes take care of this phase of "shoeing" idly—both as to adaptability and smartness.

A style-see, oxford tie, by Selby, of unusual swank is being worn by the young lady in the photograph.

It is a versatile shoe, tailored and yet not too severe. In these days of harmonizing ensembles, it should prove a marvelous purchase, as it could easily serve and smartly, too for several different frocks and suits.

In monotone color scheme, this chic oxford combines fabric and kid, in slenderizing fashion, and so it will not be too austere, contrasting stitching was chosen as an accent. While not designed exclusively for the Miss, it is a very "young looking" shoe.

MORNING STAR

— BY MARIAN SIMS —

Chapter 21 BIRMINGHAM

"In view of what you've been through," Charlotte said when they were settled at last in the hermit-like room she called home, "you looked better than I dared to hope."

Emily was reclining on the bed. She had tried Charlotte's chair and given them up as hopeless. "That's Dr. Ward. The man could graft backbone into an oxeye," Charlotte's eyes were anxious. "You aren't falling in love with him, are you?"

Emily twinkled. "It's plain you haven't seen him. He looks like a gnome. And he doesn't know people are really people at all; he thinks they're cases. But he's a grand doctor."

Charlotte relaxed. "Thank God for that. Another complication would make me old before my time. Have you had any dinner?"

Emily's eyes widened, then narrowed into laughter. "I was so excited over coming that I forgot all about eating!"

Charlotte grinned. "What a business woman you're going to be! I haven't eaten either; I was late getting away from the office and I don't want to wait on the chance that you don't care for railroad food. Put on your hat, then infant, and let's go."

The restaurant was small, and even at so late an hour crowded. When Emily had tasted the food she understood the reason.

She looked about her with interest, and wondered what her mother's reaction would be to the idea of two unmarried women in a public restaurant at this hour. In her social code Frances Felton was still in the mauve decade of her girlhood.

"Now tell me," she said when their order had been taken, "something about what I'm going to do."

Charlotte lit a cigaret another thing that would have sent Mrs. Felton into hysterics. Smoking was bad enough at any time, but smoking in a public restaurant—

"You don't start until Monday, but I think it would be a good idea if you'd come down tomorrow and Saturday and pick up what you can. Are you feeling fit again?"

"Perfectly." She was tired now but she didn't want to admit it. She hated to begin that way.

"That's fine. And then I've got half a dozen books on advertising that will have to be your night school at first."

"It sounds rather alarming."

"It isn't. It's easy enough after four years at Ardmore. You can't get through there without sufficient mental equipment to make a go of this. You start off knowing so much more than the average apprentice."

Emily was fleetingly grateful for the rigors of Ardmore, but they seemed too far away now to be of much help. "You may have, I've let my mind go to seed terribly."

Charlotte was unperturbed. "Probably. Your letters have sounded a little weedy of late. But a few weeks of intensive cultivation will help a lot."

As a cultivator Charlotte proved invaluable. There was no such thing in her vocabulary, as idleness. When the books on advertising were finished she delved into the public library and unearthed others, which they read together, and which Charlotte expounded as she read.

"You're got to believe in it to get anywhere," she said. "This thing of building an excellent mousetrap and having the world beat a path to your door belonged to a much less complex age."

"Today you have to knock a man down with your mousetrap before he even realizes you've built it. Advertising is so essential that if the advertiser didn't advertise his wares, the buyer would have to advertise for what he wanted."

"I see," said Emily. "And when you've learned to believe in it, what then?"

"The thing for you to do is to take these files of our ads for the last three months and study them carefully; then you'll have a working idea of the sort of thing Salter's uses."

Emily laughed. "You'd think that, having read as many Salter's ads as I have in my life. I'd be able to do 'em with my eyes shut."

"Not at all. You probably never even noticed the wording." She asked Emily the files. "Look over these, then try your hand at one or each department."

"Yes'm," Emily said meekly, and set to work.

When school was out they played, and even Charlotte's play was constructive. She belonged to the Oper Forum, and to the play-writing group of the Little Theatre.

She read voraciously, and Emily began to know once more the joy of matching wits in a verbal combat. That, she decided, was what she had let her mind go to seed.

She met Charlotte's friends, and found them as refreshing and as intensely individual as the Left Wing at Ardmore.

There was Anne Campbell, who did illustrating and layout work at Salter's; a slim, blond girl who looked, Charlotte said, like an illustration by herself. "She wore beautifully tailored clothes that carried smartness almost to the point of ugliness, and smoked innumerable cigarettes in an ebony and amber holder."

