AUSTIN, Nov. 20, (A)-The state today reopened the McDonald case and read the testimony of W. D. Thurman, agent in the agriculture department in the purchase of jacks and stallions, made before the special investigating committee.

A portion read into the record concerned the charge that McDonald "did unlawfully, wilfully and corruptly accept a bribe from Thurman and others in the form of two mares valued at $250 each."

McDonald's attorneys protested that the testimony taken before the committee was in the absence of McDonald and that McDonald had been denied the light to cross-examine.

The Asmara Italian headquarters received word that a strong column of Ethiopians were advancing toward Selicot, eight miles below Makale into territory where the Italians are consolidating their position.

Mussolini convoked leaders of the Italian nation's fruit and vegetable growers into a syndicate to plan an increased national production in opposition of sanctions.

Authoritative Paris sources said that France feels that a settlement of the war depends on the Italians and Ethiopians fighting a decisive battle.

VIGOR IN A VETERAN

Advancing years do not seem to dull Herbert Hoover's keen zest for political battle. Indeed, it almost seems as if the former president had been rejuvenated since he left the White House. Certainly his speeches are taking on a new pungency and zest.

In his speech before the Ohio Society of New York, for instance, we find him making phrases that Hugh Johnson himself might have fathered. "Nests of Constitutional termites"; "More abundant life—without the bacon"; "The Quick Loans Corporation for Xylophones, Yachts, and Zithers"; the "Bluebeard's Cave" of inflation—these phrases give Mr. Hoover's speech a bite and a saltiness that are both surprising and welcome.

It is already apparent that Mr. Hoover is going to be asking the administration some embarrassing questions during the coming campaign. If he asks them with this kind of zip and pepper, the campaign will take on an added liveliness.

FINAL STRAW

Bruno Hauptmann's lawyers have asked the United States Supreme Court to set aside their client's conviction: and among their arguments is the assertion that his trial was nothing less than a "circus".

There certainly is no denying that the Hauptmann trial did have enough odd features to make an old-fashioned believer in the dignity of the courts moan with dull pain. But if your memory of that occasion is good, you may recall that the defense itself was not entirely blame-

After all, there is nothing in ordinary criminal court procedure which makes it incumbent on defense attorneys to consult with the press every night, telling what they will do tomorrow, explaining how and why the state's case has fallen flat, and announcing in intricate detail how they are going to get their client acquitted.

The Hauptmann trial was, in some respects, a circus indeed; but our recollection is that the prosecution was not solely at fault.

A LOT of old friends, as well as your own family, will appreciate your photograph. It solves the personal gift problem.

Cranberry's Virtues Neglected by Cook

Indians nevertheless regarded the cranberry with awe for its health giving and life prolonging qualities. And though rich in these elements, my family finds the luscious tartness sufficient excuse for eating cranberry condiments.

Cranberry sauce and cranberry jelly are traditional with turkey, but you will find the taste of cranberry quite as delicious with roast pork and veal. Cranberry is coften takes the place of sauce or jelly at a formal dinner. Granberry sherbet makes a splendid dessert after a heavy dinner, and cranberry tapioca pudding is an inexpensive dessert suitable for any simple dinner.

Cranberry Juice

One quart cranberries, 4 cups water, 1 cup sugar, 1 lemon.

Cook berries and water for ten minutes. Strain through cheese-cloth. Bring juice to the boiling point, sift in sugar and cook not more than three minutes. Just long enough to be sure the sugar is completely dissolved. Chill and add juice of lemon when ready to serve.

times are better, it looks like a great per cent of the people are bent on spending wildly, drinking wildly and throwing parties all the time. We may run into something worse than a depression, at this rate.

One writer said the other day that it takes a real financial genius to make money in the cow business. He said that a smart banker may not be able to make any money in the cow business, but a cowman who really has made money can go in a bank and make one fortune right after another. He said, however, that it's mighty hard for any government of the other day that he got that reputation by keeping his mouth closed. When people go to voicing their opinions about everything, he remains silent. Bystanders think he knows a lot and doesn't put it out.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Preservation of the neighborhood from deterioration and a decline in desirability as a residential unit requires four essential services to the home, according to the November Federal Home Loan Bank Review, in the fourth of a series of articles on neighborhood standards essential to safety of investment. These services, which the home must have and which it cannot supply for itself are: the elementary school, small parks and playgrounds, local shops and a residential environment.