And there was Viola Burwell,

HOW WOULD YOU PLAY IT?

Al Houghton of Indian Springs golf club, near Washington, D. C., was really up a tree while competing in the Cascades open golf championship at Hot Springs, Va. Houghton climbed the tree, squared away, and as Babe Didrikson watched, made a 60-yard shot to the Green. (Associated Press Photo) who was Salter's consulting decorator, and who shared an apartment with Anne. Viola, Charlotte confided with a twinkle, was a perfect antonym for Anne.

She had a Junoesque figure, a skin like a magnolia, and a mass of blue-black hair that she wore in an untidy knot low on her neck. Her summer wardrobe was composed entirely of dresses made by herself from cretonnes and dainties in her own drapery department.

"They keep open house on Sunday," Charlotte explained as they entered the apartment building in which Anne and Viola lived, "and some of the habits belong to the zoo, so don't be alarmed at them."

The door to the apartment was hospitably ajar, and they entered without knocking, stopping first to leave their hats in the tiny hallway.

The living-room was surprising; a beautiful room, simply and exquately furnished. The rugs were dark green and the draperies a subdued pattern in blocked tones. A grand piano in an alcove supplied the last touch of luxury.

The room was empty save for a long blond youth who was sitting on his shoulder-blades in an armchair, reading. He said, "Hi," and then dragged his eyes from the page and rose.

Charlotte presented him. "This is Jed Latimer. He's the boy wonder of the Evening Post." She addressed Jed. "You holding the fort alone?"

He nodded, motioning with his head. "They're in the kitchen, fixing food. I'm feeding my soul instead."

Anne was in the kitchen, enveloped in a voluminous smock, busy with French dressing. A round, dark young man with melancholy eyes sat like Humpty Dumpty on a high kitchen stool, watching her fly her hands.

She greeted them gaily and introduced the young man, whose name was Steve Young. He bowed to Emily without moving from the stool, and she thought fleetingly of a character from "Alice in Wonderland."

Kelley Attends Dawley Rites

HOUSTON (UP)—Caleb W. Dawley, 76, of Brownsville, died unexpectedly in his drawing room aboard a Southern Pacific train at the Houston station Thursday.

Dawley, a former resident of Dallas, had lived in Brownsville for five years. He was on his way to Dallas from his home when he died. He had been in ill health for several years. He suffered a stroke just as the train pulled into the Southern Pacific station here. Train officials called a doctor from the Southern Pacific Hospital, but Dawley was dead when the doctor arrived. Dawley is survived by his widow, Mrs. Fannie W. Dawley of Brownsville; a daughter, Mrs. I. M. Smith of Pittsburgh, Pa.; and two sons, Claude S. Dawley of Dallas and Lester W. Dawley of Jackson, Miss. The body will be sent to Dallas for burial.

E. A. Kelley, general manager of the Southern Ice & Utilities company of this city, was in Dallas Friday to attend the funeral of C. W. Dawley, long-time friend and one of the founders of the original Southern Ice & Utilities company. Mr. Kelley went to Dallas Wednesday evening, and while there was notified of the death of Mr. Dawley.

Pink Bollworm Commission Is Charged With Incompetency

Under a ruling made by the attorney general, claims not yet listed may be filed with the compensation claims board for losses sustained in the pink bollworm quarantine during 1929 to 1932.

J. M. Del Curto, chief of the division of plant quarantine, said in a letter to the Chamber of Commerce Friday that these claims would be accepted until Oct. 23 when date for the appropriation expires.

Claims previously submitted must stay as they are and only claims never before presented may now be filed, he said. A fund of $50,000 remains to cover new claims.

A vast majority of cotton producers in Howard and surrounding counties have already received compensation for losses sustained during the quarantine. The late Senator Arthur P. Duggan led the fight which finally resulted in an appropriation for losses.

BUICK SPECIAL $765 and up. BUICK CENTURY $1035 and up. BUICK ROADMASTER $1255 and up. BUICK LIMITED $1695 and up. ONE LOOK AT THESE PHENOMENAL FOUR AND YOU'LL SAY

BUICK'S THE BUY!

TWO years ago Buick deliberately leveled its sights on 1936. It coolly set its aim on bringing to market for that year a line of motor cars that would startle the world.

It purposed to do that, not by freak or superficial design, not by skimping quality to make a price, but by sheer merit as expressed in automobile beauty, value, ability.

It submits to you now the eminently satisfying results of that fruitful two years of concentrated endeavor.

Here are four separate series of sensational new Buick cars—cars called phenomenal by experts in the trade who previewed them.

Each is a feast to the eye schooled in mature modern styling, as you can see.

Each has under the smooth flowing planes and surfaces of its smart exterior, the solid, tough, durable, beautifully engineered chassis that underwrites Buick dependability.

And each offers you from the stepped-up power of its big thrifty valve-in-head eight-cylinder engine such sane, thrilling performance as you have never known.

These cars are big cars every one—built to almost lavish dimensions of body room and head clearance—yet they handle with the fingertip lightness of small cars. They are literally breath-taking in power and speed and take-off, yet under their new tiptoe hydraulics and easy-steering knee-action they are almost as manageable as a telephone. They are thewed and sinewed by that quality which springs from Buick's third of a century of manufacturing experience, advantaged by $14,500,000 worth of new tools, dies and factory re-equipment devised for these cars alone. These things are so true and so obvious that everywhere you will soon hear the motor-wise saying, "BUICK'S THE BUY!"

STATE RESERVE BANKHEAD TAX EXEMPTION CERTIFICATES ARE DISTRIBUTED TO PRODUCERS

COLLEGE STATION—All of the Bankhead tax exemption certificates in the regular 90 per cent tax exemption quota of the state have been distributed to producers and certificates in the 10 per cent state reserve are being distributed to eligible producers at present, A. L. Smith, chairman of the Texas Cotton Review Board, said. Claims on this 10 per cent state reserve total 305,413,953 pounds and as there are only 119,986,957 pounds to be distributed, producers will receive only a small per cent of their claims, he said. Producers eligible to receive tax exemption certificates from the 10 per cent state reserve are: Those producers who had less than one-third of their cultivated acreage in cotton during the years 1930, 1931 and 1932; producers whose yield for any year during the base period 1930-1932 was less than the average yield on their acreage for the whole period; and producers whose average acreage in cotton for the three-year period 1930-1932 was less than 60 per cent as much as their acreage planted to cotton in 1929. Only those producers who submit Bankhead applications giving statistical data proving that they are entitled to a share of the 10 per cent allotment will be given certificates, Smith said. Producers who planted land to cotton in any of the three years, 1933, 1934 and 1935, for the first time since 1927 also receive their tax exemption certificates from the 10 per cent state reserve, but these certificates have already been issued to producers. They totalled 57,064,050 pounds.

Swapping eight acres of red top soil for 16 acres of the same soil sounds like a poor bargain for somebody. But it isn't if the exchange is made by the increase in feed value between the feed stacks dry and that put in trench silos. Mr. Horace Bryant of the Martin ranch in King county accomplished the "swap" in August by filling a trench silo.

All King county is in earnest about conserving feed in trench silos. A barbecue followed the demonstration silo filling on the Martin ranch and after that a farm-to-farm canvass of the county was planned to sell the idea.

Frank Luig of Scotland, in Archer county made the first trench silo in his county, John Herndon of the Black Flat section dug and filled the second one in August.

Thirty farmers and stockmen gathered on the J. C. Miller farm in the Deer Creek community in August to watch a trench silo being filled with bundles of corn and grain sorghum. The "shingling" method was used.

Why take Chances with Eyes?

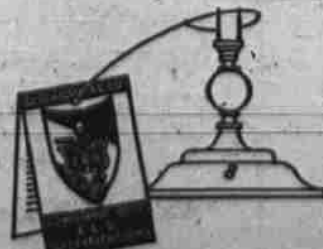

Eyes are Priceless!

Guard them with improved Lighting.....

See this New Lamp at Our Show Room

- 1 Wide opening at the top of the shade throws light to ceiling and eliminates shadows.
- 2 Glass reflector softens light, prevents glare.
- 3 Wide shade gives ample light over your work.
- 4 Shade lining is white to reflect more light.
- 5 Lamp is high enough to light a large working area.

IMPORTANT—Be sure to look for the authorized certification tag on the lamp you buy. It isn't an I. E. S. Better Sight Lamp if it doesn't have this tag.

Modern civilization has made exacting demands of human eyes. Visual tasks have increased many fold and weakened eyes, headaches and sometimes impaired health are the penalties for using our eyes under a poor light.

But Science has shown that it isn't necessary to take chances with our eyesight. All we need is better lighting to give our eyes a chance to see without unnecessary strain. This is especially true of children who study or read, for young eyes can be injured permanently by reading in a dim light.

A new type of lamp has been developed, scientifically designed to provide the right amount of glareless light for reading or studying. See these Better Sight lamps in our store, in floor lamp, table lamp or lounge lamp styles.