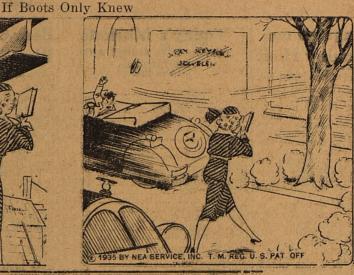

Such services are assured by observance of the following neighborhood requirements, as developed by the Regional Survey of New York and Its Environs, the Review says:

1. Size: To provide sufficient housing for the population for which one elementary school is ordinarily required, its area depend-

Kirsten Flagstad on Ford Sunday Hour

Kirsten Flagstad, whose debut last season with the Metropolitan Opera Company gave her recognition as one of the leading figures in modern musical history, will be guest soloist with the Ford Symphony Orchestra and Chorus in the Ford Sunday Evening Hour broadcast November 24. With Victor Kolar conducting, the program will be on the air from 9 to 10 p. m., Eastern Standard Time, over the complete coast-to-coast network of the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Madame Flagstad was born in Oslo, Norway, of a family of many musicians. Her father was a conductor, her mother a pianist and voice teacher, one brother a conductor, another a pianist and a sister a singer. Instead of encouraging Madame Flagstad to follow music, however, the family urged her to become a doctor! Kirsten Flagstad, whose debut last however, the family urged her to become a doctor!

Madame Flagstad's musical career, therefore, was not carefully planned, but was the result of her love for singing. As a girl she learned operatic arias "just for fun". At last a friend of the family pointed out that her singing such exacting songs without training might injure her voice. Formal lessons began when she was 16, and she made a minor operatic debut two years later. Encouraged, Madame Flagstad went to Stockholm for further study, later returning to Oslo for an engagement with the opera of that city. Naturally, appearances there did not attract much attention outside Nor-

Bear Cubs, SMU Colts Play in Waco Thurs.

WACO, Tex., Nov. 20.—One of the feature freshman gridiron tilts of the 1935 season will be played Thursday afternoon at 2:45 on Carroll field in Waco between the Baylor Cubs and the Southern Methodist Colts. The game was first scheduled to be played in Dallas, but has been switched to Waco and will be sponsored by the Baylor Bear club.

The Cubs must win from the Colts in order to be on the winning side of the fence in the 1935 grid season. In the first game of the year, the Baylor frosh defeated Allen Academy 22-0, but dropped the next game 28-14 to the T. C. U. Polywogs. Since the T. C. U. setback, the young Bears have exhibited power and class, and Baylor supporters have high hopes for a victory Thursday.

history of athletics at the Dallas school, Johnny Stidger, John Harlow, and Matthews, all-state performer with the title winning Amarillo Sandies, form the bulwark of the Colt te am. Stidger and Harlow are backs, and Matthews is a guard.
The Cubs pin their hopes for victory on a scrappy defensive lihe and a brilliant passing attack. Billy Patterson, triple-threat quarterback from Hillsboro, bears the brunt of the passing, punting, and ballcarrying for the Baylor team.
Coach Crow announces that his Cub team is in top shape for the

"This heavy industries potential was one of the most encouraging factors in the business outlook a year ago. It is an equally encouraging factor today." Details Finished

WACO.—The details and arrangements for the All State Shrine Ceremonial to be held in Waco. Nov. 22-23, have been completed. One of the outstanding features will be the Shrine parade, including uniformed bodies, a dozen lands. Shriners and Novices. The city of Waco will be decorated with appropriate colors for the two-day meeting, which promises to be the greatest of any Shrine event in the history of the great Southwest.

Naturally the all-state ceremonial will be of more interest to members of the Ancient Arabic Order Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, yet, it will possess unusual interesting features to those who are not Shriners, inasmuch as it will portray the brighter and sunnier side of life with real genuine and wholesome fun, combined with the dignity such an occasion demands.

Karem Temple found it necessary to increase its office force and the entire executive committee of five, plus about twelve others, will devote their entire time from now until after November 23 to arranging everything for the big show. Tickets to the stag party, badges for those who will attend, and hotel reservations are being mailed out in large numbers daily. Karem Temple has a system whereby the attendance can be accurately determined, by requiring all to register and make all reservations in advance.

On Friday, November 22, the special trains will arrive. Among these there will be delegations by specials from Galveston, Austin, San Antonio, Fort Worth and Wichita Falls. Immediately following their arrival the big parade will start at 4:30 in the afternoon, ending with a stag party at Karem Temple's home. The program for the second day includes:
